CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Loaves of bread were scattered all over the road at 8 a.m. today as a Brown's Bread panel truck driven by Joseph Cooney, 23, RR 2, Colborne, went out of control on Highway 30 seven miles south of Campbellford.

Mr. Cooney was rounding a curve on icy pavement when he skidded out of control to the right hand shoulder. From here he slewed over to the left side of the road, skidded down an embankment and plowed through a wire fence.

Mr. Cooney avoided serious injury as his truck just missed a large oak tree, rolling over on its side a few feet away. He sustained minor injuries to the eye and was badly shaken up.

Damage to the bread truck was estimated at $400. Constable Archie Eady of the OPP detachment in Campbellford investigated the accident.

WELL UNDER WAY is construction of the new St. Peter's high school, a privately financed building valued at more than $300,000. It is expected to be ready for occupancy by September. The school will have 12 rooms including offices, classrooms and laboratories. The cornerstone of the new school was laid Sunday by the Most Rev. Gerald Berry, Bishop of Peterborough, and was the last official act by the Bishop before he leaves for Halifax.

Last Official Act

Bishop Lays Cornerstone Of St. Peter's High School

The Most Rev. Gerald Berry performed his final public act as Bishop of Peterborough, Sunday afternoon, as he officiated at the cornerstone laying ceremonies for the new St. Peter's High School, as a large number of interested people watched. The bishop is leaving to become Archbishop of Halifax.

The new school, a privately finance building valued at more than $300,00 upon completion, is intended to alleviate classroom congestion in the present high school. Designed by Montreal architect E. J. Turcotte, the building will include eight classrooms, two laboratories and a demonstration room, two rooms for commercial training, an assembly hall, three offices and a record room.

Construction was begun in the latter part of last summer and the building is expected to be completed by September of this year. Students from the five Peterborough parishes, plus others from Ennismore, Douro and Otonabee townships, and the village of Lakefield, will attend this school for their middle and upper school courses.

MORE AND MORE STUDENTS

Bishop Berry stressed the great need for this new school and the pride the people should have upon the occasion of the conerstone ceremonies. He pointed out that, within 15 years, the number of students had increased from about 200 in all five high school grades to the same number in Grades 9 and 10 alone.

The initial cost and maintenance is entirely a private responsibility, receiving no government subsidization. Part of the costs have been undertaken by the five city parishes who have guaranteed an annual allotment of $20,000.

"All the students that will attend this school, and their parents, should be filled with the pride of ownership. It is a monument to Catholic endeavour which represents many sacrifices."

The cornerstone was lowered into place and the Bishop declared it "well and truly laid."

Counties Plumbing Bylaw Meets Council Opposition

COBOURG (ENS)—Opinions of members of Northumberland and Durham counties council differ on the merits of the by-law covering inspections of plumbing installations. On the closing day of the January session of council it produced considerable discussion.

At the outset, it was pointed out by counties solicitor Harvey Brent that the plumbing regulations were established by the provincial government and were compulsory. Mr. Brent's observation followed a question from a councillor who asked if council could rescind the by-law.

Mr. Brent said the regulations did not cover rural areas where the population was less than 3.8 to an acre. Under the Health Act, the minister of health had the power to bring in the regulations and they were compulsory.

"And we have no control of the costs," commented Reeve Charlie Burrison of Hamilton township.

NEW BUILDING

Reeve G. Rickard of Darlington township said the regulations would not affect farm people but only areas sufficiently built up to come within the 3.8 population density. It had been hard to control building, but with the plumbing regulations being enforced it would be possible to control at least that phase of construction and there would be proper sanitary facilities in new homes.

Reeve A. Beer of Manvers township explained that the fees went to the municipalities and thence to the health unit. The revenue would pay a good portion of the cost of the plumbing inspector.

"These regulations are for our own protection," said Deputy-Reeve G. H. Free of Campbellford. "It will guarantee that the work will be done by men who know their job. I know of people who have bought new houses and then had to rip up the sewers because they weren't put in right.

Reeve R. Bothwell of South Monaghan township said it was a shame and a disgrace the way some plumbing was installed. City plumbers like to get rural contracts because there are no plumbing regulations to hinder the type of work that is done.

"Get in now in regard to this plumbing bylaw and you will have some measure of control over plumbing. Otherwise you are going to be in for trouble," warned Deputy-Reeve Rickard.

LICENSING

A resolution in the agricultural committee report, endorsing licences for tractors, was attacked by some of the council.

Reeve L. Hootan of Cavan township said it would be a hardship to have to pay a licence for a tractor. Many farmers had their land split by a road and they used the tractor going to and fro along the road, he said.

Deputy-Reeve Rickard declared that all roads were dangerous. He said that in some cases a man whose licence had been suspended because of drinking or some highway offence just used a tractor and was able to get away with it. The majority of council agreed and the committee's endorsation of licensing for tractors was sustained.

The report of the board of management showed 94 inmates in the counties home for the aged as of Jan. 1, 1953. Ten new inmates had been admitted, 11 had died, four were discharged and the number on hand as of January 1, 1954, was 89. Bylaws were passed confirming road commission appointments made earlier in the session and authorizing a 1954 road outlay of $386,000 in 1954.

The property committee recommended that the chairmen of other standing committees be a committee with the property committee to go into the recommendations made by J. C. M. German, president of the district bar association, relative to improving court facilities here. The finance committee turned down the request of the health unit for a $6,000 increase in the grant.

Soldiers Miss Death As Cobourg Car Burns

COBOURG (ENS) — Two men brushed death at 2:30 this morning when their car went out of control near the Kingston crossing near here, rolled over and caught fire.

George Parsons, the driver and Roger Gascon passenger managed to escape just a few seconds before the car burst into flames. Parsons got out first, then rescued Gascon. They were unhurt but the car was almost totally destroyed by flames.

The Cobourg fire department responded to the call and OPP Constable Ralph Tremill investigated the accident.

Both Gascon and Parsons are stationed with the RCOC in Cobourg.

Six Convicted Liquor Charges

Six men were convicted on charges under the Liquor Control Act today in magistrate's court. Four of the accused pleaded guilty to charges of being intoxicated, one of having liquor in a place other than his residence, and another on having not acquired it legally.

Convicted on the latter charge, Joseph Soule, 51, of 755 New Romaine St., was fined $100 and $2.50 costs. He was denied a week to pay his fine by Magistrate Philp because of his short term of residence, two months, in Peterborough.

James Collins, 40, of 546 Homewood avenue, was fined $17.50 on a charge of having liquor. The charge was laid January 23.

David Chambo, 22, 993 Ford avenue, Edward Heffernan, 33, 340 Stewart St., Ambrose Martin, 22, of Beaverton and Thomas Hamilton, 61, of Toronto, all pleaded guilty to charges of being intoxicated.

They were each fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

River Strike Halted

CALCUTTA (Reuters)—A four-day strike by 8,000 Hooghly river barge men for a 25-per-cent wage increase was called off Sunday. Mansoor Gilani, general secretary of the Bengal Mariners Union, said the strike had been stopped because of "unprecedented police repression and hooligan attacks on workmen."

Military Payroll

Canada is not doing badly for a country with a strong tradition of mufti. According to a Canadian Press report, since December 1st when increases in pay went into effect, the military payroll is costing the Canadian Treasury more than $300,000,000 a year. To put the figure in proportion, we point out that this sum is ten times as great as the total expenditure of the Department of National Defence in the last pre-war year.

* * *

Canadian servicemen are the highest paid in the world. The clothing, quarters, amenities and allowances are among the most handsome. The opportunities for training, travel, special education and promotion are excellent. Canadian taxpayers do not bregrudge the high pay, privileges and comforts their money provides servicemen provided that the service is good and efficient and the men in their character and performance a credit to Canada. High standards of pay and service conditions deserve high qualities in the recruits and highly developed capacities in the trained men.

Britain To Follow U.S. Defence Policy

Thousands of words have been written and spoken in discussion of the defence policy of the Eisenhower Administration since the announcement that the United States would withdraw two divisions from Korea at an early date. This has tended to convey the impression that the new policy is complex. Actually, it is basically simple. It seeks to achieve greater striking power at less expense, if that can be done, and it will be attempted by strengthening aerial and naval forces, by increasing the number and supply of atomic weapons, and by restricting the conventionally armed land forces.

The British Government apparently considers this policy sound, for it is reported that Sir Winston Churchill and his three chiefs of staff are drafting a strategic defence program that will closely follow the same general principles. It will have the same aim, and it will use the same methods as far as possible. It may not, however, achieve the same reduction in defence expenditure. Washington's policy has resulted in a ten per cent cut in defence expenditure estimates, but since Britain must spend large sums to re-equip the Royal Air Force, replace outworn warships, and enlarge atomic weapon production, no similar saving is expected.

Britain would also have difficulty in following the U.S. example of establishing a strategic reserve and reducing the number of troops overseas. The largest single British force which might be used as a strategic reserve is now held in the Suez Canal Zone. It numbers 80,000, and cannot be moved until settlement of the Anglo-Egyptain dispute. In Malaya, approximately 15,000 British troops are committed to resisting Communist guerrillas, and some 10,000 are stationed at Hong Kong. There are also small detachments in Kenya fighting against the Mau Mau, and there are also the British troops contained in the Commonwealth division in Korea. In addition, there are the four British divisions stationed in Germany.

These commitments, however, are not permanent. The forces committed might become available in part for the new defence program at almost any time in the not-too-distant future. And Britain's reported new defence policy is probably being drafted with the confident expectation of that development.

Few Lynchings

Relations between negroes and white people in the United States seem to be more rational and less bloody than they have been in other decades. The Ku Klux Klan is now a discredited and waning organization. Lynchings have become uncommon. There is more tolerance of the one colour for the other. This is in part due to the war years and the important and ready place American negroes took in the U.S. armed services; in part to liberal people, both white and coloured, who have worked for better relations between the two groups; and in part to governmental action against segregation and discrimination.

Here in Canada there is a tendency to pride ourselves on our tolerance; to cry shame against South Africa and to deplore piously American prejudices against negroes. Little credit is due us for our tolerance, which at times (for instance in south-western Ontario) is proved to be less than skin deep. Canadian tolerance owes less to liberalism than to the absence of a large negro population. There are more negroes in the United States than there are people in Canada. And of Canada's fifteen millions, only eighteen thousand are negroes; that is little more than a tenth of one per cent. Of the more than 150 million American people, ten per cent are negro.

Has Canada A Culinary Capital?

The president of the Canadian Restaurant Association, Mr. Oscar Berceller, has declared that Toronto is "the culinary capital of Canada"; this has made Montreal chefs angry, and they are reminding Mr. Berceller that the six chief prizes at the Grand Salon Culinaire, held last week, were won by Montreal contestants. The fight is on, and as chefs and restaurateurs are notoriously irascible and voluble people, we expect that it will continue for a long time.

Frankly, we doubt if Canada has a culinary capital. Such a capital, if it existed, would exert some influence on lesser, provincial centres, and the restaurants nearby would strive to achieve big-city standards. But every traveller in Canada knows that if you get meals outside the largest cities, you will be lucky if the meals are ordinarily edible, and you will be astonished, flabbergasted and taken aback if they exhibit any originality or excellence whatever. Canadian cooks, taken as a whole, can produce duller meals with better materials than any cooks in the world.

If our food were made from poor ingredients, or were dirtily cooked and served, this would be more understandable. But the standard of cleanliness in Canadian restaurants is high, and the materials used are first-rate. It is in the cooking that the dullness creeps in, and particularly in cooking vegetables. Soggy "mashed", and greasy "french fries" pass as potatoes; peas appear with yellow juice running out of them, and are never enlivened with a sprig of mint, or anything to cheer up their melancholy, canned condition; indeed, herbs appear to be unknown in restaurant kitchens. The meat is usually good, but it has been cooked badly, and too often the gravy has no relation to the meat at all—is, indeed, a substance which serves as gravy to all meats. The sweets—pies, cakes, jellies and whatnot—are without individuality of flavour, and rely upon a cloying sweetness for their effect. Canadian restaurant food, in short, is usually prepared by cooks who do not seem to like first-rate food, and have no idea how it should taste.

So let us hear no talk of a culinary capital for Canada. If there are thirty good restaurants in the whole Dominion, that is all there are. And it is not as though Canadians did not like good food and appreciate it when it is served; in private homes in this country very good food is very often served. Good food is not so much a matter of money—our restaurants are not cheap—as of knowledge, care and pride. When the cooks who are quarrelling about the culinary capital can infect their provincial brethren with those qualities, they may then begin to dispute about the virtues of the big cities.

Now For Lawrence Of Arabia

Richard Aldington, a writer of fine reputation, has completed a life of T. E. Lawrence, a hero of the First World War and a man who seemed well on the way to becoming a myth of the magnitude of Drake, Nelson and similar great adventurers; but in his researches into the details of Lawrence's life, Mr. Aldington says that he has found that Lawrence's exploits have been greatly exaggerated by Lawrence himself, and that his importance as the queller of the Revolt in the Desert was much smaller than we have been led to suppose.

It is not uncommon for heroes to suffer some debunking when they have been dead for a while, and now it is Lawrence's turn. Until Mr. Aldington's book has been read and criticised by experts on the history which Lawrence claimed to have made, we shall not know what to think about him.

Many people, however, have admired Lawrence with reluctance. His writings express a strange and in some ways disagreeable personality. This alone would not, of course, discredit him; many great men have been unpleasant, egotistical people. But there was something in what Lawrence wrote which was not the egotism of greatness, but the egotism of littleness—a chilly and contemptuous quality, as of a man neurotically at odds with mankind.

Yet the world made a hero of Lawrence, for the world loves heroes and seeks them everywhere. How much of the Lawrence myth will remain in twenty years we cannot guess at present.

EISENHOWER'S YEAR (2)

An End To Crusading

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

(The second of two articles)

IN 1953 the Eisenhower Administration, America's first Republican Administration in twenty years, founded a standard of leadership and effectiveness which, in the eyes of most thinking people in the United States and elsewhere, was disappointing. The President himself seemed to be guided more by a desire to avoid any conflict with Congress or with the reactionary elements in his own Party than to provide positive leadership. In consequence Congress failed to enact more than the necessary minimum of legislation, and several important issues, such as liberalisation of foreign trade and agricultural policy, were shelved rather than decided.

Despite the genuinely pacific and internationalist intentions of the President, the attitude of the Administration's spokesmen to problems of foreign policy seemed to reflect the resurgence of a somewhat strident form of American nationalism.

IN THE LAST two months of 1953 it was clear that things were changing. The President supported his Secretary of State, Mr. Dulles, in opposing the pretensions of Senator McCarthy to direct the Administration's foreign policy; he said unequivocally that the Republicans would fight this year's Congressional election on the legislative record and not on the stale issue of whether the Democrats had harboured Communists in Government while they were in office; and he threw his full weight behind the United Nations in using its forum to propose a new approach to the problems of disarmament and international control of atomic energy.

The President carried his new-found sense of firmness and decision through into his State of the Union message, delivered at the beginning of January, in which he proposed to Congress a large legislative programme, and let it be known unofficially that he would use every weapon of persuasion and influence to see that the main elements of it were enacted. These include a number of measures, such as tariff revision, Statehood for Hawaii and the St. Lawrence Seaway, which Congress failed to pass last year. What is significant is that the programme in general makes no attempt to dismantle the general structure of welfare and social security legislation built up under the New Deal and twenty years of Democratic rule.

DESPITE the loud noises made by the Republicans, including General Eisenhower, last year and the year before, about the importance of reducing Government intervention in the economy, about free enterprise and rugged individualism, this year's programme indicates that the President recognises the extent to which the social revolution of the past twenty years is now a fait accompli, and proposes only minor adjustments to social legislation.

The amendments he has proposed are actually in favour of extending social security and amending labour legislation in favour of labour. He does, however, include one measure which demonstrates real political courage: an attempt to solve the problem of America's vast agricultural surplus — a problem which is the result of extending the direct encouragement to crop production necessary in the last war into peacetime conditions, under which the world demand for American agricultural commodities is much smaller.

IN PROPOSING to remove much of the current surplus from the market by treating it as stockpile for disposal to welfare projects and needy foreign Governments and while suggesting a gradual reduction over the next few years in the support price paid on the major crops, the President has shown that common sense has triumphed over the desires of the influential farm bloc in Congress to maintain the existing outdated system of price supports. He seems, moreover, to be prepared to resist those in his own Party, including several influential chairmen of Congressional committees who demand greater reductions in taxations opposing the moves of a number of Republican Senators to restrict his power to enter into agreement with foreign Governments.

In an election year when appeasement of farmers and taxpayers is almost essential if the Republicans are to retain their factional majority in Congress, for the President merely to adopt this line shows a readiness to put country before Party; and this will be true even if Congress rejects his recommendations later in the year.

THE CHIEF characteristic of President Eisenhower's domestic policy is continuity with the recent past; and the same is broadly true of foreign policy. Except in its reduction of economic aid to other countries, the Republican Administration has not evolved the "new" or "American" foreign policy of which so much was heard during the 1952 campaign. Even its greater preoccupation with the Far East was inherent in the development of events rather than conscious choice.

It has, however, shown itself to be far less cautious — or more imaginative, according to one's point of view — than was the Truman Administration in its latter years. One example of this has been the decision to extend the "containment" policy to the Middle East by building a chain of alliances based on Turkey, Egypt, Iraq and Pakistan, event though military aid to Egypt involves the risk of undermining Britain's position in the Suez Canal dispute, and although military aid to Pakistan has already put a great strain on United States relations with India.

ANOTHER important revision of American policy lies in the decision to contain Communist expansion in the Far East less by the development of American military power in that area than by using the threat of all-out retaliation against China or Russia itself if aggression is renewed in Indo-China, Korea or any of the other sensitive areas in Asia. It is a bold policy — many Americans argue that it is a very risky one — which would be accepted with greater confidence if it were clear that it had been adopted after profound study of Russian and Chinese strategy, and not merely as a way of reducing American military commitments in Asia and thereby lowering the burden of the defence budget on the domestic taxpayer.

The satisfactory aspect of both these developments is that they do reflect a new element of flexibility on the part of the Eisenhower Administration, and a willingness to rethink the basic assumption of American foreign policy; a willingness which is also noticeable in such questions as the future of American relations with China.

THE enormous popularity of the President himself has tended to overshadow the members of his Cabinet. On the whole the appointments which the President has made have been more successful than many observers thought, a year ago, that they would be. Mr. Dulles has regained, through his undoubted ability as a diplomat and thinker, much of the prestige with Allied Governments and with the Press which he lost during his first six or nine months in office, when he seemed more concerned with proving that he was a good Republican than a good statesman.

Mr. Charles Wilson, the Secretary of Defence, has, despite his many indiscretions, shown himself to be the first man to hold that office who can impose some measure of civilian control on the sprawling enormous military establishment.

THE OTHER man of real ability in the Cabinet has proved to be Mr. Ezra Benson, the Secretary of Agriculture. The greatest disappointment has been Mr. Herbert Brownell, the Attorney-General, who came from New York politics with a reputation for political courage and honesty which has not been very evident in Washington.

I have the opportunity of seeing President Eisenhower at close quarters every week at his Press conference, and in my view he is today a more relaxed, a more good-humoured, a more incisive figure than he was even three months ago; and those who work closely with him have the same impression. If I am right, it is probable that he derives his new strength from a realization of what it was that the American people expected of him when they elected him to the White House by so vast a majority: which was to heal the breaches in the unity and self-respect of the nation which the impact of the tremendous events of the last twenty years has caused.

While General Eisenhower, both as candidate and initially as President, was talking of "crusades," of restoring traditional American virtues of free enterprise and individualism, of "dynamic forward-looking policies," the American people — and those members of the larger constituency, the free world — who believed in him for quite opposite reasons as the man of tolerance and firmness who would restore order and control and sanity to the American scene and Government; and as the consolidator of the advances in American power, prosperity and international responsibility which have occurred so rapidly in recent years, rather than as one who would lead them into new fields of experiment.

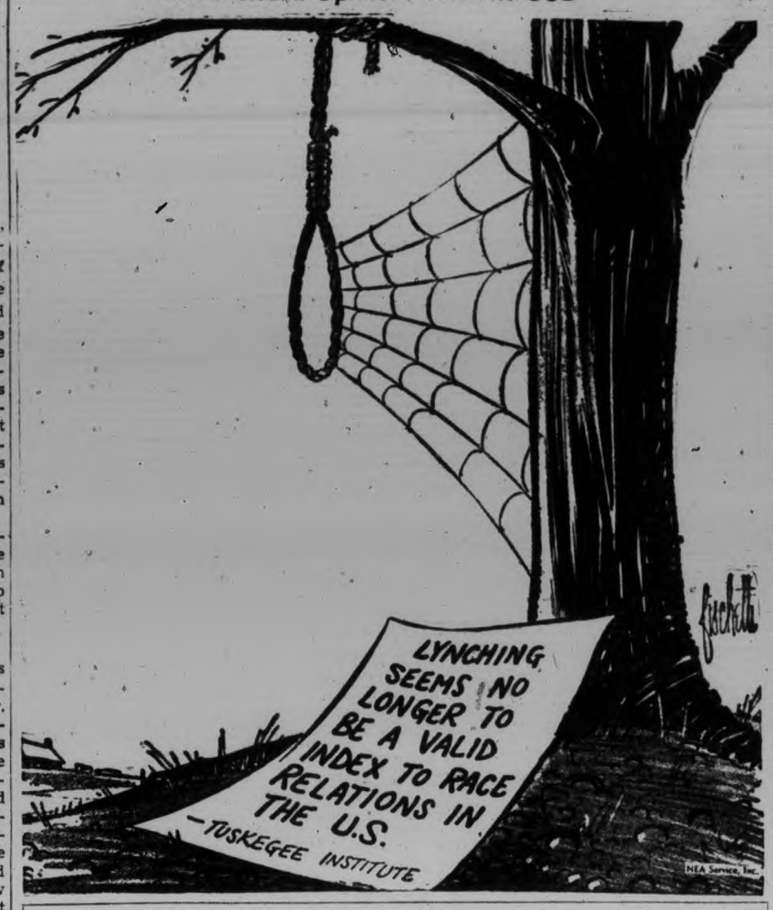
An American Opinion: THANK GOD



In Honour of the World's Worst Poet

(CALGARY HERALD)

WE SEE by a Reuters dispatch from Dundee where the people of that fair city were drinking toasts, during Hogmanay, to the memory of William McGonagall, whose verse, according to the dispatch, "was so bad it has become world famous."

Mr. McGonagall, who was actually Irish but who worked at a Dundee jute mill during the Nineteenth Century, "looked like a genius. He was gaunt-faced and wild-haired and wore a flowing black cape." He was convinced of the immortality of his genius, which expressed itself in such memorable lines as the following:

"Oh beautiful city of Glasgow, with your triple-expansion engines,
At the beginning of which your workmen get many singeings."

He apostrophized the Tay Bridge at Dundee which later collapsed, though no hasty conclusions should be drawn from this coincidence, in the following terms:

"Beautiful railways bridge of the silvery Tay
That has caused the Emperor of Brazil to leave his home far away,
Incognito in his dress,
And view thee ere he passed along en route to Inverness."

Here, it will be observed, lies a talent of most unusual quality. There is in Scotland today, apparently, a disposition to regard Mr. McGonagall as the worst poet who ever set pen to paper — a judgement concerning which we have a few private reservations. The McGonagall claims are undoubtedly strong, but do they prevail, without question over the claims of the Babu poet who wrote, on the occasion of the death of Queen Victoria:

"Dust to dust and ashes to ashes,
Into the tomb the great Queen dashes"?

We think it at least open to argument. We also think William Wordsworth has some claim to consideration. After all, it was he who wrote:

"Spade! With which Wilkinson hath tilled the soil."

We do not remember the poet's name offhand, but we seem to recollect it was a man of considerable eminence who, during the illness of a member of the Royal Family, committed himself to paper thus:

"Across the wires the gloomy message came:
'He is no better; he is much the same'."

And finally, it occurs to us to mention as a strong contender another poet whose special gift it was to dress up hoary platitudes in a comic language incomprehensible to all but the initiated, and thereby to be greeted as an immortal on account of such lines as this:

"Oh wad more power the giftie gie us
To see oursels as other see us!"

Montreal — City of Taxis

(Montreal Gazette)

Over the last weekend, many Montrealers have been puzzled to discover that taxis are very difficult to obtain. The taxi company's lines being continually busy, they haven't had an opportunity to discover why.

Montreal is the most taxi-minded city in the world. Montreal has almost 5,000 taxis: New York, with five times the population of Montreal, has only 11,000.

Montrealers have a particular attitude toward their taxis, too. In New York and London and Paris, people "flag" or "hail" a cab. That is, they pick one up on the street. Montrealers more frequently phone for theirs. One result is that Montreal's biggest taxi company operates one of the world's largest private switchboards, served by scores of operators working in despatcher-headed teams.

The reasons are obvious enough. The traffic conditions in this city, at any time of year, make the use of a private car in the central areas a headache that most owners prefer to avoid. The city sprawls over an island several times the size of Manhattan. And our weather is somewhat different from any major city except Moscow.

When a snowstorm, or a cold spell strikes suddenly, many car owners, even the intrepid ones, leave their cars at home. Many, in the last few days, have been forced to leave them at home; either the motors are frozen or they're snowed in.

Suddenly, the whole city is on the telephone, calling for a taxi. There just aren't that many. So, when it snows, when it rains, when a cold spell grips the city, taxis will always be hard to get, even if the cab-drivers report to the stands, which they don't always do.

Montrealers have only one consolation. There are more of them here, per capita, than there are anywhere else.

Montrealers have one aggravation. When there aren't any taxis in New York, Paris or London, there is always the subway. Even in Moscow, you can go underground.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for the meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed.

Then said they unto him, What shall we do, that we might work the works of God?

Jesus answered and said unto them, This is the work of God, that ye believe on him whom he hath sent . . . For I came down from heaven, not to do mine own will, but the will of him that sent me . . . And this is the will of him that sent me, that every one which seeth the Son, and believeth on him, may have everlasting life. (John 6:27-29, 38, 40.)

Now when he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entered into Capernaum . . . And it came to pass the day after, that he went into a city called Nain; and many of his disciples went with him, and much people.

Now when he came nigh to the gate of the city, behold, there was a dead man carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow; and much people of the city was with her. And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not. And he came and touch the bier: and they that bare him stood still. And he said, Young man, I say unto thee, Arise. And he that was dead sat up, and began to speak. And he delivered him to his mother. And there came a fear on all: and they glorified God saying, That a great phophet is risen up among us; and , That God hath visited his people. (Luke 7.1, 11-16.)

Unwavering Admirer

(Windsor Star)

A man who did not bestow his admiration lightly has been identified in Britain, in the terms of his will. He was Mr. Walter Butcher, a banker who lived to the ripe age of 90, and on passing left a legacy of $280,000 to the elderly daughters of Marshal Foch.

The explanation for this generous act is simple enough. Mr. Butcher had been a firm admirer of the Allied generalissimo of World War 1's closing phase. Perhaps he felt he owed much, in a material way, to that victorious commander. At any rate, although other noted generals came and went, Marshal Foch did not decline in his esteem.

Mr. Butcher had never met the marshal or his daughters. His decision was not influenced by personal relationships, but rather on opinion reached objectively many years ago. There is much of the bulldog breed in a man who can form convictions and hold to them like that.

A British Opinion

Dear Misses Edwards and Beyfus, Ltd.,

AS one of the "lords of the earth, masters of the air and the oceans, conquerors of time and space, inventors of electronic brains, exploiters of nuclear energy, discoverers of penicillin"—in short, MEN—may I point out that my wife discovered just such a machine as you mention some time before we were married.

In fact, I wish to state that her discovery was in no small way responsible for our marriage.

I enclose an illustration (right) of my wife's washing-up machine which, although somewhat in need of repair after years of service, does not, as you said of other washing-up machines, have the plates "scraped clean first before it will begin work." Yours faithfully,

★ CHALLENGE No. 2 to Englishwomen — brighter talk, please, on the dance-floor (or better dancing). . . .

At the close of the festive season we look back and bitterly recall that for the average Englishman dancing isn't a pleasure. It isn't a social grace. It isn't a way of getting to know you. It isn't even an exercise. It's something he has to do between drinks.

And how well we know her sparkling flow of conversation that goes with it. "Like a turn round the floor? . . . 'Fraid I'm not much good at waltzes. . . . Do you live round here? . . . Good band this. . . . Are you a working-man or do you just enjoy yourself? . . .

"Of course, I was at school with Winny. . . . Isn't this tune out of that American show? . . . 'Fraid I can't do the Charleston. . . . Pretty good party, really. . . .

International Languages Would Ease World Tension

By MARC PURDUE

PARIS (AP)—A handful of men and women here think the chances for world peace would be a lot brighter if English and French were made international languages.

That way, they feel, people could talk directly with each other without help from interpreters.

They call their movement the "bilingual world," although the Communist world, where Russian is already required as everyone's second tongue, at present is outside their orbit.

NEED TWO

Specifically, its leaders would like everyone to acquire command of a second language: French in the English-speaking world, English in the French, and one or the other in places where German, Dutch, Italian, Spanish or any other tongue is spoken.

Founder of the bilingual movement is Jean-Marie Bressand, a wartime resistance leader who returned to his homeland from years in South America convinced that most of the world's ills are caused by the inability of people to talk with each other.

He doesn't think the Russians are ready to co-operate on his plan—because they have a language plan of their own—but argues that outside the Iron Curtain French and English are the practical languages to start with. Europeans seem unanimous in choosing French, Bressand reports.

So far the campaign has had letter endorsement from such important sources as the Vatican, Prime Minister Churchill, the White House, French politician Paul Reynaud, Eleanor Roosevelt, writer Andre Maurois and others.

On the other hand, the European consultative assembly, aiming at unity of western Europe, recently rejected a motion asking all member governments to introduce English or French instruction in all their schools. The German and Dutch delegations argued that if such unity is sought, German should have a role equal to French or English.

So far, Bressand's idea of adding bilingualism to elementary school curricula has had practically no success, partly due to national pride, but more because there are not enough teachers, plus an overabundance of obligatory courses in schools and the apparent insolubility of such problems as how an Italian who made English his second language could communicate with a Swede who made French his.

"OPEN DOOR"

One disciple of the movement is Mrs. Eugene Jolas, an American from Louisville, Ky., who has lived in France for years. She has had practical experience as the founder of a bilingual school for French and foreign children which operated until the Second World War and feels strongly that every child should learn a second language because "it opens a door to a new world and gives him a fuller life."

"How said to see members of international conferences — big men, leaders in their own countries—unable to talk to each other after the formal business is completed through interpreters," she said.

PILOT PROJECT

Outstanding success scored by the movement to date has been the "pilot town project." This involves the pairing of a French town and an English town for exchange of teachers and other aids in making both bilingual.

The first such pairing involved Harrogate in England and Luchon in southern France. For one week early last year these towns went completely bilingual in street signs, shop notices, postal directions and all other guides. Everybody who could, tried to speak the other language.

The thing was epidemic and this year French is being taught in all Harrogate schools and English to Luchon children. They like it and Bressant likes it even better.

Negro Cowhand Legend Of Ranch Country

CALGARY (CP) — No matter where you go in Alberta's range country, you'll hear the name of John Ware mentioned. He is a legend, for it is almost half a century since he died.

John Ware was a Negro cowboy, a rarity in these parts. A born cattleman, he was one of the greatest riders this country ever saw. Old-timers call him the granddaddy of all cowboys.

Ware carried 200 pounds on his six-foot three-inch frame and wore a beard. He was afraid of nothing except snakes. Once, when workers had trouble getting some steers headed into a chute at the Calgary stockyards, he walked over the backs of the penned animals like a lumberman on floating logs to get them moving.

"USED TO NEIGHBOR"

John Eide of the Brooks district said of Ware recently: "He was a great man. We used to neighbor." That expresses the sentiments of most everyone who knew the native of Fort Worth, Tex.

Ware came to Alberta in 1882 when a hired hand of the famous Bar U ranch hired him in Idaho to drive back cattle and stock horses. Before that he had followed the cattle drives over the Chisholm and Oregon trails.

He stayed with the Bar U for some time and then moved to a responsible top-hand job on the Quorn ranch. The people who ran this ranch entertained visitors from England and to them Ware was as much a novelty as riding hounds after coyotes was to Ware.

By 1891 Ware had saved enough capital to buy a place of his own on the north fork of Sheep creek. He picked 9999 as his brand and the place became known as the Four-Nine. He wasn't a gambling man nor was he particularly superstitious but there's a story that he figured nine was his lucky number because he was nine years old when slavery was abolished.

WED ONTARIO GIRL

Ware was married in Calgary to Mildred Lewis, who had come west from Chatham, Ont. They had six children. Leaving the four-nine in the Millerville district about the turn of the century, the Wares trailed their 300 head of cattle to the Red Deer river country north of Tilly, in the Medicine Hat region. They settled on a coulee which maps today list as Ware coulee.

Mrs. Ware, who learned to milk a cow but never got on a horse in her life, died of typhoid about 1904. A year later, Ware was fatally crushed under his horse when it stumbled in a badger hole. Bob Ware, now a CPR porter on the Calgary-Nelson, B.C., run, says his father couldn't read or write but he could talk about anything. He talked about oil in Alberta before the turn of the century. Once he saw an oil slick on Sheep creek and soaked a rag in it and used the rag to start a fire.

John Ware talked with Sarcee and Stony Indians in their native tongues. He made his own lariats from rawhide and wove horsehair into saddle blankets. He broke hundreds of broncs. He would judge the weight of an animal within pounds. He was a stern but kindly man. His son, Bob, said the first pair of spurs he owned he found on the family Christmas tree.

Bob Ware kept his father's stock saddle, spurs and revolver. Today, J. B. Cross, one of a famous rangeland family, has them for the western museum he is developing here.

Cutting Prices On Black-White TV Sets

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices on black and white television sets have been brought to the lowest levels on record in the United States since approval of color television.

Manufacturers, while trying to convince prospective customers that moderate-priced color sets are many months away, have made reductions of $20 to $50 on 21-inch black and white table sets, most popular model with the public. More expensive models have been marked down by as much as $200.

Some of the best known brands have been brought as low as $180 to $200 for 21-inch table sets, with numerous overstocked dealers giving customers further discounts. Some 17-inch sets are priced at $150 and in clearance sales it is not unusual to find that size a close to $100.

IN SHARP CONTRAST

This is in sharp contrast to six or seven years ago when a table set with a tiny 10-inch picture brought $325 to $375 or more.

Most manufacturers concede their price reductions have been due mainly to the dampening effect on black and white sales of the federal communications commission's recent approval of color. But they also have been due in part, they say, to reductions in picture tube prices by the big tube makers.

Business in black and white sets has been somewhat better in areas where TV is new. With the new color on compatible standards, all present sets will be able to receive black and white pictures from colorcasts.

Manufacturers, meanwhile, have been tooling up fast to get color sets on the market with two objectives in mind:

1. Establish their brand name in color.
2. Let potential customers see for themselves how a color set performs, the picture size and general appearance so they can compare it with a black and white set.

MAY BE BETTER BUY

After the public has had a chance to see and compare, they believe many who have been waiting for color will decide black and white still is a better buy and go ahead and get a new set.

One manufacturer, Leonard Ashbach, president of Wilcox - Gay, made this comparison: A 21-inch black and white table set at $200 costs 80 cents a square inch for 250 square inches of picture; a 15-inch color set for $1,000 costs $10 a square inch for 90 square inches of picture.

However, prospects are that all the 50,000 to 100,000 color sets due to be made this year will find ready buyers. The small picture size is not likely to last long.

Radio Corp. of America this week demonstrated a 19-inch version of its color tube, which will be used by a majority of manufacturers.

Prices of $1,150 to $1,200 have been announced for early color sets but cheaper models are expected as soon as mass production gets under way.

U.S. Gov't Puts $43,000,000 Into Cuban Nickel Production

By BEN F. MEYER

HAVANA (AP) — The United States government is putting $43,000,000 into an expansion of Cuban production of nickel—a strategic metal for jet plane engines, armor plate, machine tools and other defence products.

A plant built at Nicaro, on the northeastern tip of Cuba, is being expanded 75 per cent to increase production of the metal. The United States itself produces only a fraction of its nickel requirements, buys most of the metal from International Nickel Co. of Canada.

The Nicaro plant was built during the Second World War at a cost of $32,000,000. It was shut down in 1946, then put back into operation Jan. 31, 1952, at a cost of $12,000,000.

The expansion program, which will take two or three years to complete, was big news in Cuba.

BOOM ENDING

The boom following the war appears to be ending and the island's economy has been on a slight downward trend since late 1951.

The Nicaro project is under direction of General Services Administration, a U. S. government agency. Actual operation of the plant is in charge of a private company, formed by National Lead Co. and Cuban investors. Among the Cubans interested in the project is Inocente Alvarez, former cabinet official and long-time close friend of ousted president Carlos Prio.

Nicaro now is producing about 26,000,000 pounds of nickel a year.

The Cuban deposits of nickel ore are regarded as some of the greatest in the world.

The Freeport Sulphur Co. announced last April that a huge nickel deposit has been discovered in the vicinity of Mao bay, not far from Nicaro. The Freeport firm, which operated the Nicaro plant during the war, called the deposit one of the "most important proven sources of nickel anywhere in the free world." Canada is regarded as having the biggest such deposits.

Freeport has been testing samples of the ore at its pilot plant in Freeport, Texas.

The nickel deposits of Cuba are northeast of Santiago de Cuba and about 600 miles east of Havana.

The expansion plan at Nicaro is expected to give jobs to about 2,000 Cubans.

Psychiatrist Gives Norman Examination

STRATFORD (CP)—Jail officials said Sunday a psychiatrist has examined Reuben Henry Norman, sentenced to be hanged Feb. 16 for the murder of Jean Marie Satchell.

They said the examination by Dr. John P. S. Cathcart of Ottawa, was part of a routine review of Norman's case.

A jury last year found Norman mentally unfit for trial but at the fall assizes he was judged sane and convicted of the shooting. Defence was based on the question of his sanity and defence counsel K.C. Stratton and John H. Stratton said they made a routine appeal for executive clemency on that ground.

Red China Steps Up Drive To Communize Peasants

By O. M. GREEN

LONDON (OFNS)—At a recent meeting the central committee of the Communist party of China formally resolved that in the coming year the drive to form peasants into cooperative groups, in which each pools his land, possessions and labor, must be stepped up.

Thus, the highest governing body in China has set its seal on what had been forecast in Peking papers since the New Year—that in the country, as in the towns, all private enterprise is to be brought under state control during the transitional period which will lead to state ownership of all production and commerce in full socialism.

It is the Communists' biggest problem. Up to a point the Communist land reform has been successful. Communists rode to power on the wave of a peasants revolt against the intolerable conditions of life under Kuo-Mintang rule. Big estates were broken up and divided among landless peasants, each of whom received a piece of land of varying size, depending on the district, and the size of family, but usually from about a third of an acre to one and a half acres.

PASSION FOR LAND

The Chinese peasants' passion for land, amounting almost to worship, did the Communists a lot of good. But it is impossible to obtain the large-scale increased production essential to all the Communist plans for a rich and independent China from a multitude of tiny plots, all worked individually. And so the reverse process was begun, of bringing together again the broken pieces by forming the peasants into mutual aid teams and cooperative groups, in which each man pooled his land, labor, tools and beasts (if he had any), the profits being shared according to what each man put in.

The opposition which this aroused among the peasants was plainly shown last year in a series of directives from Peking ordaining that no man must be forced into a cooperative group against his will, and that his ownership of his land must be strictly respected. Collectivisation, it was added, was something for a very distant future.

Two famines and plagues of locusts, added to peasant insubordination, seriously threatened the harvests of 1953 and frightened Peking. In the end the harvests are said to have been about as good as in 1952 (which probably means that they were something worse.) But with these harvest out of the But with these harvests out of the the new party line for the control of all private enterprise by the state, the drive for cooperative farming is resumed.

SEEK CLOSE ALLIANCE

The essence of Communist policy is that there must be a closer alliance between agriculture and industry. The peasants, notoriously jealous of "the people in the towns," must work to give the townsfolk plenty of cheap food (and furnish the state with goods to export.) In return the towns must supply the country with agricultural machinery, and cheap and good clothes and household requisites. Together, under the guidance of the state, they will enable China to lift itself out of its present penury, independently of any foreign aid.

Will the peasants be won over by this argument? A vivid picture of Chinese peasant life is given in a recently published book, "Windows on China", by an Indian writer, Rata Hutheesing, who visited China in 1951 and 1952, each time for several weeks, with Indian good will missions.

BETTER FED

Of the peasants generally, Mr. Hutheesing says they were much more cheerful, better fed and better clothed in 1952 than in 1951; the result, he thinks, of owning some land and having no more heavy rents to pay. But on cooperative groups his verdict is different. He was taken to a village in Manchuria named Kao Kang—the only one up to that time, his guides admitted, which was completely cooperative in farming. There he found that, however much the peasants might collaborate, they were adamant that their piece of land was their own, their carts, tools, whatever they might contribute, were all their own. Again and again he was struck by the pride with which they showed what was their own, their new clothes, the room they lived in, the pigs or chickens they had bred. Nor did the Kao Kang villagers seem at all to appreciate that henceforward they would have to grow what the Communists ordered.

The Communists realize how hard it will be to conquer this passion of individualism. The "People's Daily" newspaper of Peking dwells on "the need for patience" in helping and educating the peasants to the beauties of cooperative farming. The horrid word "collectivisation" is carefully avoided. But too much was incautiously said of it last year for the peasant to have forgotten what touches him so closely.

Retired Teachers Ask For Amendment

TORONTO (CP)—The superannuated teachers of Ontario have decided to ask the Ontario government to amend sections of the Teachers' Superannuation Act affecting surviving dependents of teachers who died before April 1, 1949.

W. F. Kirk, president of the teachers' group, said Sunday night about 50 persons would benefit by the changes.

The suggested amendments are: That the surviving dependents be treated the same as those of teachers who died since April, 1949, and that the contracted original average of 10 years be restored to all pensioners of the years 1937-48.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Pansy Forbes was honored at the B'nai B'rith dinner Saturday night in the Empress as citizen of the year 1953. Fitting tribute was paid to her untiring efforts over the years in coaching local ornamental swimmers to various championships on both sides of the border. Various Peterborough sports were represented at the enjoyable dinner, and guest speaker Mel Allen (noted USA sportscaster) topped it off with a very fine speech. As a former Ashburnhamite, we'd like to point out that of the four citizens of the year picked by B'nai B'rith since the lodge began these selections, two were from the centre east of the river — a centre which annexed Peterborough some 50 years ago — and the other two were born in other cities.

* * * * * *

Mayor Norman Graham received Mel Allen and showed him around the city hall in the afternoon. Mel then spoke to some high schoolers at St. Peter's, and practically had to be dragged away for a press and radio conference ere goin on CHEX for an interview, with the dinner following. He returned to Toronto on Sunday to see some junior hockey before going back to New York. Allen has a grand free-and-easy personality, a wealth of sports lore, and he sure can talk. This was his first visit to Canada and he seemed quite impressed with what he saw. He brought along a friend of his, Pat Davey, an interesting Irish character, who is a former manager of pro pugilists. We certainly enjoyed meeting the pair.

Those Mighty Mites

Pro mat fans here really went for the midget grabblers last week and they'll be glad to know that the little guys will be back in action along the Rue Brock this Wednesday e'en. Little Beaver has a new runty partner by the name of Karl Kruger in the team bout against Mighty Schultz and Sky Low Low — golly, what names they tote around! Your barrel of monkeys has nothing on these four mighty mites in a wrestling ring, and they'll probably have another sellout crowd for the show. A sharp contrast will be seen when huge Hombre Montana steps into the ring against rough Ernie Dusek, whose villainous brother Emil also has a spot on the card.

Those rugged Collingwood Shipbuilders will feel the ire of the Junior Petes at Civic Arena tonight when they tangle in an OHA junior "B" number. Red Creighton's crew (still atop the heap) are smarting from a reverse suffered in Lindsay on Friday when their long victory string was abruptly snapped, and someone will have to pay for it. However, the local lads still boast a fairly comfy lead in the warmish race, with Lindsay next and Port Perry a close third. The Young Petes should win this one tonight, and have an even chance in their only other joust of the week, playing the Oshawa boys in Port Perry on Saturday after supper. Schedule soon will be petering out.

Senior Action Galore

Senior "B" Petes trek to Orillia tomorrow, have the Pontiacs back here Friday, and then meet the Truckmen next night in Bowmanville for a rather busy week. Saturday struggles saw Belleville upset Oshawa 9-5, and Kingston down Orillia 6-3. Standing now shows Oshawa atop with 34 points, Petes next with 30, Kingston and Orillia tied with 29 each, and Belleville last with 18. Schedule has a shade over a month to go yet in the scramble for four playoff berths. Ed Duncan of Memos leads scorers with 56 points, Murray has 52 and Chum Fryia 46. Gus Leonard with 41 and Toodie Greenlaw 40 are also in the top 10 loop scorers. The Petes' officials, players and their wives, with a few guests, had an enjoyable "do" Saturday night at the Kawartha Club.

B. Harrison Rink Takes Canada Packers Cup To End Three-day 'Spiel

By HERB MARTIN

When Vic Brown played his last stone down the centre ice about 6:06 p.m. yesterday, the Canada Packers bonspiel of 1954 passed into history, and there is no doubt but that it will go down in the club's records as one of the best bonspiels — if not the best — ever sponsored by this club. So completely did local curlers dominate play that only one visiting rink — J. McTague, Cobourg — returned for the final rounds of the Canada Packers and the Seagrams Trophies elimination series.

Four top winners of Wednesday's play returned with the four top winners of Saturday's 'spiel and seven of the eight were from the local club.

THE BIG WINNERS

The Canada Packer's trophy was won by Burritt Harrison, Peterborough rink, while A. Ingram's rink took the Seagram trophy. In the two day's play rinks were entered from Ottawa, Kingston, Cobourg, Oshawa, Toronto, Brampton, Lindsay, Orillia, Almonte, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon and Peterborough.

There was a grond total of 224 curlers competing in two days.

The competitions were keen and were followed by a large gallery.

During the day's play lunch was served by the lady curlers and this was greatly appreciated.

PRESENTS TROPHY

In presenting the Canada Packer's ttrophy to B. Harrison's winning rink, Lionel Browne, manager of Canada Packers Co., congratulated the winners and said he was happy to be allowed to participate in this big event. He paid tribute to the club, the ladies and the bonspiel committee, and he hoped that next year it may be just a little bigger and better.

J. Baker, representing Seagram's, presented the Seagram trophy to A. Ingram's rink and he seconded the thoughts expressed by Mr. Browne.

The idea of having a play-off was a new venture and from the way it went over, it appears to be here to stay.

It was a grand bonspiel, well patronized and well conducted.

Regents Earn Hoop Win Over Toronto

Peterborough intermediate "A" basketball Regents of the OABA defeated Toronto senior Broadview "Y" 80-33 in a fast, open men's hoop exhibition before a fair-sized crowd in St. Peter's gym on Saturday night. The visitors were unable to cope with the fast-breaking locals, who controlled both backboards and might well have kept Toronto a lower score.

Dibben, Burns and Stewart controlled the boards well, along with Smith and Nicholls, while Griffin and Edger were potent scorers, as Ash and Smith set them up. Burns turned in his best game going both ways and scoring 14 points. Griffin led snipers with 21 points and Edger was next with 16. Nine each were notched by Ash and Smith, Stewart was good for five, Dibben four and Nicholls two. It was 40-16 at the half. The Bibson brothers were best for the losers, one having nine points and the other eight. Hoxford clicked for five, Brand four, McHape three, Bass two, and Crapper and Blair one each. Suddaby was the only man on the floor who didn't score.

On Wednesday at the YM, the Regents and the local intermediate girls, in tune-ups for coming playdowns, have exhibitions against RCAF teams from Trenton, the girls going at 7:30 p.m. and the boys an hour later.

St. Peter's Get Hoop Frays Over Kitchener

St. Peter's High juniors and seniors captured an Ontario Catholic Conference cage double-header over St. Jerome's teams of Kitchener here on Saturday evening in the SPS gym. The local juniors yanked out a 54-51 win, as the senior Saints defeated their opponents 62-50.

SPS juniors led 12-9 in the first quarter and were up 28-17 at the half. Kitchener fought back hard in the last half to make it close but couldn't overhaul the home squad. Dan Quinlan stood out for the winners with a 22-point effort, Ron Board clicking for 15, Ray Allan for eight, Masterson four, Shaughnessy three and Hickey two. Leading the losers was Masi with 13 points, as Holland got 12, Nause 10, Mejsner nine, Lackenbauer five, and Mannan two.

In the senior fray, each side scored 12 in the first quarter, and Kitchener led 27-26 at the rest interval. But the Saints swept back in the final two quarters to take a lead and gradually pull away with some good team play. O'Rourke sparked the victors with 26 points with excellent shooting, as Galvin got 16, Quinlan 10, Newell six, and Braniff and Hull one each. For St. Jerome's, Febranbach led with 22 points, 13 going to Rintabe, seven to Fritz, and four apiece to Brown and Piworski.

CARDS SIGN STAR

CHICAGO (AP)—The so-called war between the National Football League and Canadian grid forces Saturday prompted Chicago Cardinals to sign their prize fullback, Ollie Matson, for 1954 even though he still is in the army.

Walter Wolfner, Card managing director said Matson was signed "to stop rumors Ollie will play Canadian football when he gets out of military service."

Only this week, the long-smoldering feud between the NFL and Canadian football leaders got hot again with charges of raids and counter-raids on players.

Wolfner doesn't expect Matson will be available until next mid-season, but said that whenever the fleet University of San Francisco product returns he'll be able to pick up where he left off for the Cards in 1952.

In 1952 Matson led the Cards in scoring with nine touchdowns and gained 344 yards in 96 carries.

ALLOW REVERSE JUMP

HAMILTON (CP) — If Eddie Bevan decides to make the jump from Canada to United States football, Hamilton Tiger-Cats won't stand in his way, president Jake Gaudaur said Sunday night.

He was commenting on reports Bevan talked in Toronto Saturday with a National Football League official, probably from New York Giants who are still stung with the departure of Arnie Weinmeister to British Columbia Lions.

The 215-pound all-star Hamilton guard made no comment to reporters, but told them he was in Toronto "on business."

Gaudaur admitted he would be surprised at Bevan's move, but added: "If Eddie decided to cross to the U.S., we would certainly adopt a different attitude than do the American clubs.

"We won't stand in the way of any boy who wants to better himself with a U.S. club. He'd go with our best wishes."

Bevan hasn't signed with the Big Four Cats for 1954 yet.

Young's Point Gets Win Over Lakefield

YOUNG'S POINT (ENS) — Thursday night Young's Point edged Lakefield 6-4 in an action-packed EPL hookey contest, played before a good crowd. Penalties again were plentiful, but mostly for minor infractions.

It was not until 9:15 that J. Darling netted R. Freeburn's pass for Young's Point's first goal. At 14:43 R. Freeburn received a hooking penalty, and while Young's Point were playing a man short, H. Knox tied the score for Lakefield, with assists going to J. Sloan and J. Jopling.

Young's Point came back with three quick goals early in the second period to give them a considerable lead. The first goal came from the stick of J. Northey, with J. Blewett getting an assist. About a minute later D. Heard netted G. Shearer's pass. J. Blewett and G. Hopkins were sent to the sin bin for high-sticking at 6:55 but immediately following the penalty, Blewett sank the rubber behind Goalie Wasson to make the score read 4-1 for Young's Point. D. Heard was given two minutes for playing with a broken stick at 13:39, and while he was off, H. Knox got his second counter on a pass from M. Patterson.

Good ice conditions enabled both teams to keep up the swift pace throughout the final frame. Pammett (J. Sloan) brought Lakefield within one goal of tying the score with a counter early in the period. The penalty parade continued. The break came at the 12-minute mark, as Young's Point put the game on ice with two goals in as many minutes. J. Blewett, J. Fawcett and D. Heard combined on a three-way passing play with Heard netting both goals. Lakefield's final tally came with Pammett scoring from O. Calberry.

Says Lattner Considering Canadian Offer

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Julius Tucker, who describes himself as an "agent without fee" for Johnny Lattner, says the Notre Dame football star "is giving more thought" to playing professional football in Canada.

"Several Canadian teams have made definite offers for Lattner's services and it's up to the National Football League clubs to match them," Tucker told a reporter Saturday.

Tucker is a close friend of Notre Dame coach Frank Leahy and has represented in professional football contract dealings such former Irish stars as Leon Hart, Bob Toneff, Bill Wightkin and Jerry Groom.

Tucker noted that the NFL draft is scheduled for Friday and that Lattner has said he will wait until it is completed before making a decision between American and Canadian play.

"If we accept (a Canadian offer), it will be the top player contract I've ever negotiated," declared Tucker. He did not mention the amount bid by any of the Canadian clubs nor did he mention any particular club as being involved in the bidding.

Mighty Midgets In Return Tag Team Bout

The Mighty Midgets are coming back! Complying to the demands of many fans who were unable to get in and to those who watched the little men in action last week, the midgets were signed to appear at the Brock Arena Wednesday night. And to further boost their stock Karl Kruger, one of the greatest small grapplers in the business, will replace Salie Halasie.

Halasie lost the fall for his team here last week so Little Beaver, seeking a stronger partner, secured Kruger. So it will be Little Beaver and Karl Kruger versus the Great Schultz and Sky Low Low.

The largest crowd to ever witness a wrestling match turned out at the Brock last week. The hundreds unable to get in will be given another opportunity Wednesday night to see the mighty mites fly at one another. And what a treat there in for!

The Dusek Brothers will also be back. Ernie has been matched with 325-pound hombre Montana in the main bout, while Emil's opponent wil be Alan Garfield of England.

Another record-breaking attendance is predicted.

Keen Hockey Shown In Church Loop Frays

Several close contests marked Church Hockey League play at Civic Arena on Saturday. Only the midget tilts were a little one-sided, as St. James beat St. John's 4-1, and Park St. took St. George's 7-3. St. James bantams edged Knox 3-2, St. James peewees won 5-4 from St. George's, and Park St. peewees defeated Knox 4-3.

Scorers for St. James midgets were Stevens with two, Huffman and Rowe, while Falkner got the lone one for St. John's. Park St. midgets led from the start of their game. Walling got three markers for them, Davis two, and Grant and Scarfe one each, as Grant had two assists, and Beavis, Davis and Walling one apiece. E. Warner tallied two for St. George's, and Moore one, as Steele and E. Warner each had an assist.

Connors counted a pair for St. James bantams, and Henwood one, Falkner twice lighting the lamp for Knox. Curry got two for St. James peewees, Heard, Ball and D. Stevenson having one each, and Ball and Curry an assist. Civic Arena on Saturday. Only the Hughey had two for St. George's, and Bullied and Scarlett one apiece. Corbett sparked Park St. peewees with three goals, Chambo having one and an assist, and Batley helping on one. Scott, Hancock and Sloan tallied for Knox, with Sloan also aiding on one. Chicago Smashes Mighty Habs In Crushing 8-3 Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The lowly Chicago Black Hawks rose like terrors Sunday night to smash the mighty Montreal Canadiens. Whatever it was that got into the downtrodden Hawks it's got tongues wagging today in the National Hockey League. The Hawks, strengthened by three new forwards, walloped the Canadiens 8-3, Montreal's worst licking this season. The Hawks' goal output was the biggest single-game scoring production for the team this season and was the highest number scored against the Canadiens.

It was all the more surprising since it came on top of a 5-1 whipping the Hawks took from the Canadiens in Montreal Saturday with Bernie Geoffrion the trigger-man for three of the goals.

NOT ALL SURPRISES

Chicago didn't provide all the surprises. Toronto Maple Leafs stunned their fans by failing for the fifth straight game this season to score a goal on Detroit ice. The Leafs were blanked 2-0 Sunday night and they now have gone 332 minutes and 58 seconds without scoring in Detroit, counting the last 32 minutes and 58 seconds of their final game in Detroit last season.

The Red Wings' victory Sunday night gave goalie Terry Sawchuk his eighth shutout this season and made up for the 4-1 defeat the Leafs handed them in Toronto Saturday night.

The New York Rangers' private duel with Boston Bruins the last few days ended Sunday night with Boston salvaging one victory out of three games. The Bruins eked out a 2-1 victory in Boston following a 4-3 setback in the same place Saturday night.

STANDINGS UNCHANGED

The even split for all teams in the weekend action left the standings unchanged, with Detroit five points ahead of the Canadiens. The Leafs are one point behind and 10 in front of the Bruins who remain two points up on the Rangers. The Hawks are in the rear with 23, the Sunday win being their ninth this season.

Two of the Hawks' new forwards, Jack McIntyre and Ike Hildebrand played prominent roles in the win. McIntyre, former Hershey Bears winger, fired two of the Hawks' goals. Hildebrand, in his first game since his purchase from Vancouver Canucks, counted one goal and assisted on another. Kenny Wharram did not figure in the point-making.

The other Chicago goal scorers were Jimmy Peters, Bill Mosienko, Bill Gadsby, Gus Bodnar and Gus Mortson.

Maurice Richard fired two of the Montreal goals with Elmer Lach getting the other.

Lach's goal was his 212th and his total point output in 14 NHL seasons now is 612.

He ran his assists total to 403 Saturday night when he figured in all five goals in Canadiens' win over the Hawks. He scored one, assisted on Geoffrion's three goals and helped on Richard's.

RICHARD TOTAL

Richard's point total is 632, made up of 375 goals and 257 assists.

Chicago's goal Saturday was counted by rookie Lou Janowski.

A first-period goal by Gordie Howe and one in the second by Bill Dineen gave Detroit its win over Toronto Sunday night. A brawl at 18:47 of the final period saw Rudy Migay and goalie Sawchuk tangle in front of the Detroit net. The fight touched off others, featuring a battle between Thomson and Bob Goldham. All four were tagged with five-minute penalties.

SCORES TWICE

George Armstrong scored two of the Leafs' goals in their win over the Wings Saturday night. Harry Watson and Sid Smith tallied the others, with the lone Detroit marker coming from Marty Pavelich.

Max Bentley, with brother Doug assisting, counted one of the Rangers' goals in New York's Saturday night win. Camille Henry counted two and Wally Hergesheimer picked up the other.

Boston's victory over the Rangers Sunday night was the first for coach Lynn Patrick over brother Murray since the latter took over the coaching reins of the New Yorkers seven games ago. The Rangers had won three straight, including two over the Bruins, while winning eight of their last 10 starts. First-period goals by Cal Gardner and Joe Klukay won for the Bruins Sunday night. The Rangers' tally was scored by Don Raleigh.

Marlboros Have Eye On Cup Blank Hamilton Cubs 8-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Marlboros haven't won a Memorial Cup since 1929. But the way they're going now they may do it this year.

Riding a 13-game unbeaten streak, the Dukes are the best defensive team in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series. In 35 games visiting clubs have scored only 89 goals, a 2.54 goals-a-game average.

Toronto also is the only team in the league that hasn't hit double figures in the loss column. With a record of 22 victories, nine losses and four ties, Marlboros occupy first place in the standings, one point ahead of St. Catharines Tee-Pees. They also have a game in hand over St. Catharines.

Marlboros improved their defensive record Sunday when they shut out Hamilton Cubs 8-0 in the second half of a Toronto doubleheader.

BLANK GREENSHIRTS

St. Michael's College blanked Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts 3-0 in the first game to tighten their hold on third place.

In an interlocking game in Jonquiere, Galt Black Hawks won a 4-1 victory over the Marquis, cellar-dwellers of the Quebec Junior Hockey Association.

Barrie Flyers edged Hamilton Cubs 8-7 in Hamilton Saturday to move into fourth place over Kitchener.

Wally Maxwell, Al Larose, Gerry James, Dave Reid, Mike Nykoluk, Charlie Burns, Tom McCarthy and Dave Jackson each scored singles for the Dukes.

FANS LITTER ICE

Two misconduct penalties to the Cubs about one minute before the end of the second period caused a shower of programs from the 5,528 fans. The remainder of the second period had to be carried over to the third.

Bill Colvin scored the winning goal for St. Michael's, almost four minutes after the start of the third period and Paul Knox and Jack Caffery salted the game away. Irish netminder Gerry McNamara played brilliantly to earn the shutout.

Hec Lalande, Ed Switzer, Dick Collin and Bill Chalmers accounted for the Galt total in Jonquiere. Gerry Normand broke goalie Les Binkley's shutout late in the game.

The Flyers blew a 5-1 first-period lead before downing the Cubs in Hamilton. Dan Polizziani, Jim Robertson and John Martan sparked the Flyers, each scoring two goals. Bob White and Bob Barlow notched the others.

Brian Cullen scored a pair for the Cubs with others going to Ed Louttit, Bill Stewart, Real Larouche, Cummy Burton and Bill Binnie.

St. Catharines is at Barrie in tonight's only game.

Utica Rinks Score 3 Wins

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Utica rinks swept to victory Sunday in three of the four medal competitions of the annual international bonspiel.

Utica No. 4 captured the Mitchell Medal, top award of the four-day event, by edging Chicago, 15-14. Robert Davies skipped the Utica rink and Elmer Billows skipped the losers.

Utica No. 3, skipped by Fred Parkinson, won the Allen Medal with a 12-11 victory over Smiths Falls, Ont., skipped by Joe Ellwood.

Utica No. 1 skipped by Ward Murray, overwhelmed Scot-Americans No. 1, skipped by Elmer Freitag, 16-5, to win the Dewar Medal.

The final of the Country Club Cup turned out to be an intra-club affair with Kingston, Ont., No. 1 the victor, 11-9, over Kingston, No. 2. Joe Shamess skipped the winners and Gib Seymour, the losers.

In the Country Club cup semi-final, Kingston No. 2, defeated Utica No. 6, skipped by Lambert Grant, 10-8, and Kingston No. 1 downed Scot-Americans No. 3, skipped by John Dalton, 13-8.

Littler Wins San Diego Open, Opposition Heavy

RANCHO SANTA FE, Calif. (AP)—National amateur champion Gene Littler, standing off the challenge of professional stars and a blistering rain, won the $15,000 San Diego open golf championship Sunday with a final round par 72 and a 72-hole score of 274.

The 23-year-old native of San Diego swept in by four strokes over E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Ardmore, Okla., who picked up the $2,400 top money.

Littler won a five-piece silver tea set.

Littler, with a victory that marked the first by an amateur in a major open tournament since Frank Stranahan won the Miami Open in 1948, toured through a drizzle of rain in 38-34—72 strokes.

His 274 total was 14 strokes under par for the tournament route over the 6,800-yard Rancho Santa Fe Golf Club.

TIED AT 280

Tied at 280 and winner of $1,600 each were former national open champion Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, with a last round 73, and stocky Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N.Y., with a 71.

Among the leaders was Stan Leonard of Vancouver who was tied with three others at 286. He earned $360. Leonard carded a 73 Sunday. His earlier rounds were 71, 69, 73.

Jerry Kesselring of Toronto and Kitchener finished out of the money with 295. His rounds were 72, 73, 73, 77.

Marlene Ties For 2nd Place In Tampa Open

TAMPA, Fla. (CP) — Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., Sunday tied for second place in the Tampa women's open golf championship, won with a total of 311 by United States professional Betsy Rawls.

Marlene and U.S. amateur Polly Riley both shot 313 for the four-day match.

Marlene, British and Canadian amateur champion, posted the best nine-hole round Sunday with a 36, two under women's par. But on the back nine, despite wood shots that were long and true, her iron shots and putting brought her downfall. She shot a 42 and a 78 total.

CLOSED IN TWICE

Twice on the back nine Marlene moved within a stroke of Miss Rawls. On the 18th hole her third shot went past the pin to the outer edge of the green. She chipped it back two feet past the cup. The putt rimmed the cup and she had to take a six for the hole.

If the putt had been true she would have taken low amateur honors with a 312.

She intends to play in the Helen Dougherty tourney at Miami this week and then head back to school at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla.

Miss Rawls' win was worth $1,200. Patty Berg, West Chicago pro, shot 314 to win $850. Babe Zaharias of Tampa took fifth prize of $425 with a 316.

RELAXATION IS EASY WHEN YOU ARE ON TOP—Or so you would think from observing Tommy Ivan, the Red Wing coach who takes his leisure in reading. That book isn't the "Philosophy of Rest" but the "Mainstream of America Series" which has to do with this and that but mostly both. It has nothing to do with hockey problems which seem to be the least of Ivan's worries. The Wings downed the second-place Montreal Canadiens 1-0 in Montreal last week.

IUE-CIO Boys Win

Peterborough IUE-CIO peewee puckists defeated Hastings boys 4-1 in an exhibition game Saturday in Hastings. Burns scored twice for the winners, Collins and Anthony each getting one. An assist each went to Garvey, Brady and Barker. The losers' marker was by Mace with Crate earning an assist. Teams:

IUE-CIO—Goal, White; defence, Garvey, Collins; centre, Anthony; wings, Burns and Driscoll; alternates, D. Brady, Barker, Jamison, Roberts, Warboy, McAuliffe, Mahoney, D. Brady, McCarthy, Halstead.

Hastings — Goal, McEvoy; defence, Crate, Fairman; centre, Jones; wings, Smullen, J. Jones; alternates, Baker, Montgomery, Scriver, Marsh, Switzer, Humphries, Mace.

Gordie Howe, Detroit, whose goal in the same game brought his points total this season to 50.

Colorful 'Spiel Opening At Quebec City

QUEBEC (CP)—The first round of one of the most colorful sports spectacles in Canada opens today.

The 41st annual running of the Quebec international bonspiel sees 120 teams from four provinces and six states in the United States on hand to have a crack at 12 trophies and assorted medals and brooches offered the winners.

It is the second major bonspiel to start here within a week. The four-day province of Quebec championships were resolved here Saturday night in a sudden-death playoff that saw Arvida, skipped by W. R. Tracy, turn back A. F. Muth's Quebec Victoria rink to take the Quebec championship. Arvida now goes on to Edmonton in March for the Dominion playoffs.

SIX-DAY 'SPIEL

The bonspiel ends Saturday with 13 playoff matches for trophies ranging from the top Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy, symbolic of international championship, to the Cite de Quebec Trophy and the Province of Quebec medals.

Games are divided into 10 ends and teams are limited to a two-hour limit. The finals go to 12 ends.

Most of last year's trophy winners were expected to be on hand to defend their titles. These included a Toronto Granite rink, skipped by Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly of the Ontario Supreme Court, last year's top winner.

Others expected to defend their trophies included L. H. Wood's Lindsay, Ont., rink. Twenty-four rinks from Ontario are expected to compete.

Charge Byers Attempted Injure Bathgate

WINDSOR (CP)—Coach Murph Chamberlain of Windsor Bulldogs charged Saturday that Gord Byers, Chatham Maroons' defenceman, "deliberately" attempted to injure Windsor forward Frank Bathgate Friday night.

The alleged attempt happened during the third period of a Senior A Ontario Hockey Association game in Chatham in which the worst brawl in Chatham arena history took place. Chatham defeated Windsor 3-1.

The 30-minute fray ended after wild fights on the ice and stands. The national anthem had to be played twice to bring the fighting to a halt.

"It was one of the most deliberate things I have ever seen," said Chamberlain, former National Hockey League firebrand.

TOOK SWING

"Byers took a swing at Bathgate with his stick. He knocked out five teeth and split Frank's nose. Our guys didn't like it, so they went after Maroons and after that it was a brawl. . . It looked to me as if Chatham was trying to eliminate Bathgate because he is one of our best players."

Coach Jack Stewart of Maroons, a former Detroit Red Wings player blamed Bathgate for touching off the fight. "One of the Windsor boys (Bathgate) speared one of my boys (Byers)," said Stewart, "I tell my boys that if anybody spears them they are to let them have it. Byers didn't swing his stick at Bathgate. He sort of shoved it in his face."

Stewart also denied that Bathgate lost several teeth.

"He didn't get any more than a couple of stitches in the face," Stewart said.

Bancroft Defeated

BANCROFT (ENS) — Bancroft Pontiacs suffered their first Hastings-Addington league defeat of the season on Friday when they were severely trounced by Madoc-Tweed on Bancroft ice. The score, 13 to 6.

Scoring in the first three minutes, the home team took the lead, 3-2, in the first period, but were quickly overhauled in the second when the score became 7-5.

A further three goals in four minutes of the last period left the issue in little doubt. Nine penalties were awarded, four against Bancroft.

Bancroft—A. Young, S. Stringer, C. McAlpine, E. Brough, B. Green, N. Brough, B. Ramsbottom, B. Deleya, N. Lentz, R. Severin, P. Rupert, J. Vance, L. Dougall, P. Boutin, F. Bruce.

Angry Bulldogs Chalk Up Weekend Wins

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Windsor Bulldogs, who have been running hot and cold this year, are sizzling again.

Apparently "burned up" about a 3-1 defeat during a near riot in Chatham last Friday, the Bulldogs are taking it out on the other teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

The third-place Bulldogs drew closer to the top of the standings during the week-end with a double victory. A surprise was an 8-2 trouncing Saturday of the second-place Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen in Kitchener. They completed their perfect week-end with a 4-0 shutout of the last-place Niagara Falls Cataracts in Windsor Sunday.

The double victory put them four points behind Kitchener and eight behind the league - leading Owen Sound Mercurys.

MERCS EXTEND LEAD

The Mercurys strengthened their position by trimming Chatham Maroons 5-2 in Owen Sound Saturday.

In the third Saturday game Stratford Indians and Hamilton Tigers battled to a 3-3 overtime tie in Stratford.

Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds increased their first-place lead in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group to nine points by edging Sudbury Wolves 3-2 in Sault Ste Marie Saturday.

In the other Saturday NOHA game Pembroke Lumber Kings took over third place by defeating North Bay Trappers 5-3 in Pembroke.

The Wolves completed a losing week-end when they dropped a 5-1 decision to the Indians in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sunday.

The Bulldogs were in control all the way in Kitchener Saturday. Gary Gordon, Lyle Wiseman and Gord Haidy led the Windsor attack with two goals each. Bob Hayes and Ed Jaster added singles. Gerry Theberge and George Scholes counted for the Dutchmen.

Doug Gillespie, Roy Leckie, Herb Carnegie, Buck Forslund and Bill Hagen scored for Owen Sound against Chatham to give the Mercs their third consecutive victory. Jim Connelly and Bill Lee replied for the Maroons.

HURLEY STARS

Boat Hurley in the Hamilton net helped the Tigers draw with Stratford. The Indians outshot Hamilton 38-23. Hub Anslow, with two, and Eddie Busch were the Tiger marksmen while Herve Dejordy, Bob Mader, and Ted Pletsch scored for Stratford.

Windsor peppered Cataract netminder Don Lockhart with 48 shots during their shutout Sunday. Windsor goaltender Nick Pidsodny had 20 to stop.

Walt Pawlyshyn scored two for the Bulldogs, Earl Keyes and Gord Haidy added singles.

Stratford is at Owen Sound while Kitchener goes to Niagara Falls in the OHA Tuesday.

Greyhounds are at Pembroke in the NOHA tonight.

Western Football Union Expands To Five Teams, Sets Policy

REGINA (CP)—The Western Interprovincial Football Union expanded officially to five teams during the weekend and set out its policy on the import question which it hopes to persuade the Canadian Rugby Union to adopt.

Surprisingly enough, its feelings on imports and the number of "Canadianized - Americans" to which each team should be limited are not too different from what the east's Big Four league favors.

In all likelihood, the two pro leagues will agree to a compromise when they make their recommendations to the CRU's annual meeting in March.

British Columbia Lions were voted in as the fifth member of the Western Conference, and, with entry, won possession of 30-year-old tackle Arnie Weinmeister, subject of Saskatchewan Roughriders' announced plans to block Lion's entry.

The major recommendations to the CRU will include:

1. The maximum number of "Canadianized-Americans" be four and maximum imports be raised to 10 from eight;

2. The 10 players be named by the third game of the season, without consideration for substitution requests once players are declared and minus allowance for injuries;

3. The score for a safety touch be increased to three points from two;

4. The yardage penalty for roughing given the defending team during a convert play be applied at the first down after the subsequent kick-off;

5. Blocking 10 yards in advance of scrimmage be permitted on running plays by all members of the team scrimmaging the ball;

6. The penalty for piling be increased to 20 yards from 15.

The meeting also asked that the Grey Cup semi-final be played in the West each year instead of alternating with the East, in order to erase a two-week layoff while the West is awaiting declaration of an eastern winner. Delegates said such a change would enhance the West's Grey Cup chances.

Voted into WIFU regulations was a motion calling for a fine of up to $1,000 and forfeiture of the game for a team using a player not properly signed.

A motion to reduce to 26 from 30 the number of players a WIFU team can dress for a game was approved.

The tentative schedule calls for a three-team playoff, with each team playing 16 games, eight of them at home. Each club will meet the three others four times.

The league will open Aug. 21, a week earlier than last year, with Edmonton Eskimos at Saskatchewan Roughriders and Calgary Stampeders at Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The last regular game is Oct. 25. Semi-finals start Oct. 30 with the second game either Nov. 1 or 2. Finals open Nov. 6, with the second game Nov. 11, and the third, if necessary, Nov. 13.

Four Different Personalities May Clash At Conference

By PRESTON GROVER

BERLIN (AP)—So different are the personalities of the four foreign ministers who begin today to discuss the world's crucial issues that dramatic clashes seem inevitable.

The two oldest and toughest, American John Foster Dulles and Russian Vyacheslav Molotov, represent the biggest powers. The others, Anthony Eden of Britain and Georges Bidault of France, are both in their 50s.

Here is how they look on the conference's opening day.

MOLOTOV:

There probably is no harder and colder personality in the U.S.S.R. than Molotov. He comes to the conference nearing his 64th birthday March 9.

Unlike the other three, who have developed a certain warmth and acceptance of one another, Molotov hasn't a friendly contact in the Western camp.

At the 1947 Big Four conference in London, his cynicism finally drove the then state secretary George Marshall to give him one of the fiercest tongue lashings in modern negotiations. Marshall then broke off the conference. Molotov put on his hat and left, outwardly unmoved.

Molotov, well grounded in Communist theory, never loses sight of the long view of Communist policy.

DULLES:

The secretary of state, who may celebrate his 66th birthday at the conference table Feb. 25, has been on the fringes or in the middle of U.S. foreign affairs for a score of years. A Republican, he was at the elbow of the various Democratic secretaries of state and worked out the peace treaty with Japan.

His recent statement that the United States would have to make an "agonizing reappraisal" of its policy in Europe if France fails to ratify the European Army pact stirred up a ruckus in France.

It was part of the Dulles pattern of plain speaking. He wants to see Russia back within its own frontiers and especially out of central Europe. He wants the U.S. position to be fortified by strong moral rightness.

EDEN:

The foreign secretary is looked upon as formidable at the conference table, firm and forthright. What he may lack in give and take, Eden makes up in a rich background of international experience, dating back to the League of Nations.

He wants to avoid an abrupt collapse of the negotiations. He favors removing the barrier between East and West by working out agreements on small things if larger scale operations are impossible. In that he may run counter to Dulles who has indicated he favors a stiff policy with the Russians.

BIDAULT:

Favoring ratification of the European Army pact, Bidault comes to the conference table bolstered only by a thin and uncertain majority in Parliament and with no great assurance that he will be foreign minister more than a month after the conference ends.

He may join Eden in softening the impact of Russian and U.S. ideas at the conference.

He is learned in history, once was a history professor in Paris, and worked his way to the leadership of the "resistance" in France during the German occupation.

Exeter Man Experiments With Palomino Breeding

EXETER, Ont. (CP)—The Palomino is the subject of a two-year breeding experiment on the farm of Kirby Crocker near this southwestern Ontario town.

Mr. Crocker is trying to produce a true palomino breed. Other horse breeders are watching with interest, although some say "It can't be done."

"We've hit the jackpot twice in succession," says Crocker. "I'm hoping our mares stick true to form and throw a couple more foals this spring."

The palomino is generally an accident of color and may appear in any breed. The Palomino Horse Association of America lays down these qualifications:

"The body coat color of a palomino shall be that of a newly minted United States gold coin." Mane and tail must be white or blonde and white face markings are allowed.

MORE THAN COLOR

Mr. Crocker demands more than color. He said:

"We've got to get color, quality, breed and intelligence all rolled into one. It's tough. Maybe I'll never see it in my lifetime but I feel that even if I make some small contribution in developing a real palomino breed, all this work will be worth it."

His main stud horse is Pal-O-Mine, three-quarters Arabian, and he plans to use Golden Maxine, one of his two breeding mares, more extensively in the future.

Two palominos bred together may produce a horse of a different color but so far, Pal-O-Mine has sired two palomino foals out of the two palomino mares. Also, two of its three colts by a non-palomino mare were palminos.

Mr. Crocker thinks a true palomino breed may be established "some time within the next 40 years."

But he adds philosophically: "Maybe I'll make a complete fool of myself, too."

CCL To "Keep Harping" On Unemployment Topic

OTTAWA (CP) — George Burt, vice-president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said Sunday night the CCL will "keep harping" on the subject of unemployment in Canada "until the government is willing to sit down with management and labor to discuss the issue."

Mr. Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers of America (CCL-CIO), told a CCL union institute banquet that at least 500,000 persons are out of work in Canada and "we fear the government will do nothing to put an end to the problem."

"I hope we're wrong about this," he said, "but we'll keep harping about it. We're going after other organizations and we won't stop until the government is willing to sit down with labor and management to discuss the issue."

CCF leader M. J. Coldwell also spoke briefly at the banquet, which concluded the two-day sessions, during which union members from some 25 Ottawa-area locals were given courses in several phases of union affairs.

CONTINUE GOLD FIGHT

Mr. Burt said the unions will continue to fight in the Timmins area of northern Ontario, where several hundred gold miners still are idle following a series of strikes in mines there.

Some Timmins-area workers signed an agreement, he said, "because they had not been backed up by labor."

But the agreement, which turned down union demands for a company checkoff of union dues while granting wage increases, was already showing its effect in other parts of Ontario. "Now we have to fight managements who are trying to make us give up security measures already written out in our contracts."

Mr. Burt said labor still is shackled by "unfair" labor legislation. Discrimination ha not yet disappeared. Men were still fired for talking about or joining unions.

He said unions will continue to fight for a guaranteed annual wage in order to give workers more security.

London Hails Eisenhower Plan, But Has Doubts

LONDON (Reuters) — British newspapers today hail the U. S. Randall commission's foreign trade recommendations as economic wisdom but voice strong doubts whether President Eisenhower will be able to sell the program to his party.

The commission's recommendations to liberalize United States trade and tariff policies are seen likely to antagonize sections of the Republican party and arouse opposition in the United States even if endorsed by the president.

The Times says that if the recommendations of the majority report were adopted by President Eisephower and Congress they would make a big advance towards economic freedom and the substitution of "trade for aid"—Britain's chief plea to the United States.

"The dissentients on the commission, however, although a small minority . . . are influential figures in Congress, and their attitude is a warning of the irreconcilable opposition which many of the commission's policies will meet from supporters of high tariffs should the president sponsor them," the independent newspaper says.

The Manchester Guardian maintains that the report has put an end to fears that a Republican regime will reverse the course of United States trade policy.

"Its proposals will not make the party a great deal more liberal and they will go a little way towards closing the dollar gap," the Liberal paper says.

POINTER TO FATE

The Daily Express says letters of dissent against the report written by commission members were "a sure pointer" of the fate the recommendations will meet.

"For it is not the liberal-minded Eisenhower, nor a majority of the Randall commission, who will settle this matter but Congress," The Express says.

"And only a fool or a wishful thinker would expect Congress to approve any considerable all-round lower of tariffs."

The Financial Times says the commission recommendations "contain little or nothing" which could not have been suggested a year ago with "as good or better a chance of acceptance in Congress."

Bisons Score 2 Victories Over Weekend

Buffalo Bisons swept into a commanding lead of the American Hockey League with two decisive victories during the week-end.

The Bisons hammered Hershey Bears 8-1 at home Sunday and defeated Syracuse Warriors 3-1 away Saturday to take a four-point lead over the failing Cleveland Barons.

The second-place Barons went down 3-1 to fifth-place Providence Reds Sunday. They had edged Hershey 3-2 Saturday night.

Kenny Hayden scored twice for Bisons Sunday. Gaye Stewart, Dan Marshall, Ed Slowinski, Steve Wochy, Russ Kowalchuk and Gordon Pennell also counted. Murray Costello was Hershey's goal-getter.

MANY PENALTIES

Wochy, Slowinski and Pete Babando scored for Bisons Sunday in a penalty-packed tussle at Syracuse. Bill Gooden had given the Warriors an early lead.

At Providence Sunday only the brilliant goaling of Emile (The Cat) Francis saved Cleveland from a more disastrous defeat at the hands of the prancing Reds.

Ray Ceresino opened the scoring for Cleveland in the first period but Pete Kapusta and Tod Campeau retaliated within seconds. Chuck Scherza wrapped it up in the second period.

In the other week-end encounter Pittsburgh Hornets defeated Providence 5-2 at home Saturday.

YMCA Volleyball

In Saturday YMCA volleyball competition in the Lillico Trophy race, Argos swept three straight from the Eskimos by scores of 17-15, 15-6 and 15-2; while Tigers took two from the Bombers, 13-15, 15-13 and 15-9. Oil Exports Rise

Preserving Status Quo Leads To Disaster In Church, World

The Rev. O. P. Hossie of Kitchener was guest preacher at both morning and evening services Sunday for the 82nd anniversary of Trinity United Church.

A large congregation was present for both services.

At night Mr. Hossie's theme was "The Long View". He contrasted the outlook of Hezekiah, who was unworried about the threat of Babylon as long as there was peace in his lifetime, with the spirit shown by St. Paul in his epistle to the Ephesians.

Isaiah the prophet made this prediction:

". . . the days come, that all that is in thine house, and that which thy fathers have laid up in store unto this day, shall be carried into Babylon: nothing shall be left, saith the Lord.

"And of thy sons that shall issue from thee, which thou shalt beget, shall they take away; and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon."

Hezekiah's reply was: "Is it not good if peace and truth be in my days?"

This "peace in our time" theme was sounded by a British statesman (unnamed) in recent times, Mr. Hossie observed. Neither Hezekiah nor the statesman took the "long view".

STATUS QUO IN CHURCH

"It is easy to preserve the status quo," said Mr. Hossie. People take the attitude that as long as everything is going along nicely in their time, then everything is all right . . . There is a great deal of that status quo attitude in the church. Something has got to be done. We're not in horse and buggy days."

Mr. Hossie also said that throughout the country congregations are "crying out" for pastors; yet often ministers in existing churches are preaching to as few as 10 or 20 people. He described this situation as "not just pathetic, it's criminal". People are not taking the "long view".

He had a comment on the international scene:

"I would like the Holy Spirit to 'break through' at the Big Four meeting in Berlin this week. Let them take the 'long view'."

Guest soloist was Mrs. Hossie at both the morning and evening services. After the evening service she gave a recital in Trinity Hall which was attended by a large number of the congregation.

Guatemala Cracks Down

GUATEMALA, UATEMALA (AP Police were reported Sunday night to have jailed at least 26 persons in a week-end roundup of alleged plotters against Guatemala's leftist government. No official confirmation was available, but officers were known to have made numerous searches of private homes as well as to have stopped cars and checked them for weapons.

Malan Opposition Comes Safely Through Dispute

PRETORIA (Reuters) — South Africa's United party, chief opposition to Prime Minister Daniel Malan's Nationalist government, has successfully come through the first phase of a post-election internal dispute.

A crisis was passed here when the Transvaal congress of the party, some 600 to 700 delegates from all parts of this key province, unanimously approved the recent expulsion from the party of four "rebel" Transvaal members of Parliament who had openly criticized the party leadership.

Earlier the Cape province congress of the United party backed, by a large majority, the expulsion of another "rebel," the fifth member of a right-wing group accused of trying to appease the Malan Nationalists in their efforts to separate mixed-blood voters—the so-called cape coloreds—from whites on the electoral rolls.

MALAN SPARKED CRISES

The crisis has been boiling up ever since the April general elections when Malan, newly re-elected prime minister, openly invited members of the Opposition to vote with the government to end a long-standing constitutional controversy over the mixed-blood vote.

Out of a series of extended caucus meetings, the five chief dissidents became known when they declined to join in a vote of confidence in the party leader, Jacobus Strauss, successor to the late Gen. Jan Smuts, wartime prime minister.

Expulsions and sympathetic resignations from the party caucus followed. Party dismissals came later.

Has Grist Mill Built In 1798; Six Generations

PORT ROWAN, Ont. (CP)—John C. Backus, 83, runs a grist mill built in 1798 on land granted to one of his forbears by the crown.

Six generations of his family have worked the land of the 1,200 acres of the original crown grant, growing tobacco and grain and producing timber and maple syrup as well.

Visitors often come to see the ancient grist mill in this Lake Erie community, 40 miles east of St. Thomas and an old sawmill operated in connection with it.

"We're always glad to have visitors," John Backus said in an interview. "And we're proud to show them what we have here. But, now that I'm getting along, I'm inclined to let our visitors just look for themselves, rather than show them around. They come every other day and we have so many of them."

One of his proudest boasts is that for 150 years the family has been cutting the same bush. So strict has been its program of reforestation that the bush still has almost as much timber as it had when first cut.

Spectacular Wartime Science Achievement Brings Revolutionary Changes To Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's spectacular wartime achievements in science have brought about a permanent and revolutionary change in her peacetime scientific structure.

Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, president of the atomic energy control board, said Saturday night that this has resulted from public and government recognition "that effective national science is one of the essential activities on which the strength and well-being of a modern nation depends, in peace as well as in war."

The former president of the National Research Council and Atomic Energy of Canada Limited, spoke at a dinner given in his honor by the Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada. The function was held in recognition of the award to the 65-year-old scientist of the Kelvin Medal, one of the most coveted prizes in the field of science engineering.

Dr. Mackenzie is the first Canadian and the first North American-born scientist to receive the medal awarded every three years to commemorate the life work of British physicist Lord Melvin. He will receive the medal from the Institution of Civil Engineers in London later in the year.

The dinner was attended by Prime Minister St. Laurent and seven other members of the cabinet, and senior government officials representing nearly all branches of the public service. Out-of-town guests included Professor A. V. Hill of the University of London, who was closely associated with Dr. Mackenzie in scientific research during the last war.

WAR CONTRIBUTIONS

Dr. Mackenzie said that Canada made a number of scientific contributions which helped the Allies win the First World War. However, he said, Canada was not scientifically prepared in 1918 and scientific advancement practically stopped.

But the situation was reversed in 1945 after the end of the Second World War. Due to Canada's important scientific contributions there was a sizeable corps of highly-qualified and experienced scientists and scientific engineers. Governments, universities, industry and the public had become interested in the application of science.

"It is this public recognition which is responsible for the real scientific advances of the last 15 years," he said. "What we did in war was not ephemeral but has brought about a permanent and revolutionary change in the scientific structure of this country."

CHANGE IN STATUS

The award of the Kelvin Medal to a Canadian, Dr. Mackenzie said, is a "recognition of what has happened in Canada during the last 15 years and of the standing science and scientific engineering have attained."

Canada's scientific revolution was caused by a world crisis but was not a mushroom growth. The fundamental structure remains and "on its strength we now have a soundly-based industrial economy which will continue over the years to expand and prosper."

Royal Couple Pay Visit To Dunedin

By GOMER JONES

DUNEDIN, N. Z. (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh arrived by train at Scots-proud city of Dunedin today to begin the last week of the royal tour in New Zealand.

The Queen and the duke will be here until Thursday. Two days later they leave from Bluff for Australia to continue their Commonwealth tour in the royal liner Gothic.

Dunedin's population of 96,000 still retains much of the Scottish character of its founders. It is an old gold-rush city and present capital of New Zealand's far south.

The couple travelled by train 130 miles southward from Timaru, where a hospital patient in an iron lung was among the thousands of spectators who waved them farewell.

QUEEN APPEARS RESTED

The Queen, rested and refreshed after a week-end in seclusion at the seaside estate lent to her by a local millionaire, wore a two-piece dress of Cambridge blue silk shantung, with white shoes and a small hat swatched in dark blue chiffon.

The train made several stops along the way here. At Palmerston, the duke tried to comfort a weeping three-year-old boy. The youngster became over-excited and burst into tears.

The duke bent down and said gently: "Come on, old chap. Cheer up." The lad kept on crying, unmoved by the royal solicitude.

The excitement also proved too much for the 37 members of the Dunedin ladies' brass band. They stood rigidly, ready to play their selections, until the Queen approached. Then they forgot their music and rushed past their male conductor to get a good view of the Queen.

New Cathedral Cost $5,600,000

SAO PAULO (Reuters)—Brazil's second largest and fastest-growing city will celebrate its 400th anniversary with three days of celebrations, climaxed by the consecration of a $5,600,000 cathedral Jan. 25.

The Gothic-style structure was built mainly with private subscriptions and the ornamentation of its four altars, two pulpits and baptismal font has been rated among the finest works of the last 100 years.

The foundation stone was laid in 1913, but the idea of building dates back to Nov. 15, 1889, when Brazil was proclaimed a republic. Since 1947 a comiittee of women has been in charge of raising funds for the building.

Screams Of 2 Women Frighten Off Gunmen

HAMILTON (CP)—The screams of two women at the sight of two masked gunmen were credited with averting a robbery at a large groceteria Saturday night.

Mrs. Edith Tweedie, wife of the manager of a supermarket, answered the door of her apartment and was confronted by two masked men holding guns. She screamed.

Across the hall, Mrs. Phyllis Prior opened her door to investigate the commotion. She too screamed.

Unnerved, the men fled, one of them dropping his loaded gun.

Vaccinations Can Help Against Chronic Sinus

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Vaccinations against chronic sinus trouble work for some people, a medical team reports after years of study.

The vaccine treatment banished the sinus trouble in four persons for as long as three to 18 years. It improved others, sometimes immensely, but failed in two cases.

The method uses a vaccine prepared from the types of bacteria found in the sinuses, Dr. Hugh M. Kinghorn, Dr. George E. Wilson and Morris Dworski, B. S., of Saranac Lake, N. Y., write in the American Medical Association's Archives of Otolaryngology.

Bacteria recovered from the sinuses are identified and grown in pure cultures. From these are prepared a sterile solution containing the germs, and a filtrate or solution of the liquid in which they were grown.

Each patient is tested with tiny injections first to learn whether he is sensitive to the vaccine and filtrate. Only those who show sensitivity—such as a red wheal rising from an injection of dilute vaccine—are likely to benefit.

REPEATED INJECTIONS

Treatment consists of repeated injections under the skin of vaccine and filtrate, starting with small doses which are gradually increased. Injections are given about once a week for four to six months, and another series may be given later. Filtrates also are put directly into the sinuses.

Vaccination against chronic nasal catarrh, done in the same way, ended the catarrh in four patients, and they have stayed free of trouble for six to 13 years. Two more were improved, with one staying free, while the other died of other causes. A seventh person failed to improve with the vaccinations.

Staphylococci germs were always found in both sinus trouble and nasal catarrh, the physicians said. Streptococci germs were found and given with the vaccines in four of the 16 cases of sinus disease.

One patient was a clerk whose treatment started in 1945. He had had chronic sinus disease for 29 years, suffering with a heavy discharge from the nose. The treatments almost completely cleared up his trouble, and the next winter he had no head colds for the first time in years. He has remained much improved.

A nurse whose treatment started in 1934 was so bothered by sinus she had to spend her winters in Arizona. The vaccinations completely cleared up her trouble, and she now stays in her home state of New Yyork. When she gets a head cold, it lasts only the usual length of time and doesn't affect the sinuses.

See Nation-Wide Strike Paralyzing UK Industry

By ROBERT MILLER

LONDON (OFNS)—Britain is in danger of having the first serious industrial stoppage since before the war. The Electrical Trades Union called a token strike of twenty-four hours today and many people believe that the union's Communist leaders are working to bring about a nation-wide strike for an indefinite period.

The struggle began in earnest a week ago when the union organised a large number of stoppages on various industrial building sites throughout the country. The ETU claims that its orders were everywhere obeyed, and certainly there is no evidence that any of its strikes had to be called off because the men rebelled.

SIGNS OF MUTINY

All the same there is equally no doubt that the union ran into unexpected trouble. Men on two sites at Scunthorpe (in the north of England) were so mutinous that the ETU's president, Frank Foulkes, had to pay them a special visit. Mr. Foulkes normally goes out of his way to give an impression of geniality and friendliness, but he was so severely heckled at Scunthorpe that he was forced to use threats. Anybody who defied the union would lose his union card—in other words, he would be unable to obtain a job. Cowed by these words, the workers came out on the appointed day.

There was also trouble among electricians employed at Aldermaston. Out of 190 men only seven voted for a strike. There too the union made the same threat—anybody who refused to obey the ETU's orders would lose his card. Once again the men gave way and came out on strike.

The employers believe that the rank-and-file as a whole are as critical of the union as the electricians at Scunthorpe and Aldermaston—that they have responded out of fear, not out of conviction. That may well be true. The ETU, though small, is one of the most efficient and ruthless trade unions in this country. None of its threats is an idle one. When the ETU says it will take disciplinary action, the men know that it will stop at nothing.

UNION FINES SCABS

Its methods were publicly revealed three years ago when there was a frivolous strike at the Bethnal Green depot of the London Electricity Board. Although the stoppage was supposed to be unofficial, seven men who had continued working were summoned before the local branch of the union and were not only fined £20 but also deprived of certain privileges for twelve months. The men concerned appealed to the employers. The Board, they pointed out, had promised that there would be no victimisation and yet here they were being fined and penalized.

The employers were then as good as their word and took the matter to the courts on the men's behalf. Although the seven electricians won the case, they were not allowed to escape. The union organised such a concerted campaign of abuse against them that one by one the men were forced to leave. None of them is any longer on the books of the London Electricity Board.

GUERRILLA TACTICS

But although the union can use terror, the ETU is not in a very happy position. The strikes of the last few days—described, in characteristic Communist language, as "guerrilla strikes"—have not in the least intimidated the employers. On the contrary many building contractors are secretly pleased. They have either had two or three days' building work in hand and can therefore do without their electricians or have used the strike to plan ahead. The stoppages have not greatly inconvenienced them and they say, perhaps with a certain amount of bravado, that they do not mind how long the union continues with its present tactics.

Reports over the weekend suggest that the strikes have also been unpopular among the electricians. Men who are on sites where the work is coming to an end do not particularly mind if they are called out on a day's strike: it usually only means that they will get an extra day at the end of their contracts. On the other hand, those who have only just started work on a job that is both profitable and seems likely to last a long time are naturally full of resentment. They feel they have been unfairly picked to go into the front line while their mates next door are able to go on and earn full wages. Besides, they are beginning to realise that these strikes are leading them nowhere and that they are no nearer getting their increased wages than they were before.

DEFEAT COMING

For this reason the ETU cannot continue with the "guerrilla" tactics for a long time. Sooner or later it must admit defeat and irretrievably lose face or try to advance and call a national strike. If it organises a general stoppage, it will be taking a big risk. Union officials not in the ETU but with a wide experience of the industry think that, if the employers stand firm, a strike will soon collapse.

The stakes involved are high. If the ETU is defeated, it will discredit the Communists everywhere. But it will do more than that. At the moment most employers are giving way when their workers ask for higher wages. If the ETU fails, they will undoubtedly take a much tougher line in future.

Steel Uprising Seen In Spring

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel magazine today predicted a possible further cut in steel production, but said the industry looks for an upswing in the spring.

Steel orders have been declining since last summer and the national steel output dropped another half point last week to 74 per cent of rated capacity. However, the industry as a whole is not pessimistic, the weekly magazine said. Historically there's a seasonal upturn in the steel business in the spring.

While steel purchasers right now aren't finding many out-and-out price cuts, they can get the seller to pay some of the freight charges and get what they want when they want it.

There was some improvement in steel ordering last week by General Motors and Ford, but this was not matched by other car manufacturers.

One steel - consuming group, household appliances, was showing no signs of a general recovery.

Steel's composite price stayed at $113.91 a net ton, and scrap held at $29.17 a gross ton.

Italy To Have Biggest Budget

ROME (Reuters)—Italy's cabinet Saturday night approved the biggest budget in the country's history, based largely on Premier Amintore Fanfani's avowed neo-Socialist program to steal the thunder from the Communists.

The budget for 1954-55 calls for government expenditure of 2,433,000,000,000 lire ($3,892,000,000), with heavy new expenditure on housing for the poor and public work projects for the country's 2,000,000 unemployed.

The new budget, to be presented to parliament next week, is a sharp increase over the 1,787,000,000,000 lire ($2,859,000,000) budgetted for the current year.

At the same time, the 1954-55 budget estimates a deficit of only $579,000,000, a 15-per-cent reduction from the current year.

The government announcement of the budget approval gave no details of income and expenditure.

Three Small Boys Find Stolen Suitcase

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Three small boys struggled into the editorial office of the Windsor Star Saturday dragging a heavy metal suitcase.

Jerry Kearns, Donald Kissner and Allen Prentis, aged 10, 11 and 14, between puffs, reported they didn't have enough money to call police and didn't think they could make it to the station with their burden.

Reporters opened the bag to hunt for identification and found it full of ladies' aah—unmentionables, expensive ones too. The boys found it near the Detroit river.

Police were called and they returned the suitcase to M. L. Boyd of St. Thomas, a salesman from whose car it had been taken. Another suitcase, taken at the same time, was turned in by John Manchen of Windsor. He found that one on his front lawn.

Police Arrest Man For Stealing Saw

PARRY SOUND (CP) — Police said they have arrested Ernest Wellington of Ardbeg on a charge of stealing a chain saw from the lodge of a Toronto man found dead after he had been missing for six weeks in this district.

The body of William Fleming, 60, was found washed up on a small island in the Magnetawan river last fall. There was a bullet hole in the body but no weapon could be found. A coroner's jury asked for further investigation.

Wellington Saturday was remanded in custody a week to enable police to investigate a number of mysterious fires in the district. Fleming's lodge burned down shortly before he disappeared on a hunting trip.

THE STORM IN THE BALKANS is rapidly coming to a head now that President Tito, centre, has fired his top aide, vice-president Milovan Djilas, from the ranks of the Communist Party on charges that he attempted to "liquidate" the Red Party in Yugoslavia. The storm brewed after the vice-president wrote a series of articles on the snubbing of actress Milena Vrajakova, left, that drew the wrath of top Communists and Mrs. Tito, right.

Sarnia, 7 Townships Petition Annexation

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—The City of Sarnia and seven townships have prepared a joint brief to the Ontario government on annexation, planning and other problems of municipalities "partly rural and partly urban."

George Nace, London township representative, said Sunday a meeting was held in Hamilton Saturday to complete the brief. Another will be held next Saturday for any revisions.

He said the municipalities are trying to provide protection for smaller and poorer municipalities and give them power to demand just treatment from larger neighbors in annexation disputes.

Townships represented were Trafalgar, Saltfleet, Brantford, London, Stamford, Scarborough and Yarmouth.

Funeral Held For Advertising Head

TORONTO (CP) — The funeral will be held today of Cyril N. Foy, 48, for seven years advertising sales manager of Saturday Night, Toronto weekly magazine. He died Friday in Ridgetown where he had lived for the last two years as co-owner of a hotel.

A past president of the Canadian Magazine Publishers' Association, for several years he was a lecturer at University of Toronto extension courses in sales and advertising.

Says Anglicans Fail To Follow Prayer Book

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A choirmaster from Kingston said Sunday that seventy-five per cent of Anglican churches in Canada fail to follow the prayer book.

George N. Maybee, choirmaster of St. George's cathedral also said that many organists are "appallingly weak in reading anything about their work." But others were wholly efficient and "paid notoriously badly."

He was speaking during a discussion session of choir representatives and clergy from centres throughout Huron diocese of the Anglican church. The conference included a workshop and a special evensong service.

DON'T FOLLOW BOOK

Mr. Maybee said the 75 per cent who do not follow the prayer book "put in things that should not be there and do not follow the definite directions given in it." He said a hymn should be sung by the congregation during collection so that "people won't have so much time looking around to find out what their neighbors are giving."

Some poor organists "think they can take piano lessons up to grade 8 and then study six weeks of organ playing from a Baptist or some other non-Anglican church organist—and then take the position of organist and choirmaster in an Anglican church."

Witnesses Plan Continue Fight

TORONTO (CP) — Frank Chapman, one of the leaders of the Jehovah's Witnesses religious sect, said Sunday his organization's literature has already been moved out of Quebec to prevent its confiscation under a new law in that province.

But, he told a rally of 2,200 members, its fight against the Quebec government will go on, even if members are sent back to jail time after time.

"If our brothers and sisters continue the work, they are bound to be arrested and convicted," he said. "They will be fined or jailed. But they will come out of jail one day and continue preaching the next. They won't give up, because they are sworn to preach the word of Jehovah and some of them will never be out of jail."

Stratford Pair Injured

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two Stratford women on their way to see their invalid husbands were slightly injured Sunday when their auto slid off the road and hit a telephone pole. Robert Wheatley of Stratford, a passenger in the car, was also hurt. Mrs. Helen V. Wheatley, Mrs. Cy Kastiner, and Mr. Wheatley suffered face cuts. They were treated at hospital and released.

Truck Runs Off Road

VINELAND (CP)—A truck ran off Highway 8 near this St. Catharines district community early Sunday and smashed seven guard rails. Its occupants, George Hunt, 45, and William Carpenter, both of Niagara Falls, suffered slight injuries. Hunt told police another vehicle forced him off the road.

Body Recovered

WALLACEBURG (CP) — The body of George Thomas Raymond, 31, of Wallaceburg, missing from his home since last Wednesday, was found Sunday under the ice on the Sidenham river here. Firemen said Raymond had apparently gone through the ice while skating

TV Circles Guessing About Awards

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can Lucy do it again?

That was the issue discussed in television circles today as the nominations for the TV academy's 1953 awards became known. Last year Lucille Ball walked away from the banquet with two awards, for best actress and best comedy show. The question is whether she can repeat.

"I Love Lucy" placed high in the new nominations, being named for the same two spots as last year plus the new category of supporting players. Her neighbors, the Mertzes — in real life Vivian Vance and William Frawley — are nominees.

But Lucy faces strong competition from other shows. "Mister Peepers" also won four nominations, as did the Jackie Gleason show. Although TV audiences still love Lucy, it's probable that the academy will honor her competitors.

SPECIAL BANQUET

The Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, patterned after its movie counterpart, will name the winners at a Hollywood banquet Feb. 11.

I'll take a flier and try to outguess the voters. Here are the nominations for bests and my choices for the winners:

Dramatic program: Kraft TV Theatre, Philco - Goodyear Playhouse, Robert Montgomery Presents, Studio One and U.S. Steel Hour. Choice: U.S. Steel Hour.

Situation comedy: Burns and Allen, I Love Lucy, Mr. Peepers, Our Miss Brooks and Topper. Choice: Burns and Allen.

Variety: Colgate Comedy Hour, The Jackie Gleason Show, Omnibus, Show of Shows and Toast of the Town. Choice: Toast of the Town. (And what is Omnibus doing in that bunch?)

DRAGNET "A NATURAL"

News or sports: Camel News Caravan, Gillette Cavalcade of Sports, NCAA Football Games, Pabst Fights, Professional Football and See it Now. Choice: See it Now.

Public affairs: Adventure, Bishop Fulton Sheen, Meet the Press, Person to Person and Victory at Sea. Choice: Victory at Sea.

Mystery, action or adventure: Dragnet, Foreign Intrigue, I Led Three Lives, Suspense and The Web. Choice: Dragnet, natch.

Audience participation, quiz or panel: I've Got a Secret, This is Your Life, Two for the Money, What's My Line and You Bet your Life. Choice: This is Your Life.

Children's program: Big Top, Ding Dong School, Kukla, Fran and Ollie, Super Circus and Zoo Parade. Choice: Ding Dong School.

New program: Adventure, Ding Dong School, Letter to Loretta, Make Room for Daddy, Person to Person and U.S. Steel Hour. Choice: Make Room for Daddy.

AND THE STARS

Male star of a regular series: Sid Caesar, Wally Cox, Jackie Gleason, Donald O'Connor and Jack Webb.

Female star of a regular series: Eve Arden, Lucille Ball, Imogene Coca, Dinah Shore and Loretta Young. Choice: Dinah Shore.

Outstanding personality: Arthur Godfrey, Edward R. Murrow, Martha Raye, Bishop Fulton Sheen and Jack Webb.

This last one is a toughie. Bishop Sheen won it last year, so the chances are he won't score again. Godfrey isn't as popular here as he is in the East. Martha Raye is about TV's best comedienne, but she hardly rates in this class. It could be Murrow, but I'll string along with Joe Friday. I think it's going to be a "Dragnet" year.

Time Stands Still In Moscow Shops In Terms Of Eye Appeal, Designs Seem To Be Frozen For Years

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW (CP)—In terms of eye appeal time has stood still in the shops of Moscow.

It is as though designs were frozen while the production and distribution aspects of the system worked to put existing models within everybody's reach.

There are frilly domed lamp shades of the 1920s, massive upright pianos and uninteresting clothes, heavy ornate cut glass and utility kitchen-ware.

Soviet leaders have announced a drive to bring the country's consumer goods into line with the times. People are plainly in the mood for "something better."

With the exception of large-model radio-gramophone sets, television sets and automobiles, for all of which there are waiting lists (indicative of the purchasing power latent here), most items are readily available in the stores.

Shops are crowded and shopping takes time and patience.

Moscow is a city in which a barber earns 1,000 rubles a month, a high-school teacher 800 and a high-school principal 1,900.

Radios are considered necessities not luxuries. They are a means of keeping citizens in touch with party and government views, and of raising the country's cultural level.

Moscow radio broadcasts whole symphony and opera performances several times a day. There are programs of folk and light music, and of national music from the various republics in the Union. There is no merchandise advertising.

A radio which will pull in the local stations with a fair-quality speaker costs 60 rubles. A similar set with a good speaker costs 120.

A first-class combination radio-record player costs between 790 and 1,200 rubles. Even at the official exchange rate that is not high, but there are waiting lists.

(The exchange rate is four rubles to the dollar, but a ruble's purchasing value is only five to eight cents.)

Television sets, for which there also are aiting lists, cost from 1,200 to 2,400 rubles.

The drive on culture is seen, too, in the record departments.

Western-type jazz and dance music is deplored here as "bourgeois." There are only 600 titles in the dance music catalogue, mainly Russian and these cost five to six rubles each for the 72-r.p.m. type.

A 72-r.p.m. disc of classical music costs exactly one-half that.

Russia produces its own LP discs, which here are 33, not 33 1-3 r.p.m. Long-play recordings of complete symphonies are five rubles, 50 kopeks, six and seven rubles each, depending on diameter.

One can have a complete opera here, recorded on four or five discs, for from 18 to 25 rubles.

Books, too, are cheap. Paper-covered editions cost one or two rubles. Cloth covers run from five to nine rubles. Really fine textbook types, lavishly illustrated with cuts and blocks, run from 20 to 25 rubles.

Shakespeare in paper covers costs four or five rubles. A nicely-bound illustrated edition of Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist" costs nine rubles.

A small refrigerator suitable for butter, milk and keeping the beer cold, costs 600 rubles. One corresponding to Canadian family-size costs 2,000.

Illustrative of the inexpensive cultural aids produced are child-sized violins, about one-third regular size, for 80 rubles. Hanging beside them are 'cellos at 290.

Vacuum cleaners, 450 rubles, are cash and carry. The Soviet model is the tubular type on runners with attachment operated from hose extensions. They are plentiful.

A motor-cycle costs 2,400; you buy them in the department stores and there are stacks of them. Bicycles are 400 up and equally plentiful. A really good one costs 675 rubles.

A 35-millimetre camera on zeiss or ikon lines runs from 2,750 rubles but a stock reflex model costs from 160 rubles.

Photography is popular here and most amateurs do their own processing.

City Of Stratford Given Theatre Award

WINDSOR (CP)—The city of Stratford and the Stratford Shakespearian Festival organization Sunday received the Dominion drama award for outstanding contribution to Canadian theatre.

The award was accepted by Tom Patterson, festival director, from David J. Ongley, Dominion Drama League president. It was made at the wind-up luncheon of the Western Ontario Drama Festival.

Lawrence Feick, Stratford mayor, expressed pleasure on behalf of the city at the receipt of the scroll. Mr. Patterson was mentioned for his personal contribution to the festival, which starred Bri-

Knocks 10 Feet Out Of Post Car Wrecked

In a freak accident Sunday night an out-of-control car snapped a 10-foot section out of a telephone pole and carried it a short distance.

The car driven by Stanislaw Kolodzicjski, 37, of Kingston received about $1,200 damage. Kolodzicjski was shaken up but unhurt.

The accident was on Highway 7, four miles east of Peterborough. Kolodzicski was driving from Kingston to Peterborough when the car went out of control about 7:45 p.m.

The car veered off to the south shoulder of the highway, jumped a snowbank, wheeled 45 feet along uneven, snow-covered ground and sheered off a telephone pole. With a 10-foot section of the pole caught in the wreckage, the car went another 15 feet and rolled over onto its roof.

The rear section of the roof was caved into the rear seats by the impact. There were no passengers.

Parking Meters Collect $35,581 During 1953

Motorists constitute a growing source of revenue for the city as receipts from parking meters and tickets continue to swell the city's coffers.

Last year the city collected $35,581.16 from meters, compared with $31,256.45 the year before, $30,594.20 in 1951 and $28,371.47 in 1950. Parking violators paid $664 in tickets last year, compared with $527 the year before, $338 in 1951 and $160 in 1950.

The meters at the parking lot yielded $1,878.05 last month, compared with $1,298.08 in December, 1952. Revenue from the parking lot has totalled $34,242.52 since the meters were installed there July 21, 1951. There were 258 parking violation cards issued at the parking lot last month.

TORONTO (CP)—The second annual Canadian winter rally of the British Empire Motor Club of Toronto ended Sunday with most of the 62 entrants in a gruelling test drive of 1,340 miles finishing the course.

In temperatures as low as 40 below, some vehicles broke down, some ran into snowbanks and others had trouble on ice-coated hills, but most made base.

In all 53 cars started from Toronto and nine from Montreal. The route for Toronto drivers was Toronto to Peterborough, Kingston, Montreal, Maniwaki, Barry's Bay, Peterborough, Huntsville and back to Toronto. Montreal competitors followed the same course in reverse. An eight-hour rest period was allowed en route.

The event is not a race but cars are required to check in and out of designated points at specified times. Speed limits have to be observed. Test is for the endurance of cars and skill and endurance of drivers.

BANCROFT (ENS)—An OPP constable was seriously injured and his police cruiser wrecked in a collision 16 miles south of Bancroft on Highway 62 at 3:45 Sunday afternoon.

Constable Milton Perry of Bancroft was proceeding south when he was in collision with an old-model car driven by Carson Orville Masters, 24, of Tweed. The police car went off the road and was completely demolished.

Taken to the Bancroft Red Cross hospital, Constable Perry was treated for chest injuries and a fracture of the left forearm.

Constable H. S. Johnson of Bancroft investigated the accident. Masters was taken into custody and a charge will be laid against him.

MRS. PANSY FORBES, coach of the Peterborough ornamental swimming group, was awarded a scroll naming her the city's "Citizen of the Year," Saturday night at a dinner in her honor. President of the B'nai B'rith, organizing group behind the citizen award, Irving Cipin, is shown above reading the scroll before making the presentation. Guest speaker was Mel Allen, U.S. sports broadcasting personality, who is shown below signing autographs following the dinner.

First Woman To Be Named Citizen Of The Year Mrs. Pansy Forbes Honored

Peterborough's first woman citizen of the year, Mrs. Pansy Forbes, was honored Saturday night by some 500 citizens at the B'nai B'rith civic dinner in the Empress hotel. Also present and on the honor role were the Ornamental Swimmers which Mrs. Forbes guided to the North American Synchronized Swimming Championship in 1953. Following the dinner, Irving Cipin, president of the Peterborough B'nai B'rith, presented Mrs. Forbes with the fourth citizen of the year scroll. "We in Peterborough are very fortunate that Mrs. Forbes decided to settle here.

"Not only has she achieved much recognition for Peterborough with her famous Ornamental Swimmers. She has also found time in her crowded schedule to help others less fortunate. Many crippled boys and girls have been taught to swim—some before they could walk—and they are grateful to Mrs. Forbes."

CREDIT TO GIRLS

"I am very humble, yet proud to be here tonight", said Mrs. Forbes. "Much of the honor being accorded me, is due the girls . . . they are Canadians . . . and they won the championship."

Mrs. Forbes expressed her gratitude to all who had helped with the swimming group, the Lions Club, the YMCA and YWCA, and the city itself through the recreation commission.

Although recognized as an excellent swimmer as far back as 1932, Mrs. Forbes became internationally known as a fop ornamental swimming instructor only during the past few years. Her outstanding coaching ability came to the fore in 1948 when two members of the club defeated the U.S. champions in the synchronized duet.

When her charges first took part in Dominion-wide contests, at Montreal, in 1945, coach Forbes realized, "they knew very little about Dominion competition". She returned to Montreal and took intensive training in the arts of synchronized swimming. Stemming from her work in this field, the team has been crowned with one success after another until the ultimate goal—the North American Synchronized Swimming championship.

TO SWIM AT GAMES

The next achievement of this famous team and coach will be to demonstrate their sport at the British Empire games, to be held in Canada next summer.

Guest speaker at the dinner was the well known American sports announcer, Mel Allen, making his first public appearance in Canada. Most of his remarks were in the humourous vein, but in the more serious phase of his address he stated that sport is one of our greatest weapons against communism.

"A belief in God permeates the world of sport . . . players asking His help and protection. There is little prejudice in sports where ability alone is the thing that counts.

The world of sports is a living form of democracy. The old and simple Golden Rule is the greatest thing, dominating all our activities if we respect our fellow man."

Present at the head table were: Harry Yudin, Rabbi A. M. Babb, Mayor Norman Graham, the Rev. M. P. Poole, E. J. Wolff, Isadore Black, Harry G. Silver, Mel Allen, Joe Rogow, Irving Cipin, Mr. and Mrs. James Forbes, Hilly Yudin.

Stopping To Give Ride, Car Crashes

A good samaritan act involved a Lakefield father and son in an accident Saturday noon.

Terence Doubt, 16, was driving north on Highway 28 about 12:30 p.m. Half a mile south of Burleigh Falls he applied his brakes to offer a ride to a couple of hitchhiking airmen. The car skidded on the glare ice, spun around and went out of control.

The vehicle snapped off a couple of guard rail posts and plunged into a six-foot ditch. When it finally came to rest it was facing southeast. Damage was estimated at $150.

Neither Terence nor his father, Reginald Doubt, was injured.

OPP Constable Emmett Crough investigated.

Curling Returns To Norwood In Fair Building

The winter game of curling has been revived at Norwood with the accommodation provided in the new exhibits buildings at the fair grounds.

"We had 32 curlers out Thursday night," G. A. Brethen, president of the Norwood Fair, mentioned to the Examiner today, "and the club is off to a grand start."

The exhibition building is 50 feet by 150 feet, with concrete floor. Norwood curlers are using two ices, and they have room for three. President of the club is Bill Garden. They have scheduled games up to February 8 for Royal Bank trophy for which ten rinks are competing.

Seven are from Norwood, one from Havelock, another from Hastings and the tenth is Midland Regiment. Norwood used to have a lively curling group years ago, sending entries to the district cup series in Peterborough, along with Millbrook, Lakefield and Keene. Two of their skips were Fred Kempt and Alf Finlay.

HELPFUL WEATHER

"As everybody knows," Mr. Brethen said, "we have had excellent weather for building up a sheet of ice on our concrete floor. The accommodation is very comfortable for the members."

J. F. Chevers, editor of the Register offers this suggestion: "Watch the skip's broom and keep sweeping. If you are ever in doubt, stick your head in the waiting room door— you will get plenty of advice there."

2 Boys Killed By Snow Slide

NEGAUNEE, Mich. (AP) — Two 12-year-old boys were killed and a third escaped death Sunday when a snow slide buried them in an abandoned mine pit in Negaunee.

Tommy Leklin, and Ernest Salo, both of Negaunee, and two companions were searching the mine area for a wallet lost by Leklin Saturday.

The two, who lost their lives, and Sigfrid Parkkonen, 12, of Negaunee, were buried in 10 to 15 feet of snow.

The fourth companion, Jerry Koski, 13, escaped the avalanche, ran to the highway and hailed a police car. Police uncovered the Parkkonen boy in time to save his life.

Car Crashes Roof Of House, None Hurt

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—An auto crashed onto the roof of John Dewey's home early Sunday. No one in the house was injured. Damage was estimated at $5,000.

The only injury was a broken jaw for the driver of the car, John W. Frens, 37, of Grand Rapids, who had to be cut out of the wreckage.

Frens told officers he lost control of his car. It started across lots, knocked over a mail box, shot up a 25-foot embankment into space. It leaped 15 feet across Dewey's driveway and sank its front wheels into the roof above the doorway.

Population Grows

While fewer people died in Peterborough last year than the year before, there were more children born in the city during 1953 than 1952, according to vital statistics prepared by City Clerk A. E. Outram.

There were 1,844 births recorded here last year, compared with 1,180 the year before, and 513 deaths, compared with 535 in 1952. In December of last year, there were 152 births, compared with 134 during the same month in 1952, and 38 deaths, compared with 50 in December, 1952.

Of the 152 births recorded last month, 92 were to city residents. Of the 38 deaths registered, 25 were of city residents.

There were 13 marriage licences issued in December.

Driver Praised For Saving Blazing Machine

City council have ordered a letter of special commendation to be sent to J. Claire Sullivan, operator of the sanitation department's bullclaw shovel at the landfill garbage disposal project, for saving the machine from destruction when it caught fire last Tuesday.

Mr. Sullivan burned both hands, which required medical treatment, when he fought the blaze with an extinguisher and shovels of snow.

J. E. Pierce, superintendent of the sanitation department, described Mr. Sullivan's actions as "quite beyond praise."

"Despite his burned hands, he continued fighting the fire until my arrival and was utterly exhausted, also suffering from a tremendous amount of smoke fumes. Only his enterprise and labors saved the entire machine from complete destruction," Mr. Pierce said.

The fire started among some garbage and the operator used the machine to push the burning refuse into the swamp to put it out. Apparently some burning garbage blew or got jammed in the rear of the machine and the fire reached the fuel and hydraulic tanks and lines until the flames eventually started coming up around the seats and battery.

Mr. Sullivan fought the blaze with an extinguisher until it was empty and then started to shovel snow on the endangered parts of the machine. At this point, the superintendent arrived. With the use of the extinguisher from his truck and more snow, the flames were put out.

In his official report of the fire, Mr. Pierce said the damaged parts which had to be replaced were a length of hydraulic hose, two fuel lines, the rear seat and a few minor fittings. The machine was back in operation at 3 p.m. the day following the fire.

The extent of the damage which did not occur was also revealed in the report. The oil line from the hydraulic tank to the pump was burnt and some oil had started to drip through. The oil would have caused a tremendous fire if it had ignited, as there were 22 gallons of it in the hydraulic system.

When the burnt seat was removed, two oil lines virtually fell apart. Approximately 35 gallons of oil are stored in the fuel tanks.

Cold Snap Halts Traffic Lights

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Traffic lights on Bridge St. at both the Queen St. and Front St. intersections were casualties of the cold snap here on Friday.

At Front St. the lights suddenly refused to change and they had to be taken out of operation. The Queen St. lights worked erratically for a while, then refused to function entirely and also had to be taken out of operation.

During the latter part of the week, 15 degrees below zero proved too much for water pipes. Local plumbers as well as the PUC were kept busy thawing them out.

Suspect Arson In Small Fire

Flames In Shed Quickly Doused, Man Arrested

Arson is suspected in a fire that broke out Saturday night in a woodshed at Roland Gilbert's home, 127 Sophia St.

Fire was detected in a shed adjoining the house, shortly after 8 p.m. Saturday. The flames charred the wooden cradle (a two-by-four inch cradle) around an oil drum. Then it spread up into the loft. Total damage is estimated at $100.

Clarence Neill, 33, of 466 Patterson St., was taken into custody by city police shortly after the fire. He was charged with assault on a fireman and resisting arrest. He was remanded in custody today.

The cradle that was charred at the Gilbert home contained an oil drum.

County Roads To Get Same Budget

County council this year are maintaining their 1953 road levy of 7.5 mills. The bridge rate has been slashed a tenth of a mill.

(For county road purposes a mill raises $12,940,894.)

This year the suburban area roads commission have been granted $27,500, $17,500 more than in 1953.

During 1953 there was very little construction as there was a $33,000 cut in the county roads appropriation approved by the department of highways.

Road construction is estimated at $95,500 and bridge construction (not counting the Gannon's Narrows project) is estimated at $16,500.

Last year's maintenance came to approximately $100,000 on county roads; this year it will be $110,000. Maintenance of bridges will be about $10,500.

No new machinery will be bought, according to the schedule worked out by Jack Kean, county engineer. And about $23,000 (overhead, salaries, garage, etc.) is estimated for this year.

Cost of Gannon's Narrows project (overhead bridge and rock-fill causeway) is estimated at $102,600.

Newfoundland Has Holiday On Burns Day

By STEWART MacLEOD

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Newfoundland stores and offices are closed today and many production wheels have stopped turning. It's Robbie Burns' birthday.

Robbie Burns' Day is only one of this province's 18 statutory holidays, more than any other province.

It's the Scots' day for a bonnie celebration, but this year the big annual event in St. John's, the St. Andrew's Society dinner, is not being held.

This was a let-down for the Scottish population who gathered here annually to hear the skirl of bagpipes, to see the highland fling of kilted lads and lassies and to eat original Scottish dishes. Celebrations today are confined to the home.

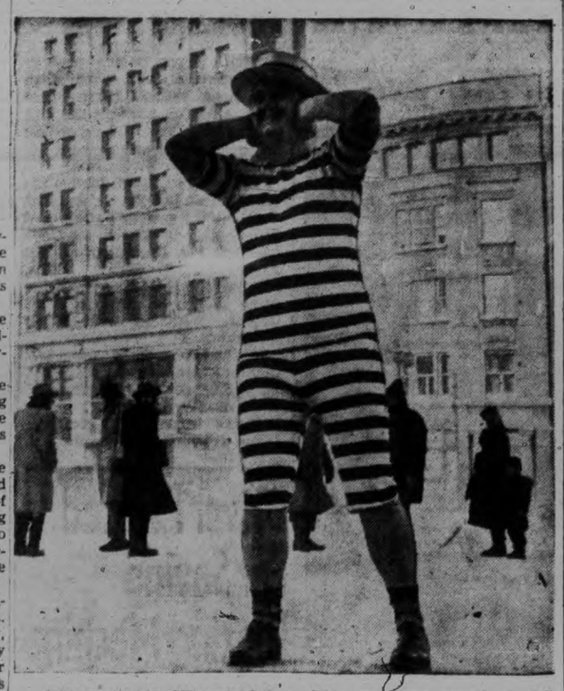
Other proclaimed holidays, exclusive with this province, are St. Patrick's Day, St. George's Day, St. John's Day, Orangemen's Day and Regatta Day. Like some other provinces, Boxing Day, Dec. 26, is a proclaimed holiday.

BREAK LENTEN FAST

St. Patrick's Day, March 17, is one day during Lent that fasting can be broken. St. George's Day, a month later, is the Englishman's day for celebration.

St. John's Day, June 24, is in observance of the founding of Newfoundland by John Cabot in 1497, and Orangemen's Day, July 12, is celebrated in villages and towns by parades.

Regatta Day is the big day in the St. John's area. Thousands of spectators line the slopes bordering lake Quidi Vidi to watch the dozens of shells racing. Fields are equipped with competitive games and amusements and every street in St. John's is bedecked in flags. This day is usually set aside as the first Wednesday in August.



WHO SAYS IT'S COLD?—The mercury stood at 33 degrees below zero on Winnipeg's famed corner of Portage and Main Street when Winnipeg Tribune reporter Leon Kossar donned an old-fashioned bathing suit and straw hat to show shivering citizens in the background that it wasn't really that bad. Said Kossar: "It just takes stamina, courage, fortitude, determination and sheer stupidity."

Try Public Speaking As Crime Deterrent

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—Public speaking as a crime-deterrent is being tried out with some measure of success in the British Columbia penitentiary.

Warwick C. Angus of Victoria, who specializes in effective speaking, is giving free courses. Each course runs for 15 weeks and 35 prisoners are selected for each term.

One man serving a 10-year sentence said: "The course has made a different man out of me. . . Now that I have learned to express myself freely with other people, I have a different attitude toward life. . . I'm going to stay out of this place for good when I leave."

Mr. Angus said it is still a bit early to ascertain results of the courses, "but I feel confident all inmates will benefit to some extent."

Service Charge

VANCOUVER (CP) — Persons cashing cheques in large Vancouver retail stores soon may have to pay a service charge of from five to 15 cents, depending on the amount of the cheque. Merchants are considering the proposal.

Discuss Plan To Overhaul Old-Age, Blind Pensions

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal and provincial welfare officials gathered here today to discuss the central government's proposal for jointly financed allowances to the totally disabled and to overhaul regulations on old-age and blind pensions.

Main interest in the three-day meeting, attended by ministers and deputies in charge of welfare, centres on the plan for helping the permanently disabled.

Under the plan, announced in the speech from the throne at the opening of Parliament in November, the federal government hopes the provinces will join it in providing allowances to the helpless who cannot be fitted for work under present federal-provincial programs.

The government here is understood to be considering allowances of $40 a month to such persons, to be paid 50-50 from federal and provincial treasuries. A means test would be involved.

Preliminary estimates indicate around 25,000 persons would draw pensions under the plan, the total depending on the terms under which allowances are granted. Over-all cost would run around $12,000,000 a year.

PROVINCIAL PLANS

Somewhat similar plans now are being operated by the governments of Ontario, Alberta and Newfoundland: Ontario and Alberta pay $40 a month and Newfoundland $25.

They have differing starting ages for payments, and this is a major question confronting the conference. Ontario's eligibility age is 18; Alberta's and Newfoundland's 21.

Federal officials say it is probable the conference may suggest a floor age below which the federal government would not contribute. The provinces would have the option of using a higher age if they wished. The Ontario figure of 18 years was suggested as a likely floor.

Another question is that of setting standards for the medical test for eligibility. It is complicated by the fact that federal-provincial programs for rehabilitating the handicapped are making more disabled persons eligible for jobs. Thus, the definition of "totally disabled" is changing.

70,000 U.K. Tavern-Owners Mobilize To Keep Pubs

By SHERWOOD DICKERMAN

LONDON (Reuters) — Seventy thousand British tavern-owners have mobilized to keep Britain's historic pubs from being put out of business by after-hour drinking in so-called private clubs.

Proprietors of the tradition-crusted public houses, where Britons have downed their pints for centuries, have protested to the government over the increasing number of not-so-private clubs—where drinking lacks history but lasts longer.

The resulting trend away from the pubs is menacing what pub-keepers—and many other Britons—consider a priceless part of their national heritage.

Unlike the ancient pubs, the clubs can't serve memories of the past with every glass of ale. But they have the advantage of being able to shove drinks across a modern bar long after their rivals are forced to close down in accordance with Britain's rigid liquor laws.

CLUBS OPEN LATER

Many of the clubs are open to anyone willing to pay a trifling membership fee. But since they are theoretically private, the fast-multiplying little bars can keep going for hours after the pubs close at 10:30 and 11 p.m. -and the lure of late hours starts draining off the pub-keeper's trade long before then.

Officials of the Pub-Keepers' Association protested Saturday that almost 3,000 clubs now are operating in metropolitan London, side by side with venerable bars where Shakespeare, Samuel Johnson and Charles Dickens trod the sawdust.

The protest went to Home Secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, who agreed to talk things over with representatives of the association's 70,000 members.

CUSTODY WAR CONTINUES — Six-year-old Jimmy Hillers clings to his mother in a London Chancery, bewildered by the custody battle that is going on between his mother and father. The boy's father, Harry Hillers, of Brooklyn, wants to take the boy to America but his estranged wife, Hanna, wants the boy to live with her at Stuttgart, Germany. A British court has assumed temporary guardianship of the boy.

Has Gold Mine In Own Backyard

LUMBY, B.C. (CP)—Bob Fosbery and his wife have a real gold mine in their backyard near this Okanagan valley town.

The front door of their log cabin is just seven minutes drive from a paved highway and some 20 minutes drive from Lumby.

The gold is in a hill and Bob, a veteran prospector, regards the place as a miner's paradise. He works at it from March to November and then enjoys a winter's holiday.

NEEDS ONLY WASHING

The gold is deposited in gravel and requires only washing to separate it. He has the rights to the natural flow from a creek nine miles above him, from which he runs pipes into sluice boxes.

Fifty per cent of his gold is in nuggets remaining in pockets of bed rock after he has washed off the gravel. The remainder he gets from the sluice box.

He declined to give his average earnings, but said he is making "a good living."

Believe Taft Would Like Military Budget

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Robert Taft if he were alive today, would probably be pleased at the unfolding ideas of the Eisenhower administration on military strategy and military spending.

Taft made a Senate speech Jan. 5, 1951, in the midst of rearmament and the Korean war, cautioning against committing United States troops to foreign battlefields and telling what he thought military expenses should be.

He envisioned an armed force of about 3,200,000 men with military expenses running around $40,000,000,000 a year, and the biggest emphasis on air and naval power.

In his budget message to Congress President Eisenhower estimated military expenses for the fiscal year beginning in July at $37,500,000.

And the president said he expected the armed forces, now 3,400,000 men, to be cut to 3,300,000 by July and to just a little over 3,000,000 by July 1955.

According to the plans outlined by Eisenhower the biggest spending would be on the air force, with the navy next and the army last.

Caught On Hemingway

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Ernest Hemingway's safe return today caught Copenhagen newspapers short—most of them came out with his "obituary" splashed over page.

But on the basis of Danish newspaper tradition it means Hemingway ought to live another 25 years. Newspaper men here say that's what usually happens to anyone whose obituary is published in error.

Montreal Judge Displays Wisdom of Solomon In Case

MONTREAL (CP)—A Montreal judge can take credit for having the patience of Job and the wisdom of Solomon after a recent case in the Superior Court.

Mr. Justice Antonio Garneau spent hours listening to arguments in the case which concerned a little school house [illegible]rval, Que.

Four years ago the owners, la Commission Scolaire du Bas de la St. Louis, sold the place to Leopold St. Aubin for $1,125. Conditions of sale were that he would demolish or remove the building within 60 days.

The new owner did neither and the commission sued him.

Mr. St. Aubin dug up the information that the commission was only part owner of the plot of land on which the school was built. There was a provision in the 100-year-old agreement under which the school was erected, that if the building ever disappeared from the site, the land would become the property of one Narcisse St. Aubin and one Jacques Desforges, or their descendants.

And St. Aubin was the direct beneficiary of Narcisse, the court found. There is no Desforges beneficiary.

Judge Garneau concluded that St. Aubin had a right to half the school house and could keep it standing in its old spot. But the commission had the right to have the other half demolished or removed.

So its legal. One half of the building must go.

Uranium Development

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — Dr. A. J. R. van Rhyn, minister of mines, said about £50,000,000 will be spent on developing the uranium resources of gold mines in the western Transvaal. The annual gross revenue from uranium is expected to exceed £30,000,000, he added.

More Cars

HALIFAX (CP)—The highway department reports Nova Scotia had a record total of 123,000 registered motor vehicles in 1953. The total was 10,000 higher than in 1952.

Minister 101 Also Runs Grocery Store

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Instead of sitting back in a rocking chair when he reached 100, Rev. J. W. D. Mayes went into the grocery business.

The English - born Negro minister, now 101, prepares sermons and travels 75 miles from his home twice each month to deliver them.

He keeps his grocery store open from 4 a.m. until 9 p.m. each week day without even a part-time clerk to assist him.

He hand-sets type and prints "The Lighthouse," which he publishes twice a month, along with church bulletins and other material.

DOES OWN COOKING

He does his own cooking, washing and ironing, and tends a flower garden outside his store.

Mayes is pastor of the Mt. Tabor Colored Cumberland Presbyterian church near Huntington. The church is about 75 miles from Roellen. A neighbor drives him there twice each month.

When he slipped on an icy street two years ago he suffered hip and skull injuries that laid him up for five months. He refused to go to a hospital and insisted that he be carried into his church on a cot to continue preaching during convalescence.

Farmers Protest Deer Slaughter In Dereham Twp.

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Oxford county farmers Saturday took verbal pot-shots at hunters from the department of lands and forests for the "slaughter" of deer in Dereham township this week.

Although Ed Meadows, chief conservation officer at Hespeler said the shooting was "research" and in answer to "complaints from farmers," area farmers charge this reply "does not hold water."

Farmers said they did not want the deer killed and had a great interest in the herd which was wiped out. It had been in the area for several years.

One farmer said: "They were taken with all the illegal methods that we are forbidden to use. The deer were shot with high-powered rifles (during the open season hunters were limited to use of a shotgun with a slug load), were run with dogs, and the hunters were on our land without permission."

Full-Dress Foreign Affairss Debate Coming Up

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons this week will hold its first full-dress foreign affairs debate since the session started in November.

The debate is scheduled for Friday, by which time Canada is expected to have replied formally to India's proposal to reconvene the United Nations General Assembly to take up the Korean question.

There is no indication here as yet whether the government would agree to a complete review of the Korean situation in the assembly or wish to confine discussion there to the prisoner issue.

It is likely that some members of the Commons will urge the government to push for the former, pointing to the fact that India, with Canadian support, at a previous general assembly meeting came up with a proposal which finally solved the prisoner question.

WANT TOUR DETAILS

Members are also likely to seek a statement from Prime Minister St. Laurent on the general aim of his six-weeks world tour starting Feb. 4. Officially, the tour is classified as a series of "courtesy visits" but there has been speculation that Mr. St. Laurent may try to pour some oil on troubled European and Asian waters.

Officials have said that the prime minister certainly has no intention of mediating any disputes, such as the current India-Pakistan controversy about proposed American military aid to Pakistan. But he might offer some suggestions for relieving tension if he were pressed for them.

It is no secret that Mr. St. Laurent and Prime Minister Nehru have a high personal regard for each other and that they often exchange personal notes on world affairs.

PEARSON REPORT LIKELY

The Commons debate will come up five days after the start of the Big Four foreign ministers' conference at Berlin. External Affairs Minister Pearson, when he participates in the debate, will no doubt outline the government's views on European unity, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and relations with the United States.

Mr. Pearson in recent speeches has expressed fears that NATO nations are not pulling together as they should and that the Russian threat has not decreased one iota despite recent Soviet "blandishments."

The Commons this week also will continue discussion on the government's new housing legislation and increases in the postal rates and then take up a matter close to the pocketbooks of all members—pay boosts for themselves.

Mars Giving Special Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — The planet Mars in June will make its closest approach to the earth in 13 years.

The planet will then be only about 40,000,000 miles from the earth. Two years later, in 1956, it will come within 35,000,000 miles. That is the closest it ever comes.

Mars will be studied in a formal, organized effort to gain new knowledge of its atmosphere, its exact size and its "changing surface features"—which may be evidence of some kind of plant life. Astronomers from 14 countries will participate.

The National Geographic Society says, "Observations will be made on all major continents, from high-flying planes, and perhaps even from stratosphere - probing unmanned missiles."

Bloemfontein, South Africa, has been chosen as the site for special studies because it's at a latitude where Mars will pass almost directly overhead each night. The Orange Free State skies are usually clear in late spring and summer, and there's a 27-inch telescope there which is the most powerful in the southern hemisphere for detailed photography of the planets.

Observation from northern hemisphere observatories will be hampered to some extent by the fact that, as seen from that hemisphere, Mars will be close to the horizon and hard to observe accurately.

Winnipeg Youth Becomes Indian Lore Authority

WINNIPEG (CP) — Peter Martin's interest in history winds along the tom-tom trail of Crazy Horse, Big Bear, Dull Knife, Sitting Bull and other warriors of the western plains.

The Winnipeg youth is only 20, but few can read history's tracks better, or even as well.

The January issue of American magazine named Peter among its 12 "personalities of the month," and called him "probably North America's youngest authority on early Indian life."

Peter's interest in Indian lore and costume began 10 years ago when "Big Chief"—his father, Fred—presented him with a small Indian tomahawk.

EARLY EFFORT

Young Martin immediately tried his hand at fashioning Indian ware, came up with a crude but recognizable wooden hunting knife. Then he began buying books on Indian lore, authentic instructions on how to make Indian head-dresses, buckskin shirts, beaded ornaments, rattles, drums, quivers and many other articles.

The result is a rumpus room full of authentic Indian ware. Peter's beautifully-worked Blackfoot shirt and flowing Sioux head-dress are only two of the many exhibits. The shirt took him three years to make—from tanning the original elk-hide to stringing the last bead on the fine decorations.

Now a fourth-year commerce student at the University of Manitoba, Peter has exhibited his work—with the help of his two younger brothers—at church and club gatherings. He also entertains with Indian dances, which he has studied.

Last summer he won first place in flight competition and was third in a hunting event at the Manitoba Archery Association championships at Bird's Hill, Man.

SOURCES OF MATERIAL

To gather material for his Indian work, Peter has made friends with local tannery men, bead shops, millinery shops (for feathers from hats). He also has imported material from New York and from a trading post at Banff, Alta., operated by a former Winnipegger.

Peter's interest in Indians of the plains is not confined to costuming.

"Whenever we give a show," he said, "I try to impress on the audience that there is something to be learned from the character of the early Indian. The American Indian far surpassed the white man in physical perfection of the human body and in high moral ideals.

"Olympic runner? Those Indians could out-run them every day."

Peter said he has spent every spare cent on his work, "probably close to $1,000."

Since he started out, he has only run into one real snag.

"Mum took a dim view when I brought the first old deer hide into the house. I guess the smell was awful. But she's used to it now."

Consider Revision Of Grants To CAS

TORONTO (CP) — Revision of provincial grants to children's aid societies in Ontario is being considered.

The revision, sought by Metropolitan Toronto at a series of conferences just ended between welfare agencies, the metropolitan government and the province, is for a direct 25-per-cent grant to municipalities for amounts provided for the operation of children's aid societies.

The present basis is a 25-per-cent grant to the societies and 25 per cent to municipalities for maintenance of wards of the societies only.

The new system would, in effect, make the municipalities watchdogs over the societies' spending.

Russians Can Send Love Songs To Girls

MOSCOW (AP)—You can send a love song to your girl, or a "peace" message abroad, on tiny voice recordings enclosed in postcards which have a mass sale in Moscow.

The "sound letters" are published by the Soviet Theatrical Society in hundreds of thousands of copies annually. They have recordings about three inches in diameter enclosed in postcard folders. The folders also carry the music for the songs.

Close to 100 popular songs are listed in such letters, and they range from love to peace to football. Many songs are done by popular Soviet singers. But if you prefer you can record one yourself.

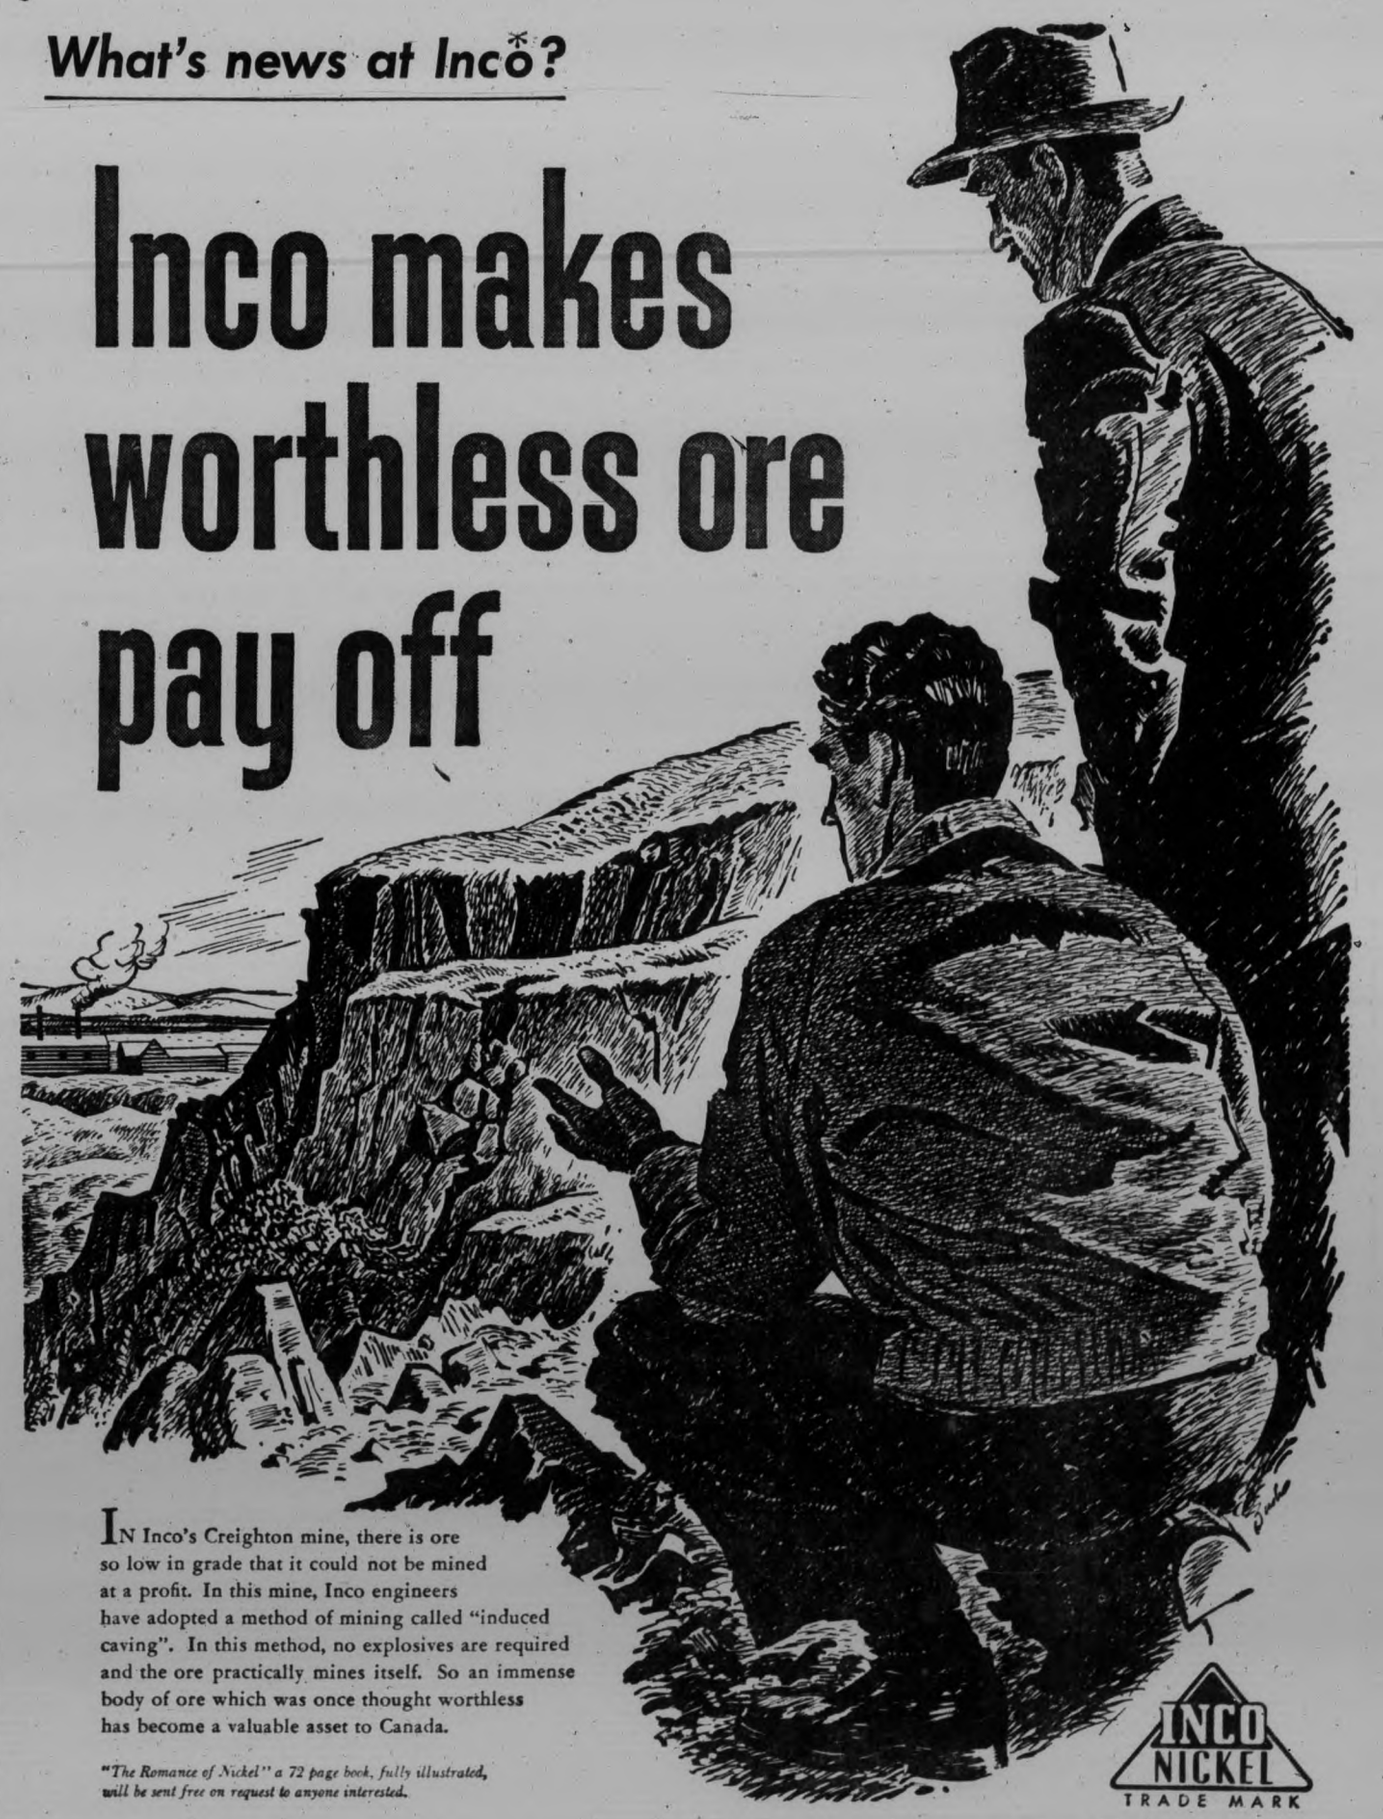
Inco makes worthless ore pay off



IN Inco's Creighton mine, there is ore so low in grade that it could not be mined at a profit. In this mine, Inco engineers have adopted a method of mining called "induced caving". In this method, no explosives are required and the ore practically mines itself. So an immense body of ore which was once thought worthless has become a valuable asset to Canada.

Taking Vacation' In The Winter?

Winter vacation sunbathers will get more lasting tans if they follow the rules they practiced on summer beaches.

Some skin can't tan and it is useless to try. These girls should stay a delicate white instead, or use make-up to simulate tan. However, this doesn't mean they must carry parasols and wear sun bonnets every time they step out. A sun-allergy cream on the market will protect their skins. It is non-greasy and vanishes quickly.

If you are a tanner, expose yourself with discretion even if you are the gypsy type. Remember that hot sun rays haven't beaten directly on your skin for months.

Reflection from water and sand can add to the damage of direct sunlight, so start out with only a few minutes of exposure and then head for the beach umbrella or cabana. Each day you can increase your dosage.

It is safe to use mineral oil, cocoa butter or castor oil only after your tan is acquired and you want to keep it smooth and dark.

Before you reach that stage and to make sure that you do, you'd better use sun-tan oil, cream, lotion or liquid, whichever you prefer, so long as it contains an ingredient that screens out the sun's burning rays. Many of them are non-sticky, so you can use them at the beach without picking up a coat of sand.

Quick Fruit Buns

¾ cup seedless raisins
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
¼ cup granulated sugar
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅓ cup shortening
¼ cup chopped preserved citron
¾ cup milk
Confectioner's sugar icing

Rinse, drain and chop raisins. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, salt and spice. Cut in shortening. Mix in raisins and citron. Blend in milk, mixing thoroughly. Roll dough on lightly floured board to ½-inch thickness. Cut into 2½-inch rounds and place on greased baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 20 minutes, or until browned. Allow to stand 5 minutes, then frost with stiff confectioners' sugar icing. Serve warm.

Makes about 10 to 12 buns.

KEEP PERFUME COOL

Heat and light tend to evaporate the alcohol base in perfumes and toilet water.

Pamper Oily Skin

If you have oily skin, your problem is more difficult than that of the girl with dry skin, but it can be just as effectively treated.

Before you start putting things on your face, you must help your skin from within. That means, as you probably know, eliminating rich, highly seasoned and greasy foods and pastries from your diet.

Oily skin is also due to poor circulation of the blood. Splashing ice-cold water on the face is the best way to stimulate the flow of blood. Astringents are also an aid but should not be relied upon entirely to counteract the oiliness.

Of course, it is essential to keep the fact scruptuously clean. That will require washing with lots of soapy water at least four times a day. If you care to, during the day you can substitute a special cleansing lotion for the soap and water routine.

One lotion effective and safe for oily skin is made from 2½ ounces of glycerine, 1 ounce spirits of camphor, 4 ounces spiritus odoratus and 2 ounces distilled water. The druggist can make it up for you for a good bit less than two dollars.

You skin might be helped by washing with tincture of green soap two or three times a day if it is very oily. This soap contains alcohol and is somewhat antiseptic.

Woman Novelist New Director Of Hadassah

Mrs. Zelda Popkin, author, lecturer and publicist, has been appointed national executive director of the Hadassah Organization of Canada, according to an announcement by Mrs. D. P. Gotlieb, national president of Canada's largest Jewish women's organization.

Mrs. Popkin is author of "Quiet Street," a novel about the siege of Jerusalem, of "Small Victory," "Walk Through the Valley," and "The Journey Home," which was a Book Club selection and sold nearly 1,000,000 copies. Mrs. Popkin's fiction and articles have appeared in numerous magazines. She has been contributing editor of Coronet, resigning from the staff of that magazine to accept the Canadian post.

Mrs. Popkin is also an eloquent speaker and her visits to various Hadassah chapters in the past have left a lasting impression upon all who heard her. She was for 25 years associated with her husband, the late Louis Popkin, in a large public relations and fund-raising organization in the United States, serving many humanitarian causes in the Jewish and non-Jewish field. She was, in 1943, national public relations director of the American Joint distribution committee and in 1945 served in the European Theatre with the American Red Cross.

In making the announcement of Mrs. Popkin's appointment, Mrs. Gotlieb pointed out that the growth of Canadian Hadassah in prestige and membership, at present over 15,000 Jewish women in all parts of Canada, has made essential the direction of its staff by a person of wide experience. Mrs. Popkin assumes her new responsibilities this week at the Montreal headquarters.

Sweeting-Hannon Wedding

Chrysanthemums and ferns decorated St. Andrew's Presbyterian church at Norwood on Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Beatrice Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hannon, to Ellwood Howard Sweeting, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Sweeting of RR 3, Lakefield.

The Rev. H. K. Wright, minister of Norwood United church, performed the marriage. Mrs. H. Caskey played the wedding music and Mrs. Wm. Garden sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony and "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a waltz-length period gown of Chantilly lace and net over satin. The strapless moulded bodice had a front section of softly crushed net and the very full skirt of fan-pleated net had a pannier overskirt of lace opening in front to reveal the pleats. The dress was worn over a crinoline to accent its quaint lines and was topped with a long - sleeved jacket. Her veil of appliqued Swiss net was caught to a shell bonnet of Chantilly lace and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Maid of honor, Mrs. Thomas Montieth, sister of the bride, was in a gown of rose coral nylon tulle and velveteen, made in waltz length with strapless bodice of velveteen and a brief matching bolero. The very bouffant tulle skirt was outlined with appliqued scalloped bands of velveteen. Bridesmaids Miss Joyce Dafoe of Peterborough and Miss Joan Hannon, sister of the bride, were in similar frocks in rose powder and heaven blue nylon tulle with close-fitting bodices topped by tiny jacket stoles. The bell-shaped skirts were worn over crinolines and enhanced with crushed bands of net and a large velvet rose. Each attendant wore a headdress in diamond shape of net trimmed with rhinestones, and they carried bouquets of white, yellow and pink 'mums.

Groomsman was Mr. Ralph Hannon, brother of the bride, and ushers were Arnold Sweeting, brother of the groom, and Thomas Montieth.

The reception was held at the Legion hall, the bride's mother receiving, wearing a navy dress trimmed with white and matching accessories, and her corsage was of red roses. The groom's mother chose a dress of blue crepe trimmed with lace, matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride and groom left on a honeymoon to points north. For travelling the bride donned a navy wool suit and beige topcoat and matching accessories, and wore a corsage of red roses with lily of the valley.

They will live on Sunset boulevard in Peterborough on return.

Chief Charm Asset Is Graceful Movements

Teen-agers, generally so well acquainted with Hollywood's make-up techniques, tend to overlook one of the stars' chief charm assets.

The top actresses never waste motion. Except when portraying an unappealing character, they employ movements that are gracefully flowing but deliberate.

Now, this is a picture presented too seldom by teen-agers. Charged with an abundance of energy and an eagerness to be socially effective, some of you work at being overanimated. Eyes, heads, hands keep up a confusing accompaniment to conversation.

The results are unhappy, indeed. For one thing excessive motion detracts from the power of one's speech. Furthermore, the aimless movement of the head minimizes the effectiveness of the eyes. And, of course, when hands are constantly in motion they cannot be shown to best advantage.

The best way to conquer the habit is to eliminate motion entirely in the beginning. After a week of consciously keeping head, hands and eyes quiet, you can begin to practice using them to advantage.

An occasional quick, light movement of the hand is very pretty. Or a slow, measured movement of the head to stress an important point can be extremely effective.

Color Memory Problem For Television Prop Men

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Color television will bring new problems to television's prop men.

And the biggest will be the viewer's "color memory," says Norman Grant, an art director and color consultant for NBC.

On black and white television a neutral background, such as hanging drapes for instance does not assert itself and can be re-used without attracting attention.

"But even such shades as tan or grey or beige, when used on color television, get caught in the viewer's memory and become objectionable if they are not changed frequently," he explains.

NBC has spent $50,000 in the last 18 months on experimental large props made of fibre glass reinforced plastics which are expected to be a big help in color TV for such items as boulders, tree stumps and large terrain features. Light to carry, they will make it easier to change props between scenes and give more color variety.

The most exacting test to which the viewer's color memory will put the telecasters, Grant says, will be flesh tone and labels of popular products. There the viewer can look at the faces of other people in the room for a comparison, or at an identical pack of cigarets in his hand.

Anthony Bishetti, procurement manager for CBS, says color television will put new emphasis on authenticity.

"The color camera can spot phoniness every time," he says. "Brand new furniture, which may be fine in a magazine photograph, has to be replaced for color TV with something that looks sat-on."

Lynn Scott, homemaking authority, says color TV will have a big impact on the field of home decoration.

"Color television will hold up for constant, side-by-side comparison the color judgment of leading TV designers and the color mistakes of the average home," she says.

As for the viewer, color TV in the U.S. may be even more expensive than he anticipated—at least for quite a while yet. RCA Service Company estimates that a service contract for a color TV set "will be three to four times that for black and white." That would figure out to $180 to $240 a year. Meanwhile, first models being offered by set makers are carrying $1,175 and $1,200 price tags compared with the $700 to $1,000 prices forecast earlier.

Of Interest to Women

MARY MOORE SAYS:

It's Wonderful To Be Young But Mothers Have Trials

Sometimes it is difficult being a mother of two active young people who are about 20 years off age. They try to go off in all directions at once.

For instance last night in the excitement of getting Marianne all dressed for a formal dance, Pete brings home one of her former boy friends for a weekend visit. The tall handsome present boy friend arrives in white tie and tails gallantly bearing an Orchid. The old boy friend and Pete acting to be going to the dance, decide to crash it (which they did!) After they left on their chancy mission another perennial boy friend phones me asking may he come over for a serious talk ("Serious talk"!—my heart dropped to my boots') He does come and commiserates with himself and me over Marianne not being fitished her nursing training and not seeming to want to "settle down". Gracious! did I ever have to parry. Fortunately I had snatched the graduation picture of the present crush from the mantel seconds before the perenial bod friend knocked at the door.

No wonder I love the calm and quiet of my desk. While the typewriter is a little noisy it only talks back when I make it.

What is more all of these energetic young people have to be fed. In the deep well-cooker pea soup is in the making. On the kitchen counter yeast rolls are rising. In a big bowl lima beans are soaking. I'm not sure whether I'll be successful or not, but I'm trying to get the Saturday morning breakfast dishes washed (it is now 10:45 a.m.), and some stuffing made for a chicken by the three aforementioned large-size children, who do nothing but drink coffee and talk about last night's frolic.

The two best dishes I made this week are a puffy fruit pudding and egg croquettes. I made both of these because as I write the cost of eggs is low.

FRUIT PUFF PUDDING

The Batter: Sift cake flour and measure ½ cup. Add 6 tablesoons sugar to 2 egg yolks and beat them until very light and fluffy. Beat 2 egg whites with a shake of salt until foamy then add ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar and beat white until stiff enough to hold in peaks but not dry. Fold egg-yolk sugar mixture carefully into white, sift flour over and carefully fold and cut it in until it is incorporated.

The Fruit: The fruit may be fresh or canned plums, fresh or canned peaches or apricots, or a combination of fresh or canned blueberries and sliced raw apples. If fresh fruit is used mix together 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca and 2/3 cup sugar, then stir into them ½ cup water, bring to gentle boil and add 1½ cups or 2 cups of fruit,—halved and pitted if it is fresh plums or peaches or apricots, and let simmer about 4 or 5 minutes. Tip this into buttered baking dish. (I used mostly stewed apricots and about 6 large prune halves and 12 whole maraschino cherries). Pour batter over hot fruit filling. Bake in 325 deg. Fahr. for about 50 minutes, or until batter is completely risen at centre and does not retain dent when touched with finger tip. Serve hot with pouring cream.

NOTE: The above batter is excellent and foolproof and as you can see like a mock sponge cake, and may be used for any pudding with fruit under it, and where you do not desire a heavy filling batter.

EGG CROQUETTES

Serving 5 people 2 croquettes each.

Hard cook 7 eggs, cool them and shell them and put through food chopper with 1 very small onion and about ¼ cup parsley sprigs. Melt 3 tablespoons butter or margarine and stir in 4 tablespoons flour, ¾ teaspoon salt, and when smooth stir in 1 cup milk until very thick. Remove from heat and beat to make very smooth. Add egg mixture to sauce while it is hot. Let cool, then place the whole business in the refrigerator to chill through. Shape into 10 croquettes and place these on a wax-paper covered plate, and return to refrigerator to chill again. About 15 minutes before serving time heat good quality fat to 375 deg. Fahr. Beat a whole egg and dilute with 1 tablespoon water. Dip croquettes in it then in fine crumbs, handling mixture quickly for it is soft. Drop into deep fat without crowding as if they touch they may burst open. Drain on unglazed paper and serve as soon as all are done.

YOUR BEST BEAU couldn't match these shirts no matter how dress conscious he is. The Italian inspired shirt called "Conte" (left) has ocean pearl buttons and ful-cut French cuffs. It's made of cotton. A crisp charm distinguishes the tailored shirt (right) with its Windsor collar and French cuffs. The velvet bow tie accents the color of the stripe. Either could be worn equally well with skirt or slacks.

Test Tube Miracle Fibre Terylene Boon UK Women

By ALISON SETTLE

LONDON (OFNS)—The easing of the lot of the women of Britain who have in the national interest borne the restriction of food rationing and goods shortages longer than women in other countries, is typified by the appearance this week, in one of London's largest stores, of clothing made from Britain's "test-tube miracle fibre," "Terylene," blended with wool.

GREAT STRANGER

Terylene, a polyester fibre, produces fabrices with tremendous wearing tenacity, quickly washed and as quickly dried, as strong when met as dry possessing a resilience which makes them both non-creasing and non-shrinking. They are also mothproof and, even when not blended with natural fibre, are gentle and warm to handle but at the same time have a crisp finish.

It is no wonder that the women of Britain have long hoped to see adequate supplies of such material reaching the shops in place of the mere trickle of experimental weaves and products which was all that national restrictions on capital expenditure had previously permitted. For Terylene was a 1940 war-time discovery by Dr. J. R. Whinfield and Dr. Dickson, experimental scientists working with the Calico Printers Association in Lancashire. When Imperial Chemical Industries, who acquired the world rights, licensed its production in the United States during the war, the fibre, first named "Mystery Fibre V," then renamed "Dacron", had there an instantaneous success which continues unchallenged.

SPEED OUTPUT

Owing to national restrictions it was not until 1949 that Terylene fibre and filament yarn was produced in a pilot plant in Lancashire, and even in 1952 production had to be confined to one type, processed on the worsted system, a product greatly desired by women because it proved three times as strong as worsted itself.

Now, in addition, a vast factory has been built in North Yorkshire, close to the ICI cracking plant at Wilton, a position chosen because Terylene polyester fibre is a derivative from products of mineral oil cracking. Ten million pounds sterling has been expended on the plant which, from 1954 onwards, is destined to produce eleven million pounds weight of the fibre yearly. In addition licences have been granted to European countries to put up plant.

The first big quality of women's clothing to be produced in a blend of Terylene and wool, in equal quantities, takes the form of four thousand skirts in ten sizes, of which examples were displayed recently (Monday, January 18) at a show at Harrods store in London. All the skirts were permanently pleated and had been tested by the store for crush resistance, ability to be washed without losing crispness of pleating, and also for shrink-proof qualities. This producion, with more to be released shortly to other shops, will be followed by suitings of the same type, but it will be a year yet before large quantities can be guaranteed.

BEST FOR SOCKS

The fibre so far released has been used to make men's socks, which last for a long time without requiring mending; for men's ties; for suitings, knit-wear, and dress fabrics of different kinds. Nearly two years ago Norman Hartnell, the Royal couturier, scored a great success in using a diaphanous Terylene fabric for a summer dress. Sun-proof and rot-resistant curtain nets and furnishing brocades have been produced in experimental quantities. Other products in the "miracle fibre" will include swimsuits, unbrellas and lightweight luggage, but the fibre has also proved its value in maritime hawsers, whaling ropes and fishing nets.

Dr. Whinfield, Terylene's namer as well as one of its discoverers, tells me that he greatly dislikes the use of somewhat exaggerated descriptions of Terylene, such as "the most miraculous of all miracle fibres", but the chemists must look to the textile industry to find the right description which will explain to women the new fibre's work-reducing virtues without any undue exaggeration.

New York Theatre Makes Break From Losing Run

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP)—Just a few months back, the New York city Center Theater was dying on its feet. Now it has just rung down the curtain on an eight-week season for a box office profit of more than $80,000.

Behind this rapid jump from the financial dumps to one of the most successful seasons in the municipal playhouse's history is Jean Dalrymple, an attractive producer who persuaded the theatre's board of directors to let her carry out an idea she was convinced would save it from collapse.

"I got the idea to fly to Hollywood and ask Jose Ferrer to give up his lucrative film roles and pitch in to help save the City Center Theatre," she explains.

Ferrer consented to do two weeks each of Rostand's "Cyrano de Bergerac," the Pulitzer prize-winning "The Shrike," and Shakespeare's "Richard III"

$10,000 A WEEK

"But when we started doing $10,000 a week profit on those, we began to see daylight ahead. I pleaded with Jose to stay with us an extra two weeks to do 'Charley's Aunt.' He consented and that gave us an extra $20,000 to ease problems for future productions," Miss Dalrymple says.

Highly gratified at the theatre's successful season, and Miss Dalrymple's efforts in bringing it about, the board of directors named her permanent director in charge of all production.

She brings a vast and varied theatrical experience to the job. She wrote a vaudeville act while still in her 'teens and sold it to Dan Jarrett, James Cagney and Cary Grant. She played the lead feminine role herself.

She was personal manager for many concert and theatrical stars, Jose Iturbi, Grace Moore and Paula Laurence, to name a few. She became a producer in 1945 when she revived "Burlesque", the Broadway comedy hit of 1927. It played to capacity audiences for 437 performances.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Thinks She's Failure Needs Business Course

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 26 years old, unmarried, and my life seems to be at a standstill. My home is in a small town. For a few years I worked in New York. I accomplished nothing in the time I was away, and, because I feel such a failure, I have come home and taken refuge in my family. I've been here six months, and I have seen no one but members of my own family. I know I am hurting myself, but I feel so ashamed of past failures that I can't bear to look anyone in the face. Do you think I'm too old to return to college and get my degree? I'd be 30 by the time I had it, and wonder just what the possibilities of getting a job would be at that age. I have no boy friend, so there's no chance of my getting married.

M. H.

FAILURE? RIDICULOUS!

ANSWER: I wonder just what you term "failure"? If you lived alone in a large city for a time, earned a living salary, and enjoyed life, you weren't a failure. If you didn't get the sort of job you wanted, it might have been because of lack of enough training, which could have been rectified. Or it might have been because of your own extreme self-consciousness, which, to some extent, also can be rectified. Not everyone is slated for spectacular success in this world; most people must be content with lesser roles. Perhaps you expected too much. At any rate, don't let nonaccomplishment become chronic. To feel that your life is ended at 26 is nothing short of ridiculous. Many a woman has begun life anew at 40, 50 or even 60, and achieved some measure of success. Most women become widows during those years, and, even in face of sorrow, realize that they must earn a living.

Going back to college is not, in my opinion, your solution. There, you'd be associating with men and women quite a bit younger than you are, and that might only add to your feeling of inferiority. Take a business course, equip yourself for a more important job than those you've held heretofore, and get back into the world. There's no reason for you to feel so hopeless about marriage, either. Twenty-six is not the knell of romance. Stop feeling ashamed, and get back to work.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 18, and have been seeing a man of 19 for the past year.

Three months ago we had a misunderstanding and broke up. Now he galls me every night, but will not take me out or come to the house. He claims he has a serious difficulty to overcome and until then he won't see me.

CALLIE P.

ANSWER: If you're to find out what the young man's trouble is, I guess the only thing to do is wait until he decides to make the big revelation. His secretiveness is rather childish, but then he is very young, so may be excused. Let him know that you don't in the least consider yourself bound to him, that you will go out with other boys until he lets you know the score.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a friend who is separated from his wife. I like him very much, though the basis of our relationship is merely friendly. Do you think it would be all right to remember him with a gift for a special occasion?

GLENDA R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: No gifts! A girl who permits herself to become more than friendly with a man who is neither merried nor free is placing herself in a most anomalous position. The man is more than likely to go back to his wife, leaving the girl heartbroken, or he may proceed through divorce, only to find someone more to his liking. Don't let this happen to you.

President Has 8-Point Housing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower today gave Congress an eight-point program for revising federal housing laws with the declared aim of providing "good housing in good neighborhoods" for every American.

Eisenhower urged authorization of four more years of public housing, with 140,000 new units to be started. The rate, 35,000 a year, is the one now authorized.

But this program, the president said in a special message to Congress, should be coupled with "a new and experimental" plan to encourage private enterprise to meet the needs of low-income families. The government should underwrite longer-term mortgages with lower down payments for families left homeless by slum clearance, he said.

COMPLETE REVISION

The proposed stem-to-stern overhaul of the housing program should be based, Eisenhower said, on "full and effective utilization of our competitive economy."

He called for:

Federal loan funds totalling $700,000,000 and money for grants up to $250,000,000, to be made available to cities to renovate decaying areas and eliminate existing slums;

Federal Housing Administration mortgage insurance to help home owners rehabilitate aging houses in declining neighborhoods;

FHA financing for the purchase of old houses as favorable to the buyer as the down-payment and mortgage terms on new houses;

Increasing the FHA loan insurance for repair and modernization from $2,500 to $3,000, and giving home-owners five years instead of three years to repay;

Reorganizing the government's Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA), which bolsters housing credit by buying mortgages from banks and other leaders. The president proposed to convert it gradually to private control;

Reorganizing the housing agencies to eliminate "cumbersome" and "inefficient" operation.

Mine Operators Said Making Big Killing

OTTAWA (CP) — Howard Conquergood, education and welfare director of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said Sunday gold mine operators in Ontario and Quebec are "making a killing" at the taxpayer's expense.

"We know of operators who have closed down high-grade gold veins and have re-opened low-grade veins that were closed down 20 and 30 years ago because they were not productive," he said in a speech to some 200 delegates attending a union education conference.

The operators then "turned to the government and claimed the market was down," he said. "That's how they obtained millions of dollars in subsidies. They are making a killing at our own expense." He did not name the companies.

4,000 STILL IDLE

He said that although miners at Hollinger and McIntyre gold mines in the Timmins area have returned to work, 4,000 from six other mines still are idle.

McIntyre miners went back to work, he added, "simply because there was no more money left to carry on the strike."

He blamed other union bodies across the country for failing to provide funds for the miners. They were being "smug, complacent" and were "failing to live up to their responsibilities."

Disaster Victims Buried

BLONS, Austria (Reuters)—More than 2,000 persons attended the mass burial here Sunday of 50 persons killed in the avalanche disaster which swept the Vorarlberg province two weeks ago. Of the 124 who died in the avalanche, 48 were from Blons, whose population is less than 300.

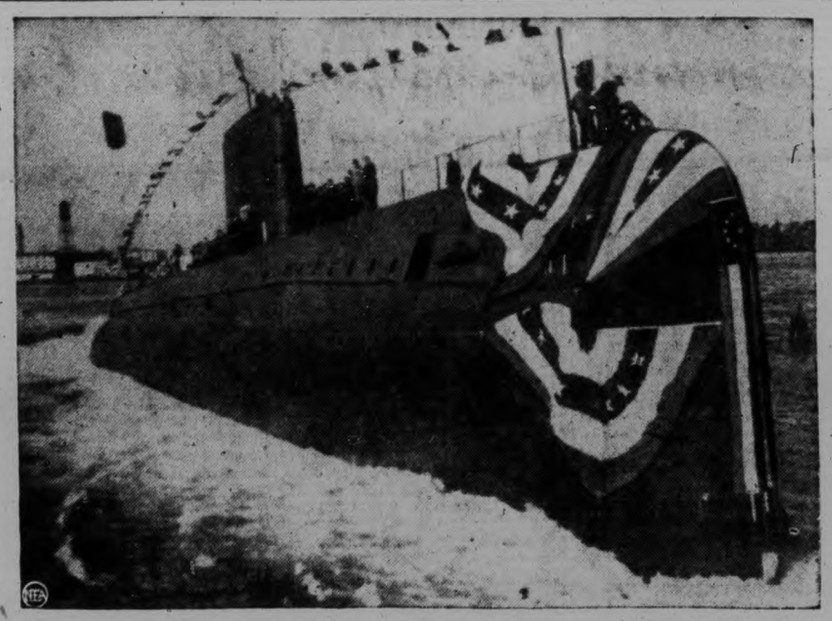
Jet Pilot Killed

SANDWICH, England (Reuters) A British Meteor jet fighter crashed here Sunday, killing the pilot. Part of the wreckage plunged into the roof of a house, narrowly missing a 12-year-old girl in a top-floor bedroom.



THE BEGINNING OF A NEW ERA—The atomic-powered submarine Nautilus rests in the Thames River at Groton, Conn., shortly after it was christened by Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower. The Nautilus will be subjected to rigorous tests before it is commissioned. Nearly 20,000 persons were on hand for the launching of the undersea craft that is expected to revolutionize sea warfare.

Annual Meet Mark United Plans Anniversary Mar. 7

The annual meeting of Mark Street United Church was held on Friday evening with a large attendance of members present. The minister, Dr. N. D. Patterson, was chairman, and the secretary was the recording steward, John Hedges.

Dr. Patterson closed the devotional period by reading the list of names of members who died during the year while the congregation stood in silent prayer in memory of their dead.

In his message to the congregation the minister emphasized three things which, he said, the church members ought to remember, "belonging to the Lord," "called out or separate," and the "fellowship." He called upon the congregation to move forward towards new accomplishment in the days that may yet be vouchsafed to us."

Dr. Patterson became minister of Mark Street United Church July first. In August under the general chairmanship of A. E. DeNure, a building fund campaign directed by "Wells Organizations" was begun, and after six week's intensive work $84,325.50 was pledged towards the enlargement of the church and the erection of a Christian Education Centre. A large lot of land west of the church has been acquired for the proposed building project.

The session report was presented by A. W. Gamble, clerk of session, showing 49 baptisms during 1953, 11 burials, 29 marriages. Fifty-eight new members were received bringing the total membership of the church in full communion to 722 of whom 23 are non-resident.

Ernest Lillico, reported $3,138.80 had been given to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund, and thanked all for their support and co-operation. The report of the committee of stewards, presented by Norman Hewitt, showed a small balance on hand after meeting current obligations. The budget for 1954 was presented and unanimously adopted by the meeting.

The church school, presented by superintendent, Carlyle Ferguson, showed a staff of 38 with a total membership of 496.

The Woman's Association report showed $1,816.72 was raised during the year and some new furnishings added to the parsonage. The Woman's Missionary Societies raised their allocations, and the full allocation for the United Church Training School was forwarded to Toronto.

All the other organization reports revealed them to be in a healthy and thriving condition. In the autumn the men formed an organization known as "Mark Street United Church Men" which meets on the second Friday of the month. The net amount raised by the congregation and its organizations during 1953 was $24,953.19.

E. Butler, A. W. Gamble, R. Parkin, and G. Caldwell were elected to serve as elders for a six-year period. R. Hamley, S. Laing, R. Elliott, F. Hunter and R. Johnston were named to the committee of stewards for a three year period. The resignation of J. L. Welsh from the board of trustees was regretfully accepted, and A. E. DeNure was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Votes of thanks were extended to the bowling club for their work on the honor rolls, to Mrs. N. Hewitt for secretarial work, E. Lillico for missionary and maintenance leadership and for pioneering the "United Church Men", to Mrs. R. C. Searles, organist and choir members, to Carlyle Ferguson and Sunday School staff, and to Dr. N. D. and Mrs. Patterson; and "to those who work silently in the church, the unknown seventy."

Dr. Patterson announced that on March 7th, the 25th anniversary of the dedication of the present church building would be observed with the Rev. A. I. Higgins, of Mackay United Church, Ottawa, and the Rev. E. W. Rowland, a former minister for ten years, as the guest-speakers for the occasion. "A Spiritual Life" mission will be conducted for five nights, following anniversary Sunday by Mr. Higgins.

In his closing remarks Dr. Patterson spoke of the church's motto— "House of Friendship" — as a challenge to every member. The meeting adjourned with the benediction.

Historic Mill Being Razed In Alberta

PINCHER CREEK, Alta. (CP)—They're tearing the old mill down at Mill creek, eight miles west of this southern Alberta town. And crumbling with it are a few yellowed pages of 19th-century Canadian history.

The McLaren grist and saw mill was established by the government in 1879 to encourage the growing of crops and the use of lumber by Indians.

The mill was built of stone and wood and equipped with machinery transported up the Missouri river to Fort Benton, Mont., then hauled overland to the site. Lumber was contracted for and taken by string teams to Fort Macleod and Lethbridge, about 50 miles to the east. Many houses in the district were constructed with timber from the McLaren mill.

FOUND ACCOUNT BOOK

Rummaging in the attic of the mill-house, present owner Fred Link found a dusty account book detailing mill operations between 1888 and 1890. It contained more than 300 names of western pioneers.

The book shows accounts were settled by services rendered, medical attention, and deliveries of hay, steers, butter, potatoes and pork.

Says Seaway Cost Not Large For U.S.

NEW YORK (CP)—The Herald Tribune says today that the cost of United States participation in the St. Lawrence seaway power project is not large in terms of the national budget.

The Senate last week approved U.S. participation with Canada in the project to enlarge and deepen the St. Lawrence waterway to permit deep-draft ocean-going vessels entrance to the Great Lakes.

The project now goes up for approval by the House of Representatives.

The Herald Tribune says that the $105,000,000 estimated as the U.S. share of the project "would be self-liquidating."

Manitoba Surplus Reaches $562,703

WINNIPEG (CP) — Provincial Treasurer Ron D. Turner announced today a surplus of $562,703 for Manitoba's fiscal year which ended last March 31.

The surplus was lowest since 1938. Total revenue was $53,383,290 and expenditures $52,820,587.

No Iron Curtain Allowed At Olympic Games Village

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE (AP)—There will be no Iron Curtain at Olympic Village, 10 miles from the centre of Melbourne, during the 1956 Olympic Games.

Plans for the village show that living quarters of the Western nations and the Russians will be separated only by a small area of dining rooms and shops.

The village of new apartment houses and five-room cottages built to accommodate 6,000 athletes will be spread over 42 acres of park land but will be so centralized that there will be easy access to all facilities.

The Communists will occupy flats and cottages at the north end of the village on a street named "Liberty avenue." The English-speaking bloc will be at the south end, in modern three-storey apartments.

WORK ALREADY BEGUN

Construction of the village will begin in earnest after the Queen's visit next month. Already six months' preliminary work has been done.

Leonard Curnow, a deputy technical director of the Games who was at Helsinki in 1952, said plans of the village incorporate all the good features of the Finnish show while eliminating the bad ones.

For example there will be no central kitchen and no one big central dining room as at Kapylae, the main Olympic village near Helsinki.

Instead there will be six kitchens and six dining areas easily accessible to the athletes.

Each of the six sections will have localized services such as laundry, valet and barber shops. This is to prevent long queues and delayed service.

A-Bomb Effect On Army Unknown-Monty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Field Marshal Montgomery says the effect of atomic bombs is "an imponderable" and, that it is too early to say how they will affect the size of ground forces needed to defend Europe.

"Nobody can say that the atomic weapon has proved that we can do with less forces," he said in a copyright interview with the magazine U.S. News and World Report published today.

"There have been no atomic weapons used in the active theatre of war today — Korea, Indo-China, Malaya — where fighting has been going on . . . How will military forces be affected by the progress of science? It will affect the balance, you see—how much must exist in peacetime, always ready, and what can come along after war starts. . . .

"But there's nothing yet to show that the total force you want has been made less, because of the progress of science. It might."

Montgomery was interviewed at the supreme headquarters of the Allied powers in Europe, near Paris.

Asked whether atomic weapons would be useful in the defence of Western Europe, Montgomery replied: "Certainly. I would never refuse any weapon. If I were to engage in a roughouse in Europe, I would like to know that I should be backed by atomic power, certainly."

As for the possibility of outlawing atomic weapons, Montgomery said that is a political matter outside his field, "but I think you can assume, if a war starts, that both sides, if they have got atomic weapons, will use them."

Child's Condition Remains Critical

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The condition of eight-year-old Margaret Prudum, injured last week, remained unchanged today. She is still on the seriously-ill list at War Memorial Children's Hospital.

Attendants said it is still not certain whether the child will require surgery.

Last week, following the traffic accident in which the child was injured, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Purdum denied permission for a blood transfusion should surgery become necessary. Their objection to the treatment is on religious grounds.

Hospital attendants said Saturday that the necessity of an operation is likely to decrease as time passes.

Crown attorney C. C. Savage said Margaret could be made a temporary ward of the Children's Aid Society if the parents refuse essential medical attention. He said he will invoke the law if it becomes necessary.

Fire Destroys House Youth Burned To Death

GORE BAY, Ont. (CP)—Floyd Campbell, 24, was burned to death early Sunday when fire destroyed the two-storey frame home of his parents near this Manitoulin island community.

Cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Child 7, Killed On Way To School

First Shipload Of PoWs Reaches Formosa

TAIPEH, FORMOSA (AP) — Five shiploads of one-time soldiers in Red China's Korean armies arrived today to a tumultuous welcome from their chosen new homeland, Nationalist China.

Flag-waving, shouting crowds lined Taipeh's streets as trucks bore the 4,625 former war prisoners from the nearby port of Keelung.

Five more shiploads are expected Tuesday and five Wednesday, bringing the last of the 14,000 anti-Red Chinese who were released as civilians Saturday by the United Nations command.

CAPTIVES FOR YEARS

Many had spent years in captivity. All had spent half a year under Indian control in the Korean neutral zone where they were given their choice between Red China and Nationalist China.

Reporters who talked with some of the prisoners said every one told them of plans to join the Nationalist army.

The government information bureau said President Chiang Kai-shek had cabled President Eisenhower that the successful repatriation of the Chinese "represents the first significant victory of the democracies in their 10-year struggle against international communism."

Polar Test Flight Beats Schedule

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Scandinavian Airlines' Gorm Viking superclondmaster landed 40 minutes ahead of schedule here early today, completing a 6,000-mile polar test flight across the top of the world from Los Angeles.

The four-engine DC6B left Los Angeles Friday and flew by way of Edmonton, Churchill, Frobisher Bay, N.W.T., and Greenland. It landed here at 4:35 a.m. (10:35 p.m. EST Sunday), after a nine-hour nonstop flight from Greenland.

Admit Siphoned Gas From Car

Two men, found the night of January 19 siphoning gas from a truck, appeared in magistrate's court this morning to plead guilty to theft. They were Douglas Gallagher, 25, of 137 Stewart St., and Ronald Bye, 19, of RR 4, Peterborough.

Gallagher was remanded a week for sentence, and Bye, with two previous convictions for theft on his record, fined $52.50 or 45 days.

Witnesses told police they caught the pair "in the act" but the two escaped. Later PC James Armstrong went to their homes where they admitted to the theft. The gasoline was returned to its owner.

Bye was convicted twice previously, in 1950 and 1951, on charges of breaking, entering and theft.

No Iron Curtain Allowed At Olympic Games Village

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE (AP)—There will be no Iron Curtain at Olympic Village, 10 miles from the centre of Melbourne, during the 1956 Olympic Games.

Plans for the village show that living quarters of the Western nations and the Russians will be separated only by a small area of dining rooms and shops.

The village of new apartment houses and five-room cottages built to accommodate 6,000 athletes will be spread over 42 acres of park land but will be so centralized that there will be easy access to all facilities.

The Communists will occupy flats and cottages at the north end of the village on a street named "Liberty avenue." The English-speaking bloc will be at the south end, in modern three-storey apartments.

WORK ALREADY BEGUN

Construction of the village will begin in earnest after the Queen's visit next month. Already six months' preliminary work has been done.

Leonard Curnow, a deputy technical director of the Games who was at Helsinki in 1952, said plans of the village incorporate all the good features of the Finnish show while eliminating the bad ones.

For example there will be no central kitchen and no one big central dining room as at Kapylae, the main Olympic village near Helsinki.

Instead there will be six kitchens and six dining areas easily accessible to the athletes.

Each of the six sections will have localized services such as laundry, valet and barber shops. This is to prevent long queues and delayed service.

29 Fatalities Death Toll At Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ten deaths in an accident on a power project in Quebec and eight in a level-crossing crash at Napanee in eastern Ontario helped swell the weekend toll of violent and accidental deaths in eastern Canada to 29.

A Canadian Press compilation today listed 14 deaths in Quebec, 13 in Ontario and one each in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

The industrial mishap on the Bersimis power project at Labrieville, Que., accounted for all the week-end's 10 deaths of that nature. Trains killed nine, traffic four, fires three, fumes two and drowning one.

Besides the eight persons killed when a passenger train hit their car at Napanee, Ontario had five other deaths.

STRUCK BY FREIGHT

William Cuper, 57, was killed when he was hit by a freight train at Hamilton; Mrs. Mazie Bard, 70, died of injuries suffered when she was knocked down by a car in Hamilton; Fred Fowler, 22, and Ruby Readman, 21, were found dead in a car at Orillia. They were believed to have been overcome by carbon monoxide fumes. Floyd Campbell, 24, burned to death when fire destroyed his home at Gore Bay.

Cow Produces Twins Six Weeks Apart

SYDNEY, Australia (CP) — A jersey cow named Nancy has made veterinary history in Australia by producing twin calves six weeks apart at Murrumbateman.

The first was a black and white heifer, the second a bull, born on a farm near Canberra.

Veterinary scientists who described the event as "a near miracle" said six weeks between cattle twins was rare. It was possibly the first case of its kind in Australia.

Pilot Thinks Helicopters Best Means of Travelling

EDMONTON (CP) — Helicopter pilot John Porter believes there isn't a better method of transportation than the "egg-beater."

Since last September he has been flying a light, three-seater, Bell 47D-1 helicopter through the Rocky mountains from Edmonton to Vancouver while patrolling the 718-mile Trans-Mountain oil pipeline. He makes three trips a month.

Porter, a war-time pilot of fixed-wing aircraft in the RCAF, considers the helicopter the safest thing in the air. He explained that if the weather acts up or anything else short of a rotor falls off, it is possible to land immediately in almost any spot.

That was the main reason the mountain pipeline patrol was given to the 'copters. The line closely follows the railway and road through the mountains and the helicopter can land on these or possibly on the right of way of the pipeline itself.

Patrolling the pipe line requires a three-day trip each way with overnight stops at Kamloops, B.C. where Porter and his engineer-observer, Barney Bartlett, live, and at Jasper, Alta.

They fly at from 200 to 500 feet above the line—which is underground—at 60 to 70 miles an hour. "I look where I am going and Barney looks for the leak," Porter said.

When trouble is spotted the helicopter is landed at the closest available spot and section crews are called by connecting a portable telephone to nearby railways or telephone lines.

Porter said there are no special hazards flying a helicopter through the mountains. Icing on the rotors presents a problem because it can't be seen. However, when there is danger of icing Porter lands his machine and waits for clearing.

New Pitchblende Discovery Richest Found In Australia

ADELAIDE, Australia (CP) — Mining experts claim that pitchblende found at Wild Dog valley, only 40 miles from this South Australian state capital, represents the first discovery in Australia of the richest form of uranium ore.

Geologists define the deposits as massive resinous - looking pitchblende.

According to Mines Director S.B. Dickenson of South Australia, lumps of the ore contain 70 per cent or more of uranium oxide. The pitchblende at Rum Jungle, Australia's major uranium field in the Northern Territory, is not in the massive form, but is finely disseminated through black slate.

EASILY REFINED

The advantage of the newly-discovered ore lies in the readiness with which it can be refined to uranium oxide. Sir Douglas Mawson, one of Australia's top geologists, believes that if the deposits prove extensive, some of the ore may be capable of export without any refining.

A large refinery is under construction at Port Pirie, in South Australia, to handle the ore from another established state field at Uranium Hill. Shafts soon will be sunk at Wild Dog valley in an effort to locate a pitchblende lode. If it is found a uranium mine will be established there.

Meanwhile the South Australian government has awarded £5,000 to the two brothers, W. F. and J. J. Wenham, who found the deposit, and has reserved mineral rights over a large part of the area.

But atomic experts say that Australia, although she has achieved world status as a uranium source, cannot hope for her own power supply from atomic energy for at least 10 years.

South Korean Finds Studying Tough In Canada

VANCOUVER (CP)—Kun Pak, 27-year-old South Korean Navy veteran, finds it much tougher studying at the University of British Columbia than at Seoul University.

Kun recently arrived here to study for his master's degree in political science. His entry into Canada was sponsored by Bill Boss Canadian Press correspondent now stationed in Moscow, and Reginald Bowering of Victoria.

"Two hours a day was considered hard study at Seoul University," said Kun who won a degree in philosophy there before being drafted into the Korean Navy. "They expect much work here. The professors are hard drivers, but that's all I need."

Although he speaks English surprisingly well, the language is worrying him somewhat. "I don't always understand what my professors are saying."

Kun says there is great need for young politicians in his country. "Syngman Rhee is an excellent practical politician, but he now is 78 and there must be someone to continue when he dies."

Truth Is Subject Of Lesson Sermon

The importance of honesty and unselfishness in seeking spiritual understanding of God was brought out in the lesson-sermon entitled "Truth" which was read in Christian Science Churches on Sunday.

The need of teachableness and receptivity, as highlighted in the parable of the sower, and Jesus, explanation of it, as recorded in the Bible in Luke 8:4-15, was read.

The following correlative citation was among selections read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The spiritual sense of truth must be gained before Truth can be understood. This sense is assimilated only as we are honest, unselfish, loving, and meek. In the soil of an 'honest and good heart' the seed must be sown; else is beareth not much fruit, for the swinish element in human nature uproots it."

The Golden Text was from Deuteronomy: 32:3,4.

"Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, His work is perfect: for all His ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is He."

REAL "COOL" SUIT FOR HOT WORK — Juvenile scientists will probably cast envious eyes on this latest atomic suit worn by workers at the Richland, Wash., plutonium plant. The plastic, balloon-like suit provides a protective barrier against radiation in "hot" areas. "Train" in rear is a flexible plastic tunnel which provides air and serves as an entrance and exit passage. An air mask is worn if, by some accident, the suit is torn or punctured.

Mau Mau Terrorists Weaken Inefficiency Thins Ranks

By COLIN LEGUM

LONDON—(OFNS)—Mau Mau terrorists in Kenya have suffered a number of major reverses which will undoubtedly cripple their effectiveness as a fighting force.

Even in prison the powerful and dynamic African leader, Jomo Kenyatta, was a source of strength to Mau Mau. His followers never thought he would be convicted. Such was the myth that had grown up around this British-eduoated politician that the Kikuyu peasants believed it was merely a matter of time before he would be released to lead them to a Black Valhalla in Kenya.

The decision of the Kenya Appeal Court, which last week confirmed the conviction of Kenyatta and four of his lieutenants, will help to shatter that illusion. Kenyatta will spend the next seven years under close arrest in a remote desert camp in northern Kenya. Friends report that he is in bad health. He is unlikely ever again to become a serious political leader.

As long as there was even a remote chance that Kenyatta might be released, many prominent African leaders preferred to sit on the fence. They feared the wrath of a liberated Kenyatta more than that of any other person in Kenya. Now they may be encouuraged to show their hand openly in rallying to the side of the Kikuyu Home Guard, which has been achieving even more successes in the actual fighting of Mau Mau than have the British troops.

Second in importance to the removal of Kenyatta from the scene is the arrest of "General China," one of the Mau Mau triumvirate. This marks the first big success against any of the top rebel leaders. China's chief lieutenant, General Zimba, was killed six months ago. The weakening in the command of his terrorist band—one of the most effective forces—is likely to speed up the demoralization which has already become noticeable among certain of the Mau Mau bands.

The fact that China was caught in a thickly-populated area of the Kikuyu Reserve is important because it is the first positive evidence that the top Mau Mau leaders are no longer concentrated in the depths of the Kenya forests where they have hitherto sought safety. It may be that life for the Mau Mau is becoming impossible in the jungles. This could be accounted for by mounting RAF bombing attacks, the ceaseless harrying of terrorist bands by forward troops operating in the forests; and shortage of both food and manpower as a result of successful action in the Kikuyu reserve itself.

With the arrest of China, only three of the known top leaders are still at liberty. The most important is the colorful braggard, Dedan Kimathe, who has promoted himself to the post of commander-in-chief of the "Army of Liberation". It was Kimathe who startled the authorities last week by letting it be known that plan was afoot to kidnap the six British Members of Parliament who are at present touring Kenya. This is typncal of the flamboyant action which appeals to Kimathe. One can never be sure whether he is serous. The danger is that he is capable of carrying out threats which often sound impossible. As he is fond of writing highly-imaginative letters, the authorities are constantly being agitated by what he might be planning next. He is a ruthless joker.

But Mau Mau weakness is also revealing itself in the failure of its major attacks. In the past few weeks, several attempts have been made by bands, each of more than a hundred well-armed men, to capture supplies. On each occasion the raiders have failed to gain their objective.

NOT EFFICIENT

The fact that a single armed farmer could hold off the attack of a hundred terrorists, armed with a machine gun, does not speak highly of the efficiency of the Mau Mau fighters. The attacks were much more effective six months ago. This may be because the better-trained recruits have now been killed or captured. It is extremely difficult to train men to use complicated guns—few of which are standardised—when clearly the bands are desperately short of live ammuunition. And judging by some of the reports of wild shooting, it is likely that some of the Mau Mau gunmen have had little experience of firing live ammunition before going into action.

It is still not possible to predict how soon the Mau Mau revolt will be crushed, of course. There are some grounds for growing confidence. But the nature of the revolt is such that instead of flickering to its death, Mau Mau might be aroused to greater efforts by some dexterous ruse which the terrorist leaders have so often demonstrated they are capable of devising.

Meanwhile there is intensive activity going on behind the scenes as leaders of the four races in Kenya — Africans, Whites, Asians and Arabs — try to reach agreement on a new constitution which will help to restore political stability to the hard-pressed British colony.

County Wipes Deficit Off Roads Account

Careful budgeting during 1953 allowed the county roads committee to wipe out a deficit of $3,948 inherited at the beginning of the year and finish up with a surplus of $2,466 on the year's operations.

However, a bookkeeping entry somewhat mars this financial picture. A three-year-old outstanding account, amounting to $3,535, was written off. So this leaves an overall debit balance of $1,069.

Last year construction was cut to a minimum, partly because the deficit from 1952 had to be wiped out, but mainly because of two factors: (1) the road appropriation bylaw was cut by $33,000 by the department of highways, and (2) the county contributed $14,000 toward the mulch paving of the Buckhorn road.

The county bridge account ended the year with a surplus of $39.37. On the year's operations there was a surplus of $3,575, but after the 1952 deficit and an outstanding account of $3,535 were wiped out, the books just about balanced.

Total expenditure on county roads in 1953 was $140,482, and on county bridges $24,084, a total of $164,566. The government subsidy is not included.

Maintenance on the roads came to $81,783. The main items: Sanding $2,552, snow clearing $1,890, snow fence $1,921, brushing and weed cutting $3,846, culverts $3,399, ditching $813, dragging $13,980, dustlaying $27,180 (to cut down this high maintenance figure county councillors are trying to get as many roads paved as possible), fencing $1,931, grading $2,623, gravel patching $3,628, guide rails $519, mulch patching $832, prime $3,986, resurfacing (gravelling county roads) $10,139, roadside maintenance $958, signs $247, weed spraying $1,133, Ennismore-Emily boundary road $52, Seymour and Belmont-Methuen boundary road $153.

Construction on Sherbrooke St. West cost $120.

New machinery: $612 for an 11-ton capacity float built by county workmen.

Overhead: Including 25 per cent rebates to the three villages, $11,864. Garage and warehouse maintenance $3,837.

(The department pay a 50 per cent subsidy on approved road expenditures and an 80 per cent subsidy on bridges and culverts.)

BRIDGES

Following is report on county bridges: Maintenance costs were $11,155. The main items: County road bridges $5,724, county boundary bridges $87, township boundary bridges $163, Gannon's Narrows bridge (preliminary) $351, Asphodel $647, Belmont-Methuen (planking of Taylor's bridge) $1,514, Burleigh-Anstruther $45, Chandos $590, Dummer $10, Galway-Cavendish $803, Harvey 170, Otonabee $187, Norwood $19, North Monaghan $93, Douro $25, and Lakefield $729.

Construction work on three bridges cost $10,763 in 1953: Stoney Creek bridge in Anstruther $2,566, Black Lake bridge in Cavendish $3,642, and Wallace Point bridge pier $4,556. (Northumberland-Durham county pay half of the Wallace Point repairs.)

Cancer Major Topic Norwood 1954 Agenda

NORWOOD (ENS)—Plans were made for the cleaning and decorating of the old council chamber when the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Fred Patterson for their January meeting. Twenty members answered the roll call by "What I did on New Year's Day."

The secretary reported 28 boxes were sent to the aged and sick. A number of letters and cards of thanks were read from the recipients of these during the Christmas season.

Mrs. John Knox gave a talk on "Cancer". Cancer she said is the name commonly used for "what your doctor would call a malignant tumor, which in every day English means harmful growth". Since cancer is not caused by germs it is neither contagious or infectious. Time is a most important factor in the control of cancer and "waiting to see what happens" may permit a curable cancer to become incurable by spreading to other tissues. Therefore it is advisable to see a doctor if any of the danger signals are in eidence.

Two of the nine visitors present paid their membership fees for 1954. It was decided to ask Mrs. A. E. Holt, president of the Peterborough unit of the Canadian Cancer Society to be guest speaker at the February meeting.

Mrs. Knox rendered a solo and Mrs. J. J. Stewart gave the current events.

Refreshments were served by Mesdames A. Scott, T. Stevenson, W. Preston and J. Starke.

Westwood WI Hold Raffle And Euchre

WESTWOOD (ENS)—A community pot-luck dinner, sponsored by the Women's Institute, was held Tuesday evening in the community hall. Over 50 people of the surrounding district were on hand.

Tickets were sold for a quilt on display. The draw was made by Donnie Patterson; lucky ticket was held by Wilbert Graham.

Ten tables of progressive euchre were played later. Prize winners were Mrs. Walter Middlebrook, Mrs. Don Hope, Bobby Shelton and Rendle Dickson.

New Rioting Flares In Madrid

Students Seize Radio Force It Off Air In Angry Protest

MADRID (CP) — Renewed rioting broke out in Madrid's main thoroughfare tonight. Police charged demonstrators and made nine arrests.

The renewed rioting followed day-long demonstrations that culminated in an invasion of Madrid's state radio station.

Rioting students seized Madrid Radio briefly and forced it off the air for half an hour.

The new riots were sparked by student rage over police strong-arm methods Monday in breaking up their anti-British demonstrations demanding the return of Gibraltar to Spain.

The demonstrators today demanded the resignation of Madrid's public security director-general.

CLASH NEAR EMBASSY

The bloody clash Monday was near the British embassy, where police on horseback and afoot charged into the students with clubs.

An estimated 10,000 angry students marched today on the radio station to broadcast their complaints. Station personnel, and hastily assembled police succeeded in keeping the demonstrators off the air by suspending broadcasting.

The demonstrators demanded the resignation of Information Minister Gabriel Arias Salgado and called for freedom of the press.

Their demand for Arias Salgado's ouster apparently was caused by a censorship ban on publication of news of Monday's battle.

SEE THE THAW—The light drizzle today brought out the umbrellas and rubbers and put away the ear muffs gloves and other winter clothing as the January thaw continues. Temperatures early today just dipped below freezing long enough to make driving and walking slippery. But when Mrs. Jean Burns and Hazel Moncrief met on the way to work, the mercury had risen and instead of sleet or snow there was rain. Under cover of umbrellas the two pretties could smile for the photographer.

Wants Action After Delay Of 40 Years

St. Lawrence Project One Of Ontario's Greatest Anxieties

ORILLIA (CP) — Premier Frost Monday night suggested the United States "get out of the way" and let Canada develop the St. Lawrence seaway plan.

"All I ask is that our friends across the border get out of the way and let us get at it and accomplish something that has been talked about for 40 years," he said.

Mr. Frost was speaking in support of Lloyd Letherby, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Feb. 8 provincial by-election in Simcoe East.

The U. S. Senate has passed a seaway bill whereby it will pay $100,000,000 for its share of the 27-foot-deep waterway linking the Atlantic to the Great Lakes. However, the measure must be approved by the U. S. House of Representatives and it 's doubtful if approval will be given there. Canada has announced it will build the seaway alone if necessary.

TO NEED MORE POWER

The Ontario premier said the seaway development is "one of our greatest anxieties." The 1960s would see an emergency in electrical energy when the power requirements will exceed the province's natural water resources.

He said atomic power sources will eventually augment hydraulic sources but this will come only after the emergency period.

Mr. Frost predicted the import of gas from western Canada will have a greater effect on Ontario's economy than any factor since completion of the trans-continental railway.

GAINING FAVOR

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative J. Harry McGregor (Rep. Ohio) indicated today a softening of his opposition to United States participation in building the proposed St. Lawrence seaway.

McGregor, a high-ranking member of the House public works committee that must pass on the Senate-approved seaway bill, has long opposed the U.S. joining with Canada in the seaway project. But in discussing the bill passed by the Senate last week, McGregor told a reporter:

"I won't say I'll favor this bill, but I am giving it a lot more attention than I have other (seaway) bills."

McGregor said the smaller amount of money involved in the Senate bill for the seaway construction "will make a difference in my views."

Dulles Flatly Rejects Plan For 5-Power Meeting On World Problems In June

BERLIN (AP)—U. S. State Secretary Dulles today flatly rejected Moscow's proposal for a five-power conference on world problems but Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov struck back with a concrete demand to hold such a parley in May or June. Dulles told the second day's session of the Big Four that the United States will not join Red China—"the convicted aggressor"—in any meeting to deal with the peace of the world. Nevertheless, Dulles said, the Western powers will go along with Molotov's agenda for the Berlin conference with calls for discussion of Red China first, German unity second and an Austrian peace treaty last so as to avoid further delay.

When Dulles finished his 2,500-word speech outlining the American position, Molotov took the floor. He said he would bring up the five-power issue as the first order of business Wednesday.

The Soviet diplomat declared he would propose "May-June" as the time for America, France, Britain, the U. S. S. R. and Communist China to take up all their conflicting interests.

He did not suggest the location, but said the purpose would be "to examine the urgent measures necessary to diminish tension in international affairs."

TO REPLY SINGLY

Informants said Molotov's declaration on the Asiatic issue would be answered individually by each of the Western ministers.

In rejecting the idea of sitting across from Communist China's Premier Chou-en-lai, Dulles scolded the Russians for advancing the idea that any great powers have the right to decide all international questions. His speech was a sharp reply to Molotov's attack on the United States Monday at the opening of the Big Four conference.

At the same time Dulles announced acceptance of Molotov's proposed procedure for the conference in order to avoid "weeks in futile argument" about an agenda.

MOST STINGING SPEECH

In perhaps the most stinging speech he has made about Soviet policy since he became secretary of state, Dulles accused Molotov of wanting "reversion to a sterile and dangerous past" with his proposals for a German settlement.

"It seems incredible," he told Molotov, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French foreign Minister Bidault, "that Soviet leaders should now be devoting themselves to reviving . . . Franco-German hostility and to obstructing a unification which would realize the vision of the wise European states-

Russians Get In On Burns Day Act Now Help Scotsmen Celebrate 195th Anniversary

EDINBURGH (AP). — Scotsmen the world over celebrated the 195th anniversary of Robbie Burns' birth with traditional suppers of haggis and Scotch whisky Monday night.

Even the Russians got into the act — Moscow radio broadcast "Auld Lang Syne," the Scottish bard's most famous song, and said Robbie "has taken his place among the finest Russian poets."

Scotland itself had over 1,000 formal Burns' Night suppers. Kilted pipers everywhere heralded the haggis, an odd-looking dish, concocted from the liver and heart of sheep, and boiled in the animal's stomach.

Reds Agree To Take Back PoWs Refusing To Return To U.S., Korea

TOKYO (Wednesday) (AP)—Peiping Radio said today the Communists have agreed to take back the 21 Americans, one Briton and 325 South Koreans who have decided to stay with the Reds. The broadcast said Gen. Lee Sang cho, Communist member of the military armistice commission, made the anouncement in a letter to Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya, chairman of the neutral nations repatriation commission.

The Reds had previously refused to accept them as war prisoners and the 21 had rejected the United States.

A spokesman told a press conference that they expect to return to the U.S. "at some time in the future when we can fight for world peace without being persecuted."

NOT COMMUNISTS

"We are not Communists," declared Sgt. Richard Corden of East Providence, R.I., "though some of us hope to be." He read from a prepared statement which he said was approved by every man in the group.

The Americans in later individual interviews praised the Communist command. They looked correspondents squarely in the eye as they answered questions.

Why choose communism?

Sgt. Larrance V. Sullivan, Omaha: "The American people know how the Negro is treated in the United States. Definitely this is one of my reasons . . . of course, my desire to work for world peace is the main reason. I can't speak out for peace in America without being persecuted."

Cpl. Morris R. Wills, Fort Ann, N.Y.: "People who voice an opinion for peace in the United States are persecuted and their voices suppressed. There is not a democratic government in the United States as long as McCarthyism and McCarranism are allowed to exist —the people cannot be allowed to fight for peace."

The 21 Americans looked healthy, rosy-cheeked and warm in their huge blue padded Chinese overcoats. They were cheerful, clean-shaven, and posed readily for photographers.

There was no indication that they were ill at ease among fellow Americans, although some joked and laughed about "mike fright" when they faced radio and television microphones.

Has No Statement On Gas Conference

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier Manning said today he would issue no statement on his talks here Monday with three Ontario government officials on the proposed export of Alberta natural gas to the eastern province.

The premier met with Dana Porter, attorney-general; R. H. Saunders, chief of Ontario Hydro; and A. R. Crozier, fuel controller.

The three Ontario officials were reported in Calgary today for discussions with gas industry leaders.

Girl Received As A Gift Poisoned Candy

COBOURG (ENS). — The trial of Stanley Cowling, 38, former Tyrone farmer, on a charge of sending poisoned chocolates on January 20, 1953, to his 19-year-old stepdaughter Yvonne Saunders, commenced today before Mr. Justice Doney and jury.

Cowling also faces two other charges, one of administering poison to Yvonne Saunders with intent to endanger her life and the other of intent to injury or annoy.

The daughter was the principal witness called at the first session. Miss Saunders said she was six years old when her mother married her stepfather. After finishing her schooling she went to work in the Bowmanville hospital as a stenographer. In January of last year, one night as she was leaving the hospital, intending to go home and spend the night with her mother, she was handed a parcel wrapped in brown paper by one of the orderlies. On the bus she discovered the parcel contained chocolates and she gave several to her friends on the bus. However, she did not take any herself.

In the box was a note which read, "Till We Meet Again," and was signed "Love, A.S." Although she knew several people with the initials "A.S." she could not identify any particular one who would be sending her chocolates.

EXAMINED CHOCOLATES

On arriving home she showed the note to her mother who, on examining some of the chocolates, noticed several appeared to have been tampered with, as there was

Hog Prices To Remain Low For Several Years—Hannam

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—H. H. Hannam, president of the 400,000-member Canadian federation of Agriculture, predicted today that hog prices will remain low for the next several years. He anticipated also that in view of expanding production, egg prices may drop and that although there is "no need for lower fluid milk prices," increasing output "could bring new problems."

The shift toward declining world farm prices which followed the Korean war is likely to continue in 1954, Mr. Hannam said in his presidential address prepared for delivery at the opening of the federation's 18th annual convention.

The drop in selling prices while production costs remained high had placed Canada's 600,000 farm families in a "price-cost squeeze. . . which in all likelihood will be continued in 1954."

Root of the farmer's problem was that free competition placed him at a disadvantage in relation to other producers.

CONTROL TOTAL OUTPUT

"Industry and labor do exercise some control over total output and do use limitation of output, to some extent, to maintain their price levels on the one hand and wage levels on the other.

"This handicap is at the root of agriculture's inability to hold a balanced position in our economy in relation to other major industries. It explains why the solution of the farm problem is largely beyond the powers of what the average producer can accomplish through management and operation of his farm."

What Canada and the world needs, said Mr. Hannam, is a greater measuring of orderly marketing—control over the movement of surplus supplies.

Military alliances may hold war at bay, but if Western countries are to give the world the kind of leadership which will assure freedom and peace they must co-operate to convince millions who are in revolt against their conditions of life, that democracy offers them more than any other ideology."

Tongay Jailed For 10 Years

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Russell G. Tongay, husky father of the child swimming stars, "The Aquatots," faces 10 years in prison for manslaughter in connection with the death of his five-year-old daughter, Kathy.

Tongay, a former coast guardsman, showed no emotion Monday when a six-man jury found him guilty, nor when Judge Ben C. Willard sentenced him to 10 years at hard labor. He did not take the stand.

Defence counsel filed notice of appeal and Tongay was released on a $5,000 bond.

The jury deliberated 54 minutes before affirming the state's contention that Tongay sent his daughter to her death last May by forcing her to dive from a 33-foot tower.

Mrs. Betty Tongay, slender blonde school teacher and mother of the Aquatots, described Kathy's illness and death. She testified that Tongay was a good father and said she was "very happy" with his efforts to make swimming stars of Kathy and her brother, Bubba, 8.

Student Killed After Game

DETROIT (AP)—A street fight between two 12-year-old boys after a grade-school basketball game ended Monday night in the death of one of them.

James Horton, 12, died of a knife wound in the stomach, and police hold a 12-year-old classmate for investigation of murder.

Only last week school authorities banned all major high school athletics in Detroit at night because of the ice-pick stabbing of Ross DeBoskey, 17, star basketball player, after a night basketball game. DeBoskey was badly hurt.

After Monday night's incident police said the accused boy admitted striking Horton with a knife, but claimed it was self-defence. Horton, he said, attacked him in an argument that started during a regularly scheduled night contest at Chaney elementary school. The boys played on opposing teams.

Witnesses said that they did not see Horton hit his classmate. However, they told police that Horton, after he had been hurt, threw a heavy hunting knife at the accused.

Blame $40,000 Fire On Exploding Torch

ESPANOLA, Ont. (CP)—An exploding gasoline torch was blamed this morning for a fire that destroyed an auto service station here. Four cars were lost in the blaze.

Firemen battled for more than an hour in an attempt to keep flames from spreading to the nearby grill and from exploding buried gasoline drums.

Though no official estimate of the damage has been made, unofficial estimates run as high as $40,000.

Owner Paul Bois and a mechanic, Frank S. Stevens, were in the building when the torch in the latter's hands exploded.

Espanola is 48 miles west of Sudbury.

Colder Air Said On Way For Eastern Canada Zone

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Frigid air continued to grip the Canadian Prairies for the 14th successive day today but eastern Canada got snow and rain and temperatures ranging from 20 to 40 degrees above zero. The weather bureau saw "no moderation" in sub-zero temperatures from the Lakehead through Alberta. A storm dumped 16 inches of snow on Nanaimo and about six inches on Vancouver. Snow from the same storm is expected to hit Alberta and Saskatchewan today.

Most of eastern Canada, which has enjoyed a three-day mild spell, is to get colder tonight. Cold air from the north is to move into southern Ontario and southern Quebec, and overnight temperatures are expected to drop as much as 20 degrees.

DOWN GOES MERCURY

A low of 15 is predicted for southern Ontario centres tonight.

A snow-and-rain disturbance, with 30-35-degree temperatures, is expected to move out of Ontario into the Maritimes tonight. Several inches of snow are expected in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. Most of Nova Scotia can expect rain.

Only centres west of the Lakehead reporting overnight temperatures higher than zero were Vancouver and Victoria with 30, and Prince Rupert with 8.

Can Deduct Legal Fees

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada ruled today legal fees paid by a company in defending itself against a combines charge can be deducted from gross profits for income tax purposes.

The court unanimously dismissed a claim of the revenue department that such expenses are not deductible.

The ruling was given in cases of two Toronto dental supply firms, L. D. Caulk Company of Canada, Ltd., and Goldsmith Brothers Smelting and Refining Company. In 1948, they spent, respectively, $13,126 and $6,312 in successfully defending themselves against charges under the Combines Act.

When they tried to deduct these sums from their gross profits, the revenue department refused to admit the deductions. The department lost out before the income tax appeal board and the Exchequer Court prior to the Supreme Court hearing.

Quebec Jail Riot Quelled

ARTHABASKA, Que. (CP)—Police said today a noisy riot by a few prisoners was quickly quelled Monday night in the jail of this Eastern Townships town about 60 miles north of Sherbrooke. Damage was estimated at several hundred dollars.

Two large windows and 60 small ones were broken by the prisoners. A wash basin and a toilet bowl were yanked from their fixtures, causing flooding in parts of the jail.

Police said they believe the riot was started by a small group of prisoners who feel they are being punished without sufficient reason and who find discipline too severe.

All who participated were placed in solitary confinement pending an investigation.

Doughty Rink Loses

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Toronto Granites skipped by Mrs. L. E. Wooley and Hamilton Thistles skipped by Mrs. K. McLaren compete this afternoon for the Ontario ladies' tankard, major women's curling award in the province.

Mrs. Woolley, seeking her fifth consecutive tankard triumph, reached the final round this morning with a 9-6 victory over Mrs. T. Doughty of Peterborough.

War Lasts 4 Minutes

4,000 Of Enemy Killed In Hamilton Bird Ambush

HAMILTON (CP) — The war lasted less than four minutes. Estimates of the number of enemy killed ranged from 2,500 to 4,000.

The ambush at downtown Gore Park followed the recent declaration of war by Controller Sam Baggs against the estimated 2,000,000 starlings who flock into the city every evening.

The army of 122 marksmen, enlisted by Controller Baggs, gathered at city hall for last-minute instructions before parading to the park for the kill.

They took their places and waited for the signal from Deputy Police Chief Jack Thompson and Inspector Howard Moreau. The first round of shots rang out for almost two minutes before police called a halt.

PILED INTO TRUCKS

The dead were piled into works department trucks and hauled away. A second but less successful round of shooting was called about 15 minutes later.

In announcing the war against the birds, Mr. Baggs said: "We'll murder 'em." He said similar attacks will be staged later.

Citizens had been complaining for several months that the starlings were causing damage and making a mess.

Citizens had to pick their way carefully along sidewalks. Some started carrying newspapers at the ready. One firm spent $10,000 to have its building cleaned.

MANY SUGGESTIONS

Mr. Baggs decided on the shoot after receiving suggestions on how to get rid of the starlings from many parts of Canada.

Among plans for getting rid of the starlings was one offered by a Galt woman who suggested the city import bats to drive the starlings out. Then owls would be needed to get rid of the bats. Owls weren't afraid of anything, the woman said, and they would have to be shot.

No casualties were suffered by the hunters.

Villages In Britain Isolated By Snow

LONDON (AP)—Freezing winds and the heaviest snowfall of the winter cut off several villages and slowed or stalled road and rail traffic over more than half of Britain today.

Shipping was brought to a standstill outside many south coast ports and main-line trains ran up to two hours late. Portsmouth on the south coast was blanketed by snow and fog.

Gale warnings were in force along the whole of Britain's East Anglia coastline as icy winds from the Russian steppes lashed in from the North sea.

Race meetings at Nottingham and Huntingdon today were called off. Many mid-week soccer games may have to be cancelled.

Leaves Big Estate

HALIFAX (CP)—The will of Senator W. H. Dennis, publisher of The Chronicle-Herald and The Mail-Star, who died in Ottawa Jan. 18, was admitted to probate today. The estate is valued at $1,770,000. Control of the two newspapers was left to the late senator's only son, Grahm W. Dennis, who has been managing director of the Halifax Herald Ltd. since 1952.

Government Rejects PC Plea

Refuse To Reveal Documents On Meyer Release

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has defeated a Progressive Conservative attempt to obtain documents relating to the trial, sentence and expected early release from prison of Nazi S.S. Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer.

Defence Minister Claxton says the government opposed the opposition move on grounds that production of the documents would result in the 43-year-old German being retried in Parliament for his role in the murder of Canadian prisoners of war in Normandy in 1944.

"Parliament is not the place to try or retry criminal cases," Mr. Claxton said in the Commons. "Motions for the production of papers relating to trials and revisions of all kinds have not been allowed as not being in accord with practice or the public interest."

Meyer was sentenced to death Dec. 28, 1945, after being convicted of inciting his troops to deny quarter to Allied soldiers and of responsibility in the mass shooting of 18 Canadians. He was found not guilty of ordering prisoners to be shot.

SENTENCE COMMUTED

The death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by Maj. Gen. Chris Vokes, head of the Canadian occupation forces in Germany after the end of the war. Meyer was sent to Canada in May, 1946, to serve his sentence in the federal penitentiary at Dorchester, N.B. He was transferred to the Werl prison in the British zone of Germany in October, 1951.

Jan. 15, Mr. Claxton announced that Meyer's life sentence has been reduced to 14 years. With time off for good behavior, he can be released as early as Sept. 7 of this year.

Mr. Drew submitted a motion that the government make public all documents relating to Meyer's trial, original sentence, removal from Dorchester prison and reduction of sentence. It was defeated by a vote of 102 to 63.

Mr. Claxton said commutation of Meyer's sentence to 14 years was recommended by one of a number of boards in the British zone of Germany reviewing cases of war criminals held in prisons under British jurisdiction. Brig. Sherwood Lett of Vancouver, Canadian observer at these proceedings, and the government agreed with the board's recommendation.

RECOMMENDATION ACCEPTED

He added:

"As far as is known, every recommendation of every board in every zone has been accepted by the government concerned."

Mr. Drew said there was no suggestion of a retrial in his request for the documents.

He continued:

"Kurt Meyer either was responsible for the death of young Canadians contrary to the rules of war or he was not. If he was not, then his name should be cleared. If he was, the procedure that has been followed is not consistent with the best interests of the recognized practices of armies in the field.

"I submit that this Parliament as the supreme authority in this country should have an opportunity of examining the exchanges that took place. I submit that we should know whether there was in fact any prior understanding at the time Kurt Meyer left Canada with the authority and assistance and approval of this government. I submit that we should know whether there was in fact anything in the exchange of correspondence that suggested a wrong was being righted by an improper move.

Surplus Produce Big Concern Of Federation

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Problems of what to do with surplus farm produce and how to keep prices steady are expected to be aired today at the first public session of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture annual meeting.

Besides debating convention resolutions farmers will have a chance to question Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner. Mr. McCubbin speaks at the afternoon session and takes part in a discussion period.

H. H. Hannam, head of the national farm body for the last 13 years, will give his presidential address. He said earlier that the main concern of the federation's 18th annual meeting would be marketing of surplus produce in Canada and abroad and price supports.

SPEECH POSTPONED

A speech by External Affairs Minister Pearson scheduled for tonight was postponed to Wednesday to allow Mr. Pearson to attend the funeral of H. Hume Wrong, undersecretary of external affairs.

Monday night farmer delegates heard about television from the man who "runs" it in Canada and also saw themselves on a TV program.

A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC, said it will not be long before one-half of all households in Canada have a TV set. He predicted that television will be within range of 70 per cent of Canada's population within a year.

WANTS FARM VIEW

He told a farm radio forum meeting of the federation: "What we make of TV is going to have a very big affect on what we are like a generation from now."

He said: "We want to know what the farmer wants."

Some 200 delegates at the meeting watched four of their number take part in a panel interview over CFPL-TV, London's television station, one of two private stations operating in Canada.

On the panel were Charles Wells, secretary manager of the British Columbia Federation of Agriculture, Ben Plummer of Alberta, Ralph McKichan of Nova Scotia and Jack Broaderick of St. Catharines, Ont.

JOHN H. VERNOR, recently retired vice-president and general manager of Western Clock Co. Ltd. has been appointed general chairman of Trinity United church extension campaign where his well known executive ability will do much towards the success of this project.

U.S. Has Best Of Arms Deal

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and the United States have traded almost $1,000,000,000 worth of arms in the last four years, but from a sales point of view, the U.S. is ahead.

Defence production officials estimate that since the 1950 defence build-up started, Canada has purchased about $538,400,000 worth of military equipment from the U.S.

In the same period, U.S. fighting forces placed orders in Canada for about $405,300,000 worth of military goods, giving Canada a $133,000,000 deficit in U.S.-Canadian arms trade.

That trade currently is dropping after reaching a post-war peak of almost $500,000,000 in the 1951-52 fiscal year. Canada's buying from the U.S. is still running ahead of U.S. buying here, but officials hope that new emphasis on continental defence may result in a heavier flow of orders to Canadian factories.

Currently Canada is building heavy artillery and guns for U.S. forces. She also is producing a portion of the electronic equipment going into the joint radar screen in the north.

Canada's biggest purchases in the U.S. are aircraft and electronic equipment for Canadian planes.

Redistribution For Ontario, First In 21 Years

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto paper says today Ontario's first redistribution in 21 years is expected during the legislature session which opens Feb. 11.

"The redistribution, long overdue in the opinion of most Queen's Park officials, is expected to add at least 10 seats to bring to 100 the number of provincial members," the paper's newspage story says. It adds:

"While there has been no official announcement, it is known that Premier Frost and members of the cabinet have discussed the problem.

GET NEW RIDINGS

"Most of the new ridings will go to Toronto, Hamilton and Windsor, where shifts and increases in population since 1933 have caused such unequalized representation the government feels some immediate action is necessary."

The paper says other areas likely to be considered for new seats include Oshawa, Oakville, Ottawa, Waterloo North including Kitchener and Lincoln including St. Catharines.

It adds it is expected a select committee of the legislature may be appointed to work out the redistribution, a job which may take a year.

The number of seats was reduced from 112 to the present 90 as a depression days economy move in 1933.

All Schools Get Safety Awards

School patrol officers and teachers from 18 city schools were represented at a special general meeting of the patrol organization held at Queen Mary school Monday.

Mayor Norman Graham presented patrol merit awards, which are donated each year by the Police News magazine. This year all schools qualified for the award.

The mayor spoke in glowing terms of the work being done by pupils and teachers for the safety of school children. Even in bitterly cold weather the guards still stuck to their posts.

He considered they were doing a grand job of saving lives and unnecessary accidents.

The Queen Mary patrol held a demonstration weekly meeting and safety court, where patrol members acted as charged offenders.

Constable Don Mackay received reports on equipment and supplies from each school. All equipment lacking or under standard will be replaced in the near future.

Locusts Invade City

NAIROBI, Kenya—(Reuters)—A horde of locusts about four miles long and 10 miles wide swarmed into Nairobi's suburbs today. The locusts had been reported heading towards the capital of this British colony for several days. Planes showered 3,600 gallons of insecticide on the swarm trying to stop them.

Sees Danger In Economic Prospects

HAMILTON (CP) — "While our future prospects are brilliant beyond comparison the immediate situation with which we are faced might well become one fraught with dire possibilities," Stuart Armour, told the downtown Kiwanis Club today.

"What organized labor and management do in the next few months is certain to affect each of our lives very profoundly. The top brass of the organized labor movement in Canada apparently foresees a gloomier 1954 than do most business and government economists. On the other hand some important labor unions, ignoring the warnings of their national presidents, appear to be framing demands which could only be acceptable if business was to be on a far higher level this year than in 1953."

SOME LAYOFFS

"Even in the steel industry there have been layoffs, a situation almost unknown since 1939. One reason this is so is because our exports are falling while our imports are rising," said Mr. Armour.

Mr. Armour said because Canadians are now high-cost producers it is increasingly difficult to compete in domestic and world markets.

Man Gets Month For Attack On OPP Officer

When two OPP constables told Norwood farmer, Joseph Kelly they intended to arrest him for drunkenness, he appeared to have different ideas.

As constable Thomas H. Armong approached him on an icy street in Norwood village, Kelly swung round and hit the policeman with his fist.

The constable closed with his assailant, described as being in a "very drunken condition", and both men slipped to the ground, the constable underneath the 170 pound Kelly.

From all accounts there was quite a struggle before constable Roy Feeley broke things up. In the skirmish Kelly was alleged to have made several determined and successful attempts to scratch constable Armstrong's face.

These facts were related to Magistrate W. R. Philp Q.C. in court today when Kelly faced a charge of assaulting a peace officer.

In spite of strong defence arguments by Mr. Edward Fanjoy who mentioned Kelly was father of 11 children, Magistrate Philp accepted the constables' testimony and sent Kelly to the county jail for a month.

Constable Armstrong and Feeley testified that they had parked their cruiser near a car in Norwood on the night of January 14. While talking to the car driver, Mr. Kingston and two passengers, Mr. Cassidy and Kelly, they had noticed a strong smell of liquor.

Further investigations had convinced them that Kelly and Cassidy were intoxicated. (Cassidy was later acquitted on a drunk charge).

NOT DRUNK

Cassidy had gone quietly to the cruiser with constable Feeley, but Kelly had shouted "I'm not drunk" and then the struggle had started.

Cross-examined by Mr. Fanjoy, constable Armstrong said that Kelly had been stubborn when entering the county jail and had been forcibly helped along. He denied hitting Kelly.

Mr. Fanjoy asked constable Feeley if he had sworn at Kelly.

"I felt like it, but didn't", answered the constable. He admitted that he had been "pretty mad" at Kelly when he attacked constable Armstrong and as he lifted him up by the seat of the pants, had said: "Kelly, one of these days you'll kill someone".

Mr. Fanjoy considered it was apparent that the whole incident had been caused by drink and that Kelly's actions had been those of a drunk man, and not intended as an attack on an officer.

"In my opinion he was not so drunk as to not know what he was doing", said Magistrate Philp.

Seen From Plane Poacher Fined

You have got to be fast off the mark if you want to beat the Ontario conservation officers these days.

At least this is the opinion of Grant Taylor who was one of many-out-of-season fishing enthusiasts dropping a surreptitious line and sinker into Chemong lake last week.

In court today Magistrate W. R. Philp Q.C. fined him $35, costs $2.50, after he pleaded guilty to fishing out of season.

It appears that Taylor was lying on his stomach on the ice near a fishing hole when a conservation spotting plane flew over the lake. Before conservation officers had landed on the ice, everyone, including Taylor, were leaving fast for cover.

After a fairly long chase the officers managed to catch Taylor and charge him.

Have Agreed Labor Unions Shouldn't Raid Each Other

OTTAWA (CP)—Top men of Canada's biggest central labor bodies have agreed they should not raid each other's membership. The no-raiding arrangement, worked out at a private conference Monday, is expected to be announced today. It was one point in developing moves towards closer liaison between the 580,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, ol[illegible] largest central labor body, and the 375,000-Canadian Congress of Labor.

The arrangement, on which details are still to be settled after agreement in principle, was planned at a meeting of "co-operation" committees set up last year by the two congresses.

Just how far the congresses can go on non-raiding is problematical —their member unions mostly have complete autonomy—but the step was regarded in labor quarters as a first and necessary one to any kind of co-operation in other ways.

The CCL has been wanting to go beyond mere co-operation and have complete "organic unity" of Canada's approximately 1,000,000 union members in one congress. The TLC is more cautious, though its 1953 convention told the congress executive to take steps on non-raiding on other union groups as "the first step towards closer relations and eventual organic unity."

Find Prices Mixed On Toronto Market

TORONTO (CP)—Prices were mixed and activity moderate in early afternoon stock market trading.

Motors, papers, utilities, foods, steels, refining oils and manufactures were stronger. Financial institutions and liquors were a little weaker. Western Grocers, in the foods, gained $1 for the second consecutive session.

Golds were mostly quiet with little change except Placer's $3.50 gain in the holding companies.

Western oils were a little lower. Base metals were also lower in the seniors. The only major junior change was Geco's 45-cent gain.

Uraniums and Bathurst-area base metals were slightly down.

Club To Protest Deer Shooting

WOODSTOCK (CP) — Dereham Township Conservation Club will hold a special meeting Wednesday night to protest the shooting of six deer by lands and forest department hunters on Jan. 19. City and county officials protested the shooting Monday night at their council meetings.

Oxford county council urged Dereham township residents to protest "highhanded and dangerous way in which the deer hunt was carried out . . . and that a letter of protest be sent to the department of games and fisheries."

TWO MAYORS PROTEST

Mayor Bernadette Smith of Woodstock also protested the "highhanded method of procedure" in the hunt and criticized department hunters for "trespassing on private property without permission."

Mayor Thomas Morrison of Ingersoll said he was also "aroused" by the incident.

County Agrees To 75% Grant For All Roads

County council have endorsed a resolution from Simcoe county asking the provincial government to pay 75 per cent of paving county and township roads.

This was one of eight resolutions that came from other counties.

They justified their stand in asking for another 25 per cent from the province on the grounds that it was unlikely the department will take over any more roads to develop within the next few years.

Other decisions—

Endorsed a resolution from Hastings county that surplus food should be distributed to the needy and starving people in other countries. The resolution will go to the two agriculture ministers, the dominion and provincial houses, and other county councils.

Took no action on a Waterloo county resolution advocating that operators of tractors on highways should have to hold a car operator's licence.

PAYMENT FOR JURORS

Concurred in a Simcoe county resolution requesting the Ontario government to reimburse the counties for the daily indemnity and mileage of jurors called for Supreme Court. At present the jurors get $6 a day and mileage of 15 cents a mile—one way and for one day only.

No action was taken on a Simcoe county resolution asking the minister of Transport to give special attention to maintaining the shipbuilding industry in Collingwood and Midland.

Comment on the United Livestock Sales for the work being done in selling Ontario hogs was withheld pending a study by the agriculture committee.

Consurred in a resolution from Grey county urging the provincial and federal departments of agriculture to develop a vigorous policy on marketing farm products; present surpluses are causing a drop in prices.

No action on a Grey county resolution requesting the federal government to provide a national health plan.

Girl Receives

a small hole in the bottom of the candy. There was also evidence of white powder.

The mother and daughter thought the candies were either poisoned or it was a trick, and turned the chocolates over to the police.

Following receiving the box of candy Miss Saunders said she received three letters which were not read in court, but were given the jury. The first letter she thought was received from someone wanting to play a "dirty prank" on her, but when the second and third came she showed one to her mother and the other to a friend. They advised her to turn them over to the police.

In June, Miss Saunders said she was home alone one evening with her stepfather, and they were "bickering" as was frequently the case when the two were together. She was dressed in shorts. A caller arrived and Miss Saunders put on a skirt and her father told her "I did not want to see your skinny legs anyhow.

With that he got up and on going outside told her "to go to hell." She started to pack up her belongings preparing to leave. Her mother returned. Upstairs in her bedroom she overheard her mother and father talking downstairs. She heard her mother say, "this would not have happened if you had not sent those letters". Her parents resumed their discussion in their bedroom and she heard her father crying and say "I had been around the house so much he had fallen in love with me".

Miss Saunders told of bringing boy friends to her home and these did not receive a very cordial welcome from her father. She told defense counsel Arthur Grier that her step-father never appeared to be in good health. He was moody and seemed to resent the affection shown her by her mother. She admitted that jealously might be the reason for sending the chocolates.

Roy Weeks, an Oshawa druggist produced the book in which druggists register sales of poison. In it there was an entry for a half pound of arsenic to "Stan Cowin." However Weeks identified Cowling, the man in the box, as the purchaser of the arsenic.

Flying Club Crashes Half Number In '52

OTTAWA (CP)—The number of fatalities in Canadian flying club crashes last year was less than half the number in 1952. At the same time, club members spent more time in the air than ever.

Figures contained in reports presented at Monday's opening of the 25th annual convention of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association showed that six persons died as a result of club aircraft accidents in 1953 compared with 15 the year before.

There were only 40 recorded accidents during that time, a reduction of 39 per cent compared with the previous year, but 38 of these were attributed to pilot error. The association annual report said: "It is very evident that we must continue an intensive accident prevention campaign."

Reds Send Letter To Dean Urging Talks

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Allied and Communist liaison secretaries today abandoned efforts to arrange a resumption of preliminary Korean peace talks pending the outcome of a high-level Red move to resume the stalled negotiations.

During a brief meeting today the Reds turned over a sealed letter to Arthur Dean, United States envoy, now in Washington, from top Communist delegates.

There was no official hint of the letter's contents, but the North Korean Pyongyang radio earlier said the Communists had sent a message to Dean proposing that negotiations to arrange a peace conference resume Monday.

Edwin Martin, Allied liaison secretary, said the Communist letter would not be divulged until it reached Dean.

Taking No Steps About Unemployment

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Monday the government is taking no special steps to meet the present unemployment situation.

He informed Stanley Knowles (CCF — Winnipeg North Centre) that employment agencies across the country are "increasing their endeavors" to place people in jobs but the government is taking no further steps.

Last week the labor department reported 338,066 persons were looking for work through National Employment Service offices at Dec. 10, topping the previous post-war high of 312,000 in the winter of 1950.

Press Price-Fixing Charges Against Electrical Industry

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided to press price-fixing charges against portions of Canada's $124,000,000 electrical wire and cable manufacturing industry. Ten companies were named in a combines report last November which charged them with making a "mockery" of competitive bidding.

Justice Minister Garson announced the move in the Commons Monday and said the exact parties to be prosecuted will be determined later when evidence is examined in preparation for trial.

J. D. Arnup, Toronto lawyer who advised Mr. Garson on the move, will be retained as the government's prosecutor. Mr. Arnup advised that prosecutions were warranted against some or all of the manufacturers involved. Trials likely will take place in Toronto.

The 18-month combines inquiry was initiated in 1952 when the government received complaints by local hydro groups that firms were making identical and non-competitive bids on tenders for electrical equipment.

ESTABLISHED 41 YEARS

Special combines commissioner H. Carl Goldenberg in naming the 10 companies—virtually the entire industry—said the combine had been established for some 41 years.

He charged that the companies, by agreeing and arranging to submit identical bids on tenders, "have vitiated and made a mockery of the system of competitive bidding which has long been established for the express purpose of protecting the public interest."

He said evidence showed that the companies tried to "conceal" their price-fixing arrangements and made an attempt to "disguise" the fact that net prices were identical.

Named in the report were:

Northern Electric Co. Ltd., Montreal and Lachute, Que.; Phillips Electrical Works Ltd., Brockville; Automatic Electric (Canada) Ltd. Toronto; Canada Wire and Cable Co. Ltd., Leaside; Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., Toronto.

Cables, Conduits and Fittings Ltd. St. Johns, Que.; Federal Wire and Cable Co. Ltd., Guelph; Triangle Conduit and Cable (Canada) Ltd. Toronto; Boston Insulated Wire and Cable Co. Ltd., Hamilton; Industrial Wire and Cable Ltd., Toronto.

County Seeks More Equal Sharing Of Education Costs

Two county council committees will meet in joint session to draw up a brief advocating a more equitable distribution of education costs.

The brief, which will be presented to any influential public body, will range broadly over the costs of education and assessment throughout Ontario. It will be compiled by the egalization and assessment committee and the education committee.

K. O. Birkin, public school inspector, and Stewart G. Sparling, county assessor, are members of the fact-finding group.

After a lengthy discussion two methods of better distributing the educational costs were suggested:

1. A levy, say $25 on each householder. The educational costs could be struck afterwards. This was advocated by Reeve Roland Tedford of Douro township.

2. A general tax—a few cents on each meal, for instance, as in Quebec. "That way the burden would not be thrown so much on the individual property owner," said Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore township.

Another thing that grated on the county councillors was the drop in department of education grants which are based on assessments. The higher the assessment the less the grants.

CUT 15 PER CENT

Reeve Sidney McCauley of Burleigh-Anstruther said his municipality had been cut 15 per cent in school grants. Reeve Peter Pearson of Galway-Cavendish has said several times that in their union school area (Haliburton and Peterborough county children both attending) the Peterborough ratepayers pay an unfair share of the educational costs because they have a county assessor boosting property values.

Mr. Gifford said they had been assured by provincial officials that the county would not be penalized financially by taking the forward step of appointing a county assessor. (A number of councillors charged that some counties were deliberately doing without a county assessor and keeping their assessment low so they could get the maximum grants from the Ontario government.)

"The government should force every county to have a county assessor," said Reeve Ernest J. Leeson of Havelock. "Then we'd have equalization between counties."

Mr. Sparling, Peterborough county's assessor, said that high educational costs are not necessarily caused by an increase in assessment. The overall costs of education are mounting. For one thing, the population is rising.

Mr. Sparling said he didn't agree with a $25 levy on households as suggested by Mr. Tedford. He argued that the beneficiaries of the province's educational system should pay.

"Putting an extra burden on the householder isn't the answer," he said. "I'd suggest an income-tax levy of, say, two or three per cent." The levy would be based on assessment, or on the population, according to their age group.

"Tax where there is an obvious indication of wealth," said Mr. Sparling.

No date has been set for the first meeting of the two committees.

Mr. Hannam, for years an advocate of an international clearing house for disposing of food surpluses, suggested "a good place to start would be with food programs."

"The wheat board and International Wheat Agreement operations constitute a double-barrelled stabilization program for wheat growers and for Canada; and it is writing one of the brightest chapters in world food and agriculture history."

Producers of other farm commodities would like "a similar measure of stability assured for their respective products."

Two Toronto Fires Result In $1,000,000 Damage

TORONTO (CP) — Two Toronto area fires within 25 miles of each other Monday took one life, injured two persons, and resulted in a total loss of more than $1,000,000.

The blazes, one at the National Rubber Company in northwest Toronto, the other in Aurora, about 20 miles north of here, were both burning several hours after the first alarms had been sounded.

The Toronto fire, of undetermined origin, started near a baling machine in the yard of the rubber company. Smoke from the 100,000 burning tubes and tires billowed two miles into the sky and was visible for 25 miles. Police from three divisions were called to handle lunch-time onlookers.

HALF-MILLION LOSS

Jules Gross, son of the owner of the building, said that $250,000 worth of machinery was destroyed along with the buildings and stock. Total estimate of damage, first given as $1,000,000, was later put at more than $500,000.

The company's 180 employees fled the plant.

Police chief Harry Jones of Aurora said the fire there started from the explosion of an oil furnace in the basement of a furniture store. He described as erroneous early reports that the blast was in propane gas tanks. →

Walter Ho, 40, cook in a restaurant that adjoined the furniture store, was killed when he was blown out of a rear window of his apartment over the restaurant.

The Aurora damage was first estimated at close to $1,000,000. Later estimates placed it at about $500,000.

Out of Fashion

ICKHAM, England (CP) — Lack of demand has led charity commissioners to discontinue distribution of red flannel petticoats to needy persons in this Kent village. The gifts were made under terms of a 400-year-old bequest.

MILLION DOLLAR TORONTO FIRE which started in a Toronto tire company warehouse shortly before noon on Monday and was still burning late on Monday night, is shown here at its height. Firemen huddled in knot as protection from fierce heat pour streams of water on the fiercely burning rubber. Smoke from the fire could be seen for 25 miles. 180 employees of the National Rubber Co. escaped.

Studying Plan To Separate Town Officers

COBOURG (ENS)—A move to separate the offices of tax collector and assessor in Cobourg was held up at Monday night's meeting of council when the matter was finally referred back to the finance committee.

In a surprise move under new business Mayor J. D. Burnett declared he was going to ask for a motion to be made which would separate the office of tax collector and assessor. He felt the move should be made in view of the growth of the town and also because of the equalized assessment proposed by county council. The mayor asked if any member of council cared to express an opinion on it.

A number of councillors were of the opinion that the move should not be made until "they had time to think it over."

Councillor Roy Dodge said that it was a matter for the finance committee to bring in a recommendation.

Chairman of the finance committee Mrs. Lilian Richards declared time was needed to consider the question. The lady councillor said: "I'm just the same as the rest of you; I don't want to hurt Mr. Hircock's feelings and I want more time to think it over."

Councillor Dodge ended the discussion by moving that the matter be referred to the finance committee to bring in a recommendation to the next council meeting.

TORONTO (CP)—Coffee importers predicted Monday night that the price of coffee here will increase about 34 cents a pound to $1.33 retail in the next few months.

Thieves Steal Brass Cannons

LONDON (Reuters) — Thieves Monday night stole two 19th-century brass cannons chained outside a house only 30 yards from Buckingham Palace.

The thieves filed through chains holding the 56-pounders to an iron railing outside the home of A. P. Smyth, a House of Lords clerk.

Smyth appealed for the return the cannons which, he said, are of little monetary worth but great sentimental value.

This Year's Discovery: Russians Are Real

Judging from the preliminary skirmishes, the Big Four conference which began at Berlin yesterday is not going to be a walk-over from Cold War to placid peace. In accepting the proposal to hold a conference, and even before the Russians have made soft noises on high notes of peaceful intentions. One wonders if their political growl is not preferable to their diplomatic grin. They have something to grin about. Everybody is in favour of peace, but what has imposed peace in the five years since the last conference of the four big powers has been the united strength of the West. At Berlin that strength may be divided. Dr. Adenauer, Chancellor of West Germany, is reported to have said a week ago at a closed meeting of his Parliamentary Party that the present moment is the most dangerous one for Germany and Europe since 1945.

* * *

The Examiner's diplomatic correspondent sent us a despatch by air yesterday in which he says that the German Chancellor is worried lest his policy of Western integration, hitherto so brilliantly successful, may be threatened with breakdown:

"Apparently he fears that the three Western Powers — Britain, France and the United States—are approaching the Berlin conference insufficiently prepared and insufficiently united. He is well aware that the strong opposition in France to ratification of the European Defence Community agreement will make the French anxious to look for any agreement in Berlin which would release them from their signature to the E.D.C. agreement; and he is afraid that the recent declarations of a new American strategic doctrine, with its changed emphasis from local defence in Europe to retaliatory power based at home, will strengthen the French tendencies to contract out of E.D.C. at almost any price".

The longer the Soviet Foreign Minister can prolong the conference, the longer ratification of E.D.C. will be postponed, and the more muddled the situation is likely to become.

* * *

The Berlin Conference will at least do this: help remove Russia from the dreadful limbo into which her own policies and the counteracting ones of the United States have cast the U.S.S.R. in the last five years. Soviet Russians will lose their air of ogrish unreality. The Russian delegation will be sitting around the same table as the French, British and American representatives.

* * *

Soviet Russia and the people of the country are already taking on flesh and blood in some of our readers' eyes, because of the despatches from Bill Boss, touring Russia for the Canadian Press, and the stories and photographs done by Gerald Clark, which are now appearing in our Weekend edition. Mr. Clark's photographs show that the Russians are, despite all the East-West controversy and propaganda, real people, living in houses, walking streets, taking buses, going to shows, listening to TV and feeding, laughing and worrying just like ordinary folk. And the children go to school, play in the streets and shout like children in Canada.

* * *

Russia has assumed monstrous proportions because the West has been painting her as a spectre behind an iron curtain; Berlin, and Bill Boss and Gerald Clark are parting the curtain so that we can see the human reality behind it. For their part, the Russians can see us, their government having made unfettered travel possible to Western visitors. We hear that hundreds of English people are planning this summer to take their holidays in the U.S.S.R. When international relations thus get down to the plane of real people they tend to lose much of their frightful fantasy.

Hume Wrong

When Dr. O. D. Skelton needed able young men for the reformed Department of External Affairs—which in 1925 was separated from the British Colonial Office—he called to the service L. B. Pearson, Hume Wrong and other young men of special ability. Mr. Pearson is now head of the Department; the Undersecretary occupying Dr. Skelton's old post at the time of his death on Sunday was Mr. Wrong.

Since 1927 Hume Wrong served the Department of External Affairs with devotion and distinctive skill. He was a major figure in forming the external policies of Canada during the quarter century in which this country's external relations developed from the dependence on Britain and the U.S. to their present world-wide, independent importance. The foremost place that Canada, a Middle Power, has taken in international councils and the admirable reputation Canadian diplomacy has earned, have to a remarkable degree been secured through the qualities of the senior officials in the Department of External Affairs—men like Hume Wrong.

Canadian diplomacy came of age during the 27 years that Hume Wrong was variously secretary of the Canadian Legation at Washington, delegate to the League of Nations, in the High Commissioner's Office in London, assistant Undersecretary for External Affairs, representative at significant international conferences during and after the War, Ambassador to Washington, and finally Undersecretary. Not counting Mr. Pearson his comrade and colleague who has now adopted the profession of politics, Mr. Wrong was the senior career diplomat of the first school that Canada produced. He died in office, prematurely as the years of life are now numbered, an untimely loss to Canadian policies and to the Canadian people whose interests abroad he served so well.

Hightums, Lowtums and Middletums

Because there appears to be an increased interest in food and the finer arts of eating it, in Canada since the war, we think that our vocabulary, as applied to eaters, needs some expansion, and we offer the words which comprise the heading of this piece for the consideration of our fellow citizens. Tastes in food differ fully as much as tastes in literature, pictures and music, and for much the same reasons. A man with no appreciation of any of the arts we have named is usually called a Lowbrow; there are people who boast of being Lowbrows. A man whose taste is to some extent cultivated, but who is fairly easily accommodated, is a Middlebrow. And the highly critical man, for whom the best is none too good, is a Highbrow.

Now then, why not admit that in matters of food and all things connected with it, there are Lowtums, Middletums and Hightums? The Lowtum is easily recognized; most of what he eats is fried; he has no appreciation of the science of nutrition; he does not like vegetables; he eats anything and has the digestion of a bear.

The Middletum is the man who likes pretty good food, but is not fussy; he is likely to smoke between courses and to sprinkle condiments liberally over everything; he likes sweet things to be very sweet, and he considers pie the noblest product of the human imagination. There is a sub-section among the Middletums of people who must be called Numbtums, for they do not care what they eat, and only stoke themselves to keep alive.

The Hightum, of course is the gourmet. Sometimes he is an affected ass, who makes a fuss in a roadside diner because the salad is not to his taste, and he can find fault with practically anything. But the real Hightum regards eating as an important part of the art of living, and he will not insult his stomach with food which is less well prepared than it might reasonably be.

Economic status has little to do with this ranking of the human race. We have known very rich men, who could eat of the best at all times (and we may say that the best eaters are not those who eat most) who are unrepentant Lowtums. There are people who wrangle endlessly about pictures and music who are laughable Middletums in matters of food, and who express their Highbrow opinions over leathery steaks and potatoes which have been fried to the point of senility. And there are people of restricted means who are Hightums, and whose food is always simple and always good; the Hightum is not a glutton.

We offer this proposal for the classification of eaters, and suggest that the Government, which failed so wretchedly to classify tourist lodges, might rank restaurants with a discreetly displayed L., M. or H.

Time Has Fled

Our "How Time Flies" column on this page has recently had many items in its 1944 recollection about local men killed or injured in the fighting in Italy. One thinks back to 1944 and the cause of these sad reports is plain. The battle over the Moro River, a very costly action, took place in mid-December of 1943; the week of Christmas and New Year's saw the desperate battle for Ortona, which was being defended by the German paratroop division. Both these actions were exclusively Canadian, and the casualties were high. The battle for Ortona, which reached its climax at Christmas, was perhaps the closest fighting of the entire war. Casualty reports from these two major engagements—one a sequel of the other as the Germans were pushed back up the Adriatic coast—began to reach Canada early in the New Year. The items in the 1944 section during the last ten days reflect these casualties, and recall those actions in Italy, now ten years ago.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Some people are careless about telling their ages. The other day we heard a doddering crone who was obviously every day of 25 lulling her infant to sleep by singing it The Hut-Sut Song.

The Marking Of Whales

By PROFESSOR C. M. YONGE, F.R.S.

THE Antarctic whaling season, which opened at the beginning of January, will this year have an incidental scientific purpose, for it has been preceded by a whale-marking enterprise, designed to extend our knowledge of the habits of the whales. Like many birds and fishes, whales are migratory, and just as birds are ringed and fishes tagged to follow movements and growth, so have whales to be marked.

✧ ✧ ✧

MARKING began as part of the "Discovery" investigations which were carried out by Britain between 1924 and 1938. During this period some 5,350 whales were marked by the R.R.S. William Scoreby. Tubes of stainless steel, suitably marked, were shot harmlessly into the whales. About 300 of these marks have been returned, and not many more can now be expected.

THE COST OF the "Discovery" investigations — the greatest British ventures in oceanography since the voyage of H.M.C.S. Challenger between 1872 and 1876 — was met out of royalties paid by companies which landed whales in South Georgia, a dependency of the Falkland Islands. This revenue ceased when factory ships replaced the whaling stations in South Georgia, while the R.R.S. Discovery II has passed into the control of the National Institute of Oceanography, which is largely concerned with the physical aspects of the subject. Hence it seemed that knowledge about whales might come to a standstill, for little further marking has been possible since the war.

Happily, the initiative of Dr. N. A. Mackintosh, Deputy Director of the National Institute, has been rewarded by the generosity of a group of British, Norwegian, Dutch and South African whaling companies. At their expense, a diesel-engined Norwegian whale-catcher was sent south well ahead of the opening of the 1954 season, and she has been at work marking whales under the supervision of Norwegian, British and Dutch zoologists.

THIS TIME of year is the Antarctic summer, during which the waters of the Antarctic Ocean teem with life. They may be olive green in colour owing to the dense population of microscopic plants. These flourish because of the continuous light, and because the surface waters are continually being enriched by nutrient salts from deeper water layers.

These incalculable polar harvests maintain also a host of small animals, as dependent as are the plants on the nature and movements of the sunlit surface waters. The greatest populations are of krill, shrimp-like animals whose fate it is to form the food of whales. The great rorquals swim through the swarms of krill, water pouring through their vast mouths where food is strained out through the frayed margins of the plates of whalebone that hang down from the roof. The opened stomach of a blue or fin whale may disgorge up to two tons of krill.

THE VERY existence of these enormous animals depends on the prodigious productivity of polar seas. The blue whale, the largest animal ever evolved, may be 120 ft. long and may exceed 150 tons in weight. Once it was thought that these creatures grew with majestic slowness to attain some great eventual age. But the "Discovery" expedition found that, after a gestation period of eleven months, blue whales are born when over 20 ft. long and are sexually mature some two years later, when already over three times this length. Growth may be completed with eight years; the span of life may not exceed twenty years.

WHALES are as active as they are immense. They need enormous amounts of food for energy as well as for growth. Only polar seas can meet such demands. Maintenance, growth, nourishment of the young and fuel for the great muscles that drive the animals through thousands of miles of ocean — all is supplied by the krill.

Whales feed in gargantuan fashion during the Antarctic summer. Much food goes to thicken the great layers of blubber between the skin and muscles, which retain heat within the body as effectively as the fur of land animals or the feathers of birds. Because of this blubber, whales are hunted by great factory ships, each with its attendant catchers, speedy little vessels armed with harpoon guns and every modern device for some detection and swift destruction of the great prey. Strangely grouped with coconuts and oil palms, whales are a major source of fats and the basis of an industry with an annual value exceeding £30 million.

✧ ✧ ✧

ARCTIC whales were hunted almost to extinction during the last century. Although initially more numerous in Antarctic seas, whaling has been of such intensity and scientific precision that already after the First World War it was clear that southern whales faced a similar fate. Regulation of whaling was impossible without knowledge of the habits, including breeding and growth rate of the whales. As a result of the "Discovery" investigation we know far more now than we did thirty years ago about life in the Southern Ocean, and we have learnt a lot, though far from every thing, about whales. An International Whaling Commission now regulates whaling, largely on the basis of knowledge obtained by the "Discovery."

✧ ✧ ✧

WE KNOW that whales feed in the Antarctic but winter as far north as the tropics, where they breed. Whales seem to revisit the same Antarctic feeding-grounds, so that destruction of whales in one area may not be made good from elsewhere. We need to know what proportion of the stock of whales is killed each year, and what relation this bears to the rate of natural replacement. We must also find out more exactly where whales migrate to in the winter, and whether the same stocks are hunted then as well as in the summer. Whales must be marked for their own salvation, to give knowledge on which alone a policy of conservation can be based.

YOU GO FIRST

He was obviously a novice at boxing, and as he entered the ring and saw his hefty opponent he felt far from happy.

As he went to his corner he saw a man with a towel thrown over his shoulder. "Who are you?" he asked.

"I'm your second," was the reply.

A look of relief flashed over the novice's face. "No," he said firmly, "you go first—I'll go second!"

THE EMINENT VICTORIAN DETECTIVE

Sherlock Holmes, Now Aged 100

By IVOR BROWN

(The Eminent Georgian Literary Critic)

IT HAS been agreed by the devotees of Sherlock Holmes that the great detective is now a hundred years old. Since he was stated by Conan Doyle to be sixty in 1914, the arithmetic is on their side. The more fanciful may choose to imagine that, since his powers were superhuman, his life would reach beyond the normal span. In that case he is still keeping bees in Sussex.

The fascinating feature about Holmes is that he has been accorded the worship as a remarkable character which is usually given to the remarkable author. During the present week the toast of Robert Burns was spoken to and honoured, not only in Scotland but all over the world. Burns, whether you like his poetry or not, has achieved a kind of annual salute which is unique. Shakespeare's birthday has some celebration in Stratford and in Southwark on each April 23, but there is none of the world-wide dining and toasting that occurs on Burns's birthday, January 25, wherever Scots, or descendants of Scots, get together in any of the continents.

But Burns and Shakespeare were actual men. They, not their characters, are the recipients of tribute. Holmes, however, is the toast of this year, not Conan Doyle. I hope that at any Holmes' dinners, one of which I am happily expecting to attend, the author's immortal memory will be honoured as well as that of his creation. Whether it be among the Baker Street Irregulars of the U.S.A. or in the London festivities of this year, due praise should go to the Irishman from Edinburgh who projected him.

IS any other literary character so constantly alive, so incessantly discussed? The Dickensians have Dickens nights and Dickens dinners, but they do not have Pickwick nights or Sam Weller dinners. The only parallel I can think of is Mrs. Dale of radio serial fame. This fictional doctor's wife has become so much alive that people send messages and presents to her at the B.B.C. She is apparently more real to them than the inhabitants of their own street. But the Dale devotees are, one guesses, extremely simple people, if they go so far as to send her a Christmas gift or expect her magically to answer inquiries about her family's progress.

The Holmes fanciers, on the other hand, include all classes and heights of brow. University dons know every detail of every story and delight to argue over the inconsistencies. Hot debate is maintained as to which Cambridge college he attended. A book has been written on his taste in music. There is hardly an aspect of his life that has not been made the subject of learned surmise.

It is scarcely surprising that his author got extremely tired of his own creation, killed him off, and had to be coaxed and bullied into rescuing him from the seemingly fatal Falls and cataract. Conan Doyle was a man of immensely wide interests, not only a doctor but a muscular Christian, a fervent patriot, campaigner for victims of miscarriage of justice, a candidate for Parliament, a powerful cricketer who had once bowled out W. G. Grace, a heavyweight boxer in the first class of amateurs, and brilliant at billiards. He ended as a passionate believer in Spiritualism.

Yet all his other activities and all his other writings, which he valued much above the Holmes stories, are overshadowed by the gaunt figure with the deerstalker and the Inverness cape. For the Festival of Britain in 1951 the rooms in Baker street were reconstructed in detail and visited as a species of shrine. We preserve what we have of Shakespeare's Stratford, but nobody thinks of re-establishing in the City of London Falstaff's favorite tavern with all the pots and pans and casks of sack.

WHY has this happened? Why has Holmes stepped right out of the printed page to be immortal, a shadow that seems more substantial than substance itself? The problem is the stranger when one re-reads the stories, some of whose plots and solutions are not nearly as intricate and ingenious as are those of the myriad detective-story writers working today. The explanation may be that Holmes enchants us for ever by his complete unreality. He was a fantastic and also so formal; he was so light of foot and so heavy of tongue. His conversations with his visitors are majestic in their pomp. Can you imagine him saying to a client who is explaining his trouble, 'Yes, yes, carry on.' Of course not. It is, 'Pray, Sir (or madam), kindly proceed.' He combines the pounce of a 'super-cop' with the elocution of an Eminent Victorian; he comports himself, as he would have said, like a perfect gentleman and then carries on with his drugging, dreaming and fiddle-playing like a crazy Bohemian.

So he abides and will abide, in life a nuisance, albeit a profitable nuisance to his creator, in death a joy to the incessant army of new readers as well as to the old and faithful. The contrast with the phlegmatic Dr. Watson adds to his everlasting allure. We even put words into Holmes's mouth. For it has been discovered by one of the scholars who pore over every word of his text that he never did say, 'Elementary, my dear Watson,' when he made some deduction to the amazement of his colleague.

To those who say that fiction deals in falsehood so that reading it is a waste of time for those eager to get to grips with realities, Holmes is one of the abiding answers. For myriads his gaunt, tense face looking out of a hansom cab seems more real than any living person voyaging down Baker street in a taxi-cab today. I do not doubt that our descendants will be toasting him still a hundred years hence.

William Somerset Maugham

Aet. Suae: LXXX

By The Hon. Harold Nicolson

"I THINK," he wrote in "The Summing Up," "I lack the quality of being surprised." We may presume therefore that, when he awoke yesterday and realized that he was eighty years old, he took the feat for granted and smiled a slim dismissive smile. Yet if, on Monday morning, he allowed himself a few moments of self-esteem, he should have admitted that, taken all in all, the whole business was a considerable achievement.

The successive mortal illnesses from which, when a medical student, he seemed to be suffering have all been surmounted or dispersed. The diffidence — the conviction that every one of his contemporaries was more glib, and therefore more gifted, than himself — the actual shyness that impelled him in self-protection to envisage human beings clinically, assessing them with dispassionate insight, as if they were patients shrouded in uniform grey blankets in a ward at St. Thomas's — even his dread of those emotions that cause the acutest pain — all these disturbances or restraints have been eliminated. The winds that used, sixty years ago, to howl so cruelly, are now stilled.

Fame encompasses him; the adulations of the old world and the new rise in clouds of incense; he is encased in success. And, in that he has always remained himself, he will laugh drily at these paeans, feeling that, although true in fact, they are not very relevant. Yes, certainly he has written many excellent books and stories, and his plays have always been well planned. But what has all that to do with the essential self?

Not that Somerset Maugham is cynical about himself or others; it is rather that he knows that this earth is "a speck of mud whirling round a second-rate star which is gradually cooling." Yet on his eightieth birthday, let him allow himself an interlude of unbridled self-praise. It is no trifling thing to have provided many million human beings with pleasure, enlightenment and fresh ideas. It is not meaningless to have communicated to two generations of men the idiosyncrasy of one's own vision and experience. Nor should a man check the throb of pride that he deserves, when for sixty years he has preserved his youthful standards of "lucidity, simplicity, euphony."

Mr. Somerset Maugham has been accustomed to dilute his emotions. Let us hope that the pleasure he derives from his birthday celebrations will remain unrecorded and therefore intense.

Level Crossing Problem

(WINNIPEG TRIBUNE)

AS highway traffic continues to increase Canada's level-crossing problem becomes more and more acute. The unfortunate aspect is that as matters now stand comparatively little can be done to alleviate it.

Most of the provinces and large urban centres are financially unable to make appropriations large enough even to provide protection at such crossings and the sole additional source of aid for this work is the dominion grade crossing fund which is altogether inadequate to permit any large-scale elimination program being undertaken.

It is evident there will have to be a broader and more effective approach to the problem. Grade crossings are not only responsible for many automobile fatalities, but are also the cause of long and costly traffic delays, especially in urban centres.

A brief submitted to the Transport Board by the Canadian Good Roads Association makes some recommendations on grade crossing protection that are well worth study. It agrees that any large-scale program of elimination of level crossings would be far too costly to consider at this time, but suggests that amendments be made to existing legislation so as to permit the federal government to share the cost, not only of original construction but also of maintenance of protection facilities at such crossings.

Another suggestion that will have wide appeal is the entire problem be approached on the basis of demonstrated need; that a system of priorities for each crossing be established, based on specified criteria related to safety, convenience and necessity, such as traffic volume, accident records, physical obstructions, visibility, etc.

The proposal has much merit. It would to a great extent eliminate pressure from regional interests. Each project would be treated according to need and not according to the influence of a narrow range of public interests. This is a good preliminary to a more ambitious program of providing protection at grade crossings.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. Urge Bridge Over Canal Be Replaced

The suburban area roads commission have the support of county council in trying to get the old canal bridge on the Warsaw road replaced.

Jeremiah Mahoney of the suburban area roads commission described the present swing bridge as a "bottleneck" on one of the main traffic arteries leading into Peterborough. It is inadequate for present motor traffic, he said.

"I'm beginning to think we'll never get any action unless somebody is killed. There have been lots of accidents, but so far nobody has had a fatal accident there."

Jack Kean said that the limit is about eight tons on the bridge. He estimated that there are as many as 2,000 cars a day passing over it during periods of heavy traffic. The bridge, Mr. Kean noted, is about 14 feet wide; many motorists are afraid to pass on such a narrow road surface, so traffic is delayed.

The department of transport are being asked to rebuild it this year. And county council are asking the co-operation of city council in getting it done. Copies of the resolution will be sent to the department, the Trent canal office in Peterborough, and to Gordon K. Fraser.

Says Gambling Serious Threat

TORONTO (CP)—The Rev. W. G. Berry of the United Church of Canada today wrote members of Parliament that gambling is a "serious threat" to moral, legal and ethical standards and to the economic life of Canada and should be opposed.

Mr. Berry is associate secretary of the board of evangelism and social service of the United Church. His letter was addressed to all members of the Commons and the Senate.

In a supporting letter to parliamentarians, Dr. James R. Mutchmor, secretary of the board of evangelism and social services, urged them to "work for the defeat" of gambling which he said is a "threat to our country's welfare."

Justice Minister Garson has announced that a committee will be set up to study possible revision of the section of the Criminal Code dealing with gambling and lotteries.

Caught In Wringer Child's Arm Bruised

COLDSPRINGS (ENS).—Carol Willis, aged two years and seven months caught her hand in the wringer of the washing machine Monday. The rollers dragged her arm in right up to her armpit. Taken to Cobourg hospital, an X-ray showed that no bones were broken, but the arm was badly bruised.

Carol's mother was at the clothesline at the time, and hearing her scream she rushed in to find her hanging from the machine by her left arm.

Carol is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Willis.

Rhee Criticizes Clark For War Direction

SEOUL (Reuters) — President Syngman Rhee today criticized the former Allied supreme commander, Gen. Mark Clark, for allegedly running the Korean war campaign from his Tokyo headquarters.

At the same time, Rhee expressed his regret that "a few atom bombs" were not dropped on the Chinese Reds to insure Korean unity.

The South Korean president made the remarks in a statement on Clark's current article in an American magazine which contains criticism of Rhee's actions during the war.

Rhee said there had been opportune moments for unleashing a northward victory drive but "perhaps Gen. Clark did not know it as he was stationed in Japan instead of having his headquarters in Korea."

York Township Seeks Added Representation

TORONTO (CP) — Council of suburban York township Monday approved a resolution to ask the Ontario municipal board for permission to have the township incorporated as a city.

Deputy-Reeve C. P. Cashman, who proposed the resolution, said chief object in the change would be to get added representation on the metropolitan council.

The township has a population of 100,000 persons, about one-seventh that of Toronto. Council representatives said they felt the township should have proportionately the same representation on metropolitan council as the city. Twelve members represent Toronto and the township is represented by the reeve only.

E. Ruth Heads Shorthorn Assoc.

Edmund Ruth of Emily township was re-elected president of the Peterborough district Dual Purpose Shorthorn Breeders Association Monday at the office of the Department of Agriculture.

Vice-president is Dorion Cassidy of Erinville and secretary: Francis Way of Tamworth.

One of their decisions was to go ahead with plans for a sale of their cattle on a date to be fixed later. Members were some what disappointed, they said, at their first sale at night during the Peterborough Exhibition. However, they considered that dispersal a beginning which had one result of distributing quite a number of their Shorthorns in east-central Ontario.

It is unlikely that this year's sale will be held at Exhibition time.

Mr. Ruth complimented the members on showing 89 head at Peterborough last September, as compared with 65 Dual Purpose Shorthorns at the CNE. Only at the Galt fair were there a few more than the Peterborough Exhibition total head of the meat and milk Shorthorns.

Arrangements for a dinner were left with the president and executive, but there was nothing definite about place and date.

Nationalists Give PoWs Welcome

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters) — Maj.-Gen. William Chase, chief of the American military mission to Formosa, told released Chinese prisoners today that he hopes they "all soon will fight back to the mainland."

Thousands of Chinese Nationalists stood in the rain for the second successive day to welcome to this island the second batch of 4,497 former prisoners of the Korean war, who arrived from Korea aboard five United States landing craft.

Two thousand of the new arrivals were taken on a triumphant motor tour from Keelung port to Taipeh. The rest were sent directly to their new barracks at "Patriotic Village."

In a press statement, Premier Chen Cheng said his government will do its best to find jobs for the ex-prisoners. While it is not Nationalist policy to draft them, he said, the army would welcome any volunteers.

PURCHASES OF LIFE INSURANCE FROM THE LONDON LIFE REACHED AN ALL-TIME RECORD FOR CANADA

Total exceeded $371 million —over one million dollars for every day of the year

Canadians bought more life insurance in 1953 than ever before—and a new record was reached in the $371 million purchased from the London Life Insurance Company. This was $32 million more than 1952, which constituted the previous high mark.

Life insurance in force increased by over $298 million and now exceeds two and three-quarter billion dollars. Well over a million Canadians are insured with the London Life.

Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries increased to almost $27 million for the year, with payments to living policyholders more than twice the amount paid in death claims.

In the Sickness and Accident Branch, benefit payments reached a new high total of over $5½ million. Over 125,000 separate payments were made during the year.

HIGHLIGHTS of the ANNUAL REPORT

Life insurance issued	$371,000,000
—an increase over 1952 of	32,000,000
Life insurance in force	$2,781,000,000

—an increase of	1,200,000

New mortgage loans totalling $48 million were made in 1953, principally for the provision of new dwellings for people in all parts of Canada. There are now in effect more than 31,000 individual mortgage loans. Total assets are more than $447 million and exceed liabilities by $16 million, this surplus fund providing additional protection to policyholders.

The safeguarding of family living standards and the provision of money for the future are of paramount importance to Canadians. To maintain high levels of efficiency in serving clients, training schools for salesmen and office employees were carried on throughout the year. The emphasis is constantly on protection plans providing maximum insurance coverage and low net cost to policyholders.

The London Life enters its 80th year well prepared to carry on its traditions of service, to present and new clients, through its 1,300 field representatives and its 75 branch offices across Canada.

For a more detailed account of the Company's business in 1953, write the London Life head office, or call one of our branch offices for a copy of the Annual Report booklet.

Junior Petes Keep On Top With A 6-5 Victory Against Collingwood Club

Cashing in on an early lead here last night, the Junior Petes yanked out a 6-5 OHA junior "B" decision over Collingwood Shipbuilders to keep well in front of the race. They led 2-0 in the first period, each side scored thrice in the middle heat, and Collingwood had a 2-1 sniping bulge in the red-hot third chukker. Play was speedy and generally clean, with tempers getting a bit short in the late stages. The winners drew six of the eight penalties in a well-handled tussle.

Coach Red Creighton of the home team was minus Bill Twist, out with a bad back, and Bud McDougall and Bod Gardner, who were working. He drafted two midget puckists to fill in, Terry Doris and Paul Murphy, both lads going well.

BUT NO CROWD

This was another exciting junior puck joust before a slim crowd of some 200 fans. The loop leaders had to hustle to earn the duke, though they had more close-in chances than Collingwood. Goalie Hudson being tough to beat. Goalie Bob Delahaye had lots of work in the last half, and acquitted himself in fine fashion.

Paul Doris came up with the hat-trick to tally three times for the youthful Petes, and Gary Kearns was another star on the attack to aid on three markers. Jim Morrow clicked for a goal and an assist, as Gord Coyle and Jerry Frizzelle each blinked the light once, and Blake Uren helped on one.

Carew counted a pair for Eddie Bush's boys, singles being marked to Taylor, Robinson and Grier. The latter, Taylor and Kirk earned an assist apiece. Several of the Collingwood players were late arriving, but the northerners made it a tight tilt before the final gong.

HAD AN EDGE

It was fast and clean in the first with Junior Petes parking frequently on Hudson's doorstep, but there was no "Welcome" mat out. Frizzelle fired a hard angle shot at 7:54 to score on Uren's pass, the shot apparently being screened as the goalie moved too late. Petes had an edge in this frame all through, though at times Collingwood made Delahaye hop to hold out hot rubber, also. A couple of minutes before the period closed, Paul Doris, on nifty combination with Keans, blasted a hot side-shot into the twine from close quarters for a 2-0 lead. Ferguson went off for kneeing at the bell.

He was still off early in the middle heat when Morrow tallied with a flip shot in close after a corner faceoff. Ferguson returned and Carew's screened shot on a pass from Kirk put the Builders on the score-sheet. Paul Doris climbed the wall for interference and Kearns apparently scored, but no light shone and it was ruled no goal, the puck possibly caroming from goal post to post without crossing the line. Coyle got the next marker from Morrow on neat combination, the shot being partially stopped. Paul Doris added it up from Kearns out of a corner with the goalie down in the scramble. Grier got that one back with a slap at Taylor's pass-out at point-blank range. Then Robinson intercepted at centre and broke away with no one but the goalie to beat. He finished the play off smartly for a marker.

ROUGHER HEAT

Play roughened up some in the third, Terry Doris and McMillian being waved over first for high-sticking. Both goalies were good. The culprits returned to the ice and Morrow and Parrish got the finger for roughing. Carew's hot shot from the blue-line was screened by would-be defenders and Delahaye didn't have a chance on it, making the count 5-4 for Petes. Paul Doris and Gary Kearns settled that quickly with a nifty goal, a passout and slap; the ref calling it a Doris cuff. Uren was gated for high-sticking and Taylor tallied from Grier in close. They pulled their goalie in the last minute but time ran out on the C's. Ball drew a penalty with seconds to go for tripping.

Collingwood: goal, Hudson; defence, McMillian and Grier; centre, Blanchard; wings, Taylor and Robinson; alts., Kirk, Hanna, Rawn, Fisher, Sholtz, Cain, Parrish and Carew.

In today's semi-final, Mrs. Woolley will meet Mrs. T. Doughty of Peterborough, who advanced with a 10-6 win over Mrs. M. McIntosh of Woodstock. In the other bracket Mrs. Code will meet Mrs. K. McLaren of Hamilton Thistle who defeated Mrs. Ann Fair of Owen Sound 8-5.

In the Northey Trophy event, Mrs. N. Kay of Lindsay defeated Mrs. V. Selkirk of Peterborough 7-6 and Mrs. C. B. Schmidt of Kitchener disposed of Mrs. Harriet Smith of Bracebridge 10-3.

Two other rinks, Mrs. B. W. Fox of Guelph and Mrs. C. Gooch of Hamilton Victorias play their first Northey Trophy game today.

Flaman, Sloan Unable To Play

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs will be without the services of defenceman Fernie Flaman and star centre Tod Sloan when they meet Montreal Canadiens in a National Hockey League game here Wednesday night.

Sloan, who suffered a knee injury in Sunday night's game at Detroit, will be sidelined for the next 10 days and thus miss out on four games.

Flaman left the game midway through the second period after being slashed across the foot by Tony Leswick of Detroit. No bones were broken but the ankle is badly swollen.

He is expected to be back in action when Boston Bruins play here Saturday.

Still nearly $3,000 in the red, the local grid Orfuns (twice provincial intermediate "A" champs the past two years) may not be able to carry on this year. Officials plan to raffle a TV set and, if they can cut their deficit considerably by May 1, they'll be back in action comes autumn. If not, they'll have to fold for a year till they can wipe out their debt and get some do-re-mi ahead. In which case they'd apply for a senior ORFU franchise, since the intermediate setup is a losing proposition financially each year. But if things go well they may take one more crack at intermediate "A" play and then seek a senior berth in 1955. It boils down to this: Orfuns must raise a sizeable sum within three months or they'll have to fold for a year.

Had an interesting talk with Mel Allen when he was here Saturday aft at a bit of a press-radio conference. Asked how he could rattle off so many grid names and positions at, for instance, the Rose Bowl grid classic on a coast-to-coast hookup, Mel said it was a case of hefty preparations and rehearsals ere the game. He sends his brother out several days beforehand to the scene and he lines things up. Mel gets there a day or two ahead and checks carefully with the opposing coaches to get all players' names, numbers and positions down pat — and their style of play as much as he can learn. He memorizes all these on charts, and then has two capable spotters with him to aid on the broadcast. Here Saturday, he could still dash off names, numbers and positions on both Rose Bowl clubs a mile a minute. Quite a memory.

Not Luck With Yankees

"Isn't there a lot of luck involved in the Yankees' world series wins year after year?" Allen was asked at a questionnaire session up at St. Peter's auditorium earlier Saturday. This top USA sportscaster — who covers all Yankee games at home and away — said no, it wasn't luck. Rather it was pride in belonging to a ball club which had a great history. There is a wonderful team spirit in the Yanks' club, he pointed out, and often established stars who didn't fit were traded. The club had a fine farm system and lots of money, so they came up with star players year after year, and even the rookie stars played above their heads when they pulled on a shirt with the words "New York Yankees" on the front. They immediately felt and acted like champions, remembering Ruth, Gehrig, DiMaggio and all those other stars.

* * * * * *

A husky frame and a salty sense of humor, plus a great interest in sports, keeps Mel Allen going. He travels some 75,000 miles a year, mostly by plane, around the States, and handles top assignments in the field of athletics. Also a regular TV show, radio commitments, lectures on the side, movietone shows, and so forth. Lives on a big estate outside of New York, but doesn't have too much time at home. He has a wealth of stories on major league ball, Joe Louis, Jack Dempsey, pro football, basketball, etc. And he's willing to tell them in a few million well-chosen words at any time at all! He was late getting to Peterborough Saturday as he ran into the Detroit Wings in Toronto and had to chat with them for an hour. Quite a guy.

Juniors Rule The Roost

Playing minus three regulars (two working and one injured), the Junior Petes pulled out a 6-5 OHA win here o'er Collingwood boys last p.m. in a dandy puck duel. It lengthened the locals' lead in first place but until word sifts down from Port Perry on how the Ports and Lindsay made out, we can't say just what margin the Creighton crew has at the moment. Should be by three games, anyway. Paul Doris and Gary Kearns were the main triggermen for Peterborough last night, with Jim Morrow also prominent on the attack. Defence checked well, and Bob Delahaye was tough to beat in goal. The game northerners made it a real right to come mighty close in the late stages of a fast, clean fray. Junior Petes go to Port Perry on Saturday and have but two more home games ere group playoffs begin in a couple of more weeks.

* * * * * *

The senior Petes travel tonight to Orillia, tackle the Pontiacs here on Friday, and then head for Bowmanville to play the leading Oshawa Truckmen on Saturday evening. Meantime, Oshawa is at Kingston tomorrow, the K's play in Belle Villa on Friday, and Memos are at Orillia to wind up the week. Petes have just five more home games before group semi-finals commence the end of February. Coach Eddie Redmond, nursing a sore foot, says he'll be in action Friday and he expects Denny Peterson's knee will be okay by then, too. However, Doc Prentice will be sidelined for about a week with a bad leg. The closely-knit group standing is in tonight.

Local OPP Gets Puck Win Over Belleville

MARMORA (ENS) — The Dr. Hamilton Crawford Arena was home ice for the hockey team of the OPP Detachment of Belleville on Monday evening when they failed to stem several rushes of the team representing Peterborough's detachment and met with a 15-4 reverse. The victors only iced 10 men while their opponents mustered 16. In charge of the game was a referee of naval experience R. Rimmer, at present residing in Belleville, and his investigation of the scores and assists of the investigators was most efficiently discharged.

Peterborough's greatest threat came from the Lacombe, Palmateer and Gregg trio. As the score sheet indicates, top scorer was Lacombe with seven goals and second best was Palmateer. It would appear for a while as though penalties were not permissible but possibly to disclaim this, a Belleville player did get a minor one halfway through the third. Despite the fact there was no admission charge, barely 100 were onlookers. Heppler of Belleville required medical attention for an injury in the first period and two team mates got minor injuries, but otherwise the encounter was accepted as a merry frolic even if it was described occasionally as shinny.

Belleville: goal, McKenzie; defence, Schreider, Hoskins; centre, McBride; wings, Runip, Emerson; alts, Wannamaker, McLeod, Fullerton, Heppler, Browning, Smith, Taylor, Dainard.

Don Woods Wins

In the fourth fray of their bush hockey league season, Don Woods defeated Ennismore 7-3. Mac Hickey scored first from Clair Hickey for Ennismore and Ray Allen counted for the other side from John Allen. The latter rapped in two more on assists from Ray Allen.

In the second period, the victors got two more, Ken Doughty from Harold Warner, and Joe Moloney from Bob Heffernan. Later, Bill Crough scored for Ennismore, aided by Frank McCormick.

Doughty scored for the Woods' crew in the third, while Clair Hickey got the final one for Ennismore, Eddie Hickey assisting. Frank Kelly wound it up on a play with Johnny Allen. Ennismore drew three penalties in the lively puck tussle.

Mark St. Victors

Mark St. midgets defeated Keene 8-2 in an exhibition hockey game staged on Keene ice. English, Jerry Harding, Moffit and Grills scored in the first period, with Jim Harding and White having an assist each. In the next heat, White got two goals, and Jerry Harding and English one each, with Jerry Harding and Grills each earning an assist. Keene fought back for two in the third, L. STARTED YOUNG

Sir Edwin Landseer, great English painter, was sketching cows and horses from life at the age of six.

THE END—Danny Nardico is dropped—flat on his face—for the second time in the ninth round and the sixth trip in all before Referee Jimmy Peerless stopped his bloody battle with Charley Norkus in Miami Beach. The Bayonne, N.J., unrated underdog was down twice. At 197, he was conceded 15½ pounds.

Lakefield Earns Another Over Lindsay Club By 5-3

LAKEFIELD—(ENS)—The local Lumbermen downed Lindsay Muskies 5-3 before a fair-sized crowd here last night in an OHA intermediate "A" lakeshore fixture, their second straight win over Lindsay in Lakefield within a week. The winners missed two stars, Dean Wasson out with a fractured jaw, and Rocky Wilson, who has an injured nose. Richlark played 60 minutes on defence and turned in a great effort. Play was fast and clean generally, with Lakefield getting an early lead when Cam Wasson scored on a three-way thrust with Birch and Hunter. Hicks evened it later in a scramble, giving Harding no chance on the shot. McCracken later, knocked off-balance, managed to pass to Floyd and the latter made no mistake. Harding shone when his side was shorthanded.

Cam Wasson counted from Birch early in the second as they dominated play, Caravaggio adding one from Hopkins when they kept on the pressure. Later when Lakefield was short a player in the sin bin, Hicks tallied from Crawford. Floyd was checking well at this time, but again taking advantage of a Lakefield penalty scored on his second marker of the game to clinch matters. The ice became softer in the third period of the lively contest, but it wasn't an unduly rough game.

Teams:

Lindsay: goal, O'Connell; defence, Burns and Green; centre, Hicks; wings, Parker and Crawford; alts, Sinclair, Weddup, Kelly, Davis, Hennessy and O'Donoghue.

Lakefield: goal, Harding; defence, Richlark and Hopkins; centre, McCracken; wings, Floyd and N. Wasson; alts.: Birch, Reid, Hunter, C. Wasson and Caravaggio.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Back in the roaring 20's, when the National Hockey League's tentacles were reaching out into American cities, the late Frank Calder asked this agent to get out a weekly publicity sheet, containing hockey news, propaganda, player-facts and such—material that might provide fodder for the sports pages at those new hockey points and so bring the gospel of the game closer home to a public not so well informed on the game.

At that time, in a burst of enthusiasm, we termed hockey "The World's Fastest Game", and that was a banner-line used in the publicity sheets for years. No one disputed the claim. It was taken for granted that hockey was the speediest of all games, because of a belief that skaters travel faster than men afoot.

After all these years, we are told we erred. Toronto's Sport College headed by Reg. Percival leaves few stones unturned in the matter of athletic research, and in a letter to this column, Percival declares against the theory that hockey is faster than, say, lacrosse. He writes: "I have read comments and seen estimates that state a hockey player travels from 40 miles per hour up to 110 miles per hour.

"This is not true." We have rested and timed many hockey players, including the fastest in the N.H.L., and find that approximately 23 miles an hour is a maximum rate of speed reached. The speed reached by the average player is considerably lower than this. This rate of speed compares equally with the speed that can be reached in ordinary running.

"A further interesting note is that world's speed skating record is 9.4 for 100 yards and the sprint record for running is 9.3. Some people believe that hockey players start more quickly than do runners, but this has also been proved a fallacy. A runner afoot (such as a lacrosse player) can also stop and start again much more quickly and can make much sharper turns and changes of direction.

"If you take measurement standards of speed and distance covered during a game as the criterion, it is impossible to claim that hockey is a faster game than lacrosse."

All of which we find very interesting, and if the Sports College findings are correct, then lacrosse is entirely welcome to take over our original line "The World's Fastest Game".

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

Right-Wingers At Top In Scoring Statistics Of NHL Reveal

MONTREAL—(CP)—It's becoming almost axiomatic: If you want to be a top goal-scorer in the National Hockey League, be a right-winger With the season about two-thirds gone, there are four players in the 20-goals-or-better bracket. Every one of them is a right-winger. Montreal Canadiens' colorful pair of Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion are showing the way. Richard, within shooting distance of the 50-goal record he set in the 1944-45 season, is in front with 28. Geoffrion has found the net 24 times.

Behind them, with 21 goals each, are Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings, and Wally Hergesheimer of New York Rangers.

On total points for goals and assists, the league's official statistics released today show Howe in front with 50. But Gordie scored only one goal last week while the Rocket drilled in three and picked up an assist and, with a 48 total, threatens to overhaul the Detroit star.

Geoffrion, with 44 points, has moved into third place, displacing Detroit's Ted Lindsay, a left-winger, who went pointless last week and has 15 goals and 26 assists for a 41 total.

RICHARD GAINING

At this time last year the Rocket had only 19 goals, compared with his present 28. Howe had soared to 31, 10 more than he now has.

Veteran centre Ken Mosdell of Montreal has come up with a sensational production of goals. A year ago he had potted three; now he has 19.

Outside of Geoffrion and Richard the pickings were poor last week for the remainder of the first 10 in the race for individual point-getting honors. The most any of the others could collect was two points, both assists, by Tod Sloan of Toronto Maple Leafs. His total now is 34, only two points behind Mosdell and Boston's Ed Sandford, who are tied for fifth place.

HOLD SECOND PLACE

Canadiens are still trying to hang on to second place in the league standing. They missed a chance last week to gain on Detroit Red Wings, now leading by five points, and to increase their one-point margin over Toronto.

Canadiens lost a close game to the Red Wings, defeated the lowly Chicago Black Hawks but, then, the following night, took an 8-3 shellacking at the hands of the same Hawks. The Red Wings won two of three starts and the Leafs split in two outings. Canadiens meet the Leafs in Toronto Wednesday night.

New York Rangers defeated Boston Bruins twice but lost on the third attempt. The Bruins had an extra game, defeating Chicago, and now hold a slim two-point lead over the New Yorkers.

The Hawks remain in the cellar, having won only nine games.

Harry Lumley of the Leafs leads the goalies, with a goals-against average of 1.68 a game. Terry Sawchuk of Detroit has 1.76.

Sullivan Drops To Third Place

NEW YORK (CP) — Cleveland Barons' Jackie Gordon and Eddie Olson passed George (Red) Sullivan of Hershey Bears last week climaxing their two-month battle with Sullivan for scoring leadership in the American Hockey League.

Gordon with 66 points on 22 goals and 44 assists led teammate Olson by one point. Sullivan, who was leader since Nov. 22, was third with 63 points. At one time Sullivan had a 10-point edge.

Harry Pidhirny of Syracuse Warriors remained the leading goal scorer with 29, although he failed to tally in the last two weeks. Sullivan retained leadership in assists with 46.

A total of 104 minutes in penalties kept Larry Cahan of Pittsburgh Hornets at the head of the league in that department.

Jacques Plante of Buffalo Bisons lowered his goal-tending average to 2.73 during the week. Cleveland's Emile Francis still is shutout leader with four.

Red Wings Re-acquire Peters From Hawks

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Red Wings Monday re-acquired right-winger Jim Peters, 32, from Chicago Black Hawks, in return for the promise of sending Chicago an amateur player at the end of the National Hockey League season.

Peters, who came to the Red Wings in 1949 from the Boston Bruins, played with them two seasons before he was sold to Chicago. He is expected to join Detroit in time for the Red Wings' game with New York Rangers Thursday in Detroit.

Vic Stasiuk, a forward, was sent to Edmonton Flyers in the Western Hockey League to make room for Peters.

Peters scored 22 goals for the Black Hawks last season, his best in the NHL.

Walls Favorite To Beat Tommy Harrison

TORONTO (CP)—Earl Walls of Toronto, Canadian heavyweight boxing champion, is a 2-to-1 favorite to beat Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles tonight before what is expected to be the largest Canadian crowd to see a heavyweight match.

Ticket sales at Maple Leaf Gardens indicate a turnout of at least 14,000.

The encounter between two of the most promising heavyweights in world contention is scheduled for 10 rounds. Victory will improve either fighter's chances of an eventual crack at world champion Rocky Marciano.

Walls, 25, has won all his 15 fights during the last two years, 14 of them by knockouts. He knocked out Bernie Reynolds in 33 seconds with a left hook and a right to the jaw Dec. 4 in Edmonton in his most recent fight.

2 KNOCKOUTS

His two famous knockouts last year were over Rex Layne of Salt Lake City.

Harrison, 23, who stepped down last summer as California light-heavy champion, has won 21 of his 31 fights. He lost on a ninth-round technical knockout last year to heavyweight Ezzard Charles after his left eye closed. He also dropped a decision to Dan Bucceroni, a leading contender.

Walls and Harrison have been training here for nearly a week. There have been few words and no predictions from their camps.

HARD HITTER

Walls is considered a hard hitter who likes to finish off his opponents early. He has won 27 of his 34 pro fights, 25 by knockouts which came mostly in the early rounds. Standing six feet 2½ inches, he has a height advantage over the six-foot Harrison, who has a longer reach.

Harrison counts strongly on in-fighting and his ability to roll with punches.

Walls likes to stand back and watch for an opening for a knock-out blow.

Ring magazine ranks Walls as the fifth leading contender for the world heavyweight crown. Harrison is eighth. Both are expected to enter the ring at about 190 pounds.

West Interested In Festival

STRATFORD (CP)—Cecil Clarke artistic director of the Stratford Shakespearean Festival, said Monday that western Canada greeted with enthusiasm a proposal to hold a Shakespearean festival in the West.

Mr. Clarke said the people interested in the West have been told: "You build the theatre and we'll put on the show."

He has just returned from a cross-country tour, seeking talent for the 1954 festival here. He interviewed about 200 prospective players.

He did not mention any person or city interested in building a Shakespearean theatre in western Canada.

Mr. Clarke interviewed prospects here Monday and plans to leave soon for England. He said the name of the leading actress for the festival should be announced within the next two weeks.

Quick Answer

GANDER, Nfld. (CP)—The federal transport department has solved the time zone problem for overseas passengers at this big air base. Three different clocks show the time in Newfoundland, in London and New York.

Municipal Board Passes School Grants

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario municipal board has approved grants totalling almost $2,000,000 for school construction in 10 municipalities, it was announced Monday.

The largest amount was $580,000 for a high school which will serve the St. Thomas-Central Elgin high school district.

Other approvals included $140,000 for an eight-room addition to King George school in Guelph and $16,000 for a schoolhouse in S.S. 2 in Pickering township.

Judge Orders New Trial For Jeffrey Robertson

TORONTO (CP)—A new trial was ordered Monday for a Guelph district farmer, Jeffrey Robertson, 21, convicted at Guelph last Sept. 25 on a charge of manslaughter in the fatal shooting Sept. 7 of his 48-year-old uncle, James Mackie. He was sentenced in September to seven years in penitentiary.

Robertson appealed against the conviction. His lawyer, Charles Dubin, contended that the trial judge misdirected the jury on the issue of self-defence.

Police said the shooting occurred during a quarrel in the farm home of Robertson's stepfather, Ross Overland.

The trial judge, Mr. Justice R.L. Ferguson, told the jury homicide was justifiable if an accused person acted out of fear of his own life or safety.

DEFENDED LIFE

Mr. Dubin said the common law of England has always provided that it is justifiable homicide if death results because the accused person has been defending someone else's life or property.

He said Mr. Justice Ferguson erred in not instructing the jury of the defence position that Mackie was killed because of Robertson's fear that his stepfather, Overland, might be slain.

Mr. Dubin also contended that the trial judge erred in not telling the jury that prior threats, bad temper and assaults by Mackie were relevant to the issue of self-defence.

Evidence was that Robertson had joined the reserve army and this had infuriated his uncle. Witnesses said Mackie had threatened to kill Overland with his bare hands and that he would then "fill the boy with lead."

Chief Justice J. W. Pickup, who headed the five judges who heard the appeal, said the court will give its reasons later for ordering the new trial.

Killed Deer After Farmer Laid Complaint

TORONTO (CP) — Six deer of a herd of nine were killed last week in Dereham township, Oxford county, after a farmer in the area complained that the deer were destroying his crops, Dr. C. H. D. Clarke said Monday.

Dr. Clarke, supervisor of the fish and wildlife division, Ontario lands and forest department, was commenting on complaints of Oxford county farmers who criticized department hunters for "slaughtering" the deer in the area. He did not identify the farmer at whose request the deer were killed.

Dr. Clarke said deer are the only animals which may not be killed legally by farmers. Anyone may kill any other type of animal which damages his property. In the case of deer, the individual can only notify the department.

NO LIVER FLUKES

Dr. Clarke said reports from Oxford county farmers that the deer had been slaughtered because it was suspected they had liver fluke, were untrue. Liver fluke is a disease that has destroyed many deer herds.

"The deer were destroyed solely because of the farmer's complaints," he said. "He has had trouble for more than a year."

Meanwhile, at Salford, Howard Riley, an ex-deputy game warden on whose land the deer were shot said the action was "communistic—just like the Russians." He said the lands and forests party travelled over farmers' land with a pack of dogs without permission, a procedure he termed illegal in the area.

FORCED HUNTERS OFF

Cal Sackrider, Mount Elgin, said he forced the hunters off his property.

"I told them they weren't going to shoot any deer and they went around my woods. But they still walked across my place."

Dr. Clarke said the six deer were given to charitable institutions. They were examined and found healthy.

"Evidently some people don't care how much trouble deer cause to others. We've had to do the same thing before and we'll have to do it again," he said.

General Says Attack On China Unwise

TORONTO (CP)—Lt.-Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer of the United States said Monday night an immediate attack on the Chinese mainland would be unwise and suggested an army of agents be sent into the Communist-dominated country to interfere with the work of the Reds.

"I don't think this is the propitious time to attack the mainland from Formosa," he said in deviating from a prepared text of an address to 900 guests attending the 109th annual dinner of the Toronto Board of Trade.

"The best thing to do would be to preclude the consolidation of the Communists in their advance in the Far East. This could be started by sending agents into the country. . ."

Government Prepared To Fight For Cent

OTTAWA (CP)—When it comes to a cent, the government's in there fighting.

The financial report of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association, presented at the group's annual convention Monday, showed there was $4,434.39 left in the kitty when 20 clubs completed summer training of RCAF reserve officers.

The government pays the clubs which provide this training and then divides equally with the clubs any amount left over.

It was simple enough to divide the $4,434 into two equal parts—$2,217 for the government and $2,217 for the clubs. The government solved the problem of the 39 cents, the report shows, by taking 20 cents and leaving the clubs 19.

SMOKE AT ST. JOSEPH'S

There was a flurry of excitement in Ashburnham at 1.20 a.m. today when fire trucks, including the aerial ladder, pulled up to St. Joseph's Hospital. It was a false alarm. Some smoke had escaped from the incinerator in the hospital basement, probably because the damp weather didn't permit a good draft.

FINANCE CAUSEWAY IN '54

Financing of the county's share of the Gannon's Narrows overhead bridge and causeway will be done out of the 1954 budget, not by issuing debentures. This decision was made by the county council at their January session Cost of the rock fill and getting the causeway into shape for motor traffic has been tentatively estimated at $104,000. Eighty per cent of this figure will be met by the department of highways. The remaining 20 per cent will be split: 8/11ths by the county and 3/11ths by Harvey township. Financing will be made easier by the fact the county had a $21,436 surplus in 1953.

Forestry Appointment

Reeve Gordon Fitzgerald of Smith township has been appointed a member of the county's reforestation committee. He succeeds James Humphries of Asphodel township whose term on the committee was not up until the end of 1958. Mr. Humphries asked council to accept his resignation, preferring that the committee post be held by an elected official.

Rent Controls? City To Wait, Watch Toronto

Although he expressed doubt that the city could afford the cost of administering rent controls, Mayor Norman Graham told the board of works Monday night he was waiting to see what action Toronto would take before asking council to consider the problem.

When it was announced earlier that provincial rent controls would be dropped March 2, His Worship said the city ought to consider taking them over. Later he announced that he would call a special council meeting to see how the other members of council felt about it.

"I believe Mayor Lamport of Toronto has asked for power to administer rent controls and I believe the matter could be held over until we see what he is going to do," the mayor told the board of works Monday night. "Toronto is a big city; let them bear the expense of finding out."

SPECIAL MEETING

"You do intend to call a special meeting, don't you?" Ald. Anglesey asked.

"Yes, I think we had better have a meeting of the committee of the whole," the mayor replied.

"In the meantime, can we find out how much it would cost?" Ald. Dewart asked.

"It would cost a lot," the mayor answered. "I don't think we could carry it; but I think we should have some means of preventing unfair rents. I know of one man who was asked to pay $137 a month for a bungalow."

City Solicitor W. F. Huycke suggested that it would entail employing a couple of experienced men full time.

The board endorsed His Worship's motion that the matter be held over until a meeting of the whole council in February.

Nature Club Elects Eric Whitely President

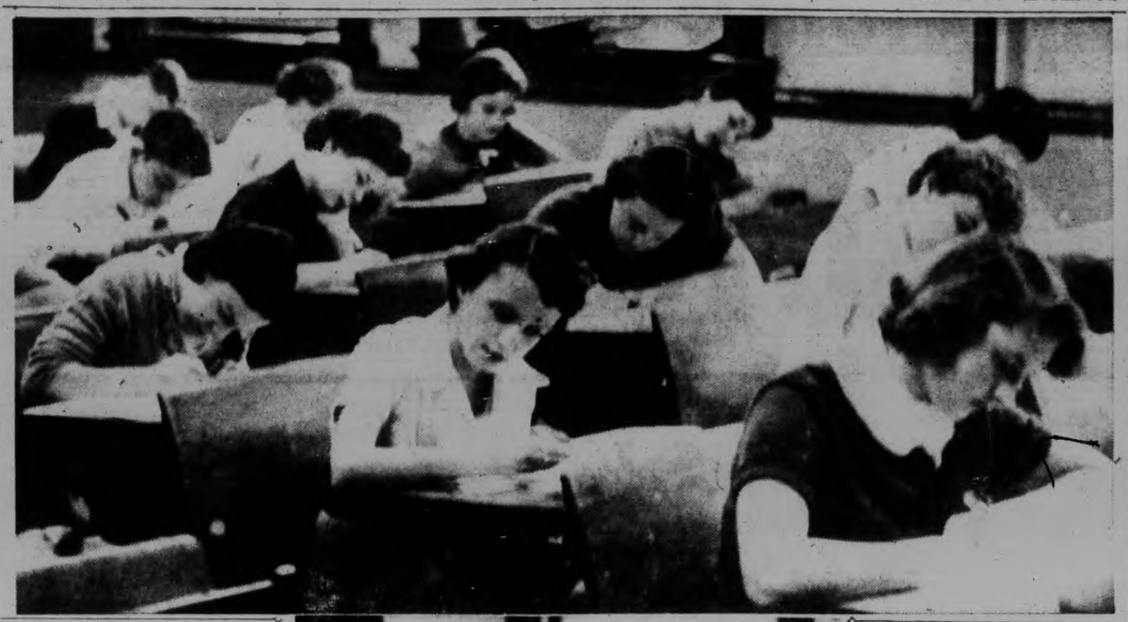
At a recent annual meeting of the Peterborough Nature Club Eric Whitely was elected president for the coming year.

Kenneth Strasser was named vice-president and Frank R. Pammett, secretary-treasurer. Members of the executive committee are W. L. McNeil, Mrs. Ken Strasser and Mrs. Victor Chandler.

By unamious vote the 50 club members present at the meeting agreed that they should strive for more indoor meetings, field outings and nature walks.

The Audubon Screen Tour series will be continued for the coming year and the Board of Education will again be asked to co-operate sponsoring the matinee programs for children as they have done in the past.

A nature film "Four Seasons" was shown at the close of the business meeting of the club and refreshments were served.



Begin Hearing On Price City To Pay For House

An arbitration hearing began today before Judge John de N. Kennedy to decide the price the city must pay Miss Marjorie Best for expropriating her house and property at 501 Water St.

The property is part of the block on the northwest corner of Murray and Water Sts. that was the site for Peterborough's new city hall costing more than $1,000,000.

At the morning session there was no evidence on how much Miss Best thinks would be a fair price for her property, plus the usual percentage for the compulsory taking of the property.

The city has already paid $10,000 into court on the orders of the late Judge S. L. Smoke.

The expropriation bylaw was passed by city council in December, 1948, and the city took possession later. In the meantime another arbitration case (Barry Seabrook's house and land at 492 George St.) has been dealt with. Mr. Seabrook got $11,550 from Judge Smoke plus four per cent interest from May 1, 1950, when the city took possession. He appealed to the Supreme Court but only got a raise in the interest rate.

The Best house was located on Water St., two houses south of the southwest corner of McDonnel and Water Sts.

T. J. Carley, QC, is counsel for the city, and Alex Elliott, QC, is counsel for Miss Best.

The case is continuing.

No Second Storey For Parking Lot Board Decides

A suggestion that the city should erect a concrete ramp over the city square parking lot to provide parking on two levels was turned down by the board of works Monday night as impractical.

Ald. Art Burrows said the matter had been brought up before and the city engineer had estimated it would cost more to erect such a ramp than to buy more land for parking. It was also pointed out that it was not good policy to centralize all the parking as this tended to benefit some merchants at the expense of others.

The suggestion was contained in a letter from George K. Goodwin, 310 Edinburgh St., who also proposed that the city should seek the support of the service clubs in creating a park beside Highway 7 where it crosses the river.

Mr. Goodwin said the appearance of the area was very unsightly to motorists entering the city from the east. He referred to it as a "swampy tangle of underbrush" and a "stump-filled creek."

At Ald. Burrows' suggestion, the second proposal was referred to the recently-formed Otonabee Valley Conservation Committee. The board also endorsed Mayor Norman Graham's motion that Mr. Goodwin be sent a letter thanking him for his interest and welcoming any further suggestions.

Ice-Covered Streets Greased With Water Slow Down Traffic, Stop A Few Cars

A few children from the rural districts were late for school, today. Women attending the Peterborough United Church Presbytery WMS annual meeting at Mark St. United church were late in arriving; some didn't arrive at all. One chap was stranded with his car for more than an hour on the River Rd., near Lakefield. Reason: icy county roads.

Except for a few minor mishaps, however, city and highway travel was not hampered. Armour hill streets presented some difficulty and a few decided it would be smarter to walk to work than chance directing the family auto down the steep grade.

A group of women from the Bethany district phoned Mark St. church to say they would not attend. "When our car turned completely about for the third time, we decided to give up."

Colonial coach lines told the Examiner, that except for the daily school bus run from Douro, there was no trouble encountered because of road conditions. On the Douro trip, roads heavily packed with ice and slicked with water, required vigilance on the part of the driver. He decided the better late than never policy was the best.

With the occasional showers and melting snow laying sheets of water over low sections of roads, it is advisable to cut a number of miles off the normal speed limit. The weather report indicates freezing temperatures toward evening and the best skid prevention still depends on low speeds.

Television Test Meter Found On Arrested Man

Police arrested a man Monday and charged him with the theft of a windbreaker. Also found in the man's possession were a raincoat and a meter to test the frequency of television transmissions.

The arrested man has so far given police no indication of the owner of the meter, except to say that he got it from someone called "George".

Inspector of detectives William Clarke said today that the field strength meter, as it is called, is a product of an American television firm and is of the type used by television mechanics. He added that police would appreciate any information as to ownership of the machine.

Icy Streets Contribute To 4 City Accidents

Mild weather, which partially melted ice on city streets Monday, was a major contributing factor to the four minor accidents reported to police. Damage to none of the vehicles involved was above $100 and no persons were injured.

Mrs. Elsa Johnson, 54 Montgomery St. and Mrs. Gladys Routly, 580 Douglas Ave., were driving cars which collided at Park and King George streets. At Braidwood avenue and George St., cars driven by James Wasik, 549 Monaghan Rd., and Miss Pauline Fanning, 173 Crescent St., collided.

In King St., a collision occurred between two cars driven by William D. Gray, R.R. 3, Peterborough, and James A. Young, RR 2, Peterborough. Gerald J. McGrath, 112 James St. and J. E. McMahon, South city, were drivers of cars which collided at Rubidge and Charlotte streets.

Sign Of Spring

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—A crow in January's below-zero weather is a rarity in this district, but that's what Mrs. R. L. Loney believes she saw flapping its wings around her home. Some old-timers said a January crow would herald an early spring.

Plan To Buy Land Near Lily Lake To Create Park

Arrangement to purchase 25 acres of land in the Lily Lake region of Jackson Park Creek is being made by the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association. The project was discussed at great length at their regular meeting on Monday evening.

The acreage is located one and one-half miles west of Monaghan Rd., on Parkhill Rd., and adjacent to the CNR tracks. It is planned to use the grounds for carrying out tree-planting, create a bird and game sanctuary and a park for club members and their families. Eventually, it is planned to erect a club house on the site.

The club, with a current membership of some 180 members, is in the process of being incorporated for the first time since its conception.

Among tangible future plans discussed and settled were the annual draw for a boat and motor; the equipment will soon be on the streets to encourage the sale of tickets. Profits from this program will be used, as in the past, for conservation work and promotion of junior club work under the chairmanship of Don Blondeau.

The club will also arrange to take 15 members of the Lakefield District 4-H Forestry Club to the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show sometime between March 12 and 20. President Hugh Plowman chaired the meeting on Monday night.

TO HIRE OPERATOR

The board of works Monday night authorized the city clerk to hire a female employee trained in office practice to learn the operation of the city's tax accounting machine and to do office work when the machine is not being used at peak periods. At present there is only one operator for the machine. The clerk explained that if that operator were to become ill at present, it would be impossible to do the work.

Delay Decision On Gas Station For New Bylaw

Although the Imperial Oil Co. have asked city council for an early decision on their application for permission to erect a service station at Water St. and Parkhill Rd., they will apparently have to wait until June for a definite answer.

As things stand, there are a number of obstacles standing in the way, as was pointed out at the board of works meeting Monday night.

First of all, there is a bylaw, passed in 1929, prohibiting the erection of service stations on Water St., between Brock and Argyle Sts. This might be superseded by the 1947 land use plan, the "Master Plan" which puts the property in the commercial category. But it was pointed out at Monday night's meeting that this classification would not be final until the city had passed its zoning bylaw.

Planning expert Gordon Culham is preparing the bylaw but he is not expected to finish his work before June.

Ald. Alene Holt Monday night asked if Mr. Culham might not give preliminary information as to the eventual effect of the zoning bylaw on the property in question. But Ald. Harold Rehill, a member of the planning board, said Mr. Culham preferred to wait until the bylaw was in its final form.

PETITION OBJECTS

Another obstacle is the petition, signed by residents of the neighborhood, opposing erection of the service station. A delegation appeared before the finance committee two weeks ago. As Ald. Rehill pointed out, even if the site was classified as a commercial one under the zoning bylaw, account would still have to be taken of any opposition to the company building on it.

Mayor Norman Graham seconded Ald. Pat Anglesey's motion to inform the company that council was awaiting Mr. Culham's report until it was decided whether or not to grant the application. But Ald. Gordon Farquharson and Ald. Stan McBride opposed the majority decision to hold the matter over.

"I think we're just passing the buck a little here," Ald. Farquharson said. "Our purpose seems to be to avoid making a decision. We owe Imperial Oil a hearing and I think we should decide right now."

SHOULD DECIDE

"I feel a decision should be made with the thought in mind that the city owes an obligation to the company, the people living there and the other businesses there," said Ald. McBride. "To put another gas station there might be unfair to the other operators there."

"It isn't my intention to pass the buck," Ald. Anglesey said. "Mr. Culham may have other ideas. As to the amount of business on that corner, I don't know that we have the power to limit it."

(With the exception of Hamilton, no municipality in the province is empowered to restrict the number of service station licences it issues, according to City Clerk E. A. Outram.)

Instructed To Write Bylaw Authorizing Monday Closings

The city solicitor has been instructed to prepare bylaws requiring the city's grocery and fruit stores and butcher shops to close all day Monday and to remain open all day Wednesday. The move was taken at Monday night's board of works meeting where it was pointed out that the city had no alternative but to pass the bylaws as 80 per cent of all the grocery stores, 83.3 per cent of the butcher shops and 100 per cent of the fruit stores had petitioned for the change in closing days.

If 75 per cent of the merchants in any one category sign a petition in favor of establishing hours of business for their trade, council is required to pass a bylaw setting the hours of business for all stores coming within that category.

OTHERS?

Whether or not the other retail stores will follow the step taken by the butchers and grocery and fruit stores so that all stores will close on Monday is still a question. But there is a feeling that if some of the stores close on Monday while others stay open, the resulting confusion among shoppers and tourists might lead to all stores deciding to close on Monday.

Ald. Gordon Powell told the board of works Monday night that a questionnaire was being circulated to find out whether or not some compromise might be reached whereby all the stores might close all day Wednesday in place of a Monday closing.

He said there was opposition to Monday closing but there was a split among the merchants as to what the solution should be. Ald. Powell is a member of the paint and hardware division of the retail section of the Chamber of Commerce.

He said it would probably be a week before the chamber had the results of the questionnaire which he described as a "sawoff."

GAVE NOTICE

"The grocers haven't acted without giving due notice," Ald. Powell said. "This question has been debated for eight months. They have been waiting for the rest of us to make up our minds."

Although it was pointed out that no chain stores had signed the Monday closing petition, Ald. Powell, who manages a chain store, said "most of the chain stores take the attitude that they won't set a trend but they will follow one," apparently implying that the chain stores would follow the lead of the independent merchants.

"I think we should wait until we have the feeling of all the merchants," Ald. Stan McBride said. "This is going to cause confusion among the shoppers."

"We have no alternative except to pass the bylaws," Ald. Rehill explained. "It is mandatory. We have to act within 30 days."

(There was no indication that there would be any change in the request of the three petitioning groups within the next 30 days. Meanwhile, the city solicitor has been instructed to prepare the necessary bylaws which will have to be passed by city council before Monday becomes the legal closing day for grocery and fruit stores and butcher shops.)

"Could Ald. Powell say if the other groups are taking any action?" Ald. McBride asked.

"The clothing groups would not like to close on Monday, but have given no alternative suggestion," Ald. Powell replied. "In the meantime, the rest of us have not made up our minds."

TOOK INITIATIVE

"I think these people deserve a certain amount of praise because they took the initiative," Ald. Gordon Farquharson said.

"I can see the confusion this has caused," Ald. John Dewart said. "It's regrettable that they can't all get together. But we have no alternative but to pass the bylaws."

In his report to council, City Clerk E. A. Outram said the original petition was dated August 14. He subsequently obtained a list of all the grocery and fruit stores and butcher shops in the city from the police department. Notice of the petition was duly advertised and the list was amended in accordance with presentations made by interested parties, who objected to some names appearing on the list as failing to qualify as particular types of business.

The amended lists showed a total of 50 groceries, of whom 40 had signed the application to have the bylaws amended; six butcher shops, of whom five had signed, and four fruit stores, all of whom had signed. Thus applications had been signed by 80 per cent of the grocery stores, 83.3 per cent of the butcher shops and 100 per cent of the fruit stores.

Will Reorganize Committee Memorial Centre

City council is taking steps to reorganize the Memorial Centre committee before the city's private bill to erect the centre in Exhibition Park goes before the provincial legislature.

The committee was chosen at a public meeting several years ago but many of its members have left the city or are no longer active. The board of works Monday night was presented with a list of 26 members, prepared by Ed Riley from memory.

The steps to be taken in getting the committee to function again were outlined by Mayor Norman Graham. Those on the list will be asked to attend a meeting in the city hall next Tuesday afternoon.

Although the matter is one for the committee to decide for themselves, it was pointed out that the chairman and the secretary had both moved away from the city. As a result, there was no one left to call a meeting. That was why the city was calling the available members together.

IF INTEREST FAILED

Ald. Stan McBride said the committee had been led to believe by the late Mayor Ovens that if interest in the committee flagged, the members could resign and another public meeting could be called to consider replacing them.

"I believe any reorganization meeting should come from the committee members," said Ald. Rehill.

"That's the idea," City Clerk E. A. Outram said.

"We're not going on record now as calling a public meeting, are we?" asked Ald. Gordon Farquharson.

"No," said the mayor. "We're asking the committee to have a meeting and decide whether they want to have another public meeting or what they want to do."

"We should have support from them when the bill is heard by the private bills committee of the legislature," Ald. Pat Anglesey said.

Although the city's available list of names of committee members is not considered complete, those who are on the list will be notified to attend next Tuesday's meeting.

Ice Age Art Uncovered Sicily, Spain

WASHINGTON—With the recent discovery of prehistoric cave drawings on Monte Pelligrino, Sicily, the constant search for man's earliest art has produced another rare find.

Experts believe the drawings may date from the last Ice Age. The "lost" gallery of art came to light when Italian demolition crews exploded shells left in the caverns from World War II.

PYRENEES CRADLE OF ART

First Ice Age paintings to be identified were uncovored in Spain's Altamira cave in 1879, says the National Geographic Society. Forms of cave art since have turned up on every continent, but sketches found in Pyrenean grottoes in France and Spain are considered to be the world's earliest-known art work.

By far the finest and best preserved gallery of prehistoric art is the Lascaux cave in the hills of Dordogne in southwestern France.

Discovered by chance in 1940 by four schoolboys on a hunting trip, Lascaux's art treasures are relics of the Aurignacian and Magdalenian epochs, 30,000 to 10,000 B.C.

This was the age of the Cro-Magnon man, successor of the Neanderthal man in Europe. He lived during the warm climate interlude between the first two weak phases of the last European Ice Age.

Hunting was the inspiration for Cro-Magnon man's art. Animal subjects predominate.

On Lascaux's whitish walls are 40 portraits or bulls, bisons, stags, horses, ponies and wild oxen. In other caverns the dawnmen depicted woolly mammoths and rhinoceros, reindeer, cave-bears and other extinct or departed creatures that once roamed the plains and forests of Europe.

The caves were used as theatres for magic rites relating to the hunt. The drawings are believed to have had a supernatural motivation—to give the hunter power over the animals portrayed.

CAVE ART IN OTHER LANDS

Closely allied to the cave art of France and Spain is that of the Arctic regions, northern Norway and Sweden, the Urals and Siberia. Mostly rock engravings, the art is that of hunters and fishermen living probably 3,500 to 7,000 years ago.

Vast caves in the Tibesti Mountains in central Africa are filled with similar vivid paintings done many thousands of years ago. To the south, hundreds of cave decorations ascribed to primitive bushmen have been uncovered.

Australia's Arnhem Land has countless caves containing strange symbols and mystic paintings.

In the southwestern United States archeologists have verified cave art dating back to the start of the Christian era. Animals, human figures and geometric designs were sketched by these early Indian artists.

40 BELOW — When it's 40 below a man on an outdoor job dresses more for comfort than style. Joseph Masson of Calgary is a line walker for the Western Canada Natural Gas Company. His job is a 20-mile inspection job of the gas pipeline. Wearing a parka and snow shoes, he must keep his nose uncovered because the only way a leak can be detected is by smell.

SUB-ZERO WEATHER—Arctic weather holds western Canada in sub-zero temperatures and the Bow river at Calgary is frozen in contorted shapes. Thermometer readings as low as 50 below were felt in some places. The often-rampaging Bow river formed itself into fantastic shapes east of the Louisa bridge in the Alberta city.

Earth Still Provides Raw Material For Houses

WASHINGTON—Today's world still makes widespread use of a down-to-earth building material—earth itself.

Along the Nile, mud bricks that won't wash away in the rain promise to solve a 6,000-year-old housing problem of the Egyptian villager, the fellah.

Modern motels and museums going up in Arizona and New Mexico are made of mud and straw. In Israel, Rhodesia and Australia, ordinary dirt is pounded into walls of new houses.

All across the earth's drier regions, the National Geographic Society says, men build with earth in three chief ways: simple mud blocks, adobe, and pise de terre or rammed earth.

MUD BUILT ANCIENT EGYPT

How long ago prehistoric man first shaped mud squares and set them out to dry in the sun is unknown. For at least 6,000 years such bricks have sheltered Egyptians eking their living from the Nile Valley. Mesopotamian and early Greek civilizations were founded on humble mud blocks.

In Egypt the making of sun-dried mud brick has not changed one jot since before the Pharaohs. Dark gray Nile silt, mixed with sand or barley straw, is shaped in the same wooden mold and left to dry in the same ancient manner.

When infrequent but torrential rains fall, a fellah's house often just melts away. Recently, however, a Point Four technical team attacked the problem, developing a water-resistant mud brick with materials available to the villagers.

Mud mixed with emulsified asphalt, plus other methods of coating mud brick walls with rainproofing materials, already has revived adobe construction in the southwest United States.

When the first Spanish explorers and missionaries came to New Mexico, they found Indian pueblo apartment houses with golden-hued walls. Elsewhere, long before Europeans came, Indians were living in earth-covered hogans.

The Indians built without bricks, pouring wet mud like concrete or using it like plaster. The Spanish, heirs of Egyptian brickmaking methods via North Africa's Moors, brought that art to the Americas.

Adobe's renaissance today offers more than just regional atmosphere. Thick earth walls are warm in winter, cool in summer, and inexpensive. On a blazing day, eastern visitors sometimes walk into an adobe hotel room and demand, "Shut off that air-conditioning."

"PISE" ENDURES FOR AGES

In the Rhone Valley of France farmhouses that are occupied today were built of rammed earth —"pise de terre"—600 to 900 years ago.

Pise is sandy loam pounded between wooden forms unti it rings with hardness. Then the forms are moved upward, and another section of wall is tamped into place. The final product is like sandstone, a weather-resistant monolithic slab.

A house of rammed earth built in St. Augustine, Florida, in 1556 still stands. Thomas Jefferson built several outbuildings at Monticello of pounded dirt. A three-storey rammed earth mansion built in 1773 stood in Washington, D.C., until it was torn down in 1950. In recent years, pise has attracted architects' attention all over the world, and many a person has built his own home from the good earth on which it stands.

Payment Plan Changes Made

OTTAWA (CP)—Welfare officials of the federal and provincial governments Monday worked out plans for administrative changes in the operation of joint legislation on payments to the elderly and the blind.

It was the first meeting since their formation in 1952 of joint advisory boards on the two types of welfare. The session was preliminary to a meeting today of federal-provincial officers on the central government's proposal for a joint plan of allowances to the totally disabled.

At the end of Monday's closed meeting, federal Health Minister Martin said no major changes in old age and blind pensions were proposed but that many administrative problems had been dealt with.

All 10 provinces were represented and they will have representation at today's session to deal with the plan of joint federal-provincial payments to the disabled.

Recording Device Tried Out In Court

OSHAWA (CP)—Officials of the Ontario attorney-general's department Monday attended magistrate's court sessions here when a new type of recording device was put into use.

By using a mask which contains a microphone, the court reporter talked into a mouthpiece and recorded court evidence directly. Ordinarily court reporters write the same information in shorthand.

Clifford Magone, deputy attorney general, said other devices for recording court evidence audibly are also being tested by the department.

Restaurant Damaged

WOODSTOCK (CP(— Joseph May's auto followed him into a restaurant Monday night and caused about $250 damage. The Brantford man said he parked his car, left the motor running but out of gear and went in to a highway restaurant. A companion, Mrs. Ethel Neal, remained in the car. The car started forward and crashed into the restaurant, just missing the proprietor.

Send Letters Denouncing Seaway Plan

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce sent letters Monday to congressmen from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, and members of the House of Representatives public works and rules committees charging that the proposed St. Lawrence seaway project would "destroy investments totalling billions of dollars at the port of Philadelphia and other U.S ports."

The measure last week passed the Senate and is currently in the lower House's public works committee.

The letters also charged that while the project is "being labelled in the interest of national security" it "probably could not be militarily defended."

HALF-TIME PORTS

J. Harry Labrum, chamber president, added that "the existing transportation facilities would have to be maintained at a high operating level to meet peak requirements during the five-month winter season when the waterway is closed to navigation." Then, he said, these present facilities "would be confronted with a new source of competition during the seven-month open season of navigation."

That, he said, would make the port of Philadelphia and other ports operate on a seasonal basis.

The civic leader also argued that only about four per cent of existing American flag vessels and none of the U.S. ships now being built could, if fully loaded, utilize the proposed 27-foot seaway.

Britain Making Formal Protest

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain disclosed today that she is making a formal protest to Generalissimo Franco's government against damage done to British property in anti-British demonstrations in Spain Monday.

A foreign office spokesman said Sir John Balfour, British ambassador in Madrid, has been instructed to lodge the protest against damage to property in Madrid, Barcelona and Huelva.

More than 8,000 anti-British Spanish students battled police for three hours Monday in demonstrations demanding the handing over of British-held Gibraltar to Spain. The rock bastion has belonged to Britain since 1713.

The students were incensed because Britain last week again rejected a Spanish government protest against the scheduled visit to Gibraltar next May of Queen Elizabeth.

15-Year-Old Girl Slashed By Man

MONTREAL (CP)—A 15-year-old girl was slashed by a man here Monday night and police investigated whether he was the same person responsible for similar attacks on four women last Friday.

Claire Rosenberger, was taken to hospital where two stitches were needed to close the wound inflicted by a man described as about 30 years of age. He drew the girl into a lane after she alighted from a bus.

Police Face Death

BERLIN (Reuters) — Northest German radio said Monday night that 12 members of the East German peoples' police have been sentenced to death in the last two weeks for failing to obey orders. Thirty-seven more have been sentenced to long terms of imprisonment for refusing to take part in "actions directed against the population" of the Communist zone, the West Berlin radio station said.

Down 13,650 Feet

TOULON, France (Reuters)—The French Navy's submarine Batyscaphe vessel was lowered without anyone on board to a depth of 13,650 feet off the West African port of Dakar Monday, it was announced here. Two French naval officers hope to guide the experimental vessel down to a similar depth in the next day or two to set up a world record for submarine dives by humans. Belgian professor Auguste Piccard now holds the record with a dive of 10,808 feet.

MONTREAL FIRE—Two firemen climb towards the centre of the $300,000 fire sweeping a three-storey building in downtown Montreal. Firemen battled more than two hours before bringing the blaze under control. A hotel next door was evacuated and dynamite was removed from a hardware store further down the block.

Ballet Opens In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The three-year-old National Ballet Company opened a week-long run here Monday night with a program of three works, including Anthony Tudor's famous Lilac Garden, one of the most impressive works of the group's repertoire.

One of the most dramatic moments came when director Celia Franca stepped to the edge of the stage at the Royal Alexandra theatre and in a brief appeal asked for donations to help finance the company.

Many, she said, had already made donations when it became apparent a planned tour, which included visits to several United States cities, would not be possible unless the company received outside financial help.

The other performances were another Tudor ballet, Gala Performance, and Casse-Noisette. The fun and frolic of Gala Performance presents the story of three ballerinas, one from Moscow, one from Milan and the third from Paris.

Secret Army Report Urges Merger Of Reserve Units

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said Monday he hopes his department will carry out "the great majority" of recommendations of a military committee set up to suggest improvements in the reserve army.

However, he declined to table in the Commons the report of the three-man committee, headed by Maj.-Gen. Howard Kennedy of Ottawa. He told Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, Progressive Conservative military critic, the report is confidential.

It was presented here last week at a meeting of the conference of defence associations, representing all reserve units. The report was prepared at the request of Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of the general staff.

CUT PAPER WORK

A major recommendation in the report, it was understood, is the merger of some of the 625 reserve army units to cut down—among other things—on excessive paper work. This would apply particularly in areas of small population, where attendance at reserve parades is thin.

Another allied recommendation is for a consolidation of reserve commands.

In reply to Gen. Pearkes' request for tabling of the Kennedy report, Mr. Claxton said that it is a confidential document for the information of the chief of the general staff, to be used in advising the minister.

But he added he hopes to tell the House shortly what recommendations are to be implemented.

Jailed Two Years For Robbing Priest

WELLAND (CP)—Weldon Carr, 27, of Port Colborne, who pleaded guilty to a charge of beating and robbing a priest of $47 and a car after the priest had given him a ride, Monday was sentenced to two years in Kingston penitentiary.

The assault on the Rev. Angelus Osborne, assistant parish priest of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church in Niagara Falls, Ont., occurred Dec. 27. After picking up Carr, who was hitch-hiking, Father Osborne was beaten, robbed and forced from his car on Hurricane road in Thorold township, police said.

The priest suffered a considerable loss of blood when a blow severed an artery in his throat.

Carr was brought to hospital here after the stolen car overturned.

MP Wants Gold Restored As Exchange

OTTAWA (CP) — A Progressive Conservative mining engineer wants the government to restore gold as a medium of exchange in Canada.

Rodney Adamson (PC — York West), a member of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, said in an interview that his proposal has the support of the gold-mining companies and would be the first step toward Canada's return to the gold standard.

He plans to introduce a bill in the Commons to amend the currency, mint and exchange fund act to permit the minting of one-ounce gold pieces.

Gold was banned as a medium of exchange in Canada in 1931 when Britain went off the gold standard. An order-in-council stopped banks from issuing gold and today it is illegal for individuals to trade in gold or export it.

Gold produced in Canada must be sold to the Royal Canadian mint or through a licensed agent who sells it on the free market. The price paid by the mint is $35 an ounce in United States funds.

USED AGAINST WEST

Mr. Adamson said a considerable amount of Canadian gold sold on the free market goes into the hands of parties who use it against the best interests of the Western powers. The regulations prohibiting Canadians and Americans from holding and dealing freely in gold assisted those persons or countries hostile to the Western democracies.

Before Canada could return to the gold standard, the price of gold moving in a free market must be established. The only way to establish such a price was by the law of supply and demand.

"The legislation would help Canada by keeping Canadian gold in Canada for the use of Canadians," Mr. Adamson said.

Mr. Adamson said a return to the gold standard would help to bring about convertibility of Commonwealth currencies.

The Cock and the Jewel

A COCK, scratching the ground for something to eat, turned up a Jewel that had by chance been dropped there. "Ho!" said he, "a fine thing you are, no doubt, and, had your owner found you, great would his joy have been. But for me! give me a single grain of corn before all the jewels in the world."

Illustration by Arthur Rackham, from the Heinemann Edition of Aesop's Fables.

Massed Pipers Welcome Queen To Dunedin City

By GOMER JONES

DUNEDIN, N.Z. (Reuters) —The wail of bagpipes and the swirl of the kilt greeted Queen Elizabeth today as she entered New Zealand's "little Scotland."

REFUSED TRANSFUSION—Eight-year-old Margaret Prudum is in hospital at London, Ont., while her parents refuse to permit any blood transfusions to be given to the child. Margaret, struck by an automobile January 21, may need an operation. Her parents, members of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect, refuse the transfusion, saying it is "unscriptural."

Massed pipers welcomed the Queen to this city which claims to be the "most Scottish" outside of Scotland.

In their tour of New Zealand, the Queen and Duke of Edinburgh have already caught a whiff of the British Isles by visiting Christchurch — "the most English city outside England."

An unwelcome reminder of Scotland's chill winter was the freezing wind which swept today through the streets. The Queen protected herself against the cold with a grey overcoat over her green and gold frock. She wore a close-fitting grey hat with green feathers, and black gloves.

GIVEN NEW FAITH

In a reply to a welcome address at a town hall civic reception, the Queen told of the new faith in the Commonwealth which her current tour has given her.

"In my task as your Queen I am greatly encouraged by the brave and determined spirit in which my peoples are everywhere facing their responsibilities in this troubled world," she said.

A crowd of several thousand waited outside the town hall to cheer the Queen and duke when they made a balcony appearance before returning to their hotel.

The royal couple arrived after a 130-mile train trip from Timaru. They will stay here until Thursday. Saturday they will board the royal liner Gothic to continue their tour with a visit to Australia.

Palardy Faces More Charges

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Additional charges of forgery and obtaining money under false pretenses were laid Monday against Roland Palardy, 43, of Montreal in a case involving four $1,000 victory loan bonds which police say were among $200,000 worth of bonds stolen from the Bank of Nova Scotia at Maxville, Ont., in 1948.

Unable to supply $20,000 bail, Palardy was further remanded to Feb. 3.

He is charged with obtaining $1,700 on two bonds at a bank here last week and $1,790 at another bank, in both instances by falsely representing himself as Alexander Dingwall McIntosh. The other charge is that he forged the name of McIntosh on a registered bond.

Many persons lost their life savings in the 1948 raid on safety deposit boxes at Maxville.

The meeting closed with the mizpah benediction.

The skaters then enjoyed a lunch of hot dogs and cocoa.

4-Game Suspension For Gordon Byers

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hockey Association President Tory Gregg announced today that Gordon Byers, Chatham Maroons defenceman, has been given a four-game suspension as a result of a brawl that occurred during a Chatham-Windsor Senior A game Friday night.

Byers was given a match penalty at the time after he engaged in a fight with Windsor forward Frank Bathgate and started the worst brawl in Chatham arena history.

President Gregg said since Byers has already sat out one game, he will be suspended for the next three scheduled Senior A games.

Miss L. Weatherilt, Mrs. Lowes and Mrs. C. Rowan each gave items for the Watch Tower. Mrs. T. Jackson gave a short talk on Christian Stwardship and took charge of the study period, telling something of the work done in Africa as related in the study book of the year "Where're The Sun". One young African, won from paganism has gone from one stage to the next until now he is a missionary to America."

The hostess served lunch and a social hour was enjoyed.

Schweitzer's Nobel Money Used Build Leper Colony

WASHINGTON — The Nobel peace prize honoring philosopher-physician Albert Schweitzer has highlighted one of the earth's least developed areas.

The Alsatian-born missionary's tireless work in his jungle hospital at Lambarene in Gabon, French Equatorial Africa, has earned him world fame. At present the 79-year-old "Prisoner of Lambarene"—too busy to attend the recent presentation ceremonies in Norway—is erecting new leper colony buildings, and that is where his $33,000 Nobel prize money will go.

Bisected by the equator, Oregon-size Gabon is a land of gorillas, panthers, crocodiles and clouds of malarial mosquitoes, reports the National Geographic Society. It is also a land of poverty and human suffering.

MINERALS SOUGHT

The coastal colony is one of the four divisions of French Equatorial Africa. Lambarene is situated 125 miles up the Ogooue River from Port Gentil. The big Ogooue, navigable for 215 miles, drains Gabon's few low mountains and a swampy, forested basin. Some minerals are extracted but lumbering is the principal industry.

In rain-drenched, steaming Gabon—mouldering in a humid temperature averaging 80 degrees—less than one percent of the 418,000 inhabitants are Europeans. The natives live in primitive villages. Bananas, palm oil and manioc roots are their food staples.

DISEASE IS RIFE

Once terrorized by slavers and cannibals, they now are sorely afflicted with sleeping sickness and leprosy. Injuries are frequent. In Equatorial Africa, almost no one long escapes disease and pain.

Languor and superstition also plague the natives. Only the trappings of European civilization are readily adopted. In a region where women do most of the work polygamy is regarded as an economic necessity.

Despite missionary instruction, the natives live in dread of magic. Workers can demoralize their foremen by threatening them with spells. Women refuse to nurse an orphan, fearing the fate of the child's mother. Consequently, Lambarene Hospital cares for many foundlings.

WORK INCREASING

To aid this suffering land, Dr. Schweitzer turned his back on European renown as a theologian, philosopher and musician.

He founded his hospital in 1913. It eventually expanded to 40 wood and corrugated iron buildings, housing 500 patients and serving scores of jungle villages. The hospital is simple. Patients live much as they do in their homes.

"The work is more desperately needed now than when I came," Dr. Schweitzer said recently.

Evergreens Reclaim Land Lend Beauty To City Homes

The use and growing of evergreens was outlined to members of the Peterborough Horticultural Society at the annual meeting on Monday night, by reforestation expert, M. A. Adamson, of Midhurst. Ont.

The evergreen is particularly useful in the reclaiming of sandy ground. Much of southern Ontario was once stripped of heavy timber stands by pioneers reasoning that if the land would support such forest growth, it would also make fine agricultural land. This reasoning was true, but the fertility of the soil was limited to the amount of humus (decayed leaves and vegetable matter). Within 30 years this humus, lacking natural replenishment from a forest, became dry and sterile. Water would not stay in the soil and it became sandy and barren.

Because many types of evergreen thrive in such soil, they are used extensively in reforestation programs.

WINDBREAKS

Other uses of these trees are (1) to provide natural windbreaks governing snow drifts; (2) for decorative purposes such as group planning in parks and about homes; (3) to provide protection to farm buildings and others in open spaces.

The best time to plant young trees is in the early spring, and if possible peat moss should be placed around the roots, constant watering for the first few months is essential to the health of the young tree. Most evergreen trees will wither if exposed to constant smoky conditions or perpetual shade. The Austrian pine is the sturdiest species under these conditions.

If a dwarfed tree is desired (and usually is for landscape purposes) it is important to begin pruning well before the tree reaches the desired dimensions. For example: Should you desire a three-foot hedge, pruning should begin when the trees are one foot high. The White cedar, Japanese yew and native hemlock are three of the best pruning species.

Mr. Adamson illustrated his discussion with color slides of the various trees. Many of the photos were taken in Springwater park, near Midhurst (which in turn is near Barrie). The park is a 2,000-acre stretch of land tended by the staff of the provincial forestry station. It is divided into a nursery for young trees to be used in reforestation, a scientifically tended woodlot, and a huge landscaped garden.

Seek Marksman In Shooting Of Executive

DETROIT (AP)—A rifle marksman was sought by police today in the mysterious fatal shooting of an executive of a steel brokerage house.

The marksman's victim was John Warren Mattson, 53, traffic manager of Atlas Steel Corp., a small and relatively new firm. Mattson was shot to death through a window of the company office on busy East Grand boulevard about 6:30 p. m. Monday.

The killer used a .30-calibre deer rifle. The bullet struck Mattson in the head as he sat at his desk, passed through and flew out an opposite window. The killer vanished.

QUESTIONS FRIENDS

With few immediate clues, police questioned friends of Mattson in an effort to find a lead to his slayer. Associates expressed mystification.

Both Mattson's wife, Sylvia, and the Atlas Corp. counsel, Jack J. Brown, said he had no known enemies.

Police said they received one report that recently Mattson and an unidentified man had engaged in a violent argument at the company office.

Chrysler Men Back At Work

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Powerhouse engineers reported for work at Chrysler Corporation of Canada Monday and heat and compressed air began to flow in volume to the big plants.

A strike of the 27 members of Local 944, International Union of Operating Engineers (AFL-TLC) was settled Friday when the men received a nine-cent wage increase and time and a half for all Sunday work.

About 6,000 Chrysler workers were idle and will report back to work progressively as the assembly lines get rolling. If all reported at once, there would be nothing for those at the lower end of the lines to do.

The plant produces about 300 cars a day. The production workers lost $60,000 a day in wages during the five-day strike.

Gift To Bishop From CWL At Conference

The first Regional Conference of the Catholic Women's League in this district was held at St. Peter's new school Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Frank Guilfoyle, chairman, welcomed 65 members of sub-divisions in Peterborough Diocese.

It was a joint conference and quarterly diocesan executive meeting, the latter presided over by Mrs. Joseph Simth of Campbellford, Peterborough Diocesan president.

His Excellency Bishop Berry paid his farewell visit to the League and addressed the ladies on the benefits accruing from this kind of get-together. "Ideas are exchanged and each sub-division learns from the other", he said. "Each of you have something to contribute from your experience in the various types of work."

A cheque from the Diocesan Council was presented to the Bishop by Mrs. Simth, in appreciation of his guidance throughout the years he has been in Peterborough.

A guest of honor at the meeting was Mrs. Haughiane, president of the CWL of the Archdiocese of Kingston which has been having regional conferences for the past 15 years. Mrs. Haughiane told of their work and experiences, following her introduction by Miss Agnes Grant, Provincial secretary.

Also present were Mrs. Black of Marmora, a former member of the Peterborough executive, and Mrs. Cook, also from Marmora, who both contributed interesting experiences in league work.

A short program of entertainment included a dance by Wayne Crowley, songs by Claire O'Neil and Peter Doris and a duet by Pat McDougall and Teresa Coughlin.

Afternoon tea convened by Mrs. Guilfoyle, assisted by Mrs. Frank McCarthy, followed the meeting. The candle-lit tea-table centred with lovely spring flowers was presided over by Mrs. John Duignan and Mrs. A. Twomey and tea assistants were members of the city sub-division.

Long-Legged Look Features Previews of 1954 Fashions

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON (Reuters) — London dress designers are featuring the "long-legged look" in previews of 1954's mid-year fashions.

The popular "tulip" line of 1953 has gone, though something of its influence remains.

The London fashion kings opened their spring and summer collections Monday with emphasis on an unbroken line from bust to hem.

Keeping the dropped shoulders and artificial width of the tulip linet, they have added full-topped sleeves to stress the bust.

Harold Amies, who made many of the outfits which Queen Elizabeth is wearing on her Commonwealth tour, summed it up by saying: "The battle area this season is the bust and above."

Skirts for daytime, especially on suits, are straighter than ever, though more ease is given for walking by longer pleats set in the back.

Hemlines vary.

AVERAGE 15 INCHES

Amies and Victor Stiebel, who often make clothes for Princess Margaret, raise them to an average 15 inches from the ground, but Charles Creed, who specializes in tailored coats, suits and dresses, prefers 13 to 14 inches.

Suit jackets are shorter than last season and inconspicuous slit pockets have replaced the outstanding and intricately designed pockets of last year.

Double duty outfits figure in all collections with what George Mathi has called the "suit dress" — a two-piece ensemble consisting of jacket and dress which can do duty round the clock from lunchtime to evening.

Freshman MP Says Working Wives Good Bet

OTTAWA (CP) — Margaret Aitken, freshman Progressive Conservative member of the Commons and a newspaper columnist, said Monday a man whose wife is employed is a better financial risk than the one whose wife stays home and has more time to spend his money.

Dressed in a green and rust business suit, Miss Aitken made her first Commons speech during second reading — approval in principle—of the government's proposed housing legislation. She spoke briefly and in a quiet voice.

The member for York Humber, near Toronto, referred to the income requirements needed by a man who wants a loan from the bank to build his home. She quoted George Hees (PC—Toronto Broadview) as saying the minimum was $3,860 yearly.

NOT ALLOWED

She said many young husbands in her constituency do not make that amount. Some had working wives and their combined incomes topped the minimum, but apparently combined incomes were not allowed for housing loans.

"I submit," she said, "that they are a better risk than the man whose wife stays at home and has more time to spend his money."

The bill would bring no relief to thousands and she suggested that wives' earnings be allowed towards reaching the income requirements. That way, thousands of couples would probably qualify.

Unitarian Service Supplied 1,136,980 Pounds Of Food

OTTAWA (CP) — The Unitarian Service Committee shipped 1,136,980 pounds of food, clothing, blankets and educational supplies to five countries overseas last year.

These supplies, valued at $320,918 and made possible by Canadian contributions, were sent to the needy in Korea, Greece, Italy, France and Austria.

Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, director of the committee, in her annual report notes that during 1953 the USC raised 99 per cent of its objective of $150,000. Compared with the previous year, this was an increase of 12 per cent.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK

Dr. Hitschmanova termed the outlook for 1954 as "very bright."

"The year just finished was one of the best we have had in our eight-year history, and although much more money is needed to successfully complete some of the projects that were started last year I am sure Canadians will continue to support our work."

Largest shipments of USC supplies during the year went to Greece, which received 612,604 pounds. Of this total, all but about 12,000 pounds was in food supplies.

Korea received 476,665 pounds, of which two-thirds went into a child-feeding program. Italy received 23,891 pounds of supplies, France 19,525 pounds, and Austria 4,295 pounds.

BUSY ORGANIZER

Dr. Hitschmanova travelled almost 47,000 miles urging support for the committee last year. During the summer she made a round-the-world trip which included a two-week visit in South Korea where, she reported, conditions had improved considerably but there was still much work to do in her field.

The red-headed director recently returned from a trans-Canada tour which included numerous speaking engagements at public meetings, women's organizations, men's service clubs, schools and radio addresses.

Two of the committee's major projects during the year were most successful, Dr. Hitschmanova reported. They were the "milk for Korea campaign" and the "barley for Korea campaign."

As a result of the milk for Korea campaign, one-third of Seoul's primary school children drank piping-hot Canadian sweetened milk every day during the three coldest months last winter. It was so successful that the committee's school-feeding pattern now is being used by the South Korean government and the United Nations all over South Korea.

HOT GRUEL DAILY

Following her return from Korea last summer, Dr. Hitschmanova devised a plan whereby 125,000 children between the ages of two and 14 will start receiving a hot bowl of barley gruel on March 1 and continue throughout April and May.

Dr. Hitschmanova says one Canadian dollar provides five youngsters with barley gruel daily for one month. The first four carloads of Canadian barley left Saskatoon Dec. 29 for Korea. The second four carloads left Peterborough, Ont., Jan. 25 for New York en route to Korea, and the third shipment of four carloads will leave Saskatoon Feb. 18.

Dr. Hitschmanova said $50,000 is urgently needed to allow the USC to carry on their child-feeding program.

During the year, the committee's 10 distributing centres across Canada packed and shipped 160,720 pounds of new and used clothing, shoes, layettes, diapers, afghans, quilts and soap.

Calgary shipped 41,209 pounds; Ottawa 24,238; Montreal 22,205; Toronto 18,990; Moose Jaw, Sask., 16,870; Winnipeg 12,305; Vancouver 11,346; Edmonton 9,741; Brandon, Man., 1,981, and Hamilton 1,835.

Styles Of 1954 May Require Less Fabric

The first fashion shows of 1954 have good news for the woman who sews her own. Several trends are highlighted by sewing centres as ideally adapted for stitching to save by the home dressmaker. Many require less fabric than last year's favorites.

This year's silhouette is short, but not shorter than suits you, narrow and simple. In the spotlight are the sheath, the princess dress, the empire line, cropped jackets and short light coats. All call for less stitching than usual.

But avoid false economy. Do not buy inferior fabric or skimp on seam allowances or facings. A safe guide is called the canny "rule of three." "If your fabric costs $10, then add $10 worth of good style, and by your best efforts in sewing add another $10 for workkmanship. This is the way costs for the $30 dress you buy are calculated."

Suppose you choose a really expensive fabric. You will want to save on the amount of material you buy. But you want leeway for fitting. Before buying your goods, cut out a pattern in muslin, baste and fit it carefully, then rip the bastings and lay out your muslin on a piece of muslin or paper the width of the fabric you want. Measure and buy only what you need.

If you use a dress form for fitting, this trial pattern should not take long. It is a good idea to use a dress form for this year's sheath and princess styles, in any case. Sewing these fashions is easier, but fitting must be more accurate than the more loosely modelled styles require.

Use this sewing centre tip when you buy short lengths or remnants. A muslin pattern helps you decide where you can piece the goods best, where you can face, and where you can trim with another fabric.

Toronto Wrecks Old Arcade After 71 Years

TORONTO (CP) — An outworn bit of old Toronto will come under the wrecker's hammer next month. But although the bricks and mortar will disappear to make way for a modern structure, Yonge street's arcade will live on in the memories of those to whom it has been not merely a building but a personal and intimate association.

In its 71 years of existence the big, store-lined archway has seen the growth of downtown Toronto.

Harry Houdini, one of the stage's great magicians, and Sir Harry Lauder, famous Scottish comedian bought their greasepaint in an arcade store in the old vaudeville days. Milton Berle is said to have purchased his first trick at the Arcade's magic and novelty shop.

The younger fry—some of their elders too—will miss the display of livestock to be seen in the window of the sporting goods store—frogs, hamsters, snakes, fish and the like.

Although most of the tenants in the arcade have found new locations to carry on business, to a man they agree that it "just won't be the same." And it won't be the same for those thousands whose delight is to browse around the old building's stores—or for those who found the arcade a convenient short cut from Yonge street to Victoria street.

Find Ruins Of Old Fort In Flin Flon District

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP)—Twenty years ago an aged prospector turned up in this north western Manitoba town with a story about finding the ruins of an old fort not far away. People just laughed at him.

The prospector, Allan McDonald, went on his way. He now is in his 80s and lives in Nova Scotia.

But it was not until last fall that there was concrete evidence to confirm his statement. New discoverer is Harry Moody, veteran storekeeper in the Flin Flon district.

Mr. Moody learned that the fort was somewhere in the area from his study of early history and from the tales of Indians who traded at his Denare Beach store. He searched 20 years before finding the fort—20 miles away.

ESTABLISHED IN 1775

The ruins are of the Alexander Henry-Forbes Brothers fort, established in 1775. They are located over the Saskatchewan border, where the Sturgeon Weir river flows into Amisk or Beaver lake.

Mr. Moody first learned of the possible location of the fort from George Cusiter, an old metis who lived near the site in his boyhood. He recalled legendary stories of the white man's stronghold. Other Indians and historians supplied more clues.

Having sold his Denare Beach business, Mr. Moody spent most of last summer on his search. Though the discovery was made in the fall, official information was withheld pending research work. A few months ago J. D. Herbert of the Saskatchewan golden jubilee committee partially excavated the area and uncovered the remains of five buildings and six fireplaces. The relics conform to descriptions in journals of Alexander Henry, the jubilee committee states.

OF SPECIAL SIGNIFICANCE

The committee says the fort is of special significance as it marks one of the important events in the amalgamation of district fur trade of the Hudson's Bay Company.

Among articles unearthed—with the aid of a mine detector—by Mr. Moody and members of the Saskatchewan department of natural resources are knives and forks, ax heads, hair clippers and sea-chest hinges. They are being catalogued by Mr. Moody, who is said to be seeking the erection of a museum at Denare Beach to house these and other historical relics found nearby.

You say you have ... with Royal Icing. I ...g if you are using ...wder in it. Royal ... meringue po... for egg whites, but ... Icing calls ... some of the decorations are so difficult that powdered egg white (meringue powder) is essential for perfect results. It may be purchased from bakers' supply houses or a friendly baker. This is the recipe:

PROFESSIONALS' ROYAL ICING

One-quarter cup sifted meringue powder (powdered egg whites), 2¾ cups sifted confectioners' sugar, ½ cup cool water. Combine meringue powder and cool water. Mix well and let stand at room temperature for 15 minutes or until powder is completely dissolved. Add half of the sifted icing sugar to the liquid and beat at high speed about 5 minutes. Then add remaining sugar, about ½ cup at a time, and beat after each addition for about ½ minute. Cover icing with wax paper and damp cloth to prevent what is in bowl crusting while you do your decorating.

To make nail roses be sure to grease the nail. For medium-sized roses use No. 4 tube. The bulbs on relief roses are made with Nos. 4, 6 and 8 tubes.

QUESTION: I would like a recipe on how to make French cream ... would that be the same as they put in a cream roll or is this a marshmallow filling? It's a chocolate roll I'm talking about, like a jelly roll, but they put a sort of cream frlling in it ... there's another thing ... I have tried to make these self-rising coffee buns, but they seem awfully heavy ... they aren't as light as you get them from the baker ... would you please give me hints on them.—Mrs. R.

ANSWER: It is a whipped cream filling you are referring to. Here is the recipe:

WHIPPED CREAM FILLING
(For Chocolate Roll)

Soak 1 teaspoon gelatin in two tablespoons cream or milk for 5 minutes, then stir it over hot water until dissolved. Cool it a little but not until it sets. Meanwhile, whip until stiff 2 cups cold whipping cream, then fold in ¼ cup sifted icing sugar, then the cooled gelatin mixture and 1 or 2 teaspoons vanilla. After the chocolate roll has been rolled in towel to shape and cool it, unroll it and place on waxed paper, spread with the whipped cream filling and roll up, then roll in wax paper, being sure to push any cream back in the roll that oozes out. Chill. If desired to give this a "log" appearance, you can frost it with

CREAMY CHOCOLATE ICING

Mix ¾ cup sugar and ¾ cup cream. Cook over low heat just until it boils. Pour slowly over 1¼ cups shaved chocolate in bowl (preferably 4 oz. sweet chocolate and 3 squares unsweetened chocolate, 3 oz.). Beat until chocolate is melted and mixture is smooth. If too thick for spreading add a little cream. Spread this over the filled and chilled chocolate roll, marking it with a spatula the full length of roll to simulate bark of a tree. If desired, decorate top with clusters of sliced candied cherries.

NOTE—If readers would like the recipe for the chocolate roll batter, please wite to me. I will print it.

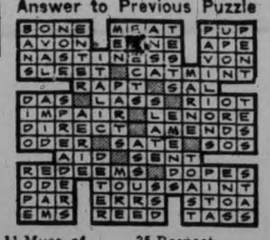
Answer to Previous Puzzle



DOROTHY DIX

Husband Says Children Happier If Wife At Home

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife and I have been married 12 years and have three children. We have been very happy except for the fact that we both work six days a week on different shifts, so we see little of each other. I want her to give up her job as I'm quite able to care for my family. The only time we have together is Sunday evening, and frequently she wants to go bowling that night with the women who work with her. I think we should go out together that one evening. I'm sure our home life would be happier if she'd give up her job. Before she went to work our home was always neat, now it's untidy. We own our own home, have a car, and modern conveniences. S. M.

CHILDREN MORE IMPORTANT THAN JOB

ANSWER: As you describe your home life, it certainly appears that even what harmony exists will not last long if your wife doesn't do something about restoring it. Every home needs some center of control; your household is at sixes and sevens. The children, even though of school age, are not old enough to look after themselves, especially with all the unsupervised time on their hands. Apparently you've used every argument you can think of to persuade your wife to remain home; perhaps you know someone whose influence might be stronger—personnel manager at her place of business, a doctor who could point out the dangers to the children's health unless they have more attention, a minister who could produce very cogent arguments. Do try to get at least one of them to show her the other side of the story.

Working mothers are no novelty, but usually they have sound reasons for holding jobs, and at least they make sure that their children receive proper care. Your wife apparently has no financial problem, her presence at home would definitely improve the family's welfare, and she is risking the loss of your love, as well as endangering the children's upbringing and safety, by insisting on holding a job.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 31, and have a wife and four children. My working hours are such that I must sleep during the day. However, my wife's relatives are almost always here in the afternoon, so sleep is impossible. They seem to think I'm lazy because I'm in bed, and my wife does nothing to keep them quiet. L. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Are you surrounded by a bunch of nitwits? With your wife as chief dunce? Even children can be taught that a man who works at night must sleep during the day; your in-laws are prize inconsiderates to play the radio or turn on television when you are trying to get rest. Tell your wife that unless more consideration for you is forthcoming you'll be forced to engage a room in a hotel, the cost of which you will deduct from the house allowance. Be firm about this.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: When I had been married three years, I fell in love with another man. I left my husband and two children and went away, planning to get a divorce and marry the other man. However, I soon realized it was my husband I loved, and came back home. But my husband hasn't acted the same to me since. Joanna

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You must begin all over to win your husband's love and trust. It may take quite a long while, but the hurt you did him was very great. You can't expect to desert a man, then have him take you back without question, and on the same basis as before. Patience and faith will be needed to atone for your wrong.

Personal Contact Important In Canada

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Women buy more men's socks, shirts, ties and the like than men do, merchants report. And some manufacturers of masculine duds are planning to aim their coming selling campaigns at the ladies.

They'll stress some items of fashion and taste that appeal more to women than men—like "color scheme for a complete wardrobe." And they may have to abandon some of the jargon about men's furnishings that women don't savvy—and that men may be a little confused about, too.

Dealers, for instance, list socks in three categories: staples, semi-staples and fancies. Merchants doubt if women understand these terms, and most men couldn't tell you when a staple becomes only semi so.

And shirt makers refer to the kind that men wear to the office as dress shirts, although most people think of a dress shirt as something that goes with formal evening wear. The shirt industry got bothered about it a few years back and ran a campaign for a new name. A number were suggested, but none stuck.

Now the sock industry is wondering about its jargon.

"Terms like staples have no emotional sales appeal to women," says John W. Mettler, president of Interwoven Stocking Co. of New Brunswick, N.J. And women, he adds, buy 80 per cent of men's socks. So women are the ones to whose emotions he'd like to appeal.

For the record, staples are solid color socks. Mettler says that henceforth his company is going to call them "basics." Seems that basics is a word women use for some of the staples in their wardrobes.

Semi-staples mean "some of the more conventional patterns such as argylls and diamonds for sportswear." Mettler is going to call his "classics." Says women have garments they call by that name and will understand instantly.

Fancies are those patterns that sock makers restyle every six months. "Mere Jargon," says Mettler, and he is calling his "moderns," in things like furniture, for instance.

Canadian Silver Fox Used For Trimming New Frocks

By PEGGY MASSIN

ROME (Reuters)—Roman couturiers Monday paraded models in silver fox trimmings in a drive to convince milady that this Canadian pelt can be "tres chic" at not too much expense.

At the third day of the high fashion show in the Italian capital, the couturiers showed silver fox under the label "crystal," which they hope will help bring about a revival of the fur.

"Crystal" was paraded before buyers in many guises: As trimmings, as banding and as linings for the strikingly effective clothes designed by the neo-Italian school which is bidding to capture the world's fashion lead from Paris.

Sponsored by the Canadian Fox Breeders Association, the campaign is being launched in Italy as a testing ground to see if silver fox can regain the fashion importance it once commanded.

It costs at least $25 to raise a silver fox in Canada, but the selling price on the world market now averages only $10 a skin.

Roman couturiers have been adept in playing up the high style value of these lavish but low-priced pelts.

FOX TRIMMINGS

Giovanelli Sciarra uses "crystal" as trimming on short, ribbed silk or velvet jackets. The skins band wide, elbow-length, sleeves and edge other jackets tuxedo-style or are faced in bib or lei effects down the back. He also shows a black, silk jersey dress with a matching cape, edged in fox. The convertible cape changes the entire effect of the dress when draped diagonally across the skirt.

Silhouette-wise, Sciarra concentrates on the long line, to achieve the maximum height for short women. His suits feature slim, molded, hip-length jackets, or are straight and tapered. His dresses are built around the slender sheath but play tricks with removable overskirts, paniers, or fullness concentrated in wide panels.

A print model has this "split" personality—when the full back is unbelted, it becomes a flowing cape.

Ebenezer WA Meets

CAVAN (ENS)—Mrs. Rae Stewart was hostess to the WA of Ebenezer United church Thursday evening for their January meeting. The president, Mrs. Morris McGee, presided.

The devotional program was followed by a business discussion. One of the items discussed was a community project for the children. What form it will take will be discussed at a later meeting.

The hostess served lunch and a social hour was enjoyed.

Nature's guarded secrets

Is there ANY explanation when an empty lake refills after five years — and fish return in days? . . . when a rider's lost in a flood at night — and his mare finds the way home? . . . when a dreaded rattler slithers on a baby's lap — and doesn't strike?

16,463 Attend Graham's Final Meeting

TORONTO (CP) — The largest crowd in Maple Leaf Gardens in six years—16,463—Monday night attended the wind-up meeting of Billy Graham's three-day evangelistic mission here.

More than 32,000 in all heard the 35-year-old North Carolina preacher and about 800 responded to his invitation to become converts. Several thousand people, who sang hymns as they waited in long lines outside, were turned away from each meeting.

Monday crowds began lining up at 3 p. m. and by 4 p. m., four hours before the meeting, covered an entire block. Traffic for blocks around was stalled and every available traffic officer was on duty.

During the meeting a Toronto clergyman announced more than 100 Toronto ministers have signed a statement asking Billy Graham to return here for a longer stay.

OPP Inspector To Speak To Club

INSP. ALBERT WITTS

Inspector Albert Witts of the Ontario Provincial Police will be guest speaker at the annual dinner of the Peterborough Automobile Club to be held at the Kawartha Golf and Country club, Wednesday evening.

Inspector Witts joined the provincial police in 1930. In 1949 he was called to general headquarters in Toronto, and promoted to inspector of the traffic branch.

Lecturing now at the Ontario Police College, he is a member of the National Safety Council, a graduate of the Traffic Institute of Northwestern University and a qualified motor mechanic.

Ships, Planes Hunt Missing Superfortress

LONDON (Reuters) — Ships and planes today hunted an RAF Superfortress with seven men aboard, forced down Monday night in the Irish sea.

The bomber, on its way to the Azores, sent out distress signals at midnight after describing troubles caused by icing conditions. The SOS said the crew was about to bail out over Morecambe bay, about five miles south of Barrow-in-Furness.

Hear Problems Of Canadian Transportation

By FORBES RHUDE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Railway and truck came into hard-hitting competition today before the annual meeting of the Canadian Construction Association.

The association asked for it. It asked four transport groups:

"What would you do if you had $1,000,000,000 to spend?"

The answers will be spread over a couple of days and will come from steamships and airlines as well as railway and truck.

But here are some quotes from two of the competing viewpoints.

G. M. Parke, president of the Canadian Automotive Transportation Association:

"Standing on our own two feet, as we have been forced to do, I think it most unlikely that we would seek any part of that $1,000,000,000 in the form of subsidy.

MIGHT BE FORCED

"But if other forms of transport were to receive aid from such a fund . . . then our industry might in self-defence be forced to seek its share."

J. H. Campbell, manager of the department of public relations, Canadian Pacific Railway:

"The presidents of Canada's two great railways have said in recent weeks that they are frankly alarmed by a paradoxical situation in which railways are called upon to play an increasingly important part in the expanding national economy with a constant struggle to achieve net earnings which will even approach the money needed to keep their plants in operation.

NO FAIR SHARE

"In the last year . . . railways were unable to obtain what seemed a fair share of business at rates compensatory for the effort involved. . . . Railways advocate a removal of the controls which prevent them from bidding successfully for the kind of traffic which will pay their way and provide funds for the improvements they are required to make to retain their place in the transportation picture."

County Raises Insurance

For extra protection the county county council at the January session decided to raise the limits of their insurance policies.

Public Liability: $50,000 liability for one person, $100,000 more than one, and $10,000 property damage.

Non-ownership policy: $50,000 liability to one person, $100,000 to more than one, and $10,000 property damage.

County machinery policy: $50,000 liability to one person, $100,000 to more than one, $10,000 property damage, with $100 deductible.

The public liability and property damage were placed with Frank Cowan Co. Ltd. of Woodstock at a premium of $912.03.

Insurance of all machinery and floater renewed with A. E. Wilson and Co. of Toronto at a premium of $1,117.44. The non-ownership policy was also given to A. E. Wilson at a premium of $119.77.

Stanley A. Darling of Peterborough was named local agent to represent the Frank Cowan Co.

NOT SO HAPPY NOW—These smiles have faded somewhat after the first day of the Big Four conference when Russian demands threatened to wreck the talks. Ask Federal Aid Fight Pollution

SAULT STE. MARIE — (CP) — Sault Ste. Marie will approach other municipalities on the shores of international boundary waters between Canada and the United States with a view to forming a representative delegation to seek federal aid in elimination of water pollution.

The decision came after the federal department of health and welfare turned down a Sault request for government assistance in the construction of a sewage disposal system here to help clear the St. Mary's river of pollution.

The Sault launched its sewage disposal scheme on the recommendation of the joint international waterways commission.

Across the river, Sault, Michigan, has been ordered by the Michigan state water resources commission to have a sewage disposal plant in operation by December 1954. However, ratepayers there have turned down a $1,750,000 bond issue to finance the scheme stating that it was money uselessly spent if the Canadian Sault did not install a like system.

Cost of a sewage disposal system to the Canadian Sault has been estimated at $3,000,000. Mayor C. H. Smale has declared that the city cannot bear this expense unaided.

TelevisionMakesNews On The Farm Front

Probably a shadow of things to come on the rural front is this note fromw Huron county: "With the local TV station now featuring farm news, there is an increase in the number of sets being purchased by farmers in this county."

Hog prices across the province from weanlings to market stock have been firmer during the last two weeks, as reported in the weekly review by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Weanlings are up to $18 "for good thrifty pigs" in Halton; and Waterloo, swine breeders report prices up to $20 for weanling pigs; demand for breeding stock is heavy, including some sales to western Canada.

Durham: "Young pigs are in keen demand. Producers with hogs to sell at present prices are obtaining a very satisfacory average."

Peel: applications for farm labor have dropped, and the number of men looking for jobs has increased. Shipping fever is reported in several herds.

An increase in swine breeding is indicated from many parts of Grey. In Dundas county "little pigs are selling well and the poultry business remains brisk."

First signs of spring's approach: Leeds: Farmers are cleaning seed and arranging for seed supplies. Brant: A few early lambs have arrived. Many flocks have been moved to market to make room for newly hatched chicks. Bruce: farmers are buying a large percentage of their fertilizer.

Business Recession Not Expected–Howe

TORONTO (CP) — Production Minister Howe said today he believes "talk about a serious recession in this country has little justification."

He said in a speech prepared for delivery at the dedication of an addition to the Toronto factory of International Business Machines Co. Ltd., that Canadians could look forward to a continued high level of business activity in their country.

Canada's industrial expansion following the Second World War had been sound.

"It is this sort of carefully-considered, cautious, step-by-step expansion of Canadian industry during the post-war period that has tended to discourage the creation of excess industrial capacity of the kind that appears to have been built up in the boom period of the late '20s."

Many Attend Meeting Of St. John's Parishioners

An exceptionally well-attended meeting of the parishioners of St. John's Anglican Church was held Monday under the chairmanship of the Rev. F. G. Ongley. The rector expressed his appreciation of the interest showed by the splendid attendance.

The annual reports of the church for 1953 were presented by the rector's warden, E. Vernon Morphet. The statements showed a very satisfactory condition in spite of rather heavy expenditures over the past year covering improvements and repairs. In addition reports were given by all other church organizations, all of which showed a healthy situation.

Mr. Ongley re-appointed E. Vernon Morphet as rector's warden for the ensuing year.

Dr. Eldon P. Ray was unanimously returned as people's warden for a second term. Both men were thanked by the rector and parishioners for the manner in which the affairs of the parish were carried out over the past year.

Clifford Boate was elected secretary of the advisory council.

Resolutions of thanks were tendered to Leslie Dyer, vestry clerk; B. Ottewell, chairman of sidesmen; also Richard Ford; in each case for faith service and co-operation over the year.

Mr. Ongley presented the incumbent's report on matter of importance to the church, namely the accomplishments of 1953 and activities for 1954.

Lay delegates elected to the synod were Mrs. F. E. Hooper, Dr. G. S. Cameron, W. R. L. Blackwell, H. E. Southeran and Charles Coleman. Alternates appointed were Miss Mary Medd with E. Vernon Morphet, J. Blake Bell, C. K. Lech, F. D. Kerr.

The advisory council will be composed of W. C. Ackerman (honorary), C. G. Graham (honorary), W. R. L. Blackwell, J. Blake Bell, F. L. Buckland, E. G. Brown, R. Boate, J. D. Cochrane, H. T. Cranford, V. Coleman, C. E. Coleman, Dr. G. S. Cameron, H. Chate, L. Dyer, J. J. Dutton, F. C. Ford, Art Ford, George Groombridge, Walter Howell, F. E. Hooper, Fred Hills, G. H. Hutchinson, J. R. Other appointments of interest were: To the Anson House, Mrs. W. M. Cruthers; to the Robert Hall poor fund, John Nornabell; to the Bible Society, C. E. Coleman; to Rural Deanery committee, John Nornabell.

The vestry once again recorded the faithful ministration of the Rector Emeritus Ven. Archdeacon Robertson. Also the meeting was unanimous in voicing the excellent leadership given by Mr. Ongley in the short time in which he has served, through his challenging sermons, his interest in the Sunday School work and other organizations. He has shown himself to be a very capable leader and the parish is looking forward to a very successful future under his guidance.

It was also very gratifying to note the further improvement over the year in the primary department of the Sunday School as reported by Miss Florence Hutchinson. This feature is due to the splendid interest taken not only by the staff of teachers but also the parents.

The various organizations reported as follows: Church Women's Association by Mrs. J. R. Johnson; Senior Sunday School by Gordon Clegg; Junior Sunday School by Miss F. Hutchinson; Chi Rho Club by J. Yarn; Girls' Auxiliary by Mrs. C. Boate; St. John's Players by Miss M. Stevenson and Mrs. J. Cridland; Scouts and Cubs by E. Trueman; Chancel Guild by Miss M. English; Bible Society by C. At the close of the meeting the Church Women's Association served refreshments.

Farmers Should Meet Counterparts In Province

Farmers ought to go and see themselves in that cross-section of the rural population of the province, the convention of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, Dick Stewart of Otonabee told the rally of Farm Forums at Teachers' College Monday night.

Mr. Stewart attended the convention as director from Peterborough county, at the King Edward Hotel, January 5-8.

"It is well worth a visit to the convention just to see that crowd," Mr. Stewart said. "They were the most intelligent group of people I have ever seen at a convention, any way in the last five years. And they were just about the best dressed, too."

Futhermore, they are on the job, Mr. Stewart said. They carry out their commission as delegates by attending the sessions.

"I was very much impressed by our Ontario Federation convention, and I am sure you would be, too. Another thing about our people when they get together like that they are not asking for extremes. They take the reasonable view of things."

Mrs. W. G. Barrie of Asphodel gave a review of the women's section of the convention, and Jack Matchett told of the Junior Farmers' group.

REMEMBER PAST

Apart from all the practical concerns of the convention as indicated by more than 50 resolutions that were submitted to the delegates, Mr. Stewart mentioned approvingly a suggestion that the farmers of Ontario should try to preserve implements and utensils and other relics of pioneer times.

"If this could be done, it would be a connection with the past, and a reminder to coming generations of what our forefathers had to improvise, and depend so much on their own work and efforts."

"It was felt that something should be done before the line of succession is broken or is passed."

Mr. Stewart said he felt proud of Vivian S. Milburn, secretary-manager of the Ontario Federation, as a former Smith township boy responsible for a great part of the success of the farm movement. "I don't think there is anyone doing more for agriculture in this country than our own Viv Milburn."

County assessor Stewart Sparling discussed progress toward equitable assessments. Kent Best urged Forum members to attend the leadership training class February 11, and William McFarlane, boys' secretary at the YMCA, directed in a period of recreation.

Henry Sharpe was chairman of the rally. Some of the Forums had arranged joint social meetings for the January review night, but otherwise the meeting was well attended.

SCOTTISH DANCE

An attractive salute to the memory of Robert Burns—Janary 25—two little girls from the community of Daisy D. Forum danced in costume the Highland Fling. They were Jeanette Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Reed, and Adele Hefferman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Heffernan. They were accompanied by Harry Fife, playing the violin, and Miss Marguerite Lamey at the piano. The costumes were complete to plaids, Glengarrys, sporrans and the other details. The program closed with refreshments.

John Buck, Locksmith, Dies

Peterborough's only locksmith for many years, one time Ontario checker champion, chess expert and music lover, John Buck, formerly of 223 London St., died Monday in Civic Hospital after a lengthy illness, in his 64th year.

The affable locksmith, never too busy to open a lock to solve a domestic emergency, was a native of Scotland. Born in Helensburg, son of Horace Buck and Mary Philipps, he was educated in Birkenhead, England, and came to this country some 42 years ago. From Owen Sound, he came to Peterborough where he has lived for the past 25 years.

During the First World War, he joined the 20th battalion and spent five years service overseas with the first Canadian contingent. A member of St. John's Anglican church, he was very active in church affairs. Many an aspiring chess or checker player at the YMCA has been suddenly frustrated by Mr. Buck's adroitness at either game.

His wife, the former Daisy Frances Todd, survives him as does his son, Ronald J. Buck.

Funeral services will be held, Thursday, at 2:00 p.m. from the Kaye funeral home. The Rev. F. G. Ongley will officiate, assisted by Archdeacon W. P. Robertson. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

3 Candidates In Simcoe East

ORILLIA (CP) — Three candidates officially entered the field Monday in the Feb. 8 Ontario provincial by-election in Simcoe East, called to fill the vacancy left by the death of John D. McPhee, Progressive Conservative.

The candidates: Wilfred R. Hoult, Orillia, CCF; Lloyd Letherby, Coldwater, Progressive Conservative; William L. Moore, Orillia, Liberal.

Mr. McPhee polled 8,644 votes in the 1951 provincial election to 5,069 for John R. MacIsaac, Liberal, and 1,741 for Mr. Hoult.

The by-election is the second since the 1951 election. In Niagara Falls constituency Oct. 26, Arthur Jolley, Progressive Conservative, won a seat which went Liberal in 1951.

Progressive Conservatives now hold 79 seats in the 90-member Legislature. There are six Liberals, one Liberal-Labor, two CCF and one Labor-Progressive.

World's longest Cantilever railroad bridge is the Quebec bridge built across the St. Lawrence in 1917, stretching 1,800 feet.

Ask Husbands Be Allowed Use 20% Of Wife's Earnings

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A suggestion that husbands should be allowed to include 20 per cent of their wives' earnings in purchasing a home under the National Housing Act was made today by Gordon Shipp, president of the National House Builders Association.

Mr. Shipp pointed out that housing legislation now before Parliament would reduce down payments but would do nothing to reduce carrying charges.

He said that an income of $3,900 a year would be needed under the new legislation to buy a $10,000 home, financed under the National Housing Act. He said an income of this amount would be needed since the government requires that the debt service must not exceed 23 per cent of a purchaser's income.

AVERAGE MUCH LOWER

Such an income, he said, is far in excess of what the average Canadian earns. Mr. Shipp pointed out that in Windsor, top wage centre in the country, the average income is $3,400 a year.

He suggested three courses of action to make it possible for persons in the $3,000 to $3,600 bracket to qualify for NHA loans:

1. Elimination of the 22 per cent income-carrying charges ratio;
2. Raising it to 25 or 27 per cent;
3. Permitting the purchaser to include 20 per cent of his wife's earnings as part of his income.

The executive spoke at the annual convention of the National Concrete Products Association being held here.

Attlee Leader Labor Party For 18 Years

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Clement Richard Attlee has been leader of Britain's Labor party for a record 18 years and it looks as though he intends to keep going for a while yet.

The man who presided over the "quiet revolution" of the 1945-50 Labor government celebrated his 71st birthday recently, without dropping any hint of retirement.

His health is reported good and it is a general guess he will still be on hand for the next general election, probably in 1955.

Attlee was elected chairman of the parliamentary Labor party in December, 1935. He was regarded more or less as a stop-gap. But he remained leader longer than anybody else in the party's history.

As prime minister through the difficult post-war years, Attlee enjoyed something less than universal popularity. He was sometimes accused of lacking the quality of firm leadership, of doodling through crises that were among the most severe Britain has faced.

HAS WON ADMIRATION

After the Labor defeat of 1951 the picture changed somewhat. Attlee still is criticized at times for not dealing firmly enough with internal differences in his own party, but his restraint in opposition and obvious patriotism have won admiring comments from Conservatives as well as socialists.

A striking example of the greater general esteem in which Attlee now seems to be held was given last Nov. 20 when he received the freedom of the City. This is the financial heart of London, a community not always appreciative of socialists.

In his speech, Attlee struck an almost Victorian note.

"I have thought it my duty to take part in and to further some . . . changes," he said. "But I would never wantonly destroy things because they are old. I have a love of ancient things."

The same mellow, self-revelatory note, uncharacteristic of the old Attlee, crept into an article he contributed recently to a literary review. In it he admits to a fondness for Jane Austen, Dante, Swinburne and Morris, and says that it was through his enthusiasm for the writings of Meredith and Ruskin that he entered the socialist fold.

Maxim Predicts He'll Win From Moore

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Joey Maxim predicts he will take the light-heavyweight championship from Archie Moore Wednesday night.

"I'm gonna win, I gotta win," said the former champion, who rarely makes predictions on his own fights. "You know I won that last one with Moore in Ogden, Utah (June 24) and he knows it, too. He wasn't talking in that fight.

"In the first one in St. Louis (Dec. 17, 1952) when he won the title from me, he kept cursing me all through the fight. It was different the second time.

"I gave him a good cuffing and he kept his mouth shut."

IN GOOD CONDITION

Moore won the first fight by a big margin but he barely squeezed through, in the Ogden return. He put on a big spurt in the middle rounds to overcome Maxim's early lead.

The 31-year-old Maxim said he was in the best condition of his career.

With Maxim showing sharpness in his workouts, the odds favoring Moore have dropped from 13 to 5 to 2 to 1.

Tee Pees Crush Barrie 7-1

BARRIE (CP) — St. Catharines TeePees climbed back into first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A standings Monday night when they trounced the fourth-place Barrie Flyers 7-1.

The defeat broke the Flyers' winning streak at four games and marked their 20th setback of the season.

The Teeps were paced by their high-scoring unit of Brian and Barry Cullen and Hugh Barlow.

Brian Cullen extended his leadership in the league's scoring race with four goals and two assists. Barlow and Barry Cullen each scored one goal and collected four and three assists respectively. The Flyers played it close in the first period but trailed 2-1 going into the second. The Teeps opened up and scored four unanswered goals. They outshot Barrie 12-3 in this stanza.

TeePees tallied the lone goal of the final period and in the late minutes of the game, the contest got rough. It started after TeePee defenceman Higgins boarded Flyer Jim Robertson. The Barrie star was injured and went to the dressing room.

Williams, Mancuso Fight To A Draw

TORONTO (CP) — Danny Williams of Oshawa and Dave Mancuso of Toronto fought five rounds to a draw in the main bout of the Palace Pier amateur boxing show here Monday night.

In the 162-pound semi-final, Toronto's Louis Simon earned a five-round decision over Jimmy Loftus of the Northland Athletic Club, Sudbury.

In the first few seconds of his 142-pound bout against Jack Houle of Sudbury, Toronto's Billy McDonald sprained his right arm but continued to fight with his other fist. He held his own and appeared to be having the better of the exchanges but referee Harry Davis called the bout at the end of the first round.

Marylebone Retires Leeward Islands

ANTIGUA, Leeward Islands (Reuters)—The Marylebone Cricket Club Monday retired the Leeward Islands with 38 runs in 80 minutes on the opening day of their two-day match here and then scored 156 for six wicekts in replay.

John Wardle and Jim Laker were virtually unplayable on a pitch made responsive by rain which penetrated the covers Sunday. Wardle claimed five wickets for seven runs in 9.5 overs and Laker took four for 29 in 10 overs.

Alan Moss and Trevor Bailey, the only other bowlers used, sent down five overs between them without conceding a run.

Carl Furillo Signs Brooklyn Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl Furillo, National League batting champ, signed his 1954 Brooklyn contract today, crossed his fingers and said: "Here's hoping for another good year."

Like the rest of the major league baseball clubs the Dodgers don't announce salaries, but it was learned reliably that Furillo received an increase of about $5,000 to $27,500.

Furillo said he named his price and got substantially what he asked.

A HAT TRICK is being completed here by Bernie Geoffrion (No. 5) after taking a pass from Elmer Lach at the goalmouth. Prior to this action at the Montreal Forum Saturday night, he had scored two other goals in the game against the Chicago Black Hawks. Al Rollins is the harassed netminder. Chicago more than avenged Saturday's 5-1 defeat by turning back the Canadiens 8-3 in the Windy City Sunday.

Coach-Referee Back In Good Standing

KEMPTVILLE (CP)—A Hamilton coach and a Montreal referee involved in a junior hockey wrangle Jan. 18 have been restored to good standing in the game, but with an admonition and a reservation tacked on.

W. B. George, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, Monday night lifted the temporary suspensions of coach Jim Skinner of Hamilton Cubs and referee Sibby Mundey, but he said Skinner will be advised "that the use of profane language is not condoned and if proven guilty of using such" in future games, "an indefinite suspension may result."

George added, in a statement that said he reached his decision after considering "conflicting evidence" on the subject, that the referees' board of the Quebec branch of the CAHA is being asked not to appoint Mundey to any future interlocking schedule games between Ontario Hockey Association and Quebec Junior Hockey League teams.

ARGUMENT OVER OFFSIDES

It was out of an interlocking game between the Cubs and Montreal Junior Canadiens that the suspensions of Mundey and Skinner arose. A brawl started during an argument over offsides between the coach and the referee.

Mundey said Skinner butted him with his head twice before Hamilton left-winger Joey Zorica floored him with a hefty blow. Skinner denied that either he or Zorica touched the referee, claiming "he hit me."

Zorica got a match misconduct penalty for his part and the Canadiens who stayed out of the fray were awarded the game when Mundey declared it "out of control." Montreal was leading 2-1 when it broke up in the second period.

George promptly suspended the referee and the coach while he looked into the matter. With his decision, he announced that the game would be re-played if the final standing of either club is affected by it.

CAMPY INKS PACT

BROOKLYN (CP) — Roy Campanella, Brooklyn Dodgers' brilliant catcher, Monday signed his 1954 contract for a reported $32,000, a big increase over his pay last year.

Campanella batted .312 last season and set two records for catchers with 142 runs batted in and 41 home runs. He was voted most valuable player in the National Baseball League for the second time in three years.

It didn't take long for Campanella to reach an agreement with Buzzy Bavasi at the Dodger office.

"I couldn't very well cut him 25 per cent," said Bavasi. "So I raised him 25 per cent."

Although exact salary figures are never announced, it was believed Campanella received about $26,000 last year.

FAIN TO SIGN

CHICAGO (AP)—First baseman Ferris Fain, whose batting average skidded 71 points to .256 last season, Monday forwarded his 1954 Chicago White Sox contract.

Fain, 21st White Sox player in the fold, sent in the contract from his Walnut Creek, Calif., home with a notation to general manager Frank Lane that he hoped to perform better this season.

Fain presumably took a cut from his estimated $35,000 salary of 1953. He led the American League in batting with .344 in 1951 and .327 in 1952 with Philadelphia Athletics.

ZERNIAL GETS PAY HIKE

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gus Zernial, slugging outfielder who hit 42 home runs last season, agreed to terms Monday with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Earl Mack Sr., vice president of the A's, said only that Zernial "received a substantial boost in pay." However, the figure was believed to be about $7,000 more than his reported 1953 salary of $25,000.

The Foster rink will play in the Canadian championships in Hamilton next month.

CITY CARPETBALL

The schedule for the week of February 1 is: Lawn Boys No. 2 vs. Legion No. 1; Fire Hall No. 4 vs. Legion No. 3; Glens No. 6 vs. Legion No. 5; Orphans No. 8 vs. Legion No. 7; Legion No. 9 vs. Fire Hall No. 10; Legion No. 11 vs. LOL No. 12; Post Office No. 14 vs. Red Patch No. 13.

Results of last week's play: Orphans No. 8 won the first game 15-5 when they held their opponents to five points, by only allowing them to score in four ends. In the game No. 8 went again into the lead by capturing the first four frames and were leading 6-0. The next five ends went to Glens No. 6 along with a 9-6 lead. This lead was increased by No. 6 when in the three remaining ends they won two of them to win a 13-8 game.

In the first game Legion No. 1 went into the lead 4-0 but by the fifth frame Legion No. 9 made it 4-all. Again No. 1 went ahead with No. 9 coming from behind to tie it 6-all in the 8th, going on to win a 14-8 game. In the second game no. 1 only scored a total of five in three ends that won while No. 9 swept to a 27-5 victory.

CLOSE PLAY

Two more Legion teams met, No. 3 and No. 11. In the first meeting No. 11 came from behind making it a deadlocked game at 2-2 and then they won the next end but from there on No. 3 took command and never relinquished the lead as they finished ahead 13-5. The second game was a see-saw battle with No. 11 almost putting the game on ice by scoring a big four in the 9th frame for a lead of 11-6. But with three ends to go No. 3 tied the game at 11-11 by scoring a big five in the next frame and then by capturing the last two ends with singles won a very close match, 13-11.

Fire Hall No. 4 in the first game against Red Patch No. 13 went ahead 9-0 but No. 13 made it 99 in the 6th frame and went on to take the next three ends by singles. With the chips down No. 4 rallied to cop the final three ends and a 14-12 game. The second game saw No. 13 again come from behind and go into the lead and, when Fire Hall scored a three, No. 13 also scored a three in the next frame, keeping the lead. No. 4 scored a four and in the following frame Red Patch could only get a single and so the last three frames went to No. 14 which won 20-8. The Red Patches just seemed to be outlucked.

DEFAULT WIN

LOL No. 12 reported a default in their favor when Legion No. 5 failed to show-up.

The game between Fire Hall No. 10 vs. Legion No. 7 is to be played Monday night. The game between Lawn Boys and Post Office resulted in three points for the Posties and one for the Lawn Boys. This card has not been turned in as this report is compiled.

Rangers Farm Murphy Out

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers Monday farmed out Ron Murphy, 20-year-old rookie forward whose jaw was broken in a stick-swinging melee here Dec. 20, to Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Hockey League.

Murphy will go to Saskatoon as replacement for Doug Bentley, the Quakers' veteran player-coach who has sparked the Rangers in their last three National Hockey League games. Bentley, who returned to Saskatoon Monday to care for some personal business, will rejoin the Rangers soon.

When Murphy was injured by Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal Canadiens, it was feared he would be out for the season. He now has been given permission to play with his jaw encased in a protective mask.

Tigers Battle Wings To Tie

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tigers of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series battled the National Hockey League Detroit Red Wings to a 7-7 tie in an exhibition game before 4,000 fans Monday night.

The Wings used Lefty Wilson to replace goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk. They were also without defenceman Bob Goldham and forwards Alex Delvecchio and Vic Stasiuk.

Detroit took a 2-1 lead in the first period but Hamilton fought back for a 5-5 tie at the end of the second. Tigers went ahead twice in the third but couldn't hold off the National Leaguers.

Rookie Bill Dineen, Tony Leswick and Ted Lindsay each scored two goals for Detroit. Earl Reibel notched the other.

Hub Anslow sparked the Tigers with three goals. George McGinn, Bill Hammond, Sam Kennedy and Eddie Busch aded singles.

Jackson Has Ended Layne's Comeback

BROOKLYN (AP) — Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson, a 22-year-old perpetual motion machine fighting his first main bout, ended the comeback hope of Ponderous Rex Layne Monday night by stopping the Lewiston, Utah, veteran on a technical knockout in 1:44 of the sixth round at Eastern Parkway Arena. Jackson weighed 194½, Layne 202.

The kid from New York dropped Layne twice in the sixth round before referee Mark Conn called a halt to the scheduled 10-rounder.

It was the 14th victory in 16 pro starts for Jackson, an 8-to-5 favorite.

Britain Names Pirie Athlete Of Year

LONDON (AP) — Gordon Pirie, Britain's distance runner who almost was lured to an American university, was named today as British athlete of the year in a poll by the newspaper Sporting World. It was the first time an amateur had won the eight-year-old poll. Soccer player Stanley Matthews was second and cricketer Len Hutton third.

Pat Smythe, Britain's top woman horse show jumper who rode at Toronto's Royal Winter Fair last fall, finished fourth and won the sportswoman of the year trophy.

Bisons Purchase Hudson From Sox

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Buffalo Bisons of the International League Monday night announced the purchase of Hal C. Hudson, 26-year-old lefthanded pitcher, from Chicago White Sox for an undisclosed sum.

Hudson, a native of Grosse Pointe, Mich., has been in triple-A ball for three years, with Toronto of the International League and Charleston of the American Association.

Hiawatha Victors

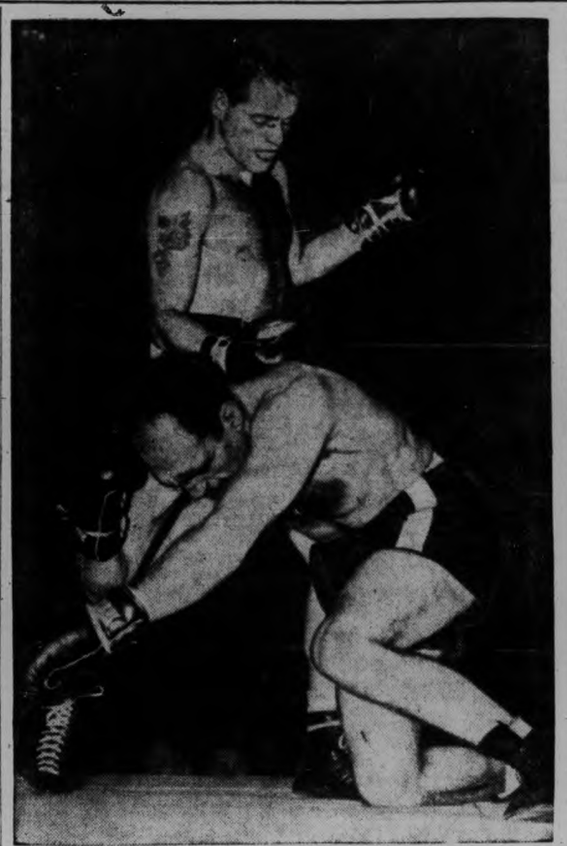
KEENE (ENS)—The strong Hiawatha squad of the East Peterborough Hockey League racked up another loop victory here Monday night, this time at the expense of Apsley by a score of 16-3. The northerners brought but seven players and couldn't maintain the pace of their rivals in the last half of a wide-open, clean contest.

Stock notched three goals and two assists for the winners, L. Sellaby got three markers, while two each went to Heafield and H. Steenburgh, the latter playing a fine two-way game. The rest of the tallies were well spread around, and the winners had good checking and goaltending. Murray tallied twice for the losers, and the other counter was sunk by Walling.

Savoie Gets Decision

MONTREAL (CP)—Armand Savoie of Montreal pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Houston Brown of New York Monday night in a lightweight battle.

Savoie, making his first start since being knocked out by lightweight champion Jimmy Carter last November, pummelled Carter's top stablemate continually in chalking up the decision. Brown weighed 136½, Savoie 137¾.



THE FULL COUNT—Joe Rindone found the sting of welter champion "Bobo" Olsen's fists just a little too much as he hit the canvass for the full ten count in the fifth round of their Saturday bout in San Francisco. It was a non-title affair.

Hastings Defeated By Bata In 4-3 Tilt

HASTINGS (ENS) — Hastings Intermediates dropped another close one last night in a regular TVL fixture, as Bata came out on the top of a 4-3 verdict.

Play was fairly even through the first two periods, but the locals just couldn't find the mark while Bata countered once in the first frame and added three more in the second.

In the last period, Hastings continued to force the pace, and finally banged one in. They added two more and with a minute left to play, took Mulholland out of the net and stormed in with six forwards, but Bata played a fine game of Kitty bar the door.

Hastings — Goal, Mulholland; defence, Killingbeck, McGillen; Killen; alternates, Maloney, West, centre, Allen; wings, Vyse and Bacon, Donahue, Ford.

Bata — Goal, Foshay; defence, Yorke, Farmer; centre, Cooke; wings, Adams, Reid; alternates, Reeves, Pukancik, Rankin, Howard, Foster, Courtney, Robson.

Referees, Cousins, Scriver.

First period — Bata: Reid (Adams), 19.53.

Penalty, McGillen.

Second period — Bata: Yorke (Reid), 3.17; Yorke, 4.01; Courtney (Foster), 12.11.

Third period—Hastings: Bacon (West, Maloney), 8.00; Bacon (Maloney, McGillen), 10.12; McGillen (Killingbeck, Maloney), 15.00.

John Bromwich Upsets Tony Trabert

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—John Bromwich, the two-fisted swatter who won the Australian tennis title in 1939 when Tony Trabert was an eight-year-old, upset the American Davis Cup ace today in the second round of the current championships 1-6, 1-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

Substituting his store of court guile for Trabert's speed and power, the canny veteran used his famous two-fisted stroke to throw Trabert off his game. Time and again Bromwich hit the lines with twisting shots by swinging the racket with both hands as he pulled off the biggest tennis surprise in years.

The 35-year-old's victory upset Trabert's dream of sweeping all four major tennis titles in the world—Australian, United States, Wimbledon and French—this year and seemingly paved the way for little Ken Rosewall to win his second straight Aussie championship. Rosewall advanced to the quarter-finals with a machine-like 6-4, 6-3, 6-1 victory over Abe Segal of South Africa.

Skating In Moscow Popular With People Of All Ages

By BILL BOSS

MOSCOW (CP)—From time to time on frosty nights loudspeakers in Gorki Park blare:

"How is your big toe?

"You've been skating an hour. The temperature is 16 degrees below zero. Check your ears, your nose and your cheeks. Maybe you should come indoors for a few minutes to warm up."

Thousands of skaters take appropriate stock.

Gorki Park is one of many in Moscow given over during winter to skating. It is near the heart of Moscow, about 1½ miles from the Kremlin, and for four miles it follows the curves of the Moscow river.

Its broad boulevards, paths between the trees and shrubs and the large lawns are flooded for skaters. Brigades of women sweepers clear away the ice shavings.

WATCH TEMPERATURE

Children up to 16 pay 50 kopeks (12½ cents at the official exchange rate). They may skate only during daylight hours up to 6 p.m., and only when the temperature is not lower than -16 degrees centigrade (3 above zero fahrenheit).

For older children and adults Gorki Park ice may be used until 11 p.m. for one ruble 50 kopeks (about 37½ cents at the official exchange rate). Some rinks are open until 3 a.m.

Skating is the winter sport of all the ages here. Middle-aged couples skate arm-in-arm down the boulevards or waltz and fox-trot on a rink reserved for figure-skating. Elderly, men and senior officers of the Red Army turn out. One major with a breastful of ribbons practises intricate figure drills.

Buying skates is relatively expensive (a set with boots for 120 rubles), but they can be rented for two rubles an hour. Gorki Park has six large dressing-room buildings, each with free check service and a buffet which serves snacks and hot drinks. Numbers of refreshment kiosks stand along the paths and boulevards.

Most loudspeakers are tuned to Moscow radio, while those beamed on to figure-skating rinks play mostly waltzes and marches. Thousands of sober-suited Muscovites swing along in stride to "Les Filles de Cadiz" or a Mozart or Beethoven symphony.

DRESS NOT IMPORTANT

"Dress" is no more "de riguer" for skating than for the opera. A few women wear slacks, a few more wear natty and colorful costumes. Most simply change shoes and galoshes for skates and go out as they are, in street-coat and hat. Even on the figure-skating rink men and women wear overcoats.

Use of the park is organized informally according to skill.

Adult beginners, for instance, pay the highest admission fee—three rubles 50 kopeks. They go to a special rink for instruction and practice.

When they consider themselves ready, they promote themselves to another rink where the traffic moves a little faster.

Still later they join the main stream along the paths and boulevards. There the skating is extremely fast and smart. Anything is permitted, including speed-skating and dancing. It is assumed you are expert enough to avoid collision or accident if you venture there.

USES CRUTCHES

I watched a one-legged boy speed along the boulevard, pushing himself by his crutches.

Russian skates are just like Canadian. Most skaters use tubes, and many young people use speed skates.

Hardy enthusiasts wait until late at night to skate, when the younger fry go home to study.

Great illuminated signs at the ends of the boulevard proclaim "Glory to the Russian people" and "Long live Russian sport." About the park are other slogans in similar vein.

EIGHT KILLED—This is all that remains of an automobile in which eight persons were killed when the car was struck by a Canadian National Railways express at a Napanee, Ont., level crossing. One passenger, 10-year-old Joan McQuaig, survived with injuries. The Montreal-Toronto train was said to be travelling at 60 miles an hour when it struck the automobile.

Wild Road Chase Ends With Impaired Charge

LINDSAY (ENS) — A Lindsay man, Paul Russell, was fined $75 and costs Monday when he appeared in Lindsay police court and pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his ability was impaired last Saturday evening. Russell at first asked for a remand, stating that he intended to plead guilty and wished to raise money to pay his fine. Crown Attorney Jordan suggested going ahead with the case instead and asked for time after it was finished to make payment.

Sergeant Gord Eberts, of the town police, told of seeing Russell's car while on patrol last Saturday. Since Russell was suspected of having been involved in an accident, Constable Ross Bailey attempted to flag the vehicle down, but Russell failed to stop.

There followed a 45-mile per hour chase through the town's streets, the officer said, before Russell could be stopped. He objected to having to go with police, said Sgt. Eberts, but consented when threatened with force.

Russell was fined $75 and costs for the offense by Magistrate, for a total fine of $90.50. The magistrate served notice that "I intend to make the fines for these impaired driving cases fairly substantial."

Find It's Easy To Fool Airport Security Officers

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The Sydney Sunday newspaper Truth claimed Sunday it made monkeys out of airport security officers by planting a "time bomb" in the nose of the plane taking Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, R. A. Butler, home from Commonwealth finance talks here.

The "bomb" was really an alarm clock, wrapped up in a brown paper parcel, and it ticked away merrily without anyone noticing it. Truth, pointing out that experts say the British Comet which crashed near Elba two weeks ago could have been shattered by a bomb explosion, commented "it could happen here."

COULD HAPPEN

At Ottawa, an official of the air transport board said the same thing could happen in Canada, because there are no regulations to force a consignor or passenger to disclose contents of an air express parcel or piece of luggage.

However, he said, an air line clerk who suspected something was amiss about a parcel could report the matter to a transport department official and he would delay the flight until doubts were cleared up.

Ever since the Quebec time-bomb case Sept. 9, 1949, in which 23 air passengers and crew were killed, the problem of establishing contents of air express parcels has been under discussion, but no workable system has been found, he said.

Whisk Sultan From Corsica

PARIS (AP) — The government announced Monday it is flying the disposed former sultan of Morocco, Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, from the Mediterranean island of Corsica to a new residence in exile.

The government did not announce the new home of the exruler, but the French news agency speculated that he had been whisked to France's far-off South Pacific island of Tahiti, or perhaps to Madagascar, off southeast African coast. Either place would be considerably farther than Corsica from the troubled North African protectorates of French and Spanish Morocco, where Ben Youssef was religious chief of the Moslems until the French last August charged him with encouraging nationalist extremists and jerked him off his throne.

Ever since his exile, the French are reported to have feared Moslem militants might try to rescue him from Corsica.

CCF Charges Government Welches On Housing Pledge

OTTAWA (CP)—A CCF member of the Commons has charged the government with welching on a promise to ensure housing for Second World War veterans.

Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) said in the Commons Monday the government in 1945 promised that if free enterprise did not provide enough homes for veterans it would step in and help veterans to own their own homes.

Mr. Gillis, a First World War veteran, said free enterprise has not met the housing problem, and the government "failed" to keep its promise.

He spoke during the third day of an extended debate on the government's new housing legislation to decrease down payments, extend the mortgage period and admit banks to the mortgage-lending field under a plan of mortgage insurance.

SEEKS LARGER HOMES

Hector Dupuis (L—Montreal St. Mary) said Quebec's large families need larger homes.

Speaking in French, Mr. Dupuis said the Quebec government should accept a standing federal-government offer to share capital costs of housing developments. If it accepted, Quebec should provide legislation for homes larger than five or six rooms.

Some large families in the province lived in crowded slum conditions good "neither for their moral health nor physical health."

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood) said that under the provision for insuring mortgages, a lender will have to guard against any slackness in collecting monthly mortgage payments if he wants to keep the government's guarantee.

The bill would leave lenders "practically no choice" but to foreclose on mortgages if payments are in default. No "good lender" wanted to foreclose on a borrower trying his best to meet payments.

"The bill regulates private enterprise to the status of a mere machine of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation," he said.

"The only place where initiative is left to the lender is the dirty job of foreclosing the loan. In many cases he will be forced to do it even against his better judgment."

MORE UNIFORMITY ASKED

James A. Byrne (L—Kootenay East) said the housing problem is due mainly to high costs, caused in part by the demand that each house be different from its neighbor. In the interests of lower prices people should be willing to accept more uniform houses with fewer frills.

R. R. Knight (CCF—Saskatoon) said housing is a national social problem that justifies a government-subsidized interest rate of two per cent on mortgages. The present bill would "put a larger number of people in a larger amount of debt over a longer period of time."

Harry O. White (PC—Middlesex East) said inspections of new homes by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation do not protect buyers against construction defects. The CMHC manager at London, Ont., had given "the royal run-around" to purchasers complaining of defects in completed homes.

Protest Use Of Don Jail

TORONTO (CP) — Members of the Negro Citizenship Committee protested to Ontario's committee on reforms Monday the use of Toronto's Don jail as a detention place for persons awaiting deportation.

Donald Moore, chairman of the committee, said that the Rev. A. Segismund Voce, a minister from Kingston, Jamaica, was held in the Don jail for nine days when he was not able to get permission to leave Canada.

Mr. Moore said that Toronto, unlike other Canadian cities, does not provide a proper immigration detention home. Jail was not the proper place to hold these persons.

Gordon Fee, a former rehabilitation officer at Burwash reformatory, told the committee that the counselling service for the men in the reformatory is an "irrational, harmful and wasteful undertaking."

Mr. Fee said he had given up his job at Burwash because of the incompetence of those in charge of rehabilitation in Ontario.

Asks Jail Term Gets Relief

LINDSAY—(ENS)—A 26-year-old Lorneville man, Ray Benedict, was put on three months suspended sentence, and told to stay from liquor, Monday, when he appeared, in Lindsay police court, charged with intoxication and vagrancy.

Benedict, who has been on a form of township relief since an accident last summer, in which his father was killed, refused to work last week and was brought into court as a vagrant. He had been receiving $9 worth of groceries from Eldon township grocers as payment for two days' work each week for the township road superintendent.

Reeve Archie Jewell also told the court the the township paid his rent and provided for his fuel.

Benedict asked to be sent to jail, since he said $9 was not enough to maintain himself and his family, consisting of his 20-year-old wife and three children, aged one, two and three. Neither could he get tobacco on his grocery allowance from the local merchants, he said.

Magistrate Moore told Benedict he would be able to work three days a week for the township at the consent of Reeve Jewell and receive $13.50 worth of groceries until April 1st when other work becomes available.

He was put on three months' suspended sentence for the duration of this period, when further disposition may be made of his case, and made to sign a $200 bond of good behaviour and abstinence.

Britain Gives Spain Warning

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain will take a "serious view" if Spain organizes any hostile demonstrations during Queen Elizabeth's visit to Gibraltar in May, Selwyn Lloyd, minister of state for foreign affairs, said Monday.

He told the House of Commons, in reply to a question, that the Spanish ambassador delivered what he described as "a friendly warning" Jan. 12 that the visit to Gibraltar would cause resentment in Spain.

Amid cheers, Lloyd said Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden had informed the ambassador that in no circumstances could he accept representations on such a topic from any foreign power.

Arthur Henderson, Labor, who had raised the subject, promised the Opposition's support in resisting any improper pressure by the Spanish government.

Maugham 80 Yrs. Old 'Has Writer's Cramp'

LONDON (AP) — Author Somerset Maugham observed his 80th birthday Monday in the quietest of ways.

Author of The Moon and Sixpence, Of Human Bondage, Our Betters and other books filling a very long shelf, the gray-haired British writer came from his home in France for a birthday party. It will be a family-affair dinner with his daughter and son-in-law, Lord and Lady John Hope.

Maugham observed that the old vessel from which he has poured so much thought and so many tales seems to be running empty. He wasn't sad about it, just factual.

"I have writer's cramp," he said.

Haliburton Man Fined For Drunk Driving

LINDSAY (ENS)—A 21-year-old Haliburton youth, Ross Billings, was remanded in custody until Wednesday, when he appeared in police court on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Crown Attorney asked for the remand since other charges were pending. A plea of guilty was taken by Magistrate R. I. Moore. Accused will be held until Wednesday, pending posting of bail of $1,000 in property.

Billings is alleged to have been intoxicated when his car collided with a provincial police cruiser, driven by Constable Tom Fitzpatrick, Lindsay, on Highway 36, on Saturday night. The other charges were not read in court, but Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan said that a charge of driving while his license was under suspension by the department of highways, would be laid.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Russell Curry, Mrs. Donald Curry and Marie.

Natural Gas To Aid Ontario Frost Says

ORILLIA (CP)—Premier Frost said Monday night the arrival of Alberta natural gas in Ontario will have a greater effect on the economy of the province than anything else since the construction of the trans-continental railroads.

He spoke during a swing through Simcoe East riding in support of Lloyd Letherby, Progressive Conservative candidate in the Feb. 8 provincial by-election.

Too Old To Travel Vagrant Sent To Home

Told he was "too advanced in years to travel around alone," James Leach, 79, no fixed address, was remanded to the care of Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army Monday in magistrate's court.

Leach was later taken to a place to live in Guelph by Major Everitt and Sergeant of Detectives John Stevenson.

Magistrate Philp instructed the man, appearing on a vagrancy charge, to "go to the home with an open mind; it is no doubt adequate."

No Unemployment Plan Considered By Ottawa

EVEN THE SHEEP WERE FOOLED by the balmy weather during the past three days as temperatures climbed to the forties, making all dream fondly of spring. Twin Hampshire lambs were born during the thaw on Norman McConkey's farm. The dark-haired wee fellows, one held by seven-year-old Priscilla McConkey (above) are the barn pets. But the temperatures went back to normal today; snows were whipped up by a chilly wind and winter is back for another few days.

Churchill Retirement Just Delusion

Prime Minister Indicates He Plans To Stay Time Yet

LONDON (CP)—British politicians are just about agreed that when Sir Winston Churchill retires as prime minister it will be in his own good time.

Predicting the prime minister's plans has become one of Parliament's favorite pastimes. The latest guess, ventured by a Conservative MP, was that Churchill would call it a day when the Queen returns from her Commonwealth tour in May.

But Tuesday night the Conservative party office apparently demolished that rumor. It said the prime minister will address a gathering of Conservative women May 27.

Reading between the lines, there seems only one motive for making the announcement so far in advance — to indicate that the prime minister will still be on hand after the Queen returns.

The resignation rumors are not new. They were numerous before the Conservative conference at Margate last October, so numerous that Churchill made it a point to deny he had any imminent intention of retiring.

GOOD HEALTH CONTINUES

Sir Winston's performance in the Commons appears to testify to his continued good health, however, and many political observers feel sure he will remain in office as long as he can. Just before Christmas he told a private meeting of Conservatives he would go on unless the international situation changed sharply or his health deteriorated. Even then, he would be available as a kind of elder statesman.

Kingsley Martin, editor of the left-wing New Statesman and Nation, writes in this week's issue:

"There is no Churchill mystery. The fact, I understand, is that his medical advisers have told him that, to prolong his life, he should leave off working. He is quite incapable of listening to such dangerous prudence. . . . I cannot imagine anything that would now deter Sir Winston from preferring a dramatic end in full harness."

Tuesday night the prime minister smilingly called for his hearing aid because "I don't want to miss anything" when the subject came up in the House.

The rumors emerged afresh last week when Conservative Cyril Osborne said in a speech that "many persons" expect Churchill to retire when the Queen returns in May.

Socialist Eric Fletcher said in the house Tuesday night: "The prime minister knows that there has been some speculation as a result of the speech made by Mr.

CHURCHILL

Mystery Package

WINDSOR (CP)—Nobody knew what was in it, but a certain package had a fast ride from Windsor to Chatham Tuesday. Provincial police of the Essex detachment picked it up at Hotel Dieu hospital in Windsor, rushed it over wet roads to Tilbury where Chatham provincials took over and scooted it to St. Joseph's Hospital. Officials at neither of the hospitals seemed to know what the package contained and provincial police said they just delivered it. Delivery time was 53 minutes.

Ford Proposes Extending Agreement Year

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Ford Motor Company of Canada made a proposal to the negotiating committee of Local 200 UAW-CIO Tuesday that the existing collective bargaining agreement be extended until June 1, 1955. This would give hourly - rated employees in the Windsor plant of Ford of Canada an automatic wage increase of four cents an hour on June 15 next, and would extend a contract which, the company said, "has proved workable and has given both the employees and the company a greater degree of industrial peace than any that had preceded it."

The offer was made by Wallace H. Clark, vice-president, industrial relations, after he had told union negotiators: "The company cannot, either today or in the foreseeable future, accede to the demands you have made upon us. To grant even a portion of your major demands would put us in a serious position competitively."

Mr. Clark described the company offer as "sensible, reasonable and fair."

SEE 57-CENT PACKAGE

Mr. Clark said the demands made by the union included a 30-cent wage increase and additional benefits which the company estimated would be equal to another 27 cents per hour.

The total of 57 cents per hour, Mr. Clark said, would equal $10,250,000 for members of Local 200 alone, and to $16,000,000 if the same treatment were extended to all employees. The net effect of such a package would be to add an average of $210 to the retail delivered price of each passenger car the company might sell in 1954, and about $190 to the price tag on each truck.

"I think you can see what such a price hoist would do to our sales," Mr. Clark said, "at a time when car buyers are keen bargainers over price differences as small as $25, and quite often make a deal because they can save even $10."

No Expansion Public Works Gregg Says

Basic Economy Not Affected, Unwise To Act Now

OTTAWA —(CP)—The federal government plans no expansion of public works as a means of offsetting rising unemployment. Labor Minister Gregg made the statement in the Commons Tuesday as Canada's two largest central labor bodies declared unemployment is "the most serious problem facing Canadians today."

Mr. Gregg said there has been a "tightening up" in many sections of Canada's economy, as in other trading countries, and this was bound to bring with it "increased emphasis on seasonality."

"It is reassuring to note, however, that the basic strength of the economy continues to be unimpaired."

NOT WISE NOW

To a suggestion for more public works, Mr. Gregg said it would seem "unwise" to embark on a greatly expanded program now. Seasonal employment in such industries as construction would be expanding sharply by spring, "so that by the time any sizeable public works program was under way, it would be competing with private construction of all kinds for skilled labor and materials."

He suggested "fiscal and monetary measures" which he did not describe could be used to better effect to prop up employment. He said the $900,000,000 unemployment insurance fund is carrying most of the load of the jobless now and that other angles of the problem could best be handled through federal-provincial-municipal efforts.

ESTABLISH COMMITTEE

The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor, with a combined membership of 955,000, announced they have set up a joint committee to bring "the maximum influence upon all levels of government in order that employment will be stimulated wherever possible and with the minimum of delay."

Big Three Oppose Russia's Demand For Spring Meeting

BERLIN (AP)—Britain, the United States and France solidly opposed immediate action in the Big Four conference today on Russia's demand for a spring meeting with Red China, and urged that discussion begin at once on German unification. At the outset of the third session, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov announced that he was waiving his opportunity to talk at length on the resolution he introduced Tuesday calling for a five-power conference including Communist China, in May or June.

He yielded to U. S. State Secretary Dulles who emphasized western rejection of the proposed meeting and asked that the four get down to business on Germany.

Western authorities described Molotov's argument as supporting his proposal for a Big Five conference.

Dulles declared that the Soviet demand for a five-power conference including the Peiping government "is primarily a device to attempt to secure for that regime a position in the councils of the world which is has not earned or had accorded to it by the international community generally, including the United Nations."

NOT PLACE TO DECIDE

"Certainly, this four-power conference is not the place to decide that matter."

Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov had submitted to the conference's second session Tuesday a formal resolution calling a five-power meeting in May or June. The U. S. had already rejected the whole concept, but it also had accepted, along with Britain and France, a Russian-sponsored agenda which put the five-power proposal as the first item of business beginning in today's third session.

MOLOTOV STAYS SILENT

American sources disclosed Molotov had decided against any speech in behalf of his Red China motion this afternoon, contrary to reports that he might make a lengthy declaration.

When Chairman Eden asked the Russian if he had anything to say, Molotov replied simply that he had said all he needed to say Tuesday. Thereupon, Secretary Dulles got the floor to issue his restatement of Washington's views.

Aldermen Urge Ontario Split In 2 Provinces

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — The Fort William city council Tuesday night heard two of its aldermen urge that northwestern Ontario form itself into an 11th province, charging that up to now it had been ignored and exploited by the Ontario government.

Alderman Hubert Limbrick proposed that council members call together civic leaders from Sault Ste. Marie to the Manitoba border to discuss formation of a new province for the area's 200,000 citizens.

He charged that the present highways investigation in the Fort William area showed mismanagement and lack of interest by the Ontario government in the affairs of northwestern Ontario.

Said Alderman Limbrick: "The time has come for northwestern Ontario to prevail upon the federal government to amend the British North America Act in order that this territory may be set out as Canada's 11th province.

SAYS NORTH EXPLOITED

Alderman John Spooner supported Alderman Limbrick and said northwestern Ontario had been "abused and exploited long enough." He added that "either the Ontario government pays attention to us or we will walk alone."

However, Mayor Gordon Carson did not favor secession.

"I don't see what throwing bricks will get us from the government," he said.

The council decided to pass Alderman Limbrick's proposal to the civic industrial board for study.

Suggestions that northwestern Ontario should become Canada's 11th province have been heard for some years in the area.

Grade Crossing Council Asked

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian National Railways today suggested a government - railway advisory council on grade crossings be established.

The railway made the proposal in a submission filed with the board of transport commissioners for consideration at final hearings in a year - long inquiry by the board into the grade crossing question. The hearings resume here Feb. 3.

The CNR said the present method of dealing with crossing improvements — by applications to the board from railways or provincial or municipal governments —is not satisfactory.

It suggested the council could co-ordinate proposals for crossing improvements and see that those most needed are dealt with first.

As a prelude to such a plan, the CNR said, it would be helpful if the federal government declared its own grade crossing policy by amending the Railway Act. The government ordered the board inquiry in 1952.

Gauge Damaged Hold Seaman

PLYMOUTH, England (Reuters) The Royal Navy announced today that it is holding an unidentified seaman in connection with the latest case in a wave of malicious damage which has swept the fleet since Christmas.

As in previous cases, a gauge glass was broken aboard the 18,000-ton light aircraft carrier Ocean, a veteran of Korean service now being refitted here as a training vessel.

Similar damage has been reported since Christmas aboard the aircraft carriers Eagle and Indefatigable, the light fleet carrier Warrior and submarine depot ship Montclare.

New Fire Breaks Out In Stricken Aurora

AURORA (CP)—An oil tank exploded Tuesday under the ruins of a furniture store swept by fire Monday.

Firemen fought the new fire from the blast for two hours before they could bring it under control. Thick black smoke rose from the ruins.

The new fire followed a blaze Monday in which one man was killed, five stores were destroyed and damage was estimated at $500,000.

Gouzenko Filmed For TV, Wears Mask Throughout

WASHINGTON (AP)—Columnist Drew Pearson said Tuesday that he has filmed an interview with Igor Gouzenko and that the film will be shown on television this weekend. Gouzenko is the former embassy employee of the Russian embassy in Ottawa whose testimony in 1946 He was questioned recently by Senator William Jenner (Rep.-Ind.), chairman of the Senate internal security sub-committee, and Senator Pat McCarran, (Dem.-Nev.).

Pearson says Gauzenko wears a mask on the TV film "as a precaution."

Pearson said Gauzenko wears a Saturday and Sunday with Gouzenko." He described him as a "very fascinating, animated guy, just bubbling over with all sorts of things."

LIKE SPY THRILLER

Interviewing Gouzenko, Pearson said, was like something out of a spy thriller.

"He fixed the rendezvous both on Saturday and Sunday. He sent a limousine around for me and they took me to where he wanted me to meet him. . . The limousine came for me before dawn and I haven't the faintest idea where it took me."

Pearson said he made his headquarters at Toronto.

IN TOUCH WITH EMBASSY

Before going to Canada, he said, he got in touch with the Canadian embassy here and made some preliminary arrangements.

Asked whether there were any embassy people attending the interviews, Pearson said: "I really don't know. There were people there whom I didn't know. They probably were some sort of security people."

The film will be shown at different times in different parts of the U.S. this weekend, Pearson said. The first showing will be over WABD in New York Friday night.

Pope Cancels Audience With Montgomery

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Pope Pius today cancelled a private audience scheduled Friday with Britain's Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

The pontiff's condition, however, was reported improved and he worked in his private apartments. His illness was disclosed Tuesday as a form of "nervous stomach" caused by overwork. He cancelled a general audience scheduled for today.

Montgomery, deputy supreme Allied commander in Europe, is due in Rome Thursday for talks with Italian government and military leaders.

Smoke Foils Child's Rescue

ALVINSTON, Ont. (CP)—Intense heat and smoke frustrated attemps to rescue four-year-old William Stover today and he burned to death as fire gutted his parents' four-room apartment.

The child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stover and their other child, Joyce, a five-week old baby, escaped.

The Stover's apartment is situated over their restaurant. Building damage is estimated at $9,000.

Alvinston is 40 miles west of London.

Harmful Ingredients Claimed In Liquor

VICTORIA (CP)—Mayor Claude Harrison has charged that lack of government inspection is resulting in fusel oil, methyl alcohol and other harmful products finding their way into Canadian liquor.

In a lengthy brief now in the hands of the British Columbia government, the mayor said these "rank poisons" are there because proper government chemical analysis is no longer made in Canada.

The mayor said that while he favors the revised liquor laws in B. C. he feels strict observance of proper distilling practices and regular government analysis should also have been included in them.

Italian Gov't Near Collapse

ROME (Reuters) — Premier Amintore Fanfani's government—formed nine days ago — appeared headed for collapse today as all but three parties in parliament announced they will vote against its new program.

Fanfani is assured of getting support only from his Christian Democratic party and the small Republican group.

The third party which may support Fanfani is the small Liberal bloc. It has not yet decided upon its vote in the Chamber of Deputies expected late this week or early next week. Even if it throws in its lot with Fanfani, the resulting votes for Fanfani will be 12 short of a majority of 590 seats in the lower house.

Fanfani's government wa greeted with early disapproval from the Communists, the neo-Fascist Italian Social movement and Pietro Nenni's left-wing Socialists.

Arrest 3 Men, Girl With Stolen Car

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Three young men and a girl were arrested early today on Highway 2 east of the city when patrolling provincial police spotted them in a car allegedly stolen from Scarborough.

Detained by police were Thomas Davies, 19; Ross Hutchings, 20; Maurice Hutchings, 18, all of Hamilton and Gwendolyn Davies, 17, of Wexford near Toronto.

Franco Prepared To Deal Severely With Students

MADRID (Reuters)—Spanish students clashed today with police for the third straight day during a demonstration outside the University of Madrid. At the same time, informed sources said Generalissimo Franco's government is prepared to invoke severe measures to quell the outbreaks.

After gathering outside the university grounds early today, some 1,000 shouting students tried to march on the ministry of information building, but were driven off by police.

The students have been protesting against Spanish press and radio versions of earlier demonstrations demanding the return of British-held Gribaltar to Spain. Queen Elizabeth's scheduled visit to the rock bastion next May had prompted the new outcry against Britain.

The demonstrations began among the students themselves but Tuesday turned against police for trying to curb them.

Police headquarters Tuesday night announced that 18 persons were hurt in Monday's clashes. No casualties were reported Tuesday, and it is understood that all students arrested were released.

WIN OVER JUNGLE—Author Ernest Hemingway (right, hand on cheek) and his wife, Mary, sitting next to him, survived two plane crashes in the wilds of Central East Africa. Their first plane was damaged when it made a landing and a rescue plane crashed as it was taking off with them. The Hemingways escaped injury and are reported to be headed by auto for Entebbe.

Tracks In Snow Lead To Arrests

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's five-inch blanket of snow this morning led to the arrest of three shop breaking suspects who failed to take into account that snow is revealing.

In one case tell-tale foot prints led from shops on Danforth avenue, up the snow covered streets, across a park and into a house. Two policemen tracked them, then raided the house, arresting Stuart Kyle, 23.

A pair of wet shoes were taken from the room; they fitted into the prints, police said. Further search uncovered two suits of clothes and other articles said to have been stolen from the shops.

Edwin Thomas Mcgowan, 17, and Dino Tsinonis, 16, were arrested in another case in which their prints were trailed over fences to a house on Rose avenue, then followed back to an automobile several blocks away which had been discovered with its windows smashed.

The youths are being held on a charge of theft of tools from the car of Thomas Baker.

Fire Marshal Orders Inquiry

AURORA (CP)—A special inquiry was ordered today by the Ontario fire marshal's office into the $500,000 fire which Monday destroyed part of Aurora's main business block and claimed the life of one man.

A two-day investigation by L. J. Bishop of the fire marshal's office has not disclosed the cause.

Mr. Bishop said the inquiry will be held later this week and every person "who can shed any light on the matter" would be called to testify.

Police chief Harry Jones previously said the fire started from the explosion of an oil furnace in the basement of a furniture store.

Thousands Late For Work

Expect More Snow As Ontario Hard Hit

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Heavy snowstorms snarled traffic in parts of eastern Canada today while the frozen Canadian Prairies went into a third week of sub-zero temperatures.

Southern Ontario got up to five inches of snow. Falls in the Toronto and Kitchener areas plugged some sideroads.

The Niagara peninsula and the London area got freezing rain Tuesday night and today. The storm covered almost all of southern Ontario and work crews from all of the province's 11 department of highways stations were busy clearing and sanding roads.

Thousands of persons in Ontario were late for work today, and the Dominion weather office said the snow isn't over yet. Another storm is expected to blow over the province from the central United States Thursday.

Up to six inches of snow is predicted for parts of Quebec today. The Maritimes can expect Tuesday's snow and rain to continue.

Fifteen consecutive days of cold temperatures have claimed 24 lives in western Canada, directly or indirectly.

Floods are reported threatening in British Columbia where above-freezing temperatures are expected. Warm weather would melt the more than four feet of snow that has fallen in the mountains and the run-off might pour into coastal centres.

New Westminster feared a record 56-inch snowfall could cause the worst flood in the city's history.

Temperatures at some Canadian centres Tuesday night: Vancouver 31, Edmonton -27, Calgary -30, Lethbridge -33, Saskatoon -28, Winnipeg -21, Windsor 32, Toronto 23, Ottawa and Montreal 16, Saint John 34, Halifax 37.

Store Clerks Report Petty Thefts

Money is made round to go 'round and once it starts moving from hand to hand, unless you have possession, it is very difficult to prove ownership.

So said inspector of detectives William Clarke today when he told the Examiner that quite a few store clerks in the city had been complaining of having money stolen from their purses while they were working at the counter.

It appears that some shop assistants have the habit of leaving the purses in public view. To some light-fingered persons the temptation is too much and they slip out with a little cash while the clerk is busy serving customers.

While the police have every sympathy with the losers, Inspector Clarke explained that no one can do very much about recovering the money unless the culprit is caught red-handed. To identify small amounts of money is impossible.

He suggests, however, that the petty thefts could be prevented if store clerks would make a point of keeping their purses and handbags well out of sight and reach of the public.

Would Narrow Awards Of Honorary QC Title

MONTREAL (CP) — A suggestion that Queen's counsel be created eventually only from the ranks of lawyers who practice actively before the courts was made Tuesday night by Chief Justice W. B. Scott of the Montreal Superior Court.

Speaking at the first of a series of four panel discussions organized by McGill University's faculty of law, the chief justice said there is a "real shortage" of lawyers doing barrister work before the courts.

Queen's counsel are named by the provincial government. The honorary titles are confined to lawyers at least 10 years in the profession, whether before the courts or in offices.

Man Under Arrest Hour After Holdup

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Police today charged Ralph Campbell Parks, 31, with armed robbery little more than an hour after a lone bandit held up a clerk in the Prudential Life Insurance office here.

Police said Parks claimed to be registered at a Toronto hotel.

He was taken into custody less than an hour after the clerk, Elizabeth King, notified police of the holdup.

Officers said they recovered $20 which the man had concealed in a shoe. Another $2 was found in one of his pockets.

Air Secretary Revises U.S. 'Who's To Stop Us' Remark

WASHINGTON (AP)—Air Secretary Harold E. Talbott Tuesday hurriedly revised a statement of United States intention to use bases in Spain during time of war to say it will be in line with agreements between the two. "Who is going to stop us?" Talbot quickly asked when a reporter said reports are current that the agreement under which the U.S. is starting to build several large air bases in Spain does not provide for U.S. use of the bases in wartime.

At another point he said: "There are certain agreements on the use of bases, but when the balloon goes up we are going to use them."

Talbott made the remarks at a press conference also attended by Defence Secretary Charles Wilson and other air officials.

ASKED CLARIFICATION

Shortly after the conference ended, Talbott's office sent to the defence department press room a typed statement in which the secretary said he wished to clarify his remark. It added:

"The U.S. Air Force has every intention of living up to the agreements between the United States and those foreign countries that have granted air base rights to our country. We realize that such base rights are an undertaking in the mutual defence and we enter such undertakings with every spirit of co-operation."

SOOTHE SPAIN

Talbott's clarifying statement obviously was intended to counter the likelihood that his first remark might annoy the Spanish government in its inferences about sovereignty.

During a visit to Madrid last fall, Talbott was quoted as saying the U.S. intended to stock atomic bombs at the Spanish bases. He later denied saying that.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, air force chief of staff, said the USAF now has a fighter - bomber and light-bomber force that "can carry a big bang"—the small-packaged atomic bombs developed for tactical attack.

Vietminh Attack, Take Key Post

SAIGON (AP)—The Communist-led Vietminh today launched a strong offensive on a 187-mile front in central Indo-China. The rebel troops captured one French post and 65 miles of a strategic highway in the little kingdom of Laos.

The full scope and importance of the attack were not yet known here tonight.

A French spokesman said the attack took place between the French-held post of Seno in the kingdom of Laos and the town of Quang Tri to the east on the Annam coast.

The assault paralleled the key highway across the narrow waist of Indo-China.

TAKE 65 MILES OF ROAD

Sixty-five miles of the highway were overrun by the rebels and the French post of Muong Phine, 40 miles east of Seno, was taken.

The French garrison of Muong Phine withdrew to Tchepone, 25 miles farther east.

If Over 50—Take Note: "Don't Shovel Snow"

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Smirle Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario, today warned all men of 50 or more not to shovel snow.

"There is a change in the heart muscles around the 50-year mark," he said. "Snow shovelling and other forms of extreme exertion, such as pushing cars, is dangerous and could cause death."

During Toronto's record snowfall of December, 1944, 17 men died from heart seizures brought on by shovelling snow in Toronto and suburbs.

'Esquire' Copies Seized

ROME (AP)—Police have seized copies of the January issue of the American magazine Esquire throughout Italy because of "nude pictures." Louis Cortese, publisher of the newspaper Rome Daily American and Rome distributor of the magazine, said he would appeal against the confiscation. He said police picked up all copies in the country.

Dean Confers On Red Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special United States ambassador Arthur Dean was due to confer late today with state department officials on a Communist demand that he resume preliminary talks on a Korean peace conference.

The Communist demand was made in a letter to Dean received at the state department Tuesday. The department is expected to reply this week.

The Communists accused the United Nations of stalling peace talks and of putting out optimistic propaganda. The Reds insisted on reconvening the preliminary talks by Monday, but they invited Dean to propose a date of his own.

The special ambassador walked out of the preliminary talks at Panmunjom Dec. 12 in protest against Communist accusations that the U.S. was guilty of perfidy and of conniving with President Syngman Rhee of South Korea to release 27,000 anti-Communist Chinese and north Korean war prisoners last summer.

WANTS RETRACTION

Dean said at the time he would not return until the charge was taken back. There have been suggestions that as a compromise the Reds might agree to erase the charge from the record.

The letter to Dean, signed by the Chinese and North Korean representatives, protested that lower-level liaison meetings have reached no basis for further negotiations.

Grazing Land Poor In Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. R. O Bibbey of the botany department of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph said Tuesday many Ontario farmers have neglected their grazing land so much that it is little better than scrub pasture.

Addressing the annual convention of the Soil and Crop Improvement Association, he said Ontario has about 15,300,000 acres of cleared land. Of this 2,800,000 acres could be classified as seeded pasture, but most of the pasturage fell into the category of rough pasture.

"Generally the Ontario livestock producer is not as conscious of pasture management as he is of other aspects of his production program. There is an awful lot of well-bred livestock being fed on scrub pastures."

Producers Consider Public Relations Plan

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Canada's beef, pork and lamb producers may soon have a share in an $80,000-a-year public relations business to promote sales of their products.

The money would come from a nickel-a-head levy on cattle coming into public stock yards and packing plants for sale. This would finance a national organization at the outset.

The Canadian Federation of Agriculture approved the principle of such a scheme today, but it will go to member groups for further study.

The recommendation was presented by J. A. Ferguson, president of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

ELECT OFFICERS

James B. Lillico was named president today of the Peterborough Automobile Club, with Donald Loucks vice-president and James Fraser secretary-treasurer. On the board of directors are Bert Austin, Coleman Blewett, Robert Carley, Donald D. Earle, Gordon Hancock, Victor Hamilton, Stan Longhurst, Eric McKinstry, John Nornabell, Paige Rowell, Jack Sinclair and Jack Steinkrauss. The club's annual meeting will be held at the Kawartha Golf Club tonight with OPP Inspector Albert Witts speaker.

Farm Experts Unable To Agree On Prospects For Year 1954

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two agricultural experts looked into the future Tuesday but couldn't agree on what 1954 would bring for Canadian farmers. H. H. Hannam, president of the 400,000-member Canadian federation of agriculture, told the federation's annual meeting: "The present level of farm prices is not likely to rise significantly while farm costs are likely to remain around their all-time peak."

Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, saw the future as "still bright."

On one point, wheat, both agreed.

Mr. McCubbin said markets will be found for the "five years' crop of wheat in three years" now in storage on the Prairies if farmers will "have patience."

Mr. Hannam said: "On a stable price program such as we have these large stocks should constitute a reasonable guarantee of farm income over the next year or two."

Mr. McCubbin said he is "optimistic" about livestock because more meat now is being eaten by a larger population. This year could be "a lot more profitable" for livestock producers.

PREDICTS LOWER PRICES

Mr. Hannam predicted lower prices for cattle and said Canada needs a more complete program for the dairy industry to co-ordinate marketing and price between the various branches of the industry.

Gilbert MacMillan, president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, presented a brief calling for curtailment of "unfair competition" from butter substitutes to "enable the butter industry to be maintained in a healthy stable condition."

Federation delegates today, by unanimous vote, approved the brief. Ottawa will be asked to restrict the sale of margarine to protect the butter industry.

Also scheduled for today are reports from commodity study groups on hogs, poultry and beef.

Turning Right On Red Light But First Stop

Can you turn right on a red light?

That's the question Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw stumped to be yet. But there's a catch, today. The obvious answer seemed to be yet. Bot there's a catch. You must first come to a full stop.

"I think the public should know that before turning right on a red light, a driver must bring his vehicle to a full stop," Mr. Bradshaw said.

The common assumption seems to be that if the traffic light shows red against you but there is no traffic moving on the intersecting street, it's OK to make a right turn. However, the Highway Traffic Act requires you to stop first so you can make sure there's no traffice.

If you keep on going right around the corner without stopping, the Act provides a $7.50 fine on top of which the court will slap on costs of $2.50.

One driver got nicked for the full $10 this morning for failing to stop for the red light at Parkhill Rd. and Water St. before making a right turn.

Port Perry Boys Defeat Lindsay

LINDSAY (ENS)—The juniors lost their chance to advance into second place in the Central Ontario Junior B standings here last night when they were downed 8-3 by the strong Port Perry Flyers. The Lindsayites battled on even terms with the visitors for the first period, but then fell behind as they tired.

In the first, Zedick scored for Port Perry, while O'Neill countered for Lindsay. The second say Dykstra, Romanuk, Masters, Copeland and Till credited with Port Perry goals, while Packer and Graham scored for the homesters. The Lindsay club left the bench after the fifth Port Perry goal of the period, which was not counted by the goal judge, but allowed by referee Herb Payne of Peterborough. Payne sent two of the Lindsay players off with misconduct penalties during the strenous argument that followed, and the Lindsay club finished the game under protest. A new goal judge was also required for the third period.

In the final frame O'Connor and Copeland added the last two goals for the winners, who were in control for most of the final period.

Big Three

Dulles said he understood Molotov's proposition "is designed primarily to establish and implement the principle that these five powers have a special mandate to run the affairs of the world."

Dulles disagreed any such mandate exists.

"The United States therefore proposes," Dulles said, "that we should take no action on the first agenda item (the five-power conference) and pass on to the second (Germany and European security) and third (Austrian independence)."

NOT DISCUSSING KOREA

Dulles asserted the situation would be different if the problem here was the "liberation of Korea from foreign troops." That he argued, is a proper issue for Red China and also for the Republic of Korea as well as for other powers."

Dulles flatly rejected a "five-power conference in his opening speech Tuesday, saying the U. S. would not meet with the "Chinese Communist aggressors for the purpose of dealing generally with the peace of the world."

FORMAL RESOLUTION

Molotov promptly countered with a formal resolution calling for such a meeting next May or June "to consider urgent measures to reduce tension in international relations."

On the surface the Russian gesture appeared futile. Its deeper meaning may be profound.

In pressing to the bitter end for an already rejected proposal, Molotov may be trying to strengthen Soviet ties with China. He probably also wants to exploit differences in the Western attitudes towards Peiping, which Britain recognizes and the U.S. and France do not.

He may believe that rejection now will not stand up later if he plugs his demands frequently.

The Western delegations say the pattern of Soviet strategy in the conference is becoming clear.

WOULD WEAKEN ALLIANCE

Apart from persistence in talking about world tension, which lumps together European and Far Eastern problems, Molotov is believed to be using every device at his command to weaken the Western alliance and prevent its ultimate completion.

The initial high stake in this campaign is the proposed European Defence Community, which would create a one-uniform European army of West German, French, Belgian, Italian, Dutch and Luxembourg manpower.

British, U.S. and French leaders here look to this agency to bridge the traditional French-German antagonism and permit controlled West German rearmament in a manner acceptable if not overagreeable to the French.

West Germany and The Netherlands have ratified EDC; France and the other prospective members have not.

FRIENDLY TO FRANCE

Molotov has concentrated his diplomatic skills here on being friendly to France, appealing to her traditional fear of German militarism and speaking hopefully of French ties with Russia.

Dulles Tuesday called Molotov's statement Monday a "profound disappointment" in offering no new ideas and in repeating "old false charges and recriminations." He said EDC was proposed not to revive German militarism but to prevent it.

In the Far East, Dulles said, the U.S. has not refused to recognize the existence of the Chinese Communist regime and has not refused to deal with it in negotiations for a Korean settlement at Panmunjom.

"It is, however, one thing to recognize evil as a fact. It is another thing to take evil to one's breast and call it good."

And as Eden and Bidault said Monday for their governments, Dulles added that the U.S. rejects the Soviet concept that any so-called "five great powers" have the right to rule the world and determine the destinies of other nations.

Churchill

Osborne . . . and upon which no doubt we shall be receiving some distinguished enlightment shortly."

The 79-year-old Sir Winston then murmured: "It is a delusion."

Churchill himself apparently has not yet decided when he will retire, and enjoys hearing the speculation and rumor.

When Fletcher first mentioned his retirement, Churchill grinned and apologized for "not having brought my hearing aid."

GETS HEARING AID

He then sent his son-in-law and parliamentary private secretary, Christopher Soames, out to get the prime ministerial ear trumpet.

Loud cheers greeted Soames' return with the hearing aid.

Churchill listened with a smile to attempts by Fletcher and Labor member Roy Jenkins to draw him out, but said nothing more.

Only Monday the prime minister went out to a wind-swept range to make a personal try-out of the new Belgian F. N. Rifle which Britain has decided to adopt as the standard infantry weapon. Wearing a heavy overcoat and seated in a chair, Churchill fired two dozen shots, and the range warden said he got "a very good score."

In the House Tuesday night, the prime minister discussed the .30 calibre rapid-firing Belgian weapon which also is undergoing tests in Canada, the United States and several other member countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Adoption of a standard rifle for NATO countries has been a subject for debate in the West for some time.

Churchill said he has "reason to believe" that U.S. military authorities concur in Britain's adoption of the Belgian weapon, but did not go as far as to say the U.S. plans to adopt it too.

Arrest Three Youths After Tunnel Chase

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Three youths arrested Tuesday night in the Detroit-Windsor tunnel following a wild police chase through downtown Windsor, are being questioned today in connection with the $11,500 robbery of a city supermarket Saturday night.

Detectives refused to name the suspects, but said one was armed when taken into custody.

The congresses' joint statement said the total unemployed in some parts of the country has reached "approximately 15 per cent of the labor force—well over the danger point." The growing number of job seekers and of unemployed "in all parts of Canada are cause for alarm."

Mr. Gregg's remarks came after questions by Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West) and James A. Byrne (L—Kootenay East) as to what the government is doing about unemployment.

Their questions were based on labor department figures that 338,000 persons were looking for jobs through the department's agency at Dec. 10—a post-war high for that time of year. The figure is understood to have risen since then above the absolute post-war high of 434,000 in the spring of 1952.

All The Answers

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP)—The Victorian state government railways found they wasted time and money answering questions from train enthusiasts, so they published "Parade of Power," with pictures, specifications and history of 20 locomotives. The book proved popular and a second edition has already been ordered.

Base metals remained firm. Noranda was down 50 cents and Consolidated Smelters added 37½.

Uraniums and Bathurst-area base metals were slightly lower.

Textile Industry Teeters "On Brink Of Disaster"

TORONTO (CP) — J. Harold Daoust, Canadian director of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL), says Canada's textile industry is on the "brink of disaster."

In a letter to Prime Minister St. Laurent released Tuesday night, he said there are more than 20,000 Canadian textile workers unemployed and "many more thousands burdend with the distress caused by only infrequent employment opportunities."

Last year the Canadian textile industry supplied only 53 per cent of the needs of the domestic market compared to 70-75 per cent before the Second World War.

He urged a "complete reconsideration of current trade policies and agreements to halt the ruinous effects of the rising volume of textile imports to this country."

PART-TIME WORK

Mr. Daoust said in the last two months the majority of mills in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes reduced operations to a one-shift basis.

Mills had been closed at the Ontario centres of Renfrew, Almonte and Cornwall and there was "evidence of lay-offs and unemployment" in Hamilton, Galt, Guelph, Hespeler, Welland, Dunnville, St. Catharines and London.

At Drummondville and Sorel in Quebec the work force has been reduced by almost half and there was also critical unemployment in the Montreal and Valleyfield cotton centres.

"Critical situations have developed in the Maritimes during the past two months, where whole communities are totally dependent upon the dominant textile mills for economic life," Mr. Daoust's letter said.

Stepdaughter Heard Cowling Confess Love

COBOURG (ENS) — Stanley Cowling, 38-year-old Tyrone farmer, confessed his love for his stepdaughter, 19-year-old Yvonne Saunders, in a signed statement given to provincial police and read into the court record at his trial Tuesday on an attempted murder charge. He is alleged to have sent poisoned chocolates to his attractive stepdaughter in January of last year. While she did not eat any of the chocolates, when she passed the box around on a bus on her way home from work, several others did but suffered no ill effects.

Evidence presented by Dr. Ward Smith and Professor Joselyn Rogers Tuesday was that the seven chocolates which had been tampered with, contained arsenic. Miss Saunders, who was six years old when her mother was married to Cowling, told the court Tuesday morning that she had heard her father tell her mother that he had fallen in love with his stepdaughter. She also told defence counsel Arthur Greer that her father appeared to be in poor health most of the time and was often to see his doctor.

Provincial Constable Art Watson of Bowmanville testified that he had received a call from Cowling's wife on July 25 and next day went to see Stanley Cowling and told him he was investigating some anonymous letters received by Yvonne Saunders. He took a statement from him, advising him that he was suspected of the attempted poisoning of his stepdaughter.

The statement, which was read in court after Mr. Justice Danis ruled it admissable, said in part: "I fell in love with her (Yvonne Saunders) but naturally she wouldn't have anything to do with me." He said that he wrote her the anonymous letters to "make her feel bad." He declared that he wanted her home and wished her to give up her job. He had sent her the poisoned chocolates to make her sick so that she would come home and that he had put arsenic in the chocolates, having obtained the poison in an Oshawa drug store. When he applied for the arsenic they mistook the name Cowan for Cowling and he signed it "Cowan."

FIRST ATTEMPT

"I never tried anything like that before. I didn't intend to poison her, just make her sick so that she would come home. I was fond of her," Cowling's statement read. He added that his health had been poor due to nerves and it was his poor health that had brought about his behavior.

He repeated in his statement several times that he had meant no harm to his stepdaughter but only wanted to make her sick so that she would come home. Once a school teacher, he was planning to go back to teaching school and had a job lined up in order to get money to pay for psychiatric treatmnet, Cowling said.

To defence counsel Arthur Greer, the constable said that it was quite apparent that Cowling was in a very nervous state when he went to see him last July.

Dr. Ward Smith, who is attached to the medical-legal branch of the Attorney-General's Dept., Toronto, said that he was given the box of chocolates to examine and that in the top layer, seven of them had been tampered with, with one doubtful. Five, which had hard centres, were untouched and four had been taken from the box before he received it. The bottom layer of 16 chocolates, had not been tampered with, he said. All seven chocolates had contained arsenic but only two were tested for quantity, one containing 2.6 grains of arsenic and the other 6.3 grains. Fatal dose was between two and three grains although people have recovered who had taken larger doses. Six grains under favorable circumstances would kill most people, he said.

Professor Rogers concurred in the results of the analysis. A fraction of a grain, up to '50 grains had killed people in his experience. The symptoms would continue from a short period of time up to as long as two months he had found.

Despite snows and below zero temperatures the construction company has been working 13 hours a day to complete the job before break-up. Predicts State Medicine For Canada In 20 Years

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Dr. David Burgess was guest speaker at the luncheon of the Rotary club here on Monday.

Dr. Burgess predicted that state medicine will come in some form in Canada within the next 20 years. He hoped when it would offer all the advantages of medical research and experience to all Canadians and that it would incorporate all the good points and none of the bad points of the English system.

The speaker said at the present time there is a free choice on the part of both the doctor and the patient. The doctor depends a great deal on the hospital for diagnostic equipment, rather than as in the past when his only weapons of diagnosis were intuition and experience. He said that already four cases had been properly diagnosed, because of the modern facilities available at the new Campbellford Memorial Hospital.

CANCER RESEARCH

Speaking of the government's contribution to the national health scheme, Dr. Burgess said the federal government spent nearly eight million dollars on cancer research and an equal amount was spent by the provinces. The per captia cost of this research is equal to and in many cases more than, any country in the world. Canadian health departments are doing an excellent job, he said.

Dr. Burgess predicted that advances in the next half century would concentrate mainly on fighting heart diseases, cancer and respiratory ailments, in that order. The heart is the cause of death in eight out of 10 persons. Experiments have shown that the lives of animals can be extended greatly through certain diets.

Speaking of cancer, he said there were up to 300 varieties of the disease. Certain of these can now be definitely cured. Likely in the next 50 years great advances will be made in cancer research.

TO WIPE OUT TB

Tuberculosis is not likely to be classed as a killer at all in the next half century, due to the fact preventative medicines have been developed to wipe it out.

Typhoid fever will be unknown soon and no operation will be considered impossible.

In the field of mental health there have been great strides, but these too will be much greater than we have heretofore seen.

Taking an overall picture of the advances in medical science, astounding developments await us in the next half century, the speaker said.

Kinsmen See Colored Films

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — The Kinsmen club met at the Trent House Monday night, when Kinsman Charles Wickens, an ardent photographer, showed a number of colored slides he had taken during the past year.

Shots of the Coronation pageant held in Campbellford last June were especially appreciated and the group enjoyed pictures of local scenes and boat races.

Keith Bull, manager of a local chain grocery store, spoke on the services these chain organizations render to a community. He told of his own experiences while serving in many points in Southern Ontario.

SCHOOL MILK

Forrest Dennis reported that the club was supplying milk to both the public and separate schools, and that the dairies were donating the drinking straws.

Kinsmen Dante Pace and Ray Hall were awarded pins for 100 per cent attendance.

The business portion of the meeting included a discussion regarding sending a busload of Grade 8 pupils to Ottawa, and also the merits of holding a ladies' night soon.

It was decided to invite the Picton Kinsmen club to Campbellford sometime in the near future.

Refuses To Give Evidence Despite Warning Of Court

Disregarding warnings by Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, Carl Northey, sentenced last week to 2½ years in prison for stealing mail cheques, refused to give evidence against James Hutchison in court Tuesday.

Hutchison, now living in Toronto, is allegedly concerned in the theft of cheques along with Northey and a Mrs. Delphine Provencher, and on Tuesday the preliminary hearing of his case was concluded. He was remanded on bail of $3,000 for trial by higher court.

Northey, awaiting transport to the Kingston penitentiary, was brought by the Crown to testify against Hutchison.

He walked to the witness box and informed the magistrate he was so upset he could not remember anything.

Magistrate Phlip: "You are being called as a witness for the Crown and if you know anything you are bound to answer questions, otherwise you will be guilty of contempt of court."

Northey: "I refuse to answer any questions. I won't take any oath."

"Would you prefer to give evidence by affirmation instead of by oath?" asked the magistrate.

Northey: "I'm not going to say anything."

ASKS SENTENCE

Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw: "I am going to ask that this man be sentenced and in addition I suggest that he be made to appear from week to week until he purges his contempt." (Voluntarily gives evidence.)

Magistrate Philp said he would remand Northey to the county jail, pending sentence until February 2.

"Can't I have sentence now," interrupted Northey. "I'll never answer any questions."

Magistrate Philp: "You must realise that it is not permitted to refuse to answer questions."

The magistrate considered, however, that there was sufficient evidence already to warrant Hutchison's trial by higher court. In a week's time Northey would be sentenced for contempt of court. His evidence was not required for the preliminary hearing.

Delphine Provencher, who is also charged with the theft of cheques, told the court that she had been with Northey and Hutchison when they followed a rural mailman in September and October of last year.

They had kept just out of sight of the mailman and had taken letters containing cheques from the boxes. Both Northey and Hutchison had taken the cheques.

CASHED CHEQUES

"I signed about 20 cheques in the names given on the front and cashed them at several stores in the city," she said. "I signed them at the request of both Carl and Jim" (Northey and Hutchison).

Mrs. Provencher also remembered telephoning to the post office and then giving the receiver to Hutchison who had asked what time the rural mails left for delivery.

Although on several occasions she had lent money to the two men, she said that Hutchison usually carried about $100 in his wallet.

Under cross-examination by defence lawyer Mannis Frankel of Toronto, Mrs. Provencher said she had met Hutchison during 1953 and had invited him to her home. Northey had accompanied him.

"What used to take place at your home?" asked Mr. Frankel.

"They used to come in and stay a little while and then go," she answered.

Mr. Frankel: "Oh, I see. They just came in to pass the day . . . or night. Is that it?"

Mrs. Provencher: "Yes."

Mrs. Provencher explained that she had been able to lend the two men money because her husband used to send her substantial amounts from British Columbia where he was working.

Mrs. Eva Howe testified that she had gone with Hutchison and Northey in her car on a tour of country roads around Peterborough, during October, 1953. They had stopped at several mail boxes and Hutchison had taken mail out of them.

"They told me they were working for the government," she said.

Judge's Chambers Found Inadequate

COBOURG (ENS) — The grand jury presentment at Wednesday's assize court suggested that the county property committee and town property committee be members of a planning board to plan all the available space in the town hall. The grand jury said that the judge's chambers and library are inadequate to handle the traffic, and that cloak rooms, etc., should be provided for lawyers, clients and witnesses. The light in the court room was very inadequate and should be changed, and that the county clerk's and county engineer's office should be redecorated. The jail and counties home were found to be in very satisfactory condition.

"Your presentment has shown you to be men of good judgment. I agree with what you have said about the court room and the judge's retiring room and in sending your report to the appropriate authorities I shall add some of my own feeling on the subject," said Mr. Justice Danis.

Peterborough Barley For Korea

The plight of the people of Korea has touched the hearts of Canadian men who served there and is known to all of us who have heard the returned soldiers' stories and read reports from correspondents in Korea. Special U.N. agencies have been established to help the Koreans so ravaged by a war which was thrust upon them. Various religious denominations which have long had an interest in Korean missions are giving a hand, too. It is with warm pleasure that we see four carloads of barley leaving the Quaker Oats mill at Peterborough this week, destination Korea. The shipment is being sent by the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada.

* * *

Two of the most admirable, least publicized religious organizations giving quiet, consistent and wise help to peoples in distress are the Society of Friends and the Unitarians. In both world wars and now in Korea, their ambulance services, their relief supplies, their welfare workers and their spirit have infused relief with kindliness, charity with generosity of heart, and succour with human sympathy and tolerance. The Quakers and the Unitarians, among others, redeem man's ravages.

American Trade Wall Remains

Since Canada is both the biggest buyer from the U.S. and the biggest seller to that country, the state of tariffs and trade between the two countries is very important to Canada. Between 1946 and December, 1952, Canada bought from the U.S. goods worth fifteen billion one hundred million dollars. In that period Canadian sales to the U.S. totalled eleven billion, seven hundred million dollars. This exchange of goods is far greater than the sales between any two other countries; therefore any changes made by the Americans which are likely to affect that trade are of the utmost importance to Canadians, so much of whose livelihood depends on exports. Changes have been proposed by President Eisenhower's Randall Commission on foreign economic policy. Its report was made to the President on the weekend.

It is not only in Canadian eyes that the change seen to be desirable, and even essential, is a removal of American trade barriers. There is disappointment that the Randall report is not direct and strong in recommending this. True, a fifteen per cent. cut in tariff rates—five per cent. a year for three consecutive years—has been proposed, and other recommendations have been made which would have the effect of lessening restrictions, making the flow of goods easier, and giving the President wider powers to make reciprocal tax agreements. These proposals are not, however, sweeping in scope, nor have they been unanimously endorsed by all the seventeen members of Mr. Randall's commission. Dissenting views were taken by some of the influential Republican elected members of the commission. The report itself has no weight whatever until its recommendations are accepted by Congress. It is likely that by the time the recommendations are filtered through political hands they will have even less strength than they now possess.

The United States has taken Britain's nineteenth century place as the leader of world trade and the dollar has the role of the pound as the catalyst in international finance. The report shows some recognition of the New American responsibility and power, but it is not clear enough. The western world's economic ills will not be cured, or a prosperous future secured, by half-way measures. American trade philosophy must change from Protection to Free Trade.

Protection served the U.S. well enough in the nineteenth century, as it did Britain in the eighteenth century. But when Britain became the richest and most powerful nation and the arbiter of world trade and money after the Napoleonic Wars, her eighteenth century policies of trade barriers gave place to free trade. Huskisson began the administrative and ministerial side of the Free Trade movement in 1823, which Peel and Gladstone completed, and historians admit (a lesson today for the U.S.) that Huskisson's Free Trade measures unshackled the limbs of a vigorous giant, British commerce and industry. No member of the Randall Commission seems likely to be an American Huskisson.

Viewing With Alarm

The discussion about the harmful nature of cigarette-smoking continues, and some extraordinary opinions are being expressed by people in responsible positions. For instance, Dr. Alton Ochsner of the Tulane University School of Medicine is quoted as saying: "We are extremely concerned about the possibility that the male population of the United States will be decimated by cancer of the lung in another fifty years, if cigarette smoking increases as it has in the past, unless some steps are taken to remove the cancer-producing factors in tobacco". The word in this statement which holds our attention is decimated. Unless Dr. Ochsner is using words very loosely—which a man of science should never do in a public statement — he means that in fifty years one man in every ten, among the cigarette smokers in the U.S.A., may have lung cancer. In the light of what other equally reputable scientists have to say on the subject, we think that this is a very extreme statement and one calculated to spread fear unnecessarily.

The tendency to 'view with alarm' is just as great among physicians as among laymen. Years ago, when cigarettes were first becoming popular, there was no lack of well-qualified men of science who were prepared to say that cigarettes stunted the growth, harmed the eyesight, and gnawed at the nobler portions of the intellect. What we wonder is this: why so much talk about cigarettes, and not a word about cigars or pipes?

Some scientists say that pipes and cigars are less harmful than cigarettes because their smoke is not inhaled. We wonder what gives them this opinion. We know smokers of pipes and cigars who inhale every puff. Is the tobacco used in cigarettes of markedly different quality from that used in cigars and pipe tobacco?

We do not slight the importance of the discussion which is going on about cigarettes. We wish only to point out that whenever any problem of this kind arises there are plenty of doctors who are prepared to take the gloomiest possible view of the matter, and we suspect that it is a personal, rather than a scientific, bias which colours their opinions. The sooner we have some completely reliable and unprejudiced research on tobacco, the better it will be.

Unwise New Quebec Law

The Legislative Assembly of Quebec has unanimously approved a bill which will make illegal the purveying or utterance, in print or from a street-corner or platform, of language considered "abusive and insulting" to a religious denomination. The members of the Assembly may mean well, but it seems to us they have wrought unwisely.

The bill is aimed directly at the Jehovah's Witnesses, of course, to prevent them from distributing their pamphlets, a sect whose activities have caused annoyance to people in all provinces. It is not, in its phrasing, discriminatory; it is supposed to protect all denominations (including, we presume Jehovah's Witnesses themselves) from being 'abused and insulted'. The trouble is not that the new law interferes with freedom of worship; we think it makes grave restrictions against freedom of speech, and even of thought. One phrase in the new bill is directed against not only utterances, but also against an intention of uttering or purveying language considered "abusive and insulting".

Quebec has an old law on its statute books which should have served. It is the Freedom of Worship Act of 1852, which permits the full practice of religious professions provided it "be not made an excuse for acts of licentiousness, or a justification of practices inconsistent with the peace and safety of the Province". There are other safeguards against slander and vilification.

The new Quebec law allows too many loopholes through which freedom of speech can be infringed, and not only in matters purely religious. "Insulting and abusive" can be loosely interpreted and comprehensively applied against political speakers in the heat of an election campaign, against preachers and priests in pulpits, against educators, social workers as well as against Jehovah's Witnesses. Would an agnostic, professing his disbelief, be held guilty of insulting a denomination?

The new law is on such dangerous ground and so loose in its terms that it should be tested by the Supreme Court. And since it applies to all manner of believers and not only to the Jehovah's Witnesses, we think that the Witnesses should not be expected to foot the bill for a test case before the Supreme Court.

NOTES AND COMMENT

In a Burns Day message the Rt. Hon. Herbert Morrison said that the celebrated Scottish poet was a Socialist. This reminds us of the Russian claim that Dickens was a Marxist. There should be a league to forbid the political recruiting of the dead.

The other day we read something about UFO, which we later learned was meant to signify Unidentified Flying Object, whereas we, in our ignorance, thought it meant United Farmers of Ontario!

FOUR YEARS A REPUBLIC

India's 'Neutralism'

By PHILIP DEANE
(in New Delhi)

IT IS four years yesterday since India became a republic. Those years have seen the flowering of the Indian foreign policy known as "neutralism," a policy which has severely taxed the patience of Western statesmen.

When in 1950 India became a republic she was already an independent member of the Commonwealth. By breaking her last symbolic ties with the British Crown, India wanted to symbolize her final break with the vassal status she had previously known. It was not surprising that India made this gesture. What was more surprising in a way was that she wished to stay within the Commonwealth at all. But her leading men, part-products of Western culture, did not want to sever all connections with the West. To them the Commonwealth with its lack of compulsion provided just the sort of link with the West that could be accepted by a country so recently freed from Western domination.

* * *

THERE WERE other things which kept India within the Commonwealth: respect for some characteristics of her former British masters and admiration and affection for Britain's non-violent withdrawal from the Indian sub-continent. Then the Commonwealth provided a handy stage for the role India wanted to play in world affairs, a role of influence through persuasion.

* * *

IN HER four years as a republic, India's relations with the Commonwealth have been good on the whole, with much of the mutual influencing that Indian leaders had envisaged. India feels she has more weight in world affairs through the Commonwealth, although she is conscious that the Commonwealth too has more weight because India stays with it. There have been material advantages, too — armaments, trading privileges and some measure of economic aid.

With one of the sister Commonwealth nations, South Africa, India's relations have been bad. Nearly four hundred thousand Indians suffer from South Africa's racial policies and even if that reason did not exist, India, a former colony, cannot but react against racial discrimination elsewhere.

* * *

INDIA'S QUARREL with another Commonwealth sister, Pakistan, over boundaries and canal rights in Kashmir seems today in retrospect a regrettable but inevitable consequence not only of the bloody partition of the sub-continent but of the centuries of antagonism between Muslim and Hindu. These hang-overs from the past affect the coolest men here, warp rational thought and produce policies which to the outsider appear wholly out of keeping with India's utterances on international affairs.

* * *

THESE UTTERANCES have followed a pattern which has come to be known as "neutralism." Whatever the merits of this policy, it appears to answer the aspirations of many millions of people in Asia. Long colonised or dominated by the materially superior European, the people of Asia have up till now seen their civilisation fail to solve the problems of everyday life and fail to eradicate their chronic poverty and hopeless misery. The few improvements made were the products of the Western conquerors, who all too often mixed contempt with the improvements they brought. This pattern of contempt and failure produced a continental inferiority complex which led the Asians to seek balms for their wounded self-esteem. They told themselves that spiritually at least, if not materially, they were superior to their conquerors. They also came to blame all the ills of Asia on the conquerors from the West. The inevitable next step was to demand the departure of the conquerors.

* * *

THE POLICY of "neutralism" is based on the intense desire to keep the departed Western conquerors from returning even as economic rulers. An inescapable and natural feature of this desire is suspicion of the erstwhile conquerors even when they offer to help.

The West is now led by the United States and illogically, the anti-colonialist United States is indentified in the Asian mind today with the colonialist nations whom it leads.

* * *

NEUTRALISM is also based on the desire to stay out of the quarrels of the former conquerors and to get on with the most urgent job of fighting poverty. Neutralism also springs from the old habit of feeling morally superior to the West while at the same time striving to emulate Western technical achievements.

India is big and has at the head a man who voices these Asian feelings. That is one of the reasons why Nehru, India's Premier, has such a hold over his people. He wants what they want. In the West he is accused of refusing to do his share in the battle against Communist expansionism, a battle which concerns him, too. He is accused of criticising the West more than he criticises the Communists.

He answers that one fights Communism best by raising the standard of living and not by armaments or military alliances which in any case cannot but look suspicious to his newly freed people. He also answers that he criticises the West because he likes the democratic West and wants to help with criticism, whereas he does not like the Communists on whom criticism is in any case wasted.

* * *

WHETHER one agrees with him or not, the facts remain that Nehru has chosen the Western democratic way of responsible, revocable authority and not the Communist way of irresponsible, irrevocable absolutism. Nehru's India and Mao's China are both trying to solve the problems of Asian misery. The former tries the democratic way, the latter tries the Communist way. Being the two biggest Asian countries, India and China cannot escape being examples of what can be done in backyard Asia by democracy and Communism respectively.

Personally incorruptible, free from the accusation of being anybody's puppet, acutely sensitive to Asian sentiments and aspirations, Nehru symbolises the Asian form of the democratic way. If Nehru is not able to lead his country out of its misery along that way, then Asia will follow the other way, the way of Mao. It is therefore vital for the West that Nehru should not fail.

A Textile Wage Finding

(OTTAWA CITIZEN)

A judge in Montreal, acting as arbitrator in a wage dispute involving two textile firms and their employees, has recommended "maintenance of the status quo" in the matter of wages, with certain possible exceptions. He has rejected the union request for a 10 per cent increase, on the other hand, and that of the companies for a 5-cent per hour reduction, on the other.

The arbitrator, Judge Rene Lippe, obviously believes that in proposing a general wage-freeze at present levels he is going as far as he can on behalf of the workers. For the burden of his report is that the textile industry is in a very bad way. Its situation, he says, is "serious, in fact precarious," as a result of foreign competition "which has increased in alarming proportions for several years."

In support of his main contention these specific statements are made by the arbitrator: That as a result of dumping of foreign products on the Canadian market during the past two or three years, Canadian textile mills supplied only 49 per cent of the domestic fabric market in 1952 as compared with 62 per cent in 1950; that imports of foreign cotton goods have tripled, with the United States alone shipping 2 per cent of the total production of that country to Canada in 1952 (equivalent to 90 per cent of the total Canadian output of such materials); and that employment and dividends in the industry have dropped sharply.

Difficulties of the Canadian textile industry have been widely discussed in recent months, and there is a good deal of public support for measures to prevent unloading of goods in Canada at prices below what they are sold for in the country of origin. This is dumping, as the term has been commonly understood. Parliament recently went a step further, however, in granting the national revenue minister power to establish prices for duty purposes on "end-of-season" and "end-of-line" manufactures (textiles among them) which may represent clearances at prices not different in country of origin to those proposed in Canada.

Judge Lippe apparently accepts the proposition that textile employees cannot expect relief except at the expense of Canadian consumers generally. Yet there may be an alternative. This is to increase the efficiency of the domestic industry, possibly through concentration on certain stable lines. If reasonable wages cannot be maintained without excessive protection, Canadian consumers as a whole may wonder whether the cost of keeping the industry in its present form is not too high.

Water Tastes in Prince Albert

(Saskatoon Star-Phoenix)

Despite assurances that their water supply contains neither bacteria nor chemicals which might be injurious to health, the people of Prince Albert deserve our sympathy. Their water smells and tastes as no water intended for human consumption should. Scientists may demonstrate that particular level of water consumption is necessary for the maintenance of human life and that from this point of view any water which contains no harmful substances may be satisfactory. But for most of us, including scientists away from their laboritories, water is something we drink either neat or as the foundation of other beverages because it refreshes us. And no scientist will convince us that a glass of water or cup of tea with a repugnant smell or taste is refreshing.

Too Many Patients

(Calgary Herald)

Dr. L. O. Bradley, administrator of the General Hospital, has had some disturbing things to say about the shortage of nurses in these parts.

We suggest they also consider the possibility that hospital space is being taken up by patients who have no unavoidable reason for being in hospital at all. Does it never happen that the availability of a hospital bed at $1 per day causes patients to go to hospital when they could be adequately treated at home, or stay there beyond the time strictly required by the nature of the illness? Does it never happen that busy doctors get patients admitted to hospital because it is easier to keep a check on them there, instead of having to call at their homes, and they know that hospitalization is only going to cost the patient a most reasonable $1 a day?

In view of the the recent trend of hospital costs, it seems to us that communities like this one will shortly have to take careful stock of the kind of hospital care they can afford to supply all comers at cut rates.

Letters To The Editor

MORE ABOUT STRAY DOGS

SIR: I agree with "CITIZEN" in Friday evening's issue re "Stray Dogs."

There are two of these, a black and white mongrel and a large brown Collie, on Armour road below Sophia that are becoming quite dangerous.

A man can ward these two off, as long as he doesn't show any fear, but some day very soon, a child or women is going to be thrown into hysterics or shock, have clothing torn or probably be bitten.

They are definitely not only a nuisance, but a serious menace. The owners know of the condition, so the only remedy is official action.

Respectfully,
"ANOTHER CITIZEN"

CANADIAN INFERIORITY COMPLEX

SIR: I am still attempting to fathom the thought that prompted your editorial "A Long Way from Disraeli." Did an Englishman upset you on Friday, is there a political motive, or it is just fashionable to sling the occasional pie?

Who and where are those "insular Englishmen" who still regard the Dominions as glorified colonies? After living in England for over thirty years I do not recall having met or heard of them.

Any school kid in Britain over the age of ten knows that the Dominions are absolutely and entirely free and independent. The view that the Dominions are in any way subservent to Britain is rarely, if ever, expressed in that country, and it would seem that the occasional outbursts in the Canadian press merely result from an inferiority complex suffered by some Canadians.

Paradoxically, talk to any group of second or third generation Anglo-Saxon Canadians and all will still proudly assert their descent from English, Scottish, Irish or Welsh stock. I am not clear as to what a "colonial copy of Britain" would be, but there is no doubt that the New Zealanders, and Canadians for that matter, have copied many things from Britain, including a system of government which seems to function as well as any.

Yours faithfully,
REG WALLIS.

Dragonet Song Big Hit In England

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—You may never have suspected, but Stan Freberg's lampooning record, "St. George and the Dragonet," is a hit in England.

This was one of the bits of information I gleaned from Robert Weiss, a former Hollywood press agent who is now Capitol Records' ambassador of goodwill in Europe. Here to report to the home base, he told me that American music is extremely popular in free Europe and even gets a play behind the Iron Curtain.

"Of course, the English have never seen or heard 'Dragnet' on TV," said Weiss, "so we weren't sure whether 'St. George and the Dragonet' would be well received. But it has been a big success. It's partly because St. George is a national hero over there."

BREAKS IT DOWN

Weiss gave me a country-by-country rundown on national tastes in music:

Sweden — They like American favorites such as Stan Kenton, Les Paul-Mary Ford, King Cole and Ray Anthony. They also go for "cool jazz" like Jerry Mulligan's.

Norway—In a cooler country, they are slightly more reserved in their music tastes.

Finland—Same as Norway.

Denmark — They prefer gay, carefree, melodic music of such performers as Cole, Paul-Ford, Canada's Giselle McKenzie.

West Germany—Having listened to the American armed forces radio network, they have developed a taste for hill-billy and western music, which they find similar to their Bavarian style.

Holland and Belgium — Their tastes are almost exactly the same as in North America.

England—They buy more records by American performers than by English. Disk jockeys have even more power than in the United States, because of the government's radio monopoly. A Saturday night record show is heard by 20,000,000.

TWO STRONG FACTIONS

France—There are two strong factions: "Those who are devout for dixieland and those who love strong ballads.

Switzerland—Although they show a liking for American jazz and ballads, they are not as responsive as other nationalities.

Italy—Melody is strong here, not jazz. Frank Sinatra, Cole and Paul-Ford are big favorites. Also liked: tangos, samba, mambas.

Spain and Portugal—records are luxury items. Best sellers are concert-type records with lush arrangements.

Europe is a ripe field for finding new songs, Weiss commented. Among those he has uncovered was a German tune called "Du Du Du" and a Swiss tearjerker named "Oh Mein Papa." You've heard them on the juke boxes as "You You You" and "Oh My Papa."

Gas 40 Cents 1,000 Cu. Ft. When Pipeline Completed

CALGARY (CP) — Toronto and district consumers will pay between $1.10 and $1.30 per 1,000 cubic feet for Alberta natural gas under the proposed Trans-Canada Pipeline plan, Attorney General Porter of Ontario said here Tuesday.

He said industrial gas in the Toronto area might run as low as 37 to 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, but the price is dependent on "many factors."

The price of natural gas in Calgary is $2.50 for the first 2,000 cubic feet and 26 cents for each additional 1,000 cubic feet.

CONFER WITH LEADERS

Mr. Porter made the statement in an interview after gas export discussions with Premier Manning in Edmonton Monday. He and two other Ontario officials are conferring with oil and gas industry leaders here. The others are A. R. Crozier, fuel controller, and Robert Saunders, chief of the Ontario hydro commission.

"If such a 36-inch line were put into use, it would carry the equivalent of between 7,000,000 and 8,000,000 tons of coal yearly," Mr. Crozier said.

The Ontario officials said Alberta producers would receive about 10¾ cents per 1,000 cubic feet for their gas. After it was processed—only residue dry gas will go through the 2,240-mile line—the price probably would be 13 to 14 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

TRANSPORTATION COSTS

At Toronto's city limits the price would be 40 to 55 cents, they said. The gas would gain in value due to transportation costs. After it was put through distribution channels in Toronto, it would increase in value again to $1.10 or $1.30 per 1,000 cubic feet.

Mr. Crozier said the price of gas will be "about the same" as fuel oil and coal but its selling point will be its convenience. The great majority of Toronto and district householders use coal or fuel oil for heating.

Mr. Porter said the size of the line has not been established. Mr. Crozier indicated a 36-inch line is favored over a 30-inch one.

Alberta gas shipped to Ontario also would go to Sarnia to bolster the storage supply. Sarnia customers receiving gas at present pay $1 to $1.30 per 1,000 cubic feet.

The Ontario officials said there probably will be an escalator clause in the contract entered into with Alberta producers and this would run to about a half-cent.

It has been estimated the line an be in operation by 1957 and built at a cost of $350,000,000.

South Korea-U.S. Pact Ratified By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate voted Tuesday to ratify the mutual security treaty with South Korea—United States' first such obligation with a country on the mainland of Asia.

The vote was 81 in favor of the treaty and six against—far more than the two-thirds majority required to approve ratification.

The pact obligates the United States and the Korean republic to come to the aid of each other in the event of an aggressive attack on one of the parties.

It does not require the United States to aid any aggressive move by Syngman Rhee's government to unify his country, and the Senate so stipulated in its resolution of ratification.

$40 Payments To Disabled Seen Introduced

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal-provincial conference on allowances for the disabled Tuesday approved the outline of the central government's plan for joint government payments of the totally and permanently disabled.

A statement issued after the meeting said there was "general approval of the federal government's declared intention to introduce enabling legislation providing for a system of federal-provincial allowances."

Federal Health Minister Martin said after the one-day conference he now will introduce his disabled-allowance legislation in the Commons "just as quickly as possible."

After this legislation has been enacted, the official statement said, there will be another federal provincial meeting to enact regulations for administering the plan.

$40 MONTHLY

While the general statement gave no details, informants said later the federal officials outlined their plan in these terms:

Payments of $40 a month to those qualified, with the federal treasury and the provinces splitting the payments evenly and the provinces meeting administrative costs. The provinces would have charge of administration.

Officials said this outline was affirmed in principle by all provinces.

It was agreed, too, that certain categories would be excluded from allowances, such as persons receiving workmen's compensation for disabilities.

The conference did not settle the question of the age groups within which the allowances would be paid, but it was expected floor and ceiling ages would be included in the federal legislation, within which various provinces could operate.

Ontario now has a floor age of 18, and it was considered likely this would be used in the federal bill.

Refugees Losers In Arab-Israeli War

By LYNN HEINZERLING

JERUSALEM (AP) — There can't be any doubt about who lost the 1948 war between Israel and her Arab neighbors. The losers are still sitting around the battlefield, ragged, sullen and resentful.

These are the Palestine refugees —686,350 of them officially—who have endured their exile from normal life for nearly six years. Their Arab leaders say they must return to their former homes, now in Israel. Israel says they will never return.

Grouped in an irregular, reproachful semi-circle around the land frontiers of Israel, in Lebanon, Syria, Jordan and the Egyptian-controlled Gaza strip, the refugees sit and brood over their misfortune. Each year, 25,000 new refugees are born.

They live in tents, in shacks, in mud or straw huts, in caves. Some have found crowded refuge with friends or relatives.

BEST FRIEND

Their best friend is UNRWA, the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine refugees. It spends some $25,000,000 each year for their food, education and medical attention.

Only 271,583 of the refugees live in the 61 official UNRWA camps, stretching from Aleppo, Syria, in the north to the desert wastes of Gaza in the south. The rest live the best they can. At the start of each month, all line up and receive from UNRWA 22 pounds of flour and some rice, dried peas or beans, oil or fat and sugar, with a piece of soap. This usually lasts about 25 days. The refugees must scrounge or barter for their food the rest of the month.

APATHETIC AND RESIGNED

Some of them are militantly expressive. Many, after five years, are apathetic and resigned to a life of uselessness.

About 95,000 children are being taught by 2,000 refugee teachers in UNRWA elementary schools. Another 55,000 have been admitted to private or public schools in their countries of refuge.

Dr. Robert Westwater, former chief inspector of public schools in Ottawa, heads UNRAW's education division. He says a vocational training program also is being expanded, but it is difficult to find jobs for graduates. Dr. Westwater says he has encountered "a widespread feeling that a man who works with his hands is low caste" and UNRWA is seeking to "establish the dignity of labor."

TOO MUCH CRITICISM

One effort to help refugees find jobs shattered on the opposition of refugee spokesmen and, a part of the Arab press. The UNRWA placement officer, Mrs. Olga Hyka of New York, had classified the occupations of 38,000 refugees. She was accused of listing refugee skills for the U. S. Army for possible use in a war with the Soviet Union. She was also accused of being a "Zionist agent." She had managed to place 3,575 refugees in private employment when the classification was discontinued because of the criticism.

GRUDGING CO-OPERATION

The Palestine Arabs always were among the most literate of Middle Eastern peoples, Dr. Westwater said. Now they are the captives of circumstance. They have become one of the basic political realities of the Middle East. No political leader can ignore them.

Although more than $121,000,000 has been spent on relief, spokesmen for the refugees condemn UNRWA and most Arab governments offer only grudging co-operation.

Dr. Izzat Tannous, general secretary of Palestine refugee committees in Lebanon, calls the UNRWA ration one on which "an animal could hardly live."

Navy Pilot Dies, Crew Injured In Plane Crash

HALIFAX (CP)—A Royal Navy pilot was killed Tuesday when a single-engine Avenger crashed and burned shortly after taking off from the Shearwater naval air station across the harbor from Halifax.

The plane's other two crew members, Sub-Lt. E. R. Hunter of Manitou, Man., and AB. Frank A. Zruna of Blenheim, Ont., suffered minor injuries while fighting the fire with a hand extinguisher and pulling the pilot's body from the wreckage.

The name of the pilot, on loan to the Royal Canadian Navy, was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

The Avenger is a relatively slow aircraft used for anti-submarine work. They were purchased from the United States Navy and now considered obsolete.

Cause of the crash was not known immediately.

Vehicles Shipments Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Factory shipments of Canadian-made motor vehicles dropped to a four-year low during November but increased in the January-November period, the bureau of statistics reported. Shipments during the month declined to 19,931 units from 35,898 in October and 31,340 in November, 1952. However, substantial gains earlier in the year boosted the January-November shipments to 445,879 units from 402,828 in the corresponding period in 1952.

Petes Down Orillia 5-4 In Overtime Heat To Get Closer To Lead

ORILLIA (Special)—They say heroes are made, not born. Doc Prentice and Rod Belisle of the Petes made themselves heroes last night in Orillia with Belisle getting the tying goal and Doc the winning tally in the overtime period as Petes won 5-4. Over 1,200 fans at the Orillia Community Centre arena went home disappointed as the home team shot away 2-1 and 4-3 period leads. The Pontiacs came within two goals of movng up into second place in the senior "B" big five group but instead the hard-driving Petes crept within two points of the first-place Oshawa Truckmen.

The loss for the Pontiacs left them tied for third place with Kingston, three points behind the Petes. Ab Bowmen of Orillia, the man with the blazing shot, was the only two-goal man of the evening. Orillia's other tallies came off the sticks of Rusty Aiken and Earl McCrone. For McCrone, who led the league last year in scoring, it was his first goal of the season. The Petes' goals were evenly divided among Greenlaw, Munroe, Prentice, Crowley and Belisle.

PENALTIES HURT

Penalties played a major role in the scoring in the initial period Greenlaw tallied from Leonard and Ed Redmond at the 2:53 mark with Nelson of Orillia off on a hooking penalty. Eleven seconds after Bill McMaster was banished for tripping, Ab Bowen knotted the score at 1-1 from Clary Payne. Rutsy Aiken put Orillia in front 2-1 from Payne and Favero near the close.

Orillia scored twice in the next stanza, McCrone from Wood and Nelson and then Bowen from Richardson and Grigg. Sandwiched in between were two Petes markers, Munroe unassisted first and Crowley from Hill at 10:56. Orillia drew four penalties, including a minor for interference to Pontiac goalie Bobby Shropshire served by Aiken. Peterborough drew three miscues including a 10-minute misconduct to Montgomery.

SERVED IT UP

Just sixteen seconds after the puck was dropped in the third period, it was behind Bob Shropshire, courtesy of Belisle, and that ended the scoring in the period, although Orillia missed many many great chances to salt it away as they had a man advantage three times. Several shots hit the crossbar post and rigging but didn't go in.

Things looked rosy for Orillia when Ed Redmond was penalized for slashing at the 44-second mark of the overtime period. However, their advantage was nullified when Bruno (Red) Favero was banished for tripping. Pearsall of Orillia fell at centre ice allowing Doc Prentice to skate in all alone to score at the 6.55 mark. With about two minutes remaining, playing coach Vic Grigg made a rush through the entire Petes' team, flipped it to Rusty Aiken in the clear and Jack Donlevy outguessed him. Shropshire was lifted for a sixth attacker with 18 seconds left but the move almost backfired when a Peterborough clearing pass went the length of the ice, and just missed the empty net by two inches. It was a good fast game, kept well in hand.

Orillia: goal, Shropshire; defence, Pearsall and Shewchuk; centre, Bowen; wings, Richardson and MacDonald; alts.: Nelson, Wood, McCrone, Favero, Payne, Aiken, Grigg, Vasey, Desrocher. Petes: goal, Donlevy; defence, Montgomery and McMaster centre, Leonard; wings, Greenlaw and Fryia, alts.: Munroe, Armstrong, Redmond, Crowley, Hill, Prentice, Belisle, Peterson, Collins.

Chatham Coach Blames Windsor In Friday Brawl

CHATHAM (CP)—Jack Stewart, Chatham Maroons' manager, said Tuesday Windsor Bulldogs and their coach Murph Chamberlain were "entirely at fault" for a brawl during last Friday night's hockey game here.

The brawl, in which fighting spread to the stands, broke out in the third period of an Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series game. It began when Gord Byers, Chatham defenceman, and Windsor forward Frank Bathgate began fighting. Players from both teams joined in the fray.

The national anthem had to be played twice to end the brawl. Chatham defeated Windsor 3-1 after play was resumed.

ORDERED TO MIX

The Maroons' manager said Chamberlain "sent his players off the bench onto the ice to mix it up at a time when the fighting was just about under control."

He said "if it hadn't been for this grandstand play on Chamberlain's part, the whole thing would probably have been settled in short order."

Chamberlain charged earlier that Byers "deliberately" tried to injure Bathgate.

"He knocked out five teeth and split Bathgate's nose," Chamberlain said. "Our guys didn't like it, so they went after Maroons. . . ."

OHA president Tory Gregg announced in Toronto Tuesday that Byers has been given a four-game suspension as a result of the fighting.

Punishing Attack Marks Win By Gil Turner

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia's Gil Turner, carrying the heaviest weight of his career at 157½ pounds, won a unanimous 10-round decision over Frenchman Pierre Langlois Tuesday night with a punishing two-fisted body attack. Langlois, the battle hardened French middleweight, also weighed 157½.

The two judges and the referee all voted 5-4-1 for Turner, who gained his 42nd victory in 46 fights. Apparently, most of the 7,168 fans disagreed with the official decision, booing loudly, tossing papers into the ring, and pounding their chairs on the floor.

The Associated Press scored the 23-year-old Philadelphia Negro the winner 5-3-2. Langlois started out fast, winning two of the first three rounds with a sharp left jab and an overhand right that had Turner in trouble. In the second round the 28-year-old Frenchman battered Turner against the ropes and drove a straight right hand to the face that stunned the Philadelphia middleweight. Langlois surged forward with a powerful string of left and right hands that had Turner wobbling almost groggy at the bell.

Lakefield Captures EPL Tussle By 6-3

WARSAW (ENS) — Lakefield was victorious over Warsaw on Tuesday night by a score of 6-3. The ice was soft and the players had difficulty in passing the puck.

The third frame picked up somewhat with Lakefield getting four goals and Warsaw two. In the early part of the period Smith and Coones received penalties for fisticuffs while Rowe, Barrie and Calberry accounted for the others.

Warsaw Victors

WARSAW (ENS) — Warsaw defeated Douro 6-3 in a fast-moving game on Monday night. This was the fifth in the Bush League schedule at the Dummer Community Rink.

The Warsaw goalie received a cut below the right eye in the early part of the game and a substitute was put in. Later on in the game one of the Douro men darted in front of his net to help stop the puck and was hit in the mouth with the rubber knocking out several teeth.

The game was very fast with few penalties passed out.

The next Bush League game is Thursday evening and contenders will be Burns Bridge and Ennismore.

SPS Jr. Lasses Get Win Over Lakefield

An experienced St. Peter's High junior girls quintette had too much polish for the Lakefield High lasses Tuesday night. The Saints carrying an edge on the play romped to a 41-11 victory over the Lakefield girls who were playing their second game in high school basketball.

Actually the Lakefield girls could move the ball well up and down the court but within scoring range, they chose to pass rather than shoot. Therefore they threw away a number of chances to score.

Meanwhile under the basket the Lakefield guards were having their troubles with the Saints' forwards, especially Joanne Kearns and Mickie McNaughton. The guards weren't checking close enough and weren't going up for the rebounds.

At the same time the Saints with a year's experience shot well, passed well and rebounded well. Their only failure was to move the ball faster from the guards to the forwards.

AN EARLY LEAD

At any rate, the Saints moved fast enough for a 16-2 first quarter score, went ahead 25-5 at the half, stayed ahead 36-9 in the third quarter and coasted in the fourth.

Joanne Kearns with layups and short one-handed set shots totalled 14 points as top scorer. Mickie McNaughton had nine, Joan Heard, Marg Crilly each had eight and Mary Crilly had two. Jean Calvert dropped in four for Lakefield while the other points went to Carol Peters, Annette Brown and Ann Wilson each with two and Barbara Whitick with one.

Lineups: Lakefield High (11) — J. Calvert, B. Whitick, C. Peters, A. Brown, A. Wilson, G. Calvert, D. Flynn, E. Weavers, B. Whetung, C. Vallance, B. Rath and J. Staples.

St. Peter's High (41) — J. Kearns, J. Heard, Marg Crilly, M. McNaughton, Mary Crilly, R. DeCarlo, M. Caravaggie, W. Gooley, D. Crowley, E. Hajnik.

McFarlane Wins Trophy

TORONTO (CP) — University of Toronto Athletic Association Tuesday night announced award of the Johnny Copp Memorial Trophy for the most valuable player of the senior football team to Bill McFarlane, this year's No. 1 Big Four draft choice.

PAINFUL FROM THE BENCH—Guess who's winning from these photographs taken along the Lakefield High (top) and St. Peter's High benches Tuesday in a junior basketball game. St. Peter's held a wide margin in the scoring for a 41-11 victory. Despite the large score the Lakefield girls under Helen Spannis (at right, hand to face) kept fighting until the final whistle. But the Saints under Mary Scanlin (second from right, lower) also fought for their victory despite the worried expressions. (Examiner Staff Photos)

Nailing Arnie Weinmeister Just One Of Stukus' Tricks

By DON MATHESON

VANCOUVER (CP)—Annis Stukus, coach of British Columbia Lions, can show football's undercover agents some tricks.

He has shown both showmanship and cloak-and-dagger work in building a new football team.

Stukus worked behind the scenes, coming up with some brilliant plays, but always he remembered the ethics of sportsmanship.

A good example is his newest acquisition, Arnie Weinmeister, probably United States professional football's greatest lineman while with New York Giants. He is the first announced American import to sign with the new club in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

MADE MISTAKE

After Saskatchewan Roughriders had been after Weinmeister for two years without success, they made the mistake of taking him off their negotiation list one day last summer.

Two days before the WIFU met last week to formally admit Lions into the league, Vancouver announced that Weinmeister had been signed. Obviously, they had him for some time.

The secret work is necessary. Big Stuke recalls the time someone let slip the names of four American players. The names were published.

SECRECY, SHOWMANSHIP

"Within two days," says Stukus, "all four were on the negotiation lists of other WIFU teams."

A lot of the secrecy may be sheer showmanship, the kind Stukus has used to such advantage in getting Lions their berth in the league, and the same that he used while coaching Edmonton Eskimos in a similar first-time-for-a-while plunge into big-league football.

Stukus used showmanship to sell the Lions. He was appointed coach here last February, leaving his job as a Toronto newspaper man. Ahead of the Lion directorate was the job of selling 6,500 season tickets for games this fall in advance. That was the final condition Lions had to overcome to gain entry in the WIFU.

Lions sold the 6,500 seats in two weeks. The total now is 8,100.

Harrison Floors Experts Takes Walls In 10 Rounds

TORONTO (CP) — Earl Walls, Canada's leading contender for a shot at Rocky Marciano's world heavyweight title, has had his dreams all but shattered.

The 25-year-old holder of the Canadian heavyweight crown suffered his first defeat since 1951 Tuesday night when he lost an unanimous 10-round decision to of Los Angeles. It was a bruising, belting fight that kept a record indoor crowd here of 14,737 on its feet most of the route.

"He beat me," said a slightly dejected Walls after the fight that drew a record gate of $45,261 at Maple Leaf Gardens.

CLOSE ALL WAY

There were not many around who would dispute Walls' declaration, but it was close all the way.

Walls, listed by Ring magazine as the fifth leading world contender and a 2-to-1 favorite to take Harrison, twice got up off the floor after nine counts in the fourth and sixth rounds to battle the lighter Harrison to the final bell.

Harrison came out unmarked. Walls suffered a cut around his left eye, two cuts on the bridge of his nose and mouse under his right eye.

Walls, boxing professionally since 1948 and a comparative unknown in Canada until he rang up an impressive string of 15 successive knockouts over the last two years, appeared set to end it early. He swarmed all over Harrison in the first two rounds and stunned him with hard lefts to the face and body.

But Harrison, who weighed 183 pounds against Walls' 190½, fought back to take the next two rounds and go ahead when he dumped Walls to the canvas for the nine count in the fourth. A hard right uppercut to the chin spilled Walls and he just made it to his feet at nine.

The fifth round was even but in the sixth, Harrison, fighting mainly from close in, again caught Walls with a right flush on the chin to spill him for a second nine count.

They battled toe to toe the rest of the distance and Harrison finished off with a 10th-round flurry of lefts that had Walls holding on at the end.

Walls said he would like to get another shot at the Los Angeles Negro and Harrison said he would oblige but first he has some business in New York—challenging world champion Rocky Marciano.

That challenge, he said, would be made Friday.

FINANCIAL SUCCESS—Annis Stukus, coach of the new British Columbia Lions entry in the Western Provincial Football Union, displays the well-known Stukus grin as he looks over 8,000 applications for season tickets to Lions' games this fall. Outright sales of the 8,100 seats at prices ranging from $24 to $28 a seat for the season has brought the club $96,000. An advance sale of 6,500 season tickets by May 1, 1954, was one condition set by the WIFU for Lions' entry into the league.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Latest NHL bulletin to hand shows just four players with 20 or more goals as of Jan. 23, all four being right-wingers. Richard has 25, Geoffrion 21, Howe and Hergesheimer 20 each. In points, Howe leads with 50, two more than the Rocket. An item says: "Ike Hildebrand, 26-year-old rookie forward, is having a most unusual first year in the NHL. He started out the season with New York Rangers. Later he was sent to Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League, and now he has been sold to the Chicago Black Hawks. Ike is the only player in the NHL to perform for two different teams this season." Yes, and in just 33 games up there he has 18 points, as a whole raft of established NHL-ers, in 45 or more games, have less than his total.

We were talking the other night to Eddie Redmond and Drake Jopling about keeping statistics on local senior "B" players. Eddie, as a former pro puckist, believes in keeping tabs and we agree. Figures can be misleading, of course, but they average out pretty accurately over a period of time. A good figure filbert on the Petes' executive could come up with a lot of interesting facts in a month or so of checking on players. Who gets the goals, the assists, the penalties and against what opposing lines. Who misses most checks to permit goals by opposing teams, etc. Conn Smythe and Hap Day are noted NHL book-keepers on their players' good and bad moves, and no doubt other big league managers keep a tally, too. It usually pays off.

Panning Press Boxes

Scribe Carver of Belleville is peeved at a Toronto writer for panning press boxes in smaller centres. Says George: "The gentleman should take a trip to the sticks and enjoy the facilities of some of the press boxes. He probably has never stood in a crowded penalty box trying to jot down a goal and two assists while ducking left hooks as two irate players tangle. He probably never tried to write notes on a rough pine board at five below zero, nor suffered curvature of the spine from being jammed against the side of a rink as huffy fans formed a solid wall in front of him. Some fun, eh? Try it, bub."

* * * * * * *

Yeah, we've had those experiences over a good many winters. Often covered tilts outdoors, too, with hands practically frozen. Or in rickety rinks as rain leaked through the roof onto the notebook. Will always recall with a shudder covering OHA jousts in the narrow Bobcaygeon rink, hanging precariously off a rafter, trying to peek through many beams to see what went on below. Having just two hands, with one needed to hold onto a support, it was quite a chore putting down notes in a book. Nor were 'Caygeon fans perched around us too friendly when the ice action below became rough. More than once this writer has had to run for it in various rinks in an area from Haliburton to Tweed. But barbs and bric-a-brac bounce lightly off a hard noggin, and we're still going strong.

TPT Petes Keep Rolling

Petes limped into Orillia last gloaming and came away with a 5-4 OHA senior "B" victory after an overtime session. Win hoists them up further into second spot, just one full game back of the leading Oshawa Truckmen. Doc Prentice, who wasn't expected to play — owing to a game leg — came through with the winning marker in the extra heat. Rod Belisle had tied the tilt in the third after Orillia led in the first two frames. Coach Eddie Redmond, nursing a sore foot, was in on one goal, and Denny Peterson (recovering from a bad knee) was another solid performer. Greenlaw, Munroe and Crowley were other local scorers, with Leonard and Hill also in on one. Donlevy was hot again in goal. Ab Bowen counted twice for Pontiacs, who are back here Friday.

The stage has been reached where playoff teams are known in the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association, so the final week's schedule need not be played. Instead, according to Secretary Angus Bradley, the city playoffs have been advanced a week and will go this Thursday eve at Civic Arena thusly, commencing at 6: Aces vs. bantam Shamrocks, midget Shamrocks vs. the Aces, and Oddfellows vs. the juvenile Aces. These will be first games in home-and-home city finals with goals to count, the series concluding on Feb. 4, with provincial playdowns following for the victors. Some keen puck competition has been served up during the past two months in the minor setup, and the playoffs ought to be right interesting. PMHA officials like Dick Ouimet, Phonse Brioux, Harley Carr, Angus Bradley, Jack Miller, Bill Dawson and team managers have worked hard for the boys.

For the third time this season, Edgar Scrutton, 10-year-old swimmer, won the YMCA swimming club handicap swim Tuesday night.

The event, a 100-yard free style swim, was keenly contested with 12 swimmer competing. In the final Scrutton nosed out backstroker David Pryde, who recorded his fastest 100-yard time of 1:17 minutes. King Baker placed third just ahead of Bob Stickle.

All the finalists showed improvement in their time records. Other improvements were shown by Terry Northrop, John Gordon, Bill Bonney and Barry Baker.

In the relay race Northrop's team of Wayne Ash, Bill Bonney, and David Minty won over teams captained by Wilton Tranter and David Pryde.

Win Would Put Maple Leafs In Second Place; Canadiens In Top Shape

By JIM BASTABLE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

If Jim Thomson had to rely on scoring goals to stay in big-league hockey he would have been kicked down to the minors years ago. Thomson, a prolific scorer as a defenceman in his amateur days, has the dubious honor of being just about the worst sniper in the business. He hasn't scored a goal in three National Hockey League seasons. "We don't pay him to score goals," says coach King Clancy of Toronto Maple Leafs. "He's a defenceman and his primary job is to do a defensive job."

Thomson has spent eight of his 26 years with the Leafs. In that time he has tallied seven goals.

"That's okay," Clancy says. "This boy is good, don't kid yourself about that. Don't forget he's got 170 assists since he broke in with the Leafs in the 1945-46 season. Why do you think he rates among the best defencemen in the game today?"

Fans and opposing players don't need a reminder.

MAINSTAY OF LEAFS

Although Thomson has been a dud as a scorer he has been a mainstay with the Leafs. Many of his 170 assists came on clutch goals. His defensive ability has put him on the league's second all-star team twice in the last three seasons.

Thomson last scored in the 1950-51 campaign, when he got three goals. In that year he had 33 assists. He has 17 assists so far this season.

Thomson will be after the big goal tonight when the third-place Leafs meet second-place Montreal Canadiens in Toronto in the only league game.

Thomson, who started in minor hockey in his native Winnipeg, doesn't know why he's missing the nets.

"Many times I've seen the puck head straight for the net, hit somebody's stick and bounce off the goalpost. I can't seem to get it in there."

MAY EDGE CANADIENS

A win for the Leafs would move them ahead of Canadiens. They have 54 points, one less than Montreal, on 23 victories and eight ties in 44 games.

However, the Leafs will be without centre Tod Sloan and defenceman Fernie Flaman. Sloan suffered a twisted knee last Sunday. Flaman is out with a swollen ankle.

The Montrealers, who had a poor road record, may be in shape to take this one. They have centre Elmer Lach back in top form and Maurice Richard is riding high on a season total of 28 goals.

The Montrealers will also use Andre Corriveau, 136-pound winger from Valleyfield Braves of the Quebec Hockey League who came up for a three-game trial and stuck.

At the same time, Canadiens released defenceman Bud MacPherson to Montreal Royals of the QHL. MacPherson is subject to immediate recall.

Two games are scheduled for Thursday night. Fifth-place New York Rangers meet the Red Wings in Detroit and last-place Chicago Black Hawks clash with the fourth-place Bruins in Boston.

Pitching Better Ventures Dodger Manager

By WALTER ALSTON
Manager of Brooklyn Dodgers

OXFORD, O. (AP) — From the start, may I say that I am not in a good position to say much about the Brooklyn Dodgers for the simple reason that I am new to the major leagues.

About the only Dodger department I can discuss is the rookie department. As manager of Montreal and St. Paul I have had the opportunity to watch most of these boys develop. We have several fine young pitchers coming up from Montreal in Hamp Coleman, Tom Lasorda, Ken Lehman, Ed Roebuck and Glenn Mickens.

Coleman and Lasorda showed considerable improvement toward the end of the season and throughout the playoff and junior world series. Coleman probably improved the most. He gets good velocity on his fast ball, his curve is sharp and he has improved considerably in controlling his pitches. Lasorda seems to have overcome his wildness. He is a little fellow. However, his courage and desire to win overcome his small stature.

Lehman started the season very well but was slowed down by a bad ankle. He showed good stuff again toward the close of the season. Roebuck was our hard luck pitcher but showed good stuff all year. Mickens joined us late in the season and pitched well in his games. However, he may need more seasoning. He is a fine prospect.

Don Hoak, a third baseman, and Charley Thompson, a catcher, were with me in Montreal and both did fine jobs. They were A-1 in team spirit and desire to win. Some say Hoak is a better defence third baseman than Billy Cox. Others say that's hard to believe. I'll say it is. If he fields in the majors as well as Cox, Brooklyn will have the two best third basemen in the National League.

From the St. Louis club we will have pitchers Moore, Negray, Bessent and Dranell. I know these pitchers only from former spring training games, and by their records. Of course, Don Zimmer will join us from St. Paul and I know him from his spring training games. He looked very good last spring and I understand his head injury no longer troubles him. (Zimmer, a highly promising shortstop, was struck by a pitch last summer and suffered a fractured skull that sidelined him for the rest of the season).

The return of Don Newcombe from the army should be a help to the pitching staff if he can return to his pre-service form. The pitching figures to be better than last year if only because we will have Don Newcombe back. I know that Carl Erskine is a fine pitcher. Others on the staff will be new to me except those I had in the past at Montreal or St. Paul.

Just which rookies have the best chance to help the Dodgers I do not know. All the pitchers from the Montreal club are of equal ability. Their success will depend largely on control and how well they can pitch against major league hitters.

LITTLER TURNS PRO

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Gene Littler, United States amateur golf champion, Tuesday announced he is turning professional.

The announcement came with notice to him that he was being released from the navy Feb. 2 under a medical discharge, because of recurring attacks of hay fever.

Littler, 23, indicated after winning the San Diego open tournament Sunday that he would enter the pro ranks when his navy service was ended.

AN UNIDENTIFIED BOXER DOG, rallied to the aid of Golden Gloves boxer Jimmy Hager, 17, who was taking a mandatory eight-count at a Lexington, Ky., show. The dog jumped from the audience and tried to scramble under the ropes when Hager was knocked down. Referee Varney stopped the dog and an unidentified fan scooped him from the ring and left.

Call Stengel To Help Settle Contracts

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel, a wizard of the diamond, joins the New York Yankees' executive at the conference table today as the world champions step up their efforts to sign their players.

Stengel is coming to town officially to attend the New York baseball writers' dinner Sunday night. But he has been known to take a welcome hand in adjusting salary differences with his star performers.

ONLY SIGNED BERRA

So far the Yanks have signed only catcher Yogi Berra from their 1953 regulars. They inherited a two-year contract when they got Eddie Robinson from Philadelphia Athletics, and have agreed to terms with pitcher Harry Byrd, the other big name in the wholesale swap with Philadelphia.

Tom Gorman, a relief man last season, and two outfield prospects, Art Schult and Emil Tellinger, came into the fold Tuesday but third-baseman Gil McDougald left the office unsigned after a conference.

McDougald and Pitcher Whitey Ford previously had called their first contract offers unsatisfactory.

Galt Rink Gains Hamilton Finals

HAMILTON (CP)—W. A. Meyer Tuesday night skipped his Galt rink into a berth in Friday's finals as the 64-rink Tiger Town bonspiel ended its second day.

William G. Hardie's Victoria quartet is the other undefeated rink of the 16 that entered Tuesday's draw. Two undefeated rinks from each day's draw will play Friday for the McCoy Trophy.

Second-event winners were skipped by Dr. A. E. Walkey of the host club, and E. R. Underhill of Brampton. They will join with other finalists Friday for the Snetsinger Trophy Competition.

Meyer gained a chance for the McCoy Trophy by handing John Woodcroft's Hamilton Victoria entry a 12-3 defeat, while Hardie's rink was edging a Brantford entry skipped by Frank Bell, 10-8.

Seixas, Trabert Lose, All-Aussie Final Due

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — American Davis Cuppers Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert dropped a tight semi-final doubles match, 6-4, 12-10, 10-8, today to Australians Clive Wilderspin and Neale Fraser in the Australian national tennis championships.

They were the last Americans left in doubles play.

The finals will be an all-Australian go, with Wilderspin and Fraser meeting young Mervyn Rose and Rex Hartwig, who whipped veterans John Bromwich and Adrian Quist 7-5, 6-2, 6-3.

Maritime League Argues Statement

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — Two Maritime hockey officials have taken exception to remarks by a Chatham rink manager who said he was worried about having a Maritime hockey league develop in Ontario.

MMHL president C. Roy MacDonald and George W. Tingley, president of Halifax Atlantics hockey club, were commenting on a story of a recent hockey brawl in Chatham.

S. L. Clunis said the brawling situation should be corrected "rather than have any Maritime hockey league develop in Ontario."

Tingley said that 90 per cent of the MMHL players cam from Ontario and Quebec.

He added:

"If there is any rowdyism here, the fans know where it originates—with the few who have not cast off the habits they acquired before they arrived."

Pro Puck Clubs To Play East-West Series

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Western Hockey League announced Tuesday that a professional championship series will be held this year between eastern and western Canada.

It will be the first such series in 28 years and will bring the playoff champions of the Quebec Hockey League west to meet representatives of the WHL. The Quebec League turned pro last year.

Al Leader, WHL president, said there will be a new trophy for the minor professional championship of Canada and the winners will share $10,000. The losers will divide $7,500.

ENDS MARCH 21

The playing schedule of both leagues ends March 21 after which the first six clubs in each league will meet in an elimination playoff to determine the representative in the East-West series.

It will be a best-of-nine series.

Leader said the trophy will bear the name of an outstanding sportsman.

In the old days the famed Stanley Cup was the target when the National Hockey Association and the Pacific Coast Hockey League played in an annual East-West series for the professional hockey championship of the world.

This east-west series was inaugurated in 1915 and it continued until 1926. The new series will alternate. It will be played in the East in 1955.

St. Catharines Edges Tigers 5-4, Keep Top Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A late goal by Barry Cullen Tuesday night saved St. Catharines TeePees from dropping into second place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A group standings.

At Montreal, Toronto Marlboros heaped up an 11-1 victory over Montreal Royals. They would have taken over first place if Cullen hadn't come through with his second goal of the evening to give TeePees a 5-4 win over Hamilton Tigers.

In a second interlocking schedule game of the OHA junior loop and the Quebec Junior Hockey League, Galt Black Hawks fell to a 4-2 defeat at the hands of Quebec Frontenacs.

GALT, HAMILTON TIED

Galt and Hamilton are tied for sixth place in the eight-team loop.

In Kitchener, Toronto St. Michael's Majors scored three goals in the third period to edge Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts 5-4.

Cullen's winning goal came less than two minutes before the final whistle. Other TeePee scorers were Don McLean, who also scored twice, and Nelson Bulloch. Hamilton scorers were Joe Zorica, with two, Danny McNeill and Lloyd McKay.

Montreal's only marker was scored by Alex Viskelis. Gerry James scored three for Marlboros. Mike Nykolok and Mike Elik each scored two and singles were racked up by Billy Harris, Tom McCarthy Charlie Burns and Lonny Larosa.

LOGAN SCORES TWICE

Marksmen for Quebec were Charles Denomme, Stan Parker, Guy Rousseau and Bob Chevalier. Eddie Switzer and Neil McDonald scored Galt's two goals.

At Kitchener, Jimmy Logan got two goals for St. Michael's and Mark Reaume, Dick Duff and Les Duff got singles. Doug Vaughan, Beryl Klinck, Graham Joyce and Howie Glover scored for Kitchener.

Tonight Galt is at Montreal, Marlboros at Trois Rivieres and St. Catharines at Guelph.

SETS RECORD—Mike Agostini of Trinidad who runs for University of Villanova, breaks into a broad grin after setting the world indoor record for the 100-yard dash at Washington Saturday night. Mike hit the tape in a 9.6 clocking, two tenths of a second off a 30-year record. The mark came on Mike's 19th birthday.

Quebec-Ontario Rinks Vie For Top Honors

By PETER BUCKLEY

QUEBEC (CP)—The third day of the Quebec international bonspiel opened this morning with the issue fairly divided between Quebec and Ontario for top honors in the week-long curling classic.

Among 16 teams that qualified Tuesday for quarter-final play in A and B competitions, nine combinations are from Quebec—five from Quebec City—six from Ontario and one from the United States.

None of the 22 maritime entries reached the A and B quarter-finals but several were in the running for the final eight berths of C competition, to be decided today.

Teams that reach the final eight in the three competitions qualify for the Lieutenant Governor's and Grand Aggregate competitions.

TODAY'S DRAW

Today's draw for A division quarter-finals puts Trois-Rivieres, Que., against Quebec Victoria No. 5, Detroit No. 2 against Sudbury No. 2, Kirkland Lake No. 1 against Ottawa Glebe, and Quebec Curling Club No. 2 against Granby.

In the B division, Cornwall No. 1 meets Sudbury No. 1, St. Johns, Que., No. 1 meet Quebec Etchemin No. 1, Quebec Jacques Cartier No. 1 meet Montreal West, and Ottawa West meet Jacques Cartier No. 5.

Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly Tuesday led his Toronto Granite rink to an 8-7 win over Paul Ruel's Quebec Curling Club quartet and an 8-5 triumph over Jack Rattray's Quebec Victoria team in C competition.

The Ontario Supreme Court judge was following his 1952 championship path, when he dropped his first game—as happened Monday—and then went on to make a clean sweep in C competition for the trophies.

Moody Moore 2-To-1 Favorite

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A moody, tight-lipped Archie Moore, although heavily beset by marital troubles, is a 2-to-1 favorite to defend his light heavyweight boxing championship successfully against jabbing Joey Maxim in their 15-round outdoor fight in Miami Stadium tonight.

Archie's wife, Alice, dealt the champ a legal blow that hurt him worse than anything the light-punching Maxim can throw when she filed a separate-maintenance suit Tuesday that tied up his purse and will keep Archie in Florida until a settlement is reached.

The action was particularly painful to the 37-year-old Archie because tonight promises to be the richest of his 17-year career.

If predictions of a $100,000 gate hold up, Moore's share will be in the neighborhood of $52,000. He is to receive 40 per cent and Maxim 20 per cent of the net pot, which will be sweetened by $50,000 in television and radio receipts.

Tonight's fight will be broadcast and telecast nationally by CBS starting at 10 p.m. EST.

Toronto Curler Wins Fifth Straight Time

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Mrs. L. E. Woolley of Toronto Granites won the Ontario ladies tankard Tuesday for the fifth consecutive time with a 14-2 win over Mrs. K. Claren of Hamilton Thistles.

Mrs. Woolley's rink scored two on each of the first five ends to take a 10-0 lead and was never in trouble.

Mrs. C. B. Schmidt's Kitchener rink won the Mrs. H. E. Northey Trophy with a 12-6 win over Mrs. C. Gooch of Hamilton Victorias in the final of the second event.

Basketball Tourney Set For March 19-20

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The Ontario Federation of Secondary Schools Basketball tournament will be held in Windsor March 19 and 20.

The tournament features top senior collegiate teams and is usually held in Toronto each year. This season it is a major event on the Windsor centennial sport program.

Eight teams will compete, two each from Windsor and Toronto and one each from Hamilton, northern Ontario, eastern Ontario and central Ontario. Defending champion is Niagara Falls Collegiate and Vocational Institute.

CARTER TO DEFEND TITLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Carter of New York, world lightweight champion, will defend his title against Paddy De Marco of Brooklyn in a 15-round bout here March 5.

It will be the first title defence by Carter since he knocked out Armand Savoie in Montreal Nov. 13.

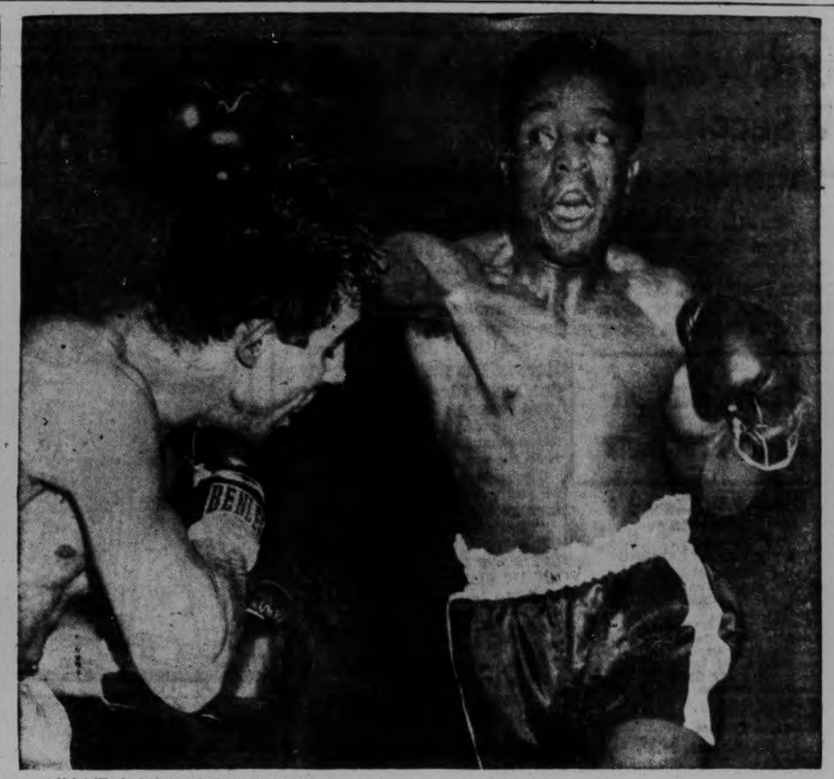
The Carter-De Marco bout will be carried on the regular Friday night TV hookup. If De Marco wins the two will box again within 60 days.

GIANTS SIGN IRVIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Monte Irvin, slugging New York Giants outfielder, signed his 1954 contract Tuesday for an estimated $25,000.

Irvin was in the race for the National League batting championship last season, finishing with a .329 average. He never regained full effectiveness after suffering an ankle injury in early August.

No salary figures were announced. It was understood he re-received the same salary he got in both 1952 and 1953.



THAT LOOK OF MAYHEM in the eyes of Houston Brown and those flailing fists, force Armand Savoie to throw up a tight guard in their recent bout at Montreal. The Montrealer managed to weather the storm against the New Yorker and pull out an unanimous decision over the ten-round distance.

Meeker Ejected, Stratford Loses 8-4

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The two top teams of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group Tuesday night preyed on a pair of lowly opponents to extend their lead in the seven-team loop.

Owen Sound Mercurys, with 59 points, four more than second place Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen who downed fifth-place Stratford Indians 8-4 in a game at Owen Sound.

Meanwhile, Dutchmen scored an 8-2 win over last place Niagara Falls Cataracts.

Coach Howie Meeker of the Indians was ejected from the game after referee Percy Allen took exception to some of Meeker's remarks. Indians trailed 2-0 at the time Meeker was thumbed from the player's bench five minutes after the second period got underway.

REID NETS THREE

Gerry Reid scored three goals for Owen Sound and Vern Gardiner tallied a pair. Huck Forslund, Tom Burlington and Herbie Carnegie each scored singles.

Stratford marksmen were Johnny Muretich, Bill Flick, Mickey Roth and Mike Delich.

At Niagara Falls, Kitchener scored four unanswered goals in the second period.

Ray Bauer, who rejoined the Dutchmen for the game, paced the attack with three goals while Jerry Theberge scored two and Don Oberholtzer, Don Rope and George Scholes scored singles.

TRAPPERS SURVIVE

Cataracts' two goals were netted by Eric Unger and Sandy Air.

North Bay Trappers staved off a furious attack in the last period to edge pace-setting Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds 4-3 in a Northern Ontario Senior Hockey Association Senior A southern group game at North Bay.

Greyhounds' scorers were Matt Mesich, Roy Heximer and Tom Mesich. North Bay marksmen were George Gosselin, with two, and Bill Dwyer and Stan Maxwell.

Tonight Hamilton is at Chatham, Niagara Falls at Stratford and Owen Sound at Kitchener.

In the NOHA, Sudbury visits Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

WINS STAMP COMPETITION

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two ring-necked ducks "slanting in" for a landing are on the winning design for the 1954-55 duck stamp—officially the migratory bird hunting stamp.

The fish and wildlife service announced Tuesday that Harvey D. Sandstrom of Duluth, Minn., won the fifth annual duck stamp competition with a black-and-white water color of the ring-necked ducks.

There were 114 entries from 87 contestants representing 32 states and Canada. A panel of 21 waterfowl experts did the judging.

Sandstrom, 28, is a commercial artist. He receives no compensation from the government for his design but winners in the past have averaged $1,000 to $1,500 through sale of reproductions.

The 1954-55 stamps will be sold at post offices at $2 each starting July 1. The proceeds are used to help finance the government's waterfowl refuge and law enforcement programs. Each person over 16 years of age hunting migratory waterfowl is required to carry a current stamp with his signature written across the face.

GETS LEAF APPOINTMENT

TORONTO (CP) — Al Chapman has been appointed promotion manager of the Toronto Maple Leaf baseball club Leaf president J. K. Cooke announced Tuesday.

Winnipeg born, the 41-year-old Chapman has been handling the Leafs' advance ticket sales. He succeeds John Perdue who left last year, as director of promotions.

Chapman, a former mounted policeman in northern Saskatchewan was connected with sports activities in the West. He was also connected with Art Chapman in the hockey stick business and was instrumental in introducing the laminated stick during war years.

STASIUK RETURNS TO WHL

EDMONTON (CP)—Right-winger Vic Stasiuk of Detroit Red Wings is being returned to Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League, apparently for the balance of the season. He was cut free when the Red Wings obtained forward Jimmy Peters from Chicago Black Hawks.

Stasiuk also was sent down by Wings in the middle of the 1952-53 season and was one of the WHL's top scorers.

AGELESS SATCH RELEASED

BALTIMORE (AP) — Satchel Paige, fabulous Negro baseball pitcher of indeterminate age, was given his unconditional release Tuesday by Baltimore Orioles.

The action frees Satchel to try to make a deal for himself.

"Satch, because of his age, just wouldn't fit into our plans to build up the Orioles," Art Ehlers, general manager, said in announcing the release.

Satch's age has been the subject of considerable speculation. The Orioles carried his date of birth as Sept. 11, 1904 which would make him 49.

Shoot Deer At Welland To Stop Starvation

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Shoots are being carried out on the Welland plant property here of North American Cyanamid Limited in an effort to prevent starvation among a growing herd of deer.

In a joint statement Tuesday, the company and the department of lands and forests said the number of deer increased in recent years to the point where the deer exceed their natural food supply. Control measures were necessary to prevent the possibility of the animals dying from malnutrition during the winter.

The rector, Rev. A. W. Smith, presided. In his report of the parish statistics Mr. Smith said there are 67 families or 215 people on the list. Highest of the year were the visit of co-adjudicator Bishop Wilkinson and the Deanery meeting at which 130 members of the W.A. were present.

The wardens and organzations reports showed obligations met in full. Mr. Reeds, peoples' warden said the assessments and allottments were greatly increased this year.

Bermuda was first settled in 1609 by Sir George Somers, whose crew was shipwrecked there en route to America.

35 Vets Decorated By Vincent Massey

OTTAWA (CP)—Thirty-four officers and men and one woman member of the armed services were decorated Tuesday for gallantry and outstanding service by Governor-General Massey.

Most of the decorations, previously announced were awarded for distinguished service with Canadian forces in Korea. Two, however, were earned during the Second World War.

The lone woman recipient was Capt. Elizabeth Barker Pense of Kingston, a member of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps. She received the Royal Red Cross for her work with the first group of nursing sisters sent to Korea in October, 1952, to organize the Commonwealth nursing service.

Reserve Men Hard To Find Fliers Discover

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF, as well as the army, is having trouble establishing an adequate reserve, it was brought out Tuesday at the annual convention of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association.

Member clubs of the association have embarked on a plan to train 600 RCAF reserve officers as flying instructors. So far, however, only 120 officers have been trained and the association said there has been "discouraging progress" during the last year and a half.

Air Vice Marshal J. G. Kerr, air officer commanding, training command, told the association that the RCAF would have to rely on a trained "pool" of 600 flying instructors in the event of war.

COULD BE BETTER

RCAF recruiting isn't what it might be either, Air Vice Marshal Kerr indicated. "The three armed forces are in a buyers' market," he said.

Air Vice Marshal Kerr suggested that the greatest contribution the association could make to Canadian defence would be to try to make the country's youth more air-minded.

Glimpse of Past

LONDON (CP)—Passengers at a London subway station blinked when they saw a poster advertising a movie to start May 10, 1916, starring the great Pavlova. The 38-year-old poster had been uncovered when changing displays.

STARLINGS ROOST—Thousands of starlings are doomed in downtown Hamilton's Gore Park where an army of 122 marksmen, enlisted by the city, are staging a war on the estimated 2,000,000 starlings who flock into the city every evening. This remarkable after-midnight photo by Photographer Bob Ross shows the big trees black with them. The picture was taken on a time exposure with two separate flashes.

Custody Of Boy Given Father

TORONTO (CP)—A father who said he forced his 11-year-old son to put his hand in a blazing Christmas tree to teach him not to play with fire was given custody of the boy Tuesday.

William Francis of Simcoe, the father, said the child has learned his lesson and has not played with fire since.

Evidence was that the boy has been a source of friction between the parents, who were married in England, when Mr. Francis was overseas in the army during the Second World War and his bride was 16 years old.

Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow of the Ontario Supreme Court said he found the boy, who has been staying with his father, bright and intelligent.

He said good care is being taken to bring the child up properly.

Shoots Girl, 15 Veteran Charged

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A young man whose wife is pregnant confessed Tuesday night to police that he fatally shot 15-year-old Marta Gibbons because she "threatened to tell" that he raped her.

The rape-slaying occurred Friday night. The partly-nude, near-frozen body of the girl was discovered Monday near a lonely lake shore lover's lane. The arrest was made Tuesday night.

Police identified 22 - year - old George Capps, a veteran of the Korean fighting, as the confessed killer. They said Capps lured Marta from her home, where she was minding her six-year-old sister, Sue, drove her in his car to the nearby lake, and there assaulted her in the back seat after ripping off part of her clothes.

BEAT GIRL

Then, police said in disclosing the confession, Capps beat the girl and shot her as she tried to run away after threatening to tell his wife, Mabel, 21, who is expecting their first child.

Capps was charged formally with murder at a hearing Tuesday night.

His wife sobbed loudly. Before her husband's arrest Mrs. Capps had told reporters that wives in the vicinity of the slain girl's home feared to open their doors because the killer might strike again.

Police said Capps actually joined in the search for Marta after her stepfather reported her missing Saturday.

NEIGHBOR OF GIRL

Capps lived across the street from the victim.

Police said the confession told this story:

Friday night he went to a neighbor's home where Marta was babysitting, and gave her some information about repairs he was making to an auto owned by her stepfather, who was visiting Marta's mother in nearby Philadelphia.

Later, when Marta had returned to her own home, Capps showed up again and lured the girl to his car.

He drove her to Curtis lake, in a remote section. After the assault, Marta struggled free, jumped from the car and threatened to tell Capps' wife. He beat her and, enraged by her screams, shot her through the head as she fled.

Capps tossed the gun onto a sand bar in the lake. The weapon has not yet been recovered.

But 70-year-old Edmund Scott of Olympia, Wash., a son by a previous marriage, said his birth certificate says she was 34 when he was born. Mrs. Keith, who outlived two husbands, said in an interview "I'm very well thank you."

TORONTO (CP) — J. Harold D'Aoust, Canadian director of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL), Tuesday estimated the number of unemployed in the Canadian textile industry as 20,000.

In a letter to Prime Minister St. Laurent he urged a complete reconsideration of trade policies to halt what he described as "the ruinous effects of the rising volume of textile imports to this country."

British Parents, Pupils Fear Spring Examinations

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Some 500,000 British school children are apprehensively awaiting a set of spring examinations which have locked their parents, politicians and the press in bitter debate.

The youngsters are mostly 11-year-olds and the tests may well determine their future places in society. That's what has the kids —and their parents—worried.

The exams, in mathematics, general intelligence and English, decide which of the three types of secondary schools the children will attend next fall.

About 20 per cent will head into the high-standard grammar schools, another 20 per cent will attend technical schools linked with industry and the remaining 60 per cent will be channelled into the secondary modern schools.

TROUBLE BEGINS

That's where the trouble starts. Most parents want to see Johnny enrolled in the grammar schools, which have a certain snob appeal plus the prestige of high-level academic studies. These schools offer four-year courses leading to university.

The same applies, to a lesser extent, to the technical schools with their four-year courses in the sciences.

THE BOTTOM RUNG

But most children find themselves slated for the secondary modern schools, mistrusted by parents and employers for "progressive" methods. These schools give a three-year general course with many and varied subjects.

Despite the efforts of government and educational officials, public opinion persists in regarding the modern secondary institution as the bottom rung on the school social scale, offering a sort of hand-me-down education.

Another popular beef is that the "separation" exams come too early. Parents protest that an 11-year-old child has not always reached a stage indicative of later development.

Public antagonism to the system, introduced in 1947 on the lines set down by the Education Act of 1944, has built up to the point where parents and teachers alike dispatch floods of angry letters to the newspapers. Countless organizations such as the British Federation of Industry have set up special committees to investigate and submit reports.

TEST NEW SCHOOLS

To ease some of the discontent, the government is setting up experimental comprehensive schools. Two of the largest of these are due to open next September. These schools are designed to bring the three types of education together in a single institution. The children are loosely separated into grammar, technical and modern "streams."

The Labor party, sensing a public sore spot, has included the question in its recently-revised statement of policy. The party would abolish the test, send children to a single comprehensive school and, at the age of 13, let them select their own course of study.

Strike Settled At Coniaurum 5 Still Hold Out

TIMMINS (CP)—Employees of Coniaurum gold mine who have been on strike since Oct. 26 voted Tuesday night to accept a new two-year agreement with a five-cent hourly increase and end their strike. About 275 workers are affected.

The mine, one of the smallest in the Porcupine area, was the ninth of the district mines in which strikes had been called by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) in a series of walkouts called last summer and fall to enforce demands for a "substantial" wage increase and the checkoff of union dues.

It was reported that settlement proposals are being considered by striking employees of Aunor, another of the smaller mines.

Previously, strikes at two of the district's biggest mines, Hollinger and McIntyre, ended with agreement on small pay increases but no checkoff.

FIVE MINES OUT

Still on strike, besides the Aunor workers, are those at Delnite, Preston East Dome, Hallnor and Broulan Reef gold mines.

At its height, the Timmins strike left upwards of 5,500 men idle.

An explosion Sept. 25 destroyed Coniaurum buildings and equipment valued at $5,000. Repairs took a month. The day before the mine was scheduled to be reopened the union called the strike.

A conciliation board Oct. 22 rejected union demands for a 20-cent hourly wage increase at Coniaurum, a shorter work week, extra statutory holidays and the checkoff. It was said during the hearing that the average Conairurum wage during the first half of 1953 was $60.19 a week.

London Minister, 68, Alfred W. Hone Dies

LONDON, (CP) — The Rev. Alfred William Hone, 68, assistant minister at Bellwood Park and Richards Memorial United churches here, died Tuesday night. He had served as a minister for 44 years in rural and city churches and mining camps.

Mr. Hone came to London in 1951 after he retired from Erie Street United in Ridgetown. Previously he served at Toronto, Cobalt, Bond Head, Penetang, Newmarket, Tillsonburg and St. Thomas.

Save The Pigs' Tails Urges Ottawa Bulletin

OTTAWA (CP)—The agriculture department has launched a "save the tails" campaign to help pigs get to market in better shape.

Noting that pigs' tails often drop off in their first month of life, a department bulletin sings lyrically of the virtues of keeping them attached.

"Without this small appendage," it proclaims, "no pig can attain the ultimate in form, balance or poise that mean so much to the eye of the feeder, breeder or showring judge."

The department's remedy for the external infection that strikes the tails: Paint them for two or three day with tincture of iodine.

Word 'Senate' Used In House

OTTAWA (CP)—Contrary to parliamentary tradition, the word "Senate" was used freely Tuesday in the Commons instead of "the other place."

The word slipped out during debate on the government's proposed legislation to increase indemnities of members of the Senate and the Commons.

Under parliamentary rules, members of the Commons and Senate may not refer to debates in the other chamber. Legislation must be debated on its merits without reference to comments made in the other House.

As a result of this rule it has become tradition for members of the Commons and Senate to refer to the other chamber as "the other place."

However, the use of the word "Senate" was permitted in Tuesday's debate because the legislation applies to both houses.

Gardiner Takes Seat First Since Christmas

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner Tuesday took his seat in the Commons for the first time since the Christmas recess of Parliament.

The 71-year-old veteran parliamentarian, who recently underwent a medical check-up at the Mayo clinic, received a warm welcome when he entered the chamber.

Mr. Gardiner appeared pale, but smiled and shook hands with his colleagues and waved greetings to other members of the House. After the medical examination Mr. Gardiner rested at his Lemberg, Sask., farm.

ONE FOR THE BOOK—These front and rear-view photos show graphically how a small address book saved Paul W. Knode, of Hagerstown, Md., from death or serious injury. A .32-calibre bullet, fired at his chest, remains lodged in the book, which was in his right-hand shirt pocket. Knode was uninjured, but plenty scared. The shot was fired by Mrs. Anna Vance, a 28-year-old widow, who was convicted of assault and battery.

The rector announced the appointment of H. T. Mouck as his warden for the coming year. Mr. Mouck has been peoples' warden for the past two years.

A gift was presented to Mr Searight, the retiring Rector's warden.

Ford Warren gave the report of the Nomination committee of appointments for the coming year. A. Ford was appointed peoples' warden.

Lay delegates to the Synod were H. Clark, E. J. Searight, P. Labranche, R. Raine and G. Millen with R. A. Ford and J. D. Fanning as alternates.

Members of the parochial Tribunal for 1954 are—Reg. Chandler, J. L. McKeever and S. O. Shields.

Six members were appointed to the parish council by ballot. These were J. Carroll, R. Chandler, A. Dafoe, J. Doherty, Hill R. Gamble. The rector's appointees were T. P. Hooper, J. Howard, R. Garner, R . Hood, B. Pammett and R. Pulford. L. Mason and A. Beauclerc were appointed auditors.

R. Dale was appointed chairman of the sidesmen's committee.

Other appointments were left in the hands of the parish council.

The matter of a financial canvass for church extension was also left to the parish council.

Reports of all organizations of the church were presented in an attractive bookle. These reports were accepted en bloc.

A very popular event of the evening was the presentation of a table lamp to Miss Lacheur who for many years has been president of the chancel guild. The gift was accepted by Mrs. Lancaster as Miss Lacheur was not present, owing to illness.

The congregation approved the motion that the wardens appoint a treasurer. The wardens were also authorized to borrow up to $2,500 during the coming year.

During his absence, the congregation, by a standing vote, voted an increase in the rectors' salary.

Real Estate Man Uses Big Ads To Extol Merits Of Brotherly Love

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Over the past three years mystifying, full-page ads, extolling the merits of loving one another, have appeared in newspapers from Los Angeles to Boston.

They have been mystifying, that is, to almost everyone but Leon Ackerman, who sells real estate locally and brotherly love nationally. He's the man who foots the bills.

The ad appearing in New York newspapers last week was typical.

"Love. . . . The Greatest Gift," it read in large type. "He who understands love understands God, for God is love."

This was followed by a quotation from John and a couple of sentences of text winding up with: "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

BENDER CHANGED LIFE

For most of his 55 years Ackerman never gave a thought to spreading brotherly love on a national scale. He was busy with a thriving real estate business — at times the firm has had as many as 100 salesmen—and what time he could spare was spent in the bar at the Mayflower Hotel.

"I've been through hell," he said cheerfully. "I used to drink 20 to 30 scotches a day at the Mayflower, and smoke three or four packs of cigarets: Now I don't touch either."

The turning point, he said, came on St. Patrick's Day of 1949. He went on an all-night jag and got only a trifle's sleep before appearing at a meeting of his sales personnel.

"My mind went completely blank when I got there" he said. "And then I saw the light."

CREDIT GOD'S BLESSING

He later joined the Christian Science Church, embarked on his unusual advertising campaign, and, he says, lost most of his love for the pursuit of material things.

How much did the advertising cost? "It really hasn't cost a cent," he said. "It's all God's blessing anyway."

Could he write it off on his income tax returns? "No. If I did, I wouldn't be giving anything."

Ackerman thinks the full page treatment shocks the reader into doing a little thinking. And he's so pleased with results—"I get hundreds of letters"—that he says if he had $50,000,000 he'd splurge it all on one mammoth advertising spree.

Commons Gives Preliminary Approval To Salary Raise

OTTAWA (CP) — Increases in parliamentary salaries and indemnities totalling more than $1,500,000 a year have won preliminary Commons approval.

Members Tuesday night voted 130 to 37 to support a government proposal to boost the pay of commoners, senators and cabinet members. Following a day-long debate, two bills giving effect to the raises were introduced.

Liberals, Social Crediters and five CCF members voted their approval of the government resolution preliminary to introduction of the bills.

It was opposed by Progressive Conservatives, who want a royal commission to study the entire question, and 14 members of the CCF party, which wants the Senate abolished. M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said most of his party also favors only $2,000 of the proposed $4,000 increase in commoners' indemnities.

$4,000 INCREASE

The increases will give members of Parliament $10,000 yearly compared with $6,000 at present; cabinet ministers and the Commons opposition leader $27,000 compared with $18,000; and the prime minister $37,000 compared with $23,000.

Speakers of the Commons and Senate each will receive $23,000 instead of $16,000; the deputy Commons speaker $17,500 instead of $11,500; the Senate government leader $20,000 instead of $13,000; and the Senate opposition leader $16,000 instead of $10,000.

The bills provide for a doubling of the $4,000 taxable sessional indemnity paid all members of both Houses, regardless of the positions they hold. It would be the first increase in the indemnity since 1920. Since 1945 all members also have received a $2,000 expense allowance, tax-free for members of the Commons. This remains unchanged.

In addition the prime minister's salary is increased by $10,000 and those of cabinet ministers and the Commons opposition leader by $5,000.

The five CCF members who approved the government resolution were Harold Winch (Vancouver East), Clarie Gillis (Cape Breton South), Joseph Noseworthy (York South), Thomas Barnett (Comox-Alberni) and Erhart Regier (Burnaby-Coquitlam).

OPPOSE RAISES

Four members, however, opposed any increases for Commons members.

Ross Thatcher (CCF—Moose Jaw Lake Centre), a Saskatchewan hardware merchant, said the increases would cause resentment throughout the country.

Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver Kingsway), a former streetcar motorman who voted in 1945 against the expense allowance, said MPs in general "never had it so soft."

J. Wilfrid Dufresne (PC—Quebec West), former statistician of the Quebec minimum wage commission, said members of Commons should not increase their pay while thousands of workers are unemployed.

PEOPLE NOT TOLD

Fred S. Zaplitny (CCF—Dauphin) said he opposed the increases on the ground that the electorate received no hint that they would be proposed by the government.

Opposition Leader Drew said there is general agreement that members should receive "adequate" pay. But a royal commission should decide the amount to remove any suggestion the increases were set "on the basis of personal interest."

He also said the government should start reform of the Senate and reorganization of government administration before asking for more money for senators and members of the cabinet.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said members of Parliament are underpaid. They should receive enough to permit "complete independence and objectivity in dealing with public affairs."

The government accepted responsibility for the increases, but Liberal members could vote as they saw fit individually. Announcement of a free vote means the government would not be overthrown if the proposals had been defeated.

Mr. St. Laurent said members' indemnities have lost all relationship to living costs since they were set in 1920.

Members were supposed to represent all walks of life and should keep in touch with their constituencies. But sessions were becoming longer and it was harder for a member to make a living from his normal occupation or maintain contact with his constituents.

NO EMBARRASSMENT

Members should have enough income to live decently and keep out of debt. They should not have any financial embarrassment which might make it difficult to give their best services.

Mr. St. Laurent said he had been reluctant to approve the increase in his salary. But it would be "less than fair" to forego the increase if future prime ministers were to be considered.

At the start of the debate, Mr. Drew attempted to block any Commons consideration of the increases pending a royal commission study. He offered an amendment along those lines to a routine motion that the House go into committee to consider the increases, but Speaker Rene Beaudoin ruled the amendment out of order.

Mr. Drew said later his party is not adamant on demanding a royal commission study. It would support the idea of a select committee of the House to study the question of increased indemnities.

DETAILS LATER

Mr. St. Laurent said detailed information on the increases could be obtained when the bills are under study.

Mr. Drew said the Senate plays an important role and should be reformed to enable it to function more efficiently. The government had reformed the Senate only by making it "completely submissive" to the Liberal party.

Both CCF leader Coldwell and the Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC—Macleod) opposed Mr. Drew's proposal for a royal commission.

The Rev. D. McIvor (L—Fort William) said the prime minister is not a "coward" to pass responsibility to a royal commission. He said he does not think Opposition Leader Drew is opposed to the increase.

CCL-TLC Pact Seen Step Toward Merging Factions

OTTAWA (CP)—Officers of Canada's two largest labor bodies have taken a step towards eventual unification by negotiating a tentative no-raiding treaty.

The 580,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada—the largest—and the Canadian Congress of Labor, with 375,000, announced Tuesday that the agreement was worked out at a top-level conference Monday as part of a new plan of co-operation between the rivals.

The officers, including president Percy R. Bengough of the TLC and president A. R. Mosher of the CCL, agreed on the principle that unions of one congress should not raid membership of those in the other congress.

Non-raiding pacts are to be worked out in detail later and submitted to conventions of the congress and then to their affiliated unions. Adoption by the congresses was expected.

A joint statement issued by the congresses—on their first get-together since a 1950 co-operation arrangement broke up—suggested the proposed pact would be a move in the direction of one big labor congress for Canada.

It described the raiding problem as one of the "matters that need to be resolved before the long-range goal of organic labor unity . . . can be reached in a practical and effective fashion."

In taking this step, the TLC and the CCL were following in some measure actions adopted by their United States counterparts, respectively the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Still outside the "unity" orbit is Canada are the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor with 100,000 members, and the independent railway brotherhoods which have about 40,000.

Press Button, Stable Cleaned New Gadget For Farmers

TORONTO (CP)—An automatic stable-cleaning apparatus is one of the new pieces of farm machinery on display at the Coliseum at the annual show of the Ontario Retail Farm Equipment Dealers' Association.

The show is being held at the same time as the annual convention of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association, also at the exhibition grounds.

When the stable needs cleaning, all the farmhand has to do is touch a button. Scrapers attached to an endless chain work round the gutters.

Another machine mixes stock feed to a pre-set formula and dishes it out to the animals as it moves along the trough.

Aimed at the needs of persons with small holdings of land are displays of many different types of garden tractors and tillers. They are designed on the lines of a power mower and sell for about $120 up.

For the first time at the show, the farmer's wife with a non-electric kitchen is offered equipment similar to that used by the suburban housewife. Deep freezers, ranges and refrigerators using propane gas are shown in the latest kitchen styles.

Producers Willing To Back Fund

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The Niagara Falls, Wholemilk Producers Association has voted to contribute to a proposed fund to be used for processing any seasonal surplus milk produced in Ontario.

At the association's annual convention here, the producers said the surplus milk and cream might be processed into cheese and butter for possible export to Britain.

At Toronto, headquarters of the Ontario Wholemilk Producers League, secretary Roy Lick said the proposed fund was "only in the discussion stage" and that no action had yet been taken to set up a board to administer the fund. All Ontario milk producers are affiliated with the league.

Youth Admits Part In Theft

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Police said Tuesday a former Buffalo youth has signed a statement admitting that he took part in the Dec. 13 theft of $4,774 in cash and cheques from a store here.

Detective Chief John L. Touchette said Raymond J. Lafferty, 18, a farm worker, signed a statement saying he acted as lookout for three Canadians who took the safe from the store and dropped it over a cliff to smash it open. The empty safe was found the next day.

Touchette said Lafferty identified the Canadians only as Tom, Jack and Norman and said they were from Brockville.

Three youths answering their descriptions were picked up Sunday night, but released after questioning, Touchette said.

Lafferty is in jail here awaiting grand jury action on a rape charge and authorities said the safe burglary statement also would be presented to the grand jury.

Canada and the Royal Bank match strides on a path of solid progress
This year Canada added another cheering chapter to its continuing story of achievement. New records were written into the statistics of a nation's growth—more people employed than ever before, more wages paid, more capital invested.
The Royal Bank paralleled Canada's course through a year of substantial gains. Our assets reached $2,895,856,189 — the highest figure any Canadian bank has ever been privileged to report. Deposits stand at $2,734,644,077, another new record. The bank now conducts over 2,350,000 accounts with Canadian deposit accounts more than double the 1942 figure.
In 1953 new branches were built and others modernized to provide even more efficient service. Royal Bank branches now total over 790—70 of them in foreign countries—each geared to provide banking facilities in step with the needs of all Canadians in this era of exciting national progress.

For six weeks the engineers will receive training at the armouries on Saturday and then actual recovery training at the rifle range on Sundays.

PLATES UPSIDE DOWN

One Peterborough motorist needs to see an optometrist, or perhaps he is trying to establish a trend. TICKETS IN BIG DEMAND

CGE Social and Athletic Association put on sale at 8 o'clock Monday morning 300 tickets to the Ice Follies at Toronto the night of February 5. In as many minutes afterward as it took to pick up the allottment to each department, all were gone. A hurried call to Maple Leaf Gardens secured 300 more seats for those who left names on a waiting list. Popularity of the Ice Follies may not be solely responsible for the overwhelming demand. The S & A, with a surplus in its bank account, decided on a most generous offer to the members, allowing return tickets on a special train and a ticket for the show (ordinarily worth $5.85) for only $2.50 per person. A hundred cheaper seats were secured in the gardens and this package went for $2. Who could resist such a bargain?

Outside Work Progressing On Building

Start Inside Finish On Federal Building Within Three Weeks

Outside stone work on the new federal building at Charlotte and Louis streets will be completed within three weeks, and the contractors will then be ready to start inside finishing.

The ultra-modern $1,447,000 building, designed by the Peterborough architectural firm of Blackwell and Craig, will likely be ready for occupancy before the end of the year. This is the view of Harry Scholey, construction superintendent from the Morton Sullivan Company in Arnprior, chief contractors.

The post office department, now occupying cramped quarters at Hunter and Water streets, will use the entire first floor of the new building. A mezzanine gallery circling the public floor will contain offices for postal officials.

GOVERNMENT OFFICES

Second floor of the new building will contain offices for all federal departments in Peterborough with the exception of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. Included will be the customs office, the department of transport, with the Trent Canal administration, the department of veterans' affairs, and an Indian affairs office.

Only "odds and ends" have to be completed before the inside work begins, said Mr. Scholey. Sixty men representing five sub-contractors now on the job are busy with stone work, installing windows and finishing plumbing and heating. Boilers are already installed and will be in operation shortly.

One feature of the new building particularly attractive to postmaster Claire H. Stuart is extra space at the rear of the building, next to Colonial Coach property. Loading platforms for mail will line this wall, with chutes nearby to send mail to the proper sorting rooms without confusion. There will also be a small parking lot designed to help couriers of the eleven rural routes to load up more easily.

"Everything is now completely in hand and work is proceeding quickly," said Mr. Scholey. Earlier, short supplies and spells of bad weather slowed construction. No work at all was done between December 23 and January 4, partly due to the weather and partly due to Christmas holidays.

A new post office is long overdue, says Postmaster Stuart. He mentioned that the present "hopelessly inadequate" structure had been built in 1888 for a population of 10,000. Soon the population grew to 25,000, which made the quarters cramped, but there was no great problem until Peterborough zoomed to over 40,000 after the war.

Work began on the post office building in October, 1952. Only other Peterborough firm involved is Goodfellow & Dougherty, which holds the plumbing sub-contract from the Sullivan concern. Original plan was to complete the building within 18 months, or in April, 1954.

Dental Services To Cost $9,360

The board of education no longer have a medical service so the estimates of their health committee are sharply cut this year.

In 1953 the health committee estimated they would spend $21,950 and they actually spent $19,336. In 1954 their estimated expenditure is $10,460.

The big difference is caused by the handing over of the medical service for schoolchildren—run by the board themselves for many years—to the Peterborough board of health. The children's medical health is now the responsibility of Dr. J. P. Wells, medical officer of health, and his staff.

SALARIES $9,260

The board still maintains their dental service for public school children. Salaries and cost of living bonus for Dr. S. J. Graham, his part-time and full-time assistants, come to $9,280 of the total estimates of $10,460. Last year $16,974 was spent on salaries and bonuses.

A thousand dollars has been put in the estimates for public school supplies. Last year there was an over-expenditure of $556 on this item as medical items prescribed by the medical officer of health had to be stocked. The PCVS have an estimate of $100, equally divided between academic and vocational, for this item.

Car allowance for the dentists for their school-to-school trips has been estimated at $80.

Two Men Suffer Slight Injuries In Collision

Two Peterborough men were bruised and shaken at noon today when a late model car and a light truck collided at the intersection of Sherbrooke and Aylmer Sts.

Slightly injured were Dr. C. B. Waite, 512 Hunter St., driver of the car, and Lorne H. Robertson, RR 1, Peterborough. Robertson's right knee was bruised while Dr. Waite had a slight bruise on his head. Both were shaken.

Dr. Waite was travelling west on Sherbrooke St. and Robertson south on Aylmer St., when the vehicles met at the intersection.

Although the truck after the collision stopped dead at the intersection, Dr. Waite's car moved on, breaking the Sherbrooke St. sign, a steel railing, sending one steel bar through a small pane of glass in the Utilities' building, continuing on through a row of bushes and finally knocking down a section of the iron fence surrounding the back of the utilities yard. The Waite car came to rest with the front just inside the yard.

The left side and front of the Waite car was severely damaged while the truck's damage was mainly on the grill, headlights and front fenders. Damage to vehicles was estimated at $600 each.

Red Cross Work In Peace Just As Important As During Period Of War

The Red Cross organization of Canada is doing a great job in peace just as it did in war. Servicemen, refugees, and any of those unfortunates who need help, receive all possible assistance from the society. However, the general public appear ignorant of these facts and, in fact level harsh criticism at Red Cross accusing it of irrational spending and of presenting a false front for public view. So said Toronto's Red Cross president-elect, Marshall Stearns, in a lively address to a full attendance of the Peterborough branch, Red Cross Society, Tuesday night.

He told members not to be disheartened by the "unwarranted criticism" which is being levelled by the public at present. More publicity of the right kind (he was referring to the factual reports) would convince the public of the worthy work being done by a willing band of volunteers across the dominion. In peace, as in war, these people, who included blood donors, social workers and those who were ready to assist at the scene of any disaster, did not seek" a pat on the back," but they certainly did not deserve much of the criticism which appeared to be their reward at the moment.

Outlining the work by the Red Cross, Mr. Stearns mentioned outpost hospitals, dental clinics and assistance to unfortunates. The girls' corps, too, was doing a great job, being on hand to meet returning servicemen, canvassing for free blood and making much equipment available to the public.

Busses Ditched Delay Students

It was an unscheduled holiday for 55 students at the Lakefield high school and its branch in Apsley Tuesday as bad weather held up several busses.

The country feeder bus from Nephton, bearing 41 pupils to Lakefield, skidded into a ditch out of Nephton and returned to the source. The students aboard never got to school.

The Buckhorn bus to Lakefield also ran into trouble, due to the ice on the roads, but finally arrived in Lakefield more than an hour late

Out at Apsley, where 32 of the district's 220 enrolment attends several feeder lines did not arrive. Fourteen students missed school.

Despite heavy snows, Lakefield principal J. E. Stephens reports everything back to normal today. The Apsley school teaches Grades IX and X students in outlying districts.

$5,500 In Grant For Hospital's X-Ray Equipment

The Campbellford and Port Hope hospitals are among the beneficiaries of Atkinson Charitable Foundation grants for surgical and medical equipment announced today. Other communities sharing $26,354.04 are Atikokan, Fort Frances and Niagara Falls.

Half the costs of Campbellford Memorial hospital's $11,000 X-ray equipment will be underwritten by the foundation. This equipment is especially needed in Campbellford because the community is relatively isolated, 32 miles from Trenton and Belleville and 42 from Peterborough. Complete diagnostic work will be carried on with a radiologist and technician each spending a day a week at Campbellford and being available on emergency call.

OPENED IN SEPTEMBER

The new 61-bed hospital in Campbellford was opened last September. All but $39,000 of a total capital cost of $350,000 has been raised, with the Foundation grant cutting the deficit further.

A grant of $5,918.79 will help to install a laboratory in the Port Hope hospital. This is a 37-year-old institution of 44 beds which is gradually being modernized.

The Port Hope grant will purchase an operating room light, a stretcher for the operating room, a heated bassinette, fracture table, oxygen tent and frame as well as equipping the pathology and biochemistry laboratories.

Fair Board Approves Private Bill

Erection of the Memorial Centre on a site at Morrow Park with permission to use it for agricultural purposes appeared to be advancing out of long deferred hopes of the Peterborough Exhibition directors at the YMCA Tuesday night.

The annual meeting of the supporters of the Peterborough Industrial Society, sponsors of the Exhibition, approved the city's proposed private bill applying to the Ontario legislature for enabling amendments to secure the location of the proposed Centre on Morrow Park land.

The bill, initiated by the city council, would also empower the trustees of the Community Centre to permit its use "for the purposes of the Peterborough Industrial Society and its successors as the said Board of Trustees in their discretion may deem fit."

LARGELY ATTENDED

This application to the legislature received the approval of the general meeting, which was largely attended, in the expectation often contemplated that the building of the Centre on part of Morrow Park, probably at the northeast corner of Lock and Lansdowne streets, held forth promise of enlarged accommodation for the Exhibition in a future, now nearer than it seemed even a year ago. The hopes of the new directors and of the people of the city and district promoting the Exhibition depend on the decision and recommendation of the private bills committee of the legislature.

Of present and actual concern Tuesday night was the financial statement presented by the treasurer, F. W. Armstrong, showing the operating deficit last year at $5,669.82.

Receipts were listed as follows: exhibition revenue, both rentals, $4,946; concession passes, $133.50; donations, $903; entries $1,772.30.

Gate receipts, $13,910.45; midway receipts, $2,462.81; prize list advertising, $926; sundry grants, $136; amounting to $25,190.06.

Grants, Province of Ontario, $2,100; Province of Ontario, special, $3,000; Dominion grant, special, $3,000; Dominion judging, $500; Dominion, Junior Farmers, $500, amounting to $6,675.10.

Total revenue, $40,165.16.

EXPENDITURES

Exhibition direct: prize monies, $15,218.75; grandstand performance, $5,845.38; band, $50; judging, $686.24; policing $778.30; advertising, $1,438.68; race expenses, $3,151.65; ticket selling, etc.; $1,123.13; wages, $1,427.85; printing and stationery, $1,481.01; decoration, $630.49; feed, $47.62; honey display, $125.17; tagging and washrooms, $168.70; amounting to $32,172.97.

GENERAL EXPENDITURES

Insurance, $2,245.39; light and water, $1,138.52; rent, $178.75; licensing and taxes, $418.61; wages and salaries, $4,116.90; telephone, $197.01.

Cartage, express, etc.; $195.90; repairs and maintenance, $1,275.06; special expense to property, $3,727.28; accounting and audit, $338.50; membership dues, $99; general expense, $99.83; interest and exchange, $50.74; fuel, $61; office supplies, unemployment insurance, etc., $319.52, amounting to $14,462.01.

Total expenditures, $46,634.98.

Edward Humpage in his audit statement made the notation: "The revenue account includes an item of a grant from the provincial government of $3,000; it is my understanding that there is an agreement by the province to pay this amount; however, there appears to be some question as to whether the amount will be received."

Norman McConkey, presiding, turned the business detail of the election directors over to F. C. Paterson. Thirty-eight were nominated of whom 18 could be elected.

The directors for 1954 are: Mrs. G. K. Fraser, Mrs. Floyd Curtis, Harold Millen, Burritt Mann, Norman W. McConkey, Don Milburn, Hugh Stewart, Jay Whittington, Ross L. Dobbin, Charles Quinlan, Archie Clysdale, Richard R. Stewart, John Kitney, Frank Savigny, Don McGillis, Manson Cathcart, W. Clarence Mann and Dr. H. H. Hamilton.

THANKS TO LAWYER

The draft resolution supporting the city's private bill was read to the meeting by Don Bark, who at the close was accorded a motion of thanks for his legal aid. It was proposed by Don Milburn who remarked: "If we had more public spirited citizens like Mr. Bark our exhibition would be a thumping success. I feel that we owe him our appreciation for his advice and guidance."

The Ontario Department of Agriculture's diploma presented in recognition of meritorious service in the cause of agriculture was presented to Frank Savigny by C. E. Moore.

Mr. Savigny has been a director assigned to the chairmanship of the sheep and swine committee for more than 25 years. This personal work was faithfully performed Mr. Moore said. It was characteristic of Mr. Savigny's contribution in his own community and his church membership.

In gratefully asknowledging this honor, Mr. Savigny said he hesitated about accepting the diploma without paying tribute to the assistance he had received from Clayton Sanderson.

"Last year we had a great display of sheep, and the swine were just about as good. Anything I have done, has been done gladly for the succession of our exhibition.

In the brief committee reports John Edmison, of the Junior Farmers' section, recalled that 144 boys and 97 girls took part in the competitions of that branch.

CUT PRIZE LIST?

Clarence Mann of the dairy cattle committee said: "Our 1953 exhibition was the greatest we ever sponsored. We tried it on a five day basis, but that did not work out as we had hoped. A lot of cattle were gone from the grounds when many of the people got there. I would recommend for this year on this matter of providing livestock room that we accept entries only until the barns are full. I'd also cut the prize list 20 or 25%, not from the top cattle, but perhaps from the bottom two prizes."

These reports brought back recollections of the consensus that Peterborough's Exhibition last year lacked everything but favoring weather, and consequently attendance.

Jay Whittington said of the heavy horse section: "We had more than we could accommodate. We let some go home before other entries arrived. I don't think public opinion was with us in that experiment. I'd like to mention the fine committee I had: Walter Brown, Ken Moncrief, Roy Ferren and Len Smith."

OUTSTANDING SHOW

"The outstanding light horse show in Central Ontario last year," said Burritt Mann of his class. "We had a great group of exhibits, well balanced from ponies to roadsters. I'd like to thank Mr. McGillis for his financial support for one of our road races, and Mr. Hughes and Mr. Godson for the other. We have been promoting those races, and they are a fine attraction."

W. C. Wilks spoke of the flower show, Mrs. Curtis and Mr. McGillis of Children's Day, in attendance the brightest phase of the 1953 exhibition.

Clarence Bacon recalled the wet weather and particularly that rainy Saturday, a downpour, and the attendant mud puddles and other disagreeable features of the closing night. "We spent more money on the grandstand attractions, and the show was tops, but the rain hit us hard."

J. R. Kelsey, Woodville, president of Lindsay Exhibition, and G. A. Brethen, president of Norwood Fair brought greetings and good wishes to Peterborough.

Mr. McConkey introduced F. W. Wilson, the new secretary-manager of Lindsay.

Mr. McConkey reviewed the increasing use of Morrow Park last year, and the hope that has been revived by the city's action seeking use of a strip of Morrow Park for the Memorial Community Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Leahy entertained assembly with violin and piano duos.

Bill In Senate Permits CPR To Build Line From Havelock To Nephton

$1,500,000 Construction Job First Step Toward Greater Production Development At "Blue Mountain" Mine

The Canadian Pacific Railway soon will be given permission to build a 15-mile spur line from Havelock into Nephton, a $1,500,000 construction job that will permit the American Nepheline Ltd. to freight its ore direct from the mine. At present the nepheline syenite, used in the production of glass, pottery and other ceramics, is taken from the mine and trucked to Lakefield in the partially-crushed ore stage. In Lakefield it is crushed fine and shipped by boxcar to sales-points in the United States and Canada.

Laying down of the 15-mile spur line will be the first step toward greater production at the "Blue Mountain" mine located 34 miles northeast of Peterborough on the north shore of Stony lake.

The railway will eliminate use of the heavy ore trucks owned by Frank Coyle of Lakefield that are now a familiar sight on the Stony lake road, transporting the nepheline syenite along the 24-mile route from the mine to Lakefield. The railway should also make the transportation more economical.

BUILD NEW MILL

In phase with this improvement in transportation is a plan to build a $300,000 addition to the mill which should sharply step up production of the ore. However this is still in the blueprint stage.

A parliamentary bill to authorize the Canadian Pacific Railway to build the branch line from Havelock to Nephton — an offshoot of its main Toronto-to-Montreal line — was given second reading Tuesday night in the Senate in Ottawa. Second reading means approval in principle, and no difficulties are expected over its third reading.

The bill, sponsored in the Senate by Senator William H. Taylor, L-Ontario, must then be approved by the House of Commons. Again, no difficulty is expected.

Plans for a railway spur line into the American Nepheline property have been in the making for several years. Both the CPR and the CNR railways were strong competitors.

When the finely crushed nepheline syenite is no longer re-shipped from the Lakefield railhead, the CNR stands to lose nearly $1,000,000 in freight rates a year. They weren't in as good a geographical location for building a spur line to the northeast end of Stony lake as were the CPR. CNR would have had to build from Lakefield, much farther away, and their route would have taken in properties of more present value. The CPR have only to lay out a route almost directly north, through the less valuable lands of Belmont-Methuen.

Both railway lines are understood to have made surveys. And the CNR might have used the tracks from the now-abandoned line between Port Hope and Millbrook.

COUNCILLORS PLEASED

At the January session of the county council the CPR gave notice of their application to build the Havelock-Nephton section, and they asked if there were any objections from the county councillors. Nobody did object; in fact the councillors seemed well pleased at the prospects of an expansion in mining.

Some points of interest that are raised by the project:

Cooling Unit Rejected For Auditorium

A request that the board of education go halves on a $3,500 air cooling unit for Queen Mary auditorium was turned down Tuesday night by the supervision committee.

Michael Sadlier, manager of the Peterborough Summer Theatre, said that the cooling unit could be financed this way: The summer theatre would buy and install the unit at their own expense; the board would reduce the rental to the acting group by $48.60 a week until half the price of the unit was met in three years' time.

Once the board had granted the equivalent of half the unit's cost by 36 weeks of rent reductions, they would then own it outright.

Mr. Sadlier said that the Canadian theatres are undergoing a recession. A number of groups have folded completely; others are losing money; and there was a dropping off in attendance here in Peterborough last year which he attributed to the hot weather.

To keep up the patronage of theatre lovers during hot weather he brought forward the plan to instal a freezing unit to cool the air in the auditorium. It could be used in conjunction with the present ventilating system in the auditorium and afford relief from the heat.

"Isn't it true we're giving the summer theatre the very minimum rate at present?" asked Mrs. Anne Rowell.

K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, said that was about right. But Charles Huffman, chairman of the board, said he doubted that the board had broken even.

Ernest McWilliam was dead set against the installation. He argued that it would amount to the board paying half the cost of an installation they didn't need. He suggested that Mr. Sadlier would be wise to spend the $3,500 on new theatrical talent rather than on a cooling unit.

"I move we reject the offer," said Mr. McWilliam. The motion passed without dissent.

Mr. Sadlier, however, made some yards on another request. He asked for a 12-week theatre run this year — from June 21 to September 11. And he wanted the 12 weeks all in Queen Mary auditorium, none in PCVS.

The committee recommended he get the Queen Mary auditorium for 11 weeks — from the end of June until September 11; and if it didn't upset the schedule, the week of June 21 to 26 as well. Rent would be the same as last year.

Honor Couple 49th Wedding

WARKWORTH (ENS)—About twenty relatives and close neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Adams met at their home on Monday evening for a surprise party to honour them on the occasion of their 49th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Adams who was the former Rose MacArthur is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh MacArthur of Campbellford and Mr. Adams is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Adams of Seymour township.

The couple were married in the Baptist church parsonage by the late Rev. J. P. McLennan and they took up residence in Campbellford where the groom was employed by the late C. H. Cassan in the trade of harness making. After 12 years as employee for Mr. Cassan, Mr. Adams bought out the business and carried on in that work for 30 years.

They moved to Warkworth 21 years ago. Since then Mr. Adams has worked for the Warkworth Lumber Company also at the Stephen Adams' Machine shop in Belleville and at the CGE in Peterborough. Mr. Adams retired from active work four years ago.

They have one daughter, Mrs. Ida Angus on the nursing staff at Trenton Memorial Hospital and one son Hugh John Adams of Havelock. They have six grandchildren, one grandson, Don Angus is a member of the police force in Toronto.

Their family presented them with an unholstered easy chair, the presentation being made by their son John Jr. The couple received about 50 cards from friends.

The evening was spent in playing cards after which a lovely lunch was served by the ladies.

Mr. Adams is the proud possessor of several pieces of candy which he claims are seventy years old and some over that mark.

These pieces of candy have been kept in a covered tin box, and though they are somewhat discolored with age they are quite interesting specimens as they have been made in the form of a candy swan, a valentine heart, a greyhound, a lamb and one representing King William on his horse and several other pieces.

Mr. Adams says the Swan and the Valentine heart made of several colors were given to him in 1881 by his maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Irvin Gould who lived at that time on the first concession of the township of Seymour.

Another piece represents a military horseman, King William on his white horse. This piece dates back to the year 1882 when a friend John J. Stewart presented it to him. Mr. Stewart is at present a resident of Hastings.

Keene Congregation Holds Annual Dinner, Meeting

KEENE (ENS)—Some 90 members of Keene United church gathered for their congregational dinner in the basement of the church at noon on Monday.

Following the dinner, arrangements for which were made by the ladies of the Women's Association, the Rev. H. B. Herrington conducted a review of 1953 activities. The meeting opened with a hymn and prayer. Mr. Herrington spoke a few words of welcome and expressed pleasure at the number who had turned out. He also welcomed members of the Bethel congregation who were present.

The minutes of the last congregational meeting were read and the treasurer's report given by the secretary-treasurer, William Patterson. Keith McIntyre presented the choir report, showing a bank balance of $60.93, their main expense for the year being choir hats. He thanked the congregation for making the candlelight service at Christmas a success and extended an invitation to anyone who wishes to join the choir, particularly in the male section.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

The Sunday school report, which had been compiled by the superintendent, Mrs. Clifford Irwin, was read by Arthur Emhirst. This showed 20 teachers and officers, 135 pupils, 39 on the cradle roll and 24 in the home department, a total enrollment of 218. The average attendance was 80; 14 entered church membership from the Sunday school and Young People's Union. A report was also compiled by Miss Evelyn Richardson, secretary-treasurer of the Sunday school.

Arthur Elmhirst reported on the boys' work, which includes a midweek meeting. Mrs. Ross McIntyre gave a short report on the girls' work of her class and expressed hope that the CGIT could be revived, if suitable leaders would offer their services. Mr. Herrington reported that the Young People's Union gave $25 to the Missionary and Maintenance fund during the past year.

A review of Tillicum class work was given by Mrs. Evelyn Anderson, which showed a balance on hand of $18, after a donation of $50 had been given to the Women's Missionary Society. It was reported that the Trail Rangers raised $80.

Mrs. Fred Nelson gave the report of the Women's Missionary Society's activities, showing $510 sent to the Presbyterial treasurer.

MISSION BAND

Mrs. H. B. Herrington, leader of the mission band, gave a report and spoke of the meetings, which are held every second Saturday afternoon with about 25 regular members, Mrs. Donald McFarlane and Mrs. Roy Richardson assist Mrs. Hetherington in this work. Their receipts for the year from a concert, gift boxes, collections, sale of church calendars and so forth, amounted to $125.63, of which $122.14 was sent to the Presbyterial treasurer.

Reports of the Women's Association was given by Mrs. Ralph Adamson, showing receipts of $195.76, expenditures of $107.06 and a bank balance of $88.70. Mr. Herrington gave a statistical report, showing, with the amalgamation of Keene and Bethel appointments, 136 active and 74 inactive families on the Keene charge, 23 active and 5 inactive families on the Zion charge. There are 671 persons under pastoral care at Keene and 90 at Zion; total membership at Keene 414 and at Zion 49.

There were 19 baptisms at Keene during 1953 and seven at Zion; five marriages at Keene with none at Zion; 10 burials at Keene and one at Zion. Fourteen persons came into membership at Keene through profession of faith and five at Zion.

It was announced that Dr. Moore, president of Victoria University, Toronto, had been invited to conduct anniversary services on the third Sunday of June. It was suggested that Mrs. Ralph Wightman of Napanee be invited as guest soloist.

The subject of painting the manse was discussed. Walter McFarlane and Angus Adamson were appointed a committtee to loook into the matter. A discussion followed on dishes stored at the Bethel church. It was though advisable to bring the dishes to Keene, as the church is closed and the congregation amalgamated with Keene. It was agreed to leave the surplus of money which is being held by the trustees of Bethel church with those trustees for the time being.

It was moved that the name of Herbert McFarlane be added as an elder of the session. Mr. Walter Garnet, honorary elder, and Messrs. Downer and Borland, elders, who have previously been made members of the session from Bethel, are to have their names added to the session.

New stewards appointed were Authur Renwick and William Patterson. The latter was also appointed secretary-treasurer for another year.

Mrs. E. Rennie made the suggestion that ushers be at the doors each Sunday, especially during the summer, to welcome strangers. A vote of thanks was offered to Mr. and Mrs. Herrington for the fine work they are during.

Melbourne Has Wild Weather

MELBOURNE (AP)—Melbourne, site of the 1956 Olympic Games, is a city of quiet, conservative people and wild, capricious weather.

It is a sprawling city which belies its 1,508,000 population second largest in Australia. It g[illegible]e impression of orderliness, ... ness and comfortable living.

Night life is almost non-existent. At 8 o'clock the only signs of life are the flickering lights of a few movie theatres.

It is against the law to serve beer or liquor in bars after 6 p.m. and in most restaurants after 8 p.m. A few establishments have a special licence to serve until 10.

The weather may be a sweltering 107 degrees at noon and two hours later a slashing rainstorm or a cold wave may blow in from the south. During November, when the games begin, it is necessary to wear an overcoat most nights.

Melbourne is a city of spacious parks and gardens and wide, tree-lined thoroughfares, the most sports-minded of Australian cities.

Seaway 'Inevitable' Says N.Y. Governor

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Governor Thomas Dewey said Tuesday night opposition to the St. Lawrence seaway project was like the stagecoach lines' opposition to railroad projects in the 19th century.

"Great progress never did any but great things," he told 400 Legionnaires at the annual dinner of the New York department of the American Legion.

The U.S. Senate last week passed a bill to authorize the United States to join with Canada in building the proposed deep waterway in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence river.

Dewey said in his off-the-cuff address that the seaway is "inevitable."

Might Speed U.S. Aid

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens of the United States arrived here today and said that if American military aid to Nationalist China is slow "I might be able to speed it up." Stevens was accompanied by the U.S. ambassador to South Korea, Karl L. Rankin. Both were dinner guests of President Chiang Kai-shek tonight.

'Mom' Influence Scored

LONDON (Reuters)—A general blames "momism" for softening British soldiers. "British mothers are almost a bigger problem than the enemy," Lt.-Gen. Sir Brian Horrocks declared Tuesday in a speech at London University. The modern British recruit "lives under the malignant influence of 'mom'—and believe me it is a dangerous influence."

English Couple Plan Work In Aklavik

BOURNEMOUTH, Hants, England (CP)—Motor mechanic Fred Willis and his wife are scheduled to sail for Canada in May, bound for the Anglican Church mission at Aklavik, N.W.T.

Willis, who has been deputy church warden and a church councillor at St. Mark's church here, decided to emigrate to the Canadian Arctic after chatting with Dr. Donald Marsh, bishop of the Arctic diocese.

Dr. Marsh preached at Bournemouth during his British tour last year, seeking hardy young men to assist him in his work with the Eskimos. Willis drove him to a second preaching engagement and heard more about the cathedral, mission and hospital at Aklavik.

He will be engineer at the hospital and assist with mission work.

A FUN CONTEST FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY!

If you owned a parrot, what would you name it? That's the problem The Great Gildersleeve and his pals are up against!

They don't want to call it "Polly." That's too ordinary. So Gildy is calling on his Canadian friends to help out with an appropriate name for this green-feathered pet.

Your whole family will have fun suggesting names—and you may win a wonderful prize. See listing at left.

Here's all you do: Go to your grocer's and buy a package of Kraft's delicious Parkay Margarine. Tear off the yellow end flap and mail it to Parkay with your suggested name for the parrot. Use the entry blank on this page or obtain extra entry blanks with complete rules from your grocer.

You can enter as many names as you wish.

BONUS PRIZE FOR FORD SKYLINER WINNERS

It's easy to qualify for a special bonus prize. Just include with your entry the yellow end flap from two (2) packages of Parkay Margarine instead of one. Then if your name for the parrot is awarded a first prize, you will receive a bonus of 250 gallons of gasoline for your shining new 1954 Ford Skyliner.

(Your entry will receive the same consideration for First Prize if only one end flap is enclosed. The only difference is you will not be eligible to receive a special bonus prize of 250 gallons of gasoline.)

KRAFT'S PARKAY spreads smoothly even when ice cold!

You'll love the way Kraft's Parkay Margarine tastes! And you'll love the way it spreads—even when you take it ice cold from your refrigerator! Grocers carry Parkay in handy Color-Kwik bag, regular 1 lb. pack and 2 lb. economy size.

Send yellow end flap with your entry

Don't delay! Enter today! Enter often!

DOROTHY DIX:

Says Parents' Restrictions Harm Girl

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a fairly attractive girl of 20. My problem concerns my parents, who dominate my every move. I'm not allowed to go anywhere unless they accompany me. I am not permitted to use make-up, or go to the movies, parties, or any other place of entertainment. My folks believe such things are wrong. When my friends come to my home, my parents are rude to them. I'm not even allowed to get a job. These restrictions are making me very nervous, and giving me an inferiority complex.

J. H.

PARENTS UNREALISTIC

ANSWER: Your parents seem to have a very unrealistic approach to your life. What do they think the future holds for you? With limited education, your opportunities in business will be restricted; the complete absence of social life will certainly limit, to an absolute minimum, your chances of marriage. Your parents' objection to your working will place you in a sorry spot if events should necessitate your earning a living. The bans they place on certain places of amusement are understandable, if a religious belief is behind them. Since your folks permitted you to complete only the ninth grade of school, that apparently is the point at which they decided to withdraw you from the world.

How can you change your family's outlook on your present and future is quite a stumper. Since you love and respect your parents, as you should, open rebellion is difficult and, unless it achieved the purpose of opening their eyes to the mistake they're making, it would be futile.

You'd probably never be happy with ill will between you. Yet, if you continue in the emotionally unhealthy atmosphere of your home, you will never acquire independence. Without some measure of self-sufficiency you'll never make a good member of society. I suggest that you weigh the pros and cons carefully, with the aid of advice from a professional counsellor who can give the necessary time to hearing your complete story. If they are approached convincingly, I think your parents will change their views. They evidently don't realize the harm they are doing you. Doubtless they think they are devoted parents, desirous only of keeping their child safe. The price of safety can often be exhorbitant.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Four four months I dated a boy, seeing him twice a week. He told me many times he loved me, and I certainly loved him. Last week he said we were getting too serious and he thought it better that we break up. We haven't dated since, though he's very friendly when we meet. Why do you think I have been jilted?

Maria K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A breakup after a four-month friendship scarcely constitutes "jilting." Since you are 17, I take it the boy is not much older, which is certainly much too young for him to get serious. If he is continuing on to college next year, he'll be much too busy to have a fiancee on his hands, and I think he took the sensible course. Continue the friendship, as far as being pleasant when you meet. If he does ask for another date, accept, but don't try to rush him into an engagement. Impetuosity has lost many a girl a boy friend.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Nine years ago I married a man much older than I am. I have a good job, and make almost as much money as he does. Yet, he persists in calling me a numbskull, and similar names. Everyone else says I'm smart.

Curly

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband's vanity probably needs a little nourishment. You have all the advantage—youth, a good job, fine salary, and the admiration of all your friends. Against this, your husband's age is showing—balding probably. He is holding a job that is far from what he expected to have at his age. His brain evidently has not developed as he hoped. Naturally, you're the one on whom he vents his spleen. Give him a bit of praise for whatever are his accomplishments, perhaps his disposition will improve.

FAITH REWARDED—Emma Jo Johnson and her patient fiance, Jack Wengert, embrace at Nevada's penitentiary at Carson City, where Emma has spent almost three years for a murder that was never committed. Calling Emma Jo's case "a miscarriage of justice," the state board of pardons ordered her freed. Shortly after this photograph was taken the couple left for Las Vegas to be married.

Dimension Of Depth Trend Applied To Missions Work

"Dig a little deeper where you are" was the suggestion to Women's Missionary Society members given by guest speaker at the annual meeting Tuesday, Miss Dorothy M. Young of Toronto. Miss Young is the home organization executive secretary from Dominion Board and spoke at the afternoon session.

She felt she was in keeping with the trend of today in using the dimension of depth as her theme. With the talk of three-dimensional films and the use of such terms as "depth psychology" and "depth theology" it seemed "fashionable to thing of going deep", she said.

"We need to dig deeper in our concept of christian missionary work and there are many different concepts of the work," Miss Young declared. Feeding the hungry; clothing the naked; helping the lame to walk; helping those who are blind and deaf to the gospel to hear; preaching the gospel to the poor; were some of the phases of it which she mentioned.

"These are some of the ways of communicating the love of God, to make it possible for men everywhere to respond to that love," Miss Young went on. "Our whole concept of missions is undergoing a change. Today there are strong independent churches in in Japan, Angloa and India, eager to stand in a fellowship of christian churches around the world."

Digging deeper to find out what christian missions are in a changing world, Miss Young came up with the simile of "one apartment house." She explained "Christian missions is simply the obligation of the whole church to be a witness to the faith, at home and in far corners of the earth."

"Perhaps we need to dig for, and see, if the things we are doing really count," suggested Miss Young. "Are we giving the kind of friendliness and respect every christian is entitled to expect from another christian?"

In conclusion the speaker gave three keys to program planning for WMS meetings: preparation, planning and participation, and added "dig a little deeper."

At commencement of the evening session, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris told of the life of hymn writer John Oxenham, and two of his hymns, "In Christ there is no east nor west," and "My own dear land where'er my footsteps wander" were sung.

Introduction of a colored film "A people without fear," which illustrated the study theme of the year, "The life and task of the church around the world," was given by Mrs. J. H. Lewis. Sound effects for the film were authentic, having been taken on mission fields in Germany, behind the Iron Curtain, among the Moslems and at the medical college and hospital in Vellore, India. Also shown was a demonstration of christian radio broadcasting from a station in the Phillippines, and from a mobile unit of truck and trailer which visits native villages. Final sequence of the film was taken in Korea where the Church is building and increasing in numbers.

Mrs. Earl McNabb New Head Of WA

The Woman's Association of Murray Street Baptist Church held a combined regular and annual meeting on Tuesday afternoon, which was well attended.

Mrs. O. J. Hayward retired from the office of president following the former and the new slate of officers was then installed by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, who spoke briefly in appreciation of the WA's work in the church. A large project which they accomplished in '53 was installation of a new kitchen.

New officers are; president, Mrs. Earl McNabb; vice president, Mrs. J. Dayton; secretary, Mrs. S. Malsch; treasurer, Mrs. H. Wells; executive committee, Mrs. R. Matthews, Mrs. A. Whiteside, Mrs. G. Duncan, Mrs. H. Tranter, Mrs. R. Beeler and Mrs. K. Rome. Honorary president is Mrs Ivan Morgan.

It was planned to hold a bake sale in two or three weeks time, with Mrs. Dayton convening.

A social time followed the meeting with Mrs. K. Rome serving refreshments.

Coral Pinks, Vivid Greens Featured In Spring Frocks

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON (Reuters) — Bright coral pinks and vivid palmtree greens brought the summer of a South Sea island into the heart of shivering London today.

It came to the salon of John Cavanagh, one of the younger London couturiers, when he showed his new spring and summer collection for the first time.

Cavanagh makes more notable use of color than any of his competitors. Some of his most original effects are achieved by combining colors which, in less-skilled hands, would scream incongruity.

One striking Cavanagh ensemble consisted of a white cotton fitted coat, lined with bright coral shantung and worn over a slim-fitting green printed shantung dress.

A bright palm green wool topcoat with a bouffant shoulder line was paired with a silk dress printed in white and green on a predominantly blue ground.

The most original model was a full-length evening dress in coral chiffon, with full skirt topped with a cape of green palm leaves made of stiffened satin.

STRESSES SLIM SKIRTS

The season's new "long-legged" look was stressed by Norman Hartnell, the Queen's top dressmaker, who showed many suits with loose jackets and slim skirts.

But Hartnell's most striking models were, as always, haute couture ball gowns. His most admired models were full-length crinoline gowns created for the grand occasions of the coming London season.

One of the most elaborately embroidered numbers, called "hortensia," was in cyclamen satin embroidered all over with clusters of hydrangea heads in pastel-shaded mother-of-pearl.

Many of his evening gowns featured cutaway backs sweeping to daring V-points at the waist.

Hartnell has resisted French pressure for shorter skirts in daytime lengths, and kept them to mid-calf.

Recreation was in charge of Welly Reynolds and lunch was served afterwards by the group in charge.

A definite move toward getting the surplus wheat in Canada distributed to the starving people in other countries was made Tuesday by a committee of the Peterborough Women's Missionary Society of the United Church, and received the approval of all in attendance at the annual meeting.

"We petition the government of Canada to investigate ways in which the surplus of wheat in Canada might be shared with needy countries, even if the people of Canada have to subsidize it."

Presbyterial Mission Work To Be Advanced In 1954

Exchange of ideas and discussion of problems met in mission work of the United Church of Canada throughout Peterborough Presbyetrial as carried on at the annual meeting here Tuesday, should result in keener leadership and renewed enthusiasm. Theme for the day was "The Christian Mission."

Presidents and members of Women's Missionary Societies in the Peterborough district made up a crowd which three quarters filled the Mark Street United church for the afternoon session. However, when roll call was taken many societies had fewer than usual present due to the condition of the roads. It was the 29th such annual meeting.

The treasurer reported the sum of $13,240 sent to the Presbyterial treasurer for mission work last year. This left $1,540 in the Building Advance Fund and four projects were open for a donation with two only to be chosen. The girls' school in St. Augustine, Trinidad, was one selection, primarily because a Peterborough woman, Miss Constance Wagar, is the principal and has explained the difficulties to be met there in her letters. Secondly, the mission field of Canada is to be aided with cars for the use of missionaries.

An increased allocation for 1954 in the amount of $13,625 was unanimously accepted. Also accepted was the offer of Trinity Church WMS to be hostess for next year's meeting.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Norwegian Dishes Asked For Farewell Office Party

If you do what I did you will chuckle over this letter:

"Dear Mrs. Moore: I'm one of your many "customers" and very much in need of help . . . the gals at our office plan to give a farewell party for one of the chaps in our office who comes originally from Norway and who is going back for 6 months . . . we thought we would get some recipes for Norwegian dishes . . . for a buffet-style supper . . . there will be 10 of us . . . we would love to have suggestions very soon for most of us are just beginners and would have to experiment before we could turn out something half respectable-looking . . . Els"

Aren't they good sports?

I racked my brain for the perfect items for this affair and came up with Norwegian Fish Pudding, Rye Bread or Rolls, Cabbage and Herring Salad (Salat), Norwegian Charlotte, Black Coffee.

The Norwegian Charlotte recipe is long but very similar to some of our fancy angel food desserts, and it is remarkable effective. I certainly hope the party is a success.

NORWEGIAN FISH PUDDING

Buy 2 lbs. fish fillets preferably white fleshed without any skin; remove any bones and chop this raw fish very finely. (Norwegian cooks might even pound it in a wooden chopping bowl.) To this add ¼ cup soft butter, ½ cup cream, 2 beaten eggs, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, about 1 teaspoon salt and shake of pepper. Now mix it and beat until it is foamy and light. Pour into a greased mould or baking dish. Stand this in another larger dish containing hot water and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. about 1 hour or until firm. Serve with Caper Sauce which is made by melting 1 tablespoon butter stirring in 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper and mix well. Stir in 1 cup liquid—this may be fish stock or simply hot water,—until thick. Add 2 tablespoons drained capers. NOTE: This fish pudding serves 6. I think you should make two of them. Els.

In Norway salads often contain pickled herring. Make cole slaw by shredding a hard cabbage extremely finely with very sharp knife. To it add about 1 cup very finely sliced or chopped pickled herring. (Buy this in jars.) Use French Dressing. To make this a little more interesting you might use part red cabbage shredded.

NORWEGIAN CHARLOTTE

Buy or have some cake expert make you a 10-inch high Sponge or Chiffon cake (or make an angel food cake from one of the high-quality angel food cake mixes.) Cut this into 4 1-inch layers. You are going to cut out the centres of 3 of these layers, so that you will leave a 2-inch wall of cake, BUT DO NOT CUT ANYTHING FROM BOTTOM LAYER. Use some of the cake to fill the tube-hole in centre of bottom layer, fitting it in tightly. All the rest of the cut out cake is added to Rich Custard (after custard is cooled): Beat together 6 egg yolks, 6 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, and when mixed stir in 1½ cups rich milk. Stir over low heat until it just boils; reduce heat and cook stirring 1 minute. Remove from heat, cool and add 1½ teaspoons vanilla. Add cake remnants and beat until smooth, then fold in 2 cups heavy whipping cream which have been whipped until stiff. CHILL.

Now make 2 fillings to spread between layers. First Filling: Almond: Grind finely 1 cup blanched dry almonds. Rub this to a paste with 1½ teaspoons almond extract and ½ teaspoon green coloring. Make a meringue by beating until stiff 4 egg whites with 6 tablespoons sugar. MIX HALF of this meringue with the almond past. Second Filling: Cocoanut: Mix remaining meringue with 1 cup moist shredded cocoanut and 1 teaspoon rose water.

On bottom layer (but not over centre) spread Almond Filling. Put on with Almond Filling. Put on next layer and spread with Cocoanut Filling. Put on next layer and spread with Almond Filling. Put on tap layer. Fill centre with the chilled Rich Custard. Frost entire cake with MERINGUE FROSTING: Beat until stiff ½ cup egg whites; gradually beat in 1 cup sifted icing sugar until stiff, meanwhile slowly adding 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Beat until stiff and glossy. This frosting should be daintily pointed and peaked all over cake.

Don't be afraid to try this as it is actually quite straightforward —and certainly delicious. Good luck.

Committee Puts $34,670 In '54 Estimates

This year the board of education's supervision committee are estimating for an expenditure of $34,670. This is $4,041 more than was actually spent in 1953 and $2,800 more than was estimated last January.

The committee estimate that $15,345 will be spent on supervision in 1954.

An item of $6,000 has been put in for school supplies and teacher's supplies. Last year the expenditure on these two accounts amounted to $12,589. With the amount for fees ($6,975) deducted, the overexpenditure was $1,214.

K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, explained that the supply of books on hand was low when the estimates were made, and there was a large increase in the number of pupils.

JUNIOR AUXILIARY CLASS

Other public school estimates: Library and supplementary reading $2,700; auxiliary $800. (Mr. Wightman said that provision must be made at some future time, presumably not this year, for another junior auxiliary class at Central school); agriculture $250; vocational guidance (booklets and tests) $50; manual training and woodworking $1,200 (this includes a new saw for Prince of Wales); home economics $1,000 (another stove at Prince of Wales); music $900 (purchasing of records for music appreciation course); physical education $550; athletics ($25 grant to each of 11 schools) $275; scholarships ($10 prize for leading pupils in each of the Grade 8 classes) $120; printing and stationery $1,500.

SECONDARY SCHOOL

Total estimates for the secondary schools are $13,605 academic and $5,720 vocational. This is a total of $2,548 more than in 1953.

An item of $2,000 was inserted this year as this year's payment on band instruments whose total cost is estimated at $4,000. The band will be started at Kenner collegiate (assuming the finance committee and the board as a whole approved the committee's recommendation) this year under the direction of Arthur Vogt, music teacher.

"I think it's only fair," said Mrs. Anne Rowell; "particularly as the bands have been discontinued in the public schools (after the death of Mr. Croasdale). Students at both schools should have the opportunity."

Mrs. Kathleen Bell supported Mrs. Rowell in the move.

Most of the other estimates for the academic and vocational schools were pretty well in line with those of last year. There was a cut in academic physical education from an expenditure of $2,207 to $1,060. In 1953 the Kenner needed a capital expenditure on rugby equipment.

Presbyterial Mission

secretary, Mrs. E. Lillico, Peterborough; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. H. Lewis of R. R. 4, Peterborough; treasurer, Mrs. A. Scriver of Peterborough.

Secretaries are: Christian stewardship, Mrs. A. S. Williams; Circles, Mrs. W. R. Young; CGIT, Mrs. Leo Copp, Baby Bands, Mrs. Kenneth Ferguson; Mission Bands, Mrs. Fred McIndoo of Cavan; associate members, Mrs. R. Jones; supply, Mrs. A. Roberts; community friendship, Miss Helen Tedford of Indian River; literature, Mrs. A. Olmstead; Missionary Monthly and World Friends, Mrs. Archie Townsend; christian citizenship, Mrs. George Hewitt; press, Mrs. J. M. Beatty; candidate advisor, Mrs. Lloyd Shorten; librarian, Mrs. W. H. Morton.

An advisory committee is composed of past presidents, Mrs. W. H. Morton, Mrs. C. M. Scott, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris and Mrs. H. T. Rehill.

Mimeographed copies of the reports of all secretaries for last year were distributed. It was noted the organization work among younger groups had taken prominence. Over-all increase in membership was slight, however.

In a discussion period, over which Miss Young presided, it was suggested that the people coming from Europe should be contacted as prospective members. She gave a potent reminder; "children of people coming to Canada now will be marrying your children in not so many years."

A Book Award was presented to Fairmount WMS literature secretary, Mrs. A. Olmstead, who also gave a comprehensive report on the missionary books displayed.

Service in memory of 22 women who had given valuable service in the WMS of this Presbyterial was conducted by St. Andrew's church members Mrs. A. A. Munro and Mrs. F. W. K. Harris. As each name was read a white carnation was placed in a vase.

Worship service opened each of the three sessions. In the morning, Trinitiy Afternoon Auviliary members Mrs. G. N. Moncrief, Mrs. H. T. Crosby and Mrs. A. E. Wade were in charge; in the afternoon it was Havelock Auxiliary with Mrs. R. G. Newman, Mrs. H. Aghew and Mrs. Hugh Thompson taking part; in the evening Keene Auxiliary members, Mrs. H. McFarlane, Mrs. David McIntyre and Mrs. Ross McIntyre led the worship. Offerings were received and dedicated by Bensfort Affiliated Society and Knox Evening Auxiliairy members.

Mrs. Cecil Searles, organist of Mark Street church, played at the morning and evening sessions and Mrs. R. Y. Kenny played in the afternoon. Solos were contributed by Mrs. N. D. Patterson and Mrs. Kenneth Kidd. Mark Street Mission Band presented a two-act skit entitled "A cure for home sickness" and were directed by Mrs. Harry Green.

Noon dinner was served by Mark Street Ladies to 125 guests who received welcome to the church from the Rev. Dr. N. D. Patterson and Presbyterial greetings from Mrs. T. E. Rath, WA president, and the Rev. A. A. Mathews, Presbytery president. About 40 ladies remained at the church for supper.

Programs for the meeting bore this statement at the top: "Missions is not a part of the church's work. Missions is the church's work."

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe presided at all sessions.

Bill In Senate

1. What will happen to the crushing mill and the Nepheline employees at Lakefield when the ore is fully crushed at the Blue Mountain mill and shipped by rail through Havelock?

2. How big is the intended expansion of the American Nepheline Ltd., and what economic effect will this expanded industry have on the immediate community of Nephton and the county in general?

3. What happens to Frank Coyle's fleet of trucks?

4. How long will it be before construction work begins on the rail line, and when will it be finished?

GENERAL MANAGER ILL

The man who could best answer these questions is Ernest Craig, general manager of the company. But Mr. Craig was not available for comment today; when news of the second reading of the Senate bill came through he was away, ill.

A second mining company, Canadian Feldspar Co. of Buckingham, Quebec, may benefit from the spur line, as well. They own property in that district and at some future time may begin mining if it is economical.

Thee carloads of ore from the Canadian Feldspar Co. holdings were reportedly sent to Virginia for assay some time ago. After the company have finished a bulk sampling of the ore they will decide on whether or not to start mining.

The Blue Mountain deposit of nepheline syenite is the only one now being worked commercially in either North or South America. It is valuable in the production of ceramics because it requires a relatively small amount of power to flux glass and pottery.

American Nepheline Ltd. is a subsidiary of Ventures Ltd., Toronto.

Suter Praises St. Boniface Festival Entry

WINNIPEG (CP)—The St. Boniface entry in the Dominion Drama Festival was praised Tuesday night for its "invention, ideas and vivacity."

Adjudicator Graham Suter said the "splendid production" of Le Malade Imaginaire in French by the alumnae group of St. Boniface College in the Manitoba regional section of the festival was simple but excellent, especially in costuming.

The direction of Armand Guenette was what made the production one of "invention and ideas," but that there had been some badly arranged movement.

The performance could be classified as outstanding. He added that many of the actors could have used stronger voices to advantage.

Tonight's play will be Death of a Salesman, presented by the Playmakers.

Montreal Doctor Wins Fellowship

TORONTO (CP) — Russian-born Dr. Igor Klatzo has been awarded an $8,000 fellowship by the Canadian Cancer Society.

The Allan Blair fellowship for 1954 will enable Dr. Klatzo to continue cancer research in the United States. Dr. Klatzo was graduated from Vilna university, Poland, and got his master's degree at McGill university, Montreal.

During his first few months of study at Montreal, Dr. Klatzo and Dr. Gardner McMillan developed a technique for rapid diagnosis of brain tumors.

The society's $2,100 British Empire cancer campaign exchange fellowship has been given to Dr. Hugh Cleland, 29, of Toronto allowing him a year's study in general surgery under Sir James Paterson Ross at St. Bartholomew's hospital in London.

Houde's Wife Missed Oops! Wrong Camillien

MONTREAL (CP)—Officials of the missing persons bureau got a scare Tuesday, when Camillien Houde telephoned to report his wife had been missing 10 days.

Police established quickly that the caller wasn't Montreal's mayor but a private citizen of the same name who told them his 21-year-old wife disappeared Jan. 16.

Manitoba PC's Plan Leadership Session

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Progressive Conservative party of Manitoba will hold a leadership convention in Winnipeg June 16, Errick F. Willis, present leader announced Tuesday night.

Expected to contest the leadership, held by Mr. Willis since 1936, are Duff Roblin, Winnipeg South legislature member, and Arthur Ross, ex-MP now representing the provincial constituency of Arthur.

Five More Days Left Until Licences Expire

TORONTO (CP)—Motorists in Ontario have five days to get their 1954 licence plates unless the deadline is further extended by the provincial government. The cabinet will consider the matter Thursday.

J. P. Bickell, registrar of motor vehicles, said under the Highways Traffic Act licences automatically expire Dec. 31 but that the deadline had been extended to Jan. 31. Last year, the deadline was extended to Feb. 28.

Montreal Sadist Sought In Slashings

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said today they are searching for a 38-year-old man whom they described as the No. 1 suspect in a rash of razor-blade-slashings that has already resulted in injury to six women.

Police said the man, whom they did not name, is a "notorious and brutal sadist" who served a lengthy term in penitentiary a dozen years ago following a wave of indecent assaults.

Police said they had questioned two suspects. One was a middle-aged man arrested today by a police officer because he "looked unusual and kept pressing against women at a tramways stop." The second man gave himself up and said he was the slasher. Police said neither man appears to fit the description given by victims.

The slasher struck for the sixth time Tuesday night. The latest victim, Mimi Dufour, 30, a nurse, felt a pain in her leg after boarding a street-car. At hospital, 21 stitches were required to close the wound.

She described the man as about five feet, seven inches, weighing about 180 pounds. She later identified him from police pictures.

The description tallied with that given by a 15-year-old girl who was slashed on the arm and chest Monday night while fighting off a slasher in a lane.

Red Cross Work

"You and I know these things as every day occurrences, but the public don't," he said.

"In Toronto recently we made a survey of the work being done, and, this will be an eye-opener to you, every 12 hours of work out of 13, was given voluntarily," continued the speaker. "And yet people go around saying we pay large salaries and build pretentious buildings . . . if only they knew.

"Also we hear that Red Cross girls are social butterflies. That they like to strut around in uniform. But, people don't know that these girls buy their own uniforms at cost of over $100.

These uninformed criticisms . . . oh, golly how they get around," he added.

Mr. Stearns offered his congratulations to the Peterborough branch for the work it was doing. Especially, he mentioned the blood donors, who had set a record any city could be proud of.

He concluded by wishing members success, which he knew would be theirs, in 1954 and in the future.

ANNUAL REPORT

Retiring secretary Miss D. Margaret White delivered a lengthy annual report which stressed the advancement of the society during 1953. The Apsley outpost hospital sponsored by the branch enjoyed success in that it was adequately equipped and a worthwhile service to the community. Altogether some 632 patients had been treated at the hospital.

Other facilties provided during the year were the civilian enquiry service, civilian and soldiers' relief, disaster services, home nursing and instruction for the junior Red Cross. The loan cupboard (which provides wheel chairs, crutches and other medical equipment free of charge) had been made available to 208 persons. All committees had worked hard and provided a remarkable service.

The blood donor service of which the society is very proud, maintained its high record during the year. In all 2,452 individual donations were made to city hospitals and had been the means of saving many lives.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Hon. president, Mrs. R. H. Turner; president, Miss Jean Buck; vice-presidents, Mesdames S. O. Shields, Ed. Riley and J. P. Watts; secretary, Miss E. Dix; treasurer, Miss Moira Whalen.

Would Establish Dry Cleaning Plant In City

A former resident of Peterborough, who later became mayor of St. Thomas, Jack Peterson, plans to establish a dry-cleaning and shirt laundry business in Peterborough.

The board of works Monday night, with the prior approval of the city planning board, granted Mr. Peterson permission to locate in the F & G store on the southeast corner of Rubidge and Dalhousie Sts. Permission is subject to the approval of the city engineer.

PACKAGE UNIT TYPE

Mr. Peterson described his proposed plant as a "package unit" type, using perchlorethelyne in place of a petroleum product. He said the cleaning fluid was completely non-flamable and non-explosive and submitted a letter to this effect from the provincial fire marshal's office.

Before the Second World War, Mr. Peterson was a member of the editorial staff of the Examiner. He enlisted with the Stormant, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, serving overseas with that unit.

After his discharge from the army, he established radio station CHLO in St. Thomas, where he was later elected mayor.

When the 25th Brigade of the Canadian army joined the United Nations forces in Korea, Mr. Peterson served in that theatre with the rank of major.

Returning to civilian life after hostilities ceased in Korea, he ran as a Liberal candidate in the federal constituency of Elgin in the August 10 general election, but was defeated.

First Brigade Trains At Zero

SOEST, Germany (CP) — Temperatures hovered at sub-zero level today as more than 250 officers and men of the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade group pitched into their first field exercise.

The men, drawn mostly from headquarters staff with some from service units, moved out of camp Tuesday to begin exercise "Shakedown I," on the shore of the Moehne See in the Arnsberg forest south of here. The brigade commander, Brig. W. A. B. Anderson of Montreal and Ottawa, directs the exercise.

The two-day exercise is the first for all ranks since arriving here last November to take over from the 27th Infantry Brigade.

The men here are equipped only with winter battle dress and great coats.

Asks Approval To Mint Gold

OTTAWA (CP)—Rodney Adamson, mining engineer and Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for York West, is asking Parliament to approve the minting of one-ounce gold coins.

He gave notice on the Commons order paper today of a bill to amend the currency, mint and Exchange Fund Act to permit minting of such coins.

Gold as a medium of exchange has been banned since 1931. It is illegal for individuals to trade in gold or export it and banks are prohibited from issuing it.

The mint buys gold at a fixed price of $35 an ounce in U.S. funds. Mr. Adamson does not suggest any specific value for the gold coin. He advocates allowing gold to find its own price on a free market.

H. and S. News

It was agreed to contribute voluntarily to the building fund for the new building purchased by the federation in Toronto.

It was decided to pay the subscriptions for the school magazines and add another subscription.

Mrs. Eldon Preston donated a blanket to be used in the teachers' room in case of illness. It was decided to have a school fair again this year, at about the same time as last year. The association will sponsor a carnival in the Norwood arena on February 5 if the ice is good.

William Goodswan, program convener took charge of the meeting. J. Stewart, Roy Scott, Max Scott, Earl Bongard, Stanley Flett and Allan McNab sang two sextets, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Max Scott. G. LaBrash gave a reading.

Mr. Goodswan introduced the guest speaker, Lionel Edmunds, who spoke on "Personnel Selection for Industry and What Industry expects of Successful Applicants for employment."

Rod Webb thanked Mr. Edmunds. Mr. Goodswan and Mr. Edmunds conducted one of the tests used to help people select their special type of work. The meeting was closed with "The Queen" and lunch was served.

WANT REPRESENTATION

The health committee of the board of education are suggesting that the board ask for representation on the Peterborough board of health. "We have quite a stake now in the health board," said Charles Huffman. He was referring to the fact that Dr. J. P. Wells and his department now look after the medical health of the public school children.

N.Y. Times Urges Participation In Seaway Plan

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Times says in an editorial today that it would be to the advantage of the United States to take part with Canada in the St. Lawrence seaway.

The newspaper points out that the House of Representatives is about to take up a bill by Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) and Representative George Dondero (Rep. Mich.) for U.S. participation in the seaway. The Senate passed a similar bill last week.

". . . A great deal is suddenly being made of the fact that the Canadians are willing to go it alone and build the seaway" without U.S. help, The Times adds.

"Canada's attitude is being treated as if it were something new, whereas the Canadian House of Commons voted more than two years ago that if the United States continued its refusal to take part Canada could and would construct the seaway without us.

"The point that is being overlooked by these new arguers is that it is to the advantage of the United States to take part and that it will be better for both countries on the score of security and engineering, as well as neighborly relations, to make it a joint undertaking."

Canada Inspiration

NEW YORK (CP)—Viet Nam, largest of the three Indo-Chinese states, wants a status in the French Union similar of that of Canada in the Commonwealth, Dr. Phan Quang Dan, Viet Namese leader now in the United States, says in an interview in the current issue of Tempo magazine.

Vestry Names Officials For St. Alban's

The annual vestry meeting of St. Alban's Anglican Church was held Monday evening.

The meeting was opened by the rector, the Rev. H. E. Peasgood, who has been in charge of the parish since last September.

The incumbent's report included thanks to the various officials of the church, and its organizations.

The financial reports given by the treasurer of the different organizations revealed that 1953 had been a very successful year.

Walter Thompson was re-appointed rector's warden, and Albert Maskell was elected people's warden for a second term.

The following members were appointed to office, treasurer, Art Hodges; lay delegate to the synod, Cyril Barnes, auditors, Mr. McCarthy, Mr. Pollard and Mr. Holt.

The advisory counsil will be composed of George Brook, J. Hamilton, W. Wood, Mr. McCarthy, Mrs. Boyde, Mr. Hodges, Mr. Pollard, Mr. Johnston, Mrs. A. Croasdale, Mr. Henwood and Mr. Holt, in addition to the wardens, lay delegate, and a representative from each organization. Sidesmen for the year were chosen, with Mr. J. Hamilton as chairman.

Major underfaking which are hoped to be completed during 1954 were discussed, and include water service being installed in the church, equipping the kitchen with cupboards and sink, laying a side walk and landscaping the church grounds.

It was also decided to purchase robes for the senior choir, and a projector for the Sunday school.

During the meeting, word was received of a very generous financial gift from St. Luke's congregation which was holding its annual meeting at the same time.

The meeting was closed with prayer, after which refreshments were served.

Doctors Urge Sickness Plans

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec College of Physicians and Surgeons today recommended early action on health and sickness insurance plans for the province.

In a 20,000-word brief presented to the Quebec royal commission on constitutional problems, the 4,600-member organization advocate a contributory sickness insurance program that would provide complete hospital and medical care.

Such a program, it said, should be operated by private enterprise on a non-profit basis. The program should be exclusively provincial.

The sickness insurance would be part of an over-all program that would include a health insurance plan sponsored by the provincial government.

SPANISH STUDENTS, hands raised in the typical Fascist salute, mass before the British embassy in Madrid where they demonstrated against Britain's 250-year occupation of Gibraltar. New mobs of students again demonstrated outside the embassy and police headquarters, demanding the release of some 20 rioters arrested in a three-hour battle with police.

Thanks For Lift Police Told Making Arrest

Morgan Crow of Omemee, climbed out of the police cruiser, said to the policemen: "Thanks very much for the lift . . . I'll be seeing you," and headed off.

He was quite right about seeing them, only it was to be a bit sooner than he must have anticipated. Within two minutes he was inside the station being charged with intoxication while in care of a vehicle.

These facts were related to Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, in Crow on an impaired churge, trial on the charge. After hearing evidence the magistrate convicted constable J Armstrong said they with a fine of $50, costs $9.75.

Sergeant Claire McGillen and constable James said they had received a call on January 20 from Mrs. Edna Hodson who lives on hemong Rd. She had complained of Crow's car being parked across her driveway and that Crow appeared to be either "drunk or dead." Her efforts to awaken him had been unsuccessful.

When the policeman arrived on the scene, they too, formed the opinion that Crow was intoxicated. The constable had assisted him to the cruiser, but at no time had he been given the opportunity to attempt to walk unassisted.

Defence counsel Trevor Clarke considered that Crow was only very tired and could have walked alone if he had been given the opportunity.

At the station Crow had seemed capable of walking properly, police evidence continued. However, he had seemed hazy as to his whereabouts and did not seem to realize that he was being charged with anything. He had told the officers he had been all day in Omemee and had not been near Chemong Rd. He denied knowing anything about two unopened cases of beer found in his car.

Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw considered that the Crown could not present a strong enough case to convict on an intoxication charge, but suggested it be reduced to one of being impaired, to which Crow pleaded guilty

Queen Visits Tiny Babies

DUNEDIN, N.Z. (CP) — The Queen now on the 35th day of her New Zealand tour, today met a little girl who was once one of the world's smallest babies.

The baby, Rosslyn Gray, now 5, who weighed only 2½ pounds at birth, presented the Queen with a bouquet when she visited the Karitane Hospital, on Dunedin's outskirts, where Rosslyn has been since birth.

The Queen saw through a glass screen a number of premature babies in the hospital and visited older premature babies whose mothers live in the hospital until the children can safely be taken home.

DUKE MEETS SPORTSMEN

While the Queen was at the hospital the Duke of Edinburgh met 45 of the city's leading sportsmen at the town hall. Among the athletes he met were two members of the New Zealand Himalayan expedition, which leaves next month.

The royal couple drives 130 miles Thursday to Invercargill, New Zealand's southernmost city, where they will stay until they sail for Australia Saturday from nearby Port Bluff in the royal liner Gothic.

3 Firemen Burned In Montreal Blaze

MONTREAL (CP)—Three firemen were badly burned Tuesday night when fire, punctured by several explosions, swept through a north-end tile factory, causing considerable damage.

Police said the fire apparently started when some boxes of magnesium became overheated by a nearby furnace.

Taken to hospital with second-degree burns were Marcel Gingras, Jean Morand and Denis Labreche, all of Montreal. They were reported in satisfactory condition.

St. Luke's Votes Gift Of $750

The 78th annual vestry meeting of St. Luke's church was held in the parish hall on Monday night, with the rector Canon W. J. Gilling presiding.

The following officers were elected or appointed for 1954:

Rector's warden, R. G. Maniece; people's warden, Harry Willis; vestry clerk, Miss Lahring Parsons; envelope secretary, Ralph Carpenter; chairman of sidesmen, John P. Gemmell; lay delegate to Synod, Dr. G. R. Langley, Ross Greenly, Mrs. R. G. Maniece; alternates, Donald Worboy, Mrs. Donald Worboy, John P. Gemmell; lay delegates to Great Chapter, the rector, the church wardens, the delegates to the Synod, and Mr. Gemmell, Keith Stewart, Harry Powell, Woody Roberts, E. Chapman; Anson House representative, Mrs. W. J. Gilling.

The reports of the various church organizations all showed great progress, increase in membership and sound financial status. Votes of appreciation were made to all the officers of these organizations for their devoted service.

The financial report of the church was especially good, showing all allotments overpaid, and a very healthy state of affairs.

Feeling that the parish of St. Luke's had been so abundantly blessed during 1953, a gift of $750 was given to St. Alban's Mission.

One of the outstanding accomplishments during the past year was the purchase and installation of a new organ, which will be dedicated at the evening service on February 7 by the coadjutor bishop, Frederick H. Wilkinson, who will also give a short organ recital at the close of the service, after which there will be a reception in the parish hall.

The meeting was preceded by a very successful pot luck supper, arranged by Mrs. Fraser Watson, president of the Church Year, assisted by members of her organization.

Aussie Heat Continues

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Heatwave conditions continued today in many parts of eastern Australia. Torrid weather from Hobart to Sydney sent thousands to beaches and gave a busy time to firefighters as vast areas of forests, bushland and grazing country blazed. The mercury has been near the 100-degree mark since the week-end.

Last PoWs Arrive

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The last third of about 14,200 freed Chinese war prisoners arrived today from Korea to a loud, flag-waving welcome from this Chinese Nationalist island.

See Seaway Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative William M. Bates (Rep. Mass.) has forecast that the House of Representatives legislative committee will approve the controversial St. Lawrence seaway bill.

Interviewed Tuesday night by John, Kelso, Washington correspondent for the Boston Post on the paper's weekly radio program, Bates said the bill will probably be approved by the House if it gets through the House rules committee without difficulty. The bill, to authorize United States participation with Canada in the seaway, passed the Senate last week.

The Salem, Mass., Republican declined to say how he will vote on the measure.

CAN SEE NO GAIN

"Certainly New England is not going to gain by it," he said, adding that reported benefits of the legislation have been "greatly exaggerated."

Senator Theodore Green (Dem. R.I.), on the same program, said the seaway advantages to the midwest states "will be very great." He supported the measure in the Senate.

Vestry Re-elects Wardens At St. George's

A large and enthusiastic congregation of St. George's Anglican church met in the main hall Monday evening for the annual vestry meeting. The Rev. H. J. Scuse, who acted as chairman, reviewed the great amount of work that had been done during the past year, and expressed his appreciation to those who contributed to the church life. The additional facilities permitted greater activity in the work of the Sunday school and the organizations in general. Plans were discussed for the completion of the present building in the formation of a new church.

Financial reports presented by the people's warden, Walter E. Bannon, showed the parish to be in a very firm position with marked progress recorded during the year. Repayment of new building loans had surpassed expectations and much credit for this position was credited to the work of the "penny a day" canvassers under the chairmanship of Joseph Gaskell.

Clarence Harloff was re-appointed rector's warden and Walter E. Bannon was unanimously re-elected people's warden. The meeting was loud in its praise of the work of these two men and they suitably replied with the hope that they could merit the confidence. Lay delegates elected to Synod were: Albert Cuff, Ernest Gibson and John Branson. Alternates appointed were: George Green, Clarence Crouter and John Bright. Walter White was re-elected envelope secretary. Roy Shouldice was named vestry clerk. The following were appointed to the advisory council: Arthur Henwood, Harry Ferguson, George Green, John Bright, Clarence Crouter, Earl McIlwain, A. H. Fowler, Robert Dyer, Mrs. Howard Powell, Mrs. Walter White, Mrs. John Collins, Albert Howarth and E. Fitton, as well as representatives from all organizations.

Members of the Sidesman's Association were reappointed for the new year.

Sidesmen: H. Ferguson, E. Fitton, J. Edwards, W. Farr, I. Harrison, F. Johnston, P. Swyers, W. Hall, N. Gibson, E. McIlwain, N. Thomas, E. Dye, F. Hill, E. Poole, C. Crouter, A. Green, A. Fowler, C. Fallis, C. Gould, A. Guerrin, C. Charters, F. Dorrell, S. Shearer, L. Cooper, J. Bright, F. Hines, R. Martin, S. Morman, E. Adkinson, J. Kokesh, G. Green, D. Dawes, R. Pilling, T. Busby, G. Tully, A. Peck, A. Wood, R. McElroy, C. Dionne, J. Gaskell Jr., G. McIntosh, L. Gaskell.

Reports from the following were well received: Building fund, Walter Bannon; envelope secretary, Walter White; penny-a-day, Joseph Gaskell; cooking school, George Green; exhibition committee, Roy Shouldice; Men's Bowling Club; Boy Scouts, Wolf Cubs, Girl Guides, Brownies, Server' Guild, Santuary Guild, Women's Auxiliary, Ladies Bowling Club, Cub Mothers Auxiliary, Group Committee, Afternoon Guild, Evening Guild, Choir, Sidesmen's association, Trail Rangers and The Church School.

Thanks was extended by Rev. Scuse to his lay reader, Joseph Gaskell; choirmaster John Branson and organist, Mrs. Emily Shouldice for their untiring efforts.

The following committee was named to study plans for the new church: Albert Cuff, Earl McIlwain, Howard Powell, William Reynolds, George Green and J. B. Dossett.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Unattended Truck Slides Into Car

Only one accident was reported in the city Tuesday. It occurred on the hill in Armour Rd., just north of Hunter St., when an unattended truck slid into a parked vehicle. In charge of the truck was Edmond R. Lee, 36 Leahy's Lane. Damage was not serious.

At 7.45 a.m. today a car driven by Clarence Munning, RR 4, Peterborough, came into collision with a city bus being driven by Jack Cochrane, 540 Waterfront St. The accident, which occurred at the Hunter St. bridge, was not serious.

Coldest Weather In Years Disrupts Europe

LONDON (AP) — Bone-chilling winds whirling in from the desolate Russian steppes today, sent temperatures to the lowest point in years throughout Europe.

Ice and snow hampered sea and road travel.

In northern Greece, shivering in the coldest winter in 61 years, marauding wolf packs padded up to the outskirts of some cities in their search for food. Britain chalked up its coldest night in two years.

In Germany the mercury dropped to 3.2. Below-freezing conditions were recorded all over Italy and Rome had its first real snowfall since 1950. In Berlin, four below zero was forecast for tonight.

From all over Europe the reports were the same—villages cut off by snowdrifts, trains running late because of iced-up switches and cars skidding madly on glassy roads.

Heavy snowfalls were reported from many parts of Britain with temperatures falling to 20 degrees, the lowest in two years.

Race meetings and sports events were cancelled in many areas.

Shipping along Holland's famous Zuider Zee was hampered by drifting ice. Between Amsterdam and the Island of Marken three ships were frozen in.

The raging winds piled up water in the North sea and lowered water levels between the Dutch mainland and the North sea islands.

Night Sports Continue Despite Death

DETROIT (AP)—For the sake of the "99 per cent who benefit," the city department of parks and recreation is going to continue with its evening athletics program for school children.

The department took the stand Tuesday while deploring the stabbing death of 12-year-old James Horton in a street fight with another boy after a basketball game Monday night.

The game, played at a grade school, was part of the program sponsored by the city. The boy who stabbed Horton—he is also 12—is in custody.

Last week Detroit's public high schools banned night basketball and football games after a 17-year-old youth was stabbed and badly hurt in a sneak attack by young hooligans.

But John J. Considine, general superintendent of the department of parks and recreation, Tuesday advocated continuance of its evening activities program for children.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

Visiting with baby often presents the problem of how to keep him amused in strange surroundings. One mother's happy solution: she makes up a special toy kit strictly for visiting. Nothing familiar goes into it. Secret is to choose things baby hasn't seen for awhile. In the fun of re-discovery baby keeps absorbed, forgets to demand attention.

• • •

Secret of mealtime success! Serve foods with creamy-smooth texture—appetizing colors and flavors. Like Gerber's Strained Foods. Processed with extra-special care Gerber's Strained Foods are outstanding for nice-to-the-tongue texture as well as true-to-nature colors and flavors. And they have the uniform quality you've come to expect from the folks who make "babies their business . . . their only business".

• • •

Press-less note. Excessive ironing flattens the nap on little flannel nighties. Brushing after drying keeps 'em soft, fluffy, new looking. And what mother can't use time saved from the ironing board!

• • •

There's a sound reason why so many doctors suggest Gerber's Cereals when it's time to start baby on solid foods. Gerber's Cereals supply baby with the nourishment he needs because they're enriched with iron, minerals and essential B-Vitamins. Good tasting, too—Gerber's Cereals have the smooth texture and mild, pleasing flavors that appeal to the very young. Try all five: Mixed, Rice, Barley, Oatmeal and Wheat.

• • •

A lovely spoon for your baby! Heavy silver plated Baby Spoon in famous Winthrop design (regular value $1.25) is yours for only 25c plus one box top from any of the five Gerber Baby Cereals mentioned above. Send to: Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 17, Toronto 18, Canada.

2 FREIGHT TRAINS COLLIDE AT OMEMEE

CLEARING THE DEBRIS—Throughout the night a CNR wrecking crew worked to clear the Lindsay-Peterborough line at Omemee after two-freight collision about 8 p.m. Wednesday. A 14-car freight, destined for Lindsay from Belleville, plowed into a 20-car freight from Peterborough, standing on the main line, waiting to enter a siding. Conductor Jack O'Sullivan escaped death as the caboose and two other cars were completely wrecked. Workmen (above) clear the track shortly after the wreck. Wreckage of the three cars is piled at right while the damaged Belleville engine stands puffing. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

$250,000 Fire Rages At Belleville

20 Left Homeless As Business Block Swept By Flames

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Damage is estimated by Fire Chief Gerald Vance at between $200,000 and $250,000 in a fire which, at the height of Wednesday night's snowstorm, destroyed a downtown Front street business block containing two stores and 12 apartments.

About 20 persons, including several children, fled from the apartments at the supper hour. They were left homeless and lost all their belongings.

No one was reported injured in the blaze, which spread a black pall of smoke over the entire business area of this Eastern Ontario city and threatened nearby buildings. A biting northeast wind and sub-freezing temperatures made the fireman's job difficult.

Firefighters said they think the explosion of an oil stove in the ground-floor Penguin Fish and Chip Shop operated by Harvey Hunter started the outbreak. The flames swiftly spread next door to the store of Van Dusen Appliances, where the entire stock of television sets, radios, refrigerators and electric ranges was lost.

ROOF FIRE QUELLED

Persons living in he apartments left hurriedly when smoke seeped up to their quarters. Residents of neighboring apartments and Salvation Army were quickly on the job of arranging temporary accommodation for those left homeless.

The roof of the nearby McCarthy Theatre caught fire at the height of the blaze, but the flames were soon quelled by firemen.

Firemen raced through streets covered with seven inches of fresh snow to answer the alarm.

TRENTON SENDS HELP

Trenton firemen arrived to help the local force. With only one truck remaining at Trenton, RCAF firefighters were on call there.

An early list of the apartment occupants, most of whom escaped with little more than the clothes they were wearing, included: Mr. and Mrs. Wedlock, Mrs. Grace Lucas, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennett, Mrs. Agnes Hannisan, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Mr. Clapper, Mrs. Martha Keller and her granddaughter, Mrs. Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. John Parm, Mr. and Mrs. Cale Calvert, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tuttle, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kennedy and Mr. Madden.

Hits London Bridge

LONDON (AP)—A 7,723-ton ship smacked into famous old London bridge Wednesday night, but the nursery rhyme didn't come true. A few hunks of masonry came tumbling down, but the damage was only superficial. The attack came from the Spanish cruise liner Monte Urquila, which ripped away from her tug escort during a gale in the Thames and crashed broadside into the stone structure. Two and a half hours later seven tugs pulled the liner free and hauled her to a drydock for inspection.

Victoria Mayor Plans To Burn All Red Books

VICTORIA (CP)—This staid old capital rocked with charges of "witch-hunting" and "interference" Wednesday in the wake of an announcement by Mayor Claude Harrison that he intends to burn all Communist books in the city's public library.

"There's going to be no pussyfooting at all," said the mayor. "It's very easy to see which is Communist literature and I'll soon find them."

The colorful mayor, who usually wears a flowing black cape, admitted he didn't know of "any specific Red books, but I've heard some are there."

HEATED REACTION

Reaction to the mayor's remarks, most of it heated, was not long in coming.

Roderick Haig-Brown, Vancouver island sportsman and author, said Mayor Harrison's statements represented "interference . . disordering on intolerance."

The Rev. William Hills, Anglican clergyman, said the mayor was starting a "witch-hunt."

"Pretty soon I'll have to submit my sermons and I never write them down."

Dean P. R. Beattie of Christ Church cathedral here said:

"This is no way to deal with subversive activities. Book burning belongs to Nazi Germany not to British Columbia."

Conductor Leaps To Safety, As Brakeman Calls

OMEMEE (Staff)—Rolling out of a blanket of driving snow a fast freight, pulling 14 loaded and empty cars destined for Lindsay, plowed into the rear of a standing freight a quarter mile west of the Omemee CNR station Wednesday night. Before it toppled off the tracks, the train had completely wrecked a caboose, two flat cars and damaged a fourth besides ripping up the section of track. Although no one was hurt, the conductor of the standing freight escaped death in the fire-gutted, smashed caboose by seconds when he jumped to safety.

The "moonlight" or "high ball" which makes daily trips from Peterborough to Mimico and back had left Peterborough about 7:22 p.m. for Lindsay and Toronto. At Omemee the fast freight with 20 cars and 1,122 ton load stopped to switch off to a siding. It was to wait there until the Lindsay-Peterborough passenger train had passed.

SITTING ON CURVE

The "high ball," (number 449) was sitting on the curved main line waiting for the change at the switch. Then suddenly at about 7:55 the whole train shook.

Another fast freight, travelling from Belleville to Lindsay through Peterborough with 14 loaded and empty cars, had plunged out of the snowy blanket and rammed into the rear of the other freight.

Within a fraction of a second the engine had scooped up the caboose, plunged on into a general purpose car loaded with large logs completely crushing it, and sent all back on a third car loaded with 60 tons of syenite, tipping it over.

At the same time a chain reaction went through the standing freight with a "terrific jerk." This "jerk" caused the freight car next to the "high ball" engine to leap from on the tender.

Shortly after the collision the badly splintered caboose, piled atop the engine and other cars, began to burn. There was nothing the trainmen could do to fight it. There was no water nearby.

FORCED BACK

They were forced to stand back as the flames lit up wreck scene. Then the men could see the huge timber logs strewn about, one sticking through the steel side of the syenite car. The general purpose car was unrecognizable, twisted and torn in weird shapes. The covered hopper car was pinned under the red-hot caboose, logs and steel.

Two hours later the wrecking crew began work in the light of the crane's search lights and the faint glow of the charred remains of the caboose. In the driving snow and

Sue Gamblers For $25,000 Dice 'Loaded'

TORONTO (CP)—Two men who claim they lost nearly $25,000 shooting dice have filed suit to get the money back.

Two separate writs have been issued in the Supreme Court of Ontario for Harry Rose, lawyer, on behalf of his clients, one described as an engineer, the other a former prominent Toronto athlete.

The names of the two were not immediately disclosed.

Named as defendants are W. Dominic Simone, now serving three months in Mimico reformatory for operating a gambling house, and Edward Miller, James Mulle, Sam Gerace, George Charal and R. W. Clarke.

Mr. Rose said his clients claim the money was lost at the now-defunct Riverdale Veterans Club in suburban North York.

RAIDED IN DECEMBER

The club was raided by police in December and more than 100 men were charged with being found in. Police seized a pair of dice, each with two threes and two fours, which Simone had hidden in his sock. At his trial Simone said the dice did not belong to him.

The claims for recovery of lost money are made under chapter 154 of the Gaming Act, Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1954, which says in part that any person losing $10 or more to another person by betting can recover the money by suing the person to whom the money is paid.

30 Homeless In Block Fire At Pickering

PICKERING, Ont. (CP) — Fire early today destroyed a downtown business block, making 30 persons homeless and causing loss estimated at $100,000.

The two-storey brick structure, known as the Perry Block before it was remodelled and renamed the Blizzard Block two years ago, housed Neville Dry Cleaners, Eddie's Shoe Store and eight apartments. Owner is Frank Blizzard, who lived with his wife in one of the apartments.

One of the tenants said he believe the fire started from defective wiring in an upstairs apartment at the rear of the building.

The apartment tenants, including several young children, fled to the street. They lost almost all their belongings. Russell Corey, about 25, sprained an ankle in a fall downstairs as he dashed to safety.

More than 50 firemen, from Pickering, Ajax and East Woodlands, fought the blaze while a driving snowstorm fanned the flames. A shortage of water hampered their efforts.

1,500 Escape Burning Theatre

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Fire destroyed one of Mexico City's biggest movie houses Wednesday night but most of an audience of 1,500—calmed by quick thinking theatre employees — escaped through fire exits without injury.

Authorities said there were no fatalities and only a few persons injured in the fire at the 3,500-seat Granat theatre in the downtown section. The blaze was touched off by an explosion in the projection room.

Senator Protests Deal On Expenses

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal Senator from British Columbia believes that Canadians serving on international commissions are not getting a square deal on expenses.

Senator Thomas Reid, chairman of the international fishing and salmon commission, said he now is being paid on an hourly, instead of a daily, basis.

Senator Reid voiced his objections to the hourly-rate formula during Senate debate on government legislation to amend the Northwest Territories Act.

He said one amendment provides that members of the NWT council will receive $25 a day in expenses when they attend council sessions, held twice yearly. They received the $25 even if the council met for less than an hour.

As a member of the salmon commission, Senator Reid has been entitled to $45 a day in expense money if he attends meetings of that body. However, he said, new orders by the treasury board state that the commission must sit for 10 hours before he can collect the money. If the meeting lasted fewer than five hours he received only a half day's pay.

Snow Storm Snarls Traffic

TORONTO (CP)—The worst snowstorm so far this winter blew itself out over southern Ontario Wednesday night after drifting roads and snarling city traffic. The 24-hour storm left more than nine inches of snow. It swept the section of the province from Sarnia to the Quebec border and extended to Hunts ville, 115 miles north of Toronto. It was blamed for two deaths. About 7½ inches of snow fell here and street-cleaning department officials called the storm the worst in two years. Twelve hundred men worked all Wednesday night on the 240 miles of streets, while police put an emergency ban on street parking so that plows and trucks could get through.

Morley Shepherd, 56, of Forest, was killed Wednesday night when the car in which he was riding collided with another car in a blinding snowstorm 30 miles north of Sarnia. Shepherd was thrown partly through the windshield.

The Ontario highways department urged motorists to stay home unless trips were absolutely necessary.

TWO MAJOR FIRES

One of those who stayed home was Highways Minister Doucett. He was scheduled to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture in London, Ont., but cancelled his plans because of the poor road conditions resulting from the storm.

Dr. Smirle Lawson, Ontario's supervising coroner, warned men over 40 against risking heart attacks by shovelling snow.

At about the same time, word came from Dashwood, 35 miles northwest of London that William Elsie, 73, operator of a merry-go-round at Grand Bend, had died of a heart attack while working with his snowshovel.

PLANES GROUNDED

Montreal aiport got 10 inches of snow and 40-miles-an-hour winds in a 24-hour period ending early Thursday.

Planes were grounded while crews cleared heavy drifts from runways.

Moncton had gales up to 50 miles an hour with driving snow. Four to 12 inches is expected in most parts of the Maritimes Thursday.

HEADING FOR OCEAN

The weather office said the storm will eventually blow out over the Atlantic ocean.

Clear skies with moderate temperatures are reported in southern Ontario and southern Quebec and

Cowling Jailed One Year For Sending Poisoned Candy

COBOURG (ENS)—Stanley Cowling, 38-year-old Tyrone farmer, was sentenced to reformatory for 12 months determinate and nine months indeterminate, by Mr. Justice Danis, Thursday on the charge of administering poison to his stepdaughter, Yvonne Saunders, 19, with intent to endanger her life.

He was found guilty of sending poisoned chocolates to his stepdaughter in January of last year. While she did not eat any of the chocolates, when she passed them around on a bus on her way home from work, several others did, but suffered no ill effects.

"You have been charged with a very serious crime," said Mr. Justice Danis," and I personally think you are most fortunate that school children on the bus did not obtain some of the poisoned chocolates and die.

"You used a poison that would not be detected by taste or smell. A crime of this kind cannot and should not, for protection of society and as a deterrent measure, go unpunished. It would appear from the character evidence that you have been an exemplary person until this happened and I agree with counsel that the ordeal you have undergone and the punishment you will receive will prevent you getting into trouble again.

"Your case gave me much concern and after full consideration of all representation on your behalf, I conclude the circumstances require a sentence of 12 months definite and 9 months indefinite in reformatory."

Mrs. Barbara Cowling, wife of the accused, appeared as a defence character witness. She said that her husband was keenly interest-

Report 9 PoWs Stool Pigeons

TOKYO (AP)—At least nine of 21 United States prisoners-of-war who turned their backs on their homeland acted as stool pigeons for Chinese guards in North Korean prison camps, the United Nations command said officially today.

The nine were accused of informing on fellow prisoners.

The UN command said of the 21:

Four expected to be punished if they return and were afraid to come back.

Five were sent to China during their captivity for further schooling.

PROMISED SCHOOLING

Seven were either selected for or promised more schooling in China.

Five were considered weak and not sincere in their Communist beliefs.

Reasons they stayed with the Reds were: "They fell in love with Chinese women; they hoped to get something for nothing and they were promised educations in China."

Asks Dogs Branded

SUDBURY (CP) — Len Hughes of North Bay, president of the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association, suggested Wednesday that hunting dogs be branded and urged imposition of a heavy fine on hunters who steal dogs in the bush.

Medical Teams To Fight Polio

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario chapter of the Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis announced Wednesday it is planning to organize emergency medical teams to be sent to epidemic areas at the request of local medical men.

Mrs. B. McMurray, secretary of the chapter, said the chapter was setting aside funds for the project and that $40,000 has been collected for the program so far.

The teams would be made up of doctors, nurses and physiotherapists chosen by the chapter's medical advisory committee from professional persons in the larger centres of the province.

The teams would take equipment to fight the disease in their trips to the epidemic areas. The chapter hopes to get the project under way in April or May.

One of the principal reasons for organizing the medical team program is to prevent a repetition of the situation brought on by big epidemics in northwestern Ontario last year.

"Doctors had a tough time in the Lakehead area last year treating more than 400 patients," the secretary said.

Howling Wolves Tree Mayor For Night

MONTEFERRANTE, Italy (AP) Mayor Eucilio Berardinelli, treed all night by two yowling wolves, descended at dawn today into the arms of rescuers.

The mayor of this small community north of Rome was heading home on a motor scooter down a lonely road Wednesday night when he noticed two beasts running after him.

He thought they were dogs, but stepped on the gas anyway. The road was snow-packed and the animals gained on him. So he took to a tree.

Hungry Eskimos Get Ton Of Meat

EDMONTON (CP)—More than a ton of buffalo meat and rolled oats was flown 1,100 miles northward from here Wednesday to give welcome relief to 12 Eskimo families on the verge of starvation.

An RCAF Dakota, piloted by Sqdn. Ldr. Mel Bryan of Fort William, reached the isolated Arctic trading post of Perry River on the third attempt, bad weather having stopped two previous flights. The plane returned to Edmonton late Wednesday.

Sqdn. Ldr. Bryan today reported the Eskimo band's 50 remaining dogs "were scrawny and just about dead."

"They gave us proof enough that the settlement would have been in a serious plight in a matter of days," the pilot said.

Asks Arms Parley

BERLIN —(AP)— Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov proposed today to the Big Four the calling of a world conference this year on general reduction of armaments. The Russian placed before the Western ministers a resolution phrased as though it had already been adopted.

No Tax Cuts Seen Likely

OTTAWA (CP)—The men who advise the government on budget planning have concluded that though the Canadian economy shows signs of weakness, this is not the time for a switch to deficit financing.

Informants said if translated into action by the government this likely will mean no tax cuts for Canadians in 1954-55.

Deficit financing is sometimes employed by central governments to stimulate the flow of money and goods during deflationary periods. To increase consumer purchasing power, the government cuts taxes to a point where its income is less than its expenditures and borrows to pay its way, thus increasing the national debt.

Experts believe that based on the current level of taxes, government revenues next year will barley cover expenditures, leaving no room for tax cuts, unless the government goes in for deficit financing.

St. Laurent's World Tour Courtesy Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent may, if he's asked, pour oil on troubled European and Asian waters during his world tour.

Officials emphasize, however, that the prime minister, who leaves here Feb. 4, three days after his 72nd birthday, has no intention of acting as mediator in disputes, such as the current one between India and Pakistan about whether the latter should receive U.S. military aid.

It is likely that Mr. St. Laurent will discuss such problems with leaders in the co[illegible]s he visits, but highly unlike[illegible] that he will make any suggestions for their solution unless pressed for a private opinion.

Officially, the tour is classed as a series of "courtesy visits" to repay calls made by world leaders to Ottawa in the last few years. It has been in the cards for a year and a half. As long ago as July 3, 1952, the prime minister told the Commons he would be "very glad" to accept invitations to visit India, Pakistan and Ceylon if he could find the time.

MAIN STOPS

The prime minister's main stops on his tour will be Paris; Bonn; Rome; Karachi, Pakistan; New Delhi, India; Colombo, Ceylon; Jakarta, Indonesia; Manila, The Philippines; Seoul, Korea, and Tokyo. He also will visit Canadian airmen in Europe and Canadian soldiers in Korea.

At Paris, Bonn and Rome, the prime minister probably will seek the latest views on the European Defence Community, under which 12 German divisions would be brought into a European army.

So far, The Netherlands is the only one of the six countries involved that has ratified EDC. Officials have said France, still hesitating over any move which would rearm Germany, has drawn a good deal of comfort from Canadian statements concerning EDC. Canada, which supports EDC, has said France naturally is cautious because that country has been invaded by Germany three times since 1870.

The prime minister, who will travel in a special RCAF C-5 plane, had planned to visit Australia and New Zealand on his six-weeks tour, but has since decided this might interfere with the current tour of those Commonwealth nations by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Eden Playing For Time But Rejects 5-Power Plan

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

BERLIN (AP) — Foreign Secretary Eden, rejecting again Russia's five-nation conference proposal, declared today that he and the other Western ministers are ready nevertheless to "continue the search" for practical solutions of the problems of divided Korea and embattled Indo-China.

Eden said the Korean and Indo-Chinese questions are of "special concern" to the Berlin meeting. The Western powers are therefore "naturally ready" to strive for some method of finding remedies and, Eden aded, "by all means" let us do that.

Like State Secretary Dulles, whose speech opened today's fourth session of the Big Four conference here, Eden urged Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov to agree to drop now for the time being his proposal for a meeting with Red China and to discuss German unification and Austrian independence.

"This will give us time," Eden said, "for further reflection and exchanges with each other, which we hope may prove fruitful."

Earlier Dulles had made a bitter attack on Chinese leader Chou En-lai who presumably would represent Communist China at the big-five conference suggested by Molotov.

The speeches by Eden and Dulles were in line with reports that the Western foreign ministers are determined to press Molotov to the fullest to find out if be really is offering peace in Indo-China and Korea.

The Soviet foreign minister dangled flattering invitations of peace and world prosperity before John Foster Dulles of the United States, Britain's Anthony Eden and France's Georges Bidault Wednesday—if they would agree to admit Red China to a five-power conference.

Such a parley, Molotov told them, could consider the "situation in Asia"—an obvious reference to Indo-China and Korea.

MUST EXPLORE INTENTIONS

Diplomats closely associated with the three western ministers said they were agreed Molotov's intentions must be explored, his purposes made clear for the world to see, and his genuine peace offers, if any, quickly taken up.

Bidault, whose government is extremely sensitive to any move to end the southeast Asian fighting, called Dulles and Eden to a luncheon meeting today to discuss the question.

Qualified informants said any French government would find it impossible to reject a genuine offer of an Indo-Chinese settlement or even negotiations for a settlement.

At the same time they said Russia's move could be designed as much to delay French parliamentary approval of the European army plan as to bring about any relaxation in Asia or improvements in relations with China.

USING IT AS LURE

According to information from official sources, Dulles, Bidsult and Eden are convinced Molotov is playing peace as a lure to win acceptance of China as a great power.

Their conviction is buttressed by Molotov's stalls on negotiating on Germany.

But the Western ministers are reported determined not to pass up any real move toward peace by the Russians.

$500,000 FIRE—This is an aerial view of a fire which cost one life and caused damage estimated at $500,000 when it swept through four stores on the main street of Aurora, Ont., a Toronto suburb. Twenty-five pieces of equipment and 100 firemen were required to bring the fire under control, three hours after it started. Killed was Walter Ho, 40, Canadian-born Chinese employee of a restaurant razed by the fire. The blaze started after an explosion of propane cooking gas in the restaurant.

21 PoWs Happy As They Roll North In Korea

By GEORGE McARTHUR

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Twenty-one singing, chanting Americans and a British marine, who renounced their homelands to stay with the Communists, today rolled northward in flag-decked trucks.

The former Allied soldiers, along with 325 South Koreans, carried Red "peace dove" banners as they marched from their barbed - wire compound in Korea's bleak neutral zone.

They sang, cheered and shouted charges of imperialism and germ warfare at the Western world as they boarded trucks for the trip north.

It was 15 minutes past noon when the truck convoy rumbled past the northern boundary of the demilitarized zone.

Five Allied correspondents saw them go.

An Indian escort took the five of us to the pro-Red north camp for the last propaganda show of the men who chose communism.

REPORTERS ALLOWED

Communist correspondents Allan Winnington and Wilfred Burckett arranged for us to witness the spectacle.

We were allowed to move freely in the compound that has held the pro-Red captives since they were turned over to Indian custody Sept. 24.

The prisoners, in individual and group interviews, said almost exactly what they told other Allied correspondents who interviewed them at Panmunjom Monday.

They said they want to be "peace fighters" and cannot do so in the United States.

The Indians had planned to turn over the prisoners' records to Chinese and Korean Red Cross representatives at 9 a.m. and the prisoners were packed and ready to move out. Their banners and streamers were unfurled as the men awaited the moment to move.

Fort William Inquiry Only Start–Oliver

WALKERTON (CP) — Farquhar Oliver, leader of the opposition in the Ontario Legislature, said Wednesday the inquiry into the Fort William department of highways branch is "the start of one of the greatest political upheavals in Ontario."

He predicted that a similar investigation will be held at Kenora. The Fort William investigation is concerned with charges of corruption and theft of public funds.

He spoke at a meeting of the recently-formed Western Ontario North Liberal Association. Frank Harber of Kitchener was elected president.

The association was formed when the old Western Ontario Liberal Association became too large for efficient administration.

World Co-operation Seen Solution To Farm Surplus

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—International co-operation was the solution offered Wednesday by External Affairs Minister Pearson for the problem of great surpluses of farm produce.

Mr. Pearson told the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture: "Great progress has been made in agricultural production but that progress, especially in an exporting country like Canada, won't mean much to the farmer unless we keep up the marketing end."

He said Canada has had "difficulties" in the United States and elsewh re marketing her farm products.

A meeting of the recently-formed joint United States-Canadian committee on trade would be held in the next few weeks to discuss trade policies.

"In these and other ways, it is to be hoped that effective international co-operation will be secured in working out solutions.

"FIRE SALE" METHODS

U. S. agricultural policies were causing concern to other nations because a government corporation now held about $5,000,000,000 worth of surplus farm products. Mr. Pearson said he hopes U. S. policy in disposing of these surpluses "will help and not hinder the creation of conditions throughout the world in which both consumption and economically sound production will be encouraged."

Canadians' "humanitarian and social" instincts revolted at the thought of contrived scarcity but "fire-sale" methods of marketing surpluses would not help underfed countries. Give - away programs and selling at cut prices might "disorganize markets and thus reduce production elsewhere."

The final answer was "a healthy expansion of world trade in all directions."

PANEL DISCUSSION

A panel of federation delegates agreed generally with Mr. Pearson in a discussion later. They said food should be given only as supplementary emergency measure until underdeveloped countries can supply their own needs.

The panel saw technical programs such as the Colombo plan as the best solution.

Taking part in the discussion were W. H. Porter, Farm Weekly editor; Hector Hill, Nova Scotia Federation of Agriculture; R. A. Stewart, past president of the Ontario federation; J. T. Monkhouse, president of the Manitoba Dairy Association and Charles Gibbings, director of the Saskatchewan wheat pool.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED

Federation delegates approved a number of resolutions, including one asking for a ban on strikes in industrial disputes. The resolution read in part: "Where the public welfare is jeopardized, laws should be made to settle by legal process disputes between organized sections of our economy."

Resolutions passed in open meetings must be approved by the board of directors, representing member bodies of the federation, before they become federation policy.

The meeting also approved a brief calling for restrictions on margarine to prevent "unfair competition" with the butter industry.

Mayor Harrison received support from Mrs. M. F. Lougheed, member of the library board, who said "Any book which incites the downtrodden working man to revolt should be removed."

Ald. Brent Murdoch said he was also in accord with the mayor's remarks.

"Any books or literature which are of a seditious or subversive nature will go out of the library as far as I'm concerned."

Earlier this week, John Marshall, appointed to operate the library's new bookmobile, was dismissed by the board because of his alleged past association with leftist organizations.

Conductor Leaps

freezing temperatures the men from the auxiliary train from Lindsay worked to clear the line.

Concentrating on the tipped covered hopper, the workmen edged it to the side. First they pulled the caboose remains away, then the wheels, finally working down to the twisted mess of steel that had been the general purpose car.

Gradually by noon today the workmen had nearly completed their work and the CNR officials in Lindsay expected the noon Toronto-Peterborough train to proceed through, although about 45 minutes late.

The "high ball's" conductor, Jack O'Sullivan, Toronto, came within seconds of being jammed in the wrecked caboose. Two hours later while sitting in the auxiliary train's cook car he was still badly shaken by his experience.

IN CABOOSE

O'Sullivan was in the caboose when the fast-moving freight approached. Walter Dion, one of the brakemen, was on the ground and saw the train approaching. His warning call to O'Sullivan probably saved O'Sulivan's life.

Dion shouted to O'Sullivan to jump. Within seconds after he leaped safely to the ground, the engine ripped through the caboose.

"Walter yelled to jump. I jumped. Just made it," said O'Sullivan. "I didn't have time to get scared until after. I'm sick just thinking about it."

O'Sulivan turned to his friend Dion, and said, "I guess you saved my life."

Engineer of the Belleville freight, Carl Montemiglio of Lindsay, declined to comment on the accident other than give his last name.

But the fireman, Jack Pickle of Lindsay, said he couldn't see anything out his side due to the smoke, the storm and the curve."

DIDN'T HAVE MUCH TIME

"We didn't have too much time to do anything," he said. "Carl yelled to hang on. He put the the brakes on in emergency. It takes quite a while to stop, and we were going pretty fast when we hit him. It was only a matter of feet."

When asked if he saw the other train's brakeman and conductor after the crash, Pickle said: "They were looking for us in the engine. We were looking for them in the caboose."

The Montemiglio freight had left Belleville at 4:30 p.m. on its daily run to Lindsay. It apparently had orders to go straight through to Lindsay.

"We had stopped at the switch to pull into the siding," said Harry Algar of Toronto, the "high ball" engineer. "Then he bunted us. It was just about the same feeling as being hit in the back of a car."

With a little grin, Algar added, "We reliazed something had hit us."

Both Algar and his fireman, Alvin Johnston of Lindsay, described the reaction along the train as a "pretty snappy jerk" as they sat in the engine cab.

"The first thing I thought about was the poor fellows in the back," said Algar.

Johnston said, "I wondered whether they were out or not when the crash came."

When the two men had climbed down from the cab, they found the freight car perched on the tender which was leaking water.

There they were greeted by brakeman George Gough of Toronto who was on the ground at the switch before the crash.

"I heard the crash, that's all," said Gough.

Trainmen from both freights are expecting a full investigation into the cause of the accident. No CNR official was available at press time and no word could be received if and when an investigation will be held.

New Outbreak From Students

MADRID (Reuters) — University students in Barcelona clashed with police today, just as weeklong student demonstrations in Spain seemed to have ended.

Students of Madrid University today returned to classes, after a week of daily demonstrations, first against continued British control of Gibraltar, later against heavy-handed police.

But Barcelona police today were called out to break up a demonstration of students, apparently called in support of their Madrid comrades. The undergraduates were marching to the medical school to get recruits when the police broke up their rally.

(In London today, a government spokesman said a protest made Wednesday to the Spanish government concerning the disorders asked only for assurances that British buildings will be given adequate protection. The spokesman said Britain is not asking for compensation for damage to the buildings, many of whose windows were broken by students.)

Britain Cancels Visit Of Royal Navy Ships

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain tonight cancelled the scheduled visit of some Royal Navy ships to ports in Spain and Spanish Morocco because of recent "anti-British feeling in Spain," the admiralty announced.

Ships of the British home fleet were due to visit the ports in February and March.

Strasser Given "Certificate"

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has granted Otto Strasser a certificate of identity which the former Nazi is using to seek the permission of the Swiss government to visit his family in Switzerland.

An external affairs department spokesman said today the certificate of identity merely certifies that Strasser, who broke with Hitler and was purged in the 1930s, is the person he claims he is. He must relinquish it if he ever is successful in obtaining a German passport or a passport from any other country.

Strasser, 56, has been living for some years in Paradise, N. S., and has sought permission from the West German government to return to his homeland. Since he is not a Canadian citizen, he has not been eligible for a Canadian passport.

Mr. Cowling had been in and out of a sanitarium because of a lung condition and suffered from a chronic kidney disease. Farm work had proven too heavy for him and as he physically declined, his mental health deteriorated in proportion until he became a mere shell, continued Mrs. Cowling.

Defence counsel Arthur Greer asked: "When this matter arose (concerning the daughter and Mr. Cowling) you had to make a decision?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Cowling, "I decided to remain with him and did not regret it."

Evidence in the form of a statement from Mr. Cowling, previously entered into court, said in part: "I fell in love with her (Yvonne Saunders) but naturally she wouldn't have anything to do with m..." Mr. Cowling said he had written her anonymous letters to "r ake her feel bad." He stated h wanted her home and would give her a job. His reason for sending the poisoned candies, he said, was only to make her sick and want to return home.

The first charge, that of attempted murder, was reduced by the jury on its third return to the courtroom, Wednesday.

Howard Hughes Never Inside Studio

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Howard Hughes has run one of Hollywood's major motion picture studios for years. But he has never been inside it.

He confirmed that long-circulated suspicion in a rare personal interview, sitting in his inexpensive, four-year-old car on a rainy, darkened airfield.

There have been two stories going the rounds about Hughes and RKO studio. One was that he had never been on the lot.

The other was that he walked through it one night, saying not a word until he started out the gate. Then he snapped: "Paint it."

Hughes says he has "never been in the place."

SEES FEW REPORTERS

In a quarter century in Hollywood, Hughes hasn't given a handful of interviews or press conferences. Only occasionally does a reporter get to talk with him.

Hollywood often thinks of Hughes as a grim, ruthless domineering man. During the interview he was charming and easy going, laughing heartily and often.

Hughes released both "The Outlaw" and the current "French Line" without seals of approval from the Motion Picture Association. He claims neither has been cut because of censor trouble.

A police morality squad cited two scenes of "French Line" as objectionable, but authorities took no action.

"The Outlaw" was given a C (or condemned) rating by the Legion of Decency on its first release. Hughes later agreed to revisions which made it B rating, or morally objectionable in part. He says the revisions pertained only to advertising.

JANE UNPREDICTABLE

Hughes calls his most famous discovery—Jane Russell, star of both "The Outlaw" and "French Line"—unpredictable:

"You never know what she's going to say."

Jane said she warred with the studio over her costume for "French Line" and finally wore one that, compared with what she was first offered, "looked like an overcoat."

"And I'll also screen the picture for you so you can see that no trick camera angles were used to make Jane's dance more suggestive." One critic had said the camera peered peeping tom-like at her famous figure.

Life Easier In N.S. Fishing Villages

By KINGSLEY BROWN Jr.

WEST JEDDORE, N.S. (CP)—In little more than a decade, there has been a big change in the life and outlook of the hardy people of Nova Scotia's fishing villages.

Good catches and fair prices, a rare combination in the fishing industry, have transformed simple hamlets into modern communities with chrome kitchens, washing-machines and deep-freezers.

These people, who send their older children away to high schools didn't buy these conveniences by depriving themselves of other things. They have learned to save for a "rainy day."

It's a healthy prosperity based on hard work and, of course, providence. Generally the lobsters were plentiful, and fishermen were successful when they made their daily harvests with trawls, handlines and nets.

ELECTRICITY FACTOR

Take this eastern shore village of 125 residents for example.

Teen-agers here can remember the coming of electricity, although at the time only the storekeeper could take advantage of it. When others did, they first bought perhaps only a toaster or an iron.

They can remember when their parents laid in a winter's provisions, when bread came out of an oven and butter from an earthenware churn. Now these are sold by the storekeeper who brings them from Halifax, 40 miles away.

About a third of these inshore fishermen have cars or pickup trucks. They're not second-hand heaps, either. The cars are kept in garages to prevent corrosion from the salt air.

"When I've got the price of three cars in the bank I'll buy one," a fisherman told me last summer. He bought one recently, an eight-cylinder job with radio and heater.

SOLID HOMES

Visitors to these villages soon notice the change. Where homes were once built upon mortar-covered stone, new ones are going up with concrete foundations. Picket fences stand before newly-painted homes. Favorite colors are white and yellow, with the trim colors generally red, black or green.

The fishermen aren't making any fortunes, but this last decade was probably the first time they've been able to live comfortably and perhaps meet their bills.

Fishermen once went to cities and towns to find work when the fishing season ended. Many worked on the Halifax docks; others went into the forests to cut lumber.

Nowadays most manage to find enough to do around home in the winter. They clean their gear, cut bows and knit "headings" for their lobster traps, mend nets that have been torn by sharks and dogfish, and cut their year's firewood.

Recreation? They like to hunt ducks, walk five or six miles along their rabbit snare lines and perhaps set a few traps for muskrat.

Spaniel Saves Family Of Six

CHESTERVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Cindy, an expectant mother spaniel was credited with saving a family of six, including four small children, when fire destroyed a home here in the height of a blizzard Wednesday night.

Melville Abel, 16, son of a neighboring hotelkeeper, was credited with an assist. The black spaniel died in the blaze.

Nelson Laprade, living in an apartment above a restaurant where Cindy spent the night, was aroused by her whimpering. He went to investigate but found the way blocked by smoke.

He roused his wife and the children, Wayne, 11, Beth, 9, Wanda, 5, and Kathleen, 1, and the family huddled helplessly on a balcony.

Then the Abel youth saw the family's plight from the hotel across the street. He roused his father and the two rescued the family with a ladder.

Women Juries Bring "Ridiculous Verdicts"

CHICAGO (AP) — Circuit judge Richard B. Austin says all-female juries have brought in some "ridiculous verdicts" and are not as good as all-male juries.

Addressing a Men's club Wednesday night, Judge Austin said it is the duty of all good male citizens to serve on juries when summoned.

But, he added, "the same urgency does not exist as far as your wife is concerned, when she is summoned for jury duty.

"The average lawyer would prefer an all-male jury to an all-female jury," he declared.

Property Declines

LONDON (CP)—Real estate experts agreed in year-end surveys that there was a perceptible decline in property value in Britain during 1953. One reason was greater freedom for the building industry, enabling more people to build their own homes.

A JUMBLED MASS of charred wood and twisted steel from two freight cars and a caboose were cleared today from the CNR track at Omemee after a fast-moving freight plowed into a standing freight Thursday night. Through the driving snow the remains of the caboose and general purpose car hug the engine (lower photo) before wrecking crews commence work. The engine bared of debris shows its scars (upper left). Meanwhile, the collision caused a chain reaction through the standing freight, forcing the last freight car to leapfrog onto the engine's tender (upper right). (Examiner Staff Photos).

Knox Church Launches $90,000 Restoration Drive

Knox United church on Wednesday evening launched its $90,000 restoration fund canvass with a loyalty dinner held in the Kawartha room of the Empress hotel. The drive which is being headed by Thomas Taylor has as able assistants J. R. Sinclair, initial gift chairman; Arthur Pitchford, special gift chairman; Robert Hanscom, canvass committee chairman; Robert Hamilton, publications and Lloyd Mitchell, arrangements. Mrs. Gordon James and Mrs. Claire Grainger are co-chairmen of the hostess committee.

Mrs. Howard Clegg spoke on the history and mission of Knox church as an integral part of the family life of all those who are in any way connected with the congregation. Mr. Sinclair told of the objectives and methods of the canvass. "We seek equal sacrifice and equal gifts", he declared.

The spiritual value of sacrificial giving is on the donors themselves and Mr. Sinclair asked all to give in proportion to their ability.

CHALLENGES WILLINGNESS

Mr. Taylor outlined the things that should be considered in deciding what amount a member should pledge. He dramatically pointed out the importance of the Church in the everyday life of the community. The Christian Church he declared was the real foundation of the Canadian way of life. "The Church does not challenge your ability to give—it challenges your willingness", was the closing challenge he gave the canvassers.

Gordon Morrison, a division leader spoke on the needs of the Church and John Londerville led in the canvass prayer.

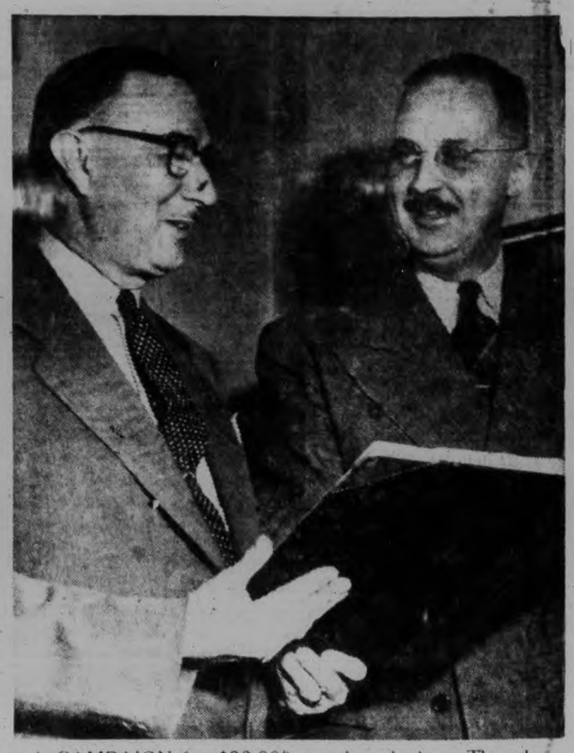
Tributes were paid to Mrs. Margaret Scobell and H. J. McCannan two of the oldest members of the congregation who were at the dinner which was attended by more than 200.

"For more than 40 years Knox church has stood as a living symbol of Christian witness in Peterborough. It was built on the faith that God could meet the needs existing among those it serves," said the Rev. H. G. Douglas the minister, in a message to the workers, members and adherents. "During the years it has been maintained by the prayers of the faithful and has grown in influence through the sacrificial devotion of its loyal members, and interested friends."

"Today we are faced with the matter of a major operation regarding our church property. Most of you know the needs. The method of raising the funds is certainly revolutionary to our people. Never before have we had such a challenge and never before have we had the material prosperity to dare to think on such a scale. For the sake of our children, the future pillars of our church; we must provide an adequate educational program and facilities worthy of our faith," Mr. Douglas said.

The history of Knox church dates back to 1872, when as an interdenominational Sunday school services were held. In 1892 the first Sunday school building was erected, and 10 years later the building now known as the lecture hall was built and opened as a church. The cost of the building was $4,037. This building served until 1909, when the present church was built at a cost of approximately $25,000.

Division captains in the campaign are Joseph Lancashire, George Morrison and Gordon Morrison.



A CAMPAIGN for $90,000 was launched on Thursday night by the congregation of Knox United Church. The money is to be used for restoration of the church and to provide greater educational facilities for the youth of the congregation. Tom Taylor (left) is the general chairman of the drive and J. R. Sinclair initial gifts chairman. The campaign closes February 13.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

First U.K. Jet Simulator Turned Over To Canada

LONDON (CP)—British industry today turned over to Canada on schedule the first of 10 Sabre-jet flight simulators under production here for the RCAF at a total cost of $3,500,000.

Air Vice-Marshal H. L. Campbell, head of the RCAF in western Europe took delivery of the intricate trailer-truck ground training apparatus for pilots in a ceremony at the London factories of Redifon Ltd.

Redifon won the contract in the face of stiff American competition in July, 1952. Canada stipulated that the first of the completed units must be delivered within 18 months. Redifon met the stipulation.

The electronically - controlled flight simulators permit pilots to become familiar with flying problems without the high costs and hazards of flying.

Trainees enter a cockpit mounted in a 36-foot-long trailer. The cockpit is a faithful replica of that in the actual Sabre.

Using an instrument panel, the instructor can pose flying problems on the cockpit panel and see whether the trainee solves them.

The sounds heard in flight also can be reproduced and these change in volume and character as the pilot manipulates his throttle.

The first simulator will be sent to North Luffenham, about 100 miles north of London, where Canada operates a wing of RCAF Sabre fighters.

Urge Companies Given Higher Tax Allowance

TORONTO (CP)—The executive council of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association suggested today that companies be allowed greater tax allowances on money contributed to pension plans for employees.

The council said that in view of increases in wages, living costs and pension benefits during the last seven years the tax exemption allowed under a 1946 ruling should now be reviewed by the finance minister.

Pensioning Parliamentarians

The Prime Minister has given notice that he intends to ask the Commons to consider the matter of increasing the pay of Members of Parliament. Nobody expects that there will be much serious opposition to the proposal, and the guessing in most informed places is that the increase will be from the present $4,000 a year to $8,000, with the present untaxed expense allowance of $2,000 a year unchanged. In fact, it will mean $10,000 a year for an M.P. We have already expressed our views on increasing the sessional indemnities; we think that it has dangers, because it makes being in Parliament a job, rather than a public service. We will not weary our readers by rehearsing arguments which we have already offered, but we should like to discuss the matter of Parliamentary Pensions, which no governmental spokesman has yet mentioned in this connection.

* * *

The pension plan which exists for Members of Parliament is an uncommonly generous one. Members contribute six per cent. of their sessional indemnity of $4,000 to the pension fund, which means $240; when they have paid $4,000, they need pay no more. If they are Members of more than two Parliaments, they get a pension for the rest of their lives. If a Member does not qualify by being in two Parliaments, he may withdraw from the fund whatever sum he has contributed to it.

* * *

Now, it is obvious that this pension scheme is far from self-sustaining; it it a money-loser in a big way. And the money which is not contributed by the beneficiaries is made up by the people of Canada. When this scheme was adopted in 1952, an insurance expert told the M.Ps that each pension was roughly equivalent to an outright gift of $50,000. Gentle Reader, has anybody ever given you $50,000?

* * *

But is this pension scheme to be increased proportionately if the sessional indemnity is increased? In other words, if the M.Ps get $8,000 a year, will they be able, after sixteen sessions and payment of $8,000 into the fund, to get a pension of $6,000 a year for life?

* * *

This intensifies what we have already said about Parliamentary service becoming a job $10,000 a year for perhaps 12 years, and then a pension of $6,000 a year for life — is not such a deal as that likely to attract place-seekers and second-raters, rather than men who want the pleasures and the responsibilities of public service? There is no question whatever but that the M.Ps. will vote themselves a raise in pay; when, in all the history of human kind, has any governmental body refused to give itself more money from the public purse. But are they also going to give themselves these vastly increased pensions? We think that the public would like some information about that.

Holiday Money

There are now no restrictions on the amount of Canadian money Canadians can spend abroad. In this respect they are highly privileged, compared with nationals of most other countries, although many North and South Americans can spend what they like where they like. The only country in Europe where this freedom is available to its citizens is Switzerland, whose franc is as hard as the U.S. dollar—perhaps we should say the Canadian dollar, since it is even stronger stuff now than Uncle Sam's greenback. Oh, yes, Portugal has no restrictions, either, but few native Portuguese travel. The lack of restrictions is obviously designed to suit the millionaire Lisbon refugees.

The British tourist is now limited to spending £50 abroad each year, but this is double the amount twelve months ago. An Italian tourist is permitted to spend twice as much outside his country—if he has the money. Frenchmen are allowed about $80 twice a year. A German may spend up to $190 annually on foreign holiday travel. The only major countries whose people are worse off—for travelling money—than the British are Spaniards and Norwegians, whose limits are respectively less than $20 and about $100 a year.

Some of the poorest European countries do not promise to make any foreign exchange available for holiday purposes. Each case is considered on its merits. This is also the way in Austria, Greece and Yugoslavia. However, people in these countries do not have the habit of spending holidays outside their own borders.

The great European holiday travellers are the British, French, Germans, Dutch and Scandinavians. We have already mentioned the allowances made to the first three. The Dutch are allowed the equivalent of about $260 for each trip they make abroad. The Swedes have the most generous limits. They can spend as much as they want in Britain or the other Scandinavian countries. (This is somewhat reciprocal—Britons may spend up to £500 on visits to Scandinavia.) In addition, the Swedes are allowed a maximum of $280 in visits to other European countries. Further, Swedish citizens are allowed $100 to spend on the American continent.

All in all, the most care-free travellers should be the Canadians, with the most valuable money in the world and no restrictions on where it may be spent. The only limit is the amount a Canadian can find to spend on pleasure travels.

3-D Movies

Peterborough has already had 3-D movies, the kind where the spectators wear cardboard spectacles, so the novelty of seeing a third dimension film has worn off. To tell the truth, the specs were uncomfortable, and the pictures tiring to watch. This is not to say that the end of this kind of 3-D has come. The first of the genre were not really very good movies. When a good one comes, it is popular. We hear that a new film of the musical comedy Kiss Me Kate has drawn large crowds wherever it has been shown, and that the 3-D projection attracts more people than the standard version of the show.

There is another system of projecting depth to a flat screen. It is called Cinerama. This system uses three screens, dove-tailed together in a wide curve, and three projectors. This results in a picture which conforms more closely than the standard (on smaller, flat screens) to the angle of vision of the human eye. Hence the effect of depth. This is combined with a number of sound tracks which pick up, as the ear does, sound from the ground, from trees, from actors' clothes and the like, as well as the words. A remarkable realism is thus secured. Cinerama has been a tremendous success in the few cities in which it has been shown. It is not likely to come to Peterborough and places of its size for some time, if at all, because of the cost of re-equipping the theatre.

A third method of giving the illusion of a third dimension is the one which is employed in the film called The Robe, which is appearing in the city tomorrow. This is called Cinemascope. The method requires a screen wider than the ordinary and few Canadian theatres are yet able to handle it. It is not a new device; a quarter of a century ago a French inventor produced a lens which could condense a wide field of vision to a single strip of film, which could then be projected on a wide screen. This is the way The Robe, and How to Marry a Millionaire have been produced.

We are highly interested in these developments. The movies had so little opposition for so long, that they tended to become static, technically and artistically. Television has given Hollywood a scare, and it may be that the scare will result in a better Hollywood.

Avoiding Controversy

In connection with the film Martin Luther, we were interested to learn that several Hollywood film studios had refused to make it, because they felt that the theme was too controversial. We are fascinated by Hollywood's desire to avoid controversy, and we are obliged to Mr. Bruce Hutchison for information about a further example of it.

There is a film in circulation at the moment called The Captain's Paradise which is about a sea captain who has two wives—in separated ports—one of whom is delightfully domestic, while the other is a livelier sort of girl; between them the Captain enjoys what he regards as a well-balanced life. It is a charming little joke, but Hollywood has a blunted sense of humour. When the film is shown in the U.S.A. an epilogue, devised under the Production Code, is flashed upon the screen, and this is what it says:

"Yes, we have to conclude that this is a fairy tale. It never happened. It couldn't happen. If it has ever occurred to you as a possibility, forget it. There are all kinds of laws, divine and human against it. To say nothing of the scandal. Our considered advice is to go home now and have a hot cup of cocoa and bring a cup to your spouse—the only one you have."

This, from a community never notorious for the fidelity and monogamy of its citizens, is very funny. But then, you see, Hollywood is afraid that without this pious little tag, the film might become controversial.

Frankly, we like controversy. Nothing much in the world of thought—and that must include the twin worlds of ethics and morality—has ever been achieved without it. We wish Hollywood would loosen up. There is a lot to be said in favour of polygamy, and what community can speak on this subject with greater authority than Hollywood?

SPAIN EYES IT

Old, Strategic Gibraltar

By
A Special Correspondent
Resident in the Area

TWO HUNDRED and fifty years ago next July 24th, Gibraltar was annexed to the British Crown. Its ancient name is Calpe and according to Greek cosmology, it was one of the two pillars set up by Hercules on his way to capture the oxen of Geryon — his tenth labour. The other pillar was Abyla (now called the Hill of Apes) across the straits on the African shore. These two pillars marked the western limit of the earth which, in those days, was supposed to be flat. Beyond them was Oceanus, the river encircling the earth. In this river was the island abode of Geryon.

✧ ✧ ✧

LIKE all limestone formations, Gibraltar is riddled with caves, like gruyere cheese. Some of these caves have been incorporated in the defences. Until the advent of the air arm, Gibraltar was considered impregnable. It is still a hard nut to crack.

✧ ✧ ✧

GIBRALTAR first appears in connection with one Tariq ben Zaid who, in A.D. 711, with an army of 12,000 Moors, conquered Andalusia. As a base for his galleys and to ensure his communications with Africa, he built a strong castle on Mons Calpe, which was then named Geb-el-Tariq (Tariq's Hill) whence the modern name 'Gibraltar.' The keep of Tariq's castle still stands and is known to this day as the Moorish castle. Since his day, Gibraltar has been besieged no less than fifteen times, first in 1309 and last in 1783.

✧ ✧ ✧

GIBRALTAR first came under Christian rule in 1309 when it was captured by a Spanish army. The king, experienced however, difficulty in finding a garrison for his new possession. Service on this barren rock was unpopular and came to be regarded as a punishment. Desertions were all too common. Eventually the king tried offering it as an asylum, free of taxes and of molestation by the law, to any rogue, murderer or other fugitive from justice who would undertake to serve there. The maintenance of discipline among the gang of jailbirds soon proved too much for the commandante and other solutions had to be sought.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN 1333, Gibraltar was re-captured by the Moors and it remained in their hands until 1462 when Alonzo de Arcos took it in the name of the king of Castile. The Duke of Medina-Sidonia, however, a powerful grandee who had played an important part in the capture, claimed Gibraltar as a fief. The king, unwilling to alienate a place of such strategic importance, compromised by conferring the hereditary viceroyalty of Gibraltar on the duke and his heirs.

This hereditary fief lasted exactly forty years. The king then changed his mind and resumed direct control of the Rock.

✧ ✧ ✧

DURING the wars of the Spanish Succession, England and Holland were allied with Austria and, after a three-day siege (the twelfth in its history) Gibraltar was captured by an Anglo-Dutch fleet under Admiral Sir George Rooke. This was the 24th of July, 1704.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALTHOUGH the capture was ostensibly made in the interest of Austria and although there were Dutch ships in the fleet under his command, Sir George caused the British flag to be hoisted and took possession in the name of Queen Anne. The Spanish inhabitants went out with the garrison, leaving the place completely deserted. But as a civilian population was necessary to the economy of any town, Admiral Rooke imported a number of Genoese families. These were the ancestors of the present Gibraltarians.

✧ ✧ ✧

ON THREE occasions the Spaniards tried to re-capture Gibraltar. The last attempt was made during the American war of independence. To the Spaniards this seemed a heaven-sent chance to seize the place while England's main strength was occupied in America. They were mistaken. For four years (1779 to 1783) they battered at its defences and to no avail. The attackers produced a secret weapon which they expected to be irresistible. This consisted of ten ships fitted with sloping overhead shields made of green timber and covered with rawhide. The idea was that the English cannon-balls would bounce and roll off these shield without doing any harm while the attackers lay close to the walls and breached them. The English commander, Sir George Elliot, trumped his opponent's trick by using red-hot shot. Within twenty-four hours every battering vessel had been either blown up or burnt.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVENTUALLY, British naval victories elsewhere forced the French and Spanish governments to sue for peace and, in February 1783, the last formal siege of Gibraltar came to an end. During the campaign, Prince William Henry (afterwards King William IV) served as a midshipman under Admiral Rodney.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE 14th century chapel in Gibraltar, now known as the King's Chapel, is enriched with gifts and colours commemorating the services of the various British regiments which have served there. These include the Royal Regiment of Artillery, the Corps of Royal Engineers (first raised in Gibraltar during the great siege of 1779-1783) the Grenadier and Coldstream Guards, the West Yorkshire Regiment, the Northumberland Fusiliers, the Somerset Light Infantry, the King's Own Scottish Borderers, the Cameronians, the Dorset Regiment and the Border Regiment.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE strategic importance of Gibraltar cannot be overstated. Armed forces based thereon are able to exercise almost complete control over traffic in its vicinity, whether on the sea, under the sea or in the air. In the late autumn of 1942 the British command of the straits of Gibraltar prevented any serious interference with the North African expedition. In spite of U-boat concentrations, the Royal Navy was able to escort no less than eleven million tons of shipping through the straits into North African ports.

During the two world wars, Gibraltar lost nothing of its importance or strategic value, a fact which Canadian seamen, airmen and military tunnel-diggers know from personal experience. It is not a strategic importance that Britain will readily entrust to Franco's Spain.

An American Opinion: ARCH OF TRIUMPH

Another Magic Escape For Hemingway

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

ONCE AGAIN, Ernest Hemingway has come close to solving the riddle which has fascinated him all his life.

From childhood, when he joined his doctor father on his rounds in the Northern Michigan bush, Hemingway has been obsessed with death. His father's violent death increased the obsession.

Serving as ambulance driver with the Italian forces in the First World War, Hemingway came very close to learning the final truth for himself. It was on the Piave, north of Venice, that a near-miss shrapnel burst almost ended his career before it had begun.

After months of operations and convalescence, he survived. From that time on, rather than trying to avoid death, he seems to have spent his life daring it to touch him. In Spain as a correspondent during the Civil War, he operated in the front lines. In the Second World War, again officially as a correspondent, he operated in front of them, directing a rag-tag "command" of men who had lost their units. They said he knew more of strategy and tactics than their own commanders.

Between wars, he studied or practised such things as bull-fighting, gun-running, big-game hunting and deep-sea fishing. His adventures gave him the raw material for his books; they also gave him a pattern of scars that cover his body from toe to scalp.

To discuss Hemingway as an author is to discuss him as a man, for the two are inextricably mixed. He is one of those artists who believe that you have to have been there to be able to describe "the way it was."

The two lives, his own and his hero's (for it is always the same hero except in name), have grown progressively together until his last long novel, "Across the River and Into the Trees" became as much a memoir as a work of fiction.

The area where he crashed is dominated by snow-capped Mount Kilimanjaro, the same area where one of his famous heroes sickened and died.

Hemingway knows, now, the adventure of crashing in the jungle, of being given up for dead. But the final mystery, the world is happy to know, is still withheld from him.

Watching A Walking Race

By PAUL JENNINGS

IT was the Wagnerian, windy sort of day that is best for walking, when the roaring trees call obscurely to something heroic, northern and clean-limbed in the urban soul. Even on the tame steppes of Hampstead Heath thinking becomes more empirical; the loud dying of civilisations is heard on the wind. Just as those who followed Aristotle — the Peripatetics, the Walkers — were more concerned with the bustling forms of actual existence than was Plato, with his changeless, singing Ideas, so, seen from the windy heath, from the rhythm of walking, does London cease to be an abstraction, a celestial Whitehall, but is visible in horizons of grey under moving smoke. One hears—the fierce confederate cry

Of sorrow, barricadoed ever more
Within the walls of cities.

Nevertheless, when the figures in shorts and vests appeared panting over the hill, their activity seemed somehow jarring out of key with the heroic mood. For they are not runners. They were the kind that wear rather terrible old shoes and do that extraordinarily ungainly walking. It is the only form of athletic activity that seems to me indubitably ugly. Compared with the grace of a Discobolos, or the lovely youths in the Elgin Marbles, or the beautiful, still-remembered stride of Wooderson, it looks so wrong — the arms jerking painfully like pistons, the uncoordinated stride, and the relatively slow pace that means you have too long to look at them. Instead of moving gracefully past you, as runners do, these walkers allow you to examine the close-up, the goose-pimpled thighs beaten by wind and rain, the aggressively un-Greek physique. Although I knew in my heart that if I tried it myself I should fall down dead after a half a mile, I had this awful, traitorous feeling that it couldn't be good for them.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND YET, and yet. There were such a lot of them. Hundreds, including old men. As they twitched and jerked past, the hypnotic effect of ere numbers began to make itself felt. There must be something in it; they couldn't all be cranks. By the time the last heroic stragglers appeared, shambling in an agony of perseverence, I had somehow got quite used to the ugliness of the motion; I had indeed become a sort of connoisseur of it. It was impossible not to be touched, nay challenged, by this dogged search for fitness. I began to feel effete, on the defensive, in my overcoat, in the sight of this steaming breath and pink flesh.

I longed to tell them that I have a huge cup at home, on which it says 'presented by Kuckreja Limited" Kuckreja Limited were, and doubtless still are, a firm of sports outfitters in Bangalore, and they presented this cup for the cross-country in our unit sports. I won this cross-country, largely because of a superstition. When I first went to India I had a vague idea that it would get me if I didn't take exercise; and though it seems fantastic now, I used to run three miles before breakfast every morning.

I had been on detachment, miles from anywhere, with my section, and when we came back to the fleshpots and luxurious living of the parent unit, coincidentally with these sports, I seemed to be only man who could run more than a hundred yards (I had another, smaller cup, which I got for the 440 yards). I won the cross-country by about a mile. I had never won a race in my life before. Some general's wife presented the cups. I felt heroic. Perhaps I was a late developer, like that man Paavo Nurmi, who started winning marathons when he was fifty or something.

✧ ✧ ✧

I WAS made captain of the unit team of four runners for an event grandly called "The International Cross-Country" (the troops then in Bangalore included Americans, West Africans, and those curiously styled Italian Co-operators, endlessly making cigarette-lighters in the R.E.M.E. workshops, as well as British and Indians). I didn't know how you captained a running team, beyond saying "Do your best, chaps." I suppose it was just an honour.

There were about 500 runners in the race, which was watched by the entire military and civil population. We were jammed elbow to elbow at the start, and I got knocked over in the first rush. The West Africans started off at a hundred-yards pace. Half of me thought, in a superior way, "Aha, these simple fellows aren't used to the strategy of long-distance racing, they'll soon tire of that." The other half of me was aware of my unit, massed some 600 strong near the start. And this half dominated my counsels. I raced boldly past their cheers as fast as I could.

After 500 yards I got an appalling stitch. Through the agonising mist I recognized, among the hundreds that passed me, my three team-mates. "Do your best, chaps," I croaked. I came in 284th. The crowd were already dispersing. The race had been won by a West African who, in civil life, was a post runner, whose daily occupation was to trot thirty miles through the bush with a great sack of letters . . . .

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, let not the rich man glory in his riches: but let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, that I am the Lord which exercise lovingkindness, judgement and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the Lord. (Jer. 9:23, 24.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And one of the company said unto him, Master, speak to my brother that he divide the inheritance with me. And he said unto him, Man, who made me a judge or a divider over you?

And he said unto them, Take heed, and beware of covetousness: for a man's life consisteth not in abundance of the things which he possesseth . . . And he said unto his disciples, Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat; neither for the body, what ye shall put on. The life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment . . . Consider the lilies how they grow: they toil not, they spin not; and yet I say unto you, that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. If then God so clothe the grass, which is today in the field, and tomorrow cast into the oven; how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith?

And seek not yet what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither be ye of doubtful mind. For all these things do the nations of the world seek after: and your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things. But rather seek ye the kingdom of God; and all these things shall be added unto you. Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom. (Luke 12:13-15, 22, 23, 27-32.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A bather had been rescued by a local fisherman. After artificial respiration had been used for some time he showed signs of life.

A bystander then came forward with a glass of brandy. Eyeing this eagerly, the bather muttered:

"Roll me over and get some more water out first."

He was a believer in the uplifting effect of the drama, and now he had met his twin soul, what could be more natural than he should take her to "Othello" to be similiarly inspired? And she was. The scene of Desdemona's death beneath the pillow moved her profoundly.

"That reminds me!" she exclaimed. "I must get some loose covers for the cushions in my sitting-room."

Surgery Helping To Beat Deadly Form of Heart Disease

Note: This is the first of a series of four stories about a revolutionary surgical procedure in cases of coronary artery disease and related angina pectoris. Dr. Arthur Vineberg, Montreal surgeon who originated and developed the procedure, co-operated with the Canadian Press writer who prepared the series. A modest man, he made one request: That personality angles be dispensed with. "The operation is the news, not Vineberg," he said.

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP)—Angina pectoris, the term commonly applied to one of the deadliest forms of heart disease, is on the verge of a knockout at the hands of surgery.

This newest and revolutionary attack—transplanting a fully functioning chest artery directly into the blood-starved heart—is being carried out quietly and successfully at Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal.

The surgical procedure is known as the internal mammary artery implant. It was originated, pioneered and developed by Dr. Arthur Vineberg, the surgeon member of a medico-cardiological team for which a special section of the hospital has been set apart. Pre-operative and post-operative examination, study and care are thorough and exacting.

Specifically, the purpose of the operation is to bypass diseased coronary arteries and prevent deterioration and failure of the heart by supplying blood to the heart muscle.

VINEBERG IMPLANT

Surgeons from other North American centres, where the procedure of Dr. Vineberg has been confirmed, have come to Montreal to study the technique which they frequently speak of simply as "the Vineberg implant."

When heart specialists use the term coronary artery insufficiency they mean that the blood is not being properly delivered to the heart. This insufficiency, because of a diseased state, comes largely from two related causes: Hardening and thickening of the artery wall—arteriosclerosis; and blockage in the arteries—an occlusion or thrombosis.

The heart muscle must receive blood to carry out its job of pumping it back through the body. The supply comes through the coronary arteries and when they are narrowed less blood gets to the heart muscle. Gradually the heart muscle dies. This progressive degeneration leaves areas of scar tissue—a condition known as infarction.

The operation bridges over a sick coronary artery with a healthy one—the internal mammary artery which has never yet been found in a diseased state.

EASILY DETACHED

This artery lies in part against the left ventricle of the heart and is easily detached from the chest wall. A tunnel is made in the heart muscle and the new artery placed within it.

After the artery is detached—and before the implant—one end is doubly ligated. That is, it is tied in two places, about an inch apart. It is then cut between the ligatures. The freed portion is pulled into the tunnel and fixed.

The little vessels or branches which arise from the freed portion are ligated except for one, which is transected just before the implant is pulled into the tunnel. Thus the internal mammary artery is placed within the heart muscle with an open, freely bleeding branch.

Nature then takes over from the surgeon. The new artery usually does not clot and begins joining up with the coronary circulation. Neither nature nor the surgeon can do anything about scar tissue, which is of no use to the functioning heart. The transplant procedure is designed to reach what muscle is left in the heart following infarction. The newly implanted artery works best in muscle.

70 PER CENT SATISFACTORY

Dr. Vineberg places "satisfactory results" from the operation at 70 per cent. It was first performed nearly four years ago. There were three deaths among the earliest of the first 14 cases. Each of the three patients died within 62 hours. Their condition actually was hopeless. They knew they were clinging to life by a thread but insisted on the operation. Such cases today most likely would be ruled non-operable, regardless of the patient's wishes.

At the other end of the scale is a man, now about 60 years old, who suffered anginal pain, difficulty in breathing and fatigue. His exercise tolerance was limited to walking 150 feet. Now he hikes around the bush up to 10 miles.

Taking every advantage of greater knowledge and improved technique gained through persistent study, the Royal Victoria group now handles one to three operations a week. The operation, from start to finish, takes less than an hour and a half.

Average time of a patient in hospital is three weeks in bed and one week up. Then he goes home, with advice to take things easy from three to six months. But some feel so chipper they lose little time getting back to work—something they hadn't done for several months or even a couple of years.

Must Reduce Costs In Paper Products

TORONTO (CP)—Malcolm Cochran of Port Arthur, president of the Ontario Forest Industries Association, said Wednesday the industry must reduce costs if it is to compete in the North American forest products market.

There is a general curtailment of pulpwood operations in Ontario as a result of a lessening demand for pulpwood, the nervousness of some United States consumers early in 1953 and a let-down in their business, he said.

Although the demand for pulp and paper products in 1954 will not be as great as it has been during the last two or three years, no large decline is in prospect, he said in an address prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the association.

Attending the meeting are representatives from Ontario's 58 pulp and paper producers, lumber and sawmill operators and pulpwood exporters.

Self-Government Distant For NWT

OTTAWA (CP)—A former Liberal, minister of mines and resources says that self-government for the vast Northwest Territories is a long way off.

Senator T. A. Crerar (L—Manitoba) made the statement during debate in the Senate on a government bill to amend the Northwest Territories Act. The bill, increasing the number of elected representatives on the NWT council to four from three, was given second reading—approval in principle.

Senator Crerar said the increase in representation is another step along the road to granting self-government to the territories.

"No one knows how soon this will be," he said. "Personally, I think it will be a long time coming."

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L—Ontario) said the government has been too slow in granting self-government. He hoped Senator Crerar was "unduly pessimistic."

MP's Among Highest In Income Brackets

OTTAWA (CP)—Without other income, members of Parliament will be among the highest-paid persons in Canada when they get their raises.

The Commons Tuesday night approved doubling the sessional indemnity to $8,000. Besides this, MPs receive $2,000 tax free for expenses, giving them a total of $10,000, one-fifth of it non-taxable. Most MPs also hold down other jobs.

In 1951, lawyers were, on the average, the highest-paid profession in Canada with annual income of $10,214, all of it taxable. Doctors and surgeons ranked second with $9,975, consulting engineers and architects third with $9,628, accountants fourth with $8,171 and dentists fifth with $6,287.

However, many executives in Canada receive a much higher income that professional persons or MPs.

Selling New Hebrides Described Nonsense

CANBERRA (Reuters) — Australian and British spokesmen today dismissed as "nonsense" a report that Britain plans to "sell out" her interest in the New Hebrides, a group of Pacific islands jointly governed by Britain and France.

Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies said Wednesday, "I've never heard of it. I don't expect I ever shall hear of it."

In London, a colonial office spokesman said the report is "nonsense."

The original report was made in the Melbourne Argus today by R. W. Robson, a recognized authority on Pacific affairs.

Cops In 'Copter

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP)—Traffic control tests in Melbourne in which ground police patrols were directed by radio from an officer in a helicopter were described as "very satisfactory." The helicopter got a broad view of the traffic streams in the city of 1,400,000 population.

Chevrier Thinks Canada Should Have New Flag

MOOSE CREEK (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said Wednesday night that many Canadians, including himself, think Canada should have a distinctive national flag.

The transport department in Ottawa Wednesday night issued a summary of a speech Mr. Chevrier was scheduled to make at a meeting of the Board of Trade in this eastern Ontario town 55 miles southeast of Ottawa.

He said:

"It how is felt by many Canadians, including myself, that the time has come for Canada to assert further the fully autonomous status of our country within the British Commonwealth by the adoption of a distinctly national flag."

NO ACTION TAKEN

His statement was the first announcement of support of a new flag by a member of the present government. He added, however, that no change will be made until after careful study.

An unofficial committee of Commons members, composed of Liberal member from every province, has been studying a new flag design containing the coat of arms on a red-and-white background. The coat of arms includes the crown, Fleur de Lis and Union Jack.

A joint Commons-Senate committee was set up in 1946 to recommend a new flag design. It studied 2,695 designs and selected one but the design never was submitted to Parliament and no other action was taken.

Lights Turn Red Four Ways At Once

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — London pedestrians will start doing the "Barnes dance" Friday.

Officials announced Wednesday that one downtown intersection will be equipped with lights that turn red four ways at once, stopping cars for 13 seconds, while pedestrians cross.

Pedestrians may cross the street in any direction and even take a diagonal short-cut across the middle of the intersection.

The criss-cross pedestrian traffic became known as the Barnes dance after a former traffic inspector at Flint, Mich., who devised it.

Lays Sky Low Low Low In Mat Semi-Final For A Little Beaver Win

Ernie Dusek and Hombre Montana went to a time limit draw in the main bout of professional wrestling card at the Brock St. Arena last night, but it was the midget grapplers in the semi-final tilt who once again stole the show. They went in a tag team bout, and the pair of Little Beaver and Karl Kruger won against Sky Low Low and the Great Schultz, though it went to just one minute less than the 30-minute time limit before they got the decision. The prelim bout saw Emil Dusek pin Alan Garfield in 17 minutes, doing it again for good measure after the gong and after the ref had left the ring.

Despite the cold and stormy weather—which must have kept many regular district fans at home—the program drew a good-sized crowd, most of them probably being drawn by the midgets. They weren't disappointed in the little guys, as they put up a great showing all the way, and Little Beaver, who moves like greased lightning, for the fun of it took a playful kick at the back of Referee Sammy Gotter's pants en route to the dressing room—much to Sammy's chagrin.

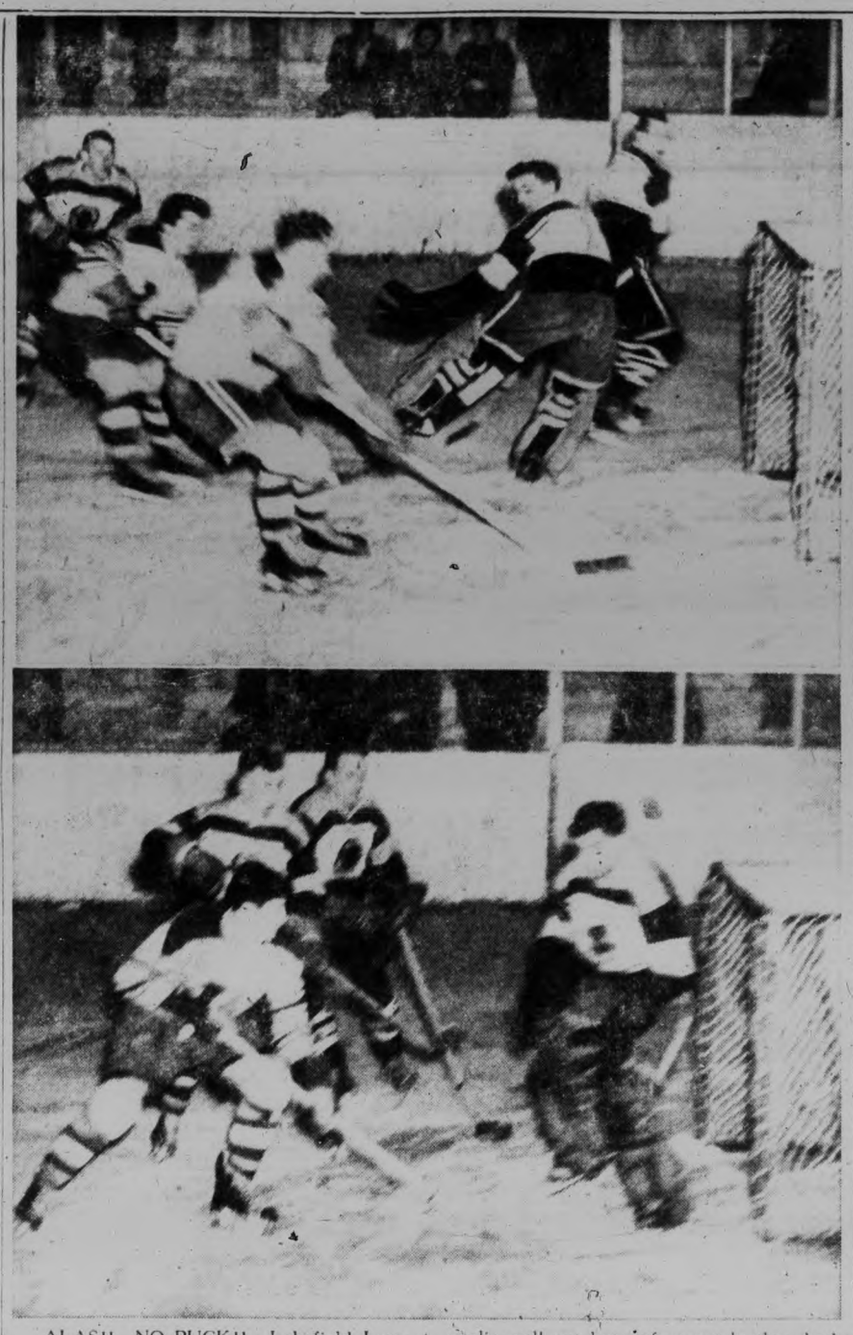
LAID HIM LOW

Passing over the main bout for a moment, Little Beaver laid Sky Low Low low in 29 minutes with a double leg spin and slam, then cuffing Schultz to the mat just to keep him from interfering. The fans cheered heartily, as they liked the speedy little Indian, and his slow but strong partner, Karl Kruger. The bout was a riot of action and laughs as the four mixed it furiously and had the referee nearly grayheaded by the finish as he tore about angrily trying to keep order. They were darting in and out of the ring, and they mixed it in the squared arena and in front of the ringside pews, with the action being quite rough in the rival corners. They pulled all the stunts of their bigger mat brethren and they got away with a lot more, the four even piling onto the ref once and Little Beaver hitting him a kick in the mush and then blaming Low Low for the low trick. The fans loved it, especially when Gotter tried to snake rapidly across the floor to catch the will-o'-wisp called Beaver.

WON THE FIRST

In the main bout the 246-pound Ernie Dusek won the first fall over Hombre Montana, bumping the beam at 325 fahrenheit, in 27 minutes with elbow smashes and a slam off the ropes. Dusek suffered just prior to this from a solid body scissors as the huge bearded one applied the pressure, but Ernie wriggled free. Hombre fixed him next fall in four minutes with a shoulder back-breaker after a softening-up process to the mid-section with body scissors and bear hugs. Montana was stronger but Ernie was fast, tricky and used his fists. Both had their supporters. Time ran out on them in the hour for the final fall and it was a draw, though Montana seemed stronger at the windup and tossed his rival to the floor after the bell. He had more fans this time than before as Ernie roughed it up more, and had his brother in his corner.

Emil Dusek, at 231, took the prelim over the 234-poind Alan Garfield in 17 minutes with his sleeper hold, going back again to apply it with the ref away and the gong sounded. Emil had a good margin on his rival most of the way, playing it plenty rough and tossing the book at the Englishman. Garfield revived for a short time midway through but it wasn't good enough to stem the tide. Twice when Alan had Emil gripped solidly between his legs, the villainous Dusek bit him to break free while Gotter, as usual, missed this illegal bit of work—or is it play? Before the finish, Emil tossed Garfield into the hemp four or five time to soften him, and then he put him to sleep.



ALAS!! NO PUCK!!—Lakefield Lumbermen missed two excellent chances to score Wednesday night when these pictures were taken. As it was they didn't need the goals, edging Orono 4-3. Ab Caravaggie and Ace Reid (at top) have the Orono goalie well out but unfortunately they had no puck. Neil Wasson (lower photo) was outguessed on this play after grabbing a loose puck in front of the Orono goal. Lakefield played this game with only one defenceman, due to a number of recent injuries.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Key Organizer Positive Melbourne Will Put On Good Show For Olympics

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE (AP) — The two key men in the organization of the 1956 Olympic Games—a crisp retired army general and a greying little Briton—are ready to guarantee that Melbourne will put on a "good show."

"There is no doubt in my mind these games will be among the most successful ever," said tall, erect Lt.-Gen. William Bridgeford, chief executive officer. "We have wiped out all our early bickering and everybody is intent and enthusiastic about making a real go of it."

"I won't say these will be the best games ever," added E. J. (Billy) Holt, 70-year-old Olympic veteran who was chief organizer of the 1948 games in London. "We have tried to incorporate the best features of all the past games. I think we have modelled our planning more after the 1932 games at Los Angeles than any other."

DIRECTOR IN LOAN

Holt was borrowed by Melbourne to serve as technical director. He is assisted by Leonard Curnow, 49, an engineer in the department of defence, an amateur athletic official for some 20 years and arena manager for the Melbourne Olympics.

Bridgeford and Holt are the field executives while chief of staff of the entire operation is chairman of the Olympic organizing committee, Kent Hughes.

Oxford-educated and a former Olympic hurdler, the suave, effiicient Hughes is minister of public works in the Australian government and is credited with bringing federal and state government officials into close harmony for the united effort.

"We plan to make all Australia conscious of the importance of the Olympic Games," Hughes said, "and to see to it that everybody lends his best efforts to making the game a success."

EARLY TROUBLES ENDED

After its early trials, Melbourne's Olympic organizing committee is working full steam now with most of the major construction blue-printed and ready to move into the saw-and-hammer stage after the Queen's visit next month.

Bridgeford is a restless, chain-smoking officer who was commander of Commonwealth forces in Korea. Fifty-nine years old, aggressive and no respecter of red tape, the general has proceeded to knit loose ends together and attack this problem the way his troops would the enemy.

Construction, technical and communications committees already are at work. Other sub-committees will be set up later to handle transport, medical services, accommodation and catering.

Lakefield Boys Defeat Orono

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Before a small crowd of some 150 people, Lakefield eked out its first win over Orono, 4-3, Wednesday night, in an intermediate OHA game at the Lakefield arena.

Lakefield opened the scoring early in the first period on a solo attempt by Floyd, but a few minutes later after Buck of Lakefield went off for interference, Armstrong of Orono rounded the Lakefield net and slipped one by Harding tying the score. Plenty of fast hockey, but no scoring followed, with Lakefield doing everything but sink the puck.

Within the first minute of the second period, Hunter broke from centre ice with Birch and C. Wasson, pulled Hooper out of the Orono net and made the score 2-1, Lakefield. The score was again tied a few minutes later when Robinson, assisted by West, scored on Harding. At this point Lakefield began to apply pressure, but Hooper in the Orono nets was a hard man to beat. The entire Orono team had a difficult time getting past Lakefield defenceman, Richlark.

C. Wasson scored from Birch making the score 3-2 in favor of Lakefield to end the second period.

The third period saw Lakefield make sure of their lead when Hunter, assisted by C. Wasson, performed a duplicate of his second goal. Orono tried desperately to tie things up and Philips made it close scoring with nine minutes left in regular time. But that was it in the scoring column. Final score 4-3 for Lakefield.

Sazio Won't Take Job As Coach

KITCHENER (CP) — Ralph Sazio, line coach of Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Big Four Football Union, notified Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen Wednesday that he will not take the job as coach of the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union team this year.

Sazio said Hamilton team officials told him "that now is not an opportune time for me to leave."

B. P. (Spike) Kearns, president of the Dutchmen, said Sazio's decision was disappointing. Executive members will meet this week when it is expected they will discuss other candidates for the post.

Three Sign Contracts With Maple Leafs

TORONTO (CP)—Pitchers Jose Bracho and Tom Doke, infielder Luis Garcia and outfielder Archie Wilson have signed contracts with Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League for the 1954 season, general manager Frank Pollock said Wednesday.

Pollock, who mailed out 29 contracts early this week, said there were three players given raises and very few cuts."

Doke, a pitcher off the Montreal Sandlots, was recommended to Toronto by Dave Lambton, a Montreal pitcher who played briefly for Leafs in the mid 1940s.

Rose Beats Seixas In Quarter-Finals

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Wimbledon champion Vic Seixas of the United States was beaten today by Mervyn Rose in the quarter finals of the Australian National tennis championships, 8-6, 9-7, 9-11, 6-4.

Seixas staved off four match points before winning the third set, but couldn't continue his rally after the intermission.

The veteran 35-year-old John Bromwich, who upset Tony Trabert of the U.S. in the second round, advanced to the semi-finals as he beat fourth-seeded George Worthington in a five-set quarter-final 3-6, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Archie Moore, Wife Agree On Settlement

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Lawyers for light heavyweight champion Archie Moore and his wife, Alice, reached an agreement Wednesday on an out-of-court settlement of her suit for separate maintenance.

Mrs. Moore's lawyer, Edward Moore (no relation), said "we agreed on terms and expect to sign the papers and settle up tomorrow." No details were announced.

Presumably, the settlement cleared the way for Archie to collect his purse for Wednesday's title fight with Joey Maxim.

The 36-year-old Mrs. Moore, claiming to be penniless and hungry, filed an emergency suit in court Tuesday and obtaining temporary injunctions to tie up Archie's purse and keep him in Florida pending a settlement. She made no specific requests in her petition.

Maroons Blank Hamilton Tigers 2-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Visiting teams had little luck in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series Wednesday night.

In three league contests two shutouts were recorded. The visiting team in the third game scored two goals, both coming in the third period.

In Kitchener the second-place Dutchmen hoisted themselves to within two points of the league-leading Owen Sound Mercurys by defeating the Mercs 5-2.

Chatham Maroons, on the strength of two goals by Jim Connelly, shut out Hamilton Tigers 2-0 in Chatham and in Stratford the Indians blanked Niagara Falls Cataracts 8-0.

The Northern Ontario Hockey Association's only game saw Sudbury Wolves defeat Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians 3-1 in Sault Ste. Marie.

At Kitchener, Charlie Brooker, Ken Laufman, Joe Schertzl, Gerry Theberge and Don Beauer scored for the winners. Tommy Burlington and Al Forslund counted for Owen Sound.

FANS KEPT WAITING

The 2,300 fans in Chatham were kept waiting 50 minutes because the Tigers ran into a snow storm en route to the game.

Connelly scored his first goal after 15 minutes of the second period and notched his second at 8:05 of the third. Hank Bassen kicked out 29 drives for his first shutout of the year.

The Indians, who outshot the last place Cataracts 42-18, took a 3-0 lead in the first period, doubled the score in the second and added another pair in the last.

SCORE TWO EACH

Herve Dejordy and George Aitken scored two each for the Indians. Mike Deloch, Mickey Roth, Danny Flanagan and Apples Finkbeiner added singles. The cleanest game of the season here; there were only six minor penalties handed out and Niagara Falls drew four.

The Wolves were the only successful road team of the night. Yacker Flynn, Nick Tomiuk and Hub Beadry gave Sudbury the victory which moved them to within eight points of the front-running Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds.

Kitchener is at Chatham and Owen Sound at Hamilton in Friday's OHA schedule.

North Bay Trappers meet the Lumber Kings in Pembroke in the NOHA tonight.

Kitchener Whips Bilts 5-2 After 3 Players Fined

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

In big-league hockey a player is benched when his coach thinks he isn't playing up to par.

In the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series where salaries are considerably less, coaches work differently. They use the theory that hitting the player in the wallet is where it hurts most. And this latest fad of fining players is producing results.

Last week Alf Pike tagged six of his Guelph Biltmores with fines for indifferent play and failing to carry out instructions. The same night the Biltmores came up with a 9-2 victory.

Wednesday Kitchener - Waterloo Greenshirts fined netminder Claude Pronovost, defenceman Gord Onotsky and centre Bruce Jones, also for indifferent play. The result: A 5-2 victory for the Greenshirts over the Biltmores in Guelph. Two of the fined players were instrumental in the victory.

Pronovost gave the Greenshirts tremendous support when they were behind 2-0 in the first period and Jones scored a goal.

OVERTIME TIE

In the two other games Wednesday night, both interlocking contests with Quebec Junior Hockey League teams, Toronto Marlboros held Trois-Rivieres Reds to a 5-5 overtime tie while Montreal Canadiens defeated Galt Black Hawks 5-3.

The Greenshirts spotted Guelph a 2-0 lead and then took over the show. They got one back in the first period, another in the second and three in the third.

Graham Joyce, with two goals and an assist led the Kitchener marksmen. Bud McPherson, Ivan Tennant and Jones were the others.

Bob Forhan and Ed Shack were the Guelph scorers.

In Trois - Rivieres Marlboros came from behind with a three-goal third period for the tie. It moved them in a tie for first place in the OHA standings.

ONE PENALTY

Dave Reid scored two for Toronto. Billy Harris, Gerry James and Tom McCarthy rounded out the total.

Leo Fournier, Roger Houle, Leon Michelin, Jean Gendron and Jean Cossette shared the scoring for the Reds.

Only one penalty was imposed during the Galt-Canadiens game in Montreal.

Bob McCord and Phil Goyette scored two each for Montreal, the other going to Denis Boucher, Hec Laalnde, Pete Kowalchuk and Chick Chalmers were the marksmen for Galt.

Barrie Flyers are at Guelph and Toronto St. Michael's College Majors at St. Catharines TeePees in the OHA Friday. Galt goes to Trois-Rivieres, Montreal Canadiens are at Kitchener and Marlboros play the Marquis in Jonquiere in interlocking games.

Moore Disposes Of Maxim In Most Decisive Victory

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, having finally disposed of Joey Maxim as a challenger, is clamoring for a crack at Rocky Marciano's crown.

That heavyweight target, however, may prove as elusive for Archie as the light heavyweight title chance he pursued so many years. Chances are Moore now will either fight Harold Johnson or go back to South America on another exhibition tour.

Marciano's opponents this year probably will be Dan Bucceroni in March and Ezzard Charles in June or September. Indications are that the champ's manager, Al Weill, is working on a schedule that leaves Moore strictly out.

The powerful Moore smashed Maxim to the canvas twice Wednesday night as he scored his third and by far his most decisive victory over the Cleveland jabber, the only man he has ever fought as a champion.

He lifted the title from Maxim in St. Louis Dec. 17, 1952, and successfully defended it against Joey in Ogden, Utah, June 24, 1953. Moore, now 37, had been fighting for 16 years and had been a contender about 10.

"I think this one ended my series with Joe," Moore said with a big grin in his dressing room. "I'd like to fight Marciano now, but I'll take on Harold Johnson if they'll get up the money."

Jackie Robinson Signs His Eighth Contract

BROOKLYN (AP)—Jackie Robinson, the first Negro in organized baseball, has signed his eighth major-league contract with Brooklyn Dodgers, the club announced today.

He will get a reported $40,000 for 1954, 10 times more than he made with Montreal in 1946 when he broke the game's color line. The new contract, represents a raise of about $2,000 over last season.

Robinson will be 35 years old Sunday. He has been a regular since the day he joined the Dodgers. In 1953 he played five positions—76 games in left field, 44 at third base, nine at second, six at first and one at short.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Peterborough people anxious to see a definite start made this year on the Memorial Community Centre will applaud the move being made by the city council to have the Centre committee reorganized. Some of this committee after 10 years have become inactive or moved elsewhere, and a new slate of officers (including of course, many of the former ones) appears necessary. The city's private bill to erect the Centre in Morrow Park goes before the provincial legislature next month. First definite step in this direction was made last year when the council appointed a lawyer to check into all details with the Exhibition Board, the Morrow Trust the council and the committee in order that the bill might be presented this winter for a government green light on the project.

* * * * * * *

As the council points out — in calling a meeting of the present Centre committee for next Tuesday — such re-organization should come from the committee itself. We recall a meeting lined up by Bud LaBranche last summer when the whole matter was discussed by interested parties, and it was felt then that the present committee should re-organize and take definite and early action. Some of those present, as we remember, were: Stan McBride, Jim Fraser, Gord Dobbin, Ray Tanner, Johnny Russelle, Frank Buckland, Gordon Munroe, Bob Peirson, Dr. Jack Epping, Art Lewis, as well as press and radio representatives. However, nothing very concrete came from the conclave.

* * * * * * *

Expect Site Approval

Support from a re-organized Centre committee, as well as the other Peterborough bodies concerned, is necessary when the bill is presented for approval to the private bills committee of the provincial legislature in February. It is expected that such approval will be given for use of a site in the east end of Morrow Park for the erection of the Community Memorial Centre, a long-delayed project here. Even if such approval is forthcoming, we don't expect to see the dream realized this year. There still will be much work required, as well as more money raised. But the passing of the bill would be a big step in the right direction, and we could have the whole thing completed by a year from next autumn. Just keep your fingers crossed.

As Belleville's puck chances gradually fade insofar as making an OHA senior "B" playoff spot are concerned, the hot race for positions continues among Oshawa, Petes, Kingston and Orillia. Four will hit the charmed circle by the end of February, and best-of-five semi-finals call for the top team then to play the fourth club, whilst the second and third teams tangle. Finals are best-of-seven, to be over by March 20. No soft touches loom for any of the squads the rest of the schedule. Orillia Pontiacs play her on Friday, and the TPT-ers travel to Bowman Villa next night to meet the leading Oshawa Truckmen. Kingston is at Belleville on Friday, and Memos go to Orillia the following eve.

Red Does Okay in AHL

While Jack Gordon of Cleveland with 66 points and Ed Olsor of Barons with 65 lead George (Red) Sullivan in AHL scoring at present, the local hustler is just three points from a first-place tie, and likely will be back atop shortly once more. He's led the loop almost all season, and is still leading in assists. The Hershey redhead has 46. But of the top ten snipers in the American League, Red is second high for penalties, serving 44 minutes — and this is bound to hold him back a bit in scoring. Buffalo and Cleveland are one-two in the standing, with Pittsburg and Hershey fighting it out for third slot. Recent Cleveland-Buffalo games have drawn 9,891 and 9,688 fans. Jack McIntyre, who had but 32 points with Hershey, recently stepped up to Hawks of the NHL. Red has 63 but Bruins aren't calling him up yet.

Stormy weather last p.m. didn't keep too many pro mat fans away from their favorite entertainment, quite a gallery along the Rue Brock viewing proceedings and evidently enjoying what they saw. And especially that semi-final when the famed midget grabblers strutted their streamlined stuff for half an hour. A ring riot, no fooling. They had Referee Sammy Gotter nearly nuts — that is nuttier than usual — as they darted in and out and around about in fast, rough action. Sky Low Low was laid low at the finish by the popular Little Beaver, who must have quick-silver in his veins. Karl Kruger was his partner, as the Great Schultz was a nasty sidekick for Low Low. Or has he just one Low surname? No matter, it was quite a tussle. Hombre Montana and Ernie Dusek went to a draw in the main bout, while Emil Dusek took the prelim handily over Alan Garfield.

Canadiens Blank Toronto Leafs In 2-0 Triumph

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion were sure today that all nets around the National Hockey League circuit are six feet wide and four feet high. They must have wondered at times. The two rightwingers, top scorers in the big time this year, amassed 52 goals before they could break a jinx and score in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens. They both beat the hex Wednesday night. Richard scored his 29th goal of the season and Geoffrion tallied his 25th as they led Montreal Canadiens to a 2-0 victory over the third-place Toronto Maple Leafs.

It was the only game of the night and gave the Montrealers a firmer grip on second place, three points ahead of the Leafs and three behind the front-running Detroit Red Wings.

It was the key game for both teams. A victory for the Leafs would have put them in second place one point ahead of Montreal.

However, Richard put Canadiens up 1-0 at 16:51 of the first period with an unassisted goal that set the 13,537 fans on their ears.

BREAKS FROM SCRAMBLE

Jim Thomson was the only Toronto defenceman, protecting Lumley when Richard broke from a scramble at his own blueline. Richard pushed the puck past Thomson and swept around him. Lumley came out to clear but barely tipped the puck and Richard, off balance, shoved it across the goal line.

Geoffrion made it 2-0 at 6:19 of the second period while Toronto rightwinger Eric Nesternko was in the penalty box. Geoffrion snatched the puck during a goalmouth scramble and his shot bounced off Lumley's pads into the nets. Centre Elmer Lach and Eddie Mazur got assists.

Canadiens also shattered a Leaf home record of not having been defeated in the Gardens since fourth-place Boston Bruins pulled an upset last Oct. 24.

In two games tonight, the fifth-place New York Rangers travel to Detroit and the last-place Hawks meet the Bruins in Boston.

Trabert, Seixas Knocked Out Of Championship

SYDNEY (AP) — Tired Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas, who won the Davis Cup doubles for America, were knocked out of the Australian national doubles championships Wednesday 24 hours after Trabert was blasted from the singles in a major upset.

Australians Clive Wilderspin and Neale Fraser, a second-string combination, defeated Seixas and Trabert, 6-4, 12-10, 10-8 in the doubles semi-finals at White City stadium.

Several Australian tennis writers suggested the Australian Lawn Tennis Association look into Trabert's actions and send a report to the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

Trabert, smarting over complaints that his court manners weren't all they should be, retaliated by saying manners of Australian spectators are pretty bad, too.

"And he vowed that when he gets home, he's "going to tell officials the truth about what goes on down here, where tennis is really a big sport."

Trabert, 23, got a bad reception from the gallery when he lost to Bromwich.

"We're not animals—we play tennis for fun," he fumed. "People here come and pay their 70 cents or so and maintain it gives them the right to shout their heads off at us.

"It's no fun to me when a fellow like Bromwich makes a fool of you with passing shots and you hear the crowd laugh and jeer. At times, I made a fool of Bromwich with some passing shots of my own—but there wasn't a murmur from the crowd."

Marlene Stewart Shoots Two-Over-Par 77 To Qualify

MIAMI, Fla. (CP) — Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, British amateur champion, shot a two-over-par 77 Wednesday to qualify easily for the championship flight of the Helen Lee Doherty golf tournament here.

Miss Stewart, a student at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., matched par on the front nine with a 37 at the Miami Shores Country Club where women's par is 37-38—75. She took a bogey on the first hole but birdied the par 3 when she drove to within 12 feet of the cup and dropped her putt for a deuce.

She was two over par on the incoming nine, taking a bogey on the 12th where par is 4. On the final hole she was trapped but blasted out and needed two putts for a bogey 6 and a 40.

She tied with three others at 77 and was only two strokes off the pace set by Cookie Swift of Great Neck, N.Y., and Grace Demos Smith of Coral Gables, Fla., who tied for qualifying honors with 75.

Semi-Finals Reached In Bonspiel

By PETER BUCKLEY

QUEBEC (CP) — Three top-drawer competitions were to reach the semi-final stage late today as the week-long Quebec international bonspiel swung into the second half of play.

Twelve teams were set to take part late today in the semi-finals in the "A", "B" and "C" competitions while 24 entries, including these 12, will start the second round of the lieutenant-governor's trophy playoffs, the bonspiel's major event.

Among those taking part in lieutenant-governor's play was the defending champion, Toronto Granite, led by skip Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly of the Ontario Supreme Court.

He came up with two victories Wednesday to advance to the semi-finals in the "C" section and also qualify for the grand aggregate—awarded the team with the most number of wins in the "A", "B" and "C" competitions—and the lieutenant-governor's contest. Mr. Justice Kelly was also grand aggregate winner in 1953.

In the morning draw he walloped Dave Aboud's Smith Falls quartet 14-3 and then edged Vic Lyon's Quebec Victoria crew 12-11 in the evening.

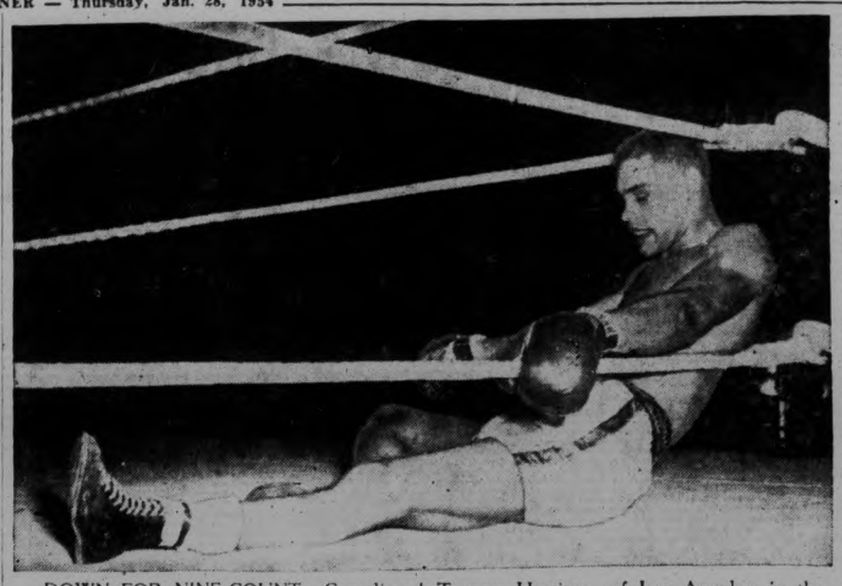
FIGHT SURVIVED

In Wednesday's fifth and final draw, eight teams came through first-round wins in lieutenant-governor's play. Losers drop down into play for lesser trophies.

W. J. Miller's Trois-Rivieres rink defeated Cornwall, piloted by H. E. Mason, 10-8, while S. Wilson skipped his Sudbury crew to a 9-3 walloping of N. Lemelin's Quebec Etchemin crew. Quebec Jacques Cartier rallied behind Guillaume Piette for a 17-7 victory over R. Masse's Granby, Que. foursome and veteran Pat Ross led St. Johns, Que., to a 12-8 count on Lou Looman's Detroit entry.

Ed Robertson's Ottawa West lost 8-7 to Rene Giguere and his Quebec Curling Club squad and George von Zuban's Sudbury team was also eliminated from the play suffering a 9-6 defeat at the hands of Guy Suckling's Quebec Victoria.

C. A. Sutherland's Kirkland Lake edged another Quebec Jacques Cartier team under Olivier Samson 9-8 and Montreal West, skipped by E. L. Gallagher, downed Mel Stonehouse's Ottawa Glebe 8-6.



DOWN FOR NINE-COUNT—Canadian heavyweight champion Earl Walls lies dazed, his left eye cut, after being knocked to the floor by a hard right-hand smash from Tommy Harrison, of Los Angeles, in the fourth round of a 10-round fight at Toronto. Walls came back to finish the bout but lost a unanimous decision to Harrison.

HARRISON BATTERS WALLS—Tommy Harrison, of Los Angeles, lands a hard right to the ribs of Earl Walls, of Toronto, Canadian heavyweight champion, in a 10-round fight at Toronto. Harrison had Walls on the canvas twice and pounded out a unanimous decision over the Toronto battler who entered the ring a 2-1 favorite. Walls was rated fifth and Harrison eighth in Ring Magazine listings before the bout.

Talbert Wants To Be Captain Of Cup Team

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Talbert said cheerfully today that he'd like to be captain of the American Davis Cup team again this year if it plays Australia in the challenge round.

"I think we can beat those guys," said Talbert as he prepared to get the feel of his Wall street business again after a leave of almost two months. "But, of course, I haven't been asked and I don't know if I'd be able to get away again."

Talbert, whose team of Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas took a 3-2 beating from the Aussies last month in the challenge round, arrived by air Wednesday night and was met by Alrick Man, chief of the Davis Cup selection committee.

MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS

"I'm going to make several recommendations to the committee," he said, "and I think most of them will work. In this big country of ours, there must be some youngsters who will make good tennis players. Trabert is as good as any of the Australians. It's just a matter of getting some kids to develop."

After watching the way things are run down under, Talbert apparently is convinced that the United States will have to take some steps to develop juniors.

Talbert said he couldn't comment on the ructions raised by Seixas Wednesday in the Australian championships when Vic invited a spectator to "come down and say that."

Sealing Expedition Success Depends Upon Spotter

By STEWART MacLEOD

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Nowadays the success or failure of Newfoundland sealing expeditions depends on the sharp eyes of Capt. Kenneth Barbour, the seal spotter.

Capt. Ken is no longer a sailor. From an airplane's cockpit he scans the northern reaches of the Atlantic for seals and gives their position to radio-equipped ships of the sealing fleet.

Sailing plans for this year's hunt are indefinite. Seal oil prices have declined and it is possible the fleet may be the smallest in years.

Capt. Barbour looks back on 60 years of sealing, from the small ice-covered sealing vessels to the heated cockpits of modern planes.

EXCITING HUNTS

Relaxing at his home recently he told of the excitement of the kills, the happy homecomings when the little boats were cheered into port by thousands and the division of the profits of the catch. Less happily he recalled the disaster to the sealer Greenland in March, 1898 when he spent two days on an ice-floe as 47 companions died.

Starting at the bottom, Capt. Ken joined the sealing fleet when he was 12 and had to work three years for a boy's share—so much a skin. "They soon gave me a man's cut, though, because I was making more than the men."

He stayed with the fleet, becoming a master watch. Later he was second mate, but before he got command of a ship he was asked to play the important role of spotter.

The captain said he had done a lot of flying, but he would rather be at sea. He does not pilot the plane; he is strictly a spotter.

CAN BE DANGEROUS

"You see," he said, "this flying can be dangerous.

"We generally fly at about 1,500 feet, but when we spot the seals we come down to about 800 feet. At that height we swing around and see the size of the herd. Then we head for the coast and get a three-way position to give to the ships."

That's not the lowest he has flown. "I was in a federal plane one year which was fitted with cameras," he said. "We were flying lower than the ship's masts to take pictures."

Capt. Barbour has been caught in many ice floes and many blizzards. He's been stranded on the ice away from the ship and he's helped dig his companions out of icy graves.

ONLY FIVE SURVIVORS

"My worst experience was the Greenland disaster. I was a crew member on board the Greenland when she got jammed, leaving us stranded on the ice. Our group spent two days out there in a howling blizzard, but we stuck together and when the ice jammed we were able to walk back to the ship. There were 52 in the group and they were left out for three days. Only five of them came back."

During the Second World War when the United States Army and Navy began building bases in Labrador, it was Capt. Ken who as picked to guide them through the northern waters. Thousands of tons of shipping came and went from Labrador without mishap.

Building Three New Ships For Montreal Service

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GLASGOW, Scotland (CP)— A new fight is shaping along the sea lapes to Canada and as usual Clydebank shipbuilders are in the thick of it.

This time it's a contest for passenger trade. Instead of the lean grey destroyers and stubby corvettes of wartime days, sleek liners designed for peaceful travel sprout in the slipways along the Clyde.

In the sprawling yards of John Brown and Company, the first of three new 22,000-ton vessels ordered by the Cunard Steam-Ship Company for service to Montreal is nearing completion.

Soon it will join the stream of passenger-cargo liners plying the Atlantic in search of a share in the increased trade with North America. Already Canadian, United States, Scandinavian, Greek, Dutch and Italian lines battle for the traffic. And German shipyards, tonnage restrictions recently relaxed, are preparing to join the chase.

"It's the battle of the Atlantic all over again," said one shipbuilding veteran, wearing the steel-lined black bowler hat which is the traditional trademark of foremen on the Clydebank.

CANADA TRADE BOOMS

The Canadian plum is one of the biggest in the nautical treasure hunt. Last year 47,000 Canadians crossed the Atlantic to Britain, bringing with them almost £10,000,000. Chances are that another 50,000 will cross in 1954.

Emigrant trade to Canada also holds promise. About 45,000 British emigrants booked passage to the Dominion in 1953 and there is every indication that this figure will be increased this year.

Today only the great 600-foot steel fabric of the first new Cunard ship—known as Number 692—squats in the John Brown and Company yards. On Feb. 17, Lady Churchill, wife of the British Prime Minister, will christen the ship the Saxonia and send it sliding down the same slipway which carried the liners Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth into the narrow river.

Sometime later from an adjoining slipway the Invernia, now only a numbered keel, will follow. Officials hope that Mrs. Louis St. Laurent, wife of the Canadian prime minister, will preside at the second launching.

FOR LOW-BUDGET TRAVEL

The new ships are designed particularly for the low-budget traveller. The Saxonia will carry 840 tourist-class passengers and only 100 first class. In three older Cunard ships of slightly smaller size—the Franconia, Samaria and Scythia—the ratio is 600 to 250.

There are few frills about the new vessels. Innovations include the new dome-shaped funnel, designed to cut down soot-carrying smoke, an extra five-ton stern anchor for use in the St. Lawrence river and special "fins" below the water-line to increase stability in rough weather.

Electrically - operated loading equipment will cut down time in port and provide for faster turnarounds.

RENEWED INTEREST

TORONTO (CP) — It appears that Toronto is headed for a boxing revival.

Tuesday night's Earl Walls-Tommy Harrison bout which drew a record Toronto gate of $45,261 was hardly over when negotiations were on for a rematch.

Frank Tunney, who promoted the heavyweight bout between Walls, the Canadian champion, and Harrison of Los Angeles, conferred with George Parnassus, Harrison's manager, on the possibility of a rematch.

Harrison, who took a 10-round unanimous decision, and Parnassus left for Los Angeles Wednesday. Tunney was not available to comment on the outcome of the meeting.

But from all indications there's nothing to stop another bout between the pair who put on a dazzling show for 14,737 fans last night. The crowd set a Canadian record for an indoor fight.

Jimmy Jones, Walls' co-manager, said "We want a return bout. I'm sure we can beat him next time."

Parnassus answered "Sure we'll give him another shot. But we want two things. He's got to beat a few people first and we've got to have more money."

WRITERS GET AWARDS

MONTREAL (CP) — George Beahon, baseball writer for the Rochester (N.Y.) Democrat-Chronicle, won first prize in the annual contest for the "best International League story" of 1953, it was announced Wednesday.

Gerry Gosselin, baseball reporter of Montreal Le Devoir, won the French language prize for the "best International League story" of 1953. He received the Hector H. Racine Award.

Dink Carroll, sports editor of the Montreal Gazette, won second prize in the English language section—the Dick Duff Memorial Award.

Neil MacCarl of the Toronto Star won third-place honors.

Beahon's story was a sympathetic piece about the work and life of baseball umpires.

BEG BOXER TO RETIRE

SAULT LAKE CITY (AP)—The sports editors of both of Salt Lake City's daily newspapers begged Rex Layne Wednesday to hang up his gloves and get a job.

The advice came in signed columns by John Mooney of the Salt Lake Tribune, and Hack Miller of the Deseret News and Telegram.

Both were commenting on the Utah heavyweight's technical knockout Monday in New York at the hands of Tommy Jackson, and his assertion following the fight that he planned to rest a few months and then get in shape for another comeback attempt.

"Layne is finished. He's over the hump. He's been down and out four times in his last five fights," Miller wrote of the still-young fighter who was rated a No. 2 heavyweight title challenger three years ago.

Mooney recalled the poker player's advice that "any durn fool can call; it takes a smart man to lay 'em down when he knows he's beat."

Both writers mentioned Layne's distaste for training. Miller commented that Rex hasn't been in good condition since he fought Bob Satterfield four years ago.

FINANCES MADE PUBLIC

CHICAGO (AP)—Nobody pays to see a loser, the Chicago Cubs could ruefully admit Wednesday in announcing nearly a $500,000 operational loss for 1953.

However, the $410,690 net loss reported by the seventh-place Cubs at the annual meeting of stockholders included $302,277 charged against two of the club's top farm clubs.

The first financial report ever made public by the Cubs did not go into 1953 attendance at Wrigley Field which was said to be 763,658, lowest in nine years.

Actual operating expenses, including team salaries and travel, and maintenance of Wrigley Field, totalled $1,240,902. To this was added $737,999 in "team replacement expenses," including losses of $302,277 by Springfield, Mass., of the International League and Des Moines, Ia., of the Western League.

New York Scale Of Weights Adopted

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario racing commission has adopted the New York Jockey Club's scale of weights for age.

The New York organization revised its scale of weights following a questionnaire sent to handicappers and racing secretaries and when the changes were made the Ontario racing commission decided to put them in force on Ontario tracks this year.

By the change, three-year-olds receive a three-pound less allowance from older horses, especially on races over a distance of ground during the fall.

Sande To Attend Toronto Sports Dinner

TORONTO (CP) — Earl Sande, jockey immortalized by the late Damon Runyon's line "never a handy guy like Sande, booting them babies home," will attend the third annual $25-a-plate sports celebrity dinner here Feb. 18.

High spots of his career included riding 122 winners in both 1922 and 1923.

The dinner, with part of the proceeds going toward establishing a holiday camp for Ontario crippled children, is sponsored by the Ontario Sports Writers and Sports Casters Association.

Quebec Approves Labor Curbs

QUEBEC (CP) — Two widely-discussed labor measures were given final approval Wednesday in the Quebec's legislative council. The vote was 9 to 5.

The bills, passed earlier by the legislative assembly, authorize the Quebec labor relations board to decertify unions which tolerate Communist organizers or officers and unions which threaten or call strikes in public services.

Decertification means loss of bargaining rights in the province.

Two last-minute amendments introduced by Oiler Renaud (UN-Alma), acting government leader in the upper house, authorize the attorney-general—Premier Duplessis—to intervene in any action taken under the bill to clean out Communists from unions, and make both measures retroactive to Feb. 3, 1944.

Earlier the council gave unanimous approval to a government bill aimed at curbing activities of Jehovah's Witnesses.

2,000 Electricians Hold Protest March

LONDON (Reuters) — Two thousand striking electricians held a protest march through central London today, fourth day of their week's stoppage for higher wages.

Led by a hired band and waving banners, they walked through the business area. Mounted and foot police escorted the long column.

At their head walked Frank Foulkes, Communist president of the electrical trades union and organizer of the strikes which began three weeks ago with short "guerrilla" stoppages by electrical construction workers at key sites throughout the country.

One-week strikes will spread men's demands are accepted, Foulkes said.

BASUTOLAND HOCKEY FANS—The recent dispute between the National Hockey League president, Clarence Campbell, and Maurice Richard probably reached the ears of these Basutoland natives shown here admiring a photograph of the famous star of the Montreal Canadiens with the Rev. Gerard Desrochers. The Roman Catholic priest says the natives in this far off land sit up long past midnight to listen to shortwave brodacasts from the Forum.

Winnipeg Club Play Pleases Adjudicator

WINNIPEG (CP) — Succeeding to a degree that the adjudicator thought would be impossible, the Manitoba Playmakers presented Death of a Salesman Wednesday night.

George Werier in the title role was also listed as director although the adjudicator, Graham Suter, thought that he "must have had some stand-ins somewhere."

Mr. Suter said the mood had been good, and the building up to the climaxes had been likewise. The "living-in-a-dream" quality had been sustained.

The acting was, generally speaking, good.

Arab-Jew Armistice Line Guidepost Only To Violence

By LYNN HEINZERLING

JERUSALEM (AP)—Since 1949 an armistice line has coiled between Arab and Jew in the Holy Land. It halted a war, but it has brought no peace.

Cutting through the middle of a conflict of emotions and religions, the line has become a guidepost for thieves, saboteurs and murderers on their way to harass the enemy.

"An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth," is the practice on this frontier. An incident leads to retaliation and retaliation to another incident.

The Holy Land has become a place where fishermen on the Sea of Galilee have armed police protection. Shepherds carry rifles instead of crooks. Farmers know how to use machine-guns and mortars. The man plowing toward you in the next field may be planning your murder.

There are nearly 600 miles of armistice line separating Israel from Lebanon, Syria, Jordan and Egypt, four of the nations which fought Israel in 1948.

There has been bloodshed all along the line, but the real trouble area extends for about 80 miles from the Jordan city of Tulkarm in the north, through Qalqiliye, the Latrun valley, Jerusalem and down to Idna in the south.

On the Israeli side of the border are the greatest concentration of Israel's population and a large proportion of the border settlements it has established, backed up by the Israeli army. On the other side are Jordan's heavy-population centres, excepting Amman, and the border outposts of the well-trained and well-equipped Jordanian army, the Arab Legion.

And, mixed in with the population and army at points usually not more than 20 miles from the border and often within walking distance are most of the 474,000 Palestinian refugees in Jordan. Six years ago the refugees lived on the other side of the border.

Neither army is able to guard every foot of the frontier between Israel and Jordan. It requires no special cunning to slip across the fields at night and move toward the nearest lights.

"This is called "infiltration." Israeli police say infiltration causes most of the border troubles and is deliberately organized. Authorities in Jordan acknowledge there is a great deal of it and say they are making every effort to stop it.

TWO-WAY TRAFFIC

The illegal traffic across the armistice line is by no means one way. From 1949 through October, 1953, Jordan complained that 212 crossings of the line by Israeli military units violated the armistice. Jordan further complained of 32 cases of unarmed crossings.

Israel, in the same period, complained of 422 crossings by unarmed individuals or groups, 170 crossings by armed individuals or groups. Israel made 58 complaints of crossings by military units.

Israel has a string of agricultural settlements along the border, all armed for trouble.

Israeli authorities acknowledge that soldier-farmers sometimes take the law in their own hands. An official commented:

"It is difficult for them to sit by idly after getting established with many difficulties and see their cows, fruit or irrigation pipe stolen or, sometimes, a friend killed."

HIGH ISRAEL POLICY

Lieut. Mohammed Barghouty of the Arab Legion, a member of the Jordan-Israel mixed armistice commission, calls the border incidents "a part of high Israel policy."

"Without them," he said, "Israel would get no aid from the United States. Most of the aid for Israel comes from American Jews and they must be convinced that Israel is at war with the Arabs. When the borders have been quiet for a time, they always start trouble."

The Israeli Knesset (parliament) is considering legislation which would set up special army courts to deal with infiltrators and provide life sentences for armed marauders. Unarmed infiltrators would be subject to five-year sentences.

Dr. Abraham Biran, Israeli commissioner for the Jerusalem district, asserts infiltration could be greatly reduced if Jordanian authorities would co-operate.

Minor adjustments of the line, putting wells and cemeteries back in their villages, also could be made, he said, "if the Arabs only would sit down and talk it over."

Moscow School Teachers Have To Play Instrument

By BILL BOSS

MOSCOW (CP)—Like it or not, school teachers here must play a musical instrument.

In the rooms of Moscow Pedagogical Technical School No. 2 there are 13 concert grand pianos, 200 violins, 46 cellos and six bass fiddles. Enrolment at the school, which is training teachers for elementary classes, is 450 pupils, all but three of them girls.

Mikhail P. Bortkevich, 63-year-old principal, said:

"Every student teacher must decide on registering whether he or she wants to play the piano or a stringed instrument. If a student cannot master one of these instruments he may turn to accordion or concertina, but after four years here he must be able to play some instrument."

MOSTLY GIRLS

With such a high proportion of girl students, principal Bortkevich said "medical tests are being made to determine whether reed instruments such as the flute, clarinet, oboe and bassoon are harmful to women and if not the plan is to add them to our curriculum."

The school, whose staff of 50 teachers includes a head of music and three music teachers, has a string orchestra of 58 pieces comprised of the better players.

This school is one of two of its type in Moscow and the students are being prepared for the time in 1960 when compulsory education will extend from its present seven grades to 10. By that time, too, 400 more schools will be open, bringing Moscow's total to more than 1,100.

Girls planning to become schoolma'ams in Russia start training for the job at 14 or 15 and are ready for their first teaching assignment at 18 or 19.

At the moment, students who have completed seventh year in a 10-grade school (Russia's combined public and high school) may try a pedagogical school's entrance examination. If successful, they undergo four years of teacher training.

Beginning next September, Bortkevich's school will accept only 10th grade graduates and the present four-year program will be scaled down to 2½ years.

In the school for teachers, students borrow text books from a 40,000-volume school library and may keep them for the year. They also draw on the library for reference material and supplementary reading.

By the half-way mark of their first year students must be members of the teachers' union. Bortkevich said 82 per cent of his students belong to the Young Communist League, from which the Communist party is recruited. In the present curriculum Marxist teaching is limited to study of the Russian constitution, history of Russia and history of the Communist party.

A novel feature of the pedagogical school is that student teachers learn to make their own teaching aids. The school has shops for work in wood, metal and cardboard.

In them, students learn to make rulers, pointers, large blackboard compasses, micrometers, protractors, garden tools (every school has a garden) and papier mache models of cows, horses and wild animals.

The principal said there is no shortage of these articles in Russia but "we work on the principle that teachers should be able to produce all their own teaching aids."

"It might happen in a rural area that a seasonal shortage might occur and they must be able to keep classes going."

As in Canada, students visit other schools and listen to other teachers in action. They get their first practical teaching experience in an elementary school attached to the pedagogical school.

An article in the school's hand-written newspaper indicates that Russian girls are as nervous as Canadians about their first teaching experiences.

"I thought that when the time came to enter the class I would not be able to utter a word," said the article. "When I did enter I was almost afraid to go on with it. Then suddenly I was no longer nervous. The situation was well in hand. I became very cool and followed my notes."

On graduation, the top 10 to 20 students go automatically to pedagogical institutes to qualify for senior-grade teaching. The others are assigned immediately to schools where they draw the 650 rubles monthly prescribed for Moscow's primary-grade teachers.

Limit Lake Trade To Canada, U.S.

VANCOUVER (CP) — T. R. McLagan of Montreal, president of Canada Steamships Lines, said Tuesday night trade within the Great Lakes should be confined to Canadian and United States ships.

Addressing the Canadian Construction Association and referring particularly to the proposed St. Lawrence seaway, he warned that Canada "can't depend on foreign ships because, in time of war, they will be withdrawn." He added:

"We are about to invest a huge amount of money to make it possible for large ships to travel from the sea to the Great Lakes. Does it seem logical to literally dig a ditch in which to bury ourselves?

"Small foreign-owned ships already are cluttering up our canals and locks, slowing up the traffic."

Mr. McLagan said the Welland canal, joining lakes Erie and Ontario, "is bursting at the seams and one of these days the construction industry will be called upon to do something about it.

"In my judgment, there is not much use in building a seaway with a bottleneck at Welland."

Coffee Price Raise Will Get Full Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday the federal trade commission will make a full scale investigation of rising coffee prices.

The president told a press conference the commission launched a preliminary inquiry Jan. 13 and already has discovered enough to warrant a full investigation.

Such an inquiry, he added, is going to take place.

The trade commission's investigation will be aimed at determining whether any laws have been violated.

Fears For Churchill Labelled As Nonsense

LONDON (Reuters)—The Daily Herald, often regarded as the organ of the Labor party, says today that all the lamps of Europe would not be doused if "one ancient light"—Prime Minister Churchill—went out of public life.

The newspaper was commenting on criticism that growing rumors of Churchill's retirement is hurting Britain's case at the Berlin conference of foreign ministers.

The Daily Herald says:

"The whole of Europe has known of Churchill's declining authority for many months. Nothing is going to stop the newspapers of Europe discussing his health, his age, his possible retirement. Only in Britain we must notice nothing.

"All must keep their mouths shut, the critics say. What hypocritical nonsense it is."

13,900 Workers Claim Insurance

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg said Wednesday 13,900 Canadian workers on temporary layoffs were claiming unemployment insurance benefits at the start of December.

He made the statement in the Commons in reply to a question asked by Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West).

A labor department official said later workers under temporary layoffs are those with definite instructions to return to work at specified times.

The electromyograph which will make possible more extensive investigations into the loss of muscle power due to the disease, is expected to arrive in Canada early in March.

The machine was ordered after two years of muscle study by Dr. Naldrett White, neurologist at the Kingston General Hospital.

Take Needles Keep Warm When Weather Gets Arctic

WINNIPEG (CP) — Scientists, doctors and chemists at the University of Manitoba are working on a project for the defence research board that may result in injections providing extra body warmth in sub-zero weather.

In the six months of research to date, the department, headed by Dr. J. Doupe, has found that blood volume changes with temperature and in winter the human body contains from 10 to 20 per cent less blood than in the summer.

On this theory Dr. Doupe said that injections to increase the blood count may combat cold weather discomfort.

National defence officials have granted $3,000 to the physiology and medical research department at the university to aid in this research.

St. Andrew's United Church Reports Successful Year

There was a good attendance at the annual meeting of St. Andrew's United church Wednesday despite the stormy night. Rev. H. Cotton was chairman and Don Crawford secretary. Mr. E. F. Reid, clerk of session, gave a very fine report from that body, the highlight being a net increase in membership of 107 for the year 1953. He stated that the membership now was 731 made up of 673 active and 58 non resident.

The financial statement of the Board of Managers was given by Jack Archibald who reported a small surplus for the year. The total givings from all sources was approximately $25,000. The report of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund was given by E. Burnham and the sum of $4,008.13 was given for this important work of the church. Mrs. W. Pletz reported for the Senior Choir stating that the choir had a very successful year.

The financial statement of the Sunday school was given by Jim Peltz, showing total receipts of $713.95 for the year. David Brown, superintendent of the school, reported on the increased activities in all departments and read a report from Dr. George Lewis, leader of the recently formed Young Men's Bible Class.

The work of the Women's Association was reported by Mrs. I. Rattenbury, the WMS by Mrs. A. Munro, the evening auxiliary of the WMS by Mrs. L. Wood, and the Mothers' Auxiliary of the scouts and cubs by Mrs. L. Wood. All reported active and successful years' work. The WMS sent $1,000 for the missionary work of the church. A brief report of the activities of the Bowling Club was given by Ray Morrow.

Dr. C. E. A. Cragg, R. D. Brown, W. Peltz, and H. Mann were elected members of the Session. Wishart Van Every who attended St. Andrew's Sunday school seventy years ago was appointed an honorary elder.

Hugh Waddell, Jim Gillespie, Jack Baird and Hugh Niven were elected to the Board of Managers. Six members whose term of office had expired, Dr. C. B. Waite, Jack Richardson, Ivan Lillico, John McColl, Paige Powell and I. H. Keefer were re-elected for a further term of three years.

The following appointments were confirmed by the meeting: E. Humpage as auditor, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, representative to Anson House, Mr. G. H. Roper, representative to The Bible Society.

Mrs. Robert Hardie reported that St. Andrew's allotment for The United Church Training School Building Fund had been reached and the account closed.

On motion of Jim Gillespie and Ivan Lillico the meeting went on record to extend a vote of thanks to all leaders of the church for their work during the year.

The sincere appreciation of the work of Mr. and Mrs. Cotton was expressed on motion of I. H. Keefer and Grant Gillespie.

If It Is Cold, Have A Candy Advised RCAF Commander

CAMBRIDGE BAY, N.W.T. (CP) Cold? Have a candy!

That's the remedy prescribed by Sqdn. Ldr. Scott Alexander who runs the RCAF survival school at this bleak spot 1,100 miles north of Edmonton and 200 miles inside the Arctic circle.

Eat candy or other high sugar content foods before venturing out into snowbound streets, advises the squadron leader. Sugar dissolves rapidly and soon produces body heat to give extra protection against cold.

But take sweetmeats only for short stays outside. For longer periods fats are best. They are delayed-action protective weapons but their effects last longer.

Eating the right types of food to withstand wintry weather is an old Eskimo science, says Sqdn. Ldr. Alexander.

Woolen clothes he considers the best apparel in below-zero temperatures. Long woollen underwear, woollen socks—never nylon—suits, skirts and dresses of wool are the top frost-fighters.

The squadron leader gives lined overshoes on leather footwear an emphatic nod over rubbers, which he says are about the worst things that can be worn in extreme conditions. They draw the cold, he explains, allowing it to enter and freeze the shoe leather, resulting in cramped feet.

He recommends a ski cap or similar headwear covering the ears and as the main outer garment a parka or fur coat. He prefers a short, loose "station-wagon" type of coat to the usual stiff overcoat, which he scorns as a wind conductor.

For those who complain about standing around waiting for buses, Sqdn. Ldr. Alexander has short, sharp advice—watch the bus schedules. For motorists with frosted windshields—leave the motor running for 20 minutes before driving. Then there will be enough heat in the car to keep the glass clear; it's easier than trying to remove the frost once it's on, he says.

Here during January and February the mercury can be relied on to stay below the 40-below-zero mark for at least 35 days. Sometimes it doesn't climb above 50 below for weeks.

Deputy Raps Boxing

BRUSSELS (Reuters)—A Catholic party deputy Wednesday told Belgium's lower house of Parliament that boxing matches should be banned "because they arouse unhealthy emotions which are in contradiction with Christian civilization." Marcel Philippart, defending a bill prohibiting "commercial boxing meetings" which he introduced last year, added that in boxing injuries and death are not accidents "since boxers wound and kill each other voluntarily."

Poles Flunk Russian

VIENNA (AP)—A Polish Communist newspaper reaching Austria reports that Polish high school students fail in their Russian language courses more than in any other lessons. They also show some difficulty in mastering the Communist interpretation of history. The failure in the language course could be deliberate since Polish, a Slavic tongue, is rather close to Russian.

Wage Increases For 20,000 Bushworkers

TORONTO (CP) — More than 20,000 Ontario bushworkers will get wage increases in a new two-year agreement to be signed today by union officials and representatives of 18 pulp and paper companies.

The agreement was reached in meeting held under the auspices of Ontario Labor Minister Daley here. It ends weeks of deadlock between the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (AFL-TLC) and the companies which had led to talk of strike action by the workers.

The agreement is reported to call for a 3¼ per cent wage increase for all workers with a minimum boost of five cents an hour. Basic rate in the mills now is $1.46 an hour.

The master agreement covering workers in the 18 companies expired last Sept. 1.

UNION RAPPED DELAY

The meeting was called by Mr. Daley following charges by the union that there has been "unprecedented" delay in establishing a conciliation board to handle the wage dispute.

The union sent a telegram to Mr. Daley saying "there is ample evidence that some 20,000 bushworkers have reached the peak of their patience . . . and have demanded a general meeting at an early date."

The companies originally offered a three-per-cent wage increase for day workers with a minimum of five cents an hour and a three-per-cent increase in rates for piece workers. The union sought a six-cent-an-hour increase for hourly workers and a six-per-cent boost in piece workers' rates.

25 AT MEETING

The meeting Wednesday was attended by 10 union representatives and 15 company officials.

Spokesmen for the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union, (AFL-TLC) were Andre Cooper, chief representative in Canada of the union, and Wayne Sawyer, president of the local in Kapuskasing.

The company officials included Hon. W. E. Rowe, president of the Great Lakes Paper Company, and C. B. Davis, vice-president of the Abitibi Power and Paper Company.

The union and company representatives met separately with Labor Minister Daley and Louis Fine, chief conciliation officer of the Ontario labor relations board.

The settlement ended the possibility that the union would have to take its case to conciliation with each company separately.

BEST RADIO SYSTEM — The Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada was told Wednesday night that Ontario has the finest equipped radio police force in North America, if not the world. Guest speaker OPP Deputy Commissioner A. Moss, Toronto, praised the OPP's radio and fingerprint systems as the best. Commissioner Moss (centre) chats with chairman J. P. Watts and member Scotty Donaldson about various phases of police work. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Ontario Police 16 Districts, 251 Detachments

With a initial force of between 40 and 50 men, in 1909, the Ontario provincial police has grown until today it includes 1,293 officers and 158 clerical and mechanical employees.

Deputy provincial police commissioner, A. Mose, addressed a meeting of the Engineering Institute of Canada at the Public Library, Wednesday night.

Provincial police were first formed in British Columbia to assist the RCMP in policing the coast area especially in the concern of illegal entry into the country and narcotic smuggling. The force expanded to cover eight of the 10 provinces, helping to police those areas not under jurisdiction of a municipality.

However at the present time, only Quebec and Ontario sponsor such a force, the RCMP taking over duties in the other provinces. The Ontario Police Act passed in 1946 and enacted in 1947, made the first clear definition of the responsibilities of municipalities concerning police work. Every city and town, and villages and parts of townships, which were of sufficient size and wealth to support a local police branch, must do so; all other areas are under the jurisdiction of the OPP.

HIGHWAY PATROL

Another responsibility of the OPP is patrolling the Queen's highway and enforcement of the Liquor Control Act. The provincial force also maintains a criminal investigation branch and a specially trained group of men to do under cover work. These men, unlike the standard police, are free to devote all their time to the solving of one particular case. The other officers always have routine work to do.

The facilities of the CIB may be made available to municipal police forces should they be required. One of the big features of this branch is a finger-print filing which includes all the records of the FBI, Scotland Yard, RCMP, as well as the provincial criminal identifications.

In some instances agreements are made between a small community and the provincial police in the policy of law enforcement. Provincial officers set up a detachment in the town, but it is financed by the town and not the province. Such agreements are not numerous and are only made for special reasons.

GREAT RADIO NETWORK

"The OPP have the finest radio communication in North America, if not the world," said deputy commissioner Moss. "In Ontario alone, we have 16 districts and 251 detachments. There are 478 cars, 433 of which are radio equipped." There are 16 FM broadcasting stations of 250 watts each; 39 fixed stations of 60 watts, and 16 portable phones or walkie-talkies. This radio, running on a frequency of 42.22 megacycles can be tuned in by RCMP radio, so that a complete net can be spread within very little time.

During 1952, there were 328 thieves captured in 218 stolen cars, all because of this vast radio network.

All recruits to the provincial forces, as well as many from municipal forces, receive training at the Ontario Police college in Toronto.

Vietminh Captures Three French Posts

SAIGON, Indo-China (Reuters)—Communist-led Vietminh rebels have captured three French posts in the last 24 hours around Quang Tri, 25 miles northwest of Hue, the French high command announced tonight.

The garrisons evacuated the posts and withdrew to a neighboring French stronghold, the high command said.

Command officers believe the new Red drive is designed to isolate the town of Tchepone, an important communication link with Savannakhet, on the border of Thailand.

Mau Mau Terrorism Routed In Most Abiding Convention

By RONALD BATCHELOR

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters). — Mau Mau terrorism which has swept this colony for the last 15 months, causing thousands of deaths and maimings, is rooted in one of man's oldest and most abiding conventions—the oath.

Only recently have the authorities managed to obtain anything like a comprehensive picture of the oaths and the influence they exert on the minds and actions of the average member of the Kikuyu tribe. But they now know that Mau Mau has three distinct groups of oaths, with grades within each group.

Most Kikuyus believe that to break a sworn oath means death, either supernaturally or at the hands of the oath administrator and his "priests."

The first grade oath, which officials say has been administered at one time or another to about 90 per cent of the 1,250,000 Kikuyu tribesmen, requires the oath-taker to pass through a banana-leaf arch seven times, swearing to obey the orders of the Mau Mau Society "or may this oath kill me."

TO ENSURE SECURITY

A "Second grade" oath, according to intelligence sources here, is later administered with much the same ceremonial to fully "graduated" members of a local committee, with the object of ensuring security. Penalties threatened to anyone breaking this type of oath include disfiguration, followed by death.

Another type of oath is reserved for Kikuyu political leaders.

But the core of all Mau Mau oaths today is the "forest oaths" taken by terrorist leaders and the Mau Mau shock-troops in the mountainous forests.

These oaths involve depravity and sexual bestiality so designed that the oath-taker will commit any act of savagery to which his leaders' order him, without the slightest feeling of revulsion.

A PICTURE TWO AND A HALF TIMES bigger than shown on the old flat screen will be projected by a revolutionary new lense onto this huge screen just completed at the Paramount theatre. Not only is the screen and the camera technique new, but a new sound system has been devised to help the illusion the audience feels of being a part of the scene on the screen. Friday, the Paramount will be showing the first picture filmed for this CinemaScope process, "The Robe," best-selling novel of Lloyd C. Douglas which was chosen especially to show off the new technique to its best advantage.

New Large Screen Brings Film Technique Revolution

With the advent of Cinemascope, Hollywood is undergoing a real revolution in acting and production technique, according to Art Cauley, manager of the Paramount. The first picture filmed in the new dimension will be showing on the Cinema-Scope screen at the Paramount theatre Friday.

"The technique of motion picture making has been completely changed with the use of anamorphic lens in the Cinema-Scope process. These lenses reach out to encompass the entire scene of action and give the director a much wider field to work in," explained Mr. Cauley. "Scenes have to be sustained for a longer time just as in a stage play and the actor who cannot remember lines will be unable to get a job in a CinemaScope picture. The old short-take is out. This new dimensional form, which widens the screen two and a half times that of the old flat screen, will work a hardship on some actors just as sound did when it revolutionized the studios 26 years ago. Then many established stars faded out and the Broadway stage actor, who knew how to speak lines, came into his own. CinemaScope will cause a new raid on Broadway. Something more than a pretty face and good figure is needed now in Hollywood."

The familiar close-up of today's flat pictures also is out, according to Mr. Cauley, who pointed out that in "The Robe" there were only five so-called close-ups used whereas in the ordinary movie of the past there were always at least a hundred.

ALL CLOSE-UP

"We cannot work against chalk lines because we photograph long sequences at a time," he said. "The face on the cutting room floor will be a thing of the past with CinemaScope because everybody is a part of the scene of action. It's one big close-up and not a series of shots.

Henry Koster considers himself lucky to have drawn the directorial assignment for "The Robe" since, though known in Hollywood for 20 years for comedy, he had worked with Reinhardt in Berlin and had written and directed countless dramas in Europe. As musical comedy director he started his American movie career with Deanna Durbin and directed seven of her musicals in a row. Frank Ross, the producer of the picture, gave Koster the job when he suggested Richard Burton for the role of Marcellus. Koster at the time was directing "My Cousin Rachel" at the Twentieth Century-Fox studios and had proved to Hollywood producers that he could direct dramas as well as musical comedies.

STORY SUITS SCREEN

"The CinemaScope process is so wonderful that indeed it makes one wonder why films were ever shot for projecton in such small dimensions," Koster said. "The anamorphic lens is truly miraculous in its scope and 'The Robe' was ideally suited to this type of production. With CinemaScope Lloyd C. Douglas' story about the origin of Christianity in the Roman era is impressive and magnificently poignant. We are surely in a new era of screen entertainment."

Personal Touch

REGINA (CP)—Canadian Universities should put more stress on person-to-person teaching and on group discussions, says Dr. Charles Leslie of the University of Toronto. He told a student group here that universities tend to be impersonal institutions in which the individual student may become lost.

Huge Cinemascope Screen Uses New Sound System

Scoring the music for "The Robe", currently playing at the Paramount Theatre, was a herculean adventure of great historical moment. The impressive stature of the film which also marks Twentieth Centuryy-Fox's first CinemaScope production in color by Technicolor, necessarily required greater technical handling of the background music for perfect blend with the beauty of the Lloyd C. Douglas masterpiece. This task fell on the shoulders of Alfred Newman, musical director for the Twentieth Century-Fox film studio. Artistically it was an even greater challenge and probably no man in the industry was better endowed for the assignment.

UNDER PRESSURE

In record-breaking time, the composer-conductor wrote, co-ordinated arrangements for instruments and choral groups and conducted his 80-piece orchestra through day and night recording sessions. The feverish pace and pressure was necessitated in part by the experimentation involved in the new stereophonic sound process that accompanies CinemaScope projection, and for the rest, because none of the scoring would be accomplished until the film itself which features a cast of thousands headlined by Richard Barton, Jean Simmons, Victor Mature and Michael Rennie, had been completed and edited. It was one of the most ambitious tasks that has ever faced Academy Award winner Newman.

Mr. Newman has been nominated 31 times for these awards and has won five, more than any of his colleagues, for his scores for "Alexander's Ragtime Band", "Tin Pan Alley", "Song of Bernadette", "Mother Wore Tights" and "With A Song In My Heart".

SINCE YOUTH

Collecting awards is not a recent experience for this musical genius. At an early age, he collected medals for his piano prowess and for composition by judges who included Dr. Karl Muck, Paderewski and George Wedge. His years as a concert artist were over at 16 when he conducted the first George White "Scandals", and moved on to Gershwin, Rodgers and Hart and Jerome Kern successes.

Alfred Newman came to Hollywood in 1929 on the wave of the first great motion picture revolution in techniques, the introduction of sound. He grew with the new era and today his picture record is probably the most extensive of any musical director in the industry, significant in view of the fact that the scores of these films were composed as well as conducted by Newman and for which, in many instances, he has received worldwide acclaim.

Now with "The Robe," Newman has met the second revolutionary advance in sound with a crowning musical achievement worthy of his proven talents and of the great film which it serves.

Signs Of Change In S. A. Swing To Left Evident

By JOHN WORRALL

CAPE TOWN (OFNS) — The South African Labour Party's statement this week is another sign of the fundamental changes taking place among the groups which oppose the ruling Nationalist Party. The tendency towards Left-wing liberalism in the racial sphere is strongly marked. Fragments of the conservative-minded United (Opposition) Party have already broken off to form the Liberal Party, which has now announced plans for contesting certain seats in the coming provincial elections with the strongest anti-colour discrimation policy seen in South Africa since the days of the suppressed Communist Party. It is known that number of United Party Members of Parliament are sympathetic to the Liberals, and may be awaiting a suitable moment for going over to them.

It would seem that the short-lived marriage between the Parliamentary Labour and United Parties is over, for it is unlikely that the United Party will ally itself to a Party tied to a policy of extending the franchise so sweepingly to non-Whites, and which has shown signs of reversing its traditional policy of maintaining the industrial colour bar.

ACCEPTED PRINCIPLE

The Labour Party has now accepted the princple of the universal franchise for all adult literate inhabitants of the Union, to be implemented in stages, and advocates the following reforms:—

(1) Coloureds: extending the Coloured (people of mixed blood) vote in Cape Province to other provinces for Parliamentary, provincial and municipal elections, and extending the franchise to women. At present Government legislation is pending to remove the Cape Coloureds from the common roll. Coloured candidates, says the Labour Party, should have the right to sit in parliament and on provincial and town councils. At present non-Whites are debarred from Parliament, provincial and municipal councils, with the exception of that of Cape Town.

(2) Africans: at present only Cape Africans, on a literacy and property test, elect three representatives (White) to Parliament, on a separate roll. The Labour Party wants this right to be extended to Transvaal, Natal and Orange Free State Africans, with similar representation on provincial councils.

ABOLISH SYSTEM

The Labour Party wants eight Senators to be elected, two from each province, and the present system of nominating Senators to be abolished, the qualifications for African voters to be based on literacy, franchise rights to be extended to women and African town councillors to be allowed to stand for election. Radical in the extreme is the admission of the principle that Africans should not be disqualified from being elected as representatives of their people on the grounds of colour.

(3) Asiatics: in the Cape, Asiatics have the same franchise rights as Coloured persons, and the Labour Party wants these rights to be extended to the Transvaal and the Orange Free State. Regarding Natal this week's statement says: "'Our present laws confine Natal Indians to that province. This results in a concentration of Indians which aggravates racial prejudice and causes the Europeans to withhold franchise rights from them. The Labour Party is opposed to laws restricting the movement of Indians in the Union."

Under existing circumstances, the Labour Party proposes that Indians in Natal should elect three Members of Parliament, three members of the provincial council and two Senators, with franchise rights to be available to men and women. Indian candidates should not be disqualified on grounds of colour from being elected as Indian representatives. In municipalities, Indians should be able to elect members of town councils, to, say, an equivalent of ten per cent of the total number of town councillors for each municipality.

The party wants non-Whites in South-west Africa to be treated on the same basis as laid down in the proposals for the four provinces.

ONLY THREE MEMBERS

The Labour Party has never been a large one, and has only three members of Parliament; but it has considerable influence among the white Afrikaans-speaking and English-speaking artisans and workmen in the industrial areas of the big cities. Its new policy may lose it more supporters than it gains; but it is signifincant as a pointer to the upsurge of liberalism which has been caused by such recent actions of the Nationalist Government as the continual pressure on Parliament to remove the Coloureds in the Cape from the common roll, in defiance of the entrenched clauses in the Constitution

Successful Year Reported By Grace Church

MILLBROOK (ENS)—The annual congregational meeting of Grace Presbyterian church was held Monday with the minister, the Rev. W. H. Heustin, as chairman, and Mrs. Gerald Armstrong as secretary.

The session report, presented by the minister, noted the increasing interest shown by the congregation in missions through contributions to the budget fund.

Mrs. S. E. Eakins, reporting for the WMS treasurer, Mrs. J. R. Thompson, said that the allocation from the presbyterial of Peterborough of $177 had been well exceeded. A similarly encouraging report of the Ladies' Aid Society, prepared by the treasurer, Mrs. Suttle Pritchard, was presented.

J. H. Burns, superintnedent of the church school, reported an encouraging year. The report of the secretary - treasurer, Miss Vaneta Chapman, showed a fine increase in offerings for missions over previous years.

BOARD TREASURER

The treasurer of the board of managers, H. A. Kerr, in his report, revealed a substantial credit balance and increased support of the work of the church during the past year. Mr. Kerr was thanked for his continued services by a standing vote of those present.

The gratitude of the congregation was expressed to Mr. Burns, Miss V. Chapman, the teachers in the church school, and the Ladies' Aid Society. The minister expressed his appreciation to the congregation for their loyalty and co-operation, including the board of managers, of which Mr. I. W. Larmer has been chairman for several years.

Re-elected to the board of managers were Nathaniel Belch, Albert Farrow and I. W. Larmer. Gerald Armstrong was appointed chairman, Nathaniel Belch secretary and H. A. Kerr treasurer.

The minister was thanked for his active work and leadership in the congregation.

Rio Street Cars Struck

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Tens of thousands of residents of 600-foot-high Santa Teresa—Rio de Janeiro's picturesque hilltop neighborhood—had to hoof it up and down today because of a strike of 300 street-car motormen. Company officials, including President Ciro Farina, personally operated 13 cars, but the service was badly disrupted by the strike for bonus pay.

Woman Ransomed

MANILA (AP)—Mrs. Guadalupe R. de Mojares, kidnapped owner of a large coffee plantation and orange ranch, was released Wednesday night on payment of $15,000 ransom, Philippine Army headquarters said today. Army investigators said the bandits originally had demanded $50,000 ransom.

Grants Trieste Amnesty

TRIESTE (AP)—Maj.-Gen. Sir John M. Winterton, military commander of Allied zone A, Wednesday granted amnesties and pardons to persons convicted of lesser crimes. The order, in line with a recent Italian amnesty, also would include political prisoners.

4 Years, $58,500,000 Put In Canada's First Subway

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — The underground stations are shiny in their newness, the turnstiles ready. A subway train in spanking red with black trim, stands empty by a station platform.

Only the pushing mass of workers and tired shoppers is missing.

They will come soon. At 2 p.m. Tuesday, March 30, Canada's first subway will begin operation. An investment of $58,500,000 and four years of construction will begin to pay off.

Carved out of the heart of Toronto is a 4½-mile rapid transit route, built by the Toronto Transportation Commission. It runs under or parallels Yonge street, 150-year-old, traffic-clogged artery running north from Lake Ontario.

STARTS AT STATION

Starting at Front street at the Union station and the Royal York Hotel, the underground section curves sharply north beneath the city's main thoroughfare, through the commercial district. The double track line emerges from the tunnel to the east of Yonge street at the outer reaches of the downtown section and gouges through the central residential area. It goes underground again to cross Yonge street and comes out once more at its nerve centre in the Davisville yards. It ends at the northern terminal on Eglinton avenue.

TTC officials say 98 per cent of the work is complete. The remaining two per cent consists of work at the Eglinton terminal where feeder buses will fan out through the residential districts to the north, east and west.

Seventy of the 104 subway cars, costing $8,000,000, have been delivered from England. Training programs for operators have been established and already supervisory personnel are running trains along the system. Hiring of operators is under way.

Construction figures are impressive. Since the first pile driver dug into the pavement on Front street Sept. 8, 1949, the TTC has spent $50,500,000. A total of 287 homes and buildings were razed in the subway's path. Workmen used up 10,000,000 board feet of lumber, 1,140,000 bags of cement, 145,000 tons of sand, 150,000 tons of gravel, 12,000 tons of reinforcing steel, 1,000 tons of structural steel and 3,850 tons of rail steel. Power shovels dug up 1,390,000 cubic yards of earth.

SPLENDID RECORD

And the job was done without a fatality. There were only two major delays: A gas main exploded in the tunnel in the downtown area and a burst water main flooded part of the tunnel and a nightclub dining room.

TTC officials say the subway has been hailed by visiting experts as the "finest and cleanest" in the world. It looks it.

Simple in design and bright in color, the 12 stations—five of them underground—fairly shout cleanliness. Glass-faced masonry and tiled walls are "public proof"—that is they cannot be defaced by the public.

The rails are imbedded in concrete, except for the switches which are filled with ballast. The tunnel dividing wall, partitioned to cut down wind resistance, is lined with fibre glass to prevent reverberations.

Although each station is built to different specifications, each has the same basic plan of off-street entrances, control area and platform level.

The Queen street station in the downtown area is the most complex. It is built on three levels. Passengers have a choice of seven entrances—four on the Queen Yonge street intersection and three from the two main department stores, Eaton's and Simpson's, and the Woolwor e.

Passengers descend to the control area where they purchase tokens at three for 25 cents, pass through the turnstile and pick up their transfers from a transfer-vending machine. Reversible motor stairs then carry them down to the 500-foot long platform level. Beneath the platform level is an underpass which may eventually carry traffic along a proposed east-west subway system.

The stations are decorated in three basic colors—canary yellow, light grey and pale green with contrasting station identification bands—which run in series from the Union station north.

Once the subway begins operation the travelling habits of a huge slice of metropolitan Toronto's 1,300,000 population will change. Streetcars will be taken off Yonge and Bay streets, the two north-south routes which carry the main load of passengers to and from the downtown area. TTC officials estimate that during the peak rush hour from 4:45 to 5:45 p.m. the two lines carry 18,000 passengers. They predict that the subway during the same period will carry a greater load but are not estimating the total until they study the public's new habits.

During the peak hour the Yonge street-car with a trailer carries a maximum load of 300 passengers. One subway car is expected to carry 62 passengers seated and 200 standing.

During normal hours two-car trains, operated by a motorman on the left-hand side at the front of the car, will ply the system. During rush hours the trains will be increased to four- and six-car units.

SHORT-HAUL BUSES

Surface buses on Yonge and Bay streets will carry short-haul passengers and will operate during the period when the subway is closed.

The subway will operate from approximately 4:30 a.m. to 2:30 a.m. daily (the TTC has not yet decided on a definite schedule). The off-hours will give cleaning staffs time to go over the stations and cars.

The subway ride from Front street to Eglinton avenue is expected to take 18 minutes in normal hours and 20 minutes during the rush-hour. The street-car normally takes 35 minutes and up to 45 minutes in the peak hour.

Civic officials look for a break in the traffic problem downtown, but are proceeding cautiously with plans.

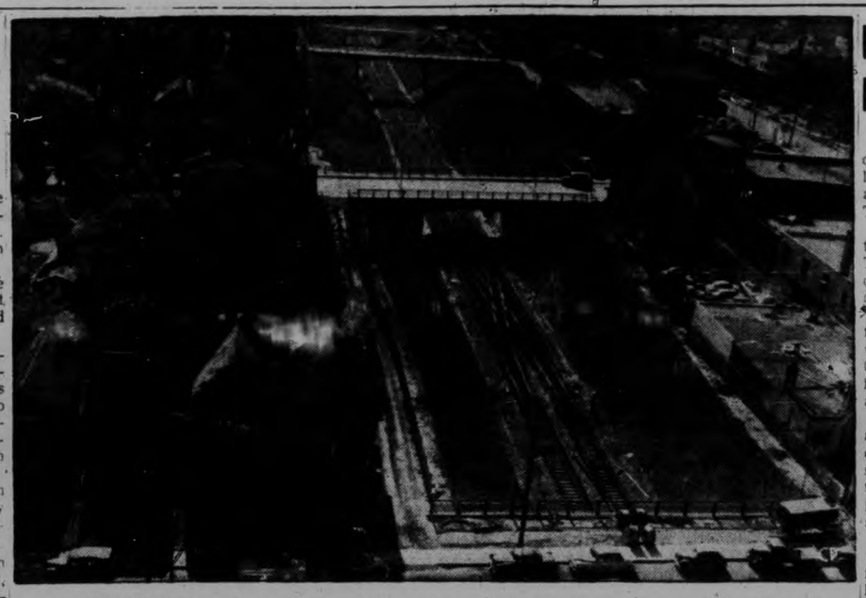
"There will undoubtedly be material improvement," says Harold R. Burton, city traffic engineer.

He says that a recent survey indicated that during a 12-hour period an estimated 109,000 cars entered the 400-acre downtown area. Officials anticipate this figure will be revised downward in March when many motorists leave their cars at home and take the subway.

Rush-hour traffic congestion is expected to be relieved when the streetcars are removed from Avenue road, one of the main north-south artries. Mr. Burton said the city is considering the introduction of reversible traffic lanes on both Avenue road and Bay street during the rush hour.

Inspector Robert Kerr, head of the police department's traffic division, said he sees no immediate solution to the traffic problem. Soon after the subway opens Yonge street's temporary paving will be ripped up for the instaliation of hydro and gas facilities.

"Don't look for any miracles until next November," he said.



NEW SUBWAY—When Toronto's 4½-mile subway opens March 30, it will be Canada's first. This view looking south towards the downtown area, shows a section of the open-cut system. The subway is underground as far as the fringe of the downtown area. Then it runs above ground as far as its northern terminus. Yonge Street, Toronto's main north-south street, can be seen on the right. A section of the central residential area is on the left.

Deaf B.C. Clergyman, 76, Falls Heir To Lordship

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 76-year-old retired bachelor clergyman living in a world of books, letters and silence became Lord Heneage Tuesday.

The title and "substantial" estates in England passed to Rev. Thomas R. Heneage on the death of his brother, who at 87, was one of Britain's oldest barons.

Bound by tradition to two lands, the new Lord Heneage said he would be reluctant to leave British Columbia, which gave him back his health, then snatched it away again.

Deaf and partially-crippled by arthritis, the stern-faced peer could hear only the questions spoken into an old-fashioned ear trumpet. The ones concerning his private affairs he refused to answer.

At one point during an interview with reporters who twisted his flexible rubber ear trumpet from hand to hand, the bell-like end fell to the floor and sent reporters scrambling to find it.

One reporter screwed it back into place, but the reception appeared to have suffered.

But Lord Heneage did trace his history. Born in England, graduated from Cambridge and went to work as a young minister among the slums of Lincolnshire.

Work in the slums broke his health, sending him to Canada where he became rector of St. Marks Anglican church in Victoria from 1909 to 1912.

From 1912 to 1917 he served as chaplain to the Bishop of British Columbia.

Sitting among his books and letters in his modest, four-room west end apartment, Lord Heneage described how he, as a minister, was sent to all the out-of-the-way church outposts.

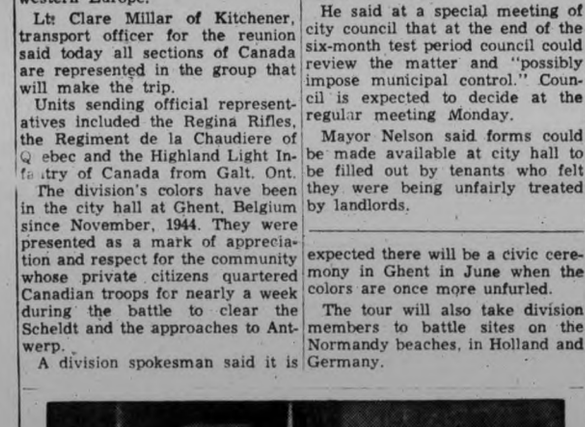
"I know this province like the palm of my hand," he said.

UNCERTAIN ABOUT COURSE

Travelling in the rugged country broke his health again and in 1949 arthritis forced him to retire.

He has not been back to England since 1922, when the original baron, his father, died.

Asked if he will return, he said: "It has all been so sudden. I haven't really decided yet. In my travels around the province I have made a great number of friends and I really like the country."



RAPID TRANSIT—Toronto's shiny red trains are ready for the opening March 30 of Canada's first subway. This picture shows the downtown-bound platform in one of the five underground stations. The riders entering the car are members of one of the groups which took demonstration rides prior to the official opening of the rapid-transit system.

3rd Division Parades Colors

KITCHENER (CP)—Veterans of the 3rd Canadian Infantry Division will parade their divisional colors early in June for the first time in a decade. The parade will be part of a D-Day anniversary tour of western Europe.

Lt. Clare Millar of Kitchener, transport officer for the reunion said today all sections of Canada are represented in the group that will make the trip.

Units sending official representatives included the Regina Rifles, the Regiment de la Chaudiere of Quebec and the Highland Light Infantry of Canada from Galt, Ont.

The division's colors have been in the city hall at Ghent, Belgium since November, 1944. They were presented as a mark of appreciation and respect for the community whose private citizens quartered Canadian troops for nearly a week during the battle to clear the Scheldt and the approaches to Antwerp.

A division spokesman said it is expected there will be a civic ceremony in Ghent in June when the colors are once more unfurled.

The tour will also take division members to battle sites on the Normandy beaches, in Holland and Germany.

No Action Planned On Rents In Sarnia

SARNIA (CP) — Mayor W. C. Nelson suggested Wednesday that Sarnia take no action on rent controls when provincial controls collapse March 2, to find out if "landlords" are taking unfair advantage of the situation."

He said at a special meeting of city council that at the end of the six-month test period council could review the matter and "possibly impose municipal control." Council is expected to decide at the regular meeting Monday.

Mayor Nelson said forms could be made available at city hall to be filled out by tenants who felt they were being unfairly treated by landlords.

BEARER OF BAD NEWS—A former Chinese Communist soldier, after his arrival at Taipeh, Formosa, tells a weeping girl that her relatives were executed by the Communists in their hometown on the Chinese mainland. For others, however, it was a day of celebration as some 4,600 ex-Red soldiers, who renounced Red China, were wildly cheered as they stepped off U.S. landing craft onto the shores of Formosa.

WIFE VISITS CPL. DICKENSON—Mrs. Kate Dickenson and her brother, William Laney, leave Walter Reed Hospital at Washington after visiting her husband, Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson. The Army has placed Dickenson under arrest on charges he had unlawful "intercourse" with the enemy and tried to get favorable treatment from his captors to the detriment of fellow American prisoners.

Work, Getting Acquainted Part Of Business Convention

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian construction men packed up their bags Wednesday.

Through their national organization, Canadian Construction Association, they had a set of resolutions with them, which they had drawn up in three days of annual meeting here and which expresses their objectives for the coming year.

One might say that they had arrived at these conclusions in Vancouver. Actually, they had thought of them throughout the last year, and what they did was to make them acceptable to the majority.

That is true of all national organization. The work goes on through the year and the annual get-togethers get the attention.

This being so, what is the real story of a convention such as has been held in Vancouver?

It comes in such a moment as last Monday when 400 people got together from coast to coast, and the orchestra, perhaps almost to your surprise, struck up O Canada.

At that moment, standing with men and women from Newfoundland to British Columbia, you tingled from the last hair on your head to your toes.

You are in Vancouver. You see John Flood, the CCA president, from Saint John, N.B. You see Raymond Brunet from Hull, Que., who, unless every grapevine is wrong, is going to be president for the coming year, as he has since become.

You see Robert Drummond of Toronto, Percy Wilmut of Montreal, Allan Ross of Ottawa, all men whom you have seen in the last few years go through the experience of being chosen by their fellows to head a national association and then, at the end of their year, say goodbye to it. You see around you, too, the men coming up to it, perhaps next year or the year after.

HIGH POINT OF LIFE

The man who is retiring will tell you with a laugh that he is glad to be through with his strenuous year. But any I have talked with has told me also that the year has been probably the high point of his life.

Somewhere after that you will come back to the resolutions. They ask that 125,000 homes be built in Canada yearly and that it be made possible for Canadians to buy them and retain their independence while doing so.

They say, too, that Canada is not keeping up with the country's needs for roads—just one of the many needs which makes these people think Canada is going to be prosperous for a long time.

You come back, too, to some of the speeches you have heard: J.R. McLagan, president of Canada Steamships lines, presenting some of the problems of Canadian ships when the St. Lawrence seaway becomes a fact; J. H. Campbell of the Canadian Pacific Railway outlining broad sweeps for the railway systems of Canada; Ron Keith of Canadian Pacific Airlines, in mind's eye filling the northern horizons with cargo-laden planes; Attorney-General Bonner calling for a realization of British Columbia's possibilities.

Good News For Foxes

Ching Describes Work Of 50 Yrs. Settling Labor Disputes

NEW YORK (CP)—Harmony between management and labor is largely a matter of human relations, Cyrus S. Ching argues in "Review and Reflection," an account of his 50 years as a troubleshooter in labor disputes.

Mr. Ching, a native of Red Point, P.E.I., retired last year after seven years as director of the United States federal mediation and conciliation service and chairman of the wage stabilization board. Before he held these government posts, he acted as a labor consultant for the United States Rubber Company.

The book, published by B. C. Forbes, is a series of observations on the author's experience in the field of labor relations. Mr. Ching skips briefly over his early life in Prince Edward Island, before his departure for Boston in 1900 at the age of 24.

He tells of his career as a motorman on the Boston elevated railway largely to illustrate the low wages and poor working conditions that he later found to be general in industrial life at the time.

HELPED SETTLE STRIKE

Promoted to assistant to the president in charge of personnel relations in 1912, Mr. Ching was largely instrumental in settling a strike on the railway in the same year by winning the confidence of the union and persuading the company to deal with it.

He played a similar role in calming continent-wide unrest in the U.S. Rubber Company's plants shortly after joining the company in 1919.

His first test with the rubber company came with his handling of a strike in its Montreal plant. He induced the company to abandon its usual procedure of automatically cutting all striking employees off the payroll and convinced the union of his good faith. The strike ended within 24 hours.

Mr. Ching describes the main purpose in mediation work as bringing opposing parties together and letting them work out their problems by themselves. Whenever possible, he sought to discourage spokesmen of either side from taking uncompromising positions and making inflammatory statements while negotiations were going on.

Won't Bar Summer Voting In Federal Elections

OTTAWA (CP) — Midsummer voting will not be barred in federal general elections.

But to boost the number of ballot cast in elections held during the away-from-home holiday season, the government may support a broadening of qualifications required of persons voting in advance polls.

This was indicated in the Commons Wednesday by State Secretary Pickersgill, the minister most concerned with election legislation.

For the government, Mr. Pickersgill rejected a Progressive Conservative member's resolution that July-August voting dates be barred except in a "state of emergency."

For himself, he expressed the view that enlarged advance polling privileges might be the best solution to the problem of voters on holidays on election day. But he made no government commitment on this.

"SMALL MINORITY"

At present only those persons whose normal duties will require them to be away from their home constituency on election day are permitted to use the advance polls.

Mr. Pickersgill, opposing a resolution proposed by Rodney Adamson (PC—York West), "talked it out" in the time devoted to non-government measures. The resolution likely will not reach the House again this session.

Mr. Adamson said midsummer elections, such as last year's on Aug. 10, disfranchise many holidaying Canadians.

Mr. Pickersgill said there might be compelling reasons for midsummer elections, and there were "good and sufficient reasons" for last year's Aug. 10 election.

"Nobody was disfranchised," he added. "If there are Canadians who value their holidays more than their franchise, no one can say they were disfranchised."

SMALL VOTE

In his own riding, Mr. Adamson said, the aircraft plant of A. V. Roe and Company was closed down at election time last summer. Many workers were away on holidays and did not vote. He said he obtained 42 per cent of the votes cast, representing only 25 per cent of the number of eligible voters.

Earlier, the Commons rejected 113 to 75 a resolution asking the government to consider writing off $293,000 owed by 299 First World War veterans who settled on farms 35 years ago under the Soldier Settlement Act.

All opposition parties joined Robert Fair (SC—Battle River-Camrose), sponsor of the motion, in asking clear land titles for the soldier settlers, last of about 25,000 who took up land under the act in 1919.

Mr. Fair, a retired Alberta farmer who has made his proposal several times since 1937, said:

"These farmers are still hoping that before they die they will get clear title to their homes."

In opposing the motion, Veterans Minister Lapointe said that through the years the government had allowed remissions of nearly $47,000,000 in debts of soldier settlers.

"In all fairness to taxpayers and veterans who have paid their debts, those who are capable of meeting their obligations should not get a clear title to their farms," Mr. Lapointe said.

The Movie Column

Movie Business Starting To Pick Up After Five Years

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Optimism is falling like gentle rain on Hollywood. The movie business hasn't looked so good in years.

After five years of gloom the industry is enjoying good times and is looking forward to better ones. The reason is simple enough: The ticket buyers are going to the movies more often.

The "lost (television) audience" has been found again. "The honeymoon is over," Hal Roach, first big producer to enter TV films, told the radio-TV convention last week. "People won't stay home and watch now because a program is free."

Hollywood is helping by providing bigger pictures. They are not necessarily better. The accent is on bigness — to give something people can't get on the small screen at home.

Last year saw more big-money films than any year in movie history. Variety listed 10 films earning $5,000,000 or more in the United States and Canada. Leader was "The Robe," which may overtake the "Gone With the Wind" record of $26,000,000.

EMPLOYMENT RISES

Hollywood labor also reflects the optimism. "I think we reached the bottom last year," said a Screen Actors Guild official. "Employment for actors appears to be picking up."

Work for writers is perhaps most significant. After a "rugged, lean" 1953, the Screen Writers Guild sees "abundant signs that the tide is turning."

Even Wall Street has indicated the trend. Motion picture shares showed the biggest percentage gain of any industry in 1953. The only companies to show losses were RKO and Paramount, which dipped around one and a fraction.

The foreign outlook is equally bright. Receipts from abroad were estimated at $200,000,000 in 1953, almost a 15 per cent increase. This year should be even better, since foreign countries have scarcely been touched by the new-dimensional films that started the industry back on the road to health.

New Zealand Tour Ending

DUNEDIN, N. Z. (Reuters)—Surging crowds turned out today to bid Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh a mass farewell, slowing the royal couple's car to a crawl as they started their drive to Invercargill.

The first five miles of the 140-mile trip took 40 minutes as the royal car inched through dense crowds along the coastal route.

Persons in bathing suits and sun dresses abandoned beaches to line the road outside Dunedin.

Two stops, at Milton and Balclutha, were also marked by cheering crowds, turned out to see the royal couple on their next-to-last full day in New Zealand.

The Queen wore a short-sleeved green silk dress with a pattern of grey dots, and a matchng close-fitting hat, white shoes and gloves.

The Queen and the duke leave for Australia Saturday aboard the liner Gothic for the next stage of the six-month Commonwealth tour.

Roads Keep Doucett From Convention

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Ontario Highways Minister Doucett couldn't get to a convention here because the roads from Toronto were too bad.

Charge Cent An Inch Of Waistline For Tea

MILLBROOK (ENS) — The town group of St. Andrew's United church held a successful afternoon tea at the home of Mrs. John McKnight, Tupper St., on Tuesday afternoon. Admission charged to the tea was a cent for each inch of waistline of the guests.

Mrs. J. T. Crowley, new group leader, welcomed the guests at the door. Mrs. Arthur Fallis measured waistlines and Dr. Edna Eastcott acted as cashier.

Mrs. Ethel McMillan presided at the table where aprons were on sale. Mrs. Charles Sanderson brought a parcel of three made-up aprons and materials and rick-rack braid for making a number of others, sent for the WA from her daughter in Detroit.

At the table centred with spring flowers, Mrs. Chester Fisher, last year's group leader, poured tea. Tea assistants were Mrs. J. H. Barringer and Mrs. James Bingham. Miss Josie Sutton assited the hostess, Mrs. McKnight on the kitchen committee.

Preceding the tea, the regular meeting of the group was held. Mrs. John Ridge was in charge of the worship service and the scripture was read by Mrs. Emma Harker.

It was decined to hold a rummage sale in the waiting-room May 2, and a hostess tea in June. The next group meeting is to take the form of a fellowship supper in the church hall on March 2.

At a previous meeting of the executive of the WA, plans were made for the supper in the church hall on February 2, in connection with the re-opening of the church on January 31.

The annual meeting of the YMCA will be held tonight beginning with a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Stan Symington, national boys' work secretary, will be the guest speaker and a social evening will follow.

SALE OF PROPERTY

The city will ask owners of property on Edgewater Blvd. on Burnham point whether they will be willing to purchase, for the price of what it cost to survey and convey them, the portions of land abutting their properties comprising the site of the community recreation building which has been sold. The building, which stood beside the CPR tracks, has been removed.

GET 600 DUCATS

The CGE Social and Athletic Association was able to secure 600 tickets to the Ice Follies in Toronto on their very popular bargain offer for the night of February 5th. Members who missed out on the show tickets can still have a trip at reduced cost, as the excursion train leaving about six o'clock will take them along for $2 a person and they may wait 24 hours to return on this ticket, or leave Toronto on a special train at 12:30 p.m. that night.

Fear French River To Be Second Muskoka

SUDBURY (CP)—Alarmed over a threat French River district might "turn into another Muskoka," the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association decided Wednesday to ask that it be kept a conservation area.

President Bob Giles of the French River Tourist Camp Operators' Association said efforts may be made in the near future to have the government declare the district a "vacation area."

It now is a conservation area.

"It would just turn into another Muskoka with hotels, motels, dance halls, restaurants and hot dog stands stuck up all over the place," if it became a vacation area, Mr. Giles said.

38 Men Flee Burning Bunkhouse

SUDBURY (CP) — Thirty-eight men fled from a burning double bunkhouse before it was destroyed by fire at an isolated paper company camp 50 miles north of here, it was learned today.

Some of the fleeing men suffered minor burns in the fire at the KVP company camp 17 miles west of Cartier. They were treated at the camp.

The blaze was believed to have started in the washroom.

Further details were not available.

Pedestrian Hit By Car Badly Hurt

School Caretaker At Trent River In Civic Hospital

Serious injuries were suffered by Hessel Bierma of Trent River when he was struck by a car early Wednesday evening.

He was admitted to the Civic Hospital at 7:30 p.m. with a fractured pelvis, fractures of both legs and a dislocated shoulder. His condition at noon today was reported as satisfactory.

The driver of the car was Francis Leclaire of 254 Caddy St., Peterborough. He was driving along the Trent River road when the accident occurred. He is reported to have said that Bierma had crossed in front of his car and an accident had been unavoidable, the pedestrian being struck by the left front fender of the vehicle.

The injured man received preliminary treatment from Dr. Wm. Judd of Havelock before being brought to Peterborough by Bennett's ambulance. OPP Constable George Ross is investigating.

Posed As Addict Girl Traps Dope Peddlers

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto policewoman who could double for a Powers model, knows jujitsu—and hopes "to get married someday," posed for six months in the Toronto underworld as a drug addict to trap narcotics peddlers.

Dorothy Lea, dark and handsome police woman with the morality division, combed downtown streets, bars and flophouses for months posing as a drug addict from Calgary.

As a result of her work, six arrests have been made, four of them Wednesday.

Dorothy who is 26, got into police work through listening to the stories told by her two brothers who are on the Toronto force.

"I was bored with my job as a telephone operator," she said during an interview today, "and police work sounded fascinating."

TRAVEL IN PAIRS

For several years she and another policewoman—they usually travel in pairs—have been watching beer parlors and other public places to spot prostitutes and drug addicts.

Police say that Dorothy lived among the addicts for a long time before she was trusted enough to make her first buy. After that peddlers were fighting for her business.

The girls on the force start at the same pay as men, third class constables at $285 a month. They are not likely to become police inspectors, but they can work up to constable's pay.

In spite of the good pay and excitement of her work Dorothy says she doesn't want it for a lifetime. "I would rather marry."

RCMP and Toronto police cracked down Wednesday, making four arrests. Two others had been arrested earlier. Sixteen charges of selling narcotics were laid against the six.

Charged are: Gerald Beland, 34; Frank Gardiner, 24; Patricia Julian, 26; Henry H. Kyle, 22; Arnold Gray, 24, and Marion Gray, alias Kilgallen, 22.

Mail Order Safe Looted In Brantford

BRANTFORD (CP) — A safe stolen Tuesday night from a mail order office in Preston was recovered Wednesday in a farmer's field on the Jerseyville road, three miles east of here.

The two-foot-square safe had been battered open, police said, and looted of the several hundred dollars. A farmer notified provincial police of the find in his field, a short distance from the road.

The theft occurred at the Simpson-Sears premises in Preston. The thieves gained entry by a rear window.

A CLOUD OF NEW-FALLEN SNOW blew from the sidewalk at the east end of Hunter St. Bridge this morning as the city's snow-go machine chewed and spewed Wednesday night's five-inch fall. The city snowplow piled snow in windrows on the main traffic arteries early today and trucks and the mechanical loader got on the job smartly in the small hours of the morning. Trucks were being loaded in 45 seconds on the streets and their loads jettisoned into the Otonabee river at the foot of Simcoe St.

5-Inch Snowfall Plays Havoc

Wednesday it snowed.

Six inches of heavy, adhesive snow swirled out of the sky in about 24 hours and today, stranding dozens of motorists, clogging streets, fouling up train and bus services and generally making citizens wish it were July.

Major snow disaster was the derailment of a CNR freight train at Omemee Wednesday night, reported elsewhere. This wreck stopped all westbound traffic out of Peterborough.

A passenger train jumped the rails before it even left the yards in Belleville coming north. This is the train carrying mail from the lakeshore, but it is expected that first class mail will come through by bus later today. Other mail will follow a triangular route, on the main line to Toronto and back to Peterborough.

There are difficulties on the CNR main line too. Snow delayed the Montreal - Toronto express, and it was nearly two hours late getting into Belleville. Traffic going the other way was slowed when a freight upset in east-end yards in Toronto.

J. A. Sharp, despatcher at the CNR depot, reports "a hectic night all round." Things are getting back to normal slowly, he said, but the Omemee wreck will snarl traffic for at least the rest of the day.

The cold-grey-dawn CPR train from Ottawa, due to arrive here at 5 a.m., had not arrived at ten this morning. The midnight train from Toronto was also quite late. Station agent T. F. McArthur said that the trouble was not so much the weather in any one area as the cumulative effect of innumerable missed connections, adding up to considerable lost time.

BUSY NIGHT

It the city police and garage operators have had a busy night. Police removed 14 cars from the streets during the night, and had men out today trying to locate motorists whose cars are impeding snow removal.

One of Peterborough's busiest citizens Wednesday night was Johnny Russelle, whose tow-truck answered a frantic SOS from members of the Peterborough Automobile Club, going out to hear a talk on good driving habits at the Kawartha Golf Club. Twenty cars were stranded in snowdrifts or stuck negotiating the inclined drive to the clubhouse, and had to be rescued by Mr. Russelle.

Peterborough hotels are doing a "poor public relations job," said Mr. Russelle. He said that room clerks should direct drivers to parking lots, especially when it's snowing so travellers "won't take a dim view of Peterborough when they find their cars removed from the streets in the morning."

Other garages with tow-trucks out during the night included Gilders' service station and the Longhurst garage. Mourning the snow was George Ball of the Kawartha garage, who thought that this week was a good time to have his tow-truck dismantled and overhauled "because it seemed like a quiet week."

CRITICIZED

Not too much trouble was reported with local buses, although manager L. R. Mitchell was critical of city snow removal. He said that many of his buses had to clear a trail through virgin snow late Wednesday night, where the city snowplows had not yet arrived. There would have been "many more" motorists stuck, he said, if the buses had not blazed the trails.

Tom Bacon of the city yards said that snow was being cleared from bus routes shortly after noon Wednesday. Workers were on the job till after supper, and were at work again early Thursday. But considerable snow fell after work crews quit Wednesday night.

Only difficulty in the Colonial Coach Lines, said local supervisor Eric Gill was with Wednesday afternoon's buses from Toronto. Buses running at one, four and six o'clock averaged half an hour late, time lost before they even got out of Toronto. Buses from Ottawa were running on time.

Despite the snow, the commuters' buses were running pretty close to schedule, said Mr. Gill. No difficulties were reported on the Apsley and Buckhorn runs.

This morning engineering department employees were busy with the city's massive snowloader on George St. Four load plows were also out, as well as a grader and several sidewalk plows. Work is going well "but there's no telling when we'll be all through," said Mr. Bacon.

As citizens mushed to work this morning, perhaps they were wondering if this is the January thaw, predicted last week by amateur Peterborough weatherman William Whatman. Mr. Whatman's sundogs were not in evidence today, so perhaps spring is coming.

Garage Fire Destroys Truck, Tools, Threatens House

Fire completely demolished a large wooden garage and workshop on Maniece Ave. shortly after 11 o'clock Wednesday night. The building, which was owned by Robert J. Kelly, was burning fiercely when first noticed and could not be saved. Flames, fed from six partly-filled oil drums, leapt some 30 feet into the air and were already eating into the rear of Kelly's two-storied house when the city fire fighters arrived.

The garage, and a truck parked inside, were not insured, and while Mr. Kelly ruefully surveyed the smouldering wreckage, he estimated his loss at over $1,200.

He thought that the fire originated from a stove burning in the garage. It was being fed from old engine oil left in the drums. The oil was still furiously boiling an hour after the fire had been extinguished.

The Kelly property is the last lot within city limits on Maniece Ave.

Mr. Kelly said he was just going to bed when the phone rang. An unknown voice said, "Mr. Kelly your garage is on fire."

He rushed outside and found the flames already licking the wooden structure of his house. While the fire department was being called, he yelled to his three young sons, Harold, Don and Bernard, and then made a mad dash for his new truck which was parked near the garage.

The truck skidded in nearly a foot of snow, but was backed out of range of the fire before suffering damage. Mr. Kelly's other truck, a 1934 model, was completely burnt out.

With the assistance of his sons, and two neighbors, Alan Faulkner and Frank Woods, Mr. Kelly fought the flames until the fire trucks arrived. Armed with shovels, the men and boys threw snow into the furnace in an effort to save the house.

Mr. Kelly considers that a strong wind blowing away from the house was a big help.

Besides the truck, two bicycles and a complete set of carpenter's tools were lost in the fire. Mr. Kelly had moved his tools, which included an electric saw, into the garage two days ago. A small boat near the garage also suffered damage.

Still breathless from the excitement of it all, 13-year-old Harold Kelly said he was in bed when the fire broke out.

"I had seen a reddish glow through my bedroom window for about five minutes," he said. "I thought it was just a car parked out on the road."

Firemen, who arrived on two engines equipped with pumps, fought the blaze for about 25 minutes before bringing it under control. They did not have a chance to save the garage, but prompt action kept the fire from getting a firm hold on the house.

Capt. A. Mason, who was in charge, said that there were no hydrants within a mile of the property.

"If the outbreak had reached the house, we would have had to crack the ice on the canal and pump water from there," he added.

Although Mr. Kelly made a rough estimate of his loss at $1,200, it is possible that a final survey will show a greater amount. The shed was only completed towards the end of last year.

Population Higher

CAPETOWN (CP) — Population of the Union of South Africa has topped the 13,000,000 mark for the first time. Annual estimates give a total of 13,150,000, compared with 12,900,000 the previous year. This includes 2,750,000 Europeans, 8,840,000 natives, 1,170000 coloreds 8,840,000 natives, 1,117,000 coloreds 000 Asiatics.

THIS HEAP OF ASHES was a garage before flames reduced it to rubble Wednesday about midnight. Loss was estimated at about $2,000. Owner Robert Kelly of Maniece Ave., saved his late model truck shown here, but lost a 1934 truck and his set of carpenter's tools and two bicycles. None of it was insured. Mr. Kelly's two-storey frame home caught fire, but was saved by the city fire department.

Fly To Hearing Of Applications For TV In City

Mayor Norman Graham said today he is actively pressing for a permit to establish a television station in Peterborough and is supporting the application of Kawartha Broadcasting Ltd. for a licence.

His Worship and H. L. Garner, general manager of the Peteborough Examiner Co. Ltd. today flew from Malton to Montreal where they will attend tomorrow's meeting of the CBC board of governors, who will consider two applications to establish a privately-owned television station on channel 12 in Peterborough.

Kawartha Broadcasting Ltd. consists of a group including Senator W. Rupert Davies and Roy Thomson and was formerly known as the Brooklands Broadcasting Co.

SECOND GROUP

The other application is by a group headed by Herb May, Toronto radio actor and announcer. Associated with Mr. May are Garth Braund and Ed V. O'Toole of Peterborough, Kenneth MacDuffee, formerly of Peterborough and now head of Sylvester Steel Products Ltd., Lindsay, and G. A. Reynolds of Toronto.

"In supporting the application of Kawartha Broadcasting Ltd., I'm doing so because of the long experience this company has had in operating radio station CHEX in a satisfactory manner," Mayor Graham said today.

"It is my belief that this company is sufficiently well financed to supply a television station of quality to Peterborough."

City Police Cruiser, Car In Collision

One of the city police cruisers was involved in a collision with a car driven by John Cotton, Chemong Rd., at 1:45 a.m. today. The accident occurred at the intersection of Charlotte and Reid Sts. Constable Grant Gillespie was driving the cruiser. Damage to both cars was light.

At Mark and James Sts., cars driven by Norman White, 254 Mark St. and William Birke, 236 Bunham St., were involved in a collision. Robert B. M. Jamison, 544 Harvey St. and Neil Harvey, Stewart St., were driving cars which collided on Water St. Cars driven by Mrs. Shirley G. 2-Storey Concrete Building For Simpson-Sears To Be Ready In Summer

Constructed To Allow Third Floor To Be Added When Needed, Peterborough First of New Chain

The new Simpson-Sears department store located on Lansdowne St., will be in operation toward the end of this summer, presumably the middle of August. Carroll Construction Co., which was contracted to build the foundation, have completed that section of the building and the Foundation Co. of Canada will begin immediately on the superstructure. The building will be two storeys high and, including the two floors, will cover an area of approximately 6,000 square feet. Accommodation will be made for a third floor extension should the demand for more space result. Construction will be of flat slab reinforced concrete with an exterior of stone and American brick.

The area around the store will be paved and act as a parking space to be flood lit during the evening. The interior of the store will contain all the modern lighting features and counter arrangements.

Simpson-Sears purchased the property for the erection of one of a chain of department stores across Canada late last summer. It was their reported intention to begin construction even before the total building plans were complete. It is apparent that the Peterborough unit, top on the list, is rapidly becoming a reality.

Since the development by Simpson-Sears of that section of the city, two other concerns have stated their intentions of building in the area. They are Loblaw's, and the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The extent of the cluster of merchandizing interest which may become associated with Simpson-Sears in their group project is, as yet, unknown, but a number of realty representatives have been investigating the possibilities.

Sportsmen Score Deer Shooting

WOODSTOCK (CP)—More than 200 persons plowed through roads clogged with heavy snow to attend a meeting of the Dereham Conservation Club, protesting the shooting of six deer by provincial officials.

Meeting at Dereham Centre, 15 miles southwest of here, farmers and sportsmen questioned three game preservation officials of the lands and forest department.

Ed Meadows, chief game preservation officer at Hespeler, Harold Cantelon, Hespeler pheasant supervisor and Herb Clark of Woodstock, conservation officer, defended the government's action. They said the shooting of the deer in answer to a farmer's complaint was legal under the provincial game laws and that it would be done again if necessary.

Sportsman Alvin Hunter, Mt. Elgin, proposed that the lands and forest department arrange open shoots with local authorities in areas over-run by deer.

Medal Awarded For City Resceu

PITTSBURGH (CP)—Four Ontario residents were honored today by awards of Carnegie medals for risking their lives in saving others from drowning. One of the medals was awarded posthumously.

The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, endowed by the late steel magnate, Andrew Carnegie, announced the awards along with 21 others in the United States.

Two awards, one posthumous, were made in one Ontario case. The posthumous award went to J. E. Koepp, father of William C. Koepp, Williamsford. The other medal was awarded Marjorie I. McKenzie of Oliphant.

William Koepp was swimming in Lake Huron last Aug. 13 at Oliphant when he went to the aid of Willard C. Patterson, 17, who was stricken by cramps. He, too, soon was in trouble. Miss McKenzie swam to help both. She towed Koepp to a dock but he was dead. Then she helped bring Patterson to shore where he was revived.

J. K. Eric George, 26, Toronto, was honored for saving three-year-old Keith F. Nolan from drowning at Peterborough, Feb. 23, 1953. George jumped into the icy Otonabee river to pull out the boy.

Request Made For Cinder Path Along High St.

A request to the city from the Home and School Association of May's school for a cinder path on the east side of High St., from Lansdowne St. to Chamberlain St., has raised some engineering problems for the city's works department.

The written request, signed by 29 members of the association, spoke of traffic from two industries on High St., which are thought to be Timber Structures of Canada Ltd., and the Bell Telephone Co. The latter firm has a vehicle repair garage on the street. There are several warehouses there as well.

When the request was discussed at the board of works Monday night, it was pointed out that some sections of High St. are very narrow. City Engineer A. E. Chalmers said there had already been a petition for a concrete sidewalk along part of the street but he didn't see how a path could be laid the whole distance until the present drainage ditch was replaced by a storm sewer to provide the required space.

HAZARD TO CHILDREN

The hazard that the streets presents for school children was not denied, in fact it was stressed by council members. Ald. Stan McBride referred to High St. as a speedway and Ald. Gordon Powell said children had to walk down the middle of the street, often on the icy surface and at other times when it was very wet.

Ald. Gordon Farquharson suggested council wait for the engineer's estimate of the cost of the path before taking action. Unlike the cost of concrete sidewalks, which is shared by adjacent property owners with the city, the entire levy for "cinder" paths comes from the general fund. (Owing to the scarcity of cinders, gravel is usually used, often as a base for future sidewalk).

"In view of the hazard to school children, I think we should alleviate the situation as well as we can," said Ald. McBride whose motion to have the city engineer proceed with the work at his own discretion was seconded by Ald. Powell. The motion was carried unanimously by the board of works.

The Home and School Association's request for "a street light or two" on High St. was referred to the fire, water and light committee, along with Ald. Burrows' suggestion for lights on Lynch St. and Geraldine Ave.

Slasher Strikes In Storm, Three Wounded

MONTREAL (CP) — A man described by police as a "flat-nosed sadist on a slashing rampage," moving furtively in a howling snowstorm, assaulted two women and a girl Wednesday, bringing to nine the total of such attacks since last Friday.

Police said three attacks were reported within one hour Wednesday night, but one turned out to be a false alarm. Three hours earlier, a 15-year-old girl was cut aboard a bus.

The attacks followed a pattern. Usually the women were slashed in the legs as they boarded streetcars. In the worst assault, a 31-year-old woman suffered a wound that required 21 stitches to close.

During the storm, crowded conditions aboard street-cars added to fear of attacks. A few men were questioned by police following reports of suspicious conduct, but were all released.

SOME FALSE ALARMS

One woman called for help when she discovered a tear in her coat, and police reported other similar calls from frightened persons.

Inspector Jean Tasse said:

"I can understand why women are filled with terror and immediately think they are in danger. But there is only one sadistic slasher at work. . . ."

Two radio stations offered rewards totalling nearly $1,000 for capture of the man.

The women attacked Wednesday night were Mrs. Mary Grange McDonald, 32, cut while boarding a street-car, and Miss Lise Champagnat, 20, attacked while walkihg along a street. Both required hospital treatment. Earlier, 15-year-old Marielle Boudin, riding on a bus, looked down to see blood pouring down her leg from a four-inch cut.

Police are studying the possibility of disguising a number of detectives as women and posting them throughout the city.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER — Russell Tongay (right) talks with his lawyer, John Dauber, while a Miami, Fla., jury is out debating charges that Tongay caused the high-dive death of his five-year-old daughter, Kathy. The jury returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter and Tongay was sentenced to 10 years at hard labor. He will appeal the sentence.

Drunk Driver Collides With Police Cruiser

LINDSAY (ENS) — A Haliburton youth, Ross Billings, was convicted of driving while intoxicated in Linday police court Wednesday morning, and sentenced to seven days in jail, besides being fined on two other charges.

Ross Billings was involved in a collision with a provincial police cruiser on Highway 36 Saturday night. The charge was laid by the officer driving the cruiser at the time, constable Tom Fitzpatrick of the Lindsay detachment.

Billings pleaded guilty to the intoxicated driving charge, and also to others of having no license to drive, on which he was fined $15 and costs, and having beer in a place other than his residence, which brought a $10 fine and costs.

Trade Deal Concluded

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain and Japan are expected to sign a new sterling payments agreement here Friday, a reliable source said. The signing of the agreement will follow seven weeks of private discussions here between British and Japanese delegates on the pattern of trade during 1954 between Japan and Britain.

Fourth Anniversary Finds India Making Progress

By P. N. AGARWALA

This week India celebrated her 4th Republic Anniversary. In her long and chequered history of more than 4,000 years, this is but a very small span of time, but living as we do in the age of the atom and the jet and supersonic speed, it is only in the fitness of things that we should take stock at this time of the developments that have taken place in the past year, both on the domestic as well as the international plane.

On the domestic plane, the year just passed may be described as one of economic reconstruction. It may be safely said that after six years of partition, the economy for the first time settled down to a pattern approaching something of the nature of normalcy.

GOOD HARVESTS

Thanks to a merciful providence and good rains, there were excellent harvests throughout the country after many long years of drought. The production of food and agricultural crops reached record high levels. Self-sufficiency in food, both rice and wheat, was very nearly achieved. The Central Food Reserves which are a barometer of the food situation in the country stood at more than 2 million tons for the first time since the war.w Imports of food were brought down to less than 3 million tons.

India today is importing almost as much food as she did before the war while at the same time supporting a population which has increased by more than 50 millions. It shows the inherent stability of the economy, the resiliency of production, and speaks of the concerted efforts that have been made in the past two years to raise agricultural output.

During 1952 alone, nearly 1½ million acres of new land were brought under irrigation and more than 315,000 k.w. hours of extra energy was produced.

The vast multi-purpose irrigation projects reached a stage of near completion and some of them will be yielding results in the next year or so.

The Five Year Plan of economic development launched in 1951 made considerable headway during 1953 and the total amount of outlay envisaged under the Plan was increased from 4 to 4½ billion dollars.

During 1953 another event of great socio-economic importance took place. It was the passage of the Estate Duty Act by the Parliament, and or the first time in the country's varigated history, death duties have been promulgated. It shows that social democracy is proceeding in India in consonance with liberal democratic principles enshrined in India's Constitution. During 1953 the Bhoodan Movement attained phenomenal success and more than 2¼ million acres of land were collected for free distribution among the landless peasantry. It speaks of the non-violent and peaceful revolution that is taking place in rural India.

Another development of great significance was the Community Development Program and the National Extension Service which has been extended to tens of thousands of villages and follows the grass roots approach of uplifting and elevating the village economy. By 1956, nearly 140,000 villages or one-quarter of India's total number of villages will be covered by this vast development program.

Industrial production during 1953 reached an all-time high. With 1946 as its base the index of industrial production rose to 133.6 and was five points higher than that reached in 1952. Cloth production, India's biggest industry, touched the five billion mark and was able to reach the target of the Five Year Plan laid down by the Planning Commission.

In the public sector, there was a spate of activity with the Sindri Fertilizer Factory and the Chittaranjan Locomotive Works, working at full speed. Nearly a hundred locomotives have been turned out. In the field of shipping, continued progress was maintained and more than 12 ships of over 8,000 tons each have been produced in the Hindustan Shipyards. Great progress was also registered in the completion of the penicillin and D.D.T. factories, the Mysore Iron and Steel Works and a large machine tool factory.

An Indo-German agreement was signed providing over Rs. 700 million for the setting up of a steel plant in India with a initial capacity of 500,000 tons annually rising to a million tons. The Council of Scientific and Industrial Research, which has established a large chain of modern and up-to-date laboratories throughout the country started another chain and the Central Salt Research Institute, the Art and Art Silk Research Institute and Central Electronics Research Institute were opened during the year.

India stands today as a bulwark of peace and democracy. She shares with Canada the great uniting bond of the Commonwealth and the optimism and energy of a youthful country pulsating with life.

Retired Trent Employee Has Two Excellent Hobbies

Everett W. Glover is a 68-year-old Peterborough man who has two excellent hobbies. They are photography and illuminating work and both are performed with skill and craftsmanship. He has turned out many hundreds of pictures and illuminating work for the pleasure of himself and family and friends. To him, the achievements have been strictly a hobby with never a thought towards profit from pictures or the illuminating work.

Mr. Glover's pictures cover a general field and he has the knack of being able to capture eye-appealing pictures.

RETIRED IN 1950

Mr. Glover worked as a draftsman with the Trent Canal for 40 years before his retirement in 1950. His hobbies of picture taking and illuminating work has been done for the past 30 years or more.

His illuminating work reveals the art of a real artist. His scriptural verse and other verse in either black or white or in color work is work of perfection. Throughout the years this work has been in demand on several important occasions in the life of the city. He has made the illuminated scrolls presented by the city to visiting dignitaries such as governer-generals and other important visitors.

Mr. Glover and his wife and their daughter, Eleanor, a Peterborough kindergarten teacher, live in an attractive home on Sherbrooke street, west, and Mr. Glover has a separate working room for his hobbies. It contains his desk, his files and other working requirements. His son, Lyle Glover does commercial art work and is employed with a Toronto firm.

OWN DARK ROOM

Mr. Glover used a Rolleiflex camera and he also has a Busch camera. He does his developing in a dark room in his basement. He also does all his own developing, printing and enlarging as well as mounting. He is a member of the Peterborough camera club and his pictures have been shown in numerous centres including Peterborough, Toronto, Sarnia, Port Colborne, Madison, Wisconsin, and elsewhere. A number have received merit awards.

In his 30 years as a hobby photographer, Mr. Glover has turned out many hundreds of pictures. His daughter is also efficient with a camera and she, too, has taken some excellent pictures. Father and daughter have taken more than 200 color photographs and are still adding to their collection. The family has a new projector to show their color slides.

Mr. Glover has photographed most of the beauty spots in and around Peterborough. His "May Morning-Trent Canal" is an excellent shot of the Trent canal just above the world-famous Peterborough hydraulic liftlock. He has photographed the liftlock many times and has some excellent frontal pictures as well as pictures of boats at the top of the liftlock as they proceed through to the northward or southward as the case may be. He has exciting pictures of the beautiful trees and the canal far below the liftlock. His picture of St. John's Anglican Church is excellent as are numerous others showing many of the beauty spots in Peterborough and district.

Mr. Glover is always alert for a good picture. He has one of three massive elephants being given a drink from a trainer at one of the circuses to visit Peterborough. He has a picture of harvesting time showing the team and wagon in the fields with some farm children in the picture. He has other fine pictures of children and of animals including his own dog, "Tripper", a friendly spaniel. His still life pictures are good and they include many subjects including a close-up of beautiful red roses.

EXCELLENT HOBBIES

Mrs. Glover is a friendly person like her husband and she thinks photography and illuminating work are excellent hobbies. She greatly admires the work accomplished by her husband and daughter and she is greatly interested in seeing them carried out to completion.

Mr. Glover is also an accomplished water color artist and many of the beautiful paintings in their lovely home are photographic work of his which he later finished in water colors and then framed. Several of his framed color illuminating works are in the home.

Mr. Glover is well pleased with his hobbies and he thinks it is a splendid idea for people to develop hobbies. He points out "that when retirement time comes around, people with a hobby have something to do to occupy themselves."

As for Mr. Glover, he is never happier than when he is out with his camera and sees something he thinks will make a good picture. He takes plenty of time to get the best angle so as to get the best picture possible. Later, in his darkroom, he soon finds out what he has on film. If it is up to the usual standard, the negative or negatives finally get printed and the best picture is enlarged and mounted to take its place with all the other good pictures that have been taken by the Peterborough man through the years.

Plan To Salvage Plane By Air

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Jack Godsey, proprietor of Ambank Airways here, said Wednesday he plans to salvage a disabled plane by air, the first such operation attempted in Canada.

Godsey, who operates a 10-man helicopter, said the plan is to remove the wings from a downed aircraft, about 50 miles from here, and then carry them dangling on a cable back to an airport here.

The plane, a small 1,900-pound aircraft operated by the Thunder Bay Flying Club, was forced down on Onion lake several days ago when it encountered bad weather. The pilot was unhurt but the plane was damaged.

50-Year-Old Gun To Give Time Signals

HALIFAX (CP) — Haligonians will be hearing their noon time signals from a 50-year-old gun.

Army engineers began restoring a 50-year-old 12-pound fieldpiece to be used as the time gun at the top of Citadel hill. Up to now a 25-pounder of Second World War vintage has been used for the daily signal.

Officials said that black powder for the older fieldpiece can be bought "at a greatly reduced price" compared with the blanks used in the present gun.

Find Bear Tracks

WILLOW BEACH (CP) — Suspected bear tracks near a skating pond has thrown this little village on the south shore of Lake Simcoe into a mild tizzy. For several dahs 38 children have been driven to school instead of walking the mile and a half. J. S. Ellis of the Ontario lands and forest department said "It's possible, but highly improbable, that there is a bear there."

Find Caribou In Labrador Very Plentiful

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Although every hunter averaged at least two kills last year, caribou are steadily increasing in Labrador.

Native hunters say they never saw caribou so plentiful and some of the herds sighted along the coast had as many as 150 animals. Some say the animals are being driven to the coast by the construction of the Labrador railway but others say the increase is general throughout the territory.

Caribou was almost extinct in Labrador a few years ago when herds were slaughtered wholesale. At that time hides were drawing high prices in Europe.

Capt. Harry Walters, director of wild life services, says the present rate of kills does not affect the natural increase.

Have Busy Year Cleaning Up After Careless Fishermen

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec biological bureau had a busy year cleaning up, so to speak, after careless fishermen.

A review just issued by the provincial bureau points out much of its work resulted from abuses by individuals, groups or major corporations.

The bureau reiterated its dismay at sloppy sportsmen who let loose minnows "and other species incompatible with delicate game fish" into the province's lakes and streams. "Millions of dollars" damage has been done in this manner.

Pollution, particularly in the St. Lawrence and the Ottawa river, came under a two-way attack as a start was made to "zone" provincial waters according to extent of contamination. At the same time a laboratory apparatus called a "lake labyrinth" was devised to guage even the smallest effects on fish.

EXTENSIVE RESEARCH

Fish culture, lake and stream improvement and fish plantings were among corrective measures taken to maintain and multiply an important item in the province's natural resources.

A major part of the work was carried out at the 1,000-square-mile outdoor laboratory at the Mont Tremblant station, north of Montreal; at the hatchery in suburban Lachine, and at the bureau's headquarters in the University of Montreal.

"Lake and stream improvement included poisoning of public lakes to rid them of undesirable fishes and restocking others," the bureau's statement said. "Various public lakes were re-opened to fishing after renovation."

"Fish survey work brought notable results," the statement reported. "It rediscovered the white bass, which had been lost to sight in eastern Quebec for 75 years; found that wall-eyes transplanted from Lake Champlain to the Richelieu river dispersed quickly over hundreds of miles as far as Quebec and Montreal; took advantage of the open season on bass in Terrebonne and Argenteuil counties to check the situation and find that bass, when planted, not only supplant speckled trout, but also eventually deteriorate themselves."

NEW SPECIES ADDED

A new species of trout was added to the North American list when trout from North African eggs were hatched at the St. Faustin hatchery and planted in two Mont Tremblant brooks.

"Development of trout hybrids was continued, chiefly at the eastern townships hatchery at Lake Lyster where a trout nutrition program also brought fruitful results," the statement added.

The bureau also announced, with pride, that O'Malley pond in the eastern townships, re-opened after renovation by the bureau, "promptly yielded more than 2,000 speckled trout. . . of a satisfying nine to 11 inches in length."

SWIFTIES—Horace Ashenfelter, left, is after the two-mile indoor record of 8:50.7. Reggie Pearman, centre, upset Mal Whitfield in the 600-yard run. Winning the mile is getting to be a habit with Len Truex.

Ask Outside Guides Work In Ontario

SUDBURY (CP)—The Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association wants a rules change to permit qualified guides from anywhere in Canada to work in Ontario. At present, only Ontario residents can accept such employment in the province.

Len Hughes of North Bay, re-elected president Wednesday at closing sessions of the three-day convention, said the regulation discriminates against good guides from other provnces.

"We're badly in need of guides," he said. "If there are men in Quebec or Manitoba who are qualified, I believe they should be allowed to work in Ontario."

The outfitters, tourist camp operators from across the north country, combined their convention this year with that of the Ontario Trappers Association, marking a new relationship between the groups.

BOW AND ARROW HUNTING

Increase of the wolf bounty from the present $25 paid by the province to $50, with the federal government making up the difference, was recommended at the convention. Another change proposed was that of allowing moose hunting with bow and arrow, instead of just with rifles.

Delegates urged that, instead of charging non-residents $101 licence fee for moose hunting, the fee should be $51 with an additional $50 if the hunter gets a moose.

The trappers' group suggested increasing the trapping licence fee to $7 from $5, with the extra $2 going to the trappers' association.

The outfitters decided to ask for early notification of season dates for hunting ducks, geese and partridge. Ken Hanson of the Lake of the Woods district said notice now is so short that outfitters cannot make proper arrangements for hunting parties.

The association supported a motion asking that the duck season start Sept. 15 every year and that the outfitters be notified several months ahead if there is to be a change.

CONFISCATED GEAR

The outfitters' group endorsed a motion from its Kenora branch asking that all confiscated firearms and fishing tackle be sold in the district in which it is seized.

Dr. W. K. Harkness, chief of the wildlife branch of the Ontario department of lands and forests, said sales were held in the various districts last year.

"This practice may be continued," he said.

Next year's convention will be held at Huntsville.

Report Seguin Wasn't Searched

TORONTO (CP)—A report to the legislature's reforms committee Wednesday said convicted murderer Henri Seguin was never physically searched while in jail. The report said Seguin, who killed himself in Cornwall jail Jan. 18 an hour before he was due to be hanged, took poison he had kept hidden in his body.

The report by prison inspectors suggested that rules for the care and custody of a condemned man should include a search of his body, not now called for by the regulations.

The reforms committee approved.

The inspectors said they found other prisoners at the Cornwall jail often prepared Seguin's food without supervision. They said they also found that the deputy sheriff authorized visits to prisoners without knowledge of the sheriff.

Storm Traps 40 Children

BAD AXE, Mich. (AP)—Highway crews fought their way over snow-clogged back roads today in an effort to rescue 40 small children stranded overnight in the Pinnebog school, northwest of here.

The children, ranging in age from five to 10 years, were trapped in the school Wednesday when 10 inches of snow fell on isolated county roads in a 20-hour period. High winds drifted the snow, preventing school buses from taking the children to their southeastern Michigan homes.

Mrs. Hazel Weatherhead, the principal, telephoned school officials that there was plenty of food in the warm school building. Cots were set up in the classrooms.

Road commission spokesmen said they expected the children to be rescued by this afternoon.

Elected President Of Marine Club

TORONTO (CP)—H. L. Rowntree of Toronto has been elected president of the Marine Club which represents the Great Lakes shipping industry.

R. S. Henderson and H. L. Wyatt were chosen vice-presidents and D. M. Paterson, secretary. Executive committee members are D. L. Jackson of Kingston, E. G. Marsh and J. Misener of Port Colborne, Russell Page of Port Dalhousie, J. N. Paterson of Fort William and I. Wagner of Owen Sound.

The club comprised steamship owners, operators and executives from allied industries.

Mrs. Alfred Helson

Funeral services for Mrs. Alfred Helson, 480 Sherbrooke St., who died Monday after a lengthy illness, were held Wednesday from the Kaye funeral home. The Rev. A. A. Mathews officiated and burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Kenneth, Donald and Frederick Helson, Stanley James, Donald McIntosh and Robert Miller. Flower bearers were Brian Miller and David Helson.

UN Morale Improved

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) Byron Price, retiring as assistant secretary-general of the United Nations after seven years, says he regards the UN as a modest success. He told the UN Correspondents Association at a farewell luncheon Wednesday that he believes the morale of the staff is better now than before the recent investigation of alleged Communist infiltrations by a U. S. Senate committee.

Power Test At Pentagon To Determine Who's Boss

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—A test of power is on to determine whether the authority of the defence secretary is supreme in the United States military establishment.

The handling of the cases of U.S. soldiers who decided to stay with their Communist captors in Korea, or of those who later changed their mind, it became apparent today, is involved in this behind-the-scenes situation.

But in earlier incidents, too, the issue of central control cropped up.

Defence Secretary Charles E. Wilson has publicly taken the responsibility for ordering the army to discharge dishonorably the 21 Americans who have decided to stay with the Communists. Some army legal experts hold that nothing in military law allows the issuance of dishonorable discharge orders without trial by court-martial. Wilson says he thinks he has the authority.

There was the related incident of the army's sudden announcement of the arrest, on court-martial charges, of Cpl. Eward Dickenson, the Virginia soldier who reversed his original decision to stay wth the Reds. There the issue was one of the army's timing and the wording of its announcement.

PRESIDENT STARTLED

Outside the army, every high official, including President Eisenhower and Wilson, was startled and disturbed by the announcement last Friday night. The defence department was reported to have asked both the army and marines to hold up on any action or announcement in prisoner - of - war cases until all efforts to win back the remaining 21 had been made, and not take any action at all before the following Tuesday.

Eisenhower said at his press conference Wednesday that he thought there must be something else in the Dickenson case other than his original decision to remain with the Reds. Dickenson is charged with having intercourse with the enemy and seeking to secure favorable treatment while he was in a Communist prison camp.

CABLED WILSON

The president also said he was disturbed when he read newspappr reports of the army's action, and immediately called Wilson to be certain that justice is done.

There is disposition in some defence department quarters to beleve the plan to announce the arrest of Dickenson Friday night was known in high army quarters. First reports were that there had been a slip at some lower echelon.

Department officials emphasized that there was no question of the right of the army to prefer the charges against Dickenson, that the issue was over the failure to advise top defence officials that the army proposed to make the announcement prior to the time urged by the department.

Waiter, Youth Both Fined After Beer Served

LINDSAY (ENS) — Magistrate R. I. Moore Wednesday convicted a Lindsay beverage room waiter, Wallace Kelly, of selling beer to a perso., apparently under the age of 21, last January 12th. The youth in question was also charged with obtaining liquor while under 21, and paid a fine of $20 and costs.

The youth told the court that he had gone to the beverage room with two boys, one over the legal age and the other a juvenile. The waiter, he said, told the juvenile to leave the room. After this, said the youth, the waiter served the two boys, each having four drafts. Later that afternoon, the youth was picked up in an intoxicated condition and investigation led to the laying of the charges.

Kelly and several others in the beverage room at the time told the court that the youth in question had been ordered to leave and had done so. All denied seeing the juvenile in the room. Magistrate Moore at this juncture on hearing the name of the juvenile from the other youth, ordered him found, over the objections of defence counsel H. E. Richardson. The boy soon appeared in court, however, and corroborated the story told by the youth.

In fining Kelly $50 and costs of $11.50 on the charge, Magistrate Moore commented, "the police were enient in this case, in charging the waiter, instead of the hotel. This should serve as a warning against selling liquor to minors and juveniles. "It must stop."

Larry fell and broke both legs shortly before Christmas and had to be confined to a hospital bed with both legs in traction. "Pretty Boy," one of his holiday gifts, has helped make things brighter with daily visits.

May Buy Street Cars

TORONTO (CP)—South America may get Toronto Transit Commission street-cars soon to end a 34-year career on north-south Yonge and Bay streets. A company in South America has written the commission it will consider buying them for resale, possibly to South American cities. The TTC will dispose of the cars after the opening of the Yonge street subway March 30.

St. Paul's Exceeds Allocation To Greater Work Of Church

A most successful year was enjoyed by St. Paul's Presbyterian church in 1953. Finances remained in a healthy state and the generous attitude of the congregation had enabled the church to exceed its allocation toward the larger work of the Presbyterian church in Canada.

This was stated in the session report to the annual meeting held Wednesday night.

The work among the youth of the church was highly commended and the session was grateful for the fine leadership being given by a sincere group of officers.

The session and congregation expressed their appreciation of the loyalty and labor given by the choir and the organist, Mr. C. Gledhill. His recent appointment to a Montreal church had served as a great loss to St. Paul's.

During the year 146 members of the congregation had transferred to St. Giles, a new and enthusiastic branch of the church. With a diminished membership a challenge had come to St. Paul's to meet its obligations. This could be done only with the full support of the congregation.

The report referred to the work of the minister, the Rev. C. G. Boyd, and said that he met the duties of his high office with dignity, diligence and loyalty. Mrs. Boyd, also, continued to give worthy assistance in church organizations.

During the year there were 55 baptisms nd 19 marriages performed and 31 funerals conducted. Total church membership at the end of the year 1271.

As chairman of the meeting, Mr. Boyd expressed his personal appreciation of the work by various church groups. They had enjoyed a successful year and he looked forward to seeing them advance further in the ensuing 12 months.

The meeting, which was fairly largely attended, decided that the board of managers should be permitted to use moneys from the restoration account to assist in the construction of a vault. It was hoped that this work might be accomplished in 1954, as its need was evident for the safekeeping of church records.

The following persons were elected to the board of managers for this year:

Messrs. Walter Perks, William Hughes, Russell Higgins, George Easton, Ellwood McDonald and John Morrow.

The meeting remembered some 20 members of the congregation who had passed to their reward during the year.

Reports on activities were received from the married couples' club, M. A. club, explorers group, Sunday school, CGIT, young peoples' society, cub pack, cub and scout mothers' auxiliary and boy scouts, ladies aid and the various missionary societies.

Fears Congress Delays Seaway

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Saunders, Ontario Hydro chairman, said Wednesday night he is afraid action by the United States Congress on the joint scheme for the St. Lawrence seaway will only delay a start on the power phase of the project.

He told the annual dinner of the Ontario Retail Farm Equipment Dealers Association that he hoped recent favorable action by the U. S. Senate would not hinder a start on the power works, "but we're afraid that is what is happening now."

Mr. Saunders raised the official cost estimate of Ontario hydro's share of the seaway project to $300,000,000. For almost two years the official figure has been $225,000,000. Financing of the project by Hydro and its U. S. counterpart, New York state power authority, has been arranged, he said.

Undemocratic Ban

WORTHING, England (CP) — Some 200 teen-agers in this Sussex town have signed a petition protesting the ban on "modern dancing—jiving and jitterbugging" at local dances. The petition says the ban is "not only antiquated, but undemocratic."

Sunday School Attendance Puts Strain On Quarters

Steadily increasing membership is producing a severe strain on cramped quarters in the Trinity United church Sunday school, secretary W. T. Fanjoy reported to the annual congregational meeting Wednesday night. Average attendance is now more than 300, highest in many years.

Number of members and adherents is increasing, with 66 received in 1953, session clerk R. F. Downey reported. This brings the total to 862 members. During the year 30 members transferred, 36 babies were baptized, 13 burial rites performed and 12 marriage ceremonies solemnized.

Presenting his first report as minister the Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell said the year "has been one of joyous happy service." In the future he saw "tremendous challenge but great opportunities" for Trinity's "most loyal, very kind" congregation.

Trinity should become "more missionary-minded" not only in givings but in every church activity, said Mr. Maxwell. A trend towards greater giving was reflected in the committee of stewards financial report submitted by H. S. Longhurst which showed that givings to the general fund totalled $22,899.16, an increase of $4,600 over 1952.

Reports of steady progress during the year were heard from Sunday school superintendent Mel Elliott and representatives of various church organizations. Reporting groups were the afternoon auxiliary of the WMS, the women's federation, the WA, CGIT and Explorer groups, girls' work board, boys' club, senior and junior choirs, supper circle, Mr. and Mrs. Club, baby band mothers, mission band, Elizabeth Parker auxiliary, boy scouts and the cradle roll.

Several vacancies on the official board were filled as follows:

Elders (elected for a five-year term in addition to the present board) R. M. Elliott, Ernest Horton, R. S. Huffman, J. L. McBain, Allan Parker, A. D. Vaisey, Earl Wellman, Dr. Donald Clark, Dr John Stewart, Dr. Lloyd Thompson.

Stewards (for a five year term and in addition to the present 15 stewards) George Cheatle, James B. Clark, J. W. Fortner, E. W. Edmondson, Gordon Tollington.

H. S. Longhurst was named to the board of trustees to fill a vacancy left by the death of the late B. V. Moore.

Everything Emerges Broken Comet Jet Testing Labs

By JOHN DAVY

LONDON (OFNS)—At the Royal Aircraft Establishment at Farnborough, England—where, following the Mediterranean disaster of earlier this month, Comet airliners are currently undergoing vigorous structural tests, and where the wreckage of last year's Comet crash at Calcutta is being minutely examined in the Accident Reconstruction Hangar — important research work is being carried out into "fatigue" in aircraft parts. Minute changes occur among the atoms of metals subjected to strains. Little is known about these changes, but their effect is that after a certain time of slow change, a sudden, larger, change occurs in the metal, and it becomes brittle and breaks.

EVERYTHING BREAKS

At Farnborough there are a number of laboratories where aircraft parts are subjected to strains similar to those they would encounter if the aircraft were in flight. Testing is carried out until the component breaks. "Nothing comes into this laboratory which does not go out broken" the Director says proudly. In this way the exact safe "life" of a component can be computed.

Huge springs laden with weights are set vibrating like great turning forks. The component to be tested is attached to one end. Many times a second the springs are stretched or bent to a calculated degree. In one second, in one of these machines, a part receives the equivalent of one hour's flying strain.

All round the laboratory are scattered broken spars, plates, ribs and other components. It is like a cupboard of old toys belonging to a giant destructive child. Stacked against the outside wall are the remains of sixty Meteor tailplanes which have been broken, one by one, in large-scale tests—but only after being subjected to the strain of many thousands of flying hours.

TEST TO DESTRUCTION

Near the laboratory, out in the open, one of the first prototype Comets, which has already seen some three thousands hours of flying, is being tested to destruction. Including the testing it has had in the last few weeks, this Comet has now "flown" for more than ten thousands hours. The Director says its wings are actually still airworthy—but it will be tested "until it is quited beyond repair."

Huge hydraulic jacks have been fixed under the Comet's wings, and ten times a minute they force up the wings until the whole fuselage rises and hangs suspended between them and the cradle on which it has been placed. Then the jacks let the whole machine down again with a sigh and a creaking like the floorboards of a haunted house. One minute of testing time here is equivalent to an hour's flight in bumpy conditions; and the jacks are kept going almost continuously day and night.

Many civil aircraft firms also carry out exhaustive tests of this kind—but the Royal Aircraft Establishment is gradually becoming a focal centre for such research. On it, indeed, depends a considerable part of the safety of both civil and military aviation.

Chinese Terms To Traders Considered Hard

By O. M. GREEN

LONDON (OFNS) — If China wants trade with Europe she will have to treat foreign exporters much more leniely than was indicated by instructions to Chinese merchants recently sent out by the Chinese National Import and Export Corporation, in Berlin, a copy of which has now reached London.

This shows unmistakably that foreign exports are to be brought under the new Communist Party line for industry in China, under which the State will take full control of all private interprise in industry and commerce.

The Corporation states that it is the sole customer to whom all possible transactions must be submitted. Chinese merchants will act only as brokers between the supplier and the Corporation.

HARSH TERMS

The terms imposed on foreign exporters to China are harsh. They will have to put up a performance bond two or three per cent of the value of the cargo, and if there is any sort of failure in the deal this money will at once accrue to the Chinese Government. Payment will be made only fifteen days after the cargo has been received in China.

The Corporation admits that these terms are harsh, but says that several foreign firms have already accepted them. Indeed, it expresses the belief that competition in Europe for trade with China will be keen this year.

One point the Chinese Communists seem to have overlooked is that in the past four years many substitutes have been found for their main exports of wood oil, dried eggs, bristles, hides and so forth.

Milton Wright President Of Manvers Red Cross

BETHANY (ENS) — The annual meeting of the Manvers township branch of the Canadian Red Cross society was held in the township hall on Tuesday afternoon and the following were elected officers: President and campaign director, Milton Wright; honorary president, Rev. T. S. Gault; first vice-president, Miss Laura Morton; second vice-president, Dr. G. McNeil, Pontypool; third vice-president, Hildon Johnston, Janetville; secretary, Mrs. R. N. Carr assistant secretary, Mrs. John White treasurer, Henry M. Jakeman; conveners of loan cupboard, Mrs. R. W. H. M. Jakeman, the retiring president was chairman of the meeting. Reports were given by the secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Preston Neals showing a successful year. Last year's campaign for funds had amounted to $424.25. The campaign had been directed by Milton Wright with the voluntary canvassers, Charles McNeil, Delbert Bowins, Clifford Hudson, Fenton Fallis, all of Pontypool; Delmar Jewell, Hildon Johnston, Morley Kellett, Arthur Wright, Harry Shea, Moral Marshall, Ralph Malcolm, all of Janetville; Lawrence Staples, George Chapman, Mrs. Douglas Smelt, Harry Preston, J. T. Coburn, all of Bethany.

Bank interest and a balance on hand from the previous year brought the total receipts to $875.67. Expenses totalled $570.02 and had included repairs for the first aid kit, cod liver oil capsules (15,000) delivered to all the school in Manvers township for each of the pupils, aid given to the families of A. Monk at Manvers Station and Richard Armstrong, RR 2, Pontypool, when their homes had been completely destroyed by fire, together with all the contents, the purchase of a third hospital bed for use in the community, further supplies for the loan cupboard, the building of new cupboards in town hall basement, campaign and convention expenses; expenses incurred in connection with the volunteer nursing services and the sum of $200.00 forwarded to head office. The present balance is $305.65.

Mrs. R. W. Price gave a report on the loan cupboard contents. "There are three hospital beds, rubber sheets, air cushion, baby scales, sheets, quilts, hot water bottles, bed pans, thermometers, gowns, bed pads, masks, towels, medicine glasses, etc., all available to anyone in need. New cupboards have been built in the township hall basement to house this equipment and any of the same may be had by applying to either Mrs. Price, Miss Thompson, Dr. G. M. Longfield at Bethany or Dr. G. McNeil at Pantypool.

Miss Laura Morton reported that the volunteer nursing service under the leadership of Mrs. Edgar Beer is still active. During the past year, Mrs. Beer, Reg. N., has made regular visits to a patient who is entirely bedfast and on each occasion has taken with her one of the members of the nursing class. Her travelling expenses in this connection were $22.50 On motion it was decided to send the further sum of $140.65 to head office, also to pay $3.00 to H. M. Jakeman for expenses incurred in delivering cod liver oil capsules to the school pupils. Mrs. R. W. Price and Miss Lily Thompson were recommended to receive badges of service for their outstanding work in connection with the loan cupboard and workroom supplies which they have maintained over a period of twelve years.

Chinese Communism Fans Through Indonesia

By ROBERT FRANKLIN

DJAKARTA (OFNS)—In most of South-east Asia today, Communism's principal effort is being channelled through the overseas Chinese communities. This is particularly true of Indonesia.

Working through their embassy in Djakarta, capital of Indonesia, and consulates in Sumatra, Borneo and Celebes, the Chinese Communists are active not only among the Indonesian Chinese community of between two million and two million five hundred thousand but among the Indonesians themselves. There is a close working relationship between the Chinese and Indonesian Communists, and it is likely that the latter are under Chinese tutelage. Certainly the pattern of labour agitation shows signs of Chinese tuition.

In their own community the Chinese Communists have had more success than anywhere else in South-east Asia. Indonesia's comparative remoteness from China may contribute to this, but the fact that the Chinese can work openly through their diplomatic establishments is of course an important factor.

Their great success has been in education. The Chinese maintain their own schools in Indonesia, and certainly half of these fly the Communist flag; many of those that do not are under strong Communist influence, for it is estimated that at least seventy-five percent of the Chinese teachers in Indonesia are either Communist or pro-Communist.

BOOKS NOT TEACHERS

The Indonesian Government makes an effort to exercise control over the textbooks used in the Chinese schools, but officials say they have no control over the teachers. Chinese Nationalists control some schools, but their efforts are hampered because they cannot get teachers. Even in small, predominantly Chinese villages there are often two Chinese schools: one flying the gold-starred red flag of the Communists and the other that of the Kuomintang.

In the bigger cities, Chinese education goes to high school level. For higher education Chinese students must leave Indonesia, and more and more of them ——particularly the children of poor families, lured by the promise of education——are travelling to China to attend universities there.

Some five thousand made the trip in 1953. The Indonesians—who have no love for the Chinese—claim that it will be impossible for most of these students to return once they have completed their education, but it is generally believed that most of them will be able to go back by one means or another.

PROPAGANDA MACHINE

The Chinese Communists propaganda machine in Indonesia is powerful. Newspapers and magazines in every large city follow the Party line, and there are numerous Communist bookstores throughout the islands. Although booksellers find it difficult to obtain foreign exchange allocations to bring in books, the Chinese Communists do not seem to have any trouble.

At the international trade fair held last year in Djakarta, the Peking exhibit was by far the best. Many expatriate Chinese were amazed to learn here that their country is now capable of producing complicated machinery—and were visibly impressed.

Chinese business men in Indonesia have, in the main, tried not to become politically involved; but even here the Communists have had considerable success, for they now have a strong voice in some of the republic's most important Chinese chambers of commerce.

In attempting to solve the problem of Chinese dual nationality, the Indonesians have met with little more success than other South-east Asia nations. Any Indonesia-born Chinese who does not renounce Indonesian citizenship is considered an Indonesian. Although figures are not available, it is believed that considerably less than half the Chinese population thus formally becomes Chinese.

But almost all certainly continue to regard themselves as Chinese—and, of course, the Chinese Communists in Idonesia are playing heavily on this attitude.

Report Pope Spends Satisfactory Night

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—Pope Pius who has been ill for several days, spent "a fairly satisfactory night," a spokesman said today.

Examinations made by the Pontiff's doctors have shown there is nothing organically wrong but excessive work has shaken his nervous system and given him persistent hiccups.

A prolonged rest cure is believed necessary.

Will Buy Sites

TORONTO—The Rt. Rev. F. H. Wilkinson, coadjutor bishop of Toronto, has opened a drive to raise $625,000 for the purchase of 14 new sites for Anglican churches. In a letter to all Anglicans in the diocese of Toronto, Bishop Wilkinson wrote "Any further delay in purchasing the sites required and in building church edifices will mean the opportunity of these districts is lost to our church for all time."

Safety On Highways Job Of Each Individual Driver

Why don't they stop saying "Why don't they?" traffic inspector Albert Witts, of the Ontario Provincial Police asked the Peterborough Automobile Club at the Kawartha Golf Club Wednesday. If more drivers said "Why don't we?" instead of passing the buck for traffic safety to a mystic "hey," the traffic toll, said Inspector Witts, would be substantially reduced.

But motorists cannot help being "agitated and exasperated" by the "theys" of the automotive industry, said the inspector. This will be "a banner year for horses under the hood" because manufacturers are concentrating on "smoother rides at 60" instead of safer rides at any speed.

It will be a happy day, said Inspector Witts, when a car manufacturer promises shorter braking distance rather than more power or more chrome. He mentioned that the speed differential between 50 and 60 m.p.h. is over 90 feet per second, "and a lot can happen in 90 feet." Improvements in brake design in the last 10 years have been "almost nothing at all."

"G" FACTORS

But because manufacturers are not as forward-looking as they might be is "no reason for drivers to be careless." People should remember that when they are travelling over 70 "they aren't driving, they are just steering. They should also think in terms of their "G-factors"—the effect of sudden stops on the human frame.

Safety councils like the Peterborough Automobile Club are "certainly very important" in educating drivers, and cutting accident tolls, but "in the last analysis the onus is on each of you as individual drivers." If drivers could "setttle for doing even a few things right" the annual Canadian death toll of over a thousand might be cut.

Some of the things even the best drivers are guilty of, said the inspector, are beating red lights, making perfunctory stops at stop signs, hogging traffic lanes, browbeating pedestrians, passing recklessly and driving too fast, especially at night. Travelling over 50 at night means that a driver's braking distance is longer than the distance of the beams from his headlights.

Turning to the question of the high accident rate among younger drivers, Inspector Witts suggested that the teen-agers have been badly maligned. If teen-agers drive recklessly it's "because they have to let off steam and their parents haven't showed them safer ways to do it."

'Way back in 2800 B.C., an Egyptian hierloglyphic woefully observed: "Things look black. Children no longer respect their parents. Sin and corruption are rife." The theme hasn't changed, said the inspector, in the intervening centuries. Adults automatically assume the youngsters, collectively, are wild and irresponsible, ignoring that they are, individually, their children.

EDUCATION

Education is the key factor in cutting the accident toll among the teen-agers, said the speaker. Hot-rods, of themselves, are harmless enough, and become lethal only when recklessly used on public thoroughfares. He suggested that each community have supervised dragstrips, where youngsters could contentedly burn the motors out of their jalopies if they felt the urge. This, too, would make them more careful with the family car.

If this training of the young were combined with self-education and "intelligent regard for the rights of others" the traffic problem would fade away. If motorists "knew enough to help one another," would be less insistent on "rights," would keep their eyes open and would "give the pedestrian a break," there would be fewer guests on the mortuary slabs.

Turning to a more frivolous theme, Inspector Witts agreed that women drivers "do a lot of strange things" when behind the wheel of a car, and men are frequently quite justified in their criticisms. Point is, though, that men are as bad, if not worse.

Men become boors when they are driving, said Mr. Witts. He recalled the tale of one little girl asking her mother, while both were driving downtown to shop, "Where are all the jerks, saps and poor fish today?" Mother's wise reply was that "They only are along when Daddy is driving."

Last night's dinner, attended by more than 200 members of the PAC and their guests, featured the naming of the 1954 executive, elected earlier Wednesday. New president is Ja... Lillico, who succeeds John Lewis. Also on the new executive are vice-president Donald Loucks, secretary-treasurer James H. Fraser, corresponding secretary Eric McKinstry and directors Bert Austin, Coleman Blewett, Robert Carley, Donald D. Earl, Gordon Hancock, Robert Hamilton, Charles Kingan, Stan Longhurst, John Nornabell, Paige Rowell, Jack Sinclair and Jack Steinkrauss.

The major objective for 1954, said president-elect Lillico, is to expand the PAC's membership "considerably." In his inaugural remarks, he paid tribute to the "splendid work of outgoing president John Lewis. Mrs. Lewis later received a bouquet of roses from Charles Kingan on behalf of the club.

A financial report from secretary - treasurer James Fraser showed that the club has a balance of $1,082.96 on hand. Major source of revenue was over $7,000 in fees, while expenditure debits included expenditures on safety promotion, the Ontario Motor League and costs of banquets.

The dinner, scheduled to start at 6.30, didn't get under way until well after seven. Club members were having considerable trouble negotiating the grade from the highway to the golf course, especially since very few drivers had snow-chains. When guests at head table arrived, the following were accounted for: George Ball, representing the Garage Operators Association, vice-president and president-elect Don Loucks and James Lillico, J. A. Stringer, provincial police inspector of Peterborough, Mayor Norman Graham, Chief of Police John Thompson, Jack Mark, of the Peterborough Fire and Casualty Underwriters' Association, William Godson, of the FADA, PAC secretary-treasurer James Fraser and Mr. Witts.

Girl Guides' Flag To Fly From City Hall

A flag displaying a three-leafed gold emblem on a light blue field will be flown from the city hall flagstaff during the week from February 21 to 27.

It is the Girl Guides' World Flag and will be flown in honor of the birthday, February 22, of the Guides' founder, Lord Baden-Powell, and of the Chief Guide, Lady Baden-Powell.

February 22 is known as Thinking Day, when Girl Guides and Girl Scouts all over the world think about one another. The world's 2,750,000 Girl Guides make the same promise and try to live up to the same Guide laws.

Plans are being made by local Girl Guides for observance of the occasion throughout the week from January 21 to 27, it was announced by Mrs. John R. Epping Commissioner for the Girl Guides in Peterborough.

Although preparations are incomplete, it is expected that Peterborough Guides will be asked to attend their own churches in their Guide uniforms on Sunday, February 21, and wear their uniforms to school throughout the week.

Also planned is a Guides' Own, a form of non-denominational religious service.

A couple who lived in Peterborough for 33 years and have been in Edmonton, Alta., for the past 27 years, celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary recently. They are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Conroy, who were married at Lakefield on January 9, 1894. While here Mr. Conroy was engaged in public works contracting. They moved to Edmonton in 1927, following the trail of his brothers and sisters. Their immediate family, Mr. Gerald and Miss Catheleen Conroy and Mrs. R. A. Silver Cross Realizes $639 During Past Year

Reports of officers and conveners of the Peterborough chapter of Silver Cross were presented at the annual meeting Monday evening at which Mrs. A. S. Williams, who was re-elected for a third term as president, presided. Secretary Mrs. N. Fee reported the chapter's various activities of the year, among which the most significant perhaps was the donation of a croupette to Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Receipts for the year were reported at $639.06, realized from the annual spring tea, a euchre, sale of tickets on two dolls, euchre parties at members' homes, membership fees and donations. Work done included sending parcels to servicemen abroad and letters of acknowledgment were read.

A letter from Dr. H. G. Carleton stated the installation by him of special lighting for the memorial window in the chapel at Civic Hospital has been completed. Flowers were placed in the chapel at Christmas by the chapter in memory of men whose names are on the honor roll now in place. Flowers were also placed by Mrs. M. Davies in memory of her husband, Wm. R. Davies, and by Mrs. E. Pruner in memory of her son, Corporal Earl Pruner.

The new slate of officers and conveners was installed by Vice-president Mrs. B. D. Hall. Other vice-presidents are Mrs. B. W. Harvey and Mrs. J. L. Young; recording secretary is again Mrs. N. Fee and corresponding secretary Mrs. A. M. Fitzgerald; treasurer is Mrs. F. Burnham; veterans' affairs secretary, Mrs. A. Mason; ways and means, Mrs. T. G. Nice and Mrs. J. W. Ebbs; flowers and cards, Mrs. J. A. Allen and Mrs. J. H. Coones; social, Mrs. E. Pruner, Mrs. J. Forsythe and Mrs. A. Williams; telephone, Mrs. J. W. Davies, Mrs. L. M. Freure, Mrs. F. H. Gibbs, Mrs. B. W. Harvey.

A new member welcomed to the chapter was Mrs. R. Bullock.

Wednesday, April 7th, was the date chosen for the annual spring tea and it will be in the YWCA Green Room.

New Fabrics, Colors Give Modern Style To Quilting

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

Fancy quilts lavish with color, pattern and exquisite handstitching spread their warmth and beauty as graciously in modern settings as they did in grandmother's home.

And I don't mean just the cherished heirloom you were lucky enough to inherit. As a matter of fact, the pink tulip quilt I cherish isn't an heirloom at all—my mother won it at a church raffle.

It's not surprising that the boom in home sewing has revived interest in the art of quilting. Simple lines of modern furniture are good foils for the colorful intricacies of quilt design.

Modern quilters enjoy advantages our forebears didn't have. Today's color-fast and fade-resistant fabrics promise to keep quilts bright for years. New textures in closely woven cottons add their lustre to old favorites such as calico, gingham, percales and muslins.

New quilt pattern books have clear instructions eliminating much of the guesswork. In one new flower-quilt pattern book I've been studying, the designs are carefully diagrammed to size for easy transference to pattern paper. Exact yardages are given for each piece of the design.

This inexpensive pattern book includes 12 favorite flower motifs handsomely illustrated in color. All are based on a block design usually with the motif alternating with a plain block. Some designs are to be pieced together, some are appliqued and a few combine both techniques.

Although I like a little fancy work with my fireside chats (especially in winter), the idea of tackling a quilt seemed too ambitious. But the book's full-page sketches and two-page spread of general instructions profusely illustrated with sketches tempted me to try. By following the directions, I cut and sewed two test blocks without trouble and my needlecraft is far from expert.

When the quilt top is pieced together, you sandwich cotton batting between top and a solid-color or print lining. Then the real quilting begins.

The use of frames is recommended to hold the three layers taut, but this takes up a lot of space. More practical for "pick-up" sewing an experienced quilter told me, is to use large hoops (22 inches in diameter).

SPACING INDIVIDUAL BLOCKS on a bed before sewing assures quilter that the design will show up to best advantage and gives her an idea of how deep quilt must be on sides.

Or you can take the easy road and hunt up a sewing group in your community that holds a quilting bee for sociability and profit.

Flower designs to choose from read like an old-fashioned bouquet — bleeding heart, primrose, spring tulip, iris, pansy. Rose of Sharon, a quaint old-timer, is here in one variation.

A splashy poinsettia pattern has a definite contemporary look.

Dear to midwestern hearts, old and young, is the spectacular sunflower pattern which is 14 inches across—almost as big as they grow them in Kansas.

Nurses' Alumnae Elects Mrs. Wainwright

Annual meeting of the Alumnae of the School of Nursing of Civic Hospital was held Wednesday at the home of the retiring president, Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon, 179 Aberdeen Avenue. There was an excellent turn-out of the nurses in spite of weather conditions.

An account of the activities of the past year was ably presented by secretary Mrs. Don Kerneghan and revealed the alumnae had been very active. Highlights were the Purple and Gold Ball presentation to student nurses of a film projector, the spring banquet with Kate Aitken as speaker, presentation of the E. M. Leeson prize of $100 to a graduating student with highest marks in medical nursing, the Purple and Gold fall tea and bazaar, and a gift of $250 to the Community Nursing Registry. Reports of all other conveners and officers were received.

Appreciation to Mrs. Kingdon for her very fine work as president was expressed by Miss Florence Vickers. Nominations convener Mrs. Pat Logan presented the following new slate of officers:

President, Mrs. Gordon Wainwright; vice-presidents, Misses Mae Renwick and Sadie Brown; recording secretary, Mrs. R. Pearson; treasurer, Mrs. B. Mason; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. Roberts and Miss P. Martyn; program convener, Mrs. R. Stewart; Local Council of Women representative, Mrs. T. Holyman; bulletins, Mrs. J. Mortimer; social, Mrs. P. Logan; flowers, Mrs. H. E. Sanders; Film Council and Canadian Nurse representative, Mrs. D. Hill.

New business included a satisfying account of the Purple and Gold Ball this month by the convener, Mrs. Earle Wellman. Welcomed back after a lengthy illness was Mrs. Ivison Walker. The evening concluded with dainty refreshments being served by the hostess.

Mrs. C. Coons Installed At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Mrs. W. Leonard conducted the installation service for the officers of the missionary and service club of the United Church at the meeting held at the home of Mrs. George Graham. They are: past president, Mrs. W. H. Fife; president, Mrs. Clarence V. Coons; past-presidents, Mrs. A. W. Newson, Mrs. J. Weller; secretary, Mrs. C. H. Hunter; treasurer, Mrs. Merle Crawford; literature secretary, Miss Irene Madill; mission band leader, Mrs. L. G. Poole; pianists, Mrs. Theo Down and Mrs. T. Payton.

Upon taking the chair, Mrs. Coons thanked the members for the confidence they had placed in her by making her president and asked for the support and co-operation of the members.

A vote of thanks to the retiring officers was given by Mrs. S. A. Grylls, who paid a tribute to the president, Mrs. Fife, for her excellent leadership and asked that the members should give the new president and executive their support.

The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. Raymond Jackman who opened the meeting with a poem to the new year. The scripture reading was taken by Mrs. Edison Foster and Miss Irene Madill led in prayer.

The new study book, "Where'er the Sun," by Samuel H. Moffett, and the companion book, "That the World May Know," by Charles Ranson, were introduced by Mrs. Leonard who gave an interesting resume of the opening chapter of the former.

Correspondence included a letter of thanks from the board of stewards of the church for a donation of money made to them by the club. The treasurer reported a balance of $399.59. Of this amount $100 was voted to the United Church training school being built in Toronto.

Literature secretary Miss Madill reported a total of 257 missionary books read by members during the year.

It was decided that the major projects of the club during the coming year would be a bake sale, to be held during the summer, with Mrs Clare Chittick as convener; an Easter thankoffering, convened by Mrs. Fife; a supper in September with Mrs. Poole as convener, and the annual bazaar, which will be in charge of Mrs Keller.

A letter was read from Miss Irene Moore, a nurse at the msision to lepers, Hong Kong Leprosarium, thanking the WMS for a bale of Christmas gifts sent to them and with which the Service Club had helped.

The hostess was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. G. E. Renwick, Miss Crawford and Mrs. Hunter.

WA Officers Are Installed

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Woman's Association of the Norwood United church met at the parsonage with an attendance of 35. The president, Mrs. A. M. Weir, opened the meeting with a short poem followed by the singing of a hymn. The Rev. H. K. Wright installed the new officers.

Mrs. Fred Patterson and her group were in charge of the programme. The scripture reading was given by Mrs. A. R. McNab. Mrs. J. McConnell read the lesson on "Thoughts." Mrs. J. Knox sang a solo and the topic "Another New Year in Life's Journey" was ably given by Miss Pauline Weir. The group in charge served a delicious lunch and a social half hour was enjoyed.

FISH FOOD

One quart of sea water may contain as many as 100,000 plankton, the microscopic organism on which fishes feed.

Vivid Colors For Holidays

NEW YORK (NEA)—Color is vivid in the silk prints that are bound now for winter vacations and will see wear back home, later on, in warmer weather. Hot pinks and oranges, shadowy blues and greens, splashes of color that suggest a Toulouse Lautrec print, all lend a new interest to collections.

There are flowers in profusion. Sprays of dogwood, clusters of lilac, brilliant orange zinnias, rich red poppies. These look fresh against white silk grounds. White grounds predominate in many prints and even the dark prints are touched with white.

There's fashion news, too, in block-and-line abstractions, architectural motifs and 3-D. In 3-D, dimensional effects are achieved by casting one color or pattern over another for a shadowy look. Or, multitones of one color are subtly blended into each other.

While most prints follow lines of shaped slimness, there are some pleated or flaring dresses to flutter softly in a warm breeze. We show one such (above) in a block print of red, yellow and blue on white twill grounds. This is a one-piece dress with a two-piece look.

Aspired To Variety Of Objectives Which Included Riding An Elephant

VANCOUVER (CP) — Miss Nancy Graham, 32, has aspired to a variety of objectives and achieved them all, including riding an elephant.

The tall blonde's motto is "Try anything once—and keep trying for something you really want until you get it."

If you want a radio announcer, a sideshow barker, a cocktail bar hostess, a waitress, a cook, postmistress, a model, or an actress, she's your gal.

At the moment she is acting at the Avon theatre here.

Her life and her wandering started in Vernon, B.C., where her father is a doctor. She went into training as a nurse in Victoria, didn't like it, and quit.

She is said to have been the first woman to read the CBC's national news bulletin from Toronto. For a time during the Second World War a number of women announcers were employed by the CBC.

Desire for the elephant ride came when she was cocktail hostess in "Gardenia" Joe's Bar in Miami. She got in touch with a man she thought was Ringling Brothers' Circus official, who sent her to Sarasota, Fla., training camp. There she found the man was an imposter.

There followed a stint with a Toronto public relations firm, secretary in Vancouver stock yards, hostess at a lodge in the Cariboo country—"Waitress during the day and bridge partner for guests at night." Later she was co-author of a book on the Cariboo.

Last year she was a model in New York. She came home for a visit and was stricken with polio, crippled for months and confined to a wheel-chair.

But she did not forget about the elephant. As soon as she recovered she got in touch with Slim Edwards of New Westminster who owns "Suzy" the only elephant that winters in Canada. She rode "Suzy" in a street parade, wearing spangles, too.

Women Support Swimmers In Fund-Raising Effort

Women of Peterborough have given evidence that they too are very proud of the Ornamental Swimming Club, and support them in their desire to demonstrate their art at the British Empire Games at Vancouver this coming summer.

Though Wednesday afternoon's weather could not have been much less inviting, a surprisingly large number of ladies came out to patronize and assist at the Contribution Tea held to raise money toward expenses of the trip. The tea was held in the YWCA Green Room and it was a delightful affair from the social aspect as well as financial.

Contributions totalled well over $200 with the inclusion of $80 in cheques which had been handed to the tea convener, Mrs. William Addyman, beforehand. Swimming coach Mrs. James Forbes intends to keep this sum and all other money raised for this purpose in a special bank account. If $2,000 is raised it will cover the travelling expenses of herself and 12 swimmers to Vancouver and they are prepared to meet all other expenses themselves.

The city has given the club permission to hold a tag day for raising money, and they have plans to hold a rummage sale and there are draw tickets on a quilt now on sale.

Included with the total receipts Wednesday were profits from a well stocked home baking table and from the "white elephant" and plant tables, and there were also draws at the tea on a trio of dolls and the table centrepiece, winner of the doll being Mrs. H. Touchburn and of the flowers Mrs. L. Yeotes.

The tea table arrangement was elegant, though simple, with the flower bowl on a wrought-iron stand being filled with red and white carnations, and highlighted with red pencil tapers. Tea pourers were Mrs. Norman Graham, Mrs. Donald McGillis Sr., Mrs. Harold R. Scott and Mrs. J. de N. Kennedy.

Mrs. Forbes received at the door, assisted by Mrs. James McClenaghan, Miss Leta Brownscombe and Mrs. Wilfred Langan, and the guest book and attended by Mrs. D. R. Crary and Mrs. Doug. Delaney.

Servers were Mrs. Howard Powell, Mrs. Wm. Godson, Mrs. Hurrell Dodds, Mrs. P. J. Anglesey, Mrs. Myer Cherney, Mrs. Ben Swartz, Mrs. J. L. McKeever, Mrs. R. B. McWilliams, Mrs. R. B. Smyth, Mrs. W. R. Philp, Mrs. Walter Howell, Mrs. W. G. Powell, Mrs. James Fraser, Mrs. Joseph Brown, Mrs. Pete LaBranche, Mrs. Louis Yeotes, Mrs. William Beggs, Mrs. Bud LaBranche, Mrs. A. B. Burrows, Mrs. Maurice Holt, Mrs. Hugh Waddell. Plates were prepared by assistant convener Mrs. P. A. Martyn, Mrs. R. G. Delahaye, Mrs. H. Vinnette and Mrs. Eric Dennison, and the table was replenished by Mrs. Stan McBride and Mrs. George Stevens.

A feature of the tea was fortune-telling done by Mrs. Lynch.

The bake table was in charge of Mrs. J. Russelle Sr. with Mrs. N. Monk and Mrs. R. Doubt assisting. Mrs. J. Lynch had the novelties and was assisted with sales by Mrs. W. R. Skinner and Mrs. James Young. Mrs. Cookson Munro had the plants and Mrs. C. Touchbourne and Mrs. Carlyle Ferguson helped her.

The quilt which is to be drawn for in May was displayed by Mrs. R. Douglas and Mrs. Les Bristow. The tea draw tickets were sold by Mrs. R. A. Craig and Mrs. Ralph Wilkinson.

Told Teacher's Work Varies According To Age Of Pupil

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you please give me some information on this question: "What are my responsibilities as a teacher?

R. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

A TEACHER'S WORK

ANSWER: This is a question to be solved largely by your training in education. If the teaching profession appeals to you for any reason other than your desire to do a good job with children, it's not for you. A teacher's responsibility varies with the age group she teaches, the economic strata of her pupils and numerous other factors. Many questions arise in the course of a teacher's day that have nothing to do with pedagogics, per se. The instructor who sets out wholeheartedly to do the best possible job in her profession winds up as nurse, counsellor, confidante or nutritionist. Her reward is the lifelong respect and love of those who have come under her aegis. For a thorough understanding of a teacher's job, there are books galore. Any librarian will recommend a number. For a start I suggest "The Art of Teaching" by Gilbert Highet, and "The Philosophy of Education" by Jamie Castiello. James Hilton's famous "Good-bye, Mr. Chips" is a tender presentation of the esteem in which a faithful teacher was held. The same theme also is given in a movie of a few years back, "Cheers for Miss Bishop."

A teacher's influence often is lasting; a full realization of this indicates that no limit can be placed on her responsibilities. The moment she takes the attitude, "This isn't part of my job," she is proving she is not suited to hold it.

R. B., you don't mention whether your enquiry was prompted by a remote possibility that you may become a teacher, or whether you are already a member of the profession. In either case, don't expect your responsibilities to be limited.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a friend of 15 who says she's in love with a 25-year-old teacher. Do you think this is possible? He is quite attentive to her and she thinks he's in love with her. She has no interest in boys her own age. MILLIE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It's hardly possible that the girl is seriously in love. She probably has a violent crush. No halfway attractive male teacher ever taught a class of girls without becoming the object of several crushes. If you have reason to believe that this particular teacher is being overly attentive, the girl's parents should be warned.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband, to whom I've been married 10 years, has fallen in love with a woman of poor character. He says he doesn't love her, yet every cent he can lay his hands on goes to her. Would it do any good for me to call her employer and tell him what sort of woman she is?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I doubt if any good would be accomplished. Whether the lady's employer knows of her character or not won't lessen your husband's interest. In fact, it might increase it, by causing him to feel sorry for her.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother thinks it's wrong for me to go with a boy of a different religion. I'm 14 years old. L. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly there's nothing "wrong" in a friendship between those of different religions, but complications frequently arise in such association. Actually, I think it's desirable for young people to know those of other religions. Familiarity, in such cases, dispels ignorance of other ways of living. It is a decision that is, however, up to parents, as they know what's best for you.

QUEEN ELIZABETH pauses to chat with wheelchair patient A. R. McCallum during her visit to the public hospital in Christchurch, New Zealand. Continuing their busy round of activities, the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh were greeted by the swirl of bagpipes Tuesday as they arrived at Dunedin, N.Z., the city considered more Scottish than any other outside Scotland.

Find Natural Gas Cuts Heating Costs

SASKATOON (CP)—Natural gas has come to Saskatoon and, according to its sponsors, is cutting household heating costs.

About 4,000 city homes and commercial buildings are being heated with natural gas flowing through a 107-mile pipeline from Brock, Sask near the Alberta - Saskatchewan border. Six hundred additional contracts a month are expected to be issued this year.

The cost to Saskatoon residents is about 2½ times that paid by residents of Alberta cities, where gas heating has been common for years. The Saskatoon home-owner pays about $8.80 for the first 10,000 cubic feet, against about $4.65 paid by the Edmonton householder.

MANY APPLICATIONS

About 7,500 of the 15,000 Saskatoon home-owners and small business firms applied to take gas when the Saskatchewan government proposed the pipeline last summer.

Most applications in Saskatoon, a city of 53,000 population, were made with an eye to benefits provided by an offer by the Saskatchewan Power Corporation, a provincial government agency given

Of Interest to Women

RUSSELL TONGAY shown with his wife outside a Miami, Florida, courtroom shortly before he was sentenced to 10 years in prison in connection with the death of his five-year-old daughter, Kathy. The 36-year-old ex-coastguardsman was found guilty of manslaughter.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Do You Cook Fish Slowly Or At High Temperatures?

The percapita consumption of fish products in Canada is 13 pounds annually. Which means that you and I eat 1 pound of fish every four weeks or 4 ounces of fish every week.

Not much is it when you consider what wonderful food it is, and the claims made for its nourishment of the brain. My brain could do with a little help.

Some fish cooks claim that fish should be cooked slowly. Other experts declare it should be cooked at high temperature.

I favor high temperatures but will give you good samples of both and you can be the judges.

TOULOUSE BAKED WHITEFISH

This method is fine for haddock too, when they can be bought.

Buy a 2½ or 3-pound whitefish or other large fish and have it dressed and head and tail removed. Wash it and dry it thoroughly. Dredge fish inside and out with salt, and sprinkle outside with pepper. Sprinkle a greased shallow baking dish liberally with fine crumbs, lay fish on this bed of crumbs, then sprinkle the fish with crumbs and dot it generously with butter or margarine using at least 2 tablespoons. Peel and slice thinly 1 medium tomato and line the slices overlapping along the whole length of the fish. Sprinkle tomato slices with salt and pepper and a very little sugar, and dot them with a little butter or a few tiny pieces of chopped side bacon. Place in oven of 450 deg. Fahr. and bake until a rich brown, and thickest part of fish is cooked at centre—about 25 to 30 minutes. Roughly for a whole fish baked at this temp. figure giving it 8 to 10 minutes per pound.

LEMON BAKED FISH

For 1 to 1½ pounds fish fillets or steaks peel and slice and remove seeds from 1 large lemon. Place fish fillets or steaks in buttered shallow baking dish. Arrange the lemon slices over the fish. Mix together ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ cup salad oil or melted butter and ½ to 1 teaspoon paprika. Pour over lemon and fish. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes or a little longer if fillets or steaks are thick. Fish should flake when tried with fork.

SPECIAL SALMON LOAF

Three-quarters cup fine breadcrumbs, 1 slightly beaten egg, ¾ cup milk, 2 cups flaked salmon (canned or cooked fresh), 3 tablespoons lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons each finely chopped onion and melted butter. Combine all ingredients in order given. If canned salmon is used use the liquid from can as part of the liquid content and reduce the milk. Pack mixture firmly into buttered loaf pan or individual baking dishes. Bake in oven of 350 deg. Fahr. for about 40 minutes—shorter for dishes that are small. Remove from oven and just before serving pour over:

Lemon Butter Sauce: ¼ cup butter or margarine melted, 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley, 3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, ⅛ teaspoon salt and if desired, ½ teaspoon paprika.

NOTE: This sauce may be served hot on a great number of fish dishes.

That lies within the heart concealed.

McGill Corps Of Odd Job Men Ready To Tackle Any Problem

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's McGill University corps of "odd job men" have a plan to cash in on hubby's aversion to household chores.

The odd job men—students who work to enable them to continue their studies—hope to encourage more and more homemakers to turn over to the university placement service jobs that normally create domestic friction.

The placement bureau claims it can furnish a student to handle any job in the home—and also find a worker for practically any skill required in offices or stores.

The campaign is more than an effort to make pocket money outside class. Placement bureau officials say foreign students are in urgent need of cash to continue their studies.

STIFF CURRENCY RULES

McGill enrols students every year from more than 50 different countries. Many of these states have stiff currency regulations that prevent students receiving enough money from home to live on.

Typical of this group are Gunter Schneider, 24, of Frankfurt, Germany, a divinity student, and his two friends, Manfred Schiller, a 19-year-old commerce student from Berlin and 18-year-old Kurt Schultze-Rhonhof, a first year arts student.

They have gone all out to earn spare-time money and during the Christmas holidays sorted mail. They now are in the vanguard of the campus "odd job men."

Kurt says he would like to get a post as horse trainer or riding coach eventually but is willing to tackle anything in the interim.

ACCUSED—Yanek Fashion, nationally known model agent, has been arrested in his Park Avenue apartment at New York City on charges of masterminding an $800,000 child model racket.

Britain Shivers Cold Wave

LONDON (AP)—The worst cold wave in six years gripped Britain as icy winds from Siberia—where temperatures fell to 53 below zero—today swept most of shivering Europe.

Still-colder weather with gales and blizzards is forecast in many countries where the three-day freeze-up already has crippled seaport and river transport and snarled road and rail traffic.

Scores have died from the effects of cold and traffic pile-ups on icy roads. The cold blasts dipped south to Italy, where an old man froze to death in Turin.

SHIPPING PARALYZED

In Holland, all shipping on the Zuider Zee, now called the Ijsselmeer, was paralyzed by thick ice. Vital canals linking the industrial Ruhr with North sea ports were frozen solid up to five inches deep.

Moscow radio reported a low of -53 at Yakutsk in central Siberia. It was 12 below in Moscow this morning and sharp frosts and wintry weather stretched as far south as the Crimea.

A swan, frozen tightly into a park lake at Hastings, in south England, was rescued by a keeper.

Printing Press Strike Continues Unchanged

NEW YORK (AP) — A strike which has halted production at two plants of R. Hoe and Co., manufacturers of printing presses, continued today with no sign of settlement.

The strike involves 80 out of 400 Hoe employees at Dunnellen, N. J., and about 1,250 employees at the company's New York City plant.

The strikers are members of the AFL International Association of Machinists.

They set up picket lines Monday morning. Negotiations in a wage dispute bogged down last Friday.

The union had been seeking 41 cents more an hour and fringe benefits. The company said it offered 9½ cents. The present minimum wage is $2.25 an hour.

Tourist Boom

VICTORIA (CP)—A record number of American tourists visited British Columbia in 1953, Trade Minister Ralph Chetwynd announced. He reported 283,837 incoming motorists drew permits for longer than 48 hours, or eight per cent more than in 1942.

Colorful Floats

MONTREAL (CP)—Sketches of huge floats to be used in the annual procession June 24 were shown to officials of the St. Jean Baptiste Society here. For this year's parade there will be additional floats contributed by various Montreal groups of new Canadians.

Dobbin Gets Scarcer

CALGARY (CP)—The old grey mare ain't what she used to be in this centre of the ranching country. Only 43 licences for horses were issued by the city last year, compared with 115 in 1952. Increased mechanization by such firms as dairies is said responsible.

Sturdy Veteran

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Alta. (CP)—Chief Walking Eagle, head of the Stoney Indian band on the plains near here, runs a 10-mile trapline all winter although he is over 70. One of his favorite cold-weather pastimes is a squirrel hunt.

Injured Pride Gives Support For Return Of Gibraltar

By HENRY BUCKLEY

MADRID (Reuters)—Mass "give us back Gibraltar" demonstrations are expected to be staged throughout Spain May 10 and 11 when Queen Elizabeth visits Gibraltar on her way back to London from her Commonwealth tour.

Spain's newspapers have already worked themselves into a lather of emotional protest against Britain's Queen and her husband making Gibraltar their last port of call.

Spain sees the visit as planned deliberately by the British government as a diplomatic rebuff and a vigorous answer to her demands for the return of Gibraltar, captured by Britain in 1704.

NEVER FULLY ACCEPTED

Spain has never fully accepted the cession of the 20 square miles of territory that makes up Gibraltar under the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713 even though the treaty stipulated: "The Catholic king (of Spain) does hereby for himself, his heirs and successors yield unto the crown of Great Britain the full and entire propriety of the town with the port, fortifications and forts belong to them."

There have been 14 sieges of "the rock" by the Spaniards. But Britain has always successfully resisted these attempts to recover Gibraltar.

Since Gen. Franco came to power in 1936, he has carried on steady propaganda for the return of Gibraltar and has prophesied that it will in due course fall into Spain's hands "like a ripe fruit."

NATIONAL PRIDE INVOLVED

Most Spaniards are not particularly interested in Gibraltar as a strategic or economic issue. It is, above all, injured pride which gives solid support to Franco's campaign.

For Britain, Gibraltar is a communications king-pin in her defence system and its loss would raise a multitude of difficult problems.

Find Royal Tour Spurring Maoris To New Action

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — New Zealanders have discovered that visitors from overseas do not always regard the native Maoris here as do the white inhabitants of the Dominion. And they are paying new attention to the question of what position the Maoris will hold in future years.

New Zealanders hold racial equality as a high ideal, and native anomalies are treated seriously as problems to be studied in the interest of race relations. Some New Zealanders supported the native leaders who were aroused by what they considered lighthearted treatment of tribal customs during the royal visit here.

Now, it is believed, the hint of ridicule may spur the Maoris to greater efforts than the solicitude with which they have been treated. The Maoris have real grievances. Their housing is poorer than that of Europeans. In cities they tend to crowd together in the older quarters. In the countryside, their land is not as well managed, on the whole, as that of white farmers.

GOVERNMENT EFFORTS

The government is making vigorous efforts to solve the complicated system of Maori land tenure, under which land ownership passes down to entire families, to be divided again among their descendants until a single block of land may have hundreds of owners, each with a tiny share. The result is that with little security of tenure some areas lie completely neglected.

The government is also tackling the problem of Maori housing and welfare generally. But much depends on the response of the Maoris themselves.

Fifty years ago the number of Maoris had dwindled to about 40,000 and it was predicted the once-proud warrior race would become extinct. Gradual adoption of modern medicine and hygiene and the emergence of fine Maori leaders gave them a new pride. Today the Maori population stands at 125,000, and is increasing faster than the white population.

IN TRANSITIONAL STAGE

At present however they are still in the transitional stage. Few live in anything like the original native fashion. Except in the most remote settlements, they work in the European manner at European trades and occupations. They have produced native scientists and leaders in several fields.

But the average Maori works in the less skilled trades. They make good farmers when conditions are right, and in some districts not only operate their own farms but also have thriving co-operative dairy factories owned and controlled by Maoris.

CLING TO CUSTOMS

While some of the overseas reporters here for the royal tour concluded that the Maoris seemed to have lost heart and conviction in ancient customs, this is not the experience of many who have studied the Maoris.

Comparison with the welcomes given to the Queen, and those tendered to King George V when he visited New Zealand in 1901 as Duke of York, show the latest welcomes were a good deal nearer the ancient Maori tradition.

At the 1901 ceremonies Maoris did war dances in shirt sleeves and trousers, with cloaks slung over their shoulders. One chief appeared in a bowler hat, and another wore a flax shirt over long woollen drawers.

MORE AUTHENTIC

Compared with these, the latest welcomes were much nearer the authentic tradition. In spite of their adoption of western ways, the modern Maoris have not lost contact with the ancient past.

On the future of the race, there is disagreement. Some authorities predict the Maoris will ultimately be absorbed in the white population. They inter-marry freely among Europeans. The proportion of pure-blooded Maoris is decreasing.

Many authorities say the Maoris will continue to exist as an individual race alongside the whites. They predict the Maoris will play an increasingly useful part in the community, finding wider outlets for their high abilities as time goes on.

SEEK HOUSE SEATS—James Roosevelt, left, Democrat from California, and J. Parnell Thomas, Republican from New Jersey, have thrown their hats into the ring for this year's congressional elections. Roosevelt will seek the seat held by Rep. Samuel W. Yorty in California's 28th Congressional District. Thomas, a member of Congress for 12 years, is attempting to win back his seat after being ousted in 1949. At that time, he served 8½ months of a six-to-18 month sentence for taking "kickbacks" in pay from employees, before receiving a full pardon from former President Truman.

Compulsory Unionism Has First Defeat In Australia

By LOUIS L. LECK

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Compulsory unionism, subject recently of the hottest Australian political rumpus in years, has had its first defeat.

A young Sydney woman who objected on religious grounds to joining a union has had her objection upheld by the New South Wales industrial registrar.

New South Wales legislation compelling adult workers to belong to a union was put through by the state Labor government in the face of strong opposition, some of it in Labor's own ranks. The legislation became law in December and non-unionists were given 28 days to join, but the time limit is not being observed strictly by the government. Compulsory union has long been established in the neighboring state of Queensland.

The new law includes all employees whose work is covered by a New South Wales industrial award and some of the big unions expect to harvest a big increase in union fees. Critics of the measure have claimed that its main inspiration was the desire of the unions, translated into pressure on the government, to swell their funds and their power.

BY-ELECTION ISSUE

The critics are jubilant over the defeat of a federal Labor candidate in a by-election last month in a New South Wales country riding. In the campaign the non-Labor forces made "forced unionism" the big issue.

The law has always provided a loophole for people who object on religious grounds to being unionists. The first successful objection to the new act, therefore, was not remarkable. But it has stirred some uneasy feeling among union officials and other government supporters that objectors who aren't really religious may use the loophole to avoid joining the unions.

One suggestion is that the objections, now heard in private, should be made public hearings. The sponsors of the idea apparently feel that only objectors with really conscientious grounds would face that kind of ordeal.

What may mean more serious bother for the state Labor government is a legal challenge by half a dozen big employer organizations. They are attacking the new law on constitutional grounds. The new act says the employers must give absolute preference in employment to unionists and imposes heavy penalties on those who knowingly keep non-unionists on their payrolls.

The challenge will be heard in the High Court.

Culture-Conscious Britons Crowding Concert Halls

LONDON (Reuters)—Britons are setting records for concert-going.

The biggest attractions are Tchaikowsky and Beethoven, and though the demand is for all kinds of music, orchestral works are the favorites and a program which includes piano is almost sure of being a sell-out.

Experts say that in London alone, one group of five halls and opera houses is drawing more than 100,000 persons a week or well over 5,000,000 a year. The Royal Albert Hall seats 7,000 people and seldom has a vacant seat.

In these islands of 50,000,000 people, radio, television, the phonograph and movies appear to have had the effect not of satiating the public's musical appetite but of stimulating it.

The majority of the great British orchestras, though not all, now have some form of subsidy, which means that they are able to give concerts which would not have been economically practicable in pre-war days.

control of distribution of natural gas. The corporation offered a free service line into homes for the first year.

The pipeline was driven through from Brock soon after the 7,500 applications flooded in, well exceeding the SPC target. Also linked to the line are the towns of Rosetown and Delisle and the villages of Netherhills and Coleville and more towns are expected to be added this year.

Record mild temperatures of fall and early winter prevented an accurate comparison of costs with fuel oil and coal.

The first bills received indicated that a five-room house could be heated by gas for about $9 monthly in average early-winter weather. The biggest savings were in water-heating.

OIL SALES HIGH

Fuel oil dealers said a survey showed their sales to be as high as at the same period in 1952. The dealers disputed a SPC claim that gas would produce a 25-per-cent saving on fuel oil costs.

They added that when the cost of conversion is taken into account, there would be no saving whatsoever. Most Saskatoon residents purchased new equipment, although converted burners can be installed in present equipment at smaller cost.

The advent of natural gas has not yet had any visible effect on the city's industrial situation, but gas will be available to industry at much lower prices and on an "interruptible" basis until a steady flow from the Brock field is indicated.

At peak winter periods, services to industry could be interrupted at a moment's notice. Most Saskatoon firms have maintained other heating equipment as a standby.

Margaret Davey Heads Campbellford Club

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Margaret Davey was elected secretary of the Campbellford Business and Professional Woman's Club at the January meeting, Wednesday. Invitations were sent out to Peterbortugh, Trenton and Belleville clubs to attend Campbellford on February 4, for the observation of International night. Russia Names Envoy

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government today continued reshuffling its diplomatic corps with the announcement that Yurich K. Prichodov has been named ambassador to Bulgaria. He replaces Michhail F. Bodrov, who has been "assigned to other duties." In the last few weeks Moscow has assigned new envoys to China, Turkey, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Norway and Iceland.

U.S. President Predicts Business Boom

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today termed the United States "marvellously prosperous," predicted recovery this year from a "brief and self-correcting" business dip and pledged to use the government's vast powers to combat a depression if one should develop.

He proclaimed readines—whenever necessary to avert a depression—to cut taxes, liberalize credit and launch large-scale public works even at the cost of new deficit financing.

And he gave forceful notice, in his economic report to Congress, that it should take "bold steps" requested in his 1954 legislative program to "protect and promote economic stability."

PROTECT WORKERS

The program, he said, includes the protection of millions more workers under unemployment and old-age insurance, and bigger benefit payments; federal aid for public works planning; stimulants to housing; tax revision; highway improvement; a new farm program; and a tariff program to encourage foreign trade.

All this is "immediately advisable action," Eisenhower said, adding that if he finds more power is needed, he will ask for it promptly.

BROAD PROGRAM

Eisenhower said he now is assessing the Randall recommendations and will present a "comprehensive program" to Congress. Meantime, he said, the U. S. should join other countries in reducing "governmental interference with the free movement of goods and capital."

Missing was an expected request for an increase in the 75-cent hourly minimum wage. It was recently reported that the administration was exploring means to raise it to "a more realistic level," but Eisenhower told Congress the time is not ripe.

After a year in office, Eisenhower reported national production at a record $367,000,000,000. "Employment is high, prices are steady, and wages and profits are generally satisfactory," he said.

But "there can be no certainty" that the dip in business activity will not become a broader and deeper movement than the "Minor adjustment" thus far recorded.

Girl 8, Taken Off Seriously Ill List

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Margaret Prudum, eight-year-old London girl whose parents refused to allow a blood transfusion after she suffered a pelvic fracture and injured kidney when struck by a car Jan. 21, has been taken off the seriously ill list in War Memorial Children's Hospital.

Hospital authorities report there is no indication now that surgery will be necessary.

First Legislative Assembly For Rhodesia-Nyasaland

By ASTLEY HAWKINS

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (Reuters) — Central Africa's new federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland will enter history as a living state when its first legislative assembly meets here Feb. 2.

The federation's first election was successfully conducted Dec. 15 and its first cabinet assembled under Sir Godfrey Huggins, for 20 years prime minister of Southern Rhodesia.

The first duties of the new federal assembly, meeting temporarily in a debating chamber specially built in the gardens of the Southern Rhodesian legislative assembly, will include bills on federal finance, customs, postal facilities and the pertinent matter of a site for the permanent federal capital.

Several centres in the new federation, including the Victoria Falls town of Livingstone, on the borders of Southern and Northern Rhodesia, are bidding strongly for the honor of being the capital, but Salisbury is expected to be the final choice.

MODERN CITY

Salisbury, already the capital of Southern Rhodesia, is the most advanced city in the federation and best able in size to accommodate new federal services. The Southern Rhodesian parliament last September agreed by one vote that the territorial capital should be moved if Salisbury became the federal capital.

After measures such as an exchange control bill, an immigration act and a post office act, the federation prime minister says consideration will be given to a federal citizenship act and a federal electoral law. He has also suggested that the present 35-seat legislature be enlarged to permit two parties to be well represented.

In the first federal assembly, Huggins is assured of overwhelming support. His party won 24 of the 26 seats for elected ordinary European members. Of nine other members three, including two Africans, are pledged to him. One certain opponent will be John Dendy Young, leader of the rival Confederate party, the only one of his party elected.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Beatty gave an inspiring message "Facing the Future." She was thanked by Mrs. W. Ward, 1st vice-president, who took the chair in absence of the new president.

The meeting closed with singing "Standing at the Portal" and repeating the Mother's prayer. Lunch was served by the new executive.

Three Lepers Inhabit Lonely Island

VICTORIA (CP)—Three persons—an old man, a sailor and a rich young man—are victims of leprosy living on beautiful Bentinck island, off Vancouver island.

Dr. R. B. Jenkins, in charge, escorted a reporter over the 100-acre island. The three sufferers have no common language. The only link in speech between them is Mrs. Evelyn Worsley, a cheerful nurse from the English midlands, who has devoted her life to the care of lepers.

Nurse Worsley, who unconsciously speaks a sort of pidgin English, said she wants one thing from the public—a television set—for what she calls "Canada's loneliest people."

AGED SUFFERER

Oldest of the three victims is known as Chang, more than 70 years old, who may never leave the island. He was about to lose an eye until it was saved by treatment with cortisone. New antibiotics give relief from pain.

Chang makes his bed and sweeps his cabin, but is not permitted to cook his meals as the other lepers do, because he is likely to rest his hand on the hot stove without feeling anything.

It is expected that Chang will die and be buried in the island cemetery, to join 11 lepers who have ended their days here.

There have been as many as 13 cases at a time on Bentinck island. There are five lepers at the other colony at Tracadia, N.B.

RICH YOUNG MAN

Fung, the rich young leper, is learning English through the British Columbia postal education course. His letters go to Hong Kong and are fumigated before they leave the isle. He said his father plans to visit him soon.

Singh, the sailor, from Calcutta, was taken off ship in Victoria. He is making good recovery and probably will leave Bentinck in a few months if his employers can persuade other seamen to let him cook for himself and treat himself on board.

Mrs. Worsley cooks for old Chang and expects to end her days on the isle. She treats his wounds, wearing rubber gloves, when he injures his insensitive hands.

Dr. Jenkins said the worst thing about leprosy is "the horror the world feels about it." He said he would rather treat leprosy than tuberculosis.

Eisenhower Opposes Changes In Constitution

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has declared unalterable opposition to the constitutional amendment offered by Senator John Bricker, Republican of Ohio.

What is the Bricker amendment and what would it do?

The background: The 13 original states were held together by the articles of confederation from 1781 until the constitution was adopted in 1789.

The articles of confederation gave the states a controlling hand in any treaty the central government might make with a foreign power. There could be no treaty unless at least nine states approved. And no treaty could interfere with laws made by the individual states themselves.

But the framers of the constitution decided the central government should have full authority in dealing with other nations. So they said in article VI of the constitution—to which all the states agreed—that: ". . . All treaties shall be the supreme law of the land . . . . laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding."

Since then a treaty has become law when approved by two-thirds of the Senate and signed by the president, whatever the states' views.

EXECUTIVE AGREEMENTS

Without going through the formality of a treaty, the president and the executive branch of the government have made "executive agreements" with other governments. There is nothing in the constitution requiring Congress to approve such agreements.

In recent years groups and individuals have expressed fears that the United States government might make a treaty with some international organization, such as the United Nations, which would override state laws. For instance, on racial problems or working hours or medical care or the trial of persons accused of crimes.

There was much criticism of some of President Roosevelt's agreements, and these groups argue there should be some check.

Should the constitution be amended to provide such a check? Constitutional lawyers are divided. Bricker and the house of delegates of the American Bar Association both proposed amendments.

Before any such amendment could pass two-thirds of the Senate and House and three-fourths of the 48 states' legislatures would have to approve.

CONTROVERSIAL PARTS

Two parts of the Bricker amendment are causing the most heat.

One says: "A treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only through legislation which would be valid in the absence of treaty."

Bricker says nothing would be changed by that in the case of a treaty involving only U.S. international relations, like the North Atlantic pact. Such a treaty would still require only a two-thirds Senate vote.

But say it was a treaty establishing a uniform period of residence for divorce in all countries. In the U.S. now states have the right to make their own divorce laws.

Under the Bricker amendment, even though the Senate approved, such a divorce treaty couldn't go into effect if the states were unwilling to change their divorce laws to conform.

The other controversial clause says: "Congress shall have power to regulate all executive and other agreements with any foreign power or international organization. All such agreements shall be subject to the limitations imposed on treaties by this article."

McGill Fence Being Built To Aid Radar Defence

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — The McGill Fence now is being erected in Canada to supplement other radar defences, it was learned Wednesday.

The fence, which works on a slightly different principle than radar, does not supplant the radar gridwork but is regarded here as a means to "thicken up" the existing defences of aircraft detection and plotting.

How the fence works and its location, of course, are secret. But it can be said that the fence is not being constructed in the far north and that it is cheaper to build and operate than conventional radar stations.

The defence research board completed tests with the fence last year and turned it over to the RCAF. The air force has taken pains to keep construction and location secret.

PLAN IMPRACTICABLE

Soon after the Second World War, Canada and the United States gave some thought to the possibility of building a radar chain across the far north but such a plan was found impracticable.

Such a gridwork would be necessary to keep attacking planes under continuous observation. By the time any attackers had travelled the hundreds of miles between the first alarm and the nearest desirable target, they would be lost by the defence system.

More than two years ago, Canada and the U.S. agreed to go ahead immediately with a radar system working "upward and outward" from principal target areas, giving protection to the most vulnerable areas along the most likely points of attack.

The U.S. agreed to pay two-thirds of the cost and Canada one-third and this agreements still is in force.

It always has been recognized by officials in both countries that no radar chain could be devised which would give perfect protection.

Thus the advent of the McGill Fence, so named for its development at McGill University at Montreal, was welcomed because it is cheaper to produce and operate and requires fewer personnel to man.

The fence is regarded as probably less effective than ordinary radar but it will provide an early-alarm system at comparatively little cost. It might be said to be radar's right-hand man.

Won't Have Frills On New Schools

TORONTO (CP) — Education Minister Dunlop said Wednesday the provincial government will not reconsider giving grants to school boards for so-called "frills" on school buildings.

In a letter to the Toronto board of education's property committee, he said funds available are sufficient only to pay grants on construction of classrooms.

Replying to request from the board that the government reconsider its grant policy, he wrote:

"The government finds it quite impossible, under present conditions, to reconsider the existing policy that no grants can be paid for the construction of gymnasia, auditoriums, music rooms, art rooms, shop work rooms and home economics rooms."

Woodworkers Dispute Settled At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Settlement was reached at Queen's Park Wednesday of a dispute affecting 20,000 woods workers in northern Ontario and 18 pulp and paper companies.

The agreement between the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (AFL-TLC) and the companies came after previous efforts at conciliation failed and led to talk of strike action.

Terms of the settlement were withheld pending a formal agreement between the parties.

The union had asked for a wage increase of six cents an hour for hourly paid workers and six per cent for piece workers. The companies had originally offered a three-per-cent increase with a minimum of five cents an hour.

Fourth Settlement In Gold Strikes

TIMMINS (CP)—Fourth settlement in the eight strikes which crippled the Porcupine Gold Mining area was reached here Wednesday with the signing of a contract between Aunor Gold Mines Limited and Local 100 of Porcupine Mine Workers Union (CIO-CCL).

The contract provides for an over-all wage increase of 4.33 per cent, which the company said is equivalent to about 5 cents an hour. The mine and plant will be re-opened as quickly as possible and men will be recalled to work without discrimination.

The three strike settlements which preceded Aunor were Hollinger, McIntyre and Coniarium mines. Mines still on strike are Preston East Dome, Delnite and Hallnor.

Aunor, which went on strike in October, employs about 350 men.

James M. Anderson

James M. Anderson, 75, formerly of RR. 3, Indian River, was buried Friday in Little Lake cemetery. Services were from the Free Methodist church with the Rev. K. B. Bauder officiating. Arrangements by the Nesbitt funeral home.

Pallbearers were, Orville Wells, Nelson Parrington, Frank Fisher, George Robinson, Gwenn Reynolds, Ken Laidley and Harold Mack.

Climbers' Hazard

LONDON (CP)—Surgeon Charles Evans, 32, and Dr. Michael Ward, 28, members of the 1953 Everest expedition, told the Royal College of Surgeons that sore throats, caused by difficult breathing and lack of sleep, were the main medical problem on the epic climb.

$500,000 Fire Destroys Sudbury Block of Stores

RCAF Develops New Device

OTTAWA (CP)—A new device which can add to the surprise element in any air-borne attack has been invented by two RCAF officers, the air force disclosed today. It added that the method has been adopted by the United States Air Force. The still-secret device is a variation of a computer used by navigators during the Second World War. It enables the navigator, in a few seconds, to determine the exact moment when paratroops or para-borne supplies can be dropped accurately on selected positions. Formerly, dropping areas had to be marked by army personnel on the ground or from advance aircraft. Besides destroying the surprise element this sometimes necessitated last-second position changes of markers or flares.

The new system, in use by the RCAF for some time, was devised by Flt. Lt. J. H. Riva, 34, of Canmore, Alta. Flt. Lt. J. W. Michaud, 29, of Montreal worked with him during the latter stages of development.

EXACT CALCULATIONS

Before an aircraft has left the ground the exact time of parachuting men or supplies can be determined by calculating such things as wind drift, height, speed, rate of descent and time of free fall on the computor. Adjustments can be made, if necessary, in the air.

Riva began work on the computor in 1950 while serving at the Canadian joint air training centre at Rivers, Man. He now is command navigation officer at tactical air command, Edmonton.

He joined the RCAF in 1941, trained as a navigator-bomb-aimer and served with No. 38 RAF torpedo squadron in the Middle East and Palestine. On completion of his tour, he returned to Britain as navigation instructor at various operational training units.

Flt. Lt. Michaud joined the RCAF in 1942 and flew with No. 6 RCAF bomber group in Britain. He served in the early days of the Korean airlift and for the last year has been at the Rivers training centre.

Gouzenko Tags Zaroubin As Man To Watch Carefully

WASHINGTON (AP)—Igor Gouzenko, the Soviet embassy code clerk who tipped off authorities to a spy ring in Canada, has tagged Georgi N. Zaroubin, Soviet ambassador to the United States, as a man to be watched. Gouzenko was interviewed in Canada by columnist Drew Pearson. The interview was filmed for television use and the transcript made public here today.

Pearson brought out in his questioning that Zaroubin was ambassador to Canada while Gouzenko, before his desertion in 1945, was handling coded intelligence messages to Moscow.

KNEW GENERAL SET-UP

Gouzenko spoke of the Soviet espionage organization in Canada and said Zaroubin "knew about the general set-up; he didn't know, of course, about details."

Pearson asked, "would you consider him a dangerous man to have in Washington. . . ?

"I would suggest to watch him, to be careful," Gouzenko replied.

Police Action Saves 3 Lives

HAMILTON (CP) — Prompt action by a cruising police sergeant Thursday probably saved the lives of three members of a Welland family, overcome by car fumes here.

Sgt. William Anderson noticed the car stalled near the high level bridge at the western entrance to the city. He found a man standing near the car holding a girl who appeared to be sick. Inside were a young man and a boy overcome by carbon monoxide fumes.

Anderson called fire department inhalator crews, who worked on Vincenze Bombino, 18, and two of her brothers, Joseph, 21, and John, 14, for several minutes before taking them to hospital.

Natale Bombino, 22, another brother and driver of the car, was not affected by the fumes, believed to have come from a leaky muffler.

He told police they had gone to Toronto in the morning and purchased a used car. Near Hamilton his sister became sick and then he noticed his brothers were asleep.

Senator Hushion Dies Suddenly

MONTREAL (CP)—Senator William J. Hushion died suddenly at his home in suburban Westmount Thursday night. He was 70.

Senator Hushion, in failing health for more than a year, had been a Quebec representative in the Senate since 1940. Previously, he had been a Liberal member of the House of Commons for Montreal St. Ann from 1924 to 1930 when he was defeated in a general election.

He was re-elected to the Commons in 1935.

Mr. Hushion was a member of the Quebec legislature in 1923 and an alderman in Montreal for 14 years.

Survivors include his widow, the former Winnifred Dempsey, a daughter and two sons, all of Montreal.

Death of Senator Hushion leaves the Senate standing at: Liberals 79; Progressive Conservatives 7; vacant 16; total 102.

Flaming Shanty Death Trap

BARRIE (CP) — Trapped in a flaming fish shanty 100 yards off shore on Kempenfelt bay, Robert Kenton, 44, died today as he attempted to dive to safety.

Police believe that Kenton, a painter from Angus, 15 miles west of here, had fallen asleep before the fire started. From the body's position they said that Kenton might have tried to dive headfirst through one of the plywood sides of the shanty, striking his head on a sled outside the building, and knocking himself out.

Cause of the blaze, not yet determined, is believed to have been the explosion of an overheated stove, showering oil over the entrance, police said.

Coroner Dr. Frank Shannon of Barrie examined the body and identification was made by a brother, George Kenton.

Say Cyclone Heading For Gothic

Predict Royal Couple May Have Very Uncomfortable Trip

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—A tropical cyclone is moving into the path of the royal liner Gothic and is expected to hit the Tasman sea on Monday as Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh near the Australian coast, the Melbourne weather bureau reported today (Saturday in Australia).

A weather bureau spokesman said the cyclone could whip up heavy seas and make the last stages of the Gothic's voyage to Australia "very uncomfortable." He said the cyclone formed 400 miles east of Brisbane and is rolling slowly south.

"It will cross the Gothic's course if it keeps due south," he said. "That would mean fierce winds, very rough seas and thick mist."

QUEEN SAYS FAREWELL

INVERCARGILL, N.Z. (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth bade farewell to the people of New Zealand tonight in a radio broadcast and told them she and the Duke of Edinburgh "enjoyed every moment of our stay."

The Queen, who leaves for Australia Saturday, said she and the duke depart "with sorrow."

"But we also look forward to the day when we shall once more be able to visit your shores."

She thanked the people for making her visit "so pleasant and so memorable," and concluded:

"May God bless New Zealand and watch over the destinies of her people."

The Queen's last day here was a crowded one. It included a civic reception and visits to Kew hospital and Invercargill's Royal Agricultural Show, where she saw Highland dancing competitions.

AWARDED MEDALS

While the Queen was here the government announced that she had awarded medals to four heroes of the Christmas Eve Tangiwai rail disaster, in which 136 persons were killed.

Arthur Cyril Ellis and John Warren Holman received the George Medal, Britain's highest civilian award for bravery, for saving 21 persons after five coaches of the express train plunged from a broken bridge into a flooded river.

Trainman William Ian Inglis and Arthur Dewar Bell, a passing motorist who joined the rescue work, were awarded the British Empire Medal.

Northern Ontario Dark After Truck Accident

MATHESON, Ont. (CP) — The lights went out temporarily in a 125-mile-long section of northern Ontario from Cochrane to Hearst Thursday night when a heavy tractor-trailer plunged 200 feet down an embankment, uprooted hydro poles and felled high tension wires.

The truck, owned by Exeter Produce and Storage of Hamilton, was damaged to the extent of $9,000 after it careened off a road near this town 40 miles east of Timmins and finally stopped on the bank of the Watebeag river.

Driver Garnet Nichols, 26, of Hamilton, was unhurt.

The Spruce Falls Power and Paper Company generated electricity to Cochrane, Kapuskasing, Hearst and points in between while the hydro line was being repaired.

Mrs. Mary Bell Gets Remand

BELLEVILLE (CP)—Mrs. Mary Bell, 48, charged with the murder of her husband Percy Warner Bell, today was remanded to Hastings county jail for another week.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills issued the remand after a five-minute hearing. The hearing, in the Belleville police station, attracted about 30 spectators.

Alex Hall of Oshawa, special prosecutor, appeared for the crown and asked for the remand. He said he heard the whole story for the first time from Inspector Frank Kelly of the Ontario provincial police Thursday evening. The crown required more time.

Ronald W. Cass appeared with John Lennox on behalf of Mrs. Bell. He said it was a good time to set a firm date for the preliminary hearing.

Magistrate Wills suggested March 22. A definite date may be set next Friday.

Cemetery Full—Crisis

BRONTE, Ont. —(CP)— Reeve Alfred Jennings told Bronte council on Thursday night that another death in this village of 1,100 will cause a crisis. The cemetery is filled to capacity. Council instructed the property committee to seek more land around Bronte, 12 miles north of Hamilton, for cemetery use. The majority of Bronte dead in the past were buried in nearby Oakville cemetery but the town recently restricted plots to Oakville residents and now Bronte faces a situation that is "desperate", Mr. Jennings said.

CBC Reserves Decision On TV Station

MONTREAL (CP) — The 11-member CBC board of governors today reserved decision on two applications for a privately-owned television station on Channel 12 in Peterborough, Ont.

The applicants were Kawartha Broadcasting Company, Limited, and Herb May, Toronto radio announcer.

Also considered was a request by radio station CKNW, New Westminster, B. C., for a licence to establish a satellite transmitter at Cloverdale, B. C.

A. D. Dunton, chairman, said decisions on the applications will be made public in Ottawa, "quite likely Monday morning." Following the public session, the board met privately.

FUNDS DESCRIBED

Representatives for Mr. May said funds now on hand total $425,000—described as enough to carry on operations successfully for several years. Mr. May and his associates would be ready to meet expenses of $600,000.

The application of Kawartha Broadcasting was sponsored by H. L. Garner of Peterborough.

Mr. Garner representing a group which includes Senator W. Rupert Davies and Roy H. Thomson, both of whom have newspaper and radio interests, said whatever capital and funds are necessary will be supplied.

The application had the support of the citizens of Peterborough, he said. This statement was backed by Mayor N. Graham of Peterborough.

Father Finds Son Dead In Snowbank

WEXFORD, Ont. (CP)—A father found his six-year-old son dead in a snowbank outside his home here Thursday.

Norman Steane discovered the body of his son David when he saw two feet sticking out of the snowbank in this community about 10 miles northeast of Toronto.

The father said the sight of the boy's feet protruding from the snowbank sent "a cold, horrible shudder up my back."

The child had apparently been playing in the snow, pushed himself into the snowbank and was unable to get out.

POSED AS ADDICT—Dorothy Lea, 26, pretty policewoman with the Toronto morality division posed for six months in the Toronto underworld as a drug addict to trap narcotics peddlers. As a result of her work, six members of an alleged narcotics-peddling ring were arrested by RCMP and Toronto police. 5 Firemen Blown Out Of Building

Live Wire Hampers Men Fighting Blaze For About 2 Hours

SUDBURY —(CP)— Fire of unknown origin destroyed a block of four stores here today. Five firemen were injured and damage was estimated at $500,000.

The blaze broke out about 2 a.m. in a bowling alley on the top floor of a two-storey building housing the four stores. Flames spread quickly to an A and P grocery store below.

Most of Sudbury's fire-fighting equipment was sent to the scene

THROWN THROUGH GLASS

Five firemen, including Chief William Andrews, were fighting flames inside the grocery store when an explosion rocked the store. It threw the five men through the front plate glass window.

Fireman Gordon Emmerson was admitted to hospital with an injured wrist, and fireman Albert Lapalme was admitted after he suffered from choking smoke. Chief Andrews and two other men suffered minor cuts.

Firemen investigated the ruins of the building today for a clue to the cause of the blaze. Walter Tate, the building's owner, said he believed it may have started from a discarded cigarette left in the bowling alley after it closed.

The blast sent flames racing through two other stores, a restaurant and laundry.

Mr. Tate estimated loss at $400,000 to $500,000.

The fire could be seen in most parts of the city. Sparks showered on nearby buildings but none caught fire.

CHIEF'S CLOSEST CALL

"I've fought many fires, but this was the closest call I've ever had," said Andrews, chief of the Sudbury fire department for 25 years. "Deputy Bob Scott and I were in the building when it blew. The next thing I knew someone was picking me up from the pavment."

The chief's overcoat was spattered with blood. But he escaped with only a small gash in the right arm. The blood possibly was from one of the other firemen.

Firemen were hampered by a 2,200-volt hydro line that burned through and fell to the street in front of the building. The live wire sparked on the ground for two hours before hydro crews managed to disconnect the power.

PAINTER GAVE ALARM

The fire was first noticed by a painter, Conny Loiselle, working in the restaurant. He went out about 2 a. m. to see whether police had tagged his car for overnight parking and noticed smoke from the second floor.

Bidault Offers Counter Plan On Disarmament

BERLIN (AP)—French Foreign Minister Bidault called today for a United Nations disarmament conference provided all hostilities such as the Indo-China war are first ended and aggression outlawed. The French minister introduced a resolution to that effect in the fifth session of the Big Four Berlin conference. His resolution countered a disarmament conference proposal made Thursday by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov. Molotov asked the Big Four to sponsor a world-wide disarmament meeting which would include Red China and other states that are not now members of the United Nations.

Bidault's motion urged that the four powers "undertake to join their efforts in the disarmament commission of the UN to permit this commission to achieve agreements on the general principles of disarmament which would enable the summoning of a general disarmament conference, under conditions promising success, in accordance with the resolution of the UN General Assembly Jan. 11, 1952."

BERLIN (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden submitted to the Big Four conference today a five-stage plan for the unification of Germany "and the conclusion of a freely negotiated peace treaty." His plan — understood to have the full support of France and the United States—specified that "free and secret elections should be held throughout Germany, including Berlin, at the earliest possible date."

MOLOTOV NIXES DULLES

State Secretary Dulles, chairman today, proposed at the start that the conference turn to the next item on the agenda, namely Germany.

Molotov refused. Bidault then submitted his resolution.

The UN resolution of Jan. 11, 1952, established a disarmament commission and provided for the eventual calling of a world disarmament conference to be attended by all nations. But East-West clashes prevented the commission from making any progress toward a world conference.

Bidault did not suggest a date or period of time for the conference. Molotov had proposed that a disarmament meeting be held this year.

After Bidault, Foreign Secretary Eden took the floor, indicating that whether the West likes it or not the conference faces a full-scale debate on disarmament.

REGAIN INITIATIVE

Bidault's move apparently gave the West the initiative again at the conference which Thursday was dominated by Molotov's renewed attempts to get Red China to a big-power conference.

Slasher Strikes Again, Laughs At One Victim

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's slasher, described by police and psychiatrists as a sex maniac, struck again today.

A 27-year-old unidentified woman told police the slasher cut her leg with a sharp instrument while she was waiting for a street-car in downtown Montreal. A man brushed beside her, she said, and then she noticed her leg was bleeding. She was taken to hospital for treatment.

Meantime, harrassed police checking and rechecking every clue said they are convinced that some of the 15 slashings reported since last Friday were not the work of the slasher. Some of the less serious cases, they said, could be blamed on publicity-seekers or on overly-jittery women.

ADDS NEW TWIST

The slasher, terror of the city for a week, added a new twist to his phantom attacks Thursday night by laughing in the face of one of his victims.

Mae Meikle, 21, found a new side to the slasher's character Thursday night after she alighted from an escalator at Central station, in the heart of the city.

Walking along a quiet street, Miss Meikle was accosted by a man who said:

"There's blood on your leg."

He stood a short time with the girl, feigning concern, then threw back his head, laughed and ran.

The girl told police she believed the man cut her on the escalator and then followed her out to the street.

Say Prosecutors Gave Consent

DETROIT (AP)—Attorneys for Carl Renda, named as the "pay-off" man in the Walter Reuther shooting case, today accused prosecutors of having consented to the $5,000 reward given key witness Donald Ritchie.

Joseph W. Louisell, one of Renda's attorneys, made the charge at a preliminary examination hearing before recorder's judge John P. O'Hara.

"You're a liar!" Wayne county prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien shouted at Louisell when he heard the charge.

Renda was charged with assault with intent to kill and with conspiracy to murder as the result of Ritchie's statements on the shooting.

Re-Elect Tito Unanimously Will Do Business With All

BELGRADE (AP)—President Tito was re-elected unanimously by parliament today after proclaiming Yugoslavia's willingness to do business with all nations—including Russia and the Soviet satellites—on a basis of "mutual respect." The 61-year-old chief of this Communist state, his hair markedly more grey than a year ago and his voice rasping occasionally from a severe cold, was given an ovation as he delivered a 70,000-word parliamentary message before his election.

He pledged that Yugoslavia will pursue an independent path in its foreign policy "despite friendly overtures from Russia since Stalin's death. Simultaneously he made it clear that he would not part company with the West, which came to his country's aid after its break with the Cominform in 1948.

He referred to what he termed "some malicious guessing" in the West that Yugoslavia might return to the Soviet camp despite the 1948 break. He called such allegations "false."

BULLETIN

LINDSAY (ENS)—Fire today made a family of five homeless when flames destroyed their four-room apartment on Pottinger St. Damage is estimated at $1,000 to the building owned by Mrs. Leona Russell of Toronto and $1,000 to the property of the tenants, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Perry.

New Anti-Unemployment Committee Expected To Ask Cabinet Meeting

OTTAWA (CP)—The first move of a new anti-unemployment committee of Canada's two largest labor congresses is expected to be a request for a meeting with cabinet members.

The committee was set up jointly this week by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and the Canadian Congress of Labor to draft plans for pressing governments at all levels for action to ease the impact of rising unemployment.

It was the first joint action in three years by the rival congresses, who said in a statement Tuesday, after their meeting, that unemployment is the biggest problem facing the country.

The top-level committee of the two congresses will not be meeting until early next week, but informants in both congresses say it likely will propose first a meeting with key members of the federal government.

This is not expected to develop until after Feb. 11, when the unemployment committee reports to a larger joint body set up by the TLC and CCL on co-operation generally.

ASK FOR IDEAS

Apart from trying to put heat on the cabinet, the congresses, with a total membership of 955,000, will be sending out suggestions to their affiliates across the country to bring their ideas to the attention of provincial and municipal governments.

Background material, it is expected, will be prepared in the Ottawa headquarters of the congresses and sent out to the affiliates.

Informants indicated pressure will be applied heavily on the federal government to start an expanded program of public works.

Labor Minister Gregg said Monday no great expansion is proposed for this purpose.

Another point to be emphasized in the TLC-CCL submissions, it is expected, is that provincial and municipal governments should take more advantage of proffered federal aid for housing built under joint government agreements.

The unions also will bring in the idea of more social security measures as adding to the "built-in stabilizers" which government economic experts say the government has set up to counteract slackening in economic activity.

Defence Appropriations Will Be Cut About 5 Per Cent During This Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence appropriations will be cut about five per cent this year, an authoritative source says.

That means that Finance Minister Abbott will ask Parliament to vote some $1,900,000,000 for defence in the fiscal year starting April 1 compared with appropriations of $2,000,000,000 for each of the last two years.

The $100,000,000 cut might have provided a slight break for the taxpayer except that the saving probably will be eaten up by other departments whose requirements will be heavier than in the current fiscal year.

The reduction in defence appropriations will not mean any slackening in Canada's defence effort. It will merely reflect the fact that stockpiles of many soft goods now are large enough to meet foreseeable needs and that major construction, such as airfields and barracks, is over the hump.

No major reduction in defence costs is seen for the next several years at least if Canadians want their armed forces maintained at present strength—110,000 personnel—or increased.

PLANES TOP ITEMS

More than one-fifth of the defence budget—some $400,000,000—will go for aircraft and aircraft engines. Canada will re-equip its RCAF division in Europe with later-type Sabre jet fighters—they will have Canadian instead of American engines—and continue to build up squadron strength of the all-weather CF-100 jet interceptors at home.

The RCAF is expected, as last year, to get more of the defence dollar than the navy and army combined. Last year, the RCAF got 41.7 per cent of defence appropriations, the army 22.7 per cent and the navy 14.8.

Farm Federation May Request Investigation

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Twenty-seven directors of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, cleaning up loose ends of the 18th annual meeting, today will decide whether to seek a government investigation into fertilizer prices.

They may also ask for government funds to investigate the food value of margarine and dairy substitutes.

Resolutions asking for the two investigations were among those left over from the public sessions of the week-long federation convention.

The directors are also expected to approve a resolution calling for higher floor prices for eggs and an end to speculative trading in coarse grains. These resolutions were two of many passed during the public sessions.

PRICES INCREASE

The resolution on fertilizer prices says ammonium nitrate fertilizer was produced by a government plant for $54 a ton during the Second World War. Since the war the price had risen to $70 and $80 a ton under private ownership of the plant.

The dairy substitutes resolution asks for more money from federal and provincial departments of agriculture to carry out research work on the nutritional value of dairy substitutes. Information from the research should be made available to the public, the resolution says.

The federation elected Thursday H. H. Hannam of Ottawa president of the 400,000 member farm body for his 14th term. W. J. Parker of Winnipeg and J. A. Marion of Montreal were named vice-presidents.

The public session called for a three-cent increase in the federal floor price for eggs in storage to bring it to 45 cents a dozen, including storage charges. The government was also asked to find a way to set a floor price at the producer level.

HOG SURPLUUS

The hog committee predicted a surplus of hogs this year and asked the federal government for price support and help in marketing surpluses. Delegates approved a recommendation that the price differential between grade A and grade B1 hogs be increased.

Trading in coarse grains on the speculative market by the Canadian wheat board provoked a discussion. The final vote asked the board to stop using the speculative market.

K. Betzner of Waterloo said eastern cattle feeders favor elimination of speculative trading.

Roy C. Marler of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture said: "I believe the greatest speculation is taking place among eastern wholesale houses marketing grain to eastern feeders."

Vestry Meeting Held In Roseneath

ROSENEATH (ENS)—"Hold up the light that has been entrusted to you and pass it on," was the challenge given by the Rev. A. J. Patstone, rector of St. James' Anglican church, to the congregation in an address at the annual vestry meeting held on Tuesday evening.

The meeting was held in the township hall, the rector presiding, with Miss Nelda Brown as vestry clerk. This congregation marked its ninetieth anniversary during the past year. In presenting the parish report, the rector congratulated the people and the wardens on the splendid appearance of the church, the well-kept grounds and cemetery adjoining the church. Twenty families worship at this church and the are 44 communicants.

People's warden Herbert J. McCracken reported synod allotments met in full, a new oil heater for the church had been purchased and paid for, paid $111.00 toward a new well at the rectory and a donation to the extension fund of the Anglican church.

The auditors' report was presented by Ray McCracken.

See Fireworks In U.K. Debate On Rifle Choice

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, who has fired both weapons involved in the current rifle controversy, is expected to lead personally the counter-attack Monday against a Labor motion censuring the choice of a Belgian weapon to rearm the British Army.

The Labor opposition tabled the motion of censure Thursday. It's a full-scale attempt to defeat the government over the matter of selecting the .300-calibre Belgian rifle in place of the British rifle developed under the Socialists and strongly put forward by Churchill himself last year as a suitable weapon for North Atlantic Treaty Organization armament.

Fireworks are expected Monday. Labor leader Clement Attlee, his deputy, Herbert Morrison, and the former defence minister, Emanuel Shinwell, among others, will speak for Labor.

Sir Winston is convinced that the government has done the right thing.

BUTTS IN DISPUTE

One controversial matter is butts. The Belgian weapon has a solid wooden one. The British rifle, originally designed as .280 calibre but recalibrated at .300 for tests, has a shoulder-fitting steel frame.

Debate Tuesday brought out that the government thinks the Belgian butt will fit better into training. "Remember that the butt is very important when you have no ammunition," said Churchill, who said he was calling on 60 years of rifle knowledge.

Attlee countered that the Belgian weapon "appears to anyone who has used a rifle to have all sorts of bits and pieces put on it before you can even use the bayonet."

UNEXPLAINED REFERENCE

Churchill replied that "Canada has taken the greatest interest in this, but it is a difficult and complicated matter to argue about." He did not elaborate.

Churchill said he had pressed the British rifle on the United States to no avail.

Britain has ordered 5,000 of the Belgian rifles, Canada 2,000.

Both the British and Belgian rifle are self-loading and of higher velocity than the .303 now used by the British.

Screen Suggested To Protect Lights

Reports that boys were breaking street lights on Parkhill Road with air rifles and stones have led the city to ask the utilities commission if they can provide the lights with protective screening.

Ald. Harold Rehill, chairman of committee, told the committee Thursday the fire, water and light comday afternoon that he had been told that one light was broken at the railway track near Jackson Park and another on the hill near Fairbairn St.

Fire Chief Bill Sorrie added that boys had broken 21 windows of the Bellevue St. station.

Ald. Stan McBride moved that the PUC be asked to provide protective screens and added that the police department be requested to give "a little more surveillance to the Parkhill district."

Norwood Fair Directors Happy About '53 Progress

From a treasury credit of $112.50, mostly new membership fees in 1946, to capital assets of more than $75,000 today with only $4,922.89 against it, has been the recent rapid progress of the Norwood Fair as shown in the financial statement at the annual meeting of its East Peterborough Agricultural Society Thursday night.

"I'd like to move a vote of appreciation to our president and the other officers and directors for the wonderful work they have done," said Gordon Parker. "I felt proud of you directors this year in the way you went ahead to such outstanding success. You showed you were worthy of our new standing as a Class B fair. The big attendance, the exhibits, and all the rest of it impressed everybody."

"I don't always agree with G. A. Brethen, but I can see him yet working from daylight to dark out on the fair grounds last summer, and I believe in giving credit where credit is due."

The Parker motion was carried with a burst of applause.

DIRECTORS

The directors elected Thursday night are: G. A. Brethen, Ivan Begg, Arnold Stevenson, Bert S. Lochhead, Alf Elmhirst, Max Scott, Sam Buck, George Shonicker, Robert Hope, Milton Cornish, Gordon Parker, Harold Stinson, Orland Brown, George Millett, Ron Webster, Hilliard Neilson, Eldon Van Volkenberg, Rod Webb.

The new directors held their first meeting after the adjournment of the society's session at midnight, and re-elected their officers: president, G. A. Brethen; 1st vice-president, Rod Webb; 2nd vice-president, Ivan Begg; secretary-treasurer, David McNeil.

Auditor R. A. Dean included this tribute in his preface to the financial statement:

"While this report indicates a deficit in capital expenditure of slightly less than $5,000, I am assured (and of my own knowledge) am well aware that the society is the proud owner of permanent quarters consisting of land, buildings and equipment to the value of well over $75,000.

I feel that the society is to be congratulated upon the vast progress made during this period. I sincerely trust that the coming year will continue to bring forth results both beneficial to your patrons and, in a financial way, beyond your expectations."

$3,296 SURPLUS

The financial statement showed a surplus of $3,296.22 in the operation of the fair in 1953.

The fair began the year with a bank credit of $2,913.53; donations amounted to $1,071.

Federal government grants: judges $155, corn crop competition $50, oat crop competition $50; total $255.

Provincial grants, feature events, $1,386.

Municipal grants: County of Peterborough $400; Norwood $200; Asphodel $100; Dummer $50; Belmont-Methuen $50; Otonabee $25, amounting to $825.

Advertising space in prize list $230.

Gate receipts $5,092; concessions $1,036.50, entertainment such as dance, concert, etc., $475.

Stake fees, horseshow, $105. Membership fees $305. Entry fees $989.01; sundry items $101.85.

Receipts: from auction sale $2,657.45; Hereford calves $5,132.43; from Beaver oats $462.50; amounting to $8,252.38. Total receipts, $23,038.26.

Prize money paid $6,422.50, which was featured by $4,292.15 to all classes of livestock.

Judges' fees $217; printing and advertising $1,110.51; administration $1,349.82.

Association fees $27; insurance $387.45; water, light and power $188.45.

Entertainment, band, public address system, piano rental etc., $477.94.

Labor, re fair days $131.72.

Meals $162.50; police $140; ribbons $168.35; starting gate $100.

Trials of speed (races) $666.06; sundry $95.52; expenses re auction sale $2,486.19; Hereford calves (gross cost) $5,145.03; Beaver oats $466. Total expenditures $19,742.04.

The statement of capital position has already been mentioned, and Mr. Brethen said the society had the use of the armoury on the grounds, from the Department of National Defence; and the use of some six acres for parking space, by the co-operation of the District High School Board.

Mr. Brethen said the Norwood Fair's success had been promoted by a large number of well wishers within and beyond the county of Peterborough.

$5,090 GATE

"On behalf of the directors, we thank them all," Mr. Brethen said. "Our gate receipts were $5,090. Up to 1951, we never took in half that money at the gate. Last year it was $1,600 more than the year before.

"This was our first year as a Class B fair, and also a two-day show. We had to go into two days because our program was too big for one. If we had held to one day, I don't know where we would have put all the horses and cattle."

Mr. Brethen recalled the circumstances of the revival of the far in 1946 after suspension all through the war. Only a few people turned out at meetings called to consider re-organization.

Then it was decided to make one more call to the public. The result was big attendance and enthusiasm to take the step of revival.

"We were washed out in 1948, but we took that step in our stride, paid all the prize money, and went on. We have the goodwill of the federal and provincial Departments of Agriculture because we conduct our Fair the way they think a fair should be carried on. We are grateful to the departments and their representatives."

Mr. Brethen said he had faithful support from the directors.

Ken Best, assistant agricultural representative, congratulated the society on its material development and solicited whole-hearted interest of the society and the people of East Peterborough as a whole in the Junior Farmers and the 4-H Clubs.

JUNIOR FARMERS

"Just one year ago you had your first Junior Farmer organization. Since then they have been doing well and we ask your personal and financial support for them. Be sure and give them something to do, particularly at your Fair, for they learn confidence by doing," Mr. Best said.

"The Junior Farmers and the 4-H Club boys and girls are the men and women to carry on the fair of the future. I am hoping to see the day when they will be able to put on their own fair and just as big a show as Norwood Fair. At least it is a possibility. We are happy to have had the support of Norwood Fair. Their work is not just a Department of Agriculture project. It is a community project that can do its work best when it is fully recognized and assisted by everyone. I hope you will suggest and recommend these clubs to young people, and take an interest in them afterward."

Earl Hamblin's color motion picture of the 1953 fair recaptured its autumn glory and its crowd and bustle. They were run three times, the second at the request of some persons who wished to see again some of the details. Finally, the third show was for the group of scrutineers who were absent from the room counting the ballots for the election of directors.

Hounds and shotgun men are having a difficult time scaring up game. The cottontail and swamp rabbit, which abounded in the numerous swamps in this region a few years ago, have all but disappeared. A few hunters are resorting to high powered rifles in an attempt to bag the more wary and fast moving jack rabbit. One of the reasons for the decrease of rabbits, is said to be the increase of fox.

However, there was still no indication when the discussions would get around to items No. 2 and 3 on the agenda—German unification and Austrian independence.

Molotov seemed to be willing to talk about almost anything else.

U.S. sources viewed the new disarmament proposal as a Soviet propaganda trick to impress China and to put new pressure on the West for a meeting by-passing the United Nations, which won't admit Peiping.

The Soviet Union has made many disarmament proposals in the United Nations in the past. The West has turned them all down as paper promises rather than secure safeguards.

Further discussion of the Russian proposal for Big Five talks was put off after Dulles proposed that the Big Four take up the question in secret sessions apart from their work on Germany and Austrian independence. The secret get-together, he said, could start not later than Thursday.

Molotov finally indicated acceptance of this idea, but reserved the right to put forward again his idea earlier Thursday that a committee be appointed to seek understanding on the Big Five question.

The result of all the manoeuvring is that the Big Five idea remains a live issue before the conference. It also leaves Far Eastern problems centring on China open for discussion.

And it affords Molotov full opportunity for behind-the-scenes bargaining, as opposed to the Western position that each issue should be decided on its merits.

Western authorities would not be surprised to see Molotov take the line that unless the west agrees to meet with China, solutions will be difficult in Europe. Or he might hint at concessions in the Far East in exchange for Western yielding on Germany.

CHILDREN AIDED

Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals gained.

The building, owned by J. Walter Tate, was opened in May, 1951. Tate, who was at the scene of the fire most of the night, said he intends to rebuild.

At the height of the fire the adjoining building, owned by radio station CHNO, was in danger. Station owner Baxter Ricard and manager Rene Riel prepared to remove records, files, program dialogue and other essentials for operating the out-of-town transmitter but the danger passed.

U.K. Technicians Fearful Of U.S. TV Imports

LONDON (AP)—Plans to show films of American television shows such as "I Love Lucy" on British TV screens brought cries of foul today from British film technicians.

Their union—the Association of the Cine-Technicians—decided to ask the government to refuse import licences. But, said a source at the board of trade, which controls such things, import licences probably aren't needed, since the films might come in under the British-American film agreement.

Ronnie Waldman, chief of BBC television light entertainment, returned three months ago from a visit to the United States.

Wednesday he told newspaper men:

"I hope negotiations with American companies for films of some of the top drama and comedy shows will be completed soon."

He would not say which shows he hoped to get, but some reports later mentioned the popular "I Love Lucy," starring Lucille Ball.

BBC officials said, today, however:

"Lucille Ball is dynamic, but her show is much too expensive for us. We are spending public money and we must make it go as far as we possibly can."

Will Investigate Camp Death

NORTH BAY (CP) — Ontario provincial police left today for a lumber camp in the Elk Lake area north of here to investigate an accident that caused the death of Fred Geffler, 28-year-old lumberjack.

Geffler, believed to be a native of Manitoba, died in Haileybury hospital late Wednesday night. He was flown to Haileybury by a Timiskaming airways plane Wednesday but died as a result of severe internal injuries.

OPP Constable Bud Soroka at Elk Lake said last night that little information is available as to how Geffler was injured. One report said the man was driving a team of horses when a trace chain broke and the whipple-tree smashed back into the man's stomach.

Skidding Cars Crumple Fenders In City Streets

Several minor accidents on city streets Wednesday resulted in a few crumpled fenders but no injuries. Although charges may be laid in some instances, most of the crashes came as a result of slippery road conditions.

About $450 damage was caused when cars driven by Charles Warner, 24, RR 10, Peterborough, and Michael Condon, 26, 650 Rogers St., collided at Queen and Simcoe Sts.

Warner had been driving west on Simcoe St. and Condon, south on Queen St., when the accident occurred.

Pulling out to avoid a turning truck, Carl Johnson, 21, of Chemong Park, smashed his car into a telephone pole Wednesday. The vehicle sustained $300 damage. The accident occurred at the intersection of Monaghan Rd. and Chamberlain St.

Two cars sustained a total of $200 when one skidded into the rear of a second at Lansdowne and Park Sts. Lyle Peterson, 32, 279 Swanston Ave., was stopped at the corner and Gordon Hunt, 31, 620 Monaghan Rd., skidded from behind and struck his car.

Break Sound Barrier In Sarnia Area

SARNIA (CP) — A hurtling U. S. fighter plane, identified as an F-86D Sabre jet from the Selfridge airfield base in Michigan cracked the sound barrier over Lake Huron near here Thursday.

Windows rattled and many explosion-conscious district residents ran into their yards to see what happened. The blast was heard for several miles in an area approximately five miles northeast of the city.

In August last year, a similar blast sent district police on a frantic search of the Indian reserve area.

Worst Winter In Four Years

Thaw Eases Cold In Canadian West

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winter has swung its force to eastern Canada after giving the West its worst blast in four years.

Ontario and the Maritimes struggled today through a foot and more of snow while the Prairies and British Columbia enjoyed a "thaw" after more than two weeks of sub-zero temperatures.

Western Canada's 16-day cold wave has caused 27 deaths, directly or indirectly, while one death has been reported in the Maritimes.

A CPR diesel locomotive plunged 150 feet down an embankment after hitting a snowslide 114 miles east of Vancouver. The four crew members were injured but none of the passenger coaches left the rails.

MAJOR DISRUPTIONS

Gales and 18 inches of snow caused major disruptions in New Brunswick Thursday. Planes were grounded in Saint John and other transportation services ran behind schedule.

Milder air moved into southern Alberta and most of Saskatchewan Thursday to end the cold spell. Warmest spot was Claresholm, Alta., with 36 above zero. Temperatures ranged from 12 above at Moose Jaw to zero at Saskatoon.

The threat of flooding eased in British Columbia, especially in the Fraser valley and New Westminster, which had a record snowfall of 56 inches in 14 days. It was 42 above in Vancouver.

106 LEFT HOMELESS

At least 106 persons have been left homeless in Ontario fires and a Canadian National Railways derailment during the storm near Peterborough blocked the line.

Drifting snow blocked highways in Prince Edward Island and Cape Breton island and stopped operations at three mines of the Old Sydney Collieries.

Ferry services between Borden, P.E.I., and Cape Tormentine, N.B., in Northumberland strait, and Digby, N.S., and Saint John, in the Bay of Fundy, were cancelled.

Must Improve Forest Management

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada must improve its forest management or it will lose several potential markets for wood products, Dr. John S. Bates Thursday night told the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association's technical section.

Dr. Bates, a Montreal consulting engineer, said federal and provincial government authorities should confer with paper companies and members of the industry to plan improvement in forest policy and make Canada stronger in world wood markets.

"Other countries are building up the future of their own forests and using raw materials which formerly were wasted," he said.

IMMENSE SURGE

Dr. Bates said Canada's rising population, combined with "a vigorous sales effort" would bring about an "immense surge" in the domestic market for pulp and paper products.

Wood costs at present were alarming but a fine start had been made in recent years to lower costs.

"Nothing less than a revolutionary change in pulpwood harvesting in the next decade must be the industry's aim," he said.

Your Children's Aid Society

A Weekly Column Written in the Interest of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society

Mr. and Mrs. Smithson do not understand why they cannot have Tom and Jane, who are at the children's home, as foster children. But the children's aid society know Mr. and Mrs. Smithson. They think they will be good foster parents, but they are not the right parents for Tom and Jane. To find the right home for a child is one of the more important and more difficult jobs of the society. A child taken from his own home is going to have trouble getting used to a new home. That is why it is so necessary to find understanding foster parents.

How are these foster parents chosen? What are the necessary qualifications? Of all the important factors the foremost is a sincere interest in children.

It takes several visits and interviews to determine if this factor and others are present in the home. Will the parents treat the society children the same as their own? Will their own children be jealous and rejecting of a strange child in their home? Will the parents be understanding and not too demanding? Will they accept supervision from the society in the care of the child? By the time these questions have been carefully considered and answered, the society and the parents know each other pretty well. If each party accepts the other, that home is ready to receive a child.

The children's aid society stresses that while certain standards of accommodation are necessary, the chief concern is not the income or the house furnishings, but the feelings and attitudes of the foster parents.

Even when the home, like the Smithsons', has been accepted, there may still be a delay in placing a child. The society feels a great responsibility to both foster parents and the children and strives to find a child that will bring satisfaction and enjoyment to the home.

Supervision begins when the child is placed in the foster home. By this time the social worker knows the child and the foster parents very well, and she must now help them to know each other. The child comes from a background almost completely unknown to the foster parents. Therefore, it is to be expected that many of the child's attitudes would be confusing to the parents. By supervision, the society and the parents assist each other in the care of the child.

Next week we will tell you more about the foster homes of the children's aid society and also about some of the plans they make for babies.

Birth Of Great Grandson Fulfills Life Ambition

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) Thomas Richardson of Warkworth, said this week that he has had one ambition since he was born in 1885, and that was to become a great-grandfather. He realized his ambition recently, when his grandson, Tom Seaborne became the father of a baby girl, five days before Christmas.

The group met recently at the home of Mr. Richardson's daughter, who is also Tom's mother, Mrs. Helen Seaborne, 15 Doxsee Ave. South in Campbellford. Mr. Richardson's parents were William Richardson and Margaret McVety of Warkworth. Great-grandpa Richardson has lived in Warkworth all his life.

TB Association Offer Information

Educational work of the Peterborough Tuberculosis Association will be greatly expanded in 1954, both through the schools and through public relations it was decided at a meeting of the Association Thursday night. Focal point of the campaign will be a drive to educate the public to the need for annual chest X-rays.

The Peterborough group will be clearing agents for many pamphlets from the Ontario government and will, in addition, develop many phamphlets of a local flavor designed to make the public more aware of the dangers of tuberculosis, and improvements in its treatment.

The association will try to get local schools to include more tuberculosis studies in health classes and will also educate teachers and parents through the Home and School associations and the PTA. Lewis H. Ingram is chairman of the education committee.

The annual meeting of the association will be held at the YWCA on April 14. Speaker will be Dr. H. T. McClintock, director of the Gage Institute Chest Clinic in Toronto.

John Buck

Funeral services for John Buck, well-known Peterborough locksmith were held Thursday from the Kaye funeral home with the Rev. F. Ongley officiating, assisted by Archdeacon W. P. Robertson. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down—take things easy—watch your diet—get more rest. It's still good advice. But these days you can face fifty with many interesting and active years ahead,—active, that is, if you can avoid backache and the "tired-out" feeling, due to kidney and bladder disorders, that often develop around that age. For more than 60 years Dodd's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in good order,—helping them to feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's. 54

Man Not Sentenced On Contempt Charge

Carl Northey, sentenced last week to 2½ years in Kingston for stealing cheques, was discharged by Magistrate Philp today on a second charge of contempt of court. The contempt count was laid after Northey refused to give evidence in a cheque-stealing charge against James Hutchison.

Although Magistrate Philp remanded the accused for sentence today, Crown Attorney Bradshaw pointed out no information had been drawn up and the charge was withdrawn.

Hopes To Abolish 157 Of Ice Rinks

TORONTO (CP) — Parks Commissioner Oscar Pearson said Thursday the city hopes to abolish the 157 natural ice rinks now in operation in favor of artificial outdoor rinks.

Toronto now has four permanent artificial outdoor rinks and four more are under consideration by board of control.

The rinks, costing about $125,000 each, provide up to 100 days of skating compared with about 25 days on natural ice.

Weather Claims Lives

SRINAGAR (AP)—Kashmir is experiencing its worst weather in 15 years. The temperature has fallen as low as 10 degrees and several people have frozen to death. Thousands of birds and hundreds of livestock have also perished. All land and air connection with the outside world has been cut off since Sunday.

Robert DeGrace Vice-President Of New Institute

Robert F. DeGrace, sales manager of Timber Structures of Canada Ltd., was appointed first vice-presidnet of the Canadian Institute of Timber Construction in Ottawa recently.

Representing ten of Canada's major timber engineering firms, the association was formed for several trade reasons:

"To standardize within the industry constants of size, quality, terminology, and to develop practical, simple working tools for the architectural and engineering profession.

"To promote and expand upon code standards which are now being completed and will shortly be adopted throughout Canada. It is highly necessary that working data and other material be set up immediately and made available so that commercial construction may take advantage of these new tools.

"To assure at all times high quality workmanship throughout the industry and to aid in the elimination of under-engineered designs.

"To produce and disseminate from time to time such literature and standards as may be necessary for the promotion of the timber industry.

"To work towards the incorporation in statutes, laws and regulations which best serve and protect the interests of the construction industry as a whole.

"To work towards the establishment of equitable fire regulations as a result of factual information now available."

Timber Structures of Canada, with plants at Peterborough and New Westminster, B.C., are the largest of the Canadian firms represented in the organization.

Ask Ottawa Curtail Sale Of Margarine

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Milk Powder Manufacturers' Association Thursday asked the federal government to "curtail" the sale of margarine in the country.

The resolution was forwarded to Agriculture Minister Gardiner at the conclusion of a one-day meeting of 60 delegates representing 116 powdered milk plants throughout Canada.

Curtailment of margarine sales would "preserve the domestic butter market for Canadian production and provide employment for Canadian labor," the resolution said.

Sale of margarine is banned in Quebec.

Sleep Machine

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia will soon start mass-producing electric "sleep machines," Moscow radio said today. The machine, used on patients with stomach ulcers, gives a faint rhythmic current which soothes the central nervous system, and "natural sleep comes within a minute," the radio said.

SPIKES RUMORS — Prime Minister Winston Churchill has spiked rumors he will retire soon by scheduling a speech for May 27. The Opposition, Laborite press and many other sources had speculated that the Prime Minister would step down long before that date and not later than the date of Queen Elizabeth's return from her Commonwealth tour early in May.

Must Stress Service To Maintain Profits

MONTREAL (CP) — Textile wholesalers must stress service if they wish to maintain their profits, Ernest Guter, executive secretary of the Textile Wholesalers Association, said Thursday.

"Faced with conditions today a man no longer can sit back and wait for business to come to him," Mr. Guter told the association's annual meeting. "But volume can be maintained if a real effort is made."

Consumers still had money although prices were more uncertain and profits smaller than during the war and post-war years. But present demand is not enough to keep all manufacturers in the industry operating profitably, he said.

There has been 39 bankruptcies in the garment manufacturing and tailoring trades during 1953, and other members of the association had voluntarily left the industry.

U.K. To Open Trade Talks With 3 Red Satellites

LONDON (CP) — Britain disclosed today she will open trade and financial talks soon with three Soviet satellites—Hungary, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

A board of trade spokesman said Britain will not alter her embargo against the export of strategic or water potential goods to any Iron Curtain country.

"It is, however, a firm government policy to encourage any possible increase in the trade of non-strategic goods," he said.

Groups of private British business men already are canvassing trade prospects in Russia.

The board of trade spokesman said it is too early to speculate on whether Hungary, Poland and Czechoslovakia will offer to increase their trade with Britain.

"We will have to wait until we talk with the boys," he added.

At the same time, he recalled much of Britain's import and export business has been turned over to private traders after having been a government monopoly under the former Labor government.

This fact, he said, may give the talks "new importance."

In addition to trade, Britain will discuss with the three Communist countries certain financial claims involving mainly debts owed to Britain. The total amount of these debts was not announced.

Imports from Poland and Czechoslovakia consist chiefly of timber, meat, eggs and other foodstuffs. Hungary has sent mainly small supplies of grain. Britain has exported a smaller volume of textiles and manufactured goods to these countries.

Car Skids Over Snow, Rams Rear Of Another

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Only one minor accident was reported to police on Thursday. About $75 damage to the front of a car driven by 18-year-old Ebert Chrysler resulted during the afternoon, when he skidded into the rear of a car driven by Mrs. Edwin Little. Mrs. Little had stopped on Bridge St. at Doxsee Ave., behind another car. Her car was not damaged. Chrysler told police he was unable to stop on the snow-packed surface of the street, and skidded helplessly into the rear of the other car. Chief Constable Charles Lockwood investigated.

Campbellford Drivers Bail Out Their Cars

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Motorists who failed to heed police warnings and printed signs and parked their cars on the main streets of the town on Wednesday and Thursday nights, had to pay to get their vehicles out of hock in the morning.

Tractors and trucks were busy during the night removing snow from the main streets, and police had tow trucks remove parked vehicles to the local garages and service stations, where the owners hunted them up the next morning.

After paying towing charges, it is doubtful if the same cars will have to be towed away during snow removal during the rest of the week.

Canal Freight Sets Record

OTTAWA (CP) — Volume of freight transported through Canadian canals during 1953 reached a record 33,402,789 tons, a 6.5 per cent increase over the previous high of 31,354,139 tons in 1952, the bureau of statistics reported Thursday.

All of the canals, except the St. Andrews, reported increased traffic, with the Welland ship canal showing the greatest gain, followed by the St. Lawrence and Sault Ste. Marie canals.

Increased tonnage of soft coal and iron ore shipped through the Welland canal, crude oil and petroleum through the St. Lawrence system, and wheat, other grains and other freight on all three were mainly responsible for the advance.

Number of vessels locked through Canada's canals increased to 27,568 from 26,322 in 1952, while the net tonnage advanced to 32,734,617 tons from 29,809,378. Number of passengers increased to 112,082 from 104,135, and pleasure craft passages rose to 54,282 from 45,902.

Seaway Costing Hydro $300,000,000

TORONTO (CP) — Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario hydro-electric power commission, announced that Hydro's share of the cost of the power phase of the St. Lawrence seaway project will be $300,000,000.

Speaking at the annual banquet of the Ontario Retail Farm Equipment Association here, Mr. Saunders said the new figure is $75,000,000 more than previous estimates. Ontario is going to build the power phase in conjunction with New York state.

The chairman said that if the project is not begun soon, new sources of power would have to be found by 1957 or 1958 to meet ever-increasing demands.

He added that without the use of power from the St. Lawrence hydro would have to turn to steam or atomic generators. The St. Lawrence power development would save Ontario $30,000,000 a year, he said.

Passports TO FRIENDSHIP

CREATING goodwill for Canada wherever it goes, the Seagram Collection of Paintings of Canadian Cities has already been seen by over 150,000 people in San Juan, Havana, Mexico City, Caracas, Buenos Aires, Sao Paulo, Rio de Janeiro and Montevideo . . . and in Rome, Paris, London and Geneva. Still ahead are The Hague, Madrid and Stockholm—and a visit to our Armed Forces in West Germany to give Canadian servicemen stationed in this theatre a graphic glimpse of home.

These 52 original portraits of 22 Canadian cities especially painted for The House of Seagram by Canada's distinguished artists, dramatically present the metropolitan aspect of this great country of ours . . . building a 30,000-mile path of friendliness and goodwill . . . bringing to the peoples of other lands an appreciation of the cities our people have built, and a realization of our vitality and our future.

Accompanying the Seagram Collection on its year-long International Tour are 48-page full-colour booklets which are available to all who visit this unique exhibition of Canadian paintings.

These "Passports to Friendship" are printed in 5 languages. They contain colour reproductions of the paintings of the 22 Canadian cities with a significant commentary on each city by B. K. Sandwell, noted Canadian author. All across Latin America and Europe thousands of people have carried home these attractive records of Canada's skyline and, through them, have become more fully informed about this great and vital land—Canada.

Successful Battle With Our Snow

Toronto is reported to have spent $20,000 a day for "emergency services" while 1,200 men "battled" with the snow which fell Wednesday afternoon and night. Peterborough took the snow in its stride. There was no emergency here, and no need for emergency services, because city officials and workmen are ready for a fall of snow. Peterborough's fight with it was a tactical victory, won, as most battles are, by good planning, organization, equipment and men; and by superiority over the enemy. Peterborough is so superior that the battle was just a skirmish to our seasoned veterans and their weapons. The main traffic arteries were brushed clear of snow before eight in the morning—two lanes beside the central pile allowing both curb parking and uninterrupted passage of vehicles. By noon on Water and George streets even the centre piles had been removed.

* * *

Our highway people did a good job too; so quick were they, in fact, that many suburbanites found their own driveways barred before morning by snow banks piled by the highway ploughs.

* * *

In this note of smug self-congratulation we should mention that Toronto perhaps had an inch more snow than Peterborough, and our snow did fall early enough to allow for night clearance. But so did Toronto's snow. Toronto people lack the tactics, that's the difference.

Victoria's Burning Mayor

In their anxiety to heed the call to colour which President Smith of the University of Toronto and other luminaries of the thoughtful world have urged upon "drab" Canadians, some of our mayors have taken on wild and woolly accoutrements. Mayor Lamport of Toronto rides bucking bronchos; Mayor Whitton of Ottawa a plough; Mayor Jackson of Hamilton plays pink; the mayor of Windsor acts Detroitish. The big mayor of Montreal has never had to put on any colour; he has by nature a full palette. The mayoral colours seemed to fade into purple twilight at the west coast, over the mountains beyond the ten gallon hat of Calgary's mayor. The mayor of Victoria merely sported a flowing black cape. 'Twas not enough to keep him large in the public eye.

Now Mayor Claude Harrison is going to have a bonfire. He says he intends to burn all Communist books in the city's public library. And no pussyfooting about it, either. He has the cape to fan the blaze and the books to burn. What books? While he admits that he doesn't know of "any specific Red books", he's "heard some are there". And he roundly affirms that "It's very easy to see which is Communist literature and I'll soon find them". Wel well. That big black cape must have turned true blue; wonderful for fanning the Red Menace, and one's own notoriety.

Not all Victorians are as ready as Mayor Harrison to singe their eyebrows in the cause of the Right, but he does have a follower in one of the Library Board members, a Mrs. M. F. Lougheed, who made the booby-prize remark of the year. Here it is: "Any book which incites the downtrodden working man to revolt should be removed". Why restrict your influence to the Library Board, Mrs. L.? Get on the School Board and then you can lop off the evil at the root. Remove reading from the school curriculum. The trouble isn't with the books, you know, Mrs. L. Some fool—probably a Communist—taught the poor downtrodden fellow to read. That's the danger, that's the heresy, that's the seed of revolt that you must stamp on. Don't go only halfway and merely burn books. Be thorough. Burn the schools, so that reading cannot be taught—except, of course, to superior people like yourself, Mrs. Lougheed.

"Yoke Peter" Hit An Eagle?

Since the R. C. A. F. has British "Comets", there is a special Canadian interest in the disaster of January 16th, when Comet "Yoke Peter" crashed into the Mediterranean. The British Overseas Airways Corporation grounded its fleet of Comet airliners immediately; the R.C.A.F. kept its Comets aloft. A week ago B.O.A.C. restarted its normal Comet crew training and familiarizing flights, but no passengers will be carried until the last of the fleet has been fully inspected.

Very thorough inspections are being made. Comet "Yoke Uncle" which has done 3,471 flying hours—134 less than the lost aircraft—has been examined in detail for any evidence of structural fatigue. All movable objects were removed and the tail dismantled. The four engines in perfect condition — were laid beside the jacked-up hull. Inside the fuselage engineers stripped away the thick coat of fibre-glass used for sound-proofing, and exposed the ribs. Paint was scraped away to reveal the rivets. The entire machine was found to be in first rate condition.

What happened to "Yoke Peter"? Unless it can be raised from 75 fathoms, investigators will have little to work on. Doctors have gone to examine the remains of some of the passengers, in the hope of getting a clue to what happened.

Engineers consider structural failure unlikely "Yoke Peter" was climbing at the time to its 40,000 feet ceiling and could not have been flying more than 300 miles an hour. Did a window fall—letting air and oxygen out of the cabin? If this had happened the pilot would have been able to bring the plane down, for he wears an oxygen mask and the oxygen would automatically have been turned on if the pressure within the aircraft failed.

An explosion in an engine is thought to be unlikely; if there was an explosion of any kind it must have risen from some exceptional circumstances, for instance, an electrical short circuit might have coincided with vapour or liquid escaping from hydraulic fluid in the undercarriage.

Another possible cause of the Comet's disaster might have been this. It could conceivably have struck a high-flying eagle. Eagles have been known to fly as high as thirty thousand feet. However, all Comets have a raked windscreen to minimize the danger of striking birds in flight. An eagle might somehow have run into the Comet, or the Comet into an eagle; gulls and smaller birds have been known to be involved in other fatal aircraft accidents.

The final possibility—a lively one—is that the Comet may have been sabotaged. Several airliners have suffered from the machinations of saboteurs since the war. There is no evidence as yet that this happened to "Yoke Peter".

The disaster—to human life and to aeronautics—has given pause to jet airline transportation. It reaffirms that any moment, on foot, under the earth or above it, involves risk to the mover. It is one of the fundamental natural laws of this world, whirling through space every day faster than a Comet flies.

Five Cent Letter Rate

In April the first class letter rate of postage will be raised from four to five cents. Critics of the Government have protested that this will make Canadian postage rates the highest in the world, a statement which can be taken with a grain of salt. It is very doubtful that a political issue of any proportions can be made out of the increase. Most Canadians find it as easy to produce five cents for a stamp as four, and do not reckon a few cents expensive for sending a letter. For business houses, of course, the new rate is one more heavy tax. One reason for a high postage rate in Canada is that the domestic mileage in Canada is great. In actual transport costs, sending a letter from Halifax to Vancouver or even Windsor to Montreal is more expensive than sending one across The Netherlands, for instance. From Amsterdam to Rotterdam is only a few dozen miles.

The real issue is not the cent increase, but the service the Post Office department will provide. In recent years that service has deteriorated. We are interested that an independent investigation on the whole service undertaken at the Government's request last year, is said to reveal inefficiency, antiquated methods, costly procedures, and some general slackness. The Post Office department now has this chart in hand; we are hopeful that the recommendations will be taken to heart, acted on as speedily as possible, and will produce a better service to the people of Canada. A marked improvement in the service will partly counter-balance the one-cent increase in the postal rate.

NOTES AND COMMENT

We have, after much research, isolated the element in coffee which keeps us awake at night. It's the price.

The nudibranch, we read, is a marine snail. So those who thought it was a new kind of Doukhobor may go to the foot of the class.

A sociologist says that in 20 years Ontario will have "the densest population in Canada". There's a criticism of our education that puts Neatby in the shade!

A nice bit of governmental gobbledegook which comes our way is this: "Optimum adjustment to the rivalries of different levels of government must await maturation of interrelationships". Translations: The boobs will get along better when they have more sense.

FORMIDABLE PARADOX

Foster Dulles

AS THE Foreign Ministers assemble in Berlin, Mr. John Foster Dulles takes his place as one of the best-known characters in the world. But he never will be one of the best understood. Until last January, when Mr. Dulles became Secretary of State, the common picture of him was that of a rather donnish, elderly gentleman who lectured on international peace and fellowship. Six months later, he had made speeches which allowed the impression to be given that he was out to bully West Europeans, risk the lives of the Eastern Europeans, and gamble with the peace of the world by advocating military action against the Chinese mainland. His name had become associated with bellicosity, insensitivity and indiscretion.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOME of his better-known "gaffes" seem to come from a kind of inbuilt, personal clumsiness. Indeed, his awkwardness and lack of ease, are what first strike a visitor. At sixty-five, he is a large, heavy man, with a stoop; his voice is harsh and staccato; his manner shy, unsure — though not unfriendly. His dark suits, steel-rimmed spectacles, and drooping mouth give him a rather mournful, predatory look.

Despite this appearance, he likes a drink and a yarn; he has a dry sense of humour which sometimes explodes in a surprising Rabelaisian laugh. A life-long Presbyterian his realistic attitude to power politics is astounding. His home life is notably happy, and he is devoted to his wife, but his son has left the Presbyterian fold and is a Roman Catholic. Calculating and devious, he gets carried away in debate and may say things he afterwards regrets. Outwardly aloof and gloomy, in private he is simple, unpretentious and informal.

✧ ✧ ✧

THESE contradiction may have deep causes. His early days seem to have been dominated by two contradictory figures — his maternal grandfather, and his father.

This grandfather, at whose comfortable house in the capital city Dulles was born, was an ambitious, worldly figure who gave up law for diplomacy, and finally became Secretary of State. Dulles's early memories are of this grandfather discussing foreign policy with Robert Lansing, his son-in-law (who was later also to become Secretary of State). Not unnaturally impressed, Dulles seems to have accepted his grandfather as the image of what he wished to become.

✧ ✧ ✧

PULLING IN a different direction, there was the influence of his father, a Presbyterian minister. A benevolent but stern man, he was most anxious that his son also should be a minister of religion. Dulles seems never to have fully resolved the tension created by these rival influences. But the compromise by which he contained them has shaped his career.

When he went up to Princeton, he at first spent most of his time on poker and whist; then he became a pupil and a friend of Woodrow Wilson. He imbibed the future President's vision of an international order of peace and stability based on Christian principles and democratic methods. On one of his vacations, he went as an attache on his grandfather's staff to a Hague conference, where the main business was to try to "humanise" warfare, as a step towards eliminating it, by covenanting a set of "international laws." Soon after this, after a long spell of self-examination, Dulles decided to become a lawyer specialising in international law.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE formative experience on the intellectual level was the Versailles Peace Conference and its aftermath. Six years in the renowned New York law office of Sullivan and Cromwell — later, he became senior partner at the age of thirty-seven — qualified Dulles to join the American delegation as an expert. His friendship with Wilson and his family tie with Lansing, the leader of the delegation, made it an exciting experience. But Dulles saw Wilson's hopes shattered — because American public opinion would not allow the President to carry out his policy. Since then, Dulles has been almost obsessed by the importance of gaining public support before attempting bold moves in nternational affairs.

When Dulles began to tnink about how to create a body of public opinion to back a consistent American foreign policy — and he thought much about this in the twenties and thirties, while pursuing his career as a lawyer — it was natural that he should first look towards that side of public life in which he had grown up, the Churches. He devoted much time and labour to this task. By 1940, he had formed the American National Council of Churches in Christ — a federation of Protestant Churches with a membership of 25,000,000 — into a powerful lobby.

✧ ✧ ✧

HE was able to pledge its support to those Republicans — led by his friend Arthur Vandenburg — who stood for the establishment of a "bi-partisan" foreign policy.

Dulles himself was acceptable to both wings of the Republican Party — he was a boyhood friend of Senator Taft, who led the "isolationists," and a personal friend and foreign affairs mentor of Governor Dewey, leader of the "internationalists." He was therefore chosen to represent the Republican Party on the United States delegation at several important conferences and at United Nations. In 1950 he was asked to negotiate the Japanese Peace Treaty on behalf of President Truman, to ensure that the Republicans in Congress would ratify it. He wrote the foreign policy statement for the 1952 Republicans' election campaign, and when they won it was almost inevitable that President Eisenhower should appoint him Secretary of State.

✧ ✧ ✧

ON TAKING office he judged that the main difficulty which confronted him was the tremendous decline of American public confidence in the State Department. Since he proposed in fact to maintain many of the policies of the Democratic Administration, Dulles judged that he must talk in a manner calculated to convince the American people that a new, bold and non-defeatist hand was at the helm. He said and did many things which were calculated to produce this effect, fully conscious that they would also put a great strain on the patience and confidence of American allies.

The best example is the case of the "unleashing" of General Chiang Kai-shek, accomplished by removing the American Seventh Fleet, which had "contained" the General on Formosa. For two and a half years a great section of American public opinion had believed that not only had the folly or treason of the State Department led to Chiang's defeat in China, but that, under pressure from Britain, the State Department used the American Navy to prevent him from re-establishing himself on the mainland. Dulles felt that this misconception could not be allowed to go on festering. President Eisenhower, therefore, in his inaugural address announced that the Seventh Fleet would be removed.

✧ ✧ ✧

MANY feared that this indicated Dulles's desire to force the issue in the Far East and even to extend the war. A year later, however, Chiang Kai-shek is still on Formosa, the chief propaganda weapon of the Republican extremists has been exhausted and there is a growing feeling in the United States that Chiang Kai-shek can never be re-established in China, and that therefore the Peking Government will one day have to be recognized as the true Government of China.

✧ ✧ ✧

DULLES has still got only a part of the way through his self-imposed task of creating an atmosphere of public confidence in the United States towards the Administration's foreign policy. He may have left his counter-attack on McCarthy's attempt to dictate American foreign policy too late; he may have been so complaisant with Congress that he will never be able to assert his authority. In that case his careful calculated gamble will have failed. It is too early to tell. If Dulles succeeds and gains a freer hand in policy-making, what would be his aims? His general views are laid out in his book "War and Peace" published in 1950. The West, he says, must rearm to defend itself and deter aggression; but its real strength lies in the ultimate capacity of its way of life to attract enemies and neutrals to its side. He distrusts military diplomacy — "Civilians must be prepared to override the soldiers" — and criticises the Nato treaty because "it assumed a pattern that was essentially strategic . . . political values were lost which the military did not, and could not, appraise."

✧ ✧ ✧

ON racial policy his views are forthright: The policy of the Union of South Africa is in fact, giving Communism the opportunity to precipitate a bloody struggle."

"Peace depends upon the growing internal differences of Soviet Communism and its inability to consolidate its conquests." As for inciting the satellites to revolt, " . . . these people (i.e., the populations of the satellites) have no arms, and violent revolt would be futile . . . We have no desire to weaken the Soviet Union at the cost of the lives of those who are our primary concern." On Communist China: "If the Communist Government of China in fact proves its ability to govern China without serious domestic resistance, then it, too, should be admitted to the United Nations . . . the United Nations will best serve the cause of peace if its Assembly is representative of what the world actually is, and not merely the representative of the parts we like."

Is the paradox of this formidable figure, then, that he is an awkward old Wilsonian who has been trying to solve his public relations problem by talking like a Bismarck?

An American Opinion: TO EACH HIS OWN

Bigger Year For Iron Ore

(NORTHERN MINER, TORONTO)

THIS is going to be the biggest year yet for Canadian iron ore.

There will be new production records, new producers, new developments, and continued expansions.

The new producers will be Iron Ore Company of Canada, scheduled to start shipments down to seawater and Seven Islands as the first step toward its goal of 10 million tons annually by 1960, and Bethlehem Mines Corp., which late in the year will be shipping magnetic concentrates from its new mine at Marmora. Bethlehem's planned production rate is 500,000 tons per year.

Expansion will be provided by Dominion Wabana, now completely mechanized and capable of mining 2.8 million tons each year, and starting to open its fifth mine; by Steep Rock which, with the Errington mine converted to underground mining and the Hogarth open pit operating for its first full year, should have little difficulty in meeting scheduled production of two million tons for the year; and by Algoma Ore Properties, starting a new development program at its three adjoining mines to open two new production levels and make 50 million tons of ore available for mining over a 20-year period.

Caland Ore Co., leasing Steep Rock's "C" orebody, will get well started on its $50 million development program that calls for initial production in 1960 with output of three million tons annually vizualized.

International Nickel, planning to recover high grade ore from its low grade nickel deposits at Sudbury, will be starting to establish its $16 million plant for that purpose; eventual rate will be 1,000,000 tons annually.

Another newcomer is Noranda Mines, planning to add iron to its production list in the sulphur plant being built at Welland, Ontario.

British Columbia will see further production from the mines of Vancouver Island, chief of which is that of Argonaut Mining Co.

It all makes a bright and optimistic picture. Iron ore is big business. It needs big capital and big thinking, and these ingredients are being put into Canadian iron ore mining in good measure.

Although the industry has come a long way in the past few years, the iron ore people aren't looking backward, or even hesitating. They're pressing forward.

And God spake unto Moses, and said unto him, I am the Lord: and I appeared unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob, by the name of God Almighty, but by my name JEHOVAH was I not known to them . . . Wherefore say unto the children of Israel, I am the Lord, and I will bring you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians, and I will rid you out of their bondage, and I will redeem you with a stretched out arm, and with great judgements: and I will take you to me for a people, and I will be to you a God: and ye shall know that I am the Lord your God, which bringeth you out from under the burdens of the Egyptians. Letter To The Editor

CHEAPER GAS?

Sir: I notice the question of moving the large gasometer to make room for the parking of cars; I think the remarks of Ald. Rehill are very timely, also the observations of the city engineer are worthy of considerable thought. My own views the matter are that we should take no action at this time. The necessary steps should be taken to see that Peterborough can take advantage of the gas pipe line that is proposed in which all governments are very much interested. This would mean cheaper gas, with all the benefits that would accrue for spending our money for Canadian fuel, etc. The development of Ontario is so great that all our sources of electricity will be unable to fill its needs particularly in the field of heating, cooking, etc. If and when the pipe line is brought here it would be necessary to use our gasometer as a storage tank and control the pressure of the gas in the mains. We are very fortunate in having this apparatus here. Let us not miss this golden opportunity. Let our members in both houses of Parliament take notice. Peterborough needs cheaper gas for heating and cooking.

Sincerely Yours

J. BARNES

Across The Road

(London New Statesman)

A friend back in Paris after four years, incautiously chose an unfamiliar restaurant. The meal was terrible, and he called the waiter to complain. Yes, the waiter agreed, the food was awful. Why not try the little place across the road? My friend asked why the waiter was so sure it was good. "Because I own it!" he replied. "This," he shrugged at his surroundings, "is where I find my clients."

ARRIVAL FOR CONFERENCE

DESIGNED AND BUILT in the Peterborough plant of the Canadian General Electric, the three millionth fractional motor was turned out at the plant this week. The man who is a leading designer of fractional motors in Canada, A. Logan Dickieson (top photo), designed the first CGE fractional motor for CGE in 1921. The three millionth motor that he also designed was gold plated and sits on his desk beside him. A part of the assembly line is shown in the lower photo with Tony Martino (left) and Eugene Coleman mounting shields. The windings were installed in the history-making motor by Johann Blair.

3 Millionth Small Motor Produced At CGE Plant

The three millionth fractional motor made in Canada rolled off the production line at the Peterborough works of Canadian General Electric last week. It required 23 years to produce the first million fractional horsepower motors, and only eight years to build the remaining two million.

When the achievements of the FHP motor are reviewed, all eyes turn to Ottawa-born A. Logan Dickieson who joined the Peterborough plant in 1910 upon graduation from McGill University with his BSc and MSc. Upon completion of the test course, he was assigned to induction motors engineering, and, but for service with railway engineers during the first World War has been connected with the design of FHP motors ever since

Mr. Dickieson, now manager of engineering in CGE's FHP department, is the proud designer of the first small motor produced. Besides being a Canadian pioneer in the field, he is the undisputed dean of fractional motor design within the company.

The first production of small motors, at the turn of the century, involved not only the strugg'e of invention and perfection but the problem of building a market. Small fan motors that operated on direct current were the first assembly produced items, but there was no great demand for these.

WAR JUMPED DEMAND

The First World War increased the demand and in 1922 the first assembly line basis was introduced to this field producing 5,000 FHP motors. The earliest motors produced at Peterborough works were developed for washing machines, which were becoming increasingly popular with housewives across the nation. Refrigeration motors were soon to surpass this popularity and required many more subtle improvements.

Within a few years, these early "SA" type motors brought a new problem to the manufacturer. Radio was just beginning to take hold and listeners bitterly complained about static. Much of the trouble was found to be the result of the spark producing brushes used in the earlier model motors.

Modifications made to eliminate the sparking proved ineffective, and so gave birth to the "KH" type resistance split-phase motor which started and ran like a two phase motor. The new motor was machine, rather than hand-wound and the start winding was stepped down to lower voltage automatically. The quality was better and the cost lower.

The motor had been on the production lines but a few years when torque was created for refrigerator motors, thus requiring a further modification. This was accomplished by means of a cast-iron fly-wheel which required a deep end shelf to house it. This innovation eliminated the flicker in household electric lighting caused by the stroke of the compressor in older models.

YET ANOTHER

Some time later, Mr. Dickieson directed the design of still another new motor. This was the "KC" type capacitor with split phase, and was used chiefly in refrigerators. It featured long-hour bearings with improved lubrication. The older models were oil-filled and generally used with transformers to operate at higher voltages.

In recent years such developments as the cast aluminum rotor and the die cast end shields have been introduced. Mr. Dickieson sees a still greater use of the small FHP motor in the future. Apartment living on a wide scale will require household units of various types. A number of cities now require food and waste disposers as a standard apartment house feature; summer heat and increasing smog in our municipalities are already creating a demand for clothes-dryers and air-conditioning units; the increasing number of summer residents using pump installations and portable units necessitate the FHP motor.

Those who have worked with Mr. Dickieson have been guided by him. As well as the job of coaching young engineers on the intricacies of the FHP motor, he has taken a keen interest in teaching them to better equip themselves to accept positions of great responsibility.

His vast store of knowledge on many subjects was not gained by chance.

Approaching retirement, Mr. Dickieson is making plans to travel the warmer climes during the wintry season, but his summers will still be spent at his favorite retreat—his cottage on Clear Lake.

U.S. Food Fire Sale Plan Not Known Howe Declares

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said Thursday he knows of no plan by the United States for a "fire sale" of its government-held surplus food stocks.

He said in the Commons that the U.S. plan of marketing its surplus stocks on world markets has "certain dangers if it is recklessly used."

However, he said he thinks it will be used "with due regard to friendly countries which have marketing problems."

Mr. Howe was asked by Opposition Leader Drew to comment on the report of a speech by External Affairs Minister Pearson Wednesday at London, Ont.

PEARSON COMMENTS

Mr. Pearson told the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture that marketing of big U.S. surpluses "through give-away programs or through sales at cut prices" are almost certain to affect ordinary exports. Such marketing was not in the interests of needy countries because it would disorganize markets and reduce production in other countries.

Mr. Pearson said the U.S. Commodity Credit Corporation has about $5,000,000,000 worth of farm produce purchased under price-support programs.

80-Year-Old Bethany Lady Active, Talented Citizen

BETHANY (ENS) — Miss Elsie Richardson quietly celebrated her 80th birthday last Monday. To those who called to offer their congratulations she served a generous helping of a birthday cake baked by herself.

Miss Richardson is the last surviving member of the family of the late Thomas Richardson and Sarah Staples. For the past 20 years she has lived alone in the village, keeping her house and garden with meticulous care.

She was born in Cavan township on the farm now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Porteous. For a number of years she and her sister Ada lived in Lindsay in the old Elsmure Hotel. During that time Miss Richardson was very active in church and civic affairs in Lindsay.

READY WIT

Since retiring to live in Bethany, she has become a valued member of the community. Possessed with a keen sense of humor, her ready Irish wit sparkles all through her conversation.

A talented singer and elocutionist, she has given unsparingly of her talents to help in every community event. No social gathering is complete without a "reading" from Miss Richardson.

She is an active member of the United church and Sunday school and an authority on the Bible and its teachings. She contributes much to the success of the Adult Bible class and is a faithful group leader in the Women's Association. In this connection she has recently prepared a quiz, "Know Your Bible Kings".

A writer of poems, she has had many accepted for publication. During the past year, she was busy arranging them, hoping to have them published in book form. Most of them are written of simple everyday happenings such as "The Old Beaver Meadow." Another, particularly worthy of mention, "To Our Boys" was written expressly for the welcome home ceremonies of Manvers Township service personnel in 1945.

OPEN SECRET

Her secret of keeping young is just being busy and neighborly, with no time left for growing old. Her active mind would shame many younger persons. She reads avidly every newspaper and magazine to which she subscribes. "The Life of Abraham Lincoln" is a book she completed reading just last week.

She reads her Bible daily. From its sources come the inspiration for a way of life which has made her beloved by all the village. "Love thy neighbor" and "Do unto others as ye would have them do unto you" are her patterns for living and sharing.

No wonder even the tiny tots call her "Our Miss Richardson."

Say Too Many Lawyers On Committee

OTTAWA (CP) — Two Liberal senators Thursday said that too many lawyers have been proposed as members of the joint parliamentary committee which will study lotteries, whipping and the death penalty.

Senator W. D. Euler (L—Ontario) and Thomas Reid (L—British Columbia), neither of whom is a lawyer, made the criticism during debate in the upper chamber on a resolution to name eight lawyers and one doctor as Senate members of the committee. The Commons has not yet named its members.

Debate on the proposal was adjourned after the criticism by Senators Euler and Reid and following a forecast by Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader in the Senate, that the committee will meet with serious difficulties.

Senator Haig, one of those nominated by Solicitor-General Macdonald, government leader in the Senate, said he doubts whether committee members will be able to leave their "prejudices" on the three questions outside the committee room. He said he is sure he won't be able.

Senator Euler said lawyers are no better equipped than others to weigh the merits of whether to change the law on lotteries, whipping and the death penalty. These were matters of opinion, not matters of law.

He said he does not mean his criticism as a reflection on those proposed by Senator Macdonald. But the membership also should include "men of common sense who do not rely on a technical knowledge of the law in these matters."

Those proposed as committee members included Senators W. M. Aseltine (PC—Saskatchewan), Elie Beauregard (L—Quebec), P. H. Bouffard (L—Quebec), J. W. de B. Farris (L—British Columbia), Muriel McQueen Fergusson (L—New Brunswick), Salter A. Hayden (L—Ontario), A. W. Roebuck (L—Ontario) and C. J. Veniot (L—New Brunswick). Senator Veniot is a physician.

3 Ontario Teams In Running For 'Spiel Trophy

By PETER BUCKLEY

QUEBEC (CP) — Six teams—three from Ontario and three from Quebec—remained in the running today for three of the bigger trophies at the 41st Quebec international bonspiel.

When the smoke from the semi-finals in A, B and C events had cleared early this morning, the five-day battle for the awards had narrowed down to teams from Ottawa, Kirkland Lake and Sudbury, Ont., and Montreal, Trois-Rivieres and St. Johns, Que.

C. A. Sutherland's Kirkland Lake crew and Sam Wilson's Sudbury combination were the favorites for the Grand Aggregate, awarded the team with most wins in the A, B or C competitions and the Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy contest. Both have six wins and no losses. They meet tonight in the A finals.

Tied for second in the aggregate were two semi-finalists in the B and C rounds, Fred Rubbra's Montreal St. George and Gaston Amyot's Quebec Jacques Cartier, each with five wins, one loss and four games left to play.

KELLY RINK OUSTED

The semi-finals in the three events produced some tight battles. Amyot's Jacques Cartier rink came from behind in the last end to edge Toronto Granite, skipped by Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly, 8-7. It was the Ontario Supreme Court justice's second consecutive loss Thursday.

An earlier 9-4 setback in Lieutenant-Governor's competition at the hands of Rubbra's St. George crew eliminated the Toronto outfit from Lieutenant-Governor's and Grand Aggregate play; Amyot's victory bumped them out of C section. Mr. Justice Kelly won both the Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy and Grand Aggregate last year.

The A competition semi-finals saw Wilson's Sudbury foursome defeat Trois-Rivieres, led by W. J. Miller, 9-6, and Kirkland Lake earn a 10-7 victory over Bob Masse's Granby, Que., quartet.

In the B semi-finals, St. Johns, Que., triumphed 8-4 over another Sudbury rink, skipped by George von Zuban, and Ed Robertson's Ottawa West four downed Olivier Samson's Quebec Jacques Cartier 11-10.

In other semi-finals today, Ray Benoit's Montreal Heather, C. Davis' Midland, Ont., crew, Paul Begin's Quebec Etchemin Club and Mac Capapini's Copper Cliff, Ont., side, will battle it out for the D competition trophy.

Percival Named Coach Of Track Team

MONTREAL (CP)—Lloyd Percival of Toronto, a controversial figure for many years in Canadian sports, Thursday was named coach of Canada's track team for the British Empire Games.

However, Percival said in Toronto it is unlikely he will be able to accept. He added:

"I've made definite commitments that at the moment will prevent me from taking the job. I have accepted a job with the CBC assisting in coverage of the games for them. No one from the Empire Games Association has ever officially approached me to ask whether I'd be advailable."

In Montreal, Maj. J. W. Davies, president of the British Empire and Commonwealth Games Association of Canada who announced the names of 13 coaches and managers for the games, said it is considered an honor to be named coach of a games team.

TRACK COACH—Lloyd Percival of Toronto, director of Sports College, has been appointed coach of the men's and women's track teams to compete in the British Empire Games at Vancouver in July. Percival was onee coach of the former Toronto Track Club.—(CP Photo).

CONSIDERED HONOR

"We don't tell them they are nominated but it is presumed the person is pleased to get the honor . . . Even if he (Percival) can't attend it doesn't take away from the fact he was recognized."

Others named as coaches and managers:

W. B. Cowan, Toronto, boxing manager; Jack Guest, Toronto, rowing manager; Gordon Mackie, Winnipeg, boxing coach; R. J. Bertsharpe, Toronto, cycling manager; George Greaves, Montreal, cycling coach; Georges Pouliot, Montreal, fencing coach; Tom D. Lord, St. Johns, Que., track and field manager; Margaret Lord, Hamilton, women's track team manager; Frank Richards, Calgary, field coach; Charles Walker, Montreal, weightlifting manager; Lionel St. Jean, Montreal, weightlifting coach.

Jim Wall of Toronto was named assistant general manager of the complete team.

Lattner Interested In Pittsburgh Team

CHICAGO (AP)—Halfback John Lattner of Notre Dame said he was interested in playing with Pittsburgh Steelers who drafted him Thursday, but would have to study salary terms. Two Canadian football teams are reported seeking his services.

Lattner, 21, said Steeler officials called him after his selection, but no terms were mentioned.

"Pittsburgh is a nice town and I'd like to play for the Steelers," said the versatile all-America player.

However, he said he would confer with a South Bend, Ind., acquaintance, Julius Tucker, who has served as "agent without fee" for other Notre Dame players turning pro.

Last Saturday Tucker said Ottawa Rough Riders and British Columbia Lions sought to sign Lattner and that the National Football League team which drafted him must "at least match their offers."

Argos Lose Out On 11 U.S. Players

TORONTO (CP) — Frank Clair, coach of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four football union, said Thursday 11 players whom Argos were interested in have been chosen by the National Football League in the annual college draft in the United States.

Clair wouldn't say who the players were but when he came back from a scouting trip in the U.S. earlier this month he said he made bids for Johnny Lattner, Steve Meillinger, Zeke Bratkowski and Stan Jones.

Lattner was the first choice of Pittsburgh Steelers, Meillinger was Washington Redskins' first pick and Bratkowski was the choice of Chicago Bears. Jones was not selected.

A PRIVATE FIGHT — Linesman Jim Primeau seems to be having his troubles trying to get into the middle of this melee in the first period of Wednesday's action between Canadiens and Toronto at Maple Leaf Gardens. The fray wasn't as bad as it looks, although Bert Olmstead (15) of Habs appears very anxious to get in the act.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

By DON GRANT

It's getting nearer and nearer and nearer.

No. We don't mean spring this time or the great big saw either. But we do mean the month of February, the month when private bills are introduced to the provincial legislature.

A year ago after words and words and words, then more words, the Community Centre was given a great build-up. In fact everyone, including our little selves, thought that PERHAPS the centre might be built in '53 AT Last.

We all know only too well what DIDN'T happen.

But there's really action this year. A team of Toronto lawyers has prepared a private bill to amend the Morrow Trust. This bill will allow the centre to be built in Morrow Park and therefore bring a possible extra grant, giving us a few more greenbacks to effect the increasing building costs.

When the bill is introduced, probably in February, the next session, the first big step in building the centre since collecting the money will be taken.

Could It Be This Year?

Who knows, perhaps the memorial (that's a suitable name for sure, why both the last war and the centre are in memory now) centre will be built THIS YEAR! ! !

With that possibility in mind a number of people are wondering what will be become of the Civic Arena.

The answer to that is simple. Nothing will happen to it. There'll still be just as much skating and hockey there as now, but, take note, by groups who at present have the minimum of time for their sports.

Because the Memorial Centre is up, doesn't necessarily mean that all groups, hockey and skating will be leaving the arena for the centre. No sir, not by a long shot.

In fact, likely only the senior and junior hockey teams will be playing their games at the centre. The figure skaters will be making the odd appearance there for special shows as well as the odd important minor hockey night.

There won't be much time for anything else because the centre is for other activities than sports.

This means the teams will still be using the arena a great deal, having more time for practices. The figure skaters, who don't have half the time now that they could use, will be able to have more time.

More Time For Minors

What is most important there'll be more time for the development of the minor teams through more time for skating, for practices and for games.

But even the extra time at the arena won't be sufficient to meet the needs of all, hockey teams, figure skaters, and pleasure skaters.

This all brings us around to outdoor rinks, both Mother Nature's and the artificial type.

Even with the two arenas on the go there won't be enough time available for youngsters to learn to skate and play hockey. There won't be enough time for mom or dad to take the kids for an afternoon or evening of pleasure skating. They still must depend on outdoor rinks.

With this year excluded (there's been more outdoor skating this year than in the past three) outdoor rinks in Peterborough usually don't live a very long winter. The warmish weather has played hob with the ice.

This fact is well recognized, in fact so much so there are rumors of at least one artificial outdoor rink for Peterborough.

Other cities (we're in the big class now), such as Toronto, Hamilton and Detroit have already installed artificial rinks with amazing success. They're proving highly popular with young and old.

In Toronto there have been four outdoor artificial rinks constructed in various parks at a cost of $125,000 each. This money includes the construction of a machine room, refrigeration plant, floodlighting, erection of a hockey cushion or dasher, refrigeration to be laid in permanent concrete floor and a chain-link fence.

The big city has looked forward to promotion of the summer sports by making one side of the hockey cushion removable, permitting the whole area to be utilized during the summer for tennis, roller skating and other activities.

Although figures weren't available for 1953, Toronto's cost of operation for the four rinks during the calendar year 1952 was $61,160.

During the operation of these rinks in 1952-53 the total paid attendance was $14,447.70. With additional receipts from checking facilities and hockey permits the total revenue for the four was $20,648.95.

Free Hours Of Skating

In addition to these skaters there were thousands of others who used the rink during the free hours before 5 p.m. and on Friday evening when school children and adults flocked to the rinks.

Basing reason on these figures the initial cost seems high but the artificial ice rink would pay off in years to come. There wouldn't be the high cost of maintaining ice as at present and there would always be ice, come cold or warm weather.

Yes, an artificial ice rink would fit into a Peterborough winter sports program very well.

Marciano's Manager Refuses Toronto Bout

NEW YORK (CP) — Al Weill, manager of heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano, Thursday indicated he would refuse an offer of a $100,000 guarantee from boxing promoter Frank Tunney for a bout this summer in Toronto between Marciano and Tommy Harrison of Los Angeles.

"I got the wire from Tunney," Weill said. "But I think Harrison is down to box Earl Walls again. They mentioned dates between May 15 and late September but right now I am dickering with the International Boxing Club for possible bouts with other fighters about the same time."

Harrison won a 10-round decision over Walls, Canadian heavyweight champion, in Toronto Tuesday night.

Marlene Wins First-Round Tourney Match

MIAMI, Fla. (CP) — Marlene Stewart, British and Canadian amateur champion from Fonthill, Ont., played steady golf Thursday to win her first-round match in the Helen Lee Dougherty amateur gold tournament.

Now a student at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., Marlene ousted Helen MacDougall of Saskatoon, 5-4. In Friday's morning round Marlene's opponent will be Bobbie Stewart of Piedmont, Calif., who defeated Essene Decozen of Parsippany, N.J., 3 and 2.

Marlene said her game was "all right—nothing sensational."

"I hit my drives pretty good. My chips were pretty good. I was okay with my irons and putted all right. I didn't sink any long ones. I just played a steady game."

OFF TO BAD START

She got off to a bad start, losing the first hole when she missed a short putt which gave her a five on the par-four hole. Miss MacDougall sank a four-footer for par.

But Marlene recovered quickly, evening things on the fourth by dropping a five-footer and taking the sixth and seventh after beautiful chip shots from about 30 yards out, both times placing the ball about two feet from the pin.

After that it was smooth sailing, except when she lost the 13th after pulling her second shot into a trap.

Johnson Not Back With Saskatchewan

REGINA (CP) — Herb Johnson, running back who set five Western Interprovincial Football Union records last season, will not be back with Saskatchewan Roughriders this year.

The club said Thursday Johnson likely will line up with New York Giants of the National Football League. Officials said his return to U.S. football—he played previously with Seattle Ramblers—has nothing to do with a threatened "football war" between Canadian and American teams over players.

The Riders said Johnson informed them he wouldn't return for personal reasons.

Skier Breaks Leg In Norway Practice

OSLO, Norway (CP)—Jack Roocroft, member of the Canadian team for the world ski championships in Sweden next month, will fly home Saturday because of a broken leg, his team-mate, Ped Hunt, said today.

Roocroft broke his leg last Saturday during jumping training in Drafnkollen just outside Drammen. After finishing a 75-metre jump he fell and broke his leg when he turned for a stop.

Hunt now is practising on the jumping hills around Oslo before he heads for Sweden and the world championship contest.

St. Peter's Win Twin Bill Over Lakefield

St. Peter's High bantams and juniors decisively defeated Lakefield High bantams and juniors Thursday night. An improved Lakefield bantam quintet went down 61-28 to the Saints while the juniors, also showing improvement, lost 66-27 to St. Peter's.

Comparing the games with those played against Kenner Collegiate a week ago, Lakefield High bantams were a vastly different team, improving their shooting. Their juniors also showed all-round improvement. Both teams could cause an upset before the season's over.

Despite the change, the Lakefield bantams were still no match for the Saints. They did manage to tie the Saints 11-all at the quarter but fell behind 26-18 at the half and then 35-24 at three-quarters.

PACED SAINTS

Seidel, with a scoring march in the last half, paced Saints with 18 points while teammate Nolan had 13. B. Hill for Lakefield was their main scorer with 17 points, nine alone in the first quarter.

As in bantam, the Lakefield juniors were no match for the young Saints who rank high in competition with "A" schools. Dan Quinlan broke out in a scoring rash early in the game, leading the Saints to a 13-5 first quarter, 27-6 half score, and 48-20 third quarter count.

Dan Quinlan got his rash of points throughout the game and only fell 11 points short of the new city record of 46, set last week by Kenner's Bill Hendry. Quinlan dropped in nine, 10, 10 and six points in the various quarters for his 35 total.

Lean and Moore each dropped in eight for Lakefield.

Local Boys Entered Little NHL Tourney

The Little NHL zone hockey tournament is listed for Newcastle on Feb. 6. Port Hope and Newcastle have junior "A" entries; Port Hope and Newcastle are in the American League play; while little NHL entries are in from Peterborough, Ajax, Port Hope and Newcastle.

The junior "A" teams play at one p.m., while an hour later sees Port Hope and Newcastle in a Little NHL semi-final, the other semi-final having Ajax against Peterborough Black Hawks at 3.15. At 4.30, the AHL teams tangle, and at six p.m., the Little NHL finals go.

Keith Carruthers is the Port Hope representative for the tourney, Frank McMullen from Newcastle, Jack McKay of Ajax, and Arnold Olmstead of Peterborough. Referee from here is Jack Chapman. Winnipeg has expressed a desire again to send a winner east.

Western Football Opens August 21

REGINA (CP)—The Western Interprovincial Football Union will open its schedule Aug. 21, when Edmonton Eskimos meet Saskatchewan Roughriders at Regina and Calgary Stampeders go to Winnipeg to meet the Blue Bombers.

Winnipeg opens the season for British Columbia fans when they go to Vancouver Aug. 28.

Each club has eight home games and each has four "byes" as a result of an extra club, the B.C. Lions in action this season.

Mackell Sparks Bruins To 3-2 Win Over Hawks

By JIM BASTABLE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Fleming Mackell wasn't any great shakes as a big-league hockey player until he moved to Boston. No sooner had he shed a Toronto Maple Leaf sweater two years ago for a Boston Bruin uniform than he flared into all-star rating. He looked like a big-leaguer every time he scored one of his 27 goals last season. However, for 46 games this season, the 24-year-old centre hadn't hit the stride that coach Lynn Patrick was banking on to help get the Bruins into the National Hockey League playoffs.

Thursday night, in the 47th game Mackell scored two goals to lead Boston Bruins to a 3-2 victory over the lowly Chicago Black Hawks.

It was a big game for the fourth-place Bruins. And Mackell, a bruising, broad-shouldered centre who likes to sweep in on a goaltender from the sideboards, provided the punch.

The two goals gave Mackell seven for this campaign, a far cry from his output last year. They helped the Bruins to move three points ahead of the fifth-place New York Rangers.

FUMBLING HOCKEY

In the only other league game Thursday night the league-leading Detroit Red Wings played fumbling, disorganized hockey for the first 50 minutes, then came to life in the last 10 minutes to tie the Rangers 3-3.

At Boston, the 7,302 fans saw Mackell send the Bruins into a 1-0 lead midway in the second period and then put them up 2-1 in the third. Johnny Peirson got the other Boston goal. Rookie Lou Jankowski and Pete Conacher scored for the Black Hawks, who have lost eight and tied two in 10 games against Boston this season.

The Rangers were riding a 3-1 lead in the third period at Detroit when leftwinger Marty Pavelich and defenceman Marcel Pronovost beat netminder Johnny Bower for the deadlock.

HEADED FOR 2ND WIN

Until then, the Rangers, led by Wally Hergesheimer's two goals, were headed for their second straight victory over the Red Wings at Olympic Stadium.

Bower was handling everything the Wings poured at him when Pavelich jumped from the penalty box, took a pass from Gordie Howe and scored on a 10-foot shot. Less than two minutes later Pronovost split the Ranger defence and scored on a pass from Johnny Wilson.

Nick Mickoski beat goalkeeper Terry Sawchuk for the other New York goal. Earl Reibel was the third Detroit marksman.

The tie gave the Red Wings 61 points, a four-point edge over the second-place Montreal Canadiens.

No games are scheduled for tonight.

Knock Hard Assigned Top Weight

LONDON (AP)—Knock Hard, an Irish hunter who won the Cheltenham Gold Cup last year, was assigned top weight of 173 pounds Thursday for the 108th Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree March 27.

Official weights were announced by D. G. Sheppard, national handicapper for the world's toughest jumping race, upon which an Irish hospital sweepstakes is based.

Should Knock Hard, owned by Mrs. M. H. Keogh, win under that weight he would become the second highest handicapped horse to take steeplechasing's greatest prize. Poethlyn, defending his 1918 victory, repeated under 175 pounds in 1919.

GIVEN 172 POUNDS

Dorothy Paget's Mont Tremblant second last year to Early Mist, was given 172 pounds for this year's race of four miles, 856 yards over 30 stiff jumps. Early Mist got 168 pounds, 12 more than last year.

Lavenoc Poulmic, another entry of Miss Paget's, got 170 pounds and Legal Joy, second in 1952, drew 157.

M'As-Tu-Vu, recently purchased by the Queen Mother, also will run under 157, and along with Legal Joy now should move high in the list of favorites.

Rose, Hartwig Add Aussie Doubles Title

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Mervyn Rose and Rex Hartwig Thursday added the Australian national doubles title to their United States doubles crown by beating Clive Wilderspin and Neale Fraser 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 in the all-Australia final today of the Aussie national tournament.

Wilderspin and Fraser had upset the American team of Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas in the semi-finals Wednesday.

Rose and Hartwig play again Saturday in the singles semi-finals. Rose meets Ken Rosewall and Hartwig is pitted against veteran John Bromwich who eliminated Trabert in a major upset Tuesday.

OF COURSE—Joey Maxim on his hands and knees in the ring as Referee Cy Gottfried counts six in the eighth round of their recent light-heavyweight title bout at Miami Baseball Stadium. Archie Moore knocked him down with a beautiful right hand to the chin and went on to retain his crown.

Peterborough Rink Wins

TORONTO (CP)—Kingston rinks, with the same members who have won the Ontario Silver Tankard Trophy for the last two years, pulled themselves together twice to remain in the running for their third consecutive Ontario double-rink curling title.

The Kingston representatives entered the semi-finals of the Tankard along with three other rinks Thursday night after coming from behind in two games to win.

Quarter-final action for three other trophies was completed in four Ontario communities. Semi-finals and finals in all four will be held in Toronto today.

Playing at Toronto the Kingston rinks, skipped by H. Reid and J. Sands defeated Bracebridge 33-24 in the first round and eliminated Orillia 30-24 in the second. They were behind for 10 ends in the morning game and trailed Orillia by 11 ends in the afternoon round.

Other rinks to enter the Tankard semi-finals were Oshawa, Tiverton and London.

Semi-finals were also reached in the play for the Governor-General's, the Burden and the Globe and Mail Trophies.

Tiverton Macs, who played at the Toronto Victoria Club, advanced into the Tankard semi-finals with victories over Guelph and Ottawa RCAF.

They downed Guelph 29-23 in the first round and eliminated Ottawa 25-23 in the second.

OSHAWA ADVANCES

Oshawa rinks, playing on home ice, defeated Lindsay and Toronto High Park to move into the semi-finals of the Tankard. Skipped by Paul Michael and Al Parkhill they dropped Lindsay 36-27 in morning play and defeated High Parks 29-19 in the afternoon.

London entered the semi-finals at Galt when they defeated Wingham 29-15 in the opening game and Kitchener 21-17 in the second contest.

Oshawa, Hamilton Thistles, Elmvale and Kitchener rinks were successful in getting past the quarter-finals of the Governor-General's Trophy play.

Oshawa, again playing on home ice, defeated Peterborough 32-21 in the morning and put away Unionville 36-19 in the second round.

At Toronto Hamilton Thistles. They took Sarnia 31-26 in the first round and defeated Toronto Royal Canadians 28-11 in the second.

Elmvale eliminated Gravenhurst 30-24 and then polished off Orillia Ontario Hospital 29-25 in Toronto. Kitchener topped Brampton 33-17 at Guelph.

CONSOLATION PLAY

The Burden Trophy, consolation for the Tankard event, has Midland, Guelph, Wingham and Unionville in the semi-finals. Playing Toronto, Midland took a 32-28 victory from Bracebridge in the quarter finals.

Guelph walloped Markdale 38-17 at Toronto while Wingham defeated Hamilton Thistles 24-22 at Galt. Unionville, the fourth Burden semi-finalist, edged Lindsay 35-33 in the quarter-finals at Oshawa.

The Globe and Mail Trophy, consolation in the Governor-General's Trophy competitions, will be decided between Owen Sound, Wingham, Peterborough and Deep River.

Deep River eliminated Sarnia 36-30 at Toronto. Owen Sound kept in the running by downing Gravenhurst 30-21.

Wingham won its quarter-final game in Guelph where they took a 30-23 victory over Port Elgin while Peterborough ousted Gananoque 36-16 at Oshawa.

Conditions Excellent For Ontario Skiers

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's skiers Thursday enjoyed the finest conditions in years and the official forecaster promised favorable weather for at least another day.

Excellent conditions were reported both on the tow hills and in the bush at 14 centres — Barrie, Bolton, Bracebridge, Cedar Springs Collingwood, Flesherton-Markdale, Haileybury, Kitchener, Larder Lake, Orangeville-Hockley, Owen Sound, Raglan, Sudbury-Levack and Sundridge.

Conditions were good at Brimmacombe (excellent in the bush), Cobourg, Gravenhurst, Kirkland Lake, Newmarket (excellent in the bush), North Bay (excellent in the bush); and fair at Dagmar (excellent in the bush), Huntsville, Midland and Sinclair township, Muskoka (excellent in the bush).

Football Bosses Concentrate On Big Linemen

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Professional football bosses passed up a lot of publicized all-America players to concentrate on passers, rugged runners and massive linemen in Thursday's annual draft of college talent.

Cleveland Browns sounded the keynote of the National Football League draft meeting when they selected Stanford's Bobby Garrett as their "bonus" pick.

Then, turning to the annual sorting and selection of college playing talent, the NFL coaches and club owners chose three Notre Dame players—tackle Art Hunter, by Green Bay; halfback Johnny Lattner, by Pittsburgh, and fullback Neil Worden by Philadelphia—in the first round of the regional draft. Centre Jim Schrader was picked by Washington in the second round. Back Francis Paterra went to Chicago Bears and Guard Menil Mavraides to Philadelphia in the fourth round.

FIRST CHOICE OF 49ERS

From Maryland, rivalling the Irish as the top college team of 1953, quarterback Bernie Faloney was the first choice of San Francisco 49ers. Halfback Chet Hamulak was drafted by Cleveland in the second round. Backs Ralph Felton (drafted by Green Bay and traded to Washington), Dick Nolan (New York) and Charley Boxhold (San Francisco) all were chosen in the fourth round.

The Browns, who won almost everything in sight last fall except the league champion, gained another victory when Harold Sauerbrei, their new publicity director, pulled the slip marked "bonus" out of a hat.

That gave them the right to make one selection before the regular rounds of drafting began.

The choice of Garrett, the outstanding college passer of the 1953 season, was in line with the belief of the pro coaches that a first-rate T-formation quarterback is essential in pro football.

WRIGLEY NOT SELLING

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago Cubs may be wallowing in red ink as well as the lower National League strata, but owner Phil Wrigley isn't planning to sell out, nor will he try night baseball at Wrigley Field as a tonic.

The club disclosed a 1953 operating loss of $410,000. However, this reflects farm system maintenance as well as an attendance slump.

Wrigley said last year's loss actually could be scaled down to $206,000 by reckoning carry-over reserves and tax refunds.

He replied "No" when asked if he might not be tempted to sell his seventh-place team.

"No, I'm trying to get a winner," said Wrigley. "We released those figures because the public thinks the Cubs make money, win or lose.

"I hope some of the fans will realize that the money they pay at the gate really comes nowhere near matching the money it requires to put a major league team on the field. The concessions and radio-TV carry much of the load."

How about installing arclights to stimulate attendance? (The Cubs last year drew 763,658 at home, lowest in nine years).

"Night baseball would only be a crutch," Wrigley replied. "What we need is a winning team."

NOW THEY'RE SUN DECKS

CINCINNATI (AP) — There are no more "bleachers" at Crosley Field, home of Cincinnati Redlegs of the National League.

But the change, announced by general manager Gabe Paul, is in name only. From here on in, the uncovered seats at the ball park will be known as the "sun deck."

Paul has gone a great step further, too. Fans on the "sun deck" will be allowed to wear beach costumes.

"They can undress down to anything within reason," he told a reporter. "Why, we might even give prizes now and then to the man and woman wearing the most fetching costumes."

Sunbathing costumes, however, will not be tolerated in the grandstand or in the boxes.

CARDS BUY WALSH

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals Thursday bought right-hander Jim Walsh, top pitcher last season for Hollywood Stars in the Pacific Coast League.

The purchase price was not announced but the deal hinges whether the Cards keep him.

Manager Eddie Stanky said he would go off the Cardinals' active list to make room for Walsh.

PIRIE STAYS IN U.K.

LONDON (AP)—A British paint firm has "saved" distance runner Gordon Pirie from having to go to the United States.

Pirie said Thursday he has accepted a salesman's job from the paint firm—plus an automobile—and beginning March 1 will have the time he needs to train and prepare for track and field meets. Until then he will keep his job as a suburban bank clerk.

Jan. 1 Pirie allowed the news to leak that several American colleges had offered him track scholarships and he intended accepting one and moving to the United States, "possibly permanently."

Oliver Says Inquiry Limited

WHITBY (CP)—Farquhar Oliver Ontario Liberal leader, Thursday night criticized as inadequate measures taken by the provincial government to investigate alleged irregularities in the highways department's Fort William branch.

Mr. Oliver said "the best way to get to the bottom of this mess is to form a royal commission."

Mr. Oliver, who spoke to the annual meeting of the Ontario Riding Liberal Association, criticized Premier Frost for the appointment of an accounting firm to investigate the situation.

It was probably a good idea to send an accounting firm in as a preliminary move but it had not power to call witnesses or take evidence under oath such as could be done by a royal commission.

"It is reasonable to suppose that what was happening at Fort William is happening at other divisional headquarters," he said.

There is a great likelihood it has spread all over Ontario, he added.

Trabert Leaves For Home Saves Tennis Row Advice

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — American tennis star Tony Trabert left for home today saying he's keeping his chapter-and-verse report on his grievances during nearly three months of tennis in Australia until he talks with the United States Lawn Tennis Association, world governing body.

"I'm going to put my recommendations and suggestions to the association in New York," Tony said as he boarded a plane with his wife and two Davis Cup teammates, Bob Perry of Los Angeles and Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La.

"I'm going to tell them everything I think has happened down here so they will understand the situation," he declared.

CHANGE DATES

Among his suggestions, Tony said, would be one that the Australians either change the date of their national championships or that the American team should not be forced to remain for the tournament.

"Australians don't do anything but play," he said. "We have to go to college."

Trabert isn't alone in thinking the dates of the Australian championships should be changed.

Team-mate Vic Seixas, who'll be leaving for the States Tuesday, agreed with him and so did Jack Crawford, former Wimbledon champion who now writes for the Sydney Sun.

Arabs Afraid To Permit More Prosperity In Israel

By LYNN HEINZERLING

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Jordan river has been flowing placidly through the Holy Land since biblical times and longer. Today it is tangled up in a 20th-century economic boycott.

Water means food and wealth in this dusty part of the world. And food and wealth are two items which the Arab states—embarked on a policy of economic strangulation of Israel—would like to deny their neighbor.

This is the reason no Arab government has approved the plan for unified development of the Jordan valley water resources. A good share of the water saved under this scheme would go to irrigate Israeli fields—nearly 14 billion cubic feet a year. Jordan would receive 27 billion cubic feet and Syria, 1½ billions.

The Jordan river has been pouring well over 35 million cubic feet of fresh water into salty Dead sea each year for centuries. The plan to save this water and devise the most efficient means of developing the valley's water resources was commissioned and financed by the United Nations relief and works agency for Palestine refugees.

It was hoped the plan would point the way to land and power development which would provide farms and work for some of the 868,000 Arab refugees who have been sitting idly around the borders of Israel for nearly six years.

BITTERNESS IGNORED

The planning ignores the bitter feelings between Israel and her Arab neighbors and is based solely on engineering and topographical considerations. The Arab states officially do not recognize the existence of Israel.

In a recent interview, Dr. Raid Aballama, acting secretary-general of the Arab League, had this to say about water:

"We don't believe Israel could live for ever among hostile countries even if there were no war. Israel could not support several million people without industrialization. For industrialization, they would need more water for electric power and there is not enough from the part of the Jordan in Israel."

Dr. Aballama noted that Israel is forced to power part of her developing industry with oil, brought uneconomically from Venzuela because of the Arab boycott.

"That is why Israel's neighbors look with a suspicion on Israel's effort toward hydro-electric development," he said. "With the economic boycott, we can hinder, if not strangle the industrial development of Israel."

ISRAEL PROBLEMS GREAT

There is no doubt Israel is in a difficult economic position. Some foods are rationed. Ther are 20,000 unemployed out of a working force of 500,000. Israel has an unfavorable trade balance of nearly $300,000,000 and her debt in foreign currency is $400,000,000.

Israeli economic planners do not take such a pessimistic view as her Arab critics. A government adviser said:

"We are in a difficult position but we are not in any danger of collapse. We could welcome the end of the boycott because we would like to be on friendly terms with our neighbors, but trade with the Arab countries would not be important to us."

There are some leaks in the boycott. Informed sources in Damascus say a considerable quantity of wheat goes into Turkey from northern Syria and eventually winds up in Israel. There is minor smuggling across the Lebanese border into Israel. The island of Cyprus has become a trade centre between Arab countries and Israel.

Israel does not give the impression of a country in danger of collapse. Rural settlements are sprouting. Bulldozers are at work on land development and irrigation projects. Prospectors are looking for oil in the Negev. Factories are being built. The orange-picking season has been in full swing, with an expected yield of about 8,000,000 cases.

Predict Stiff Competitive Battle Among Builders, Suppliers

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The coming year promises a stiff competitive battle among Canadian builders and suppliers.

This prospect could be seen both in the public statements and private conversations of delegates in Vancouver this week for the Canadian Construction Association's annual meeting.

Ask construction men if they expect trouble this year and many a one will say yes.

Press further, however, and ask if they expect to be as busy as last year and they will probably again say yes.

This seems to boil down to lots of problems, but probably continuation of high activity.

Convention expressions seemed to indicate that Canadian needs for new construction in many fields are sufficient to keep the industry busy, but that prices must be "right" if the building is to be done.

This situation follows a long period when "need" was, in large measure, more pressing than "price."

The competitive battle which seems to be developing should bring some interesting developing developments. The contractor or supplier bidding for a job will be using his utmost ingenuity to devise ways of keeping his price below that of his competitor, and at the same time make a fair profit.

Some construction men seem to feel some of the quotations already being made offer no opportunity for a fair profit.

If it does nothing else, the situation should provide a strong brake on any higher-price influence which may develop, such as from a bigger money supply for housing.

The CCA reported that basic costs, wage rates and material prices, rose between one and two per cent last year, the smallest increase since the war, predicted "general stability" for the coming year, and said the material supply situation was excellent.

John N. Flood, of Saint John, N.B., retiring president, said 1953 was a record-breaker for construction "and stability in construction costs and volume seems likely for 1954."

Australia Refuses Drop Quarantine Law

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE (AP)—The quarantine law is 50 years old and Australia is in no mind to change it—regardless of the 1956 Olympic Games.

The law, federaly enforced and zealously guarded, requires that horses except those of the British Isles and New Zealand undergo a six months' quarantine before entering the country.

This has made it impossible to include the equestrian event in the 19-sport schedule beginning Nov. 22, 1956.

WON'T CHANGE

"It is inconceivable to think that Australia will change its law for the Olympics,' 'said Lt.-Gen. William Bridgeford, chief executive officer of the games.

"This is a government and not an Olympic matter. Even a suggestion of a change would bring forth a storm of protest because of its national implications. There are those who think the agricultural and commercial future of Australia would be endangered."

Inability of Australia to hold the questrian competition has provoked some agitation in high Olympic circles to move the games to another site. An old Olympic rule is cited that all events must be held at a single site.

SAYS RIDICULOUS

"It is ridiculous to say that you can't hold an Olympics without all 19 events," said E. J. (Billy) Holt, chief organizer of the 1948 games at London and technical director of the 1956 show here.

"I remember very well that soccer was left out of the Los Anglese games in 1932 because there was no interest in it in America, and there's no reason the equestrian event couldn't be held in connection with the winter games in Italy.

"This is just an issue some are raising to try to get the games shifted to another site."

PROUD OF RECORD

Australia is proud of its record of freedom from animal diseases. While these diseases have moved across older continents with the ebb and flow of wars and invasions, leaving famine and sometimes human epidemics, Australia, a major food-producing nation, has been spared.

It has been 70 years since the dreaded foot and mouth disease has appeared in Australia. It was introduced by eight bulls imported from England. It was stamped out before it had time to spread.

Freedom from disease is attributable to the distant location of the country and to the strict quarantine laws, which there is no hope of changing.

Australia has 100,000,000 sheep, 13,000,000 cattle, 1,750,000 pigs and vast numbers of poultry.

Announce Plans For Lowering Water Level In Lake Ontario

OTTAWA (CP) — A Canada-United States body Thursday announced prospects of lowering the water level in Lake Ontario, an issue on which the Canadian government is being sued for $100,000,000 in the U.S.

The International Joint Commission, which regulates the use of boundary waters, said it expects the St. Lawrence seaway will bring down destructively high levels in the lake and is prepared to take further measures to lower the lake level.

It said, specifically, that some of its river and lake levels calculations based on the operation of the seaway need "modification." The indication was that the levels would be lowered all around.

The IJC issued its statement here and in Washington jointly, after a meeting of the six-man commission in Boston Thursday.

The commission is headed by two co-chairmen, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton for Canada and former senator A. O. Stanley for the U.S.

SUITS PENDING

In the background of the IJC action was a series of suits filed against the government of Canada in the U.S. by some 500 U.S. residents of the shore of Lake Ontario, claiming $100,000,000 for property damage they allege was caused by Canadian-built Gut dam below the lake's entry into the St. Lawrence river.

The 50-year-old dam was removed two years ago, though Canada always disclaimed responsibility for its effect on high water.

Canada also refuses to recognize the jurisdiction of the U.S. courts in the big suits, but has offered to have the Americans' claims ruled on by a Canada-U.S. tribunal. It has had no firm reply to this proposal, though the Americans have held up action on their court proceedings since last summer.

The statement by the International Joint Commission said it is satisfied that its 1952 order approving the seaway "properly protects all interests in both countries which may be affected by the construction or operation of the power works" (to be built concurrently with navigation locks in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence)."

"There is every reason to believe," the statement added, "that the levels of Lake Ontario, which have been so high in recent years, can be so regulated by means of the works to be built in the St. Lawrence river as to actually benefit property owners along the shores of Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river. . . .

"Channel excavations in the river, coupled with the construction of a dam with adjustable gates capable of discharging the full flood of the river in the event of an emergency, will make it possible for the first time to exercise a beneficial control over the levels of Lake Ontario."

A Canadian spokesman said that, while the announcement does not mention it specifically, the IJC is not retreating from its previously-announced intention of providing protection against flooding for the downriver area around Montreal.

Keep Voters' List

TORONTO (CP)—For the third year in succession Toronto has decided it will not extend its voters list beyond property owners and tenants of two or more rooms. Proposals to extend the civic franchise came from Controller Ford Brand and Alderman William Dennison, but were defeated by the civic legislation committee.

Foulkes Rises To General From Army Buck Private

OTTAWA (CP)—A buck private has risen to full general in the Canadian Army.

Charles Foulkes, chairman of the chiefs of general staff, is the fifth to hold that position in the Canadian army. In 31 years he has worked from the lowest to the highest rank. And in mounting the ladder he has become the first Canadian to be appointed a general in peacetime. It is the first among a lot of firsts.

Promotion of the 51-year-old lieutenant-general to general was announced Thursday night by Defence Minister Claxton.

The defence minister said in a statement that Gen. Foulkes will continue in his present post and as Canada's military representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

BEGAN IN 1923

Gen. Foulkes, who figured prominently in the collapse of the 25th German army in Holland in 1945, first donned a uniform in 1923 as a private with a machine-gun battalion in the old non-permanent active militia. He rose to captain and in 1926 received a commission as a lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Regiment.

When the Second World War started he was a captain. As the war progressed he became major, brigadier, major-general and finally lieutenant-general.

"This new promotion to the rank of general is another first in my career," Gen. Foulkes said in an interview.

"I was the only officer to rise from the rank of captain to lieutenant-general during the last war. I was the youngest officer at 43 to become chief of the general staff. I was the first permanent chairman of the Canadian chiefs of staff and now I am the first Canadian to be appointed a general in peacetime.

"I am, of course, very pleased. It is one of those things a person looks for in life."

APPOINTED GENERALS

The first Canadians appointed general in the Canadian Army were Sir William D. Otter of Toronto, after the Boer War, and Sir Arthur Currie after the First World War.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, now chairman of the International Joint Commission, was promoted to general in 1942 while serving as head of the first Canadian Army overseas. The fourth was Gen. H.D.G. Crerar, retired, in 1944. He also served as commander of Canadian forces overseas during the Second World War.

Canada's other two armed services have had officers of rank comparable to a full general. They are the late Air Chief Marshal Lloyd S. Breadner and Admiral Percy Nelles.

In announcing the appointment, Mr. Claxton said it reflects the increased importance of Canada's armed forces, especially within the framework of NATO.

Sit-Down Stoppage Cripples Steel Plant

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) a sit-down work stoppage developed suddenly late Thursday at the big mills of Algoma Steel Corporation.

Reports said men in the rail mill refuse to operate the mill. About 120 men are directly involved, but the stoppage will be felt throughout the plant.

The dispute is said to have started over recent remodelling of the mill. When the work was complete some men were laid off.

The workers claim the change in conditions does not warrant the number of men laid off. The men acted on their own and had not called in Local 2251, United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

THE Only REAL HEALTH INSURANCE IS PREVENTION

Good hospitals and medical care are essential—but it is possible to stem the advancing demand for hospital beds.

Because: Certain diseases can be prevented.
Proper dietary and living habits, with regular medical and dental examinations, insure health instead of sickness.
Through health education you may learn the many ways to maintain continuous health.

Remember: Early diagnosis usually means early cure.
Self-diagnosis and self-treatment may mean neglect, delay and ultimately hospital care, costly to patient and taxpayer alike.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Agricultural Seller's Market Has Passed, W. P. Watson Advises Big Audience At Crop Improvement Convention . . . Oxford Farmers to Fly to Ottawa . . . Hereford Breeders Plan Bus Trip to Guelph . . . Ont. Federation Receipts $82,948.81 Last Year.

"As we enter 1954, one basic fact stands out above all others—the seller's market is past, and the buyer's are now going to have their innings," said W. P. Watson, livestock commissioner, Ontario Department of Agriculture, at the Ontario Crop Improvement Association's convention in Toronto Wednesday.

"The era of Marshal aid and of other humanitarian programs has ended. The recipients of those generous gifts, which incidentally helped the giver as much as the receiver, are prepared and determined to stand on their own feet.

"We must now invoke the technique of salesmansihp; to be successful our products must be competitive both in quality and price. The country with the best product produced at the lowest cost, has nothing to fear."

One paragraph towards the close of his address that sounde a note of practical significance was: "Canadians have been increasing their consumption of dairy products. The margin between supply and demand is now very narrow. It would be unfortunate for the two to balance, as this situation would present an open invitation for the wider us of substitutes.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

Mr. Watson's preview of business this year, particularly the prospects for agriculture, was outlined to a convention assembly of 1,500 or more farmers from all sections of the province. His address has been an annual feature. A year ago he decided to discontinue it, but in the meantime was prevailed upon, he said, by the secretary, A. H. Martin, Toronto, director of the crops, seeds and weeks branch, to revoke that announcement.

Mr. Watson said last year would be remembered by Canadians as a year of great economic achievement. More people were employed and at higher wages than in 1952, and the population passed the 15 million mark.

All former records in the fields of external trade were shattered. Farm income for the first nine months indicate that gross returns from the sale of farm products were 4 percent higher than in the corresponding period of 1952, and 2 per cent above those prevailing in the record year of 1951. "That picture may be changed when the final figures for 1953 are available."

"Although farmers, as a class, handled more money, certain segments of the industry were less fortunate than others. The record total was achieved as a result of exceptionally heavy grain marketing during the nine months period.

While grain growers were enjoying greater returns, the incomes of livestock producers were somewhat reduced. Despite the fact that hog prices were substantially higher than in 1952, the total amount received for hogs was slightly less on account of marketings being lower by about 2½ per cent.

HEAVY SALE OF CATTLE

On the other hand, a larger volume of cattle, although selling at a lower price per cwt., brought more dollars than were realized from the lesser number marketed in the previous year. Inasmuch as Ontario farmers depend heavily on livestock, this decline from 1951 price levels had its most serious impact upon the rural population of this province."

"In the past few years our main outlet for agricultural products, other than wheat, has switched from the United Kingdom to the United States. At present 60 per cent of our total exports are marketed in the U.S.A. The percentage of agricultural products is not quite so high. This policy of depending on one country that by tradition has favored high tariffs, may be risky. Nevertheless no other country appears willing to pay such high prices for our goods and commodities."

Mr. Watson said that, assuming sustained consumer buying power in Canada, prices of meat and dairy products should be fairly stable during the first nine months of this year. "Despite the fact that cattle marketings may be heavier, the relatively high hog prices, resulting from limited supplies, will cause consumers to choose the less expensive commodity.

"From the fact that one hour's labor will buy more steak than at any other time in the last 15 years, consumers will not expect to purchase good quality beef on more favorable terms. On the other hand they may be more discriminating in their attitude to low quality products."

Dairy Herd Sessions

The program of the dairy herd improvement association, Tuesday, February 2, opens at 11 a.m. at Silverwood's Dairy, Aylmer St., to look through the plant and see demonstrations by Dr. Harden of Peterborough board of health. Lunch will be at Hooper's restaurant at 12.30, and the afternoon session will be at 2 p.m. at the office of Department of Agriculture.

Dr. H. C. Rowsell of Ontario Veterinary College will discuss mastitis and show a film on the subject; and C. C. Morrow of Ontario livestock branch will talk about the program of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association and discuss problems suggested by members.

Hereford Sale May 29

Close to 30 Hereford breeders of the district attended their meeting last Friday night at the office of the Ontario Deparment of Agriculture. The thermometer at the Examiner was slightly below zero, two or three degrees, but chill weather kept nobody at home.

The spirit of the Hereford men was reflected by the presence of Oscar Thurston from Bobcaygeon, Allan Linton and Edgar Rosevear from near Cobourg, James Readhead of Richmond Hill, Ray Nokes, Manilla; James Winterbottom of Woodville.

"I'm certainly delighted so many turned out in that kind of a night," said the chairman, Charlie Fisher of Bailieboro.

The club decided to hold their annual spring sale May 29, but hesitated about repeating in October. A fall auction may eventually be determined, but in the meantime the members are going to give that project some further thought.

This year's regional show will be held at Bobcaygeon, and there is some talk about bidding for the championship show to switch to Norwood. G. A. Brethen said he was confident there would be ample accommodation.

Several of the members suggested an effort to stimulate wider interest in eastern Ontario for the Norwood Fair show.

There was also an opinion that "we're moving along well as it is; let's not try to force things too much."

Homer Hawkey said the Norwood Fair had the biggest Hereford show in Ontario last year. Sales and shows were the main topics.

Leadership Program

The leadership forum will take place in Knox Church hall, Reid St., Thursday, Feb. 11, beginning at 10 a.m. Co-operating organizations are: Peterborough county Women's Institutes, Federation of Agriculture, Farm Radio Forums, Junior Farmers and the Department of Agriculture.

"Recreation as a means of acquaintance" is the first topic, and will probably be demonstrated. That signifies a means of acquaintanceship of members at a meeting. It recognizes that people should know each other when they meet together.

Half an hour's discussion will deal with strong and weak points of local farm meetings, and how they can be improved.

Wilson Gemmell will talk about the duties of club officers and members.

Ten minutes of recreation: mental stimulus and physical comfort—like the seventh inning stretch at a ball game.

At 11:30 a skit entitled "A poorly conducted meeting", and at 1:30 "A properly run meeting". Dinner will be served by women of Knox at 12 o'clock, Keith McIntyre chairman.

The program continues until 4 p.m., extending discussion of ways of leadership. It is expected that Miss Eleanor Saracuse will assist, especially referring to folk schools. Rev. A. E. Larke of Springville United Church will conduct a question period on procedure of meetings.

Attendance is expected to be somewhere between 50 and 100—possibly more.

Fix Soy Bean Price $2.22

A U.S. national average support price for soy beans will be $2.22 a bushel for 1954 as compared with $2.56 last year. The level of support for this year's crop is so designed to keep the soy bean acreage in approximate balance with productive needs, without resort to acreage allotments. Restrictive acreage control has already been announced, under mandatory provisions of law, on the 1954 crops of wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco and peanuts.

Importing Ayrshires

Seven purebreds Ayrshires are being imported from the Old Country by Messrs. Dodgson and Barrett of Calgary and R. O. Biggs of Dundas, Ont. Four heifers in calf, an da bul, will have travelled 5,800 miles, when they reach their destination at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. They are in quarantine, temporarily, at St. John, Newfoundland.

The bull is "Darland Queen's Consort", first prize yearling at the Royal Welsh Show, Cardiff, last year. The Biggs heifers are Darland Seres Jasmine and Darland Countess Elma", of Lessnessock breeding.

Bus Trip To Guelph

William Mood, secretary-treasurer of the Eastern Ontario Hereford Club, has mailed members a letter informing them that for the proposed bus trip to Guelph Saturday, Feb. 6, seven tickets were sold up to Tuesday this week. Six more are promised.

Tentative schedule shows departure from Keene at 7:30 a.m.; Peterborough, King St., 8 o'clock; Lindsay, 8:45 and Manilla at 9:10.

Cost of the bus is $130. That would require 26 passengers. If 30 or more go, the tickets would be reduced to around $4.

"If insufficient number of members buy tickets, it will be $5 each, the remainder to be subsidized by the Club."

That was agreed at a recent meeting, but it was thought that a full complement for the bus would be the response from the membership. Mr. Mood should be informed at once by those planning to go.

To Ottawa By Plane

Oxford county Crop Improvement Association is planning a one-day trip to Ottawa February 5—by air. Robert E. Bell, agricultural representative, formerly of Peterborough, was authorized to complete arrangements, leaving Malton in the morning and returning that night. Their tour includes a visit to Tom Dickenson at Borden Dairy Farm, Central Experimental Farms and two other practical dairy farms in the Ottawa district. The Oxford farmers are interested in loose-housing setups and self-feeding practice.

London Seed Fair

The annual seed fair of the Middlesex Soil and Crop Improvement Association will be March 9 to 12, inclusive. This is one week earlier than the Central Ontario Spring Show in Peterborough March 16-19. The Middlesex seed fair is an important western Ontario event held in London.

Perth Council Defeats Move On Hog Agency

By a recorded vote of 9-7, Perth county council turned down last week a motion to ask for a new farm vote on the Ontario Hog Producers' Association.

Council adopted an amendment to set aside the subject for at least a year to give the association a chance to iron out its problems.

Reeve T. Parker, Ellice township, as reported from Stratford, protested service charges on marketing of hogs through the association and alleged that the association had the authority to tell producers where they might ship hogs—and might not.

"We can get a better price at Kitchener than at Toronto," Parker said, and contended that the marketing association had no right to determine where hogs were to be sent.

The tenor of Reeve Parker's remarks may be imagined from his reference to United Livestock Sales as "legalized bandits."

Said Reeve W. Angus Dickson of Listowell: "I hope it (hog marketing) will not go the same as the cheese producers' association. The cheese producer has no voice in anything now. The marketing organization closed a cheese exchange at Listowel without asking anyone's opinion, and now they are talking about closing all the exchanges."

Reeve Elgin Smith, of Elma township said: "They've got legislation now so that the (cheese) producer has to do just what he's told."

Peterborough district farmers who are giving increased thought these days to the marketing of farm products should find points of interest in those Perth county councillors' attitudes. The old spirit of rural individualism has to be reckoned with when new methods of selling are advocated and brought into effect.

Annual meeting of Peterborough Hog Producers will likely be in the week of February 15.

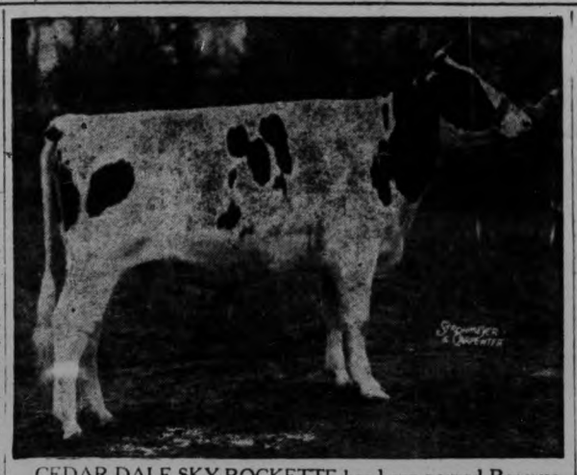
WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—Mrs. M. Cairns solved the disappearance of letters from her mail box when she saw a blackbird carrying a letter out. The birds were building a nest in the box. Now a flap over the letter slot keeps the birds out.



CEDAR DALE SKY ROCKETTE has been named Reserve All-Canadian Junior Yearling Heifer for H. C. McCloskey, Queensville, Ont. She was the first and reserve junior champion of the Peterborough Championship Show, and second at the Royal Winter Fair and York County Black and White Day. In 1951 she received honorable mention as All-Canadian Heifer Calf. She was bred by M. J. Tamblyn, Orono, Ont.

Agriculture Has Prior Rights At Morrow Park

Assuming that the Peterborough private bill passes the Legislature, it provides for certain changes affecting Morrow Park and the proposed Memorial Community Centre which farmers should know.

It will enable the trustees of the park "to convey to and permit the erection by the corporation of the city of Peterborough of a Memorial Centre on a part of the said lands (of Morrow Park)";

"The dimensions and location of the said land to be agreed upon between the said trustees and the said corporation";

"The dimensions and location of the said Memorial Centre to be in the discretion of the said corporation (of the city of Peterborough)";

"To empower the Board of Trustees of the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre to permit such use of the Memorial building for the purpose of the said Peterborough Industrial Society (Exhibition) etc."

That clause does not exclude other agricultural activities such as the Spring Show in March, the Holstein championship in October; the 4-H Clubs achievement day and so on. Don Bark, lawyer, informed the Examiner.

Use of the centre building, when completed, will rest in the discretoin of its trustees. Presumably some agreeable arrangement could be effected so that hockey games late in the season would not interfere with the application of the spring show directors.

It may be stated now that the intention of the late Harold A. Morrow was to encourage and assist the industry of agriculture in this district. That was his primary purpose, and there may be a point in possible conflict of claims by agriculture and athletics as to such date as the middle or third week of March.

Directors of the Federation of Agriculture owe it to their industry to make representations now to the Morrow Trust and the corporation of the city to maintain this priority in the proposed amendment.

The time to settle any possible question on that point is now, and the voice of organized agriculture in this country is the Peterborough Federation of which Henry Sharpe is president.

Welfare of the farming industry, to repeat, was the desire of the late H. A. Morrow. At the time of his gift, the Peterborough Exhibition was the one and only agricultural enterprise which he might consider. Since then organization has expanded. It even includes commodity groups who hold various affairs such as cattle sales, etc., at the park. And, they all come within the bounds of the general welfare of the farming community.

As to the location of the Centre, several suggestions were heard at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Exhibition this week. One was in the centre of the ring formed by the race track. Another was on the east half of the grounds but set back in depth from Lansdowne St.

The decision of location will rest "in the decision of the said corporation (of the city)". However, such incidental details can be of concern only if the private bill receives the authority of the legislature.

Sees Marketing, Production Major Problems

Howard Harper of Goodwood, president of the Ontario Crop Improvement, stressed in his address to its convention in Toronto on Wednesday, the resource of technical help that is available to the farmers of this province.

"I would like to draw attention to the many highly trained technicians on soils and good farm practices at your disposal for consultation, ready and willing to help in farm planning," Mr. Harper said.

"No industry in Ontario, or in Canada for that matter, has at its disposal for free consultation as many highly efficient, trained technicians on soils and farm methods as the farming industry.

"They can recommend the use of fertilizers, limestone, and the conservation of the water supply. Farm ponds are recommended, proper drainage practice, strip cropping, contour cultivation, and grassed waterways. These all help to conserve fertility and assist in greater productivity.

"Tribute must be paid to our county and district agricultural representatives for their ready willingness to assist and help secure the best recommendations and assistance from our agricultural colleges and experimental stations."

Mr. Harper said the two main problems in Canadian agriculture were production and marketing.

"I place marketing first because, in our present economy, I believe it to be our foremost problem. Farmers, through organized marketing, I believe should do something about their own products.

The purchasing power of agriculturists, according to our economists, is reported to be down 16 per cent since 1949, and the purchasing power of labor up 16 per cent for the same period. Labor and agriculture should get together, it would seem, if anything near a balanced economy may be hoped for.

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture, at its convention recently, suggested the setting up of a national marketing institute to give guidance and make recommendations in marketing.

Our neighbors to the south are experiencing similar difficulties, or even worse, and the pros and cons of farm subsidies are a live subject of debate. Possibly a program for assistance in erecting storage facilities for some of our perishable crops, such as potatoes, and relieve panic marketing in the late fall. More orderly marketing might be restored by spreading supplies over a longer period."

Crop Improvement Humor

Paul Fisher's Tillage Tools For Orchard Soil Like Partridge In Pear Tree

Paul Fisher's tillage tools are: a host of golden dandelions, a legion of angle worms, various acres of crushed rye and sweet clover, a tractor and three railway ties.

That strange miscellany sounds like the oddments of the exuberant Christmas carol, gay, free and fanciful, about a partridge in a pear tree.

Mr. Fisher is in apples at Burlington, and is one of the best known fruit growers in this country.

He was the humorist of a tillage panel at the Crop Improvement Association convention Wednesday afternoon at the Coliseum, Toronto, and appeared to get as much fun out of the light touch of his presentation as did the big audience of farmers who heard him.

The subject of facts about tillage practice, and his associates of the panel, served as foils for Mr. Fisher's ideas. For the most part they coincided with the theories and practice of organic farming, but that stage had been preceded by heavy infusions of mineral fertilizer.

STOPPED CULTIVATING

"People like myself who plant trees," said Mr. Fisher, "used to have continuous cultivating of the orchard soil until we dried up and burned out all the humus. And that didn't take long."

"About 25 years ago we used to hear mineral fertilizer being recommended. It worked for a few years, but if you have no humus in the soil, you'd better not spend much on fertilizer. I think all our farmers know that. Organic matter and mineral fertilizer work together."

Paul Fisher was dressed in a Norfolk suit of brown tweed, suggesting some sort of manorial background, looking like a rural Rotarian, and with a glint in his eye seeming to reflect a spirit of good cheer and goodwill.

TRASH, MULCH, HUMUS

Mr. Fisher's problem was to restore a high content of humus in his orchard soil. He grew cover crops, trash and so on.

"To get a crop, the major need of your land is moisture. Many times your fields don't get enough rain. In a hot spell of midsummer, mulch helps to conserve the moisture in your land."

Mr. Fisher said he was one of those lazy farmers. He lets nature do his cultivating. Probably that was true, but in the first stage of his program, he had to do a lot of work to get his soil back to the consistency he wanted.

Part of the farm is in permanent sod. In the orchard switch he used manure, and then fertilizer heavy with nitrogen. For two or three years he applied 300 pounds of nitrate an acre three times in the spring, a total of 900 pounds. Then there was rye and sweet clover in the Fisher planning. Let it grow till mid-June, and when lush and rich he flattened that growth with the three rail ties dragged behind his tractor.

There was so much trash eventually that seed had to be broadcast. Well, the rye and clover were knocked down, and then the dandelions came up.

WELCOMES DANDELIONS

"Get a lot of them to the acre and they'll do a great job for you," Mr. Fisher declared, as his audience laughed to his unorthodox proposal. "Roots as big as your thumb, and 12-inches down. The next year they die and the ground becomes so full of holes that you wonder where the soil has gone to."

So, you are working up organic matter, and that eventually brings the fishworms. Their holes in the ground plus the dandelions' pits combine to make a soil as porous as a sponge, and just as absorptive.

"A three inch rain last year, one of the heaviest in a long time! I walked out over the place, and I noticed the creek running high and rich with mud from farms of my neighbors. I don't think the rain carried off any of my soil. It soaked into the ground from the loose trash texture, with the help of the dandelions and the earth worms."

Other members of the panel were: George McLaughlin of Oshawa; Arnold Stansell of the Aylmer Ayrshire family; Andy Johnston of Renfrew and Mr. Fisher. Chairman was Kenneth Lantz, agricultural representative in Kent county.

Mr. McLaughlin of Elmwood Farms and Holsteins extolled the Graham plow and its deep tillage, granting its messy looking job and its rough riding. That was for general farming.

"I guess I don't need George's tools. We're doing a pretty good tillage job, and we have reached the point in bringing back the fertility of our land where we don't need to buy fertilizer, at least not now," Mr. Fisher said.

Trash, mulch, decomposing vegetable matter on the top, stimulate moisture, keep the soil cool, bring back all kinds of insects. And, the Fisher crop roots creep up into that top rich two inches, the best in the land—and feed in that.

The convention day sessions were held in a large enclosed section of the Coliseum. All around it, beyond the screening curtains, was the big display of farm implements and other machinery by the retail dealers known as Orfeda.

"I don't know whether I should have mentioned that last bit about arriving at the stage where we can suspend application of mineral fertilizer. Right now I'm a little scared about going among those machinery fellows if they get wind of what I've said about my tillage tools, three railway ties, sweet clover, rye, lots of dandelions, and maybe a disc. There are also fertilizer salesmen out there, and that would be two groups to face."

Mr. Fisher handed out these aphorisms: "The poorer plowing you do, the better farmer you are . . . The man who covers all his trash is a poor farmer . . ."

VALUE OF FERTILITY

Mr. Fisher tells his story with accents of apparent relish of his

Gives Heart Third Artery In Treatment of Angina

This is the second in a series of four stories about a revolutionary surgical procedure originated and developed by Dr. Arthur Vineburg, Montreal surgeon, for treatment of coronary artery disease and related angina pectoris.

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. Arthur Vineburg, the Montreal surgeon who is boldly challenging angina pectoris, gives the heart a third artery.

It is the internal mammary artery and is utilized when there is coronary artery disease and a consequent diminution in the amount of blood reaching the heart.

Through the surgical procedure termed internal mammary artery implant a blood supply to the heart is restored by placing the artery within the heart muscle.

EASY TO TRANSPLANT

The internal mammary artery is large and carries a generous supply of blood. It is easily transplanted. Normally it carries a blood supply to the front of the chest and the intercostal (between-the-ribs) muscles. As its name indicates, it also aids in providing lactation for the breast in women.

When the internal mammary artery is used for the implant operation other vessels become good neighbors and take over. Any impairment to the chest muscles through loss of their main supply is infinitesimal compared with the possible benefit to the heart. The difference conceivably can be as great as that between life and death.

Comparatively few women show the same tendency as men toward coronary artery insufficiency, with resultant angina pectoris, until old age.

Heart specialists have an amusing but highly expressive saying: "To avoid coronary disease, pick your ancestors and be a woman."

POINT UP DISEASE

Angina pectoris is not a disease in itself; it is the manifestation of disease. The true cause of angina pectoris, with its excruciating chest pains, is not known. But it is associated with lack of blood supply to the heart, when the arteries are narrowed or blocked.

The heart has two chambers for receiving blood and two for pumping blood back through the body. The left ventricle—the left pumping station—keeps the blood pressure up. It is usually the one in trouble. It receives its supply from the left coronary artery.

The left coronary artery divides itself into two branches. Approximately 65 per cent of disease is found in what is called the anterior descending branch; 35 per cent in the circumflex branch. These two arteries spread themselves over the surface of the left ventricle. They branch off as they go to the vessels within the heart muscle.

Pathological studies have shown that coronary artery disease is confined for the most part to the surface vessels. It does not enter the myriad little branches forming the coronary tree within the heart muscle itself but may occur anywhere along the outside path of the artery proper. For this reason, Dr. Vineburg has written in published articles, he does not consider coronary artery disease a finalized disease.

Coronary artery insufficiency is progressive, which means a steadily lessening supply of blood to the heart. With a decreased supply, the heart muscle begins wasting away and becomes scar tissue.

Medical science has given long study to coronary artery insufficiency. With medical treatment alone, recorded data shows that approximately one of every two sufferers dies within five years following infraction—the scar tissue condition.

Other methods of surgery have been tried patiently in an effort to give the heart additional arterial blood supply, but to date the results have not been too satisfactory

The internal mammary artery implant is the new hope. With due regard to the conservatism of Dr. Vineberg in his appraisal, the new surgical procedure may rightfully be regarded as a success.

Aged Dairy Cows Producers One Jersey, Other Holstein

For several years, honors have come and gone to the Summerland Experimental Station farm for the champion long distance producing cow of the Jersey breed in Canada. The honor was back at Summerland for considerable time in recent years, when their Summerland Standard Flo piled up quite a long distance record. However, with the death of Standard Flo, the honors come back to Ontario, and the champion living long distance butterfat producer of the Jersey breed in Canada at the present time is Fairmount Observer's New Moon, bred by J. W. Innes and Sons of Woodstock, Ont., and purchased as a young cow by Don Head Farms, at an Ontario sale in Oakville.

Unfortunately, Fairmount Observer's New Moon, although she made a Silver Medal two year old record, was not on test as a 3 year old, but since then, she has been a consistently high producer, and at the end of her eleventh record, finished in her fourteenth year, she had 122,883 lbs. of milk, and 6,607 lbs. of fat. She is again on test at fifteen years of age, and is now well over 7,000 lbs. of butterfat. She is not only an outstanding produucer. She is an outstanding individual, classified Excellent, has a grand champion daughter and several tested offspring that place her in the class of one of the great cows of the bfeed.

GEORGE HENRY'S HOLSTEIN

Bessie Ormsby Gloriette 4th, a purebred Holstein owned by George W. Henry, Todmorden, Ontario, is remarkable not only as a lifetime producer, but because of her exceptional wearing qualities. All her life she has been a consistent year after year producer, having compiled an eleven lactation twice-a-day total production on record of Performance test of 151,627 lbs. milk containing 5,701 lbs. fat, thus qualifying for a silver seal certificate of longtime production. The most unusual thing about her, though, is that her eleventh record made as a fifteen year old was the largest of her career, 16,157 lbs. milk containing 628 lbs. fat.

Now, at almost seventeen years old, Bessie is again on test and safely in calf. George Henry calls her, "The most prolific, sound cow that I have ever had around the farm."

Bessie is classified as Very Good, the second highest rating attainable in Selective Registration. James Alston, Norwich, England, selected her Churchill son as a herd sire back in 1948, and a grandson by Rembco Texal Sovereign and out of a Churchill daughter of Bessie as a junior sire. A Rembco daughter of Bessie has been Grand Champion at several U.S. shows for C. B. Smith, Williamston, Mich.

Bessie is one of the few granddaughters of Johanna Rag Apple Pabst, foundation sire of the modern Rag Apple family, still alive. This relationship comes through her sire, Sir Rag Apple Mechthilde Pabst.

Paul Fisher's

thrusts at conventional tillage procedure. On the other hand, he is effectively orthodox on both sides of farming, organic and inorganic, and above all emphasizes the value of soil fertility.

About the insects his trash attracts, Mr. Fisher said they were better than bees in getting around among the fruit trees at flowering and fertilizing time. Bees develop a habit, he says, of going after payloads (of nectar); too selective while the other insects work among the pollen wherever they find it.

At one point of his contribution to the panel discussion, Mr. Fisher was suddenly cut off by chairman Lantz, and it must have been apparent to the crowd that there had been some sketchy rehearsal of the panel. Some hints of exaggeration by Mr. Fisher, such as the dandelion invasion of his orchard land, and his tolerance of that weed, were perhaps premeditated. However, these elements served to fix attention on the main theme of good soil practice.

The crowd also understood and made full allowance for Mr. Fisher's specialty as an orchardist in cherries, apples and perhaps peaches. The contrast he brought out was the old custom of cultivating the rows between the orchard trees, and his change to enriching his soil. Farmers know that in general farming they could not adopt the Fisher methods, but for all of them was his message of humus and how to restore it in burned out soil.

From the audience, it appeared that Mr. Fisher was "planted" in that panel, and he did a grand job in his special role.

Tax Laws Curb Board In Handing Down Ruling

OTTAWA (CP)—A member of the income tax appeal board said in a judgment Thursday that Canada's tax laws sometimes prevent the board and courts from dealing with the "true facts" of a case.

Board member W. S. Fisher made that comment in rejecting the appeal of R. F. Sibbitt, Neustadt business man. Mr. Sibbitt, who runs a creamery, tried to claim a capital cost allowance on the basis of $16,000 paid by him for a half interest in the business acquired from his wife in 1949.

Mr. and Mrs. Sibbitt purchased the business in partnership some years ago for $6,000. But they clashed and separated prior to 1949 when the wife agreed to sell her share of the business to her husband for $16,000. They were divorced in 1950.

HAVE COMMON INTEREST

Mr. Fisher observed that the law specifically states that when a man transacts business with his wife they are considered to be doing business "not at arms length." In other words, they share a common economic interest.

In such cases, the law states that the capital cost to be allowed is the capital cost of the property to the original owner.

"The purchase of the creamery business by the appellant from his wife must be considered, for the purposes of the act, as having been a purchase between persons who were not dealing at arms length," Mr. Fisher said.

NO CO-OPERATION

This "in spite of the fact that, at the time the purchase took place, they were in fact on most unfriendly terms. Each of the parties was looking after his or her own interests without any consideration for the interests of the opposing party.

"This is one of those situations in which the legislation leaves no option to this board, or to the courts, to deal with the matter in the light of the true facts, namely, that the parties were dealing at arms length."

Adopt Bear Cubs

BARRIE, (CP) — Harold McMaster and Bill Dobson welcomed family additions Thursday—two bear cubs. Cutting wood in Vespra township, 10 miles west of here, with Lloyd and Everard Harris, they discovered a den containing a black bear and the cubs. They obtained a rifle and after a 1½-mile chase Lloyd Harris dropped the 160-pound mother in her tracks. They plan to raise the cubs.

Trade Strong On Steers During Week

TORONTO (CP) — Trade was strong on good to choice steers and heifers and barely steady on cows at the Ontario stockyards this week. Calves were steady on good to choice vealers with other classes under pressure and $1-2 lower. Lambs were steady.

Cattle totalled 7,441 head. Choice steers $19-19.50; a few $20; good steers, all weights, $18-19, medium downward to $17; good heifers mostly $17-17.50; a few early $18; plain steers and heifers downward to $14. Choice fed yearlings $21-22, a few $22.50; mediums $17.50-19. Good cows mostly $11; few heifery cows up to $22; plain to medium $9-10.50. Good heavy bulls $12-13. Few medium to good stockers $14-17.50.

Calves were 1,148 head. Good to choice vealers steady at $26-28, few tops $29; plain and medium calves lower at $15-25; few grassers $11.

Hogs totalled 1,701 head. Grade prices dropped $1.50 to $34 but sold on the yards at $36 Wednesday.

Sheep and lambs were 347 head with good lambs $23-23.50, few $24; some good heavy lambs $20. Good light sheep $8-10; culls downward to $4.

Council Considering Paid Hospital Plan

TORONTO (CP)—A pre-paid hospital plan for Torontonians was taken under consideration Thursday by the city council's welfare committee.

Noting that the city has paid out $17,000,000 in hospital deficits during the last 10 years, Alderman William Dennison, who proposed the plan, said he thought the plan might save taxpayers money.

The Ontario Municipal Health services Act allows a municipality to set up a pre-paid hospital plan to which citizens contribute.

NATO RIFLE—Because of its reliability and simplicity, the Belgian FN .30 calibre rifle has been accepted as a standard weapon for NATO forces. The rifle held here by a Canadian soldier has undergone extensive trials in Britain and the United States and will soon be adopted by the Canadian Army.

Almost Unanimous Approval For Housing Legislation

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons has given near-unanimous approval to the government's new housing legislation to reduce down payments, lengthen mortgage repayment periods and bring banks into the more-lending field.

Members Thursday night voted 186 to 2 to give the bill second reading—approval in principle—following a four-day debate in which opposition members criticized various parts of the measure.

Two CCF members voted against the bill, Ross Thatcher (Moose Jaw-Lake Centre) and Colin Cameron (Nanaimo).

The bill now goes to the banking and commerce committee for further study.

HONEST EFFORT

Works Minister Winters said the legislation is "an honest effort" to improve the existing National Housing Act which has encouraged construction of more than 730,000 housing units since 1945.

A record 105,000 housing starts were made last year and the government hoped that would be matched, if not exceeded, this year under the new legislation.

The bill will open the mortgage-lending field to chartered banks under a plan by which the government's Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation can insure a maximum of $2,000,000,000 in loans. Cost of insurance, two per cent in the cases of homes for owner occupancy, will be paid by the purchaser.

CUT DOWN PAYMENTS

Down payments will be cut to 10 per cent from 20 per cent on the first $8,000 of lending value, but increased to 30 per cent on the remaining portions up to an unspecified maximum.

The common length of mortgages will be 25 years instead of the present 20.

Still to be set by government order are the mortgage interest rate and the ceiling on individual loans.

Mr. Winters said earlier that the rate, now 5¼ per cent, will be held below six per cent. He indicated that the present loan ceiling of $10,000 will be increased.

Mr. Winters replied in his debate-closing speech to some of the opposition criticisms of the bill.

They ranged, he said, from CCF charges that it was a "sellout to capitalist exploitaton" to Progressive Conservative claims it was "state socialism."

Apparently, he said, the Liberal government again has found the "midle-of-the-road" course.

Replying to criticisms that allowing the banks in the mortgage field would expand credit in the country, Mr. Winters said that is the purpose of the bill.

INCREASE CONFIDENCE

The mortgage-insurance plan was designed to ensure a continued flow of mortgage money and maintain public confidence in the Canadian banking system by guaranteeing bank investments. Thus is protected not merely the banks but the bank deposits of all Canadians.

Mr. Winters referred to a claim by George Hees (PC — Toronto Broadview) that the lowest-priced home under the National Housing Act cost $10,000 and could be bought only by those with annual incomes of $3,860 or more.

He said 25 per cent of NHA homes sold last year cost less than $10,000. Under the provision that a maximum of 23 per cent of the buyer's income should go towards carrying charges, a man with an income of $2,600 could buy an $8,600 NHA home. The percentage could be higher, however, if the lender agreed.

Mr. Winters said the federal government has subsidized low-rental housing since 1949 under a federal-provincial plan by which the federal government paid 75 per cent of the capital cost and rental subsidies.

Under this plan, 1,562 units had been built in six provinces, with an average reduction of $17.91 a month on rentals.

Lower down payments urged by some members had drawbacks. They would allow more people to get a start in home-ownership, but would result in heavier mortgage repayments.

NOT BUREAUCRATIC

Charges that Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation methods were "bureaucratic" were groundless. The corporation only implemented the wishes of the government, and it would see to it that this principle was continued.

Some members had suggested that banks assume inspection services, but this would remain under CMHC control.

Various housing plans were suggested by opposition members during the debate, and some of them may be discussed in the banking and commerce committee, as possible amendments to the bill.

Gordon K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough West) said during Thursday's debate the government should give some thought to prospective home buyers in villages and small towns where loan companies were hesitant to do business. Many commuted to good shops in larger centres and could be considered risks.

Ford Talks Resume Monday

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Local 200, United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO-CCL) said Thursday talks between the union and Ford Motor Company of Canada will resume Monday.

The union said in a statement its president, Charles McDonald, asked the company to resume talks because "negotiations had only just begun."

The firm has offered the men a four-cent-an-hour wage increase if the present contract, due to expire Feb. 19, was extended to June 1, 1955. The union refused and criticized company action in starting "negotiations by mail." The offer was outlined to all Ford workers in a letter from the company.

The union said it believes "bargaining ought to be across the negotiating table between the duly designated representatives of the workers and company."

Major Don Metherell, officer commanding the 149th Battery of the 58th AA regiment, RCA, has been awarded the Canadian Forces Decoration (CD), it was announced in the latest supplement to Canadian Army orders.

WINTER LOGGERS BUSY

Current cold weather and little snow is ideal for the lumbering business in Victoria county, lands and forests officials report. Cutting is finished and scalers are hard pressed to measure logs in the bush before trucks arrive to haul them to the mills.

ONLY ONE ACCIDENT

Peterborough drivers must be getting used to the snow by now. This is proved by the fact there was only one accident in the city up to noon today. The drivers should be used to slippery streets, though: they've had enough practice at it.

PLOWED UNDER, NOT OUT

Parkhill Rd. E. residents obviously worked hard and long to clear their semi-rural driveways in order to get their cars out today. Fortunately for one snow plow operator, however, he came along early this morning and was able to escape their wrath after he neatly blocked the drives again.

INJURED MAN

Hessel Bierma, caretaker of the Trent River school, is doing "as well as can be expected" in Peterborough Civic Hospital. Mr. Bierma is suffering from a fractured pelvis and fractures of both legs as a result of highway accident Wednesday night.

PLATE DEADLINE EXTENDED

The deadline for buying your 1954 license plates as usual has extended to February 28. But a long, long line of Peterborough citizens were not aware of this today and were zealously making sure they had their new plates before the end of January. It was a busy day for the girls in the Chamber of Commerce office.

CLEAR OFF SNOW

While going about the city, Fire Chief William Sorrie has noticed that some householders in clearing off their sidewalks have covered the fire hydrants with snow. It's for the people's own protection to keep the hydrants visible, says Chief Sorrie. A delay of even a few seconds in finding a hydrant could cause extra damage if a fire broke out.

MORE 4-H CLUBS

The success of the Lakefield District 4-H Forestry Club has encouraged the formation of two more in the district. In Durham county 20 young people in the Pontypool-Orono section are using a woodlot near Orono for field observation. The Lindsay Collegiate club has enrolled 45 members who will do their current field work in a county woodlot north of Omemee on Pigeon lake.

Money Campaign Nets Collectors Mostly Trouble

Because they did not check their credentials with the Better Business Bureau, a Toronto organization lost a lot of money and antagonized a lot of Peterborough citizens, Chamber of Commerce assistant manager Robert Hamilton said today.

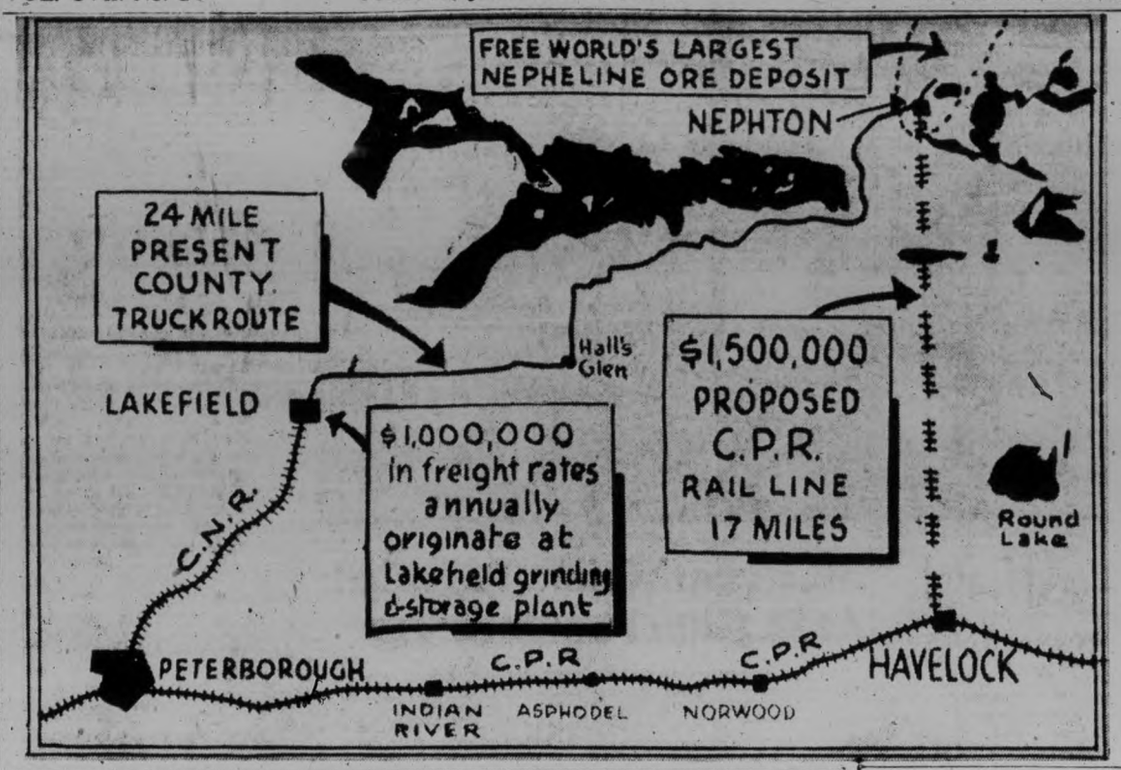
The Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada moved into Peterborough Thursday, soliciting advertising for their year book "International Concessions." Several merchants and citizens checked with the Better Business, and the AAU was in trouble this morning when the Bureau reported to its clients that they had no record of the group checking in.

More than 30 calls were received by the Bureau throughout Thursday and early Friday before the police were called in. Thursday night a warning was given to all not to buy any advertising space or give any money to any canvassers without checking first with the Bureau.

INVESTIGATION

An investigation this morning by Sergeant of Detectives John Stevenson disclosed that the canvassers, a man and wife, and a girl clerk, were representatives of the Amateur Athletic Union from Toronto. They said that they failed to check with the Bureau because the trip to Peterborough was a last-minute decision and they wanted to get started as quickly as possible. They were subsequently cleared by the Bureau.

Mr. Hamilton pointed out that the AAU cause was good, and if the group had checked with the Bureau considerable trouble could have been saved all round. In addition the AAU would have taken in more money from merchants prudently checking with the Bureau before buying space. Much of the money raised is to be used to help send Canadian athletes to the British Empire Games in Vancouver next July.



FREE WORLD'S LARGEST DEPOSIT of nepheline ore at the Blue Mountain property of American Nepheline Mines is soon to be served by a 17-mile Canadian Pacific Railway extension line from Havelock to the mine. It will cost $1.5 million. The line will justify a large mining program and eliminate the 400-ton daily pilot plant (shown above) now located at the mine, the present Lakefield grinding and storage plant and the 24-mile truck haul to it from the mine. —(Parks Studio)

News Of Railroad Brings Joy, Expansion To Nepheline Mine

By NICK NICKELS

News that a bill is before Parliament to grant permission to the Board of Transport Commissioners to approve of the application of the Canadian Pacific Railway to build a 17-mile line from Havelock to American Nepheline Mines has been received with mixed emotions throughout the district.

Most pleased, of course, were the mining people at Blue Mountain. It is the realization of an 18-year-old dream for them. In 1936 Ventures Limited, which controlled American Nepheline Mines, staked the Blue Mountain range, gradually adding to their ground until now it covers some 2,000 acres.

RICHEST IN FREE WORLD

The mountain chain they found, was almost solid nepheline ore, a product that would strengthen and cheapen the production of ceramics. The tonnage was tremendous and of commercial grade and, except for deposits known to exist in USSR, it was the largest and richest of its kind in the world.

To educate the ceramic trade and make sales, to transport the ore to a mill for grinding, were two of their major problems. In the early stages of production the ore was trucked to the head of Stony lake, carried by barges to Lakefield and shipped to a parent mill in Rochester for grinding and distribution. A grinding and storage plant was later set up in Lakefield and the American plant eliminated as the mine plant increased in size. For some years now the ore has been trucked direct from the mine to the Lakefield plant. The operation was still to spread and, knowing of their great potential tonnages of ore, mine officials realized that the deposit had to be mined in a big way and be served by a railway line.

TWO YEARS NEGOTIATING

Negotiations for a railway have been going on actively for more than two years. There were two alternate routes, one to extend the CNR line from Lakefield 24 miles to the mine and the other to have an extension line built from Havelock on the CPR, a distance of 17 miles.

The bill was approved in principal and given its second reading in the Senate on Tuesday and no objections are anticipated. The CPR will be granted permission to build the line.

A railway to the mine will make many changes.

For American Nepheline. It means a tremendous expansion. The present mill—that now treats 400 tons of ore daily—is nothing more than a pilot plant, vice-president and general manager Ernest Craig said Wednesday. It will be scrapped to make way for a very large plant. The Lakefield grinding and storage plant will have their counterparts at the property. The eventual concentration of operations at Blue Mountain will make other changes.

HAD BIG TRUCKING JOB

The rail line will eliminate the truckage haul. This major matter is the concern of veteran trucking contractor Frank Coyle of Lakefield. After 18 years working for the mine, with a current $175,000 worth of road equipment on hand, it would appear that the future looked black for him.

"Not in the least," said he, "in fact, it is quite interesting."

He anticipates all the work his trucks can handle on the proposed railway building project, plus many more trucks in operation at the quarry as the mine expands operations. For some time Mr. Coyle has been delivering truckload lots of finished product each week to ceramic plants in Toronto, Weston, Caledonia and Buffalo. This business will increase as the mine production increases and the haul from the mine, instead of from the Lakefield plant, will be much longer. Mr. Coyle does forsee, however, that his business, too, will centre at Nephton.

LAKEFIELD AFFECTED

The town of Lakefield, in losing the grind and storage plant, will lose its largest tax-paying industry and the payroll spending of some dozen families.

Reeve W. C. Grant reviewed the news of the proposed railway philosophically.

"The move was inevitable from the company's viewpoint," he

Make No Charge For Fighting Fire Recommended

The fire, water and light committee of city council Thursday recommended that Otonabee township should not be charged for the fire on Maniece Ave., outside the city limits, which the city fire department fought January 12.

Although the city received a letter from the township asking the city to render an account for the fire, the committee decided against it.

A week after the fire on January 18, in a discussion of the mayor's action in sending the fire department to the fire, the committee of the whole council reaffirmed a resolution passed in 1949 to give no fire service to any of the surrounding municipalities unless they have a working agreement with the city for fire protection.

At present the city has working agreements only with Smith township and the village of Lakefield and has contracts for protecting Mount St. Joseph convent and the CGE power dam property at Nassau. The fire, water and light committee will meet with Otonabee township council next Thursday to discuss an agreement with them.

In their letter to the city, offering to pay for the Maniece Ave. fire, the township said they were "sorry and embarrassed" if they had caused any controversy in city council.

NO PREVIOUS LEVY

Ald. Bill Beggs reminded the committee Thursday afternoon that council had not levied any charge when the acting mayor permitted the fire department to answer a call for assistance from the village of Keene in 1952. This decision had been taken because of the 1949 resolution not to serve the surrounding municipalities.

"I think we would be putting ourselves in a very poor position if we charged anything this time," Ald. Beggs said. "I think we should thank them for their offer but inform them that at the present time it is not our intention to render any charge for services outside the city as no fixed charge has been established."

Ald. Pat Anglesey, who sat on the committee ex officio as acting mayor in the absence of Mayor Norman Graham, seconded Ald. Beggs' motion, which was carried.

3 Separate Values Set On House In Court Hearing

Three different appraisals have been given of the value of the house and lands at 501 Water St., expropriated by the city from Miss Marjorie Best. Miss Best owned a one-and-a-half storey, seven-room house on a lot with a 91-ft., 7-in. frontage on the west side of Water St. The lot was about 115 feet deep. It was expropriated by the city along with other properties in the block for the present city hall site. An arbitration hearing is now going on before Judge John de N. Kennedy to fix on a sum of money that would compensate Miss Best for her property and the forcible taking of it.

Gordon Hancock, one of two land appraisers called on behalf of Miss Best, estimated the 1948 value of the property at $15,296. This, he explained, took into consideration what she would have to pay for similar accommodation—similar location and potentialities.

Adam Sands, the other appraiser called on behalf of Miss Best, put a total 1948 value on the property of $18,177.90. Land and buildings he estimated $15,755.90, plus $25 a foot frontage for the garden at the rear of the home.

$6,919 ESTIMATE

First appraiser called by the city was W. Ross Thompson. He said he thought Miss Best was putting the old house to the best possible use as a rooming house. He estimated that a purchaser would not be willing to pay more than $6,919 for the house and lands. His formula: Frontage at $50 a foot, or $4,579. The house as a revenue producer (three rooms rented at $5 a week over a three-year period) $2,340. Total $6,919.

George Sorenson, a previous witness for Miss Best, said that it would take 25 to 30 years to develop the grounds at the rear of the Best home to the condition they were in when they were expropriated in 1948.

The grounds, screened from Water St. by lilacs, contained shrubs and flowers and trees that had been cultivated by Miss Best and her father, before he died in February, 1948. There was also a small pool.

BEST IN CITY

Mr. Sorenson said he thought it was "the best garden in Peterborough." He estimated that if an expert were hired to develop the grounds to their 1948 condition the money outlay would be between $5,000 and $7,000.

It was a strip house (one board laid on another with plaster between) and with a stucco or rough cast finish. The house is believed to be at least 90 years old.

T. J. Carley, QC, is counsel for the city. Alex Elliott, QC, is counsel for Miss Best. The arbitration case, which began Tuesday, will continue next week.

Jr. Ski School To Open If Snow Stays

If the weather holds, and that's a big 'if' according to today's probabilities, the official opening of the Peterborough junior ski school will takep lace Saturday at Kemp's Hill on the Warsaw road.

The school, operated by the Peterborough Recreation Commission in conjunction with the Peterborough Ski Club, has had difficulty making a start this year regardless of the abundance of snow and freezing temperatures. As is the rule, anything planned has been blocked by the uncontrollable—in this case the weather.

A week ago Saturday skiing conditions on the hill were favorable and a number of skiers were reported to have taken advantage of them.

Last Saturday, the official opening of the school was planned, but a quick thaw, rain and freeze turned the slope into a slanted skating rink. Even then, about 40 boys and girls piled into cars and arrived for instruction in the art of starting, stopping and tumbling.

ARRANGED BUS

Ken Robinson, new recreational director, has arranged a bus schedule to carry the children out to Kemp's Hill this Saturday. There will be three buses; one leaving Prince of Wales School at 8:50 a.m., and Queen Mary school at 9:00 a.m., one leaving Confederation school at 9:00 a.m.; and one leaving the corner of Murray and Water Sts. at 9:00 a.m. The third bus will pick up skiers at the corners of Water and Parkhill and Parkhill and Armour Rd., as well.

Should the weather permit, a large number of children are expected to attend the instruction classes tomorrow, as the Southern Ontario junior championships are planned for next weekend. The location of the tournament is at present uncertain as the jump at Nassau is in poor skiing condition due to ice.

Maybe Farmers Beef About Summer Weather They've Nothing On City Men In Winter

It was 16 below Thursday night and the snow was frozen. But it's nothing to worry about. Saturday will see mild temperatures . . . and the snow will be like mud.

These cruel Canadian winters may not be so cruel but they certainly are unpredictable. The temperatures dropped from a blazing 17 above on Thursday to a night low of 16 degrees under the zero mark. That was a difference of 33 degrees in about 12 hours.

But as the hours wear by the mercury (or alcohol) slowly rises. It was a mere four below this morning and by this time tomorrow the temperature should be in the late thirties.

That means slush instead of snow; goo instead of ice. But wait, don't get jubliant yet. For coupled with this tropic weather is that necessity with all banana belts like Peterborough; good, solid drizzle, guaranteed to take the curl out of your hair and the press from your pants. That's enough to bring the howl from any city dweller.

Planning a weekend trip? Well, take it, and, while you're at it, take the weather with you, eh? Peterborough doesn't want it.

'Miniature Granite' Clubs Costing Toronto Fortune, Welfare Work Said Neglected

TORONTO (CP)—The city was accused Thursday of operating "miniature Granite Clubs" and child-minding services in north Toronto at the expense of the taxpayer while not enough money was available for welfare work in other sections of the city.

The charge was made by A. J. Brown, defeated mayoralty candidate and former chairman of the board of education. He told a business men's luncheon that citizens in the north Toronto district arrived at the free centres in limousines. Citizens in other areas have to scrape hard to find tax money to finance such projects, he added.

He referred to a high school which is operated two nights a week and two public schools where children's programs are held Saturday mornings. On a visit to one of the public schools he found four basement rooms occupied by 100 children between the ages of five and 15 learning to square dance, paint and model with plasticene.

Cost of the project is $150 a week in each of the two public schools and Mr. Brown said "thus the taxpayers of Toronto are providing this free child-minding service at two centres in an area where the parents could easily afford to pay for it themselves."

The project at the high school is similar to the 25 others operated around the city. Mr. Brown said the cost of each is $5,000 a year.

"The taxpayers are operating this miniature Granite Club and the people who arrive in their Cadillacs and Packards don't have to pay one cent," he said. "They learn how to paint, play badminton, square dance, make hats, smock, play in an orchestra, or improve their French for a trip to Paris, all at your expense."

The Granite Club is an exclusive, private club.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Cancer Society One Of Strongest In All Ontario

During the last 12 months the Peterborough unit, Canadian Cancer Society, has made great strides in all phases of its three-fold program. Members can feel gratified that they belong to one of the strongest and most active units in the province, if not the whole Dominion.

So said Mrs. Alene E. Holt, president, in reporting to the annual meeting of the unit held Thursday night. The Legion assembly hall, where the meeting was held, was packed to capacity, evidence of strong interest in the society's activities.

In 1953 the unit opened its own office on Water St. of which members were justly proud. On two afternoons each week a voluntary receptionist was in attendance to deal with the ever-growing number of enquiries.

"Our unit has the distinction of being the only one in the province with three sub-units", continued the report. The sub-units were located at Lakefield, Madoc and Bailieboro.

The lay-education committee had been most active distributing some 16,000 pieces of literature in industries, offices and through exhibits. In this respect all organizations had been most helpful.

Members had attended many functions as speakers and on some occasions films had been shown, these latter, through the courtesy of the local branch of the Film Council.

VOLUNTEERED WORK

The report also paid tribute to the work of the women's service committee which had prepared thousands of dressings and assisted with the welfare of patients. Eight collegiate girls were also voluntarily assisting with this work.

Other patients had been given transportation to and from hospitals, given boarding-out facilities and received gifts and personal visits while they were in hospital. Many letters of thanks had been received from patients helped in these ways.

"Under the capable leadership of our campaign chairman, Frank Foster, Q.C., our annual fund-raising campaign was very successful", said Mrs. Holt. "We had a quota of $8,000 and raised $10,301".

Actually the unit had "gone broke" during the year, but that had been a good sign. It showed that the money was being spent in the fight against cancer and was not being hoarded up. A grant of $400 had been made by the Ontario Division to the unit to keep things going until the next campaign in April.

The report also showed that 44.3 per cent of every dollar was ear-marked for research. The balance went towards welfare, lay-education and fund-raising.

"Let us all—the medical profession, the hospitals, nurses, churches, organizations, in fact everyone, work in complete co-operation and understanding so that we will conquer this disease of cancer", said Mrs. Holt. "Let our slogan be—'We will fight it—we have to fight it'."

Thousands Of Canadians Fighting Cancer Provide Hope For Cure

Although success lies hidden down a long road of hard work, the battle against cancer and its causes is being fought by thousands of Canadians everywhere people in all walks of life are giving money and time to the fight. Already much has been accomplished. Much remains to be done.

This was the message of one of Canada's foremost radio-therapists, Dr. Clifford Ash, who spoke at the annual meeting, Peterborough unit, Canadian Cancer Society, Thursday night. The meeting was largely attended.

Dr. Ash considered the society was doing a great job at present with the education and welfare of the public and by collecting finance for research.

TWO CURES

It was only by the study of thousands of persons throughout the world that present cure techniques could be improved. There were two known cures at the moment, surgery and radio-therapy, but only a certain number of patients responded to these. Doctors had to be extremely careful in administering radiation, because too much treatment could be dangerous to a person.

Naturally, the earlier a case was noticed, the better the chances of survival and so the society was doing all in its power to keep the need for precautions and systematic examinations ever present in the minds of the public.

RESEARCH INSTITUTE

The speaker said that Toronto was making preparations to build a research institute to combat the disease. In it would be big laboratories, physics and research departments. It would be costly, but well worth the effort.

It was unfortunate that only larger centres could afford much of the equipment needed for treatment. For instance, the Cobalt Bomb was installed at a cost of $43,000.

"Meanwhile all we can do is to pursue with diligence the aims of our society," said Dr. Ash. "To educate the public, assist in the welfare of sufferers and give money for research. Believe me, things would have been much more difficult without your help."

With his talk Dr. Ash showed several color slides depicting patients affected by cancer. Other pictures showed them after treatment.

George Phifher, secretary-treasurer, national executive, Canadian Cancer Society, spoke of the great amount of work being done by Canadians towards combatting cancer. However, there was a challenge to do even more. This was not time to ease up, but rather to go ahead.

MORE FUNDS

"Research will continue to demand more and more funds from you," he said. "We are doing everything to see that youd dollar goes toward really essential work."

Throughout the whole Dominion, there were only 57 paid employees in the society. It was hoped that volunteers would reduce this number in the future.

Robert Montgomery Moves Into White House On Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—A one-time union official and admirer of Franklin D. Roosevelt has moved into the White House.

He's been a Republican for years, however, and he's on the employer side of the bargaining table these days. Most people know him best as an actor and television producer. His name is Robert Montgomery.

Reporters noticed that the handsome, well-dressed Montgomery had been around the presidential offices quite a bit lately. Thursday they asked about it and got the answer: Montgomery has been given a White House office, but no salary, so he'll be handy to advise President Eisenhower on radio and television techniques.

The move didn't surprise the former Hollywood star's friends. Montgomery has been keenly interested in politics for a long time and was a likely candidate for assistant secretary of the navy if Thomas E. Dewey had been elected president in 1948.

PART-TIME JOB

The new semi-official job of radio-TV adviser is only part-time for Montgomery. He's continuing to produce his Monday night television drama show, Robert Montgomery Presents. But he spends a lot of time at the White House. Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday this week, for example, even though no major presidential speech is scheduled in the immediate future.

Montgomery has advised the president from time to time before this, beginning with his Christmas Eve message. He directed, in effect, Eisenhower's television chat with the public early this month, and made suggestions for improving delivery of the State of the Union address.

One idea that paid off: Raising the president's reading stand a few inches so Eisenhower could see better and the television cameras would pick up more of his face.

This isn't Montgomery's first White House stint. In 1942, when in the navy, he supervised installation of a wartime operations room and developed a warm admiration for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In his Hollywood days Montgomery was a leading figure in the Screen Actors Guild (AFL) and became its president.

Coffee Prices Up

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The price of coffee has gone up in coffee-growing Brazil, too. The price today was 48 cruzeiros a kilogram—about $1.10 a pound in United States figures—almost 37 per cent higher than the 35 cruzeiros a kilogram Brazilians paid for coffee last October.

Escape Landslide

MODENA, Italy (AP)—A landslide a mile and a half wide and 20 feet deep crushed over its eighth house Thursday, minutes after the residents had fled. More than 50 rural residents near the hamlets of Montalbano and Missano Zocca have been elevated from other farm homes. The rain-loosened slide of mud and rock from Mount Boschi has been moving forward at a yard an hour for two days.

Alleged Fraud Damage Action

TORONTO (CP)—A damage action for alleged fraud in the sale of a Windsor, Ont., brewery to Carling Breweries Limited began in Ontario Supreme Court Thursday before Mr. Justice J. L. Wilson.

The plaintiffs are Lillian A. Ellis and David C. Fox, both of Windsor and shareholders in Old Comrades Brewery, Ltd. The defendants are Carling Breweries Ltd., W. E. Drewry, A. S. Pearson, Edward P. Taylor, Charles O. Dalton, L. A. Deziel, J. H. Mothersill, S.L. Springsteen, J. E. McKeon, J. E. McQueen and Old Comrades Brewery Limited.

It is alleged that some of the defendants bought Tecumseh Brewery Limited, which was owned by Canadian Canners, for $55,000 with $10,000 in borrowed cash; that they then incorporated and sold the property to Old Comrades for $240,500.

This $240,500 was to be paid for by the issuing of 66,500 shares to the two men from whom the $10,000 was borrowed, and by the issuing of 163,500 shares to themselves and friends.

Stock was then sold to the public—about 300,000 shares—from $1 to $1.50 a share.

Two Sets Of Twins

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Mrs. Bridgett Lewis, 23, gave birth Thursday to her fourth child within the last 11 months. The new twins were named Daniel and Diana. Cathlee and Colleen, likewise twins, were born Feb. 9, 1953.

Much Enthusiam Revealed At St. Giles First Meeting

The first annual meeting of the congregation of St. Giles' Presbyterian church was held on Thursday evening in the Confederation school where the congregation has met since it first started holding services in October 1952.

A new church is now being built on Park St. S. and it was announced that this would in all probability be ready sometime in May for the official dedication ceremony and opening. The Rev. Gilbert Smith the minister who came to Peterborough in April of 1953 from Lisburn, Ireland was in the chair and Douglas Melville acted as secretary.

The session reported that work which commenced as a mission in October 1952 has now become the rapidly thriving St. Giles' church. There is a Sunday school with an enrolment of more than 160 children under the superintendent Earl Powers and an efficient staff of 22 teachers. "This work", the session recorded, "is a specially bright spot in the church life." The session also recorded that one of the special features of the church worship was the service of praise under the direction of Mrs. G. Wilson Craw and a choir which has achieved excellent results. A junior choir of 50 boys and girls has been organized.

TRIBUTE TO THE LADIES

Special tribute was paid to the work of the ladies which "has been everywhere evident and their enthusiastic efforts have been truly magnificent. Not only have the friendship group and the evening guild raised a large sum of money, but the kindly atmosphere of their meetings and their initative in welcoming new members has helped greatly to guide and consolidate our church."

The congregation went on record as being deeply grateful for the help and interest of the members of St. Paul's Presbyterian church in their enthusiastic support in doing everything possible both financially and in othe ways "to make St. Giles' church a landmark for the worship of God, for the people of South Peterborough."

Ronald Watson the church treasurer reported a surplus after all obligations had been met and Walter Dunford treasurer of the building fund reported on the contributions to the fund and the plans to finance the $73,000 church.

Elected to the board of managers were Roy Juby, Ronald Watson and Walter Dunford. John Robertson and Grant Clark were named auditors.

CONGRATULATES CONGREGATION

James Dutton, who was one of those largely responsible for the organization of the congregation, was present and after hearing the congregational reports congratulated the members on the work achieved and the enthusiasm shown. "I am sure there is not a congregation in Canada that can show such a record of achievement in such a short time," he declared.

Following the reports of the session, Sunday school, board of managers and building committee the congregation stood and sang the Duoxology.

Reports of the two women's organizations showed a most successful year of activities. Substantial sums of money were raised and these are being put away to help in furnishing the new church.

The choir reported about half the money raised towards the purchase of new gowns.

It was announced that a list of furnishings for the church was being established. An appeal was made to the members and their friends to donate these either as memorials or gifts. Suitable recognition is being planned in a memorial book which will be placed in the church.

During the opening devotions the choir sang an anthem and as a break during reading of reports, the male chorus was heard in a beautifully rendered negro spiritual. Following the business session Roy Juby reported on the canvas of the district being planned and the choir under the direction of Mrs. Adam Sands served lunch to the congregation.

Showing of a film wound up a very successful evening.

Book-Burning Controversy Going To B.C. Legislature

VICTORIA (CP)—The explosive "book burning" controversy raging in the British Columbia capital, will be taken to the floor of the legislature when it opens here next month.

J. Alan Reid, Social Credit member from Salmon Arm, B.C., said he would bring up the issue when the legislature convenes.

Mr. Reid rocked the legislature at the last spring session with charges of sex textbooks being used in British Columbia schools.

He said the controversy, revolving around the reported "book-burning" remarks of Victoria's mayor Claude Harrison "certainly points out the people who have Communist leanings."

The subject raged within and without city council chambers Thursday with Mayor Harrison claiming he was misrepresented when he was quoted Tuesday as saying he wanted all subversive books on the Victoria public library shelves burned. However, he said he didn't think it was such a bad idea.

Mayor Harrison said the whole controversy was "nonsense."

Mrs. Doris Lougheed, library board member, said the press had a "communistic attitude."

SAID REPORTS PROPAGANDA

Alderman Brent Murdoch, member of the incoming library board, called press reports "propaganda."

In explaining his stand on the issue, Mayor Harrison said a reporter called him to ask "my opinion about reports of subversive books on library shelves."

"I told him I would not be agreeable to taxpayers' money being spent on subversive books," he told city council. "When asked what I would personally do with such books, I said I would burn them—that's all. That's what all this nonsense is about."

Ald. Robert Macmillan lost a fight to block the appointment of Ald. Murdoch to the library board.

"I spent three years overseas fighting the very thing some of the board is standing for," he said. "I don't agree with you (the mayor) or Murdoch in your theories."

ATTACKS CENSORSHIP

Outside city council, the B. C. public library commission, which administers the Public Libraries Act, stepped into the affray with an attack on "censorship."

A commission statement said "it is a fundamental principle in the philosophy of public libraries in the Anglo-Saxon world that there shall be freedom to read."

So far, there has been no indication that the government plans to probe the 250,000 volumes in the provincial library for "subversive" literature.

Meanwhile, a meeting of the 1953 library board Thursday passed on to the incoming board the appeal of John Marshal, dismissed for reported past association with leftist organizations. Mr. Marshall, fired from his library post and given no reason, has asked the board for a hearing.

Mrs. Lougheed said the library board is not practising "Hitler tactics." She said an unnamed citizen told her "books extolling the wonders of communism aere available in the library and books on democracy were not available."

I Remember an Ezinicki rush!

by REX STIMERS

"Junior OHA hockey has produced many great players. One of the best and also one of the most confident, was Bill Ezinicki, hardrock forward with Oshawa Generals who later advanced to the Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins. I interviewed Bill Ezinicki from Oshawa, the night of Saturday, March 10, 1944, just prior to the 6th game of the OHA Junior 'A' finals between the famed Generals and the new St. Catharines Falcons. 'Our team will defeat you tonight, then win the Memorial Cup and I have the feeling I'll score the winning goal,' stated Ezinicki on that program. Falcons took a 2-0 lead early in the first period, nursed it until the third. Two quick goals in the first five minutes of that third period tied the score, then with just 9 minutes remaining Ezinicki scored the winner on a solo rush. The win by Generals eliminated Falcons four games to two . . . Oh yes, the Generals did go on to win the Memorial Cup."

Combining YM And YW's In Same Building Attracts Members—Director

Men like women and women like men, Stanley Symington, director of boys' work on the National Council of YMCA's, told the annual meeting of the local YMCA Friday night. Hence the modern building trend all across Canada is to put YMCA's and YWCA's in the same building, to promote more mutual activities.

In areas where YMCA's are wholly male, membership is steadily on the decline, said Mr. Symington. On the other hand, more women in all communities are becoming more interested in Y work, and where the men's organization is in the same building, this produces a parallel increase in male membership.

London and Cobourg are two Ontario cities which have already come to realize that co-ordinate building can produce more members for both groups. The Y planned for Welland, Ont., will follow this pattern as well.

ENCOURAGING GROWTH

The overall physical expansion of the Y movement is "very encouraging," said Mr. Symington. He mentioned the ultra-modern $1,500,000 YMCA in Halifax, a debt-free $235,000 building in Moncton and several other Maritime projects. The Maritimes, he said, are setting a good example to the rest of the nation.

Turning to the philosophy of the Y movement, Mr. Symington said that it is not the Y activities of themselves which are of first importance, but the personal influence of Y leaders in inculcating ideals of brotherhood.

Civilization is doomed unless man cultivates the science of human relationships, Mr. Symington declared, paraphrasing a famous quote from one of Franklin D. Roosevelt's last speeches. Organizations like the Y have "the biggest job in the world" because "the reform of society starts with the reform of the individual."

"Just build a better you and you will help to build a better world," is the keynote of Y philosophy. Young members, he said, must be made to understand that co-operation is not only desirable but essential if the world is to become healthier.

MORE AVAILABLE

The Peterborough YMCA has an especially big job, said Mr. Symington, because of the population jump since the war. There were over 1,000 births in 1947, a record year. These children are nine years old today, "just ripe for Y membership."

But while we are educating children to co-operate with their fellows, we must also "see that they realize that while they represent the average Canadian man, from a world point of view they are anything but average." The vast majority of the world's peoples, said the speaker, are underfed, ill-housed, lacking in hope and practically illiterate. Thus the global responsibility of Y's in North America is particularly important.

Summarizing YMCA activities for 1953, James Wharry noted that adult membership dropped from 712 to 545 last year, while boys' membership remained almost constant at 383. Membership income, however, was up from 1952, indicating "a more stable type" of enrolment.

The operating account for the year ending December 31 shows that despite such revenue items as $9,631 for membership fees and $17,411 from subscriptions, the operating loss for the year was $1,572.86. Administrative and operating expenses alone cut over $28,000 from the Y's budget.

The Y's Men's Club, under president Don Harwood, reported a good year. Chief Y's Men's project was Camp Kawartha which the executive expects to be "even bigger and better next year." Last night's annual meeting was held in conjunction with the regular meeting of the Y's Men and Mr. Harwood shared the gavel with YMCA president Stanley G. Payne.

OTHER CLUBS

Reports were also received from the Friday Night Club, the Anglo-Canadian Club, the six bowling leagues, the Y's Menettes, the So-Ed (Social Education) group, the physical department, the house committee, the boys' department and the World Service branch of the Y. A cheque to Colonel J. A. Dewart, of the latter group, was presented by Grant Gillespie on behalf of the Y's Men.

Three new directors were named and three re-appointed to replace the third of the slate due for retirement. New directors are Clarence B. Neal, Andrew Perdon and Dr. J. H. Whiteside, with J. E. Girven, P. M. McCarrell and J. F. Richardson reappointed. An amendment to the constitution provides that the membership of the board be expanded from 18 to 21 this year.

After dinner, the YCMA boys' work secretary, William McFarlane, led in a sing-song. He was assisted by Jim Abraham at the piano. Baritone Robert Aspinall also provided some solo selections.

At the head table Thursday night were Col. J. A. Dewart, Ken Kingston, James Wharry, Stanley G. Payne, P. M. McCarrell, Dr. J. H. Whiteside, the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, William McFarlane, James Abraham, Robert Aspinall, Hugh Waddell, James McClenaghan, Jack Wilson, Fred Huffman, Fraser Wade, Don Harwood and Mr. Symington. The speaker was introduced by Mr. McCarrell and thanked by Mr. Waddell.

Beatty Plans To Revive Circus Parade

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Clyde Beatty is bringing back a venerable but faded American institution—the circus parade.

Many can remember the thrill of sitting on a curb and watching the wonderland of the circus march down the main street of town. But in the last decade or two that experience has been denied youngsters.

"We haven't had a parade for 12 years," said Beatty, circus operator and greatest of the wild animal trainers. "But this year we're going to try it. I got the idea when we staged a parade while we were filming 'Ring of Fear' in Tucson. The people seemed to love it.

"I've got some old circus wagons at our winter quarters and I'm getting them out and painting them. We'll pull them with our jeeps or arrange for trucks in each town. The rest of the show is well equipped for a parade. We have a calliope and the animal cages have rubber wheels.

"Adding the parade will cost around $500 a day, but I figure it will be worth it."

MAY RETIRE

The Beatty circus will move out of winter quarters March 20 for another season of thrilling children of all ages. Clyde didn't say whether it will be his last year before the big cats, but he did admit he is thinking about retiring. Although he looks much younger, he is 51 and says that it will soon be time to quit.

The trouble is in finding a successor. Many brave souls have applied for the job, but none seems to qualify.

"Most of them want to get right in the cage and go to work," Clyde remarked. "You can never handle the animals that way. You have to work around them for a long time and get to know what they're like. Each animal is different just like humans, you must get to know their temperament and habits.

"I was a cage boy for two years before I ever got to handle the animals. But kids today don't want to bother with all that work. They want to be stars right away."

Beatty can report from his own experience that the job is not an easy one. The public expects excitement, he said, and his act of combining lions and tigers in one cage usually provides it. Although his face appears unmarked (he throws up an arm to protect himself), his body is covered with scars.

ST. JAMES' UNITED CHURCH held an extension fund appeal dinner Thursday evening in the basement of George Street United Church. The $125,000 drive will finance extensive renovations to the church. Discussing their problem, above, left to right, are special gifts chairman Ted Elliott, general chairman Ernest Kitney, canvass committee chairman Norris Williamson and St. James' minister, the Rev. A. Lloyd Shorten.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

St. James Church Campaign Opens To Raise $150,000

A loyalty dinner attended by more than 400 members of St. James' United church on Thursday night in the George Street church basement opened the campaign to raise $125,000. The funds are to be used for building and extension purposes.

Ernest Kitney is the general chairman of the campaign and Norris Williamson the canvass committee chairman. Others in charge of the canvass are John Kitney, publications; John Sanderson, treasurer; Arnold E. Prest, historian; Mrs. George Hewitt, hostess, and Mrs. Henry Turner, arrangements.

Herbert F. Doig heads the initial gifts division. Roy Heard is team chairman, and Ted Elliott, William Collison and Earl Church, special gifts.

EFFORT AND SACRIFICE

The Rev. A. Lloyd Shorten, minister of St. James', in a brief address declared that the story of the United Church in Canada is one of effort and sacrifice and prayer. "The most sacred experiences of life have bound this church close to your lives. Because it means so much it provides us with the reason for making it even stronger and more effective in the future. We must accept our responsibility to provide Christian teaching for an increasing number of boys and girls. Our church must be the centre of religious and social activity in our community."

Ernest Kitney, the general chairman, told of the needs. "The church in this growing community is facing a tremendous challenge. There is dire need for repair and alterations. A need that will increase in urgency and cost with the coming years. A need that is now a challenge to this congregation, both to provide adequately for the ever-increasing number of youth and for the development of our own spiritual lives."

DAY OF OPPORTUNITY

"This is our day of opportunity, our day of Christian responsibility," declared Mr. Williamson, the canvass chairman. "Until a present generation family has made at least one sacrificial gift to the building of some church, every time a member of that family uses a church he is increasing his indebtness to an earlier generation, and has not met his full obligation to build for the needs of his day. Further he is passing this obligation on to his children."

Ted Elliott, special gifts chairman, declared, "Giving is a habit — usually a weak habit — and pocketbook protection is an instinct usually a strong one."

Herb Doig urged everyone to do his part, and Roy Heard told the gathering, "Your church does not challenge your ability to give —it challenges your willingness to give."

HISTORY OF CHURCH

It was in 1908 that the Rev. H. M. Manning was commissioned by the Bay of Quinte conference to launched the building of a new Methodist church in Peterborough. Rather than wait for the erection of a building, a tent was pitched on the corner of the building lot, and on July 12 the first service was held. From the beginning the tent was filled to capacity. The corner stone was laid on October 10. Services continued in the tent until November. The building was opened on March 28, 1909, and in July the Rev. J. G. Brown was appointed minister. By 1914 it was found necessary to build a new church, and at that time the Trinity Methodist church had decided to build and offered to St. James' the old Charlotte Street Methodist church complete, including organ; furnishings, chandeliers, pulpit, seating, stained glass windows, etc., "for the purpose only of erecting it as a church on St. James' church property.

The old Charlotte Street church was taken apart and moved to the site of St. James', and every part of the old church was incorporated into the building of St. James'

Not Planning Full-Scale Coffee Inquiry

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian combines officials are checking on rising coffee prices but a full-scale investigation has not been ordered.

Justice Minister Garson, the minister in charge of administering legislation outlawing restrictive trade practices, made the statement Thursday in the Commons in reply to a question from Hazen Argue (CCF—Assiniboia).

Mr. Argue noted that the federal trade commission of the United States has launched an investigation and asked if Canada will follow suit.

NOT FULL INVESTIGATION

"We would not authorize a full-scale investigation unless checks we are making indicate this is necessary," Mr. Garson replied.

He said it appears clear one of the main reasons for the price increase has been frost damage to the Brazilian coffee crop. The frost also had damaged plants producing next year's crop.

"On the face of it," he said, "it would appear the rise in price is perhaps due to these natural causes."

Mr. Garson added that if the U.S. investigation "discloses anything, it will probably disclose the causes of the price increase."

SARNIA (CP) — Police Chief James Torrance said Thursday that gambling, bootlegging and prostitution are gaining a foothold in Sarnia.

He asked Sarnia police commission for eight more men on the police force. Three of them would be assigned to the morality squad, he said.

"The volume of work has increased tremendously," he declared.

Juvenile Delinquency Down 50% During Last 10 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—Juvenile delinquency appears to have declined by half in the 10 years following the peak year of 1942.

A bureau of statistics analysis of delinquency issued Thursday shows that the 5,418 boys and 650 girls declared delinquent by the courts in 1952 is 49.4 per cent lower than 10 years previously. About one of every three had been in court before.

The number found delinquent—a drop from 1951 of 614 for boys but higher by 38 girls—was the lowest reported in the 31 years the bureau has kept records.

The courts dealt formally with 7,213 charges compared with 7,521 the previous year. In addition, at least 6,794 cases were dealt with informally by judges and probation officers.

Newfoundland and the four western provinces reported increases in the number of children brought to court. The other provinces reported decreases. The number declared delinquent followed a similar pattern except that New Brunswick reported an increase over 1951.

By provinces the number brought to court and the number found delinquent respectively, in 1952 with 1951 figures in brackets were:

Newfoundland, 223 and 215 (194 and 175); Prince Edward Island, 29 and 29 (55 and 52); Nova Scotia, 425 and 356 (554 and 483); New Brunswick, 274 and 267 (275 and 261); Quebec, 965 and 628 (1,348 and 1,180); Ontario, 3,370 and 2,889 (3,441 and 3,024); Manitoba 454 and 409 (404 and 347); Saskatchewan 84 and 81 (71 and 64); Alberta, 368 and 317 (285 and 242); British Columbia 1,021 and 877 (893 and 815).

Four out of every five boys brought before the courts were charged with property offences. Theft and receiving stolen goods made up almost half the number of cases with burglaries, robberies and break-ins about one-quarter. More than half the girls were charged with incorrigibility and thefts.

HOW TO PARK SECURELY ON A HILL!

Always use curb as extra "brake"!

- Pull hand brake on hard.
- When you park facing downhill turn your wheels to the right. Facing uphill, turn wheels to left. Either way . . . if brakes fail car will wedge into curb and stop.
- If there is no curb where you park, wedge a large stone or piece of wood under one of rear wheels.
- Put gearshift in reverse when you park facing downhill. Put it in low for uphill parking. Engine then acts as additional brake.

Cook; treasurer, Mrs. F. Gray; secretary, Mrs. C. A. Gilders. Convener of the general purpose fund is Mrs. J. Adams; advisory council chairman is Mrs. W. Todd; card convener is Mrs. Bert Austin. Chandler rendered two solos, "Think on me" and "Thanks be to God," and was accompanied by Mrs. Percy Hooper. The nominations report was brought in by Mrs. G. Millen and a vote of thanks to the retiring officers was moved by Mrs. W. A. Greenslade. Mrs. F. Dunford and her group served tea and refreshments at the close.

Dedicate Prayer

Nettie McKenzie Mission Band meeting was held at Knox Church Wednesday afternoon with an attendance of 24 children. They dedicated their circle prayer to missionary Miss Helen I. Heuston, graduate of the United Church Training School in 1953, who went to India. A chapter from their study book "The Round Window" was capably explained by Mrs. J. Donaldson. A doll representing Mohanned Ali, dressed by Susan Sharpe's mother, was placed on the friendship circle of World Friends. A poster entitled "Blessings of the open church" was completed with help of members. A gold star to be placed on the recognition certificate of the Mission Band was received from Mrs. Fred McIndoo, secretary of Mission Bands for the Presbyterial. Anne Londerville and Billy Henley acted as Work and Worship twins and Anne repeated the Mohammed call to worship "God is great, God is great, there is no God but Allah; come and pray; prayer is better than sleep." The children were requested to bring pictures from magazines to be used in their word books for next meeting. Each child was given a copy of World Friends supplied by the WMS afternoon group.

Fisheries Dept. Makes Appointment

OTTAWA (CP)—Margaret Myer of Chippawa, home economist and former nutrition supervisor with the Ontario agriculture department, has been appointed assistant chief of the home economics section, inspection and consumer service, of the federal fisheries department, it was announced Thursday.

Miss Myer succeeds Miss Helen M. McKercher, who has been appointed chief of the department's home economics service.

A graduate of the University of Toronto in 1937, Miss Myer worked at the Toronto General Hospital and Robert Simpson and Company and from 1942 to 1946 served with RCAF in Alberta, British Columbia and overseas. Following her discharge, she became dietitian at Christie Street Hospital, Toronto.

Her new job entails informing Canadian housewives and others responsible for feeding of the proper methods of buying and preparing fish.

This Is The Time To Check Linens

This is the time of year to linger in the linen cupboard to take stock of sheets, towels and washcloths. The springtime bride-to-be isn't the only one who can benefit from the white sales which beckon every homemaker to invest in a bargain or two.

If you linens aren't quite ready for the rag bag and you meet up with a good buy in sheets or towels, remember that cotton goods can be stored safely.

But sheets should be washed before storage to remove any starch or sizing which tends to make the fabric stiff. They should be stored in a dry, well-venilated place to avoid mildew and wrapped to keep them clean.

How many sheets do you figure per bed? Some homemakers say six; others say four. With automatic washing and drying equipment, you need fewer than if you send out the laundry or must wait for a sheet to dry indoors.

It is smart shopping to check for flaws such as thick yarns, knots and bumpy weaves.

Towels and washcloths don't wear out at an even rate in our house. The washcloths seem to go first. This poses a real problem if you have started out with sets in matched colors.

In buying replacements switch to white in order to solve this problem. Then, when time permits, cross-stitch an initial on the cloth in the color of the still useable towel.

Buying "seconds" can represent substantial savings with no loss of wear. But do check terry towels and cloths for even pile. If the pile-warp threads are loose and pull out easily, the towel probably won't wear well.

Warsaw WA Plans Pancake Social

The United Church women's association met Thursday afternoon in the Sunday school rooms.

The meeting was opened with the singing of the theme.

Mrs. Stewart Clysdale was program convener and took charge of the devotional period.

Mrs. Gordon Sharpe was elected to replace Mrs. Stan Payne on the church board.

The ladies will hold a pancake social on March 2. The committee elected to be in charge of arrangements are: Mrs. S. Clysdale, Mrs. L. Lonsberry in charge of pancakes, Mrs. Ida Darling and Mrs. William Darling, kitchen conveners. Mrs. Ed Bell and Miss Clara McCracken in charge of tables. Mrs. Digweed is canvasser.

A donation of $80.00 was made towards the maintainence of the parsonage.

Mrs. S. Clysdale gave a reading, "The Quilting Party" and the meeting was closed with the benediction.

Lunch was served by hostesses Mrs. S. Nelson and Mrs. Sherwood Payne.

Take a short cut next time you wash the bathroom walls and moisten them first with steam from the shower. This helps loosen the dirt and will make the job much easier. Often all that's required then is a light rub-down with a damp cellulose sponge. Be sure to ventilate the bathroom thoroughly after sponging the walls to protect the paint from condensed steam.

Nail polish will cling better and wear longer if the nails are thoroughly cleaned twice with polish remover. Clean them once to remove old polish and again just before applying fresh polish to be sure they are free of any trace of oil or foreign matter. Cuticle oil should never be used before polish has been applied.

HERE'S A PREVIEW OF THE SHOES you will be wearing next summer for fun in the sun. They're going along on winter vacations right now, are lightweight and easy to pack. Natural colored raffia (upper left) has red band across the vamp, comes with flexible cork-and-crepe sole that cushions the foot. Washable braid in multicolor (upper right) makes sandal that has straps over the instep to give it firm fit. Denim, important in other fashions for resort wear, makes its appearance here too. Slip-on (lower left) is charcoal denim with soft cushion insole and lightweight, thick corrugated rubber-and-cork sole. New indoor-outdoor style (lower right) comes in a number of colors, each with white awning stripe vamp. This washable shoe has natural crepe sole.

Says Chinchilla Raising Lucrative Woman's Hobby

TORONTO— "Raising chinchillas is just as easy as raising goldfish—and a lot more lucrative for the career woman who is looking ahead to retirement security," according to a well-known Toronto public speaking teacher.

Mrs. Dorothy Dew, one of the many chinchilla ranchers who are making plans for the annual Chinchilla Show being held here Saturday, says that raising chinchillas for her "is a sort of old age pension— a hobby that I can develop through the years and which will eventually give me a good retirement income."

In addition to the financial security they offer, these friendly little animals are unusually appealing and delightful to watch in their antics, she added. "In fact, it is almost impossible to resist them when you see them scampering playfully around their cages. Particularly after a hard day's work, I find it quite restoring to take care of the cute little creatures. As a hobby, it certainly has given me a new lease on life."

While Mrs. Dew's experience in chinchilla ranching is certainly unique, it is by no means unusual. According to Basil Hall, president of Central Ontario Branch of the National Chinchilla Breeders of Canada, there are more women engaged in chinchilla ranching than there are in any other section of the fur industry. It has been estimated that around 80 per cent of Canadian chinchilla ranchers are either women or husband and wife combinations.

The reason for this, says Mrs. Dew, "is that chinchillas are quite easy to handle and require less time and effort than almost any other type of animal. They are entirely odorless and far cleaner than most domestic pets. Because of this I am able to keep 14 chinchillas in my basement with absolutely no trouble whatever."

Mrs. Dew feels that while chinchilla raising is certainly a lucrative hobby for career women, "it should also have a definite appeal to housewives who are looking for a part-time career, too."

Dutch Church Being Held In YW

ARMOUR HEIGHTS SCHOOL

"Open school" was held Wednesday evening by the Home and School Association at Armour Heights School. Teachers put forth a great deal of effort in arranging the pupils' work in the halls and classrooms for this occasion.

Teachers and mothers receiving the parents in each classroom were: Miss Barker and Mrs. Hugh Heaslip, Mrs. A. Robertson, Mrs. J Lucas and Mrs. Wm. Neck; Miss Merrett and Mrs. V. Thraves, Mrs. R. Asselstine; Miss Leach and Mrs. C. Munro and Mrs. Harry Walsh; Mrs. Hutchins and Mrs. E. Macdonald; Miss Spence and Mrs. H. Howie; Miss Pidgeon and Mrs. J. Thornton and Mrs. A. Farthing; Miss Leggitt and Mrs. L. Peterson and Mrs. D. Price; Mr. and Anderson and Mrs. R. Pammett, Mrs. A. Barnes and Mrs. A. Stein; Mr. McNeill and Mrs. Jack Lee, Mrs. J. Cullen and Mrs. E. Brooks.

From a suggestion box that was in the hall it is hoped to find a name for the spring tea which the ladies hope to make an annual event. They expect to hold it some time in March.

Discussion of the unit system in the school took place, with Mr. W. L. McNeill, Miss P. M. Pidgeon and Mrs. P. Hutchins forming the discussion panel. This proved most helpful to the parents, and Mr. Ross Greenley thanked the teachers at the close.

Mrs. Reta Johnston Hostess To WA

HASTINGS (ENS)—The Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church met with Mrs. Reta Johnson as hostess. In place of scripture the 23rd Psalm was repeated in unison.

The treasurer, Mrs. A. Sherwin, and secretary, Mrs. J. C. Taylor, gave very encouraging reports. Mrs. Scott Fife gave current events on missions.

Mrs. Johnson sang a solo with Mrs. H. B. Wilson at the piano.

A letter was read from the presbytery supply secretary stating the allocation and asking for half a layette for a small child.

Readings were given by Mrs. C. Dodd and Mrs. Maude Brown. Mrs. Scott Fife gave a chapter of the study book. Mrs. Fife also spoke on the presbyterial meeting held at St. Paul's in Peterborough.

Mrs. C. Dodd poured tea and the hostess served refreshments. The names contest was won by Mrs. Fife. A vote of thanks to the hostess was moved by Mrs. J. C. Taylor.

Don't Waste Your Christmas Gifts

The tinsel and excitement of Christmas have gone— but the many remembrances which you received are still with you. Are you getting the enjoyment from them that you should? Or are you insulting the giver by tucking away your gifts into the back of the closet or in the bureau drawer?

Many women save such things as perfume for "a special occasion," which often is so slow in coming around that by the time it arrives the perfume has lost some of its beauty.

Just as the scarf or gloves or sweater you received at holiday time meant to be worn, so to is the fragrance which someone was thoughful enough to give you. The beauty of perfume is in the wearing of it. The scent does no good to anyone when it is locked up in a bottle.

After six months many perfumes start to change in character if ont stored under ideal conditions known only to the expert. Light and heat affect the balance of the scent. Often the alcohol (which must be used for a carrier) tends to break down the odor qualitiy of certain oils after a while. So you are extravagantly wasteful when you start "saving" your perfume.

If you're a windowsill gardener all winter long, decorate your earthenware flower pots by painting them to match or accent the room's decor. The leaves touching the rim of the flower pot need protection from the corrosive action of certain soil elements which seep through the clay pot. The answer is to coat the rim with a film of paraffin wax. First, melt the wax in a large double boiler. Then dip the rim of the pot into the liquid until it is well coated.

WCTU Hears Report World Convention

Regular meeting of the WCTU was held in the YWCA Thursday afternoon, and was opened with a new year message from the president, Mrs. E. M. Davis.

Devotions were taken by Mrs. W. A. Poast and Mrs. G. H. Rowe, Miss E. Dewart repeated a new year poem "God's Will to Know-to Do- to Love" and "The influence One Life Has on Another." Mrs. W. Boorman's solo "Just a Little Help from You" was accompanied by Mrs. B. F. Gadd at the piano.

The educational clip sheet featured "Why Condemn Moderate Drinking!" The annual tea is being arranged for the last Thursday in February, the 25th, and March is to be the "membership meeting."

A report of the World WCTU Convention held in the summer of '53 at Vancouver, BC was given by Mrs. R. Hanscom. This report was exceedingly interesting and very instructive. Two thousand delegates from 60 countries attended the convention and were addressed by many notable personages.

Mrs. Manscom learned that in British Columbia the government has appointed a director of narcotic education to choose text books for the schools. In three Western provinces, there have been started schools for narcotic education for teachers to be held two weeks each year.

Judge Kennedy Suggests Painting-Up George Street

County Judge, His Honor J. de N. Kennedy, addressed the Soroptimist Club of Peterborough at the monthly dinner meeting Thursday evening.

He combined carefully thought-out remarks of civic interest with suggestions for action on the part of the women's service club, or some women's organization of the city. Several of these startled his hearers somewhat, but they found that the judge was speaking in all seriousness and they became of the opinion that "he had something".

The first proposal was to visualize this country in the future: Will it have Parliamentary Government or Communism? Judge Kennedy allowed that the latter has the advantage of enthusiasm and that it is an alluring and a positive theory, while on the parliamentary side there is nothing but apathy toward the very foundations on which the system rests and depends for its existence.

"In my opinion the step to take, if we wish to retain the present system, is to demonstrate that our system is the best" he stated. "Since our government in all its levels is our servant, awaiting our orders, we must therefore improve our system ourselves and carry out the orders we think should be carried out."

Since the power of government is largely under the jurisdiction of the municipalities, the Judge made a very short step to his next topic: "Ways we can improve Peterborough."

"Many elderly people here are finding it impossible to live on their pensions and are living out a pitiful existence in bad quarters and on bad food". There are others who are destitute, not eligible for any form of relief and not able to work, whose only hope is to go to jail as vagrants." The Judge admitted that they are warm, well fed and humanely treated in Peterborough jail, but "it is not the proper place for them, and it is a very expensive way to house them for the taxpayers".

COULD BEAR COST

"Surely Peterborough, a city of 40,000 people, can support or at least bear its share of the construction and maintenance costs of a home for elderly people" urged Judge Kennedy. "And could not this home possibly have an annex to give bed and lodging for light work to the so-called vagrants until they get on their feet?"

He remarked that there are people who fear that the latter accommodation would lead to this city being inundated by such people from all over the province, but the Judge said "I don't think it is true." He pointed out that places like St. Catharines, Brockville and Whitby have such homes and have not suffered in this way, to his knowledge.

"We should study this problem now and women's organizations should do what they can to start the ball rolling—perhaps by raising money by voluntary subscriptions, or by getting the proper civic officials to put it through," suggested Judge Kennedy. "I would have a committee appointed and would send members of it to all the clubs in town" he said.

Then he spoke on the problem of finding paid light work for elderly people. "Elderly people must be employed at work that interests them and makes them feel useful" he advised. "I understand something about your women's clubs" he said to the Soroptimists. "What about a club for elderly men—perhaps a place where they could indulge in remunerative or unremunerative hobbies?"

Next the speaker gave thought to the opposing forms of government from a different angle. "We could outstrip Communism in the realm of art—but we have not, and it is one of the great tragedies of the English-speaking races that they are incapable of appreciating art in many of its forms." He agreed that there are theatre groups, good concerts and a number of painting clubs in this city. "This is all to the good but it exists mainly among a very limited strata of society," he said. "The schools are waking up a bit, but haven't made much impression on the younger generation yet."

CITY TRANSFORMATION

"What can we do to help? It seems to me that a transformation could be effected with a relatively small expenditure right down George Street," said the Judge.

His idea is to arrange a color scheme to make Peterborough's main street bright, gay and interesting, and he is certain that it would be the finest advertising the city could have. He felt sure that paint companies would cooperate and that if some organized plan for painting were followed the whole street could be re-decorated at an average cost of probably $100 per building front.

Judge Kennedy also suggested that the market place be similarly painted and visioned that it would look like the gay squares one sees in Europe.

Concluding his talk, the Judge remarked: "It is probable the advent of Russian Communism has been good for us. We realize that it has already failed in numerous places. If we can banish our apathy and absorb some of their enthusiasm, we should be able to improve our system so it will tower above any system of government that has ever or ever will be invented."

In thanking Judge Kennedy, Mrs. Mae Thompson expressed the feeling that his remarks had aroused Soroptimists' zeal and zest in service work for elderly women, which is the club's particular project. Mrs. Isabel Hughson in her introduction had referred to his interest in the establishment of some type of dwelling for older people, and the judge's remarks on this matter were carefully noted.

Vice-president Miss Verna Johnston presided for the meeting.

SPRING A-TIRE — Five-year-old Cheryl McDonough looks in wonder at the headpiece dreamed up by her mother, Mrs. Colby McDonough, of Dallas, Tex. She robbed her husband's prized motor scooter for the makings. With a tire as base, seat springs dangle at each side, a flashy torpedo light gives a symmetrical chic, while a can of motor-scooter grease and a silver radiator ornament top off the "creation." Mrs. McDonough wore the hat to a hat "style parade" breakfast held by the Junior Oak Cliff Society of Fine Arts to raise funds for its philanthropic projects.

Readers' Friday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: (excerpts from letter from reader planning to live in England temporarily) "now comes the problem of food, or 'how to cook mutton to taste like roast beef?'" I have been told that meat is off ration — but still scarce — and advised to bring canned ham and fowl or any canned meat along with juices and a few cake mixes — both my husband and I are great meat eaters, but quite anxious to conform to anything we meet. I wonder if you might be able to add any helpful suggestions? Is there still a paper shortage? Are herbs and spices available?" E. T.

ANSWER: Most of my information comes from Coronation visitors. This is the gist of it: Butter is in short supply, and in some areas so is meat. One of my neighbors sent money to her relatives in England instead of the usual food parcel for Christmas, (which consisted of salmon, cheese, butter, tea, ham and canned fruits). They are still queueing up for unwrapped bread and their newspapers are much, much smaller than ours and of poorer quality—not editorially of course. One lady I know receives from her daughter in South Africa dried fruits and herbs, which are in very short supply in England. A variety of herbs to last you for a year, would not take much space in your luggage. I am sure if you turned up with a canned ham it would be most welcome, especially if you shared it. Same of butter.

From the Postmaster I have this information: parcels addressed to England now (in January) contain sugar in double bags, canned butter, cake mixes, jello powders, salmon, chicken, tongue (the last three in cans), and candy. Another reliable informant tells me that a Canadian residing in England for a year would be well advised to take along some extra butter, and if she bakes much, a 5-lb. vacuum-pack can of good quality shortening. She says meat is easy to buy — at a price — congratulations to your husband — we had a similar award in our family and are still glowing over it. Best wishes to you both.

QUESTION: I bought a pig, cleaned and cut up for deep freeze; now I have all the fat on hand. I have never tried to render fat for keeping. Will you kindly give me the directions for this purpose? I must tell you that a great number of my friends complimented me both this and last Christmas on my fruit cake. I told them all it was made from your recipe. Mrs. Henry J.

ANSWER: I am glad that the cake turned out so satisfactorily.

HOME RENDERED LARD

If you have any fat from around stomach, and intestines, process it separately as it produces stronger-flavored lard. Cut the fat into bits about 1 inch square, and trim out all meat particles as they give an unpleasant burned flavor to good lard. Place fat in heavy kettle and add 1 quart cold water (for the fat from one average pig). Slowly heat and keep kettle hot until the cracklings are brown and rise to top. Skim off the cracklings and lightly press out the lard that remains in them. Draw off the melted lard, and add a little baking soda to help whiten it. The lard should be stirred while it is cooling, in order to make it as white as possible. You must not expect as white and as odorless lard as factories produce, for they use whiteners and deodorizers.

QUESTION: Will you please send me a list of how to remove stains from various objects, mainly cloth, and perhaps table tops? It seems whenever I need one I can't find the list — did you ever remove fruit juice stain in an off-white cloth with tomato juice? It seems to work well, and cold and hot water with soap takes out the tomato. If you haven't stain remover list could you tell me where to get one. (Mrs. G. E. V.

ANSWER: I have the titles of 2 bulletins on stain removal for you: (1) "Stain Removal from Fabrics," Farmers' Bulletin No. 1474, US Department of Agriculture, Washington D.C: and (2) "Stain Removal" by Ouida Midkiff, Extension Circular No. 99, Extension Department, Mississippi College, State of Mississippi. I do not know if there is a charge for either of these, but have always found the departments I have mentioned most co-operative.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Lonely Widow Wants Know How To Meet People

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a lonely woman in my late fifties, wondering why there isn't more opportunity for us older folk to get together. I have two wonderful sons, but they are married and have their own family problems. They aren't aware of my loneliness, since I do my best to hide it. There must be other widows or widowers who are lonely.

S. V.

✧ ✧ ✧

SEEK CHURCH CLUBS

ANSWER: Constructive programs of education and social activities for older people are receiving more attention every day. Churches are sponsoring clubs for older people, some of them for "over 50," or "over 60," but all maintaining fine recreational facilities for these strata of our population.

Colleges and private foundations also are promoting movements for the better understanding of problems of elderly people. In time, the results of the considerable research being done along this line will be evident in any sizable community.

There's no dodging the fact, however, that some people will always be lonely regardless of opportunity for them to be social. They seem to enjoy the martyrdom of loneliness, and nothing would drag them from the inner sanctum to which they have committed themselves. The capacity for making friends, for being a friend, is regrettably lacking in many. Just wanting to become part of a social group isn't enough; one must make the effort to be the sort of company that will be welcomed in such a group. No one is going to seek out the recluse, but a friendly, co-operative soul will almost always find a niche in the community.

People in the later years, especially the widowed, are not likely however, to find the ideal solution to their problem. Some widows would like to find husbands but the likelihood of their doing so is dim. As the years pass, so does the proportion of widows to widowers. Women outlive men by some eight years, on the average, so it's readily seen that a widow of 50 or 60 won't find many eligible men in her age group. Her task, then, is to fill her time with work and the companionship of other women.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife is seeking an annulment because prior to our marriage it was discovered, through a routine X-ray, that I had a suspicion of tuberculosis. After we were married I told my wife, and she didn't seem to mind. However, the following year I was definitely diagnosed as a tuberculosis patient and went to the hospital for eight months. It was while I was there that my wife began the annulment proceedings.

B. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Being the wife of a sick man isn't an easy role, and your wife just isn't up to it. She should have been told of the premarital findings, but she took you "in sickness and in health," and should have stuck to her vow. Since she is firmly resolved to go ahead with the annulment proceedings, there's nothing you can do but learn to live without her. Perhaps when she realizes you are now able to go back to work, and establish a home, she'll reverse the decision.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going with a man for 11 years. We have been planning to get married for the last two years, but something always interferes. He's now in his second year at college. A few weeks ago he wrote saying he no longer loved me, but would like to continue as friends and wanted me to write him. Should I?

✧ ✧ ✧

Two Davies Plays Given At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — The only French-language presentation won top awards in the 1954 Manitoba region drama festival.

Best play and best actor awards went Thursday night to Les Anciens Eleves du College de Saint-Boniface for their presentation of Moliere's "Le Malade Imaginaire." Adjudicator Graham Suter said Robert Trudel gave the best male performance the title role of Aragan.

Chosen best actress was Peggy Jarman, in a play she also directed. Miss Jarman was Jannet Jourdemayne in the Actor's Guild presentation of "The Lady's Not for Burning," by Christopher Fry.

TWO DAVIES PLAYS GIVEN

Final night presentations were one-act plays by Canadian author Robertson Davies, "The Voice of the People" by the Y's Players of Winnipeg and "Eros at Breakfast" by the Kenora (Ont.) Little Theatre.

Mr. Suter said that through the festival he was "a little disappointed with the ladies" and "wished the standard had been just a bit higher."

Six members of the Kenora group suffered scratches and bruises on their way to the festival in a car collision near Beausejour, Man., and the adjudicator said they displayed "enormous spirit in showing up."

Work hard, he said, and "they'll find themselves doing very well in a year or two."

Neither of the one-act plays was "particularly profound," but in most parts of a spirited performance came through. There were ragged moments, however, and "Voice" could have done with a bit more gaiety.

Have Power Amend Charges

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Justice W. F. Schroeder ruled in a test case here Thursday that magistrates have the power to amend charges against drivers where the wording of the charge amounts to duplication.

The case had been dismissed at Barrie by Magistrate R. Thomas of Bracebridge. Fred Peacock had been charged with driving without due care and attention, or without reasonable consideration for others.

Recently Mr. Justice G. A. Gale ruled that such a charge meant drivers were being charged twice for the same offence. Since then crown officials have been asking magistrates to amend the charges, otherwise several hundred cases against motorists would have had to be dropped.

Mr. Justice Schroeder said that since the statute did not put any restrictions in actual words on magistrates as to when amendments must be made, he was bound to find they had such power.

He remitted the case to Magistrate Thomas for further consideration.

Elk Invading Alberta Ranches

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—An estimated 5,000 elk, their food supply blocked by four feet of snow, have swarmed down mountain slopes near here to feed on ranch haystacks. Ranchers are organizing to meet the invasion.

Game Warden Eugene McCarthy says 1,000 head of elk have ranged out over the Blood Indian reserve and at least another 1,000 are ranging in open country around Cardston in southwestern Alberta. He said all the animals can do for food now is forage for haystacks.

"Ranchers and their neighbors can get permission to shoot elk under the regulations, but no reckless slaughter is permitted," said Mr. McCarthy.

Obituary

MRS. AGNES PORTEOUS

A former Peterborough woman, Mrs. Agnes Clarke Porteous, 91, of 12 Ahrens St. West, Kitchener, died Wednesday in Kitchener-Waterloo hospital.

Born in Arthur, August 24, 1862, Mrs. Porteous lived in Peterborough at the corner of Water St. and Barnardo Ave., later moving to Aylmer St. The Porteous family was raised in Peterborough and attended St. Andrew's United Church. Mrs. Porteous was a sister of the late Dr. A. Moir.

Besides living in Kitchener and Peterborough, Mrs. Porteous lived for a time in Dunnville.

Surviving are three sons, Frank N. of Kitchener, Harold A. of Hamilton, and John A. of Montreal; two daughters, Mrs. James Auld (Muriel) of Montreal, and Mrs. Richard Dalton (Vera) of Toronto; a sister, Miss Mary Ann Moir, of Kitchener. There are six grandchildren.

The body is resting at the Ratz-Bechtel funeral home in Kitchener where the funeral will be conducted Saturday at 10 a.m. The Rev. F. G. Stewart, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, will officiate. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery, Dunnville, at 2.30 p.m.

Not Even Old Timers Recall Western Cold Spell As Bitter

EDMONTON (CP)—Westerners, who say they are used to cold weather but really aren't, think the last couple of weeks were a bit too much. Temperatures in the 30s and 40s — below zero — for two weeks stopped even the oldtimers from harking back to the good old days.

But the west, as it has done in the past, "took" it and came through the cold spell in generally fine shape. It didn't like it, though. Gone is the idea that western winters are becoming warmer.

When temperatures on the Prairies rose Thursday to five, six or seven below zero, as high as four above in Calgary, it was the end, at least for the time being, of the longest sustained cold snap in four years. Not even British Columbia, which advertises itself as Canada's ever-green playground escaped. Parts of that province were smothered under more than three feet of snow.

It was no "cold snap" to westerners. To them it was an iron grip of piercing cold, punctuated by piercing blizzards, that left coughs and colds, broken bones, impassable highways, blazing buildings and death.

DEATH TOLL 27

At least 27 persons died as winter, late this season, swept upon Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. The main causes were fires, carbon - monoxide poisoning, gas, heart failure from over-exertion and exposure.

Transportation was hit hard. Fog rising from the ice, and snowcovered earth, which resulted in the coining of "smice" as a description, paralyzed airline schedules at times. Trains ran hours late. Where highway travel was not halted, buses and automobiles had heavy going through snow drifts. Many a car owner left his car in a drift to await towing another day.

At the end of the business day the streets of the Prairies' widely separated centres of population were deserted of all but those with essential need to be out. Attendance at hockey games fell to the lowest point of the season—though university debates in Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Edmonton on the controversial Kinsey reports on sexual behavior drew large crowds.

SNUGGIES ESSENTIAL

For women, snuggies were essential. And many a male, according to reports that could not easily be confirmed, who in other years scorned long underwear was glad of its confining warmth these last couple of weeks. Ear muffs were common. So were toques and caps with ear flaps.

Electric blankets reached a level of popularity never before achieved in the west. Indicative of fuel consumption was Edmonton's use of a record 138,550,000 cubic feet of natural gas on a day the temperature stood at 34 below zero.

A tragic aftermath of overheated homes was the death toll in fires. Thousands of dollars worth of Prairie property was destroyed in fires often caused by overheated stoves and furnaces. An entire business block was razed at Blairmore, Alta., where the heating supply for part of the town was cut off when a coal mine boiler room was destroyed.

But it's over now, for the time being, anyway. The weather man says it's warming up.

News Of Railroad

said, "but we must get busy right away to try and secure a companion industry to occupy the Lakefield building, some concern in the ceramic trade, perhaps."

The move and its effect on the village have been anticipated long ago, Mr. Grant said. He conferred with a CNR official about three years ago to urge that their line build the extension; he was advised that the matter would be given every consideration. What puzzles Mr. Grant and many others is why the CNR abandoned the project, since the company earns more than $1 million annually from the "pilot plant" at Blue Mountain.

"It looks as though the CNR are being very short-sighted about the whole thing," Mr. Grant thought.

Lakefield's loss should be Havelock's gain when ore trains arrive in their divisional yards for sorting. Will this increased traffic make any measurable difference to that village? Mine executives don't think it will.

Reeve Ernest J. Leeson of Havelock said today that he could not see any increased economic effect to the village if, as, and when nepheline ore trains arrive at the Havelock yards for switching.

'It may make work for one more train crew," he surmised, "but I would need to study the matter thoroughly before making any statements. I can't see that the development will help us to any great extent."

The northern half of Peterborough county is now being combed extensively by prospectors of various large mining companies. Current magnetometer surveys by air are showing up very interesting anomoly patterns of ore deposits. These could be uranium showings and ground parties are checking air patterns with geiger counters to see how interesting these various deposits are.

Together with the immense deposit of nepheline ore at Blue Mountain, another equally as large in low grade iron, now being developed at Marmora, Peterborough district could be a major mining field in future, many experts feel.

Big Fish Haul

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Almost 3,000,000 pounds of cod was landed here during one week in the booming commercial fishing season. Most of the catch brought here is processed for North American markets.

Cut 2 Hours Off Work Week

KINGSTON (CP)—A two-hour reduction in the work-week schedule for some 250 employees of the Canadian Industries Limited nylon plant here was announced today by D. L. Guthrie, director of personnel.

The move affects approximately one quarter of the plant's employees. It will mean a reduction from 42 to 40 hours of work per week and becomes effective immediately Mr. Guthrie said.

Affected are all workers employed in continuous production operations.

Continued unsettled conditions in the textile industry were given as a cause for the cutback. Described as only a temporary cut by the personnel director, the move means a reduction of about 500 man-hours per week.

Mr. Guthrie said management is hopeful of more stable conditions in the near future.

Breakdown Causes Layoff Of 275 Men

TIMMINS (CP) — An electrical breakdown in one of the shafts at Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines has resulted in the temporary layoff of 275 employees.

The men have been back on the job less than a month since a four-month strike.

A company official said today that engineers would work 24 hours a day to make repairs so that the men could get back to work as quickly as possible, possibly by next Tuesday.

Miners Killed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Two miners were crushed to death Thursday night in a roof fall at a coal mine about 20 miles from here. Mine superintendent I. J. Rose identified the victims as Malcolm Carpenter, about 40, and William Shears, about 50. Rose said a slab of sand rock six inches thick fell on the men as they were working alone in a section of the mine.

New Helicopters

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP) A new company was registered here to design and manufacture helicopters, featuring a four-stretcher ambulance-type machine for army and navy use.

Says Canadians Must Run Own Economy

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's industrial and labor organizations must be placed in the hands of Canadians if the country is to have an independent economic system, R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association said today.

Addressing the association's annual luncheon here, Mr. Fowler said Canada cannot hope to have a distinctive industrial growth if major management and labor decisions remain in the hands of "foreign" investors and labor leaders.

Mr. Fowler said labor relations will not be satisfactory until both management and employees concentrate on other problems besides repressing or raising of wages.

WOULD FIGHT IGNORANCE

One of the most important tasks was economic education of workers to clear away "the widespread distrust within the labor force of the role of capital," brought on by a widespread ignorance of the size and justification of profits.

Criticizing laws that should be changed because they "seem to relate to the business man as he appeared 50 years ago rather than as he is today," Mr. Fowler urged a change in the anti-combine laws, "that attempt to indict the whole business community."

Mr. Fowler said business men cannot tell under present anti-combine laws "what is lawful."

Papers Gunning For Alexander In Great Britain

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — The tabloid Daily Mirror, gunning for leading members of the Conservative government, today directs its fire against Field Marshal Earl Alexander, Britain's defence minister. It calls him "the great field marshal who lost his way."

In a full-page article, the left-wing mass-circulation newspaper offers the opinion that Lord Alexander was a brilliant soldier and an "outstanding success" as governor-general of Canada for six post-war years—but as defence minister "success had eluded him."

The Mirror claims that Lord Alexander uses the term "your" party in speaking to Conservatives, carries little weight within the party and "like all soldiers out of uniform, looks curiously shrunken on the political platform."

STERN CRITICS

The Mirror story is part of a series, "Portrait of a Government," which has included strong criticism of such leading administration figures as Prime Minister Churchill—"too old and too tired"—and Foreign Secretary Eden, labelled by The Mirror the "Peter Pan" of British politics.

The Mirror has a reputation for aggressive articles. During the Second World War its criticism of government policy was so outspoken that Parliament threatened to suppress it and Churchill once summoned its executives to his office in protest against its "spirit of hatred and malice."

The Mirror's article today echoes a report published recently by Lord Beaverbrook's Sunday Express and hinted at by several columnists—that Lord Alexander is not particularly happy in his job and would like to retire.

There has been no official statement on Lord Alexander's future plans. Those who know him well say he has worked hard since he was a boy, now is 62 years old and would like to take things a little easier.

It is perhaps a good guess that the final decision will depend on Churchill, who has a way of convincing ministers who are his special friends that quitting would be a personal affront.

Rost Takes Lead In Skating Event

WINNIPEG (CP) — Larry Rost, 16-year-old member of the Winnipeg Winter Club, took the early lead today in the school figures portion of the men's novice competition, opening event of the western Canadian figure skating championships. The eighth annual championships wind up at the Winnipeg Winter Club Saturday night.

Rost's only competitor was Dennis McFarlane of the Saskatoon Figure Skating Club. Final placing in the event will be decided tonight in the free-skating trials.

A record entry of 96 skaters from Vancouver, Kelowna, B. C., Calgary, Regina, Saskatoon, Port Arthur and Winnipeg are competing.

Destruction Of Intelligence Files Will Be Investigated By Jenner

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator William E. Jenner (Rep. Ind.) said today that the United States Senate internal security subcommittee will try to fix responsibility for an order which, he said, the White House issued in 1944 for destruction of some naval intelligence files on Communist activities.

This new turn in the Communist-hunting sub-committee's probes was the aftermath of Jenner's account of the episode to a dinner gathering here Thursday night attended by Vice-President Richard E. Nixon and some 400 other guests.

Jenner said the files had been built up by a navy counter-intelligence unit in New York which had an undercover contact in the Communist organization and "had the basic information on Communists in the maritime units, Communists on the waterfront and Communists in the new convoys that went to Russia itself."

Robert Morris, who later became counsel to the internal security sub-committee, in early 1944 was a naval lieutenant attached to the New York counter-intelligence unit.

KRAVCHENKO GAVE DATA

Victor Kravchenko, an official of the Soviet purchasing commission who broke with his Communist government, sought our Morris to give him information, Jenner said.

However, after one contact, he added, Washington sent orders to "let Kravchenko alone."

Jenner said word reached New York that the counter-intelligence unit was to be broken up. Morris went to Washington to protest but, Jenner went on, "within a few days" the members of the unit were scattered "to the four corners of the earth," and the files were ordered destroyed.

Morris was transferred to Pacific fleet headquarters of Admiral Chester Nimitz.

Jenner said Morris told Nimitz about the breaking up of the intelligence unit and Nimitz took up the matter with Admiral Ernest J. King, then U. S. chief of naval operations, when King came to the Pacific on a visit.

OFFICER TELLS REST OF TALE

Jenner said he got the rest of the story recently from an officer whom he would not name but who was on Nimitz' staff.

"Nimitz told King what Bob Morris had told him and asked if it could possibly be true that such an incredible order could have been issued. Admiral King replied that it was true.

"'But who,' demanded Admiral Nimitz, 'could possibly have given such an order?' Admiral King replied, 'The White House.'"

However, Nimitz said by telephone Thursday night from his Berkeley, Calif., home, "I have no recollection of the incident at all."

Morris said he had not previously known of the Nimitz-King conversation described by Jenner. He said the officer who told of it is now an admiral.

Virginia Mayo Producer's Actress Dream

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Virginia Mayo is the producer's dream.

Why? Because the beautiful blonde from St. Louis never tosses a tantrum, closes the set, refuses to talk to the press, turns down pictures nor goes on suspension.

Furthermore, she is a serviceable doll. She can play in westerns or musicals, comedies or costume dramas. Her current film is one of the latter.

Gorgeously gowned in a period costume, she came out a love scene with British actor Laurence Harvey and was rubbing her neck. I ask if she ever complained.

"Only when I have to wear long hair-dos and heavy crowns that weigh my head down und give me a stiff neck," she groaned. More mercurial actresses might have raised Cain about it. But not our Virginia. She just sat and suffered.

Behind her easy-going nature is a shrewdness that has kept her name among the big money-makers. She reasons this way:

CLIMBING SLOWLY

"I wouldn't want to be one of those stars who have skyrocketing rises to fame. When you climb so fast, there's generally only one direction to go from there—down. I think the important thing is to keep your name before the public in picture after picture. In that way you build your name into something substantial."

The system has paid off well for Virginia. She and Doris Day are the only stars left under exclusive contract at Warner Brothers. She indicated that she won't risk ending the deal by taking a suspension.

An unbiased bystander who has known the gal for years observed later: "Virginia hasn't changed one bit since she was a Goldwyn girl." Darned if he isn't right.

Hiccups Continue To Bother Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Hiccups continued today to bother the Pope and to interrupt his rest.

The 77-year-old pontiff's general condition, however, was described as satisfactory by an official Vatican press communique.

This week's big general audience, which was to have been held on Wednesday, was cancelled because of the pontiff's slight indisposition. The Pope's doctor has prescribed a period of rest.

Transfer Headquarters Of Power Company

LONDON (Reuters)—Transfer of the headquarters of the Sao Paulo Light and Power Company from Canada to Brazil was approved at a special meeting of debenture holders here Thursday.

The move had been recommended by the company's Canadian directors on the grounds that it would enable money to be raised on the Brazilian capital market to help finance the company's $200,000,000 construction program.

An Education Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, famed for his studies of human sex habits, says sex education for children is still an unsolved problem. "I can suggest no reasonable sex education program," Kinsey said in a speech Thursday night. "We can't achieve unanimity. Individuals in small groups differ with respect to the subject."

First Meetings On Building River Bridge

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams said today that preliminary conferences on the construction of a bridge across the St. Marys river were under way in New York today.

The governor revealed that Paul Hoholik, chairman of the international bridge authority, was conferring with engineers and financial houses on the construction and financing of a bridge connecting Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

The authority at the same time submitted a report to the governor.

"The Supreme Court decision . . . removing the last of many obstacles in the path of the Mackinac straits bridge," the report said, "has in our opinion created a need more acute than ever for the international bridge."

FOUR STEPS TAKEN

The report added that the following steps have been taken towards construction of the international bridge.

1. Congress has passed an act permitting construction of the bridge across the international border.

2. The cities of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., have each appropriated $7,500 for preliminary engineering and traffic surveys.

3. Plans have been made to use equipment which contractors will have available at the site of the Mackinac bridge for preliminary soundings and other work on the St. Marys river.

4. The Michigan College of Mining and Technology has made a preliminary study of rock formations under the river.

RED PLAN WOULD REVIVE MILITARISM

Trade Pact Criticized By U.K. Press

Britain's Doors Open To Flood Of Japan's Goods

LONDON (AP)—The British press took a sharp look today at the new billion-dollar financial agreement with Japan, but only the Empire-minded Daily Express denounced the pact outright.

The agreement, renewing one which expired at the end of 1953, opens Britain's doors to Japanese imports such as toys and cotton and rayon goods which have not been admitted since the Second World War.

The Express said the agreement represents a "shameful short-sighted policy. It is a bad pact and a black pact for this country and her colonies."

"The doors of the colonial Empire are flung wide open. Japan will be free to send some £200,000,000 worth of cheap goods to the colonies, thus hampering Empire trade and undermining efforts now being made to develop colonial industries."

The Daily Skeich, which supports the Conservative government, said Parliamentary questions about the government's policy may be expected at once. Some, said the Sketch, will treat the pact as the "thin end of a wedge"—a prelude to a greater inrush of Japanese manufactured goods. This eventually might undercut Britain's industry and cause unemployment, the paper warned.

A SECOND LOOK

The Times, independent, said that at first sight the agreement might revive old, well - founded fears of Japanese competition.

"Second thoughts, however, may correct this impression," the paper declared. "Japan and her neighbors form a trading area which for sterling countries is second in importance only to the North American continent, and by widening the use of sterling there, these arrangements can promote its restoration to its former position as the world's trading currency. The whole sterling area can thus benefit."

The Financial Times, which reflects thinking in London business circles, called the new agreement a price Britain must pay if the sterling area is to avoid a big drop in its export trade with Japan.

The Manchester Guardian, Liberal newspaper published in the heart of Britain's cotton industry area, said the agreement would hardly be popular in Lancashire—"but all the same the government has a pretty good case, and its critics would be well advised to study it."

Accuses Govt. Of Hoarding

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, said today in a statement issued at a press conference here that the Ontario government has a "$53,000,000 nest-egg which has the earmarks of becoming the granddaddy of all pre-election road bribes."

He said much attention has been focused in recent weeks on irregularities in the Fort William division of the highways department. But these were merely "a skin eruption indicating the more deep-seated disease."

The highways department had long been the most patronage-ridden department of the Ontario government. Now it appeared to be developing into a giant pork-barrel designed to advance the political fortunes of the Progressive Conservative party.

PLAGUED BY SURPLUSES

Mr. MacDonald's statement said Premier Frost, as provincial treasurer, has been "plagued with embarrassingly large surpluses which he has tried hard to keep hidden." Eighteen months ago Mr. Frost set up the highway reserve account which now held $53,000,000, "salted away in readiness for a pre-election display of government generosity."

The account was "very vaguely described by the premier in his budget speech last March as being available for 'special highway improvements.' The stage was set for an "even more flagrant abuse of public monies than has apparently taken place so far."

7 Killed In Crash

BELGRADE (AP)—A passenger train crashed into a truck carrying workers to their jobs in a steel mill at Zenica in central Yugoslavia Friday, killing seven and seriously injuring 19 other workers.

9,000 Workers May Strike At Avro Plant

TORONTO (CP)—A union official said today a protest meeting has been called for Sunday of 9,000 members of Local 717 of the AFL Machinists Union to discuss layoffs and reclassification of workers at the A. V. Roe aircraft plants at nearby Malton.

He said "anything could blow up at the meeting, including a strike call."

W. H. Dickie, AVRO director of industrial relations, said a contract dispute between AVRO and the union has been submitted to conciliation. He declined comment on the situation "until after the meeting."

Under the Ontario Labor Relations Act a strike is not legal until seven days after the report of the conciliation board has been submitted to the provincial labor minister.

14 Persons Drown While Skating On Ice

LANCASTER, England (AP) — Lancashire county police announced that 14 persons, most of them children, drowned today while skating and playing on ice-covered ponds.

They sent an urgent appeal to parents to get their children off the ice.

Four of the victims were brothers aged between 9 and 13. The accidents occurred in widely scattered parts of the county. An uncounted number of children had narrow escapes.

Russia's Peace Price Too High

OTTAWA (CP)—Opposition Leader Drew maintains that Russia's price for world peace is admittance of Communist China into the United Nations. But that price is too high — "We want no bargain with the devil" — he said Friday in a day-long debate in the Commons on external affairs. Mr. Drew was the last of six speakers in five hours of debate. The others were External Affairs Minister Pearson; Roch Pinard, his parliamentary assistant; CCF leader Caldwell; Social Credit lead Solon Low and John Diefenbaker PC-Prince Albert, opposition external affairs spokesman. Mr Drew said the West should refuse Russia's demand for Communist China's entry to the UN on moral grounds. The Chinese Reds were "murdering their own countrymen in the name of communism in China today."

Russian Foreign Minister Molotov had proposed at the current Berlin conference of foreign ministers that Communist China become a member of the Big Five powers. Molotov had indicated that if the West accepted this proposal, Russia would settle the Korean question and the Indo-Chinese war.

But the West should not give in to this demand. "Appeasement leads to war," said Mr. Drew.

Mr. Pearson, who led off the debate amid an intent diplomatic gallery, said the world is still "an unsafe place for the weak, the weary and unwary."

MUST KEEP ON GUARD

Tension has eased in Europe somewhat but there was no evidence that Russian designs of "imperialism" had waned and the West must remain steadfastly on guard.

The free world was girding for "long-haul" defence. Forces of the North Atlantic alliance were being built up as a shield to hold off any attack long enough for the free world to mobilize.

"Effective local defence of this kind, plus the certainty of swift and crushing retaliation, including atomic retaliation from the air, is a defence combination upon which we now rely to the terror of the aggressor."

Mr. Pearson announced that Canada has turned down India's proposal to reconvene the UN General assembly Feb. 9. It would be better to discuss the Korean issue in the assembly—in March or April.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in view of the "sombre picture" painted by Mr. Pearson, Canadians must realize that defence costs will continue for a long time.

Canada should not recognize Communist China. Recognition would be hard to justify while China continued its policy of virtually annexing North Korea and supplying arms to Indo-Chinese Communists.

RUSSIA'S PEACE

Says Operation Fractured Skull

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. H. Hoyle Campbell said Friday night an operation he performed in a vain attempt to save the life of laboratory technician Helen Boyle probably caused the skull fracture that led police to believe the 24-year-old Oshawa area brunette was struck down by an assailant.

Testifying at an inquest into the Jan. 7 death of the girl at St. Michael's Hospital, he said he operated to find the source of a haemorrhage and treat it.

"I wasted no time cutting through the skull. Some of the damage was caused by me in a desperate effort to save her life. I bit away part of the bone trying to find the source of the haemorrhage."

Dr. Campbell said he does not believe the girl was struck by anyone. He said that, in his opinion, her head injuries could have been caused by a fall against the rounded corner of a table.

IN QUEST ADJOURNED

After 12 other witnesses testified, the inquest was adjourned until Feb. 3. One of the witnesses was a medico-legal expert who disputed the fall theory.

Japan, A Threat Rhee Charges

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean President Syngman Rhee said today that the Japanese as well as the Communists pose a threat of aggression in the Far East, and demanded that the United States do something about it.

"It is up to the United States," Rhee said in a statement distributed by the government public information office, "to make sure that the Japanese do nothing aggressive again."

Criticizing State Secretary John Foster Dulles, Rhee added:

"Instead of obtaining positive assurances from Japan (that there would be no aggression against Korea), Mr. Dulles' efforts have been confined to urging Korea to co-operate with Japan regardless of vital differences.

"For example, Japanese claim 85 per cent of the property in Korea. As far as I know, Mr. Dulles has never warned the Japanese to retract this absurd claim which ignores terms of the peace treaty he sponsored.

"Korea and other Oriental countries are aware that a neighbor nation which has been an aggressor still retains an aggressive spirit. Koreans feel their independence again may be destroyed."

Nile Rail Crash Claims 45 Lives

CAIRO (Reuters) — Forty-five persons were killed in a railway accident today at Kafr el Zayat in the Nile delta, the local police commandant reported.

President Mohammed Naguib was on board the train, which ran into the crowd at the station, 60 miles northwest of Cairo.

Thousands of peasants had swarmed over the railway lines in their eagerness to welcome the president.

8,500 Families Made Homeless In Big Fire

RANGOON (Reuters)—At least 10 persons were killed and 8,500 families were made homeless today in a 36-hour blaze which virtually wiped out an important Burmese river town 76 miles northwest of here.

It was feared the death toll might mount, according to reports reaching Rangoon.

Government buildings, the hospital, jail, river jetties and entire bazaar area in the centre of Henzada were gutted.

The town's two fire engines and the fire station were destroyed as the fire raged until late Friday night.

Royal Couple Leave NZ Visit An 'Enormous Success'

By J. G. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

INVERCARGILL, N. Z. (CP)—Queen Elizabeth brushed away tears of emotion with a white-gloved hand as she bade farewell today to the people of New Zealand from the boat deck of the royal liner Gothic.

The Gothic sailed from the nearby port of Bluff, on New Zealand's southern tip, for Australia and the next stage of the six-month Commonwealth tour.

More than 10,000 people crowded the little port to bid the Queen and the duke Godspeed. Many wept too, amid waves of cheering. Their New Zealand visit had been singularly free from exasperations and criticisms, and was an enormous success generally.

In 39 days the Queen visited 44 centres. An estimated two-thirds of the country's population saw her.

The tour was favored with remarkably fine weather almost throughout, with the result that no engagements had to be cancelled or varied on account of rain.

The press has agreed that the Queen's object to deepen the personal bond between the crown and people has been outstandingly achieved.

The Auckland Star said: "No other event in our history has been accompanied by such nation-wide upsurging of the spirit. Now we know much more about our Queen, both as a monarch and as a woman. She still remains a symbol of all that is best in the modern world but she is also a beautiful young woman."

The New Zealand Herald said: "People never doubted that the Queen would fit easily and naturally into the New Zealand scene. The event has proven abundantly that they are wholly devoted to her and that she likes and understands them. With the Duke of Edinburgh, too, New Zealand has established complete understanding base on mutual affection and respect."

Prime Minister Sidney Holland declared that the visit will remain engraved in the heart of every New Zealander.

Broadcasting after he had seen the royal couple off, he said: "New Zealand has known nothing like it before and our people will always remember these stirring days, the feelings of the deepest gratitude to our Queen and our duke who have made these happy times possible for us."

The Queen and the duke left the heart-warming farewell with the possibility of an assault by the elements on the way to Australia, where they are due to land Wednesday.

Weather observers said an "intense cyclone" is breeding in the Tasman sea between Australia and New Zealand, but hope was expressed that the Gothic "might" be able to dodge the storm centre.

Airplane Missing On Northern Flight

ST. FELICIEN, Que. (CP) — Boreal Airways said today a pilot and passenger are still missing and feared lost on a flight from St. Felicien to Lake Nitchequon, 325 miles north of here.

The plane, owned by Boreal Airways of St. Felicien, was carrying repair equipment and provisions to Lake Nitchequon.

An airways official said chances of finding the missing craft are good. The area near its destination is not heavily wooded and is dotted with frozen lakes, he said.

Fear Strikes In Wake Of Slasher

Mass Hysteria Takes Hold Of Montreal Women

MONTREAL (CP) — The maniac who for one week has terrorized this city of more than a million people struck again Friday night adding two new victims to his list of razor slashings.

The latest incidents came only a few hours after city police director J. Albert Langlois went on the air to tell the public "mass hysteria" gripped the city leading women to blame practically every injury on the slasher.

He asked co-operation in cornering him.

Nine incidents were reported Friday, but police would only confirm that two of them were the work of the phantom-like slasher.

They said a 32-year-old woman had been trapped by the slasher while taking a short-cut to work through a field in the west-end of the city.

Police did not identify the woman but said she told them he grabbed her by the throat, threw her to the ground and slashed at her legs five times. The cuts were small but required medical attention.

Eight other women reported incidents. Some said they were cut on the hands after answering knocks at the door, others that they were slashed while getting on or off buses and streetcars or while walking along secluded streets.

In only one of these cases—and that one they would not name—did police say they thought the woman was a victim of the sex deviate who started the wave of attacks Jan. 22.

Few of the women reporting attacks could say they had seen the man even fleetingly. Most told police they suddenly became aware of blood on their legs.

Atomic Energy Heating Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States atomic energy commission announced plans today to put the atom to work heating some buildings at one of its big plants as a by-product of making materials for bombs.

Hitherto all such atom-generated heat in the U.S. has been wasted, though British scientists for several years have been keeping buildings warm in this way.

The commission said it plans to introduce the new heating system as part of an expansion program at its Hanford, Washington, plutonium-making plant.

Twenty buildings, occupying a gross area of 250,000 square feet, and including an administration building, will be heated. The commission said the new heating system would save the equivalent cost of 1,500,000 gallons of oil annually.

3 Western Powers Present Stone Wall To Soviet Proposals

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

BERLIN (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault declared today the Russian plan for establishing a government for Germany without free elections would revive the very elements that brought about the Second World War. Bidault declared at the final session of the first week of the Big Four conference that the Russian proposal would create a Germany "dominated by militarist elements playing one camp off against the other."

Earlier, Russia's Molotov discovered a stone West wall of resistance to his all-German talks plan.

The persistent Molotov, who refused to accept no for an answer on the same issue Friday, brought the subject up soon after the sixth day's session opened.

The British, American and French ministers in turn vetoed the Russian. They repeated their reasoning of before—that the two Germanys haven't got a government that can either speak or listen for the German people and therefore the rival regimes in existence cannot be allowed to take part in the discussions.

WANT REDS RECOGNIZED

The Russians aren't much interested in whether the Western government of Konrad Adenauer takes part. Their aim is clearly to get some kind of recognition for their satellite Communist machinery which rules the Soviet zone and its 18,000,000 people.

The newest exchange pointed up the deadlock over plans for creation of a new all-German government.

Officials said Britain, the United States and France are unified in iron determination not to yield in the slightest on their demand for free elections throughout East and West Germany as the essential first step toward a new government.

There was no prospect of any yielding either in the Soviet position for merger of the East German Communist and the West German regimes as the proper first step.

Molotov's tactical purpose is to try to embarrass the Western powers before the German people by arguing that they are deciding the fate of Germany without German representation.

Actually the Western countries are working hand in glove with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, but officials said they would not yield to any pressure to bring in the East Germans.

Logging Trucks In Collision 3 Men Killed

MANIWAKI, Que. (CP)—Three district men were killed Friday night when a huge logging truck crashed into another about 30 miles north of here on the Maniwaki-Mont Laurier highway.

Dead are lumbermen Albini Paquette, 33, of Lac des Ecorces; Jean-Paul Abour, 28, of St. Jean sur Lac, and Roland Gareau, 24, of Grand Remoux. All three towns are between Maniwaki, 100 miles north of Ottawa, and Mont Laurier.

The three were riding in the cab of the truck, loaded with 20 large hardwood logs, when it smashed into the rear of a stalled truck, loaded with 6,000 board feet of sawed lumber. The stalled vehicle was shoved through a high snowbank and overturned.

WORST HE'S SEEN

Constable Roger Lafrance of Maniwaki said the wreck was "the worst I have ever seen." It took nearly four hours to free the dead men from the tangle of wood and metal.

Romeo Julien, 23, of Val d'Or, Que., was the driver of the truck which stalled while hauling south along Highway 58. Julien and his brother, Eugene, 24, also of Val d'Or, tried vainly to start the motor, then set out on foot for help.

The second truck, driven by Paquette, came along a short time later and was unable to stop because of its heavy load.

UK, France Plan Military Talks

LONDON (AP) — Britain and France have agreed secretly to sponsor a Western military conference to organize the defences of strategic west Africa, British informants said today.

The two countries have decided tentatively through diplomatic channels to hold the high level talks next March in Dakar, the big French seaport on the western bulge of Africa.

Invitations have gone out to the two other major Western colonial powers in the region—Belgium and Portual—and to the South African government.

The United States, which has a string of air bases in French Morocco, is expected to be represented, as will some African nations.

Months of Planning In Preparation For Premier's Six-Week World Tour

By WILLIAM STEWART

OTTAWA (CP)—Months of planning down to the last baggage tag have gone into Prime Minister St. Laurent's six-week world tour starting next Thursday.

Members of the Prime Minister's staff, the external affairs department and the RCAF, which will fly Mr. St. Laurent from Ottawa around the globe and back to Rockcliffe airport, have worked out hundreds of details of the 23,000-mile trip.

At least eight inoculations and a vaccination were ordered for the 10 persons—excluding plane crew—accompanying the 72-year-old prime minister who submitted to the same health precautions himself.

All will add a daily paludrine pill to their diet next week as a protection against mosquito-carried malaria, prevalent in Asia.

A REAL CONCERN

The prime minister will spend in Asia roughly two-thirds of his time away.

"Decisions taken there, and the welfare and happiness of these peoples, have become of real concern to us," he said in a statement to the Commons Friday.

Good relations could be maintained between the Western world and Asia only as long as Asians are treated on terms of complete equality and in a spirit of genuine understanding, he said.

The importance of the European part of his tour, said Mr. St. Laurent, was that decisions facing Europe may influence the future of Canada "quite largely."

He added that wherever he goes it will be to assure friends that Canadians wish to play their part in the cause of "peace, freedom and social justice."

CHECK TRAVEL DETAILS

A key member of Mr. St. Laurent's party is Charles Ritchie, external affairs department officer with a number of years' experience abroad. Mr. Ritchie has been assigned to the tour with the rank of ambassador.

Another important man going along is Ross Martin, wartime army veteran who will be Mr. St. Laurent's link with government routine that goes on while a Prime Minister is away. Mr. Martin is assistant secretary to the cabinet.

Tour officials who have checked and re-checked travel details are Group Capt. Joe Stevenson and D. M. Cornett of external affairs' Commonwealth division.

A DOUBLE CREW

Apart from flight schedules, climate and clothing details, baggage and hotel arrangements, either man can say whether on March 7—or any other day—mid-morning coffee will be served aboard the big plane or whether Mr. St. Laurent's party will be on the ground at the time.

The C-5, an aircraft resembling a North Star but with air-cooled instead of liquid-cooled engines, will be commanded by Wing Cmdr. Howie Morrison, one of Canada's best wartime fliers.

The plane will carry a double crew, 15 men including the captain, to keep it in top condition from one hop to another.

Mr. St. Laurent, celebrating his 72nd birthday anniversary Monday, will have the personal company of a son and a daughter. The son, Jean-Paul St. Laurent, is a prominent Quebec City lawyer who has travelled widely and likes to meet people.

The daughter—youngest of three—is Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell of Montreal.

A DAY GAINED

Private quarters in the stern section of the plane will permit the prime minister to work without disturbance and relax during the long hours of flight to a dozen countries with almost as many climate variations.

By the calendar, an extra day will be added to Mr. St. Laurent's life when the C-5, homeward-bound across the Pacific in March, crosses the international date line.

In the last week of the tour when the prime minister is on the long Pacific air route from Japan to Canada, there will be three days between a Friday and a Monday, instead of just Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. St. Laurent will lose the extra day if he ever travels westward around the world.

May Try To Block N.Y. State In Power Project

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—The chairman of the New York state power authority expects three private power companies to carry to the United States Supreme Court their fight to block the state from joining Ontario in a St. Lawrence power project.

The U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington Friday affirmed unanimously the right of the Federal Power Commission to grant the state a licence to be a partner in the proposed $600,000,000 undertaking.

John E. Burton, power authority chairman, said Friday night:

"Naturally we are gratified that it was an unanimous decision. It just fits the schedule of the engineering preparations that we already are carrying out."

The court had been asked to reverse or rescind the FPC's action by three petitioners, the Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers Association, the Lake Ontario Land Owners and Beach Protective Association, Inc., and Public Power and Water Corp. of Trenton, N.J.

Burton said he is "optimistic that work will get started this summer." He noted that the firms have 90 days in which to appeal, and said they probably will use the full period in order to delay the start of the project as long as possible.

Engineers estimate that the project will yield more than 12,000,000,000 kilowatt hours of hydro-electric power annually. It is to be located in the International Rapids sections of the St Lawrence, near Massena, N.Y., and Cornwall, Ont.

Public Power and Water was an unsuccessful applicant for the FPC licence.

Counsel for the three companies said they are uncertain of their next step, but agreed that apparently the only relief will lie in asking the U.S. Supreme Court to grant the writ of certiorari.

The purpose of such a petition would be to call to the high court's attention that the case involved is of unusual importance because it contains constitutional questions.

If the court decides not to consider such a petition—if filed—lawyers would interpret it to mean that the tribunal, in effect, agreed with the decision handed down by the appeals court.

The court of appeals' decision, in which it affirmed the right of the FPC to grant licences for projects on international boundary streams and rejected the contention that an agreement between New York and Ontario for the project was unconstitutional, was written by Judge E. Barrett Prettyman, with Judges Henry W. Edgerton and John A. Danaher concurring.

In Toronto, Robert H. Saunders, Ontario hydro commission chairman, said the decision clears the way for a start on the development unless there is a further appeal.

The Ontario hydro commission has been designated by Canada to carry on similar work on the Canadian side.

"This is the greatest news in years," Mr. Saunders said when he learned of the court decision. "It's wonderful."

In Montreal, Transport Minister Chevrier said he is "delighted to hear the news."

"It is a continuation of good news that began when the Federal Power Commission first granted New York the licence."

Another Step In Move Of Film Board

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has taken another step towards moving national film board headquarters to Montreal from Ottawa.

The treasury board authorized the works department to award a contract for $5,230,000 to Hardy Construction Company of Toronto after the government approved the firm's tender for construction of the board's new offices and studios in Ville St. Laurent, a suburb of Montreal.

The decision, announced Friday night by Works Minister Winters, remains to be implemented, as the contract still must be signed.

The controversial move has been opposed by the City of Ottawa.

WILLING TO BET

Commenting on the decision, Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa said she thought the Quebec government "would insist" on censoring board-made films, in the same way as the Quebec board of cinema censors must approve television shows.

She was willing "to bet anything that the cost will be $10,000,000 within 30 months."

No date for start of construction was announced although it is expected the project will take two years to build.

The board's headquarters will include administrative offices, a 300-seat auditorium, seven smaller projection rooms and a three-storey sound stage protected by a double wall against outside noises.

A board official said the technical staff of about 200 likely will make the move. Some 200 office workers, stenographers and clerks may want to stay in Ottawa where similar jobs are available.

Employees' moves, however, will follow completion of the project. Costs will be paid by the government under treasury board regulations.

In its attempts to keep the board in Ottawa, the city offered to provide a free site here for the building and sponsor low-rental housing for film board employees.

The fire did extensive damage to the foundry office where records were lost and to the electric wiring of the foundry. It worked between the floors and firemen had difficulty extinguishing the widespread blaze.

Extent of the damage and total loss will not be known until an inspection today.

Some Malayan Terrorists Surrender, But Morale High

By RAWLE KNOX

KUALA LUMPUR (OFNS) — Gradually, but much too gradually, Malaya's Communist terrorists are coming out from the jungle to surrender. Surrenders have increased by nearly 54 per cent since the arrival here two years ago of Lieutenant-General Sir Gerald Templer, the high commissioner. But they still average fewer than 33 a month, a rate which is unlikely to break the Communists' jungle army.

As the Chinese New Year, which begins on February 3 approaches, the administration is racking its brains for new methods of persuading terrorists to rejoin their law-abiding families for this greatest of Chinese festivities.

Last weekend, for the first time, General Templer's recorded voice, telling the enemy in rather embarrassed Chinese that the high commissioner personally guarantees good treatment to those who give up, was broadcast from loudspeaker aircraft flying slowly over the jungle. Tens of thousands of leaflets dropped by the RAF or left by army patrols tell the Communists that they or any friend who hands them over will receive a New Year's present from the govrenment of £60 for each man surrendered. Around Kuala Lumpur every night brilliant searchlights point up into the sky indicating goals which terrorists may approach in safety if they wish to come over.

NO RESULTS

The New Year drive has not yet shown any encouraging results; but the surrender graph is definitely curving upwards.

Alec Peterson, Malaya's director of information, part of whose job is psychological warfare against the Communists, believes that if the surrender rate could be pushed up to 60 a month the terrorists would begin to crark. The army Commander-in-chief in Malava, Lieutenant-General H. C. Stockwell, puts the figure at rather fewer. But General Templer himself told me he would not consider the Communists on the run until the surrender rate had reached between one hundred and two hundred a month. When I suggested that this would mean some revolutionary change in the presnt drawn-out struggle, the high commissioner said: "I don't know. We may find they will crack suddenly."

General Templer has not the personality to countenance the word "stalemate" but some of his staff officers feel that this is now, and for some time to come, the only description of the war in Malaya.

Six thousand or so fighting men of the "Malayan Races' Liberation Army" are the maximum the Communists can possibly feed, arm and clothe, and the minimum with which they can carry out even sporadic, tiny offensives; and living as they are in deep jungle, they are infernally hard to get at.

MORALE HIGH

The wonder is that the Communists' morale, inspired solely by their political idealism, is as high as it is. None of three promises which their leaders have so often held out towards them has in the past two years touched the fringe of fulfilment: victory by their own operations; assistance from triumphant Communist armies in neighboring countries; improved ammunition and food supplies for themselves.

Surrenders, therefore, hit at the terrorists' lynch-pin — the holy magnetism of the Communist cause. It is not easy for terrorists in the jungle to walk out. One who recently surrendered during "Operation Sword" had decided nine months before to desert jungle Communism. He had had opportunity because of his unit's dispersal during an RAF bombing attack, but had taken five jungle days after that to find anyone to surrender to. ("Operation Sword" —in South Kedah, most important of Malaya's northern states—has been in operation since last July; it is one of fifteen current "named operations" pursued by the army with the co-operation of police to eliminate known gangs of dangerous terrorists gangs in different areas.)

Fear Strikes

Many of the cuts were small, although one woman required six stitches to close a leg-wound noticed after stepping off a bus.

Meanwhile police continued to pounce on suspects. Some 40 men were rounded up Friday night—including one man spotted walking along a street with a 10-inch knife with a sharp blade.

"He said he was a butcher. But we brought him to the station just the same to make sure," a police officer said.

"I am not attempting to minimize the situation," Mr. Langlois said. "The fact is a dangerous maniac is still at large."

Marie Neiderdeiter, one of the latest victims of Montreal's mad slasher, said today she is sure she can identify the man who has spread terror through the city for more than a week by slashing women's legs with a razor.

Miss Neiderreiter, a 31-year-old waitress, said in an interview that the slasher knocked her to the ground Friday and slashed her leg five times. She was walking along lonely Mayfair Ave., in the city's west end when the attack occurred. Twelve stitches were needed to close the wounds.

She said she got a good look at her assailant and that she is sure he worked with her at one time.

She planned to look through the rogue's gallery at police headquarters.

ANOTHER CASE FRIDAY

Laurette Menard, 21, said she was slashed while boarding a street-car in the northeast section of the city. Six stitches were required to close the cut.

Arsenal Knocked Out Of English Cup Soccer

LONDON (Reuters) — Tom Johnston, centre-forward of the third division's Norwich City, today scored two goals to knock London's mighty Arsenal out of the competition for the Football Association Cup.

Arsenal, reigning champion of English League Division I and three times winner of the FA Cup, was beaten 2-1 on its home ground by the hard-hitting Norfolk combination.

Another first division team to fall to a third division challenger in the fourth round of the competition was Cardiff, defeated 2-0 by Port Vale.

Promise 'New Deal' For British Guiana

By COLIN LEGUM

LONDON (OFNS)—Sir Alfred Savage, Governor of British Guiana will leave London this week with details of his "new deal" for the colony which was deprived of its democratic constitution last year.

Sir Alfred has been in London for talks with the Colonial Office about developments in Guiana. Its political future will depend on the report of the Commission of Inquiry at present in the colony.

But there is to be an immediate start on intensive economic development along the lines of the recommendations made by the World Bank mission whose report was published last week. It will require almost £15 million to carry through a five-year plan. This sum can be obtained only if the Colonial Office agrees to give special consideration to the economic claims of Guiana. The question is whether Guiana, as distinct from other colonies, deserves special consideration.

Sir Alfred, it is understood, is pressing hard for Guiana to be considered as a special case. He is reported to hold the view that there can be no hope of political stability unless an earnest effort is made to raise living standards. Included in his plans will be the setting up of a credit corporation to advance loans for peasant development. In this way the Governor hopes to be able to make an impact on as many villages as possible throughout the colony so that there is visible evidence of the effort being made by the Government.

3 Western Powers

EDEN PRESENTS PLAN

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden Friday formally proposed a five-stage plan backed by all three Western powers for creating a unified free Germany able to line up with the West.

While Molotov had still to be heard from on the Eden plan, the official Soviet news agency Tass assailed it in a dispatch from Moscow as a device by the Western powers to take over Germany.

"Eden proposed the holding of free elections," the Tass dispatch said, "which in reality are designed to extend the Bonn (West German) regime over all Germany—against the will of the German people."

Meanwhile, an anti-Communist underground scattered leaflets in Soviet-occupied Thuringia today telling East Germans of the Eden plan for uniting the nation. The typewritten leaflets, put into mailboxes in Erfurt and other cities, said: "We give you information that our (Communist) newspapers refuse for lack of space."

ATOM TALKS TONIGHT

Though the German question had moved up to priority attention for the Big Four, the United States and Russian ministers also decided to go into their preliminary talks on atomic energy control tonight.

From this meeting may come an indication of just how far the Soviet Union is ready to go on Eisenhower's proposal that the world powers principally involved with atomic development pool their energy and knowledge for peaceful purposes.

DULLES WAS GUEST

The decision to hold an atomic meeting was taken at a dinner in Molotov's headquarters, where Dulles and American staff members were his guests.

Only an hour earlier they had left the Big Four conference table where they had battled over whether Germans from both sides of the Iron Curtain should sit with them in discussing Germany's future.

Molotov had demanded that the Germans be seated. But the Western ministers insisted that German representatives could speak in council only after a reunion through honest and free all-German elections.

Molotov argued that there can be no settlement of the German question on "peaceful and democratic" lines unless Germans participate.

Dulles rejected Molotov's proposal, saying the problem is to get new representatives from all Germany.

Bidault said the two regimes in Germany — the Communist East and the democratic West—are so far apart that he does not think their presence would contribute much to a settlement.

PLAN INTRODUCED

Eden said Britain could not accept Molotov's proposition.

Eden Friday introduced a five-stage plan for German unification beginning with the holding of "genuinely free" elections throughout the East and West zones. As a prelude, he proposed a free movement of people through the country, a free press and free politics.

Molotov refused to accept the Western reaction to German participation at the conference as a definite refusal, and this assured prolongation of the argument for another day.

Sealing Industry Close To Death

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The Newfoundland sealing industry, sick for the last five years, will not die this year but death has never been so close.

Sealing companies here Friday announced plans for the annual hunt and unless there is a sudden change, only one sealer will sail from this port. She's the Terra Nova, carrying about 200 men.

Two Halifax vessels are planning to join the hunt. One may leave Port Union, Nfld. This is a far cry from 1949 when about 25 sealers put some 3,000 men over their sides. Last year five ships sailed.

Dwindling oil and skin prices are the reasons given for the drop.

Dr. Chester McLean, who performed the autopsy, was quoted previously as saying he thought the girl's death was caused by two savage blows on the head. He said Friday night he wished to clarify impressions which were formed after his autopsy.

"I wish to positively correct some inferences," he said. "I never said she was struck down. I said she died from two blows."

If a fall had been to blame, it would have had to be a "complex" fall.

"Dr. Lawson (Chief Coroner Dr. Smirle Lawson) and I issued a statement to the press and we did not say she was killed by an assailant. Exorbitant statements in the press make the work of a police officer very difficult."

DARKNESS STRANGE

Sister Maura, superintendent of the hospital, suggested that the girl might have slipped and struck her head on the table while moving to answer the telephone. She said she thought it strange Miss Boyle apparently was working in a darkened room.

Dr. Ward Smith, director of the provincial medico-legal laboratory, said hair removed from the corner of a desk was similar to that of Miss Boyle. He said analysis of the girl's blood indicated the presence of chemicals which might be found in sleeping tablets. Two types of sedatives were found among her possessions.

The girl's brother, Jack, said she complained at Christmas of severe headaches and consulted a doctor.

Dr. Joselyn Rogers, provincial medico-legal expert, disagreed with the theory the girl fell against a desk.

"From a standpoint of logic, it's absurd," he said. "It is difficult to conceive of two major blows from an ordinary fall. I couldn't see how it could have been caused by a fall. I examined the room and couldn't see how it could have happened."

CUT DEFENCE COSTS

Mr. Coldwell suggested that the defence budget be cut 10 per cent and that the $200,000,000 so saved be used for economic aid to France Italy and South and Southeast Asia. Unless France and Italy were bolstered with economic as well as military aid, the North Atlantic Alliance might collapse.

Mr. Low said the Communist objective still is to become "boss of the world by any method" and the West should do all in its power to weaken communism.

Freedom-loving national groups behind the Iron Curtain could become one of the most important factors in bringing about the downfall of the Soviet dictatorship.

Move Toward Totalitarianism

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF leader Coldwell Friday said he wonders how far Canada has moved toward totalitarianism when he reads of proposals to burn Communist books.

He referred in the Commons to the suggestion by Mayor Claude Harrison of Victoria who said Communist books should not appear in public libraries and that he would have them burned.

Mr. Coldwell also said he is disturbed that the British Columbia education department has withdrawn from distribution the United Nations Bulletin, a fortnightly publication of the United Nations.

"You can't call it a Communist organization, you know; I would like to see the bulletin more widely read."

Two Weeks At Banff National Park Thought By Many Travellers To Outrival Beauties Of Switzerland

To few Tanadians realize they possess a mountain paradise that can outrival Switzerland in the opinion of many of those who have had the opportunity to see both. Not only are there hundreds of miles of spectacular scenery in two of our western provinces, Alberta and British Columbia, but it is quite possible to travel there and enjoy a holiday in a two-week vacation.

One of the loveliest sections of the Canadian Rockies is Banff National Park which has its jumping off point at the town of Banff, accessible by plane, train or bus. For the most impressive approach I recommend going by train. But for those who prefer a less expensive and still interesting trip, there is an excellent bus service from Calgary which is comfortable, fast and also offers excellent scenery if not quite so impressive.

For those travelling by train, there is nothing to equal that first glimpse of that distant chain of peaks. On a clear morning, those peaks can be seen shimmering in the distance 40 miles east of Calgary. From Calgary on, the train snakes its way beside the milky jade Bow River and each group of mountains seems to be more magnificently rugged and beautiful than those preceding.

MAIN STREET IMPRESSIVE

Banff is a fair sized town with stores and many homes built to fit into the rugged scenery with a rustic log cabin effect. The main street runs toward the foot of Cascade mountain and leaves the onlooker breathless. Cascade Mountain is 9,836 feet high and is marked by thundering cascades which look like thin rivulets when seen from the ground.

The delightful Bow River bisects Banff which lies in a small valley and is tightly enfolded in the arms of towering mountains in every direction as far as the eye can see. There are excellent small hotels or private boarding places here to fit any purse.

For those wishing a taste of fairyland, there is the magnificent Banff Springs Hotel, patterned in the style of an old French chateau. The superb view from its terrace with the Bow River, Mt. Rundle to the right and Tunnel Mountain to the left, and a chain of mountains across the river where it jogs in the distance make a fantastic setting. The hotel is about a mile from the town and a 20-minute walk. You are quite apt to have bears amble across the walk or road ahead of you, but so long as you leave them alone, they ignore you.

GOOD JUMPING OFF POINT

Since Banff is the pointed end of a triangle, it is an excellent place for bus or car trips through the National Park which covers thousands of acres and extends to the British Columbia border. A day's busride will take a visitor to Lake Louise, the Great Divide and Emerald Lake and the Yoho National Park in B.C.

Closer to Banff, a bus travels to Lake Minnewanka, a lovely setting and where there is a big power project for Calgary. An hour's trip by launch to the end of the lake offers some grand scenes among which Mount Gibralter and Saddle Mountain make a deep impression on visitors.

Directly behind the Banff Springs Hotel is Suphur Mountain which makes a short interesting trip. Tourists can go by foot, horseback, car or bus. Half way up the mountain are sulphur springs and a magnificent outdoor swimming pool, filled with the same water and built facing a glorious vista of mountain peaks.

FAVORITE TRIP

I think of all the things I have seen during many visits to Banff that my favorite is a twilight circuit which can be made by bus or car. The Vermillion Lakes, resting in the shadow of Sulphur Mountain, where moose can be seen feeding, are unsurpassed when seen around 7:30 in the evening, just before twilight closes in. The setting sun spreads a delicate lilac color over both the mountain and the waters of the lakes, making them like something from an artist's brush.

But even more beautiful is the trip from here up the side of Mount Norquay to the ski run, which goes up to about 7,000 feet. Your bus or car will take you to the bottom of the chair lift and here for 75 cents you drift up to the top of the world. It is beautiful by daylight, but even more so at twilight. You inch slowly up the cable just as twilight begins to descend. By the time you reach the top, hushed from the grandeur of the concentric rings of peaks and mountains unfolded at your feet, night has fallen.

The visitor enters another world silent and awe inspiring. There is a special stillness and atmosphere encountered on high mountains that seems to divorce the visitor from the world below. At the foot of Norquay, Banff gleams invitingly, its brilliant lights making it appear in the shape of an anchor.

MARVELLOUS SUNRISE

The equally silent descent, broken only by the clank as the chairs pass the cable grippers, is beyond discription. The chair lift is perfectly safe, with a wooden arm across the front of each chair and there has never been an accident there during all the years of its operation. One time during a Banff visit I had a room on the Sulphur Mountain side of the Banff Springs Hotel (cheaper) a Banff Springs Hotel (cheaper) and had the delight of lying in bed and watching the spectacular sunrises over Mount Norquay.

The National Park Dept. has a wild animal paddock near the town for Buffalo, rocky mountain goats and bighorn sheep that is worth a visit. The Cascade Gardens at one end of the town are charming and worth a visit too. To many visitors, Banff is most famous for its Indian Days held usualy in July. It is secondary in interest to the Calgary Stampede.

For a two weeks vacation, the traveller can fly from Toronto to Calgary by plane in a few hours and then go by bus, if he wishes to have most of the two weeks there. For a less expensive and more interesting trip scenically, I recommend the train trip which skirts Lake Superior, crosses the prairies and cowboy towns and reaches Calgary on the morning of the third day. The visitor can thus have at least seven full days in this mountain delight and cover a lot of territory without the feeling of being rushed.

I have seen many beautiful things in many lands, but have yet to discover anything that quite equals or surpasses our Canadian Rockies.

Year of Activity Reported To Marmora Congregation

MARMORA (ENS)—The annual congregational meeting of the St. Andrew's United church was held on Thursday evening with the pastor, the Rev. K. J. Crawford, BA, BD, presiding.

The meeting was opened with scripture reading and prayer. W. F. Tupper was appointed secretary for the meeting.

In the absence through illness of S. Sandham, the official report of the session was not available. The pastor, however, mentioned that four new members had been received on profession of faith and four by letter. Six members had been removed. He intimated that the membership probably stood around 260. Holy communion was administered four times in the year and 20 baptisms had been performed.

ELDERS RE-APPOINTED

H. O. Loveless, A. Sweet, T. Hannah, J .Sproul and A. W. Tupper were re-appointed elders for a three-year term.

D. P. Marett and V. Glover were re-efected to the board of stewards and the following elected for a three-year term: Earl Binch, Harold Olsen, George Osborne and Granville Meiklejohn.

The treasurer's statement was given by A. W. Drew. Receipts were almost $7,300. Close to $500 remained as a balance after the year's obligations had been met.

The report of the trustees was given by E. C. Prentice. He referred to the sale of a lot on the original parsonage property.

INCREASE ALLOCATION

The report of the missionary and maintenance fund was given by J. Sproul. With receipts over $1,139, the allocation, which last year was 10 per cent over that of 1952, was met.

Mr. Drew reported more insurance had been put on the church and advised placing more insurance on parsonage contents.. K. Stubbs stressed the advisability of having the church evaluated.

James Sproul reported for the choir and said the addition of new members would be welcome.

E. C. Prentice, who has been superintendent of the Sunday school for the past 20 years, gave his report. He said there were 93 members.

He paid tribute to the faithful staff of teachers and said the average attendance at the sessions was 69. Almost $300 was recorded as receipts for 1953.

Mr. Prentice tendered his resignation to the session but said he was not adverse to working for the Sunday school in an emergency. The question of his successor was left with the session. He was tendered a vote of thanks for his faithful services by D. P. Marett, with H. W. Sabine seconding.

The reporting for the Women's Association was shared by Mrs. T. J. Bateman and Mrs. F. R. Wells. The former referred to the operation of the four circles and mentioned that the association had held 10 monthly meetings last year. She referred to the loss of a valued member through death last year, in the person of Mrs. Thomas Hannah.

Mrs. Wells gave the financial report of the association. Receipts well exceeded $2,000. Among the chief expenditures were the grant of $600 to the church board and more than $300 allocated to the manse.

WMS REPORT

Mrs. W. Tupper, speaking for the Women's Missionary Society, said it was composed of 13 active and seven associate members. Their allocation of $105 was met.

The pastor gave the report of St. Andrew's Young People's Union.

It was decided to try the United Church Observer every family plan for another year.

In his report, the minister referred to having made 560 pastoral calls in the entire charge for the 18 months ending December 31, 1953. In 1953, Mr. Crawford said he had officiated at 14 marriages, 13 burials and 28 baptisms throughout the charge. He also mentioned giving religious instruction in six schools in the district.

Following the benediction, the ladies served refreshments.

Allot 12 Seats For Women In Pakistan

By PETER JACKSON

DACCA, Pakiston (Reuters) — Campaigning is in full swing in the most significant elections since the birth of the Moslem state of Pakistan 6½ years ago.

The elections Feb. 16 are for the provincial assembly of East Bengal, home of more than half of Pakistan' 76,000,000 people, and producer of most of the world's jute.

The jute fields of East Bengal are separated from the rest of the country by more than 1,000 miles of Indian territory. The people differ greatly from their compatriots in West Pakistan and among them the percentage of non-Moslems is the highest in the country.

The minorities are Hindus, Buddhists and Christians, with the Hindus making up the largest number, around 10,000,000.

MOSLEM MAJORITY SURE

Of the assembly's 309 seats, 237 will go to Moslems including nine for Moslem women; 30 are general, 36 for scheduled castes, two for Buddhists, one for women in general, one for Christians, and two for scheduled caste women.

Moslems are thus assured of a majority in the assembly. But one of the arguments being used by the ruling Moslem League against opposition Moslem groups is that their election could give Hindus the balance of power.

Of the 20,000,000 people who will vote, only about 20 per cent can read, and fewer can write. But political meetings are crowded and animated and the election is certain to be closely contested.

Railway To Blue Mountain

When a railway line is abandoned or pulled up in this old part of southern Ontario, it is hardly news. When a completely new railway is laid, it is news. That is why our local news page yesterday made a big show of the parliamentary bill now in the first stages of being passed, authorizing the C.P.R. to build a seventeen-mile line from Havelock to Blue Mountain, at the head of Stony Lake.

* * *

Why in this air and motor vehicle age a brand new railway line? Because Blue Mountain is a mine of a special kind. It holds the free world's largest known deposit of nepheline ore, and that powdery rock has to be shipped to the markets of the free world. There is enough demand and enough nepheline to make building of seventeen miles of costly rails economically prudent. There has been enough of both to keep American Nepheline Mines (which is what the mine company is called) prosperously busy during and since the war, and to require that a completely new town be built. A village, really—called "Nepheton".

* * *

Blue Mountain is not a mountain of gold, but the hill (or range of hills) up there in the Kawarthas, 24 miles from Lakefield, is solid with thousands of tons of high-grade nepheline which seems as rare as gold, if not as precious. Somewhere in the Russian steppes there is a big deposit of the stuff, but that is not available to the Western world's ceramic industry. Nepheline is used to strengthen pottery clay, and the industry has found it the cheapest means of doing this.

* * *

The company has been expanding since 1936, when operations really began. Now that a townsite has been established right at the mine, and a railway will be laid from it to the main line at Havelock, plans call for a very great increase in the digging and grinding. The present mill, at Lakefield, has been treating 400 tons of the ore daily, but, says the manager, this is nothing to what will be. The plant at Lakefield, to which the ore was brought down in barges and, in recent years by truck, is considered merely a "pilot plant". It will be scrapped and a big mill erected right at the mine. The new railway will run from this to Havelock and thence into the main stream of the continent's markets for nepheline.

Judicial Acumen In Detroit

A woman was tried in a Detroit court recently on a charge of conspiracy to overthrow the government of the U.S.A.; as she was ill with sciatic neuralgia she was brought into court on a stretcher; she was covered with blankets which were part of the ambulance equipment, and these blankets happened to be a nice, bright red. The judge at once cried "Get that red flag out of here!" and court business could not proceed until her blankets had been changed. We think that this judge showed more zeal than brains.

Red is a popular colour. In psychological tests involving colour it has repeatedly been shown to be the most popular of all colours with men, and every woman knows the old joke which says that any woman looks beautiful to a man if she wears a red dress. It is a cheerful and enspiriting colour, popular in flags and all kinds of carnival decorations. It is so exciting in its effect that interior decorators advise against it as a wall-colour in dining-rooms; it is likely to make people eat too quickly. Now, is this wonderful colour to become taboo because, in the inflamed minds of some super-patriots and high-octane democrats it is associated with Communism?

There is a lot of red in the Stars and Strips; our Canadian Ensign and our Union Jack have plenty of red in their design. Sir John A. Macdonald wore red cravats which were virtually party flags—and not a communist party, either. Let's not be silly about red. If we abandon that colour to the Communists, they will have gained an invaluable psychological weapon, for in the heat of battle, when passions are high and reason is low, what man will not instinctively follow a Red Flag?

The Canadian mother who has had six sets of twins in eight years must still hurry to beat the world's champion, Mrs. Bernard Scheinberg, an Austrian who bore four sets of quadruplets, seven sets of triplets, sixteen sets of twins, and 69 children in all.

'Cultural Nationalism' In Canada

An interesting suggestion is made in Professor H. F. Angus' new book Canada and the Far East, 1940-53. It is that Canadian nationalism is cultural.

The suggestion seems ludicrous, on the face of it. Cultural nationalism in Canada? Why, this country has hardly hewn its way out of the woods and rocks yet. Its people are too concerned with making money and "progressing" to have time for arts and letters. None of the world's great books, none of its great paintings, its music or the world's great sculpture is Canadian, and, indeed, of good music, painting and architecture to be seen or heard in Canada, most is foreign, little Canadian. The bases of our nationalism seem to be political, commercial and industrial, not cultural.

The basis of nationalism is not, of course, its superstructure, and the foundations of most national cultures have been set on economic pins. Nations do not flower culturally until they are firmly established politically and commercially; it was so in Greece, Rome, Italy, France and Britain. It is so in the United States. And the American example serves to show that cultural achievement need not lie in the past. Dr. Angus says that "cultural ambitions may, if faith is strong, do for Canada what cultural achievement has done for others". Judging from the Massey Report of 1951, the multitude of submissions on which its findings were made, and the popular approval of them, cultural hope is strong in this country.

Dr. Angus argues that Canadian nationalism is cultural not because of the outward, existing manifestations, but by internal necessities. "It is the only practical basis for promoting unity of the French-speaking and English-speaking Canadians. It provides a ground on which they can meet as equals and engage in the mutual admiration which conduces to cordiality".

"And yet it is reassuring to minority groups which can aspire much more easily to participation in the cultural life around them than they can to assimilation in a racial sense. Almost from the outset they can feel themselves part of a richer and wider life to which they can make important contributions. It is no small part of the merit of cultural nationalism that it provides a bulwark against subserviency to the United States".

The argument seems to have more hope than facts to support it. On the other hand the evidence of the Massey Commission is strong, and even if Canada has produced no supreme books, paintings, music or architecture, and has yet no national theatre, no national library, and no heroes in the arts, these things can come as offspring of the very forces which have, in the last fifty years, produced a healthy, vigorous giant from a northern cradle. They can come sooner than Canada's present preoccupation with material advancement would seem to permit, if it is openly realized, as it seems to be in some quarters intuitively, that a nation without a culture is not a nation. "Cultural nationalism" may be a tautology, for Canada.

Harbingers of Spring

Nothing could look less like Spring than the weather as we write. Snow lies along the branches and twigs of every tree, and as the afternoon light grows gray and casts long shadows, everything that we can see from our window looks like one of those beautiful but sober steel engravings which our grandfathers hung on their walls Yet we have already seen a sign of Spring: the children are playing with marbles.

Everybody knows that marbles is a spring game. How do children know when to play marbles? Do they feel some stirring in the blood long before the sap has begun to rise in the trees? One day they are building snow forts and scraping snow from minute patches of ice, to make slides. The next day they are seen walking to school with their marble bags—which, in these days, often means a bag in which an expensive bottle of whisky made its appearance on the Christmas Tree.

Not yet Groundhog Day, and already the marbles are out! We call them marbles out of habit, for in reality they are agates—what we called 'glass alleys' and prized greatly in our own childhood. Ten real marbles—baked clay, rarely spherical, painted with queer, sticky shades of gamboge and mulberry and Prussian blue—was the recognized price of an alley. And there were big alleys, which had whorls of colour blown into them, like Victorian paper-weights, which the possessor kept, as a usual thing, for display rather than for the game. Only the rashest plungers—daring gamblers, headed straight for Monte Carlo—ever risked those.

Marbles have been seen, and Spring is on its way. Later the birds and the tardy crocus will tell us that Spring has come in reality, but marbles carry the promise of Spring.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A hockey fan says that flattery can ruin a young player. This is a form of ruin never dreaded by umpires.

The notion that a $2 bill is unlucky gains ground in these days when you have to exchange one for 50 cents worth of anything.

Rebuilding The Temple

By O. M. GREEN

IN THE depths of an enormous pit where the Inner Temple Hall s' ! Library once stood, square-built men are delving, heaving and spreading concrete foundations. A great crane has descended into the pit to carry away rubble by the ton, as easily as a housewife carries a pound of tea. A pneumatic drill chatters ceaselessly yet, it seems, in a subdued tone to suit the classic quietude of the Temple.

✧ ✧ ✧

FEW of those who daily pass Temple Bar are away of the immense destruction done by Nazi bombers to the dignified old Inns of Court which lie, undisturbed by the hurry of London, between Fleetstreet and the Embankment. Besides the Inner Hall and Library, the Cloisters, four Courts, Crown Officerow, Lamb Building and the Masters' House were reduced to rubble. The Temple Church and several other buildings were badly damaged, and some 200 sets of chambers were destroyed.

It must, however, be admitted that the ruin has made possible much-needed improvement, in combinations of old Courts, clearance of congested corners, and the lay-out of new gardens. How well the architects—Sir Edward Maufe for the Middle and Sir Hubert Worthington for the Inner Temple—are doing their work can be seen at once from what is already complete. The Inner Temple Hall, nearly up to the roof, will be a vast improvement, in brick and Portland stone, on the dull Victorian Perpendicular of the old Hall. The new buildings of Pump Court are strikingly beautiful, and the new Cloisters fully worthy of their repute as the very heart of the Temple.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is a curious story about the rebuilding of the Cloisters. Sir Edward Maufe's plan provided for seven arches on the eastern front so as to have a central arch over which the figure of the Middle Temple Lamb could be placed. The plan was passed, though some Benchers recalled that the old Cloisters had had eight arches. Some time after building had begun, an ancient drawing was discovered showing how Sir Christopher Wren had designed the Cloisters with seven arches. Why the then architect substitute eight is unknown.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT so much about the Inns of Court is unknown. No one has ever discovered how these voluntary societies of lawyers, "unchartered, unincorporated, unendowed," which now own and rule the Temple, came into existence.

Originally, the site was the headquarters in England of the Knight Templars or Poor Knights of Christ and of the Temple of Solomon, a militant Order founded in the twelfth century to protect pilgrims to Jerusalem, of whom only the name Temple, and the church they built, remain. They were vowed to "chastity, obedience and poverty"—in fact, the Order became immensely rich and powerful throughout Europe, which was the cause of their downfall and suppression in 1312. After them the Temple grounds passed to the Knights Hospitallers of Jerusalem, by which time communities of lawyers were well rooted in the Temple, and were building themselves halls, libraries and homes in the deserted groves of the Templars.

✧ ✧ ✧

EDWARD I, the Lawgiver, seems to have given them a start when, on returning from the Holy Land, he found that the quarrels between Church and Law had bred much scandal ("even the judges," says one shocked historian, "were tainted") and thereon reformed the judiciary and instituted the legal education of students "apt and eager" by recognised Masters. When the Knights Hospitallers vanished in 1539, the lawyers became tenants of the Crown, were granted a lease at £10 a year by James I, bought it out from the needy Charles II and so became heati possidentes.

✧ ✧ ✧

A STATUTE passed by Parliament in 1362 is worth recalling for its interest to laity as well as to lawyers. It enacted that since the French tongue (still the language of polite society) is "much unknown in this Realm," "Men of lawe fro that tyme shold plede in her moder tunge." It is a curious coincidence that at about the time when the English people were fashioning their own language out of many current dialects, in Italy, where nobles and priests still spoke Latin, Boccaccio discovered the virile Italian talked by the people and wrote in it his gay (sometimes, perhaps, too gay?) "Decameron."

The Inns are governed by Benchers who co-opt their members from among the most eminent lawyers, Judges of the High Court are Benchers (they probably would have been even if they had not become Judges). Last year the Lord Chief Justice was Treasurer of the Inner Temple.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE specially wonderful piece of restoration is that of the Middle Temple Hall. (Can there anywhere be a lovelier hall in existence than this one with its double hammerbeam roof and glorious carved screen?) A bomb, dropped on the other side of Middle Temple Lane, hurled an immense stone through the west end of the Hall, smashing the screen to bits. Luckily the screen had been made in panels attached to a wooden foundation. With infinite care the fragments of this enormous jig-saw puzzle were sorted out and put back in place, looking exactly as before the war.

Two royal Elizabeths have been closely connected with the Middle Temple. Over the dais in the Hall at one end are the arms of Gloriana, who was a Bencher; at the other, those of the Queen Mother, who was Treasurer in 1949. Now the third Elizabeth will carry on the association in the new block of chambers which is to take the place of the old library, to be called Queen's Building.

A new library, with Benchers headquarters and offices, is to be built for the Middle Temple's 70,000 books. Among them research may discover books on the secrets of witchcraft and how to raise the devil.

✧ ✧ ✧

EVENING draws on. The muscular workmen climb out of the pit; the chattering pneumatic drill is silent; we turn away from memories of the old, from the rising beauties of the new Temple. But one reflection stays with us. Over the Cloisters runs an inscription: Surrexit Impens Hon. Soc. Med. Templi. MCMLII. Is there not a touch of pride in that "Impens"—"at the expense of" the Middle Temple Society? Should any but the "men of lawe" be allowed to share the honour of this great rebuilding?.

An American Opinion: CAUGHT

Taking Thought For The Morrow

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

THE national committee of the Norwegian Federation of Labor (representing the interests of half a million organized workers) has adopted a remarkable resolution for 1954. This resolution calls for no general revision of wage contracts.

The reasons for this resolution are impressive. The Federation believes that any general wage increase would be dangerous for two reasons.

In the first place, it would be likely to be reflected in higher prices. These higher prices, in short order, would eat up the wage increases.

Nor does the Federation, in the second place, believe that wages can be repeatedly forced up, so as to win the race with prices. For if this is done, prices will go so high for Norwegian exports that they shall become unsaleable in the markets of the world. It would do little good to force up prices at home in order to get higher wages, if, in the end, the products made for export cease to sell.

In other words, the Federation believes that it is just not possible to get higher wages out of unsold goods. Until economic conditions become clearer than they are now, the Federation recommends no general wage revision.

It is an interesting attitude. But the problem facing Norway is, in essence, little different from that facing other trading nations. The same problem, for example, hovers over Great Britain today.

Canada, as the world's third trading nation, is very greatly concerned with this same problem. Since Canada is producing far more than its own people can buy, it must find markets abroad. But price becomes important not only in order to maintain foreign sales; price is also important for the Canadian domestic market. For if Canadian goods are high-priced at home, Canadians also will tend to buy imports instead. There are a number of Canadian industries — notably the textile industry — that are suffering in just this way, from the preference of Canadians for cheaper imports.

It is interesting that the Norwegian Federation of Labor took particular note of the fact that a deficit has appeared in Norway's foreign trade. The danger of enlarging this deficit was one of the principal considerations that motivated its decision against any general wage revision.

But a similar deficit has opened up in Canada's foreign trade. Canadians are buying more goods from foreign countries than they are selling to them. But this want of balance cannot go on when Canada is dependent upon sales abroad for 24 per cent of the national income.

How Fares The Trans-Canada?

(MONTREAL STAR)

YEAR-END report of progress on the Trans-Canada highway shows improvement over that of the year before. About $140 millions in contracts have gone into the big undertaking so far. About $50 millions of this was spent last year, or $12 millions more than the year before.

Nearly every one of the nine participating provinces has added substantially to the mileage of completed, paved highway during the past year, according to the report of the Minister of Public Works. Ontario leads the other provinces in this category, with the longest stretch of paved, completed highway. Prince Edward Island, on the other hand, with 44 per cent of its total mileage done, tops the national list. Ontario, British Columbia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland all adopted the same policy of tackling the toughest parts of their project first. As these difficulties were overcome, bit by bit, the work gradually speeded up. From now on, therefore, greater mileage should be reported yearly till completion.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE size of the job facing the nine provinces can be realized by the mileage in each still remaining to be covered, after more than two years work. Ontario's 240 miles completed, topping the list, is still less than one-sixth of what remains to be done; Manitoba one-third; Saskatchewan one-third; British Columbia one-sixth. Nova Scotia was last to sign the agreement with Ottawa and so far has only survey and a little preliminary work done.

How long it will take to complete the job no one has yet been willing to estimate authoritatively. From now on, however, for the reason given above, the work should advance more rapidly. A completely paved highway from coast to coast is hardly likely to be achieved for some years. Graded and modernly prepared gravel supplementing the paved stretches should not take more than another two years, paving being added as quickly as possible.

What will be the position of Quebec which has refused to enter into the national project when it is finished cannot of course be forseen. So far the government has given no indication of what it has in mind as the route for trans-provincial traffic as part of the across-Canada highway.

COME-BACK

The butcher's shop was crowded with customers when a woman rushed in and pushed her way to the counter.

"Give me a dime's worth of cat's meat, quickly," she cried rudely.

The butcher was about to tell her to take her turn when a gentle old lady said, "It's all right — serve her first. I think we can wait if she's all that hungry."

The Lord is good to all: and his tender mercies are over all his works . . . The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him, to all that call upon him in truth . . . The Lord preserveth all them that love him. (Ps. 145:9, 18, 20.)

And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God. I am the true vine, and my Father is the husbandman . . . I am the vine, ye are the branches: He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit; for without me ye can do nothing. If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you. Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples. Letter To The Editor

FARM NOTES APPRECIATED

SIR: We read with a great deal of interest your weekly feature "County Farm Notes." Presenting, as it does, the highlights of agricultural activity, the value of this page to both your rural and urban readers is exceedingly high. Mr. Harry Theobald, its editor, is to be commended not only for his knowledge and support of the farm program in the Peterborough district but also for the service that he is rendering to the industry as a whole.

And through you may we express to Mr. Theobald special congratulations for his interest in the activities of the 4-H and Junior Farmers Clubs in Peterborough County. Recognizing these young people as he does is not only a tribute to their past performances but will inspire among them self-confidence and higher achievement in their future endeavours.

Yours very truly,
JAMES D. MOORE,
Secretary Manager.

Backing Up Faith

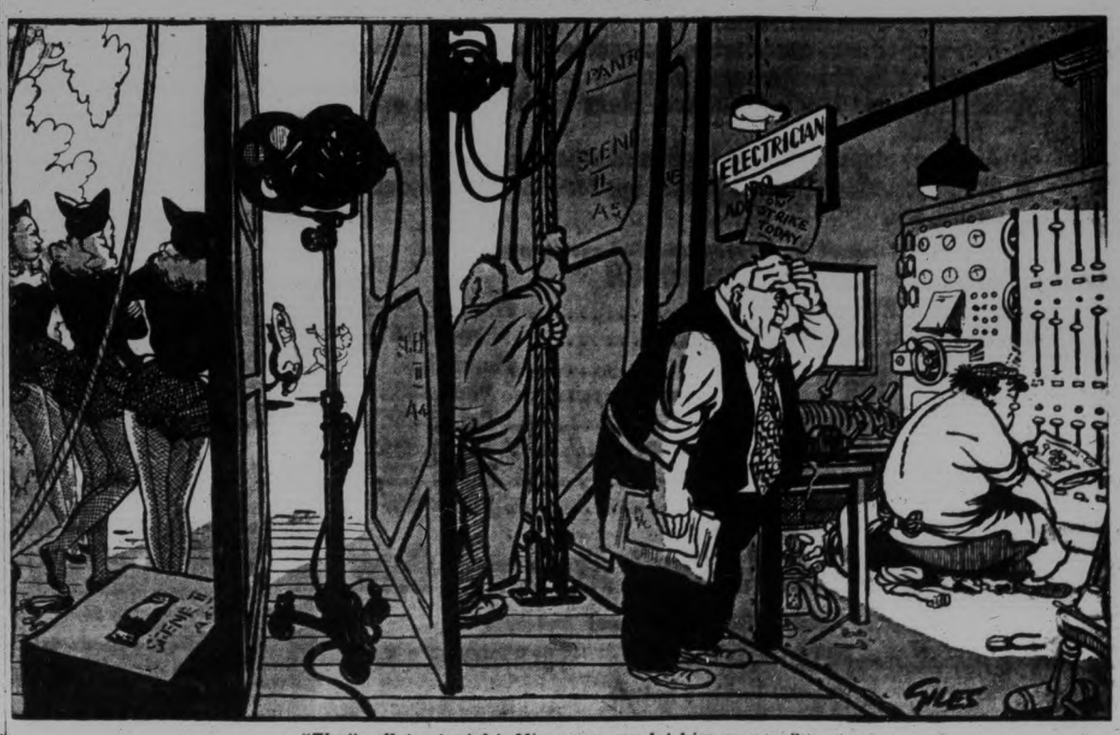
(St. Catharine's Standard)

General Motors Corporation is generally designated as the biggest corporation in the world. That is a sweeping statement and certainly puts this Goliath in a class by itself. But more important is the verdict that it is just about as successful as any producing enterprise can become. As one American metropolitan newspaper submits: "It didn't get that way by making wrong guesses."

General Motors, as reported this week, is backing faith in the future to the tune of one billion dollars in an expansion program. It might go as high as $1,500,000,000 before completed.

The announcement is probably the most devastating answer which can be given to the current crop of economic crepe-hangers, Jeremiahs and prophets of doom.

A BRITISH OPINION



"That's all for tonight, Miss—you can let him go now."

Drainage Of The West Side Major Work In 1893, Benefitted Large Area

By HARRY THEOBALD

(This is the fourth in a series of articles by Mr. Theobald on the Peterborough City Trust.)

The ice box of the retail meat store, a comm[illegible] property of the trade and grocery shops, too, is recalled in the minutes of the City Trust Commissioners.

C. Poole wrote them in 1891 that he had built the refrigerator in the shop "lately occupied by Mr. Houson, for which I have not been paid."

The Commissioners directed their treasurer to send C. Poole a cheque for ten dollars.

That minute out of the annals of 65 years ago, suggests the type of architecture of the "frige" which had to wait in its development for the refinement of the electric generators, as recently mentioned to the Examiner by R. S. Cotton in a retrospect of the early products of Edison Electric and its successor CGE. Apparently a handy carpenter could turn out an ice box, allowing for drainage and drafts. Some knowledge and skill must have been necessary, but at any rate it was not the sleek elegance in enamel and chrome that is now standard equipment in just about every home.

In the town's disposal of lots around the watered area of George, Rink, Townsends streets, almost over to Aylmer Street, encouraging their filling Edison Electric on Dec. 24, 1891, asked for a grant of lots 2, 3 and 4, north of Townsend and west of George St. (to be filled within three years).

W. H. MOORE APOINTED

John R. Cobb, town clerk, wrote the Trust Feb. 2, 1892, announcing the appointment by the council of W. H. Moore, barrister, to the Commission in the place of Walter Patterson, Jr.

(The Patterson family were in the leather tannery business on Aylmer St., south of Brock St., with water supply and outlet at the creek).

The commissioners then were: James Stevenson, chairman, John Carnegie, R. S. Davidson, William Hall and Mr. Moore.

Both Stevenson and Davidson were hardware merchants. The minutes of April 4, 1892, mentioned the invested sinking fund at $15,984.70.

Annual levy on the council for interest and sinking fund for the repayment of money borrowed for capital municipal works was, after all, the main purpose and service of the Commission. In those years the amount of the sinking fund was still small, but it was invested in safe bonds, interest bearing, thereby supplementing the accumulating sinking fund. In later years, similar earnings provided large sums for the town and city, from the sound and proper use of the money by the Commissioners.

Issue of $14,000 debentures, 5% for 30 years, by the city paid for the digging of a drain on Park and Rink streets, as promised in the agreement with the Edison Electric Company.

This drain was 10 or 12 feet deep, walled with square timber and covered with sidewalk planks. It was six or seven feet wide, and must have been quite a digging job in those days of muscular shovel power. The council had to obtain and pay for a right of way for the Rink St. drain under the CPR and the GTR.

(Incidentally, the heading last week was out of step with the columned text. CPR application for the station site at George and Wolfe streets was in 1884 and not in 1894 as the heading magnified. The correct date was in the story. The CPR connection with Peterborough began in 1885 when the railway through the town was completed.)

The bylaw to borrow $14,000 for the Edison drain was number 649. The debenture debt in 1891 was $254,500.

Demand on the council was $13,050 in 1892. Remember in earlier notes that in 1862 the first requisition was $5,706 for interest and sinking fund.

A minute of May 31, 1893, recalls a main streeter of that time, William J. (Billie) McCallum, whose cafe was in the market block about where Jim Hum's cafe is now. McCallum was given a lease for three years at $250 a year.

TENANTS OF THE TRUST

The management and maintenance of property owned by the town was the secondary responsibility of the Trust. Rental of the George St. stores on the east side from Charlotte St. to Simcoe St., must have received much attention of the Trust. There is repletion of record in the minutes, mainly claims for rent reduction and protest against notices of increase.

Tenants during the 1890's were: moving north from Charlotte St.: CPR Telegraph Co. and Dominion Express, then at 322, where the Anthony fruit store occupies the corner.

Next was Henry Best, selling stoves and other hardware. He was one of Peterborough's mayors, leaving a reputation rating with the best. His home was the spacious building occupied by the Children's Aid Society for their wards, and including the adjoining land extending from George St. through to Lock St.

Lindsay and Might and H. J. Fife were in insurance; John Steele, barber. Then there was the open arcade, reaching through to the market squares and flanked on both sides with meat shops.

They were Leger D. Letellier, Harry and Richard Winch, Noah T. de la Plante.

Out on the sidewalk again, going north: McCallum's restaurant; Bell Telephone office; The Hub Hotel; Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway office (that project never got across the river); Standard Life Assurance Co.; entrance to Bradburn's Opera House; (H.P.) Kennedy and Nelson, meat shop; (the meat retailers in those days were nearly all butchers; their successors have been largely rubbed out by the packing industry); T. Hurley and Co., real estate; Palace Hotel; Times Printing Co.; Robert Neil shoe store; George Matthews Co., retail meat store; upstairs at the corner: R. F. Morrow, dentist; J. J. Lundy, broker; E. A. Peck, barrister; and on top the Ancient Order of Foresters Hall.

Macfarlane Wilson's China Hall was in the present premises of the Dominion Bank.

Apparently there was renewal of Thomas Bradburn's ground lease June 21, 1893. Council needed some money in July, and tapped the Commission for $1,000 from the receipts for lots sold generally south of Townsend St., which had been the south boundary of the town from incorporation.

COUNCIL NEEDS $5,000

August 10, 1893; the Trust dealt with a motion from the town council by Aldermen Mulhern and Dennistoun: "that the Trust place $5,000 to the credit of the council to assist the council in obtaining additional manufactories." Evidently that money was to pay for costs incurred in securing the Edison Electric Co.

It is understood that this company had actually been attracted to Peterborough from Sherbrooke, Que., principally by the prospective asset of the water power at Nassau.

The answering resolution of the Town Trust relating to the appeal from the council, and mentioning this information "same ($5,000) to be paid to the CGE", was "that the secretary inform the council that the Commissioners have no funds on hand, and have no authority to borrow, and are advised that in the circumstances they can not legally comply with the council's request."

TRUNK SEWER MOOTED

A major municipal undertaking is indicated in an offer from Richard Hall and Charles McGill, trustees under the will of Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls to purchase debentures for a main outfall sewer (on George St. at 5%, without sinking fund, and the notation that it be received and approved.

The Commissioners were disposed to accommodate the council, and Oct. 9, 1893, they decided to place to the credit of the Council

Machines Do Intricate City Hall Work

The city hall is in the machine age.

Tucked in a corner just off the main city hall office is a soundproof room filled with printing and rapid calculating machines which will make your ears ring when all are in operation.

Your ears may ring, but your pocket book becomes fatter, all thanks to these machines which save the taxpayer thousands of dollars each year.

During the past several years the city hall has gradually mechanized its procedure. A graphotype, the addressograph and a new sensimatic have been installed. By buying these machines one at a time it's easier on the taxpayer's wallet.

These machines have enabled the city to keep the staff at about the same number as 20 years ago. In fact the present equipment does work that 12 people would have to do, and does it faster. Both these features save the city money.

The most expensive machine is the tax-accounting machine, costing about $6,000. But it pays for itself, the experts say, in the labor it saves. It calculates the various taxes for each property; divides the total into three equal instalments and prints the taxes on the bill.

This gorgeous gadget is used for posting tax payments and placing figures on the assesment rolls; it's got some other zippy tricks up its sleeve, too.

The newest machine is the sensimatic which, when you put down $2,400 for it, has enough sense to prepare the city payroll, print cheques, do the employee's record card and the payroll sheet, all simultaneously. Eventually all the department budgets and estimates will be figured out monthly by this same machine.

There are two machines, the addressograph and the graphotype which work hand in hand. The graphotype cuts the descriptions of each property, owner and tenant on a small metal plate. These plates reduce the amount of time taken previously in writing the data by longhand or typewriter. The plates are run through the addressograph, which is really a printing machine.

Possibly the most used machine is the mimeographing machine which almost daily runs out copy after copy of letters, reports, budgets, estimates and inter-department correspondence. One of its annual jobs is printing the voters' lists.

Are these city hall machines a foretaste of the future, when such robots can do all the work around the place—including the jobs of the mayor and aldermen?

LIKE TO KNOW YOUR TAXES? Let the tax-accounting machine and Jean Smith tell you within a matter of seconds.

ISOBEL SHEARER'S work is much easier now the sensimatic machine does the city hall payroll. It'll also be used for monthly budget reports.

METAL PLATES for every property in the city are made in the graphotype machine by Doris Bolton.

THOUSANDS OF COPIES of letters, reports and budgets are turned out annually by the mimeographing machine, operated by Nora Gabbutt.

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

Any time now, we can expect to receive minute meetings from various summer cottage associations whose members, having gathered in warm hotel rooms and gorged themselves on rich food, finally decide what they want done to improve their particular cottage colony areas. Absence from Bide-a-Wee makes the heart grow fonder.

Being in the heart of the province's most flourishing cottage country, and in tune with any new suggestions put out yearly by said associations, we duly note their aims. We are also constantly amazed that members of cottage associations never do anything about having their properties systematically patrolled throughout the closed season.

This is not a novel idea by any means. We have always thought such a measure of protection has been a great need for a long time. Ask any insurance man and he will tell you the same thing.

One policy writer-upper told us this week that he personally owned a remote cottage that had burned down in early winter and the damage was not found until the following May. He also pointed out that trees falling on roofs, roofs caving in with weight of snow, break-ins and thefts were acts that constantly take place in closed-cottage areas. They are rarely detected or reported until some weeks later.

Cottage cops should be a necessary institution.

Nassau Embryo Forest

The Lakefield District 4-H Forestry Club, 96 members, who organized last summer and planted 15,000 red and white pine seedling trees on the Nassau (C.G.E.) Ski Hill, attracted Dominion-wide publicity. The pupils of L.D.H.S., headed by assistant agricultural representative Ken Best and zone forester John Bell, will continue the project this spring with more plantings; it will go on for ten years.

Mr. Best reports that a mere ten per cent of the seedling trees did not survive—red pines planted on portions of the low ground—but that the remainder, regardless of the dry summer and fall, are flourishing. Other communities are watching the project with great interest, according to Mr. Best, who has accumulated a good deal of correspondence to prove it.

We hear that 15 lucky members of the 4-H club are to be guests of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association. The treat? A trip to the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show some time during its term, March 12 to 20.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Speaking of the CNSS, we finally received some publicity about what the public can expect to see this year. We reported last week that it is to be bigger and better than ever, so big, the release says that the Show will be double in size, "as large as the New York Boat Show and sport show combined".

An International Motor Show is an added attraction to an authentic Indian village, travel, cottage and two dog shows. Special demonstrations in golfing, boxing, fencing, archery, water-skiing, etc.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

In 1952 the Department of Travel and Publicity started grading tourist resorts with one-star ratings. Last year the plan was dropped, because of legal complications, department officials said.

At the Tourist Resorts of Ontario convention, held recently in Toronto, members demanded that resort-rating be re-instated.

Can such a plan be turned on and off like a water tap? GOOD resort operators welcome the system while POOR types are afraid its application might put them out of business. We wonder how the Kawartha crowd feel about it? There were pros and cons among the group in '52.

Strangulation in the Wood

Everyone raves about the color of our autumn countryside that is becoming increasingly colorful as the fence rows spill over with wild grape and Virginia creeper vines.

The latter, silvaculturists say, are a menace to timber production in Southern Ontario; their foliage robs tree foliage of sunlight and growth and, with the heavy load of vines in times of sleet storms, breaks down the host trees entirely. Creeper vines that crawl to the tops of 100-foot trees are said to have three-inch branches. Especially in the interior of woodlots where vines grow rank reaching for the sun, they should be done away with by severing the main stems at the ground.

Some citizens will be wondering why Peterborough products at the current Canadian National Boat Show are conspicuous by their absence. City boatmen didn't miss a sales bet, by any means; they have been in business too long for that.

A boat show held in January is too early for sales appeal; it is being run too long (until Feb. 6) and because it has to be bolstered by cuties modelling women's fashions, they are apt to get more looks than the boats do. This is my idea, anyway. We can all count on the usual several displays of Peterborough-made boats, come March 12-20, at the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show, shown at a later date, to more people.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Ice boating has always been a sporadic winter sport in the Kawarthas, not because of lack of ice, but of the right kind, without too much snow cover. The Blewett brothers, Earl and Karl of Bridgenorth, may be modern pioneers of this sport in our district. They have two ice boats tacking across Chemong Lake and Earl has a large one all ready to go down the ways—or however they launch ice boats.

When the lake ice is fairly well wind-swept they and their children have great fun at nights. Last Sunday was a regular regatta day for them and, though the ice was on the rough side, their boats attained bursts of 20 m.p.h.

Those who know about these things say that ice boating is the thriller-killer-diller winter sport of them all.

Snow Good Protection & Fertilizer

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Snowfall should be greatly appreciated by gardeners everywhere since it provides a very necessary protection for tender plants against cold, drying winds.

Experienced gardeners have learned that snow is as good as a fertilizer because it absorbs the ammonia from the air and after blanketing the ground, prevents escape of nitrogen from below.

The later the snow, the more valuable it is to the soil from the standpoint of bountiful crops. There is a saying among old English gardeners that a snow is as good as a load of manure.

Each snow that we have goes a long way toward repairing drought damage of last year for much of it goes into the soil as moisture.

Snow, too, is Mother Nature's mulch. There is none better. But since it cannot be depended upon, the wise gardener spreads a protective mulch of straw or old manure around tender plants and a mound of soil abouf roses.

Snow is a good fertilizer and protects tender plants against cold, drying winds.

It would be ideal if snow fell early in the winter and remained until spring. Then there would be no need for a mulch. We should be thankful, though, for each fall of snow and between snows we can finish the mulching program that was not completed before winter's first cold.

Unfortunately, snow sometimes causes branches to break because of its weight. This is especially true to evergreens in foundation planting. So, for their protection, you should gently knock off the excess snow.

Gardening Questions

Q—Is it too late to fertilize shade and ornamental trees?

A—No. Late autumn or early spring is ideal. Feeding now not only gets the job done but permits the roots to take up the fertilizer as it becomes soluble, as root growth continues as long as the soil is not frozen.

Q—For the first time fruit has set on our Japanese quince shrubs. Are these quince of any value?

A—Yes—the largest of them can be used to make jams or quince honey.

Q—Please suggest a list of plants suitable for an indoor planter rack.

A—Foliage plants such as philodendron and sansevieria must be used where there is little or no sun. Suitable flowering plants may be selected from the following: African violet, shrimp plant, amaryllis, azaleas, cineraria, gloxinia, poisettia, gardenia, Crown of Thorns, Christmas cactus and the many begonias. But bear in mind — for flowers you must have sun or fluorescent light.

Q—We have a large garden. Living along a well-traveled highway convinces us that we could dispose of our surplus Would we need a license to sell them?

A—A vendor's license is not required if one sells flowers and plants to the public, provided you grow them yourself.

Q—Wireworms and white grubs reduce our corn harvest to a minimum. What preventive is recommended to rid the soil of wireworms and white grubs?

A—The agricultural experts suggest spring broadcasting of an insecticide such as aldrin, and then promptly disking it into the soil.

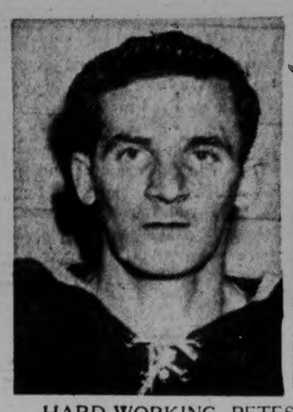
Petes Tie For First Place With Oshawa Truckers By Beating Orillia 5 To 3

Finishing like champions when the chips are down, the TPT Petes pulled out a 5-3 OHA Senior "B" victory over Orillia Pontiacs here last night before 1,500 fans to move into a group top-place tie with Oshawa Truckmen, leaving Orillia in fourth place. The two loop leaders tangle tonight in Bowmanville, with first place at stake and but four weeks left in the hot schedule. The game here Friday was nearly 40 minutes late starting, owing to the late arrival of most of the Orillia players. But the tardy arrivals showed good form from the start to have an even break on the 1-1 first frame, and keep it at 3-all going into the third. Ed Redmond's men rolled then for two tallies to put it on ice in a fast clean fray. Orillia drew five of the nine minor penalties.



HARD-WORKING PETES—Two of the hard-working Petes, who beat Orillia Pontiacs 5-3 here to tie for first place last night, are Ted Collins (left) and Gus Leonard, the latter being in on three goals and Collins in on two. Ted finished off a fine rush with one of the neatest markers of the night in a speedy senior "B" hockey tilt before a hefty Friday night crowd at Civic Arena.

COSTLY PENALTY

Actually, a penalty in the third period made the difference, as the Petes cashed in quickly for two markers with Murray Richardson serving a hooking penalty. His time was up just as the second goal was scored, but he wasn't on the ice in time to help his mates stem off the torrid drive by the hungry Petes when they smelled a win.

Chum Fryia got two goals for the victors, one each being counted by Ed Redmond, Ted Collins and Gus Leonard. Two assists each were marked to Redmond, Leonard and Bill Crowley, and singles to Collins, Toodie Greenlaw, Keith Montgomery and Doc Prentice. Though not a scorer, Rod Belisle turned in a fine Showing, as did Bert Hill, while Jack Donlevy was solid again in goal.

Lloyd Pearsall, Ab Bowen and Clary Payne were the Orillia marksmen, the latter, Richardson and Desroches coming through with an assist each. Bob Shropshire was sharp in goal, too, and the Petes had to earn their markers in a fine, fast fixture, with play moving up and down at a hot clip all the way.

TIED IN FIRST

The Belisle line threatened early as the Petes pressed in a lively first chukker. Fryia and Shropshire tangled by the Orillia goal and drew high-sticking penalties, with Woods serving it for the Pontiacs' goalie. They were back when Redmond scored with a sizzling hot shot from the side on a play built up by Collins and Crowley winding up in a passout from the corner. Montgomery pulled a nice rush and then Desroches was gated for interference, followed by Fryia for elbowing. Both were back, and Greenlaw was tripped on a rush, when Pearsall eyed it up on a neat angle shot to pick up a net corner on an in-close play with Payne and Richardson. Shewchuck went off later for cross-checking.

The Petes first line threatened to open the next heat but couldn't sink the disc. Montgomery was waved over for tripping but returned before Bowen's snap shot beat Donlevy on an angle close-in thrust. Payne added another shortly from Desroches on a corner passout and-snap shot to give Pontiacs a 3-1 margin. It was short-lived as Fryia tore in close to hit the twine on smart combination with Greenlaw and Leonard, a side shot clicking. Collins tied it up with a really fast dash, almost a breakaway, on passes up by Crowley and Montgomery, Ted finishing it off smartly. Fryia came close later on a breakaway, but Donlevy was tested too several times on sharp stabs. Richardson got the nod for interference near the close.

PENALTY HELPED

The Belisle line pressed again early in the third, but they didn't dent Shropshire's armour. Donlevy had two fine saves as Orillia roared back. Richardson got the air for hooking at 12:05 and that did it, as Leonard slapped one home from Redmond and Prentice as Petes ganged up, and Fryia followed with the insurance marker with a slap at a corner passout on a play started by Leonard and Redmond. Orillia pressed hard later, especially when Prentice went off for hooking, but Redmond and Belisle checked smartly, and time ran out on Pontiacs.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

At a meeting in Toronto the other day, six new teams were admitted to the ORFU intermediate "A" setup. They were Toronto Notre Dame, Toronto Beaches Canoe Club, Toronto Parkdale Lions, Orillia Bombers, Sarnia Wildcats and London. There were nine in last year, Peterborough Orfuns (the champs), Oshawa Raiders, Cobourg Ghosts, Toronto Marauders, Hamilton Panthers, Oakville Knights, Toronto East Yorks, Stratford Indians and Welland Wolverines. Provided our Orfuns can get out of the red—or a reasonable facimile of same—by spring, the champs will likely be back in action by autumn to defend their crown, but they'll have to do without several good Orillia commuters in '54.

Harry Thornton, former ace hockeyist here immediately after the First World War, drops us a line from Buffalo. In part, he says: "I had a long chat with Babe Bogardis, former Petes player, at the Hershey game Sunday night and we are in complete accord that young Sullivan of Hershey is one of the outstanding players in the American League. Peterborough should be proud of him as he is an excellent sportsman and a good team player. Hoping to see you some time in Buffalo, with kindest regards to friends in Peterborough, I am, etc." Young Harry was a star with the 247th Battalion team here the year Jack Adams wore local livery.

Gary Leads the Scorers

Gary Kearns at the moment is leading the Junior Petes in scoring with 16 goals and 11 assists for 27 points. Gord Coyle is right on his heels with 26 points, being tops in goals with 17 and having nine assists. Paul Doris had 15 and nine for 24, and Kevin Heffernan 11 and 11 for 22. Blake Uren and Bob Gardner have 18 points each and Buddy McDougall 16. Several others pretty close to this latter mark. The Creighton crew travel to Port Perry this evening, and have the Ports—made up of Oshawa puckists—back here Monday in important frays. After that, the team goes away twice more and has but one more home tussle (Lindsay here Feb. 8) before group juior "B" finals betwixt the top two teams begin. Locals lead the pack at present.

* * * * * *

Scribe Rodden of Kingston writes: "Statistics suggest that in playoff time, Oshawa and Goodyears will vie for group laurels. Ineffective road teams seldom capture titles and thereof it could be guessed that neither the Petes nor Pontiacs will prevail in senior playoff time. It will be noticed that Belleville Memos are not being considered as playoff participants. It is true that they have won their last three games at home but these have been doubly offset by eight successive reverses in enemy territory. The outlook does not seem to be encouraging that the colorful but illfated Memos will emulate miracle men during the home stretch drive." So, it's Oshawa vs. Kingston in group finals, eh, Mike? Suppose we wait a bit and see.

In Tie For First Place

Today the TPT Petes are tied for first place with Oshawa Truckers, who have pretty well held a mortgage all season on the top rung of the senior "B" group ladder. Tonight's tilt between these leaders in Bowman Villa should be a hot one indeed. Petes play in Belleville next Tuesday. A penalty in the third period here last eve cost Orillia the game as Ed Redmond's men struck fast to pour two pucks past Goalie Shropshire as Richardson sat it out. A fine fast fray, clean and close all the way. Pontiacs were late arriving but showed hustle from the start before a goodly gallery. All the Petes turned it on and they've sure been hot in recent weeks — causing no end of worry to rivals around the circuit.

Plenty of hoop action around and about last gloaming insofar as local squads were concerned. At the YW in girls' play, Collis beat the Nurses, as Lindsay won from CGE. PCVS junior lasses downed Kenner but the senior PCI-ers dropped an exhibition decision here to Trenton belles. At Toronto in boys' play, St. Peter's seniors took DelaSalle 56-47 in an OCC fixture, while the junior Saints lost a 61-35 fixture to their Kitchener opponents. Also in Toronto, PCVS senior lads tied Jarvis Collegiate 63-all, as PCVS juniors won 51-48 from Jarvis in exhibition tilts. YM house frays next Tuesday: Apprentices vs. Orphans, Trojans vs. Test.

International Bonspiel Enters Last Day

By PETER BUCKLEY

QUEBEC (CP)—The 41st Quebec international bonspiel swept into its last day today. Ten awards will be disposed of by tonight.

Attention will be concentrated on play for the curling classic's biggest prize, the Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy.

Ownership of the second most-coveted award, the Grand Aggregate Bowl for the team winning the most games in the A, B or C divisions and the Lieutenant-Governor's contest—will also be determined.

Four major events were run off Friday night and three teams from this province and an Ontario rink walked off with the prizes.

KIRKLAND LAKE WINS

A determined Kirkland Lake quartet, behind skip C. A. Sutherland, fought to a 14-12 triumph over Sam Wilson's Sudbury rink to take the A division and the Chateau International Trophy.

Sutherland's victory also kept him in first place in the Grand Aggregate race, now narrowed to two teams. With eight wins and no losses, he was one game ahead of Gaston Amyot's Quebec Jacques Cartier which counted seven victories and one defeat.

Amyot's squad kept pace in the grand aggregate with a win in the C contest which netted it the Francois Jobin International Cup.

The B competition and the Omega International Trophy went to a St. Johns, Que., rink, skipped by Pat Ross, who has seen more bonspiels than most curlers can shake a broom at. Ross edged Ed Robertson's Ottawa West Granite, making its first appearance at the international, 9-8.

COPPER CLIFF EDGED

Ray Benoit skipped Montreal Heather to a 13-11 victory over Mac Canapini's Copper Cliff crew in the D event for the Holt Renfrew International Trophy.

In 1953, the four trophies were divided among two teams from Quebec City, one from the Maritimes and one from Ontario.

Alf Muth of Quebec Victoria, last year's B winner, has advanced this year to the finals against C. Nurmi's Sudbury rink in E section.

Last year's winner of the Grand Aggregate and Lieutenant-Governor's awards, Mr. Justice D. P. J. Kelly's Toronto Granite, started promisingly this year, then faded. Friday the rink lost its third straight and was eliminated completely.

Rose To Play Hartwig In Australian Singles

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Rex Hartwig and Mervyn Rose, who won the Australian national doubles title Friday, advanced today to the final in the singles.

Hartwig ended the winning run of the veteran 35-year-old John Bromwich by beating him 8-6, 6-4, 9-7 in their semi-final. Bromwich's upset victory over Tony Trabert of the United States several days ago led to controversy in Aussie tennis circles.

Rose upset Ken Rosewall in the other semi-final, 6-2, 6-3, 3-6, 1-6, 7-5.

College Basketball

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—University of Western Ontario Mustangs Friday night defeated McGill Redmen 97-44 in a senior intercollegiate basketball game here.

HELPS IN WIN—Speedy Bill Crowley, whose dad starred in hockey here many years ago, helped the Petes in their 5-3 senior "B" puck win last night as he aided on two goals. The victory pulled them into a first-place tie with Oshawa in the keen group race.

GRASPING FINGERS—E. Bennett, Trenton High star, and Joan Naish, PCVS guard, stretch up grasping fingers for a loose ball under the basket in a basketball game Friday night at PCVS. Trenton's Bennett scored 18 points as they defeated the collegiate seniors 32-19. Dianne Smith (left top) and Joan Cunningham (second from right) were best for Kenner juniors as they lost to PCVS juniors 26-10. Bernice Callan (second from left) and Pat Collins (right) were PCVS stars.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

PCVS Junior Lasses Win But Seniors Suffer Loss

Totalling an early lead in the first half, PCVS Garnet and Grey junior girls romped to an easy 26-10 basketball victory over Kenner Collegiate girls Friday at the PCVS gym. At the same time, the PCVS seniors absorbed a 32-19 loss at the hands of Trenton High seniors in a last-minute exhibition game.

Bernice Callan, a tiny bouncer, once again presented the collegians with their junior victory. She paced the Garnet and Grey to an 8-0 first quarter and then a 14-4 half-time score. She continued to throw in points as Kenner began to rally enabling the Garnet and Grey to lead 16-7 at third-quarter, finishing with a last-minute scoring spurt.

Callan dropped in 14 points besides sparking the PCVS offence, setting up scoring plays for Joan Weir and Dorothy Kingston. Sally Somers, Bev Tully, Sally Reynolds and Diane Smith scored Kenner's points.

FINISH STRONG

A strong second half set Trenton High seniors in position for their 32-19 exhibition victory over PCVS Garnet and Grey seniors. In a low-scoring first-quarter Trenton held a 4-3 lead and still managed to cling to the few points margin, 17-13, at the half.

E. Bennett, with short one-hand jump shots and driving in for layups, paced Trenton throughout the second half. While holding the Garnet and Grey to two points, the Trenton quintette sank seven in the third to gradually pull away for a 24-15 three-quarter score. They again easily outscored the collegians with Bennett's help in the fourth.

Mary Raddon topped the PCVS scoring with eight while Trenton's Bennett starred with a total of 18.

St. Peter's Wins and Loses In OCC Hoop Fixtures As PCVS Wins and Draws

Hilly Yudin's St. Peter's Saints are enjoying their best season this year in the Ontario Catholic Conference, unfortunately the juniors still can't touch their opposition. The senior Saints took a 56-47 victory from De LaSalle Oaklands Friday in Toronto while the juniors lost 61-35 to the Toronto quintet. Meanwhile two other Peterborough teams, the PCVS juniors and seniors, were also enjoying themselves at the expense of Toronto collegiate teams. The junior Garnet and Grey with a fourth quarter rally turned back Jarvis Collegiate 51-48. The seniors after their best first half allowed Jarvis seniors to gain a tie, 63-all, with a last-second foul shot.

LED AT HALF

Jim Cain packed Oakland juniors in the first half with 11 points as the Toronto lads took a 27-18 half-time score over the junior Saints who relied mostly upon Dan Quinlan, Ron Board and Dick Masterson for points.

The whole De LaSalle quintet started hitting the hoop in the second half, pulling away for the large margin despite scoring by the Saints' Board.

Board topped the Saints' scoring with 12 points while Devrienot had 11, and Jim Cain 15 for De LaSalle.

The Senior Saints' victory over DeLaSalle placed them well on the heels of first-place St. Michael's, position which they had never held in their years in the OCC. They're a close match with St. Mike's.

Nobby Wirkowski's DeLaSalle senior quintet was no match for the Saints Friday night. With Dave Quinlan starting the plays up the court and the polished Ab Ryan and Doug Galvin hooping the ball, the Saints just couldn't miss the victory.

RYAN LEADS

A 12-point first half by Ryan as well as nine points by Galvin gave the Saints a 29-23 first half lead. They continued to drop in points throughout the third staying ahead 43-33 and then coasted at the fourth for the victory.

Ryan topped the scoring with 19 points while Galvin was close behind with 16.

At Jarvis Collegiate, lanky Paul Davis was having the best game of his basketball career with PCVS. Spreading out his 27 points throughout the game he kept the juniors in the game.

The PCVS juniors took an 11-8 first quarter score but fell behind 25-17 at the half and 34-31 at three-quarters. But in the fourth Davis along with Brian Bell gave the Peterborough team the victory.

RACKED IT UP

The Zoltan Temsey-coached senior Garnet and Greys were too powerful for the Jarvis Collegiate seniors in the first half, making about 50 per cent of their shots the Garnet and Grey took a 26-15 first half score and then a 40-31 half-time lead.

But in the second half, the week layoff for examinations had its effect: the Garnet and Grey tired. Jarvis crept closer, 52-44, in the third quarter and then with two seconds remaining Jarvis' Thomson sank a foul shot to tie the game at 63-all.

Uren, who will be in Peterborough next Saturday with Eaton's Junior Execs, a Toronto collegiate all-star team, led the game scoring with 28 for Jarvis. PCVS's best were Doug Ash with 18, Terry Roberts with 11, Neil Courneya with 10 and Bob McKinney with nine.

Johnson Wins Booing Crowd Watches Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold Johnson, leading challenger for Archie Moore's light heavyweight title, did little to help his cause Friday night while winning a split 10-round decision over Jimmy Slade before a booing, foot-stamping crowd at St. Nicholas Arena. Johnson weighed 178½, Slade 182.

Referee Al Berl warned both men repeatedly to step up the action. Slade fought only in spurts and Johnson preferred to counterpunch. There were no knockdowns or anything close to it.

Judge Joe Eppy had Johnson on top 7-3 and referee Berl had the Philadelphia boy on top 5-4-1. Judge Harold Barnes voted for Slade, New York, 5-4-1. The AP card was 6-4 for Johnson.

Because Johnson, basically a boxer, did not mix it up with Slade, a sporadic flurry puncher, the customers gave him the business.

Thrice Berl warned Johnson for low blows but he took away no rounds. He went to both corners after the fourth, sixth and ninth rounds and talked to the fighters during the eighth.

Johnson, 25, headed for a June title date with Moore in Philadelphia, was the sharper puncher when he chose to open up. Boxing cooly against Slade's occasional flurries he built up a substantial early lead. He needed it to win when Slade staged his late rally.

PEARLY GATES

A woman was sitting home alone,
The hour was growing late;
Dozing, she dreamed she'd passed away
And reached the pearly gate.
Saint Peter said, "The custom is,
Before one enters here,
To tell about their life on earth,
Of what they did down there."
"Oh, I'm the greatest sinner that
Has e'er been here before,
For each commandment of the law
I've broken o'er and o'er."
"But"—here the woman with a nod
Approached St. Peter's ear,
And murmured something that alone
The stooping guard could hear.
And then, before the startled throng
Saint Peter grasped her hand,
And motioning to the Shining Hose
Each side the gate to stand,
He led her to the Golden Stair,
And pointing straight ahead,
In clarion, far-reaching voice
To the little woman said:
"Climb up, oh weary one, climb up—
Climb high, climb higher yet,
Until you reach the plush-lined seats
That only martyrs get.
"Then sit you down and rest yourself,
For years of blissful life—"
Then to the Angels he remarked:
"She's a Curler's wife!"

Collis, Lindsay Take Tilts In City League

Collis swept through Nurses 44-25, and Lnidsay Neill's downed CGE 30-26 in Girls' City Basketball League fixtures Friday evening in the YWCA gym. Both were lively tussles, the nightcap being a bit more rugged to see each side lose a player through personal fouls.

Collis built up a 21-12 halftime lead and they had a margin on play during the last half with good passing and shooting, as well as checking their rivals effectively. The winners didn't have the spares but finished strong. Pauline Stewart sparked the Collis attack with 17 points, and Shirley Bestard was also potent to drop in 14, as Joan Dunk clicked for nine and Nancy Rose four. Tops for Nurses was Jean Bell with 15 points, Dorothy Mark having seven, and one each being counted by Phyl Peryer, Bev Dawe and Sue Slater. Teams:

Collis — J. Dunk, N. Rose, S. Dewarga, M. McIlvena, S. Bestard, P. Stewart.

Nurses—J. Slade, J. Bell, S. Slater, B. Lewis, B. Dawe, M. Flavelle, D. Mark, N. Heard, S. Frost, P. Peryer.

A CLOSE FRAY

The Electrics started off like a house afire, but Lindsay wound up in strong style to put out the conflagration. CGE had a 19-9 lead at the rest interval, but were outscored in the last two quarters of a tight tussle. They were pretty even on free tosses throughout the game. Marg Owen led Lindsay on the attack with 13 points, D. Copp having eight, S. Algar four, M. Vanstone three and J. Humphries two. Barb Luther topped the losers with 10 points, as Dot Jackson was good for eight, Joan Pearson four, Joan Brunt three and Madge Jones one. Teams.

CGE—M. Hodson, B. Luther, J. Pearson, K. Calladine, M. Jones, D. Jackson.

Lindsay — D. Copp, L. Thornbury, M. Owen, J. Humphries, M. Vanstone, S. Algar.

Kumornik said he was seriously considering one offer. He would not reveal the names of the clubs.

Team Championship

Whip-Montana To Defend Title Against Mills'

Whipper Watson and Hombre Montana will defend their tag team championship next Wednesday at the Brock against Al and Tiny Mills. And what a rhubarb this will be!

Since losing their title the Mills Brothers have been screaming for a return match, so Watson and Montana obliged, giving them their first shot at regaining the crown. And don't think this pair of toughies won't take advantage of this chance.

The night the Mills boys lost the championship they were so burned up they broke the trophy to pieces, so fans can come prepared to see a battle royal when this quartette tees off.

Jack Bence, who made such a hit here recently, tackles Firpo Szybsko in the semi-final. Mat patrons demanded a return appearance of Bence after his last bout. He is the most popular grappler to show here in a long time.

The opener brings together Johnny Harmon and Bill Stack.

Between Injuries Lach Becomes Craftiest Player

By JIM BASTABLE

Between fractures, sprains and bruises, Elmer Lach became to many the craftiest player in hockey. Everybody, however, agrees that he is the most cut-up man in the business. In 13 years in the National Hockey League he has been out at various times with fractures of the wrist, elbow, cheekbone, skull and jaw Rarely did he play without some kind of a sprain. Now 36, Lach still takes his turn at centre with Montreal Canadiens the only team he has played with since he turned professional in 1940

This year is no exception. The 170-pound pivot, who said he had ideas of retiring last season, was knocked out of the line-up a couple of weeks ago with a minor leg injury.

He returned last week-end and promptly scored two goals and four assists in two games for the second-place Canadiens.

AN INSPIRATION

Lach probably will give a good account of himself tonight when the Montrealers play host to the fifth-place New York Rangers. In two other games tonight, the fourth-place Boston Bruins meet the Maple Leafs at Toronto and the last-place Chicago Black Hawks travel to Detroit for a game against the Red Wings.

Two games are scheduled for tomorrow night — the third-place Leafs at Boston and the front-running Red Wings at Chicago.

Lach, a native of Nokomis, Sask., has played only one full 70-game schedule in his big-league career. Last year he was out for 17 games but still scored 16 goals and 25 assists. So far this season he has three goals and 15 assists.

It's not so much the goals Lach scores but his inspiration that is so valuable to Canadiens, Montreal coach Dick Irvin says:

"Lach is terrific any way you look at him. His drive seems to fire the other fellows. He's the gamest player I've seen in 25 years."

Dutchmen Share Top Place With Mercurys

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It looks as if Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen and Owen Sound Mercurys are back at their game of Cat and Mouse.

The two, who earlier in the season traded first and second places in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series after almost every game, are back in a first-place tie in the standings on a Kitchener victory and an Owen Sound loss.

Kitchener Friday night defeated the Maroons 6-1 at Chatham while Owen Sound was edged 5-4 by the Tigers in Hamilton.

In the only Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior game Sudbury Wolves blanked Pembroke Lumber Kings 7-0 in Sudbury.

Linemates Lloyd Ferguson and Murray Comfort played the big part in the Hamilton victory, accounting for three goals. Ferguson scored two. Other Hamilton marksmen were Sam Kennedy, who scored the winner, and Billy Hammond.

Tom Burlington counted three for Owen Sound with Herb Carnegie notching the other.

SCORING SPREE

Kitchener was held to a 1-1 tie in the first period at Chatham but broke loose with three goals in the second and two more in the third for the victory.

George Scholes, Joe Schertzl, Gerry Theberge, Ken Laufman, Don Oberholtzer and Doug Verity shared the Kitchener total. Jim Campbell tallied for the Maroons.

Sudbury's victory was their second shutout of the season. Defenceman Fiori Goegan led the attack with two goals. Yogi Kraiger, Orval Lavell, Ed Harrison, Andy Milne and Tatter McLellan rounded out the total.

Windsor is at Stratford, Chatham at Niagara Falls and Hamilton is at Kitchener in the OHA Saturday. Windsor plays host to Kitchener Sunday.

In the NOHA Pembroke plays at North Bay and Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) are at Sault (Ont.), Saturday. The Greyhounds repay the Indians visit Sunday.

Old-Timers Team May Be Permanent

KITCHENER (CP) — A former professional hockey player, Lloyd Roubel, announced Friday that a move is under way to establish a Kitchener old-timers hockey team on a permanent basis.

Roubel said the team planned to practise at least once a week and would be available for exhibition games in western Ontario. The Kitchener old-timers would issue a challenge to the National Hockey League old-timers who have played several charity games this season.

Ontario Girl Reaches Golf Semi-Final

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Little Marlene Stewart, British women's and Canadian amateur champion, showed a fine short game Friday and won her way into the semi-finals of the Helen Lee Doherty amateur golf tournament.

The 19-year-old Rollins College student from Fonthill, Ont., turned in one of the most lopsided victories of the tournament in the afternoon quarter-finals when she defeated Baltimore's Mary Ann Downey 7 and 6. She ousted Bobbie Dawson of Piedmont, Cal., 3 and 1, in the morning round.

"I've been practising a lot at school," Marlene said, "And I think it has helped my game. My chipping and putting were good today."

Joining the young Canadian in the semi-finals were defending champion Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga.; Grace deMoss Smith of Coral Gables, Fla.; and Vonnie Colby of Hollywood, Fla.

Miss Stewart meets Miss Colby and Miss Faulk plays Miss Smith in the semi-finals.

Many of the spectators have been pulling all along for a finals match between Miss Stewart and Miss Faulk. This would be a test of the reigning amateur champions of the United States and Britain, since Mary Lena holds the U.S. amateur crown.

Greenshirts Beat Canadiens 6-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Junior Montreal Canadiens, rated by many experts as the team to beat for the Memorial Cup this year, suffered their third loss of the season Friday night. It was also their first loss to an Ontario team in the interlocking schedule.

The Canadiens, league-leaders in the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association Junior A league, have a glittering record. They have lost three games in 37 this season and before Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts defeated them 6-3 in overtime at Kitchener Friday night no other Ontario Hockey Association Junior A team had been able to beat them.

Their other losses were at the hands of Montreal Royals and Quebec Frontenacs in the Quebec junior series.

Two other interlocking games—both in Quebec—were played in junior hockey action Friday. Marlboros defeated the Marquis in Jonquiere 9-3 and Trois-Rivieres Reds edged Galt Black Hawks 5-4 in Trois-Rivieres.

In the OHA loop St Catharines TeePees dropped Toronto St. Michael's College 5-3 in St. Catharines and Guelph Biltmores took a 7-5 home-ice victory from Barrie Flyers.

OVERTIME WIN

The Canadiens started out on their regular pattern, scoring two goals in the first 12 minutes. But the Greenshirts got one back in the first period and tied the score 2-2 in the second. Each team scored once in the third to send the game into overtime. The Greenshirts took over, scoring three unanswered goals, one while they were shorthanded, for the victory.

Graham Joyce scored two goals for Kitchener, including the tying marker in the third period. Gord Onotsky, Bruce Jones, Glen Cressman and Grieg Hicks notched singles.

Denis Boucher led Montreal with a pair. Phil Goyette got the other.

Billy Harris scored two for Marlboros with others going to Gerry James, Dave Reid, Mike Nykoluk Sonny Larose, Charlie Burns, Bob Baun and Mike Elik. Fred Carter, Jacques Gagne and Gerry Normand scored for the Marquis.

In Trois-Rivieres, Leon Michelin, Herve Lalonde, Andre Therrien, Roger Houle and Gilles Matteau shared the Reds' total. John Sleaver, Pete Kowalchuk and Neil McDonald were the Galt snipers.

BARRY CULLEN NETS PAIR

The St. Michael's-St. Catharines game was a hard-fought contest that didn't break open until the TeePees scored their final two goals in the third period.

Barry Cullen scored two goals for St. Catharines. Brian Cullen, Nels Bullock and Hugh Barlow rounded out the total. Brian Anderson, Jack Caffery and Dick Duff were the Toronto marksmen.

Guelph, cellar-dwellers in the OHA, came through with a strong three-goal finish for the victory over St. Catharines.

Bob Attersley was tops for the Biltmores with three goals. Ron Howell, Bob Forhan, Ed Shack and Bill McCreary scored singles. John Robertson with two, Dan Poliziani Bob Barlow and Bob McNeil accounted for the Barrie total.

St. Catharines plays the Cubs in Hamilton while Guelph is at Barrie tonight.

Sunday Marlboros are at Quebec to play the Frontenacs, Galt are at Montreal Royals and the Canadiens play St. Michael's in Toronto.

Havelock Defeated In Midget Contest

HAVELOCK (ENS) — Cooper downed Havlock, at the local arena Thursday night in a midget fixture, by a score of 6-5. Play was speedy and clean with each side drawing only three penalties, Ellis of Havelock scored two of the goals for the locals.

Parks of Cooper opened the scoring in the first period. Three more goals were rapped in for the visitors by Whiteman, Fox and Graham on a set-up by Whiteman to put Cooper in front by a score of 4-1 at the end of that period. The Havelock goal was scored by Doug Ruttan.

Each team scored a goal in the second period, Parks for Cooper and Ellis for Havelock.

In the third, Havelock made a determined effort to come from behind, adding three goals to their tally by Ruttan on an assist from MacMillan, and Ellis and Revoy unassisted. A goal by Parks gave the visitors their one goal lead at the end of the game.

PARIS DELIGHTFUL

PARIS (Reuters)—Canada's representative at the world hockey championships at Stockholm Feb. 26 to March 7—Toronto East York Lyndhursts—found Paris delightful Friday, the team's first day here.

But the team complained the city is too expensive.

"The cost of everything here is much above that in Canada," said Bob Kennedy. "Take nylon shirts. The best in Canada cost $11. In Paris ordinary ones cost $17.50."

Capt. Tony Campbell thought the French federation were treating them well. After training and lunch a bus took them around "this magnificent city which really comes up to all we have heard about it."

Kennedy said: "Tonight after a second training session and dinner we have been invited to the Lido. (The fashionable night club on the Champs Elysees). The boys are really enjoying themselves, but they find the French food is too rich and these hors d'oeuvres and fancy dishes don't appeal to us. If they would only give us a good beef or pork steak with potatoes and green vegetables we would much prefer it."

One thing about the food here they did like was the wonderful pastries.

✦ ✦ ✦

JOOST ORDERED TO BED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eddie Joost, playing manager of Philadelphia Athletics, was ordered to bed Friday by the American League club's physician pending further examination of a knee injury suffered in an automobile accident here Thursday night.

Joost, 37, injured the same knee which sidelined him for most of the season last year.

No x-rays were taken, but Dr. Illarion L. Gopadze said clinical examination indicated that tendons and ligaments in the right knee were bruised and that there was some bleeding between the bone and the muscles.

The doctor said he didn't believe the injury would interfere with Joost's playing this season.

✦ ✦ ✦

LANDY OUT OF RACE

MELBOURNE (AP) — John Landy, star Australian distance runner, was forced to withdraw from the Victorian mile at Olympic Park due to strained ligaments in his left ankle.

Landy, who won the event last year, was to have been the main attraction at today's race.

Landy also may be forced to pass up the Victorian half mile Monday but plans to resume training for his Australian championship mile clash with Denis Johansson of Finland at Sydney Feb. 11.

✦ ✦ ✦

LATTNER TO MEET STEELERS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League announced Friday that their first draft choice, all-America John Lattner of Notre Dame, has indicated he will play in the NFL if he gets enough money.

Art Rooney, Steeler president, said Lattner will be in Pittsburgh Feb. 7 to talk contract. He quoted Lattner as saying "I would prefer to play in the NFL because I feel there is a better future there."

However, Rooney said Lattner told him he had "several other offers" from Canadian teams that he would have to consider.

✦ ✦ ✦

BELL GETS NEW CONTRACT

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bert Bell Friday was given a new 12-year contract as commissioner of the National Football League.

The 12 NFL owners voted to tear up Bell's current $20,000-a-year contract, which would not have expired until 1959.

Walter Halas, owner-coach of Chicago Bears, said there will be no increase in salary at the request of the commissioner.

"Bell said he was not interested in any increase in salary due to the fact that the league has been under heavy expense, especially as a result of the recent government anti-trust suits," Halas said.

The Chicago owner added that Bell will continue to receive a $10,000 yearly pension in addition to his regular salary. This pension has been in effect for three years.

RETURNS TO BRAVES

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League have announced the return of forward Andre Corriveau to Valleyfield Braves for the balance of the Quebec Hockey League season.

The high - scoring right-winger played three games with Canadiens and picked up one assist while on loan from Valleyfield.

The iron crown of Lombardy, restored to the king of Italy in 1886, was a gold circle covering an iron strip.

ON FURLOUGH—Don Newcombe, right, dons a Brooklyn uniform and cap and receives a souvenir baseball from pitcher Billy Loes. On a visit to the Dodger office, Newcombe said he hoped to be out of the US Army in time to put on the uniform for spring training. Newcombe is expected to receive $22,500 for the 1954 season.

Ski Meet Switched From Peterborough

TORONTO—There is a touch of irony in the ski situation around Peterborough today.

While most of the province enjoys conditions that are excellent, Peterborough skiers are complaining of—of all things—not enough snow.

The scarcity of the white stuff has forced cancellation of the Southern Ontario senior and junior men's ski championships which were to be held this weekend on the Peterborough slopes.

The meet has been postponed to next weekend and, to ensure good conditions for the title tests, has been switched to Collingwood.

The heavy storm that brought ideal conditions to most of the province this week made little impression at Peterborough as high winds lifted much of the snow off the trails. The jump was almost bare.

The championships will be a four-way affair as usual, with the cross-country and slalom next Saturday and downhill and jumping Sunday. The jumping will be held at Midland. The Peterborough Ski Co. Trophy will be top prize for the four-way championship.

Assumption Wins

The Assumption Aces racked up another win as they downed Keene 7-4 Thursday night. It was a fast game of hockey with play roughing up in the last period.

In the first period the Aces took over the play scoring four goals. The marksmen were M. O'Brien, D. Musgrave, D. Crowley, E. Gilbert. On the Keene squad, Brockwell blinked the light twice to make the score read 4-2.

In the second period Keene took over, scoring two goals, one each by D. Renwick and B. Manbeck. D. Musgrave tallied the only goal for Aces. M. O'Brien got the only penalty.

The third period saw Assumption score the only two goals by E. Gilbert and R. McFarlane. Renwick drew a penalty for Keene. In the latter part of the period a fight broke out involving several players and resulting with C. Cary of Assumption and D. Brockwell of Keene getting the gate for fighting. With Fitzgerald of Assumption playing his usual steady game in the net, the game ended 7-4.

20-Foot Ice Jam Causes River Flood

CORNWALL (CP) — Basements in low-lying sections here were flooded Friday after a 20-foot ice jam backed up St. Lawrence river waters 11 feet.

The pile-up on a narrow section of the river, on the city's eastern outskirts, started late Thursday, holding back the water at the 41-foot level, 16 feet above normal.

Late Friday, officials of the transport department and city works department said the flood danger is "practically over" as the river began to recede.

The ice jam was blamed on the current cold snap.

Formosa Bans Titles

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Daughters of aboriginal chieftains on this Chinese Nationalist island will have to get along without the title of "princess" from now on. Formosa's provincial government today banned use of the title because China is a republic and no titles of nobility are recognized.

Peterborough Rink Wins Globe and Mail Trophy

TORONTO (CP) — Winning the Ontario Silver Tankard Trophy Friday night was extra sweet for London rinks. They not only won the Ontario double-rink curling championship but by defeating Kingston 32-25 in the final they eliminated the same eight men who had defeated them for the Tankard in 1952.

The London rinks, skipped by Russ Miller and Charlie Haskett, did not lose a game while advancing to their second Tankard in four years. Each scored victories in the group-winners' playoffs Thursday and the semi-finals and finals Friday.

The Kingston representatives, winners of the Tankard for the last two years, began to show the strain of three previous tough games near the end of the 16-end final.

C. P. Haskett's rink defeated H. M. Reid's quartet 17-14 and Russ Miller's crew took J.G.W. Sands' group 15-11.

SECOND VICTORY

Kitchener won the Governor-General's Trophy by defeating Oshawa 28-25. It was their second win since play for the trophy started.

The game between Allen Shirk of Kitchener and Eldon Kerr of Oshawa ended 12-12 after three dead ends. W. A. Clarke, skipping the other Kitchener rink, provided the margin of victory, leading his quartet to a 16-13 victory over D. McNaughton of Oshawa.

The Burden Trophy, consolation prize in the Tankard competition, was won by Unionville who defeated Guelph 35-27. John Grant Sr., skipped one Unionville rink to a 17-12 victory over Dr. J. J. Geoghegan and H. R. Coulson led the other to an 18-15 decision over W. Ecclestone.

Peterborough won the Globe and Mail Trophy, consolation in the Governor-General's event, defeating Owen Sound 32-24.

It was fortunate for Peterborough that one of its rinks, skipped by H. B. Baptie rolled up a 21-9 score over R. G. Thomas of Owen Sound because its second rink, skipped by Fred Stenson, was defeated by W. H. Smith of Owen Sound 15-11.

CLEAN SWEEP

London reached the finals of the Tankard by defeating Tiverton 33-13 in the semi-finals, Kingston eliminated Oshawa 38-32 for the right to oppose London in the final.

Canada's Games' Chances Not Spectacular Says Coach

VICTORIA (CP)—Bruce Humber who coached Canadian track and field teams in the 1950 British Empire Games and the 1952 Olympics says Canada's chances aren't too spectacular in the games in Vancouver next summer.

Humber figures Canada will likely end up among the top four countries in this year's games.

"I don't want to put too much optimism about Canada's chances" he said. "I feel better than I did this time last year, though, and Canada will give a good account of herself."

Humber, once considered for the post as Canadian track and field coach at the 1954 games, said he could not accept such a position this year even if asked.

MANY GOOD COACHES

"I don't feel I should do it," he said. "I feel I have had the last two times and there are lots of good coaches in Canada that have been working awfully hard and could do just as good a job." Lloyd Percival of Toronto has been offered the job this year.

Humber said that while all competing countries have top-calibre entries, England, Australia, New Zealand and Canada will likely be the top four. Canada ended fourth in the 1950 games.

In the one mile, Humber says great runners of England and Australia make the event unreachable for Canada, but he names the best Canadians in this division as John Ross of Oakville, Ont., and Victoria's Bill Parnell.

Humber, 40, coach of the Victoria YMCA track and field group, operates a furniture business here with a brother.

He holds with Lee Orr of Vancouver, the fastest time in the British Empire for the 220, which he set with Orr while attending the University of Washington. The time, 20.8 seconds, is the world's eighth fastest for the distance.

Indian River Victors

In a fast and thrilling three periods of hockey Thursday night in the Keene Arena, Indian River took a win over the Brookside Flyers 5-4.

In the first period, C. Edwards scored for the winners with L. Sellaby tying it up. B. Fontaine received a cut nose when the puck bounced off someone's stick.

During the second period, J. Howard scored a goal for Indian River along with C. Edwards, G. Selby, J. Herron.

The third period brought more cheers for Brookside as G. Cowie came along with two goals and B. Cowie bringing the score to four.

L. Sellaby was given a penalty and then was put off the ice for arguing with the referee, with 15 minutes left in the game.

Indian River Lineup: Goalie, D. Hope; B. Elmhirst, J. Herron, H. Christian, G. Sellaby, B. Shearer, J. Hope, D. Bethune.

Brookside Flyers' lineup: B. Cowie, R. Howson, J. O'Brien, G. Cowie, C. Howson, J. Howard, B. Clancy, B. Fontaine J. Sage, W. Cowie, A. Sullivan and W. Chamberlain.

Road Scandal Brings Interest In By-Election

MIDLAND (CP)—Wilfred Hoult, CCF candidate in the Simcoe East provincial by-election, said Friday night reports of graft in highway construction have turned all eyes on the by-election.

"The very best interpretation we can put on this scandal is that there is inexcusable carelessness and incompetence in the Conservative government's department of highways," he said in a campaign speech.

He said it has long been known that the highways department has been "a lush pasture for party patronage."

"Any government careless enough to let $7,000,000 disappear is unworthy of public trust," he said. "It is unthinkable that we in Simcoe East should give a vote of confidence to such a government."

Choir To Sing In Abbey

KINGSTON (CP)—The choir of St. George's cathedral here has accepted an invitation to sing in Westminster Abbey this summer.

Rt. Rev. Kenneth Evans, Bishop of the Anglican diocese of Ontario, said Friday Dean Briarly Browne, rector of the cathedral, has received a cable from the dean and chapter of Westminster inviting the choir to sing daily services in the Abbey during August.

A special meeting of an advisory committee accepted the invitation.

The choir, directed by George M. Mabee, has received international recognition, having sung in many Canadian and United States cities.

Murder Hearing Postponed

CALGARY (CP) — Preliminary hearing of a murder charge against Pte. William Cierpisz of Windsor, Ont., scheduled to open in police court Friday, has been postponed to Feb. 5.

The 17-year-old member of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry is charged with the rifle slaying in Currie Barracks Jan. 5 of a fellow soldier, Pte. Robert Bilow of Winchester, Ont.

The crown was unable to proceed because police officers who investigated the shooting are engaged in another court case.

the sum of $5,000 out of the first railway money "that may come into our hands."

Further in that resolution: "and whereas there will be an ultimate surplus of some $35,000 in the amount to be received on this (railway) account above the full payment of the balance of the municipal loan; and the GTR be asked to pay $6,000 on account of the municipal loan now overdue."

BROAD DRAINAGE PLAN

Town bylaw No. 688 provided $3,800 for the Edison sewer, and bylaw No. 689 provided for drainage of the west end.

This was a problem the council had to face as gradually the area west of Park St. became occupied with increasing residences.

John E. Belcher, architect and engineer, estimated at $5,552 the cost of the drain project, and assessed costs to every piece of property which, in his opinion, would be benefitted by this improvement.

The area is indicated by these streets: Weller at Monaghan Road, Mercer St., Walton, Hunter, Homewood, Gilmour, and so on down across Charlotte . . . King, William, Thomas, Sherbrooke, Park, Reid, Patterson, Dalhousie, Wolfe, Townsend, and others.

The whole west side of the town was "springy". Mr. Belcher told the council the Park St. drain could be carried northerly by way of Bolivar, Thomas, King, Charlotte, St. Joseph's St., Babb's Lane, Homewood, west to Walton, thence to Weller, "where it shall end at Walton and Weller streets."

Cost was to be charged against abutting lands, amounting to $4,054 debentures for 20 years at 4½%.

The area of the land benefitted was 100,658 square yards. The by-law took effect Sept. 1, 1893.

(Subsoil water was encountered in the building of the Eaton store at George and Charlotte streets and again recently at the new postal-customs building. It was described as an underground stream, moving to the river.)

The debenture debt in 1893 was $293,550.

Girl's Bravery Overlooked By Canadian Historians

TORONTO (CP)—A little girl's bravery helped save Toronto from capture by rebels in 1837 but the history books have overlooked her exploit.

Information she obtained about the strength of rebel forces led by William Lyon Mackenzie helped authorities to crush the uprising which protested corruption in government. After the rebellion was stamped out, Mackenzie fled into exile to New York state.

The story of the exploit of Cornelia De Grassi, 13, is told for the first time in detail in today's issue of The Globe and Mail by Florence Schill, who heard mention of her in a recent talk to the Women's Canadian Historical Society by Charles Sauriol, president of the Don Valley Conservation Association.

Mr. Sauriol found an account of the girl's deed in a diary kept by her father, Philippe De Grassi, an Italian who came to Canada in 1831 with his wife and seven children and settled in Toronto's Don valley.

W. Stewart Wallace, librarian at the University of Toronto, also came across the girl's story while doing research along other lines. He presented a paper, "The Story of Charlotte and Cornelia De Grassi," to the Royal Society of Canada in 1941.

On the outbreak of the rebellion, De Grassi offered his services to the government. He was accompanied on his trip to the government offices by his daughters, Cornelia and Charlotte.

He undertook to find out how many of the rebels had gathered on Yonge street just north of the town.

DIARY'S ACCOUNT

De Grassi described what happened next in his personal diary, now in the possession of Mossom de Grassi Boyd of Bobcaygeon, a direct descendant. He wrote:

"One of my daughters, about 13 years of age, accordingly who was a capital rider, rode out and, under pretence of wishing to know the price of a sleigh, went to a wheelwright's shop close to Montgomery's tavern, and, being suspected, was taken prisoner by some of the rebels, who ordered her to dismount.

"To this she demurred and, during her altercation with her captors, Mackenzie came with news that the Western Mail was taken.

"Amidst the general excitement and joy of the rebels, my little girl had the presence of mind to urge her horse and ride off at full speed, amidst discharges of musketry. A ball went through her saddle and another through her riding habit.

"Arrived in Toronto, she was taken before Sir Francis Bond Head, the governor, to whom she gave valuable information as to the numbers and condition of the rebels.

"Thus the Loyalists were encouraged, measures were taken to meet Mackenzie's attack, and my poor child was the means of saving Toronto."

The Mighty Works of Jesus Told In Gospel of St. John

By WILLIAM GILROY, D.D.

The late W. W. White once analyzed the Gospel of John and laid much stress on the witness of the Master's mighty works.

The miracles in the Gospel are numerous and significant. There is the miracle of the turning of water into wine at the marriage in Cana. Again visiting Cana, Jesus heals a nobleman's sick son at Capernaum (John 4: 46-54).

In Jerusalem, at the pool of Bethesda, He cures an infirm man, and because it was on the Sabbath incurs the intense hostility of certain Jews. Then comes the miracle of the feeding of the 5000.

There is also the miracle of Jesus coming to the disciples, walking on the sea (John 6).

In Chapter 9 is the story of the restoration of sight of the man born blind.

The crowning of the miracles is the raising of Lazarus from the dead.

The testimony of these mighty works will vary in value according to one's attitude toward miracles in general.

For some the wonder-working aspect of Jesus seems larger than the spiritual significance of Jesus and His teaching.

For others the miracles are evidence of a wonderful life in which the supreme importance was the teaching and the life-giving power that brought new life, not to the body, but to the soul.

Jesus Himself disparaged the materialistic aspect of the miracles. To those who thronged about Him after the feeding of the 5000 He said: "Ye seek me, not because ye saw the miracles, but because ye did eat of the loaves, and were filled" (John 6:26)

The late Dr. Lloyd Douglas, whose fame since his lamented death has increased even beyond that of his lifetime because of his notable book, "The Robe," once wrote a book under the title, "Those Disturbing Miracles."

I don't know how much his book may have answered the questions in any minds that were disturbed, but I recall my answer to a young woman in one of my congregations, who was greatly disturbed.

I don't know what was the source of her doubts, but her Christian faith was shaken by wondering whether the miracles attributed to Jesus were to be thought of as like the legendary stories of miraculous things attributed to many other teachers and saints.

I did not try to argue the matter with her. If we could explain miracles they would no longer be miraculous, and there is no "proof," in a scientific sense. It is a matter of belief or faith.

What I suggested to her was that she should forget about the miracles for the time being and concentrate upon all concerning Jesus and the New Testament that involved only the challenge to moral and spiritual faith.

I told her to concentrate on the Sermon of the Mount, the Parables, I Corinthians 13, and the whole teaching of Jesus as contained in His own words, and in the interpretations of those who knew Him best.

I suggested that then she might be in a position to decide about the miracles. If men once believed in the Christ because of the miracles, I believe that today they believe in the miracles because of Christ.

One Year's Jail For Setting Fire

PARRY SOUND (CP)— Ernest Wellington, 42-year-old guide, Friday was sentenced to one year in jail for setting fire last summer to lodge buildings at Miners Bay Camp. He had pleaded guilty.

The buildings were owned by William Fleming of Toronto, found dead last October while on a hunting trip.

Wellington, refusing to be represented by counsel, testified he burned down the lodge, 40 miles northeast of Orillia, at the instigation of Fleming. The guide said the Toronto man promised to reward him for the arson job.

An insurance adjustor testified the fire loss was $5,000.

A coroner's jury last fall returned an open verdict in Fleming's death. Police said they believed he shot himself and then fell into the Magnetewan river.

Reserves Decision In Crime Comics Case

GUELPH (CP)—Judgment was reserved Friday on a charge against the American News Company of distributing crime comics.

At the request of defence counsel Mannie Brown of Toronto, Detective Lorne Halls described the pictures in four stories in a comic book and picked out pictures he said he thought showed the commission of crimes.

The Kitchener News Company was previously convicted in the same court on a similar charge. It has appealed.

Winter Birds

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Annual survey of wintering waterfowl in Newfoundland is expected to show an increase in certain species. Large numbers of black ducks and canada geese now spend the winter on the island.

PRISONERS TAKE JAB AT McCARTHYISM — Andrew Condron (left), only British PoW who refused to be repatriated, stops to read a sign on a truck at Panmunjom, Korea, before boarding it to be taken behind the Bamboo Curtain. Twenty-one Americans, who refused repatriation, shouted Communist slogans as they began their journey to Communist dominated North Korea where Reds will have a gala reception for them.

Want Meaning Of "Cover"

KITCHENER (CP)—What constitutes "cover."

That's the question Dr. A. E. Broome of the Kitchener centennial committee is asking. Plumping for an old-fashioned German beer garden in Victoria Park during centennial week here this year, he was informed Friday approval may be given by the liquor control board of Ontario if the beer garden is set up in a covered building.

Dr. Broome wants to see the project, complete with waiters in Bavarian costumes, out in the open. He suggested lawn umbrellas constitute cover.

"An umbrella is just as rainproof as a tin roof," he said.

Committee member Ellroy Lippert said ivy-covered trellises, with a hedge of evergreens, might conform with the law.

Seeking To Prevent Enforcement Of Law

MONTREAL (CP)—Glen How, counsel for Jehovah's Witnesses, said Friday court injunctions will be sought to prevent enforcement of a new Quebec law aimed at curbing pamphlet-distributing activities of the Witnesses.

Mr. How said that petitions asking for the injunctions were filed today in Quebec and Montreal branches of the Superior Court. The Quebec petition is set for hearing next Tuesday and the Montreal petition Wednesday.

The new Quebec law, given royal assent Thursday night, provides the Quebec government and municipalities with broad powers to halt distribution of literature by the Witnesses.

Mr. How said his petitions ask the courts for an injunction to prevent enforcement of the legislation until he can have the case argued in court.

Currency Change Close—Abbott

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott, returning from a Commonwealth finance ministers' conference, said Friday the world is "very much" closer to currency convertibility than at any time since the Second World War.

Government curbs, in Britain and other sterling area countries, preventing the free exchange of sterling and dollar currencies, have been one of the major post-war barriers to expansion of world trade.

Mr. Abbott, returning from a world-circling air trip, said he could not predict just when the sterling area bloc will lift its curbs. But from what he had seen at the Commonwealth conference at Sydney, Australia, he was "quite optimistic."

Jet Bombers Flying To N. Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is sending the first unit of B-47 jet bombers, capable of atomic warfare, to a North African base.

The air force announced Friday that about 45 Boeing Stratojets, composing the 301st Medium Bombardment Wing now at Barksdale Air Force Base, La., will fly nonstop to a forward base of the 5th air division in French Morocco some time next month for 60 days of rotational duty.

This is the same system used in manning bases in England with bombers. A wing remains overseas for two months and then is relieved by another from a home base in the United States.

To Receive Rebate On 1952 Power Cost

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Ontario Hydro Chairman Robert Saunders said Friday municipalities will receive a rebate on 1952 power cost and the wholesale cost of electric power will not rise during 1954 and 1955.

Mr. Saunders addressed a luncheon meeting of districts 7 and 8 of the Ontario Electric Association.

The hydro chairman said the first units of the new power development at Niagara Falls will go into action Aug. 30, on schedule.

Travel Appointment

TORONTO (CP)—Clint Melville, director of the photography branch of the Ontario travel and publicity department since 1946, has been appointed executive assistant to Travel and Publicity Minister Cecile.

Milk Drinkers

OSLO (CP) — The Norwegian Milk Producers National Association believes per capita consumption of whole milk in Norway is higher than in any other country. The Norwegian figure is .75 litres daily, or about three-quarters of a quart.

Well-Known Man Found Dead In Bed

TORONTO (CP)—George Patton, 69, who knew most Toronto business and sport figures by their first names, was found dead in bed Thursday night.

The retired telegraph company executive is believed to have died Wednesday night at his home where he lived alone after the death of his wife in 1945.

Mr. Patton was born in Toronto and worked here for more than 40 years for Canadian Pacific Telegraphs. At his retirement four years ago he was the CPR's supervisor of special communications at Toronto.

Cows Have No Monopoly As Prime Producers Of Milk

WASHINGTON—Bossy or Bos tarus, the dairy cow, dominates the milk business in the Western World but in other climes she has strong competition, the National Geographic Society points out.

In the Arctic, half-wild reindeer herds give milk that Laplanders keep all winter in frozen chunks. Africa's Bedouins and Somalis drink the sweet milk of camels. Egypt's fellahs, Indians and many East Asians milk water buffalo. Ass's milk has been drunk for countless centuries, as has that of the productive goat.

Recently, medical research has had need for mouse milk. Several thousand mice are machine-milked regularly in New York City. Their total output of two quarts a year is valued at $10,000 a quart.

In South Africa one daredevil suitor won his lady only after milking a wild lioness for his prospective father-in-law. Whale's milk collected on Antarctic whaling ships and analyzed by British scientists was found far richer in fat and protein than cow's milk but somewhat fishy in odor.

Cheese has been made from sheep's milk in Europe for thousands of years; France's Roquefort blend of ewe's milk, cured in caves, is world famous.

Central Asian tribes, particularly the Kazakhs, long have drunk mare's milk, fresh or fermented in coltskin bags into a mildly alcoholic brew called kumiss. From kumiss is distilled airak, of brandy strength. Marco Polo was the first to describe the hard-riding Mongols' use of condensed mare's milk, dried to a paste that they could easily carry with them.

Zebu cattle are widespread in India. Milk is obtained from the Banteng of Southeast Asia, and from shaggy yaks in Tibet and the mountain country of the Kirghiz peoples. Some tribes sprinkle yak's milk on their foreheads to bring good fortune during a journey.

Milk is a factor in social position among natives of Uganda in Africa. Herdsmen form the dominant class, higher than crop farmers. The Bahima, or ruling caste, rigidly adheres to a diet of milk and beef. Royal milkmaids tend cows owned by the Mukama, or king; Europeans seldom view the milkings, and the milk always is carried to the royal house with great ceremony.

China, Japan, and Korea, on the other hand, use little milk. Millions of pasture animals would be needed to supply the densely-populated Asian land. China's agricultural base is vegetable rather than animal.

Milk drunk by man sometimes comes from trees, however. Coconut "milk" is one example. In addition, the Latin American tropics boast milk-giving "cow trees."

Several different trees yield milky, nutritious sap that is almost indistinguishable from true milk. It can be drunk, used in cooking, or even made into whipped cream. Venezuela has one species of milk trees, Brazil another. Versatile Brazilian tree milk, left for a time in the open air, can then be used as glue.

Ground Cover For Crawl Spaces In House

QUESTION: We have construction under way on a privately financed one-storey house with crawl-space underneath. CMHC calls for the use of 45-lb. saturated roofing felt as a ground cover, lapped 4"" and weighted down with stones or similar material. Would not lighter felt be as effective—particularly if cemented at the laps?

ANSWER: A membrane for use as ground cover in a crawl-space house need not be an unusually good vapour barrier to reduce the moisture content of the wood floor system above it sufficiently to prevent deterioration caused by fungi, often commonly referred to as "dry rot." For that reason, few authorities recommend cementing of the laps. The reduced amount of water vapour that passes through the laps and the membrance material usually escapes to the outside atmosphere through vents, cracks and porous masonry walls, rather than being soaked up by the wood floor system.

Tests show that 15-lb. asphalt-saturated felt ground cover laid in a wet crawl-space, where fungi are actively working in the wood floor joists above, has rapidly reduced the mosture content of the wood to a point below 20 per cent of oven dry weight, where rot fungi become inactive for lack of moisture. However, both these accelerated tests and long-term test under actual use have shown that the effectiveness of 15-lb. felt is soon destroyed by rot fungi. It is effective when new but does not have the required durability.

Accordingly, 45-lb. saturated roofing felt, which is known to be much more durable and which is moderate in cost is recommended for ground cover in a crawl-space. It also has sufficient puncture resistance to permit periodic access to the crawl-space for inspection.

SIZE GYPROC

QUESTION: Can you help me with this problem? Two years ago we applied wallpaper over unsized panels of gyproc in the dining-room of our new home. I realize now, of course, that sizing should have been applied before papering. However, to my question—have you any suggestions on how the wallpaper can now be removed without damaging the gyproc?

ANSWER: As the gyproc was not coated with a water resistant size, such as varnish or oil sealer, more care and time will be requqired to remove the paper—but it can be done. Apply water repeatedly with a large brush until it penetrates and dissolves the paste. A scraper should not be used any more than is necessary to lift the edges of the paper to peel it off. If warm water is used, the paste will rissolve more readily.

After paper is removed, wash surface lightly with clean water and allow to dry thoroughly. A varnish or primer sealer should be applied before redecorating with either paint or wallpaper.

APPLYING GYPSUM LATH

QUESTION: We recently moved into a new development of small homes, each with two unfinished rooms upstairs. Most of us are just getting down to buying finishing materials such as lath, wallboard, plywood, etc. Neighbors on both sides have already started applying gyproc lath—and to settle an argument for all three of us, would appreciate an answer to this question. Should gyproc lath be applied butted—or with a slight space (perhaps ⅛") between to provide a key?

ANSWER: Many years ago when gyproc lath was made in large sheets with four cut edges, it was customary to space the lath an eighth to a quarter-inch apart at horizontal joints in order to provide a heavier body of plaster where the contrast in suction between the raw edge and the paper surface caused a partial dryout and consequently weaker plaster at these points. When the design of the lath was changed, the paper-covered edge eliminated excessive suction at the joints, and the rounded edge provided for a slightly greater thickness of plaster at the points where the laths were butted together.

It is obviously easier to line up the rows of lath when the edges art butted, than when you must leave a parallel space and support the weight of the sheet saved which would otherwise be used in forming a key at the joint.

Thus, to avoid cracking, it was necessary to space the old type lath, but it is not considered necessary as gyproc lath is made today. Spacing can actually be detrimental on outside walls. Greater heat conduction through the plaster keys at joints could cause pattern stains.

CONCERTE AGGREGATE

QUESTION: Last summer we purchased an old home in the country which we plan to remodel next spring. At one end of the farm is a small open pit of sand and gravel which we think we might be able to utilize in the proposed remodelling. Neighbors say that while gravel and sand are of the right size, that the pit contains too much foreign material for it to be usable. Before we write this off, however, is there any way this could be tested to see if it will make good concrete?

Test for too much clay or silt content by placing sand or gravel in a pint fruit jar to a 2" depth. Add water to nearly full, cover tightly and shake vigorously for several minutes. Set aside until water clears. Measure the layer of silt on top of the aggregate. If this layer is more than ⅛" thick, the material is not clean enough for use in concrete unless it can be washed first. In cases where the water does not clear on standing for several hours, the material may be judged as containing to much clayey materials for use in concrete.

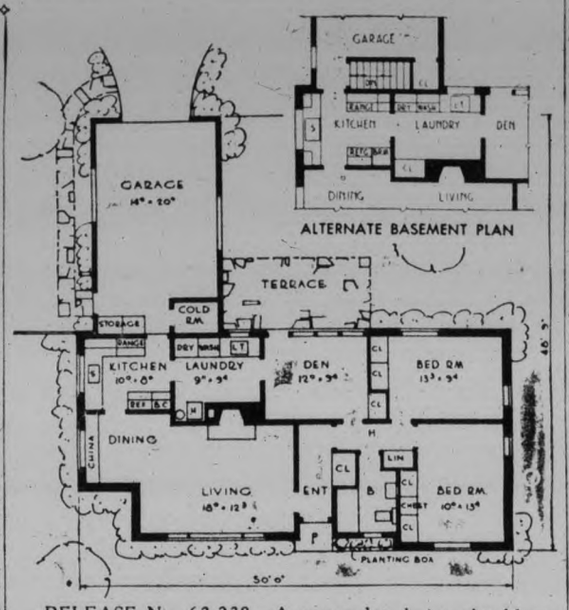
To test the sand for organic impurities: put a measuring cup of sand in a clear glass bottle (about 16 oz.). Fill the bottle about two-thirds full with a solution of 2 level tablespoons of lye in one quart of water. Shake thoroughly and let this stand overnight. If, after this period, the upper solution is darkly colored, the sand is unfit for use. A light straw color indicates a trace of organic impurities which is not sufficient to cause trouble in concrete.

MORTAR JOINTS

QUESTION: I have had a fair amount of experience as an amateur builder and plan to try my hand at building a small greenhouse using concrete blocks. Would appreciate any suggestions you can give me regarding the mortar work . . . how thick should joints be . . . what type joint affords best protection against leakage . . . and should they be struck to shape immediately after a row of blocks is laid or should the mortar be allowed to set to some degree first?

ANSWER: Walls of concrete masonry should have a mortar joint of about ⅜". Thin mortar joints are best, because it is known that such joints produce a stronger, more water-tight wall. Thick joints may be desirable for architectural effect, but unless precautions are taken to make the wall surface tight, water-tightness may be sacrificed for appearance.

Weathered, concave, and V-joints afford the best protection against leaks. Vertical and horizontal joints should be struck flush with the wall surface, then after partially set should be compressed and compacted with a rounded or V-shaped tool.



RELEASE No. 63-238—A corner lot design should receive some special consideration in planning. Often an L-haped plan is desirable to provide privacy for the rear garden from the side street. In this home the garage has been used for this screen effect and at the same time to produce a rambling exterior appearance. White painted brick, soft grey green trim and dark bottle green roof is a color scheme that would be very enchanting. Located at Clarkson, Ontario, this home contains 21,058 cubic feat with basement. For working drawings, write Home Building in Canada, 2842 Bloor St. W., Toronto.

De Gasperi Sues Italian Weekly

By HILTON YOUNG

ROME — (OFNS) — The lawyer of Signor De Gasperi, former Italian prime minister, has begun to prepare his case for what promises to be the most scandalous lawsuit since the war. Alegations of blackmail, forgery and corruption will abound, and very eminent people may be expected to figure in them.

It began a few days ago when a neo-Fascist weekly in Milan published a photograph of an alleged letter signed by Signor De Gasperi on headed paper of the Vatican secretariat of state and dated January 19, 1944. At this time Rome was still behind the German lines, and the alleged letter was addressed to a British officer at Salerno on the other side. It asked the Allies to bomb the suburbs and the water supply of Rome to induce the Roman people to rise against the Germans.

Signor De Gasperi immediately denounced it as a forgery, and the "Osservatore Romano" said it was "puerile" to suppose that Signor De Gasperi, who had never had anything to do with the secretariat of state, should steail its headed paper to write to an Allied officer.

LETTER FOR SALE

Then Signor De Gasperi said that blackmailers had been trying to sell the letter to him and his "collaborators" for more than a year past. "Confident of his cause," he had sent them away.

Speculation to which some of Signor De Gasperi's announcement appears to lend colour, is connecting these blackmailers with a gang that has been known to be operating for some time. Rumor and the Communist press credits this gang with extracting enormous profits from the Italian state by means of papers which have come into its possession from a collection which Mussolini caused to be secreted in Switzerland just before his death.

In the first place the legal proceedings will be concentrated against the responsible editor of the Milan weekly which published the document, "Candido," but there is no knowing where they may lead thereafter, and the Christian Democrat party, which is already faced with a parliamentary situation of recurrent government crises, will certainly try to prevent any development on the scale of the Stavisky scandal.

Stock Markets Move Higher Continued Industrial Strength

By BOB JOHNSTONE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, Montreal and New York stock markets moved higher this week.

New York trading opened a little stronger, gained sharply, then closed strong. Montreal was strong up, with Dominion Bridge leading.

Foods had a few strong sessions with Canada Vinegar up $2 in one day and Western Grocers adding $1 for each of two consecutive sessions.

Golds gained a little as issues with non-gold mining interests were higher.

BASE METALS WEAK

Base metals slipped a little despite a few strong issues. Geco, in the newly - discovered Manitouwadge lake area of Ontario's Thunder bay area, was up 65 cents in one session and $1.10 in another. The general base metal picture was weak, however, as commodity prices remained low.

Western oils were ahead both as a group and with several features leading. Home made the most spectacular single-session jump of the young year on Thursday as it added $1.35 in the last few minutes following favorable drilling reports.

The Toronto Friday - to - Friday comparison showed industrials up 2.14 at 322.83, golds up .83 at 71.08, base metals down .84 at 138.52 and western oils up 3.55 at 93.67.

Montreal industrial trading opened on an irregularly higher note with papers, utilities and banks in the lead.

WESTERN OILS STRONG

Mines were quiet and featureless most of the week. Western oils were strong at the opening and near the middle but slipped toward the end of the week.

The Montreal Friday-to-Friday comparisons showed banks up .54 at 37.59, utilities up 2.1 at 96.4, industrials down .1 at 185.6, combined up .7 at 155.9, papers up 13.48 at 809.96, and golds up .16 at 51.76.

Early New York trading saw a sharp rise that gained until it was almost at the 1953-54 high level. Mild profit - taking whittled the gains toward mid-week, but steels and radio-TV issues led to higher ground again Thursday and Friday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.20 at $113.60.

Keep Basement Rumpus Room Light and Dry

By MR. FIX

What would you say are the prerequisites for an ideal basement recreation room? That it be light and dry? You're so right. And the same goes for just a plain ordinary basement—if it is to be a useful space.

Methods of treating and curing wet basement walls have been discussed in this space before, but the subject wouldn't be complete without mention of a trend in basement design—that of introducing more window area to admit more daylight.

This not only makes for more pleasant-looking recreation rooms but also allows better ventilation, helping to control moisture. What's more, it isn't too costly to redecorate existing homes to provide more daylight in basements.

In most cases it is simply a matter of enlarging window wells or areaways outside basement windows and of adding a few more windows in a line. These window wells or areaways can often be extended to form small sunken terraces outside recreation-room walls.

Once the moisture problem is licked in this or any other way, the home owner is free to paint or panel basement falls. There are several types of masonry paints available in colors. Some are said to be waterproof and some are not. You can even color cement-base waterproofing compounds with colored oxide pigments.

There is a wide variety of concrete floor finshes to choose from, including special dyes, stains, oil-base paints, rubber-base paints and liquid floor coverings. Resilient-tile is a popular product for recreation room floors, as well.

If you select plywood panelling for the walls, you must nail furring strips to the walls before fastening the panels in place. The furring may be of 1x2-inch or 2x2-inch stock, nailed vertically and 16 inches on centre.

Use masonry nails spaced 12 to 14 inches apart, rather than wire nails, to fasten furring strips to masonry — sixpenny nails for one-inch furring and eightpenny for the two-inch strips. If the nails won't enter the masonry, use a small star drill to make holes, then drive wooden pegs into the holes. Nail through the furring into pegs.

Four-by-eight-foot panels ¼-inch thick are adequate for paneling over masonry. Erect the panels vertically. Plywood comes in many varieties, including the pre-finished kinds, that are equally easy and quickly erected. Plywood can be obtained with veneers of several types of wood and in textured surfaces to suit every taste.

Tongue-and-groove paneling is applied to masonry in much the same way. If the boards are to run horizontally, furring strips must be applied vertically. Horizontal strips spaced about two feet apart are used when paneling is vertical. In horizontal paneling, start at the floor and work up to ceiling. Vertical paneling starts at a corner.

Whether you use plywood or tongue-and-groove paneling, the wood should be back-primed with a resin sealer or paint primer as further protection from moisture. Allow a ¼-inch "breathing space" at floor and ceiling for a similar reason—it helps reduce the chance of moisture collecting behind the paneling.

Guard your rumpus room against inroads of warping, damaging moisture with waterproofing and adequate ventilation.

Mines Strike Negotiations At Deadlock

NORANDA, Que. (CP)—Negotiations aimed at settlement of a strike started five months ago by about 1,600 employees of Noranda Mines Limited broke off Friday.

The company and representatives of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) held a brief meeting Friday. They said afterwards no further meetings are scheduled.

J. H. Stovel, assistant manager of the copper-gold mine, said in a statement the company restated its position that the announced 7½-per-cent hourly wage increase is as far as the firm will go. He said the checkoff will not be granted, directly or indirectly.

A union statement said the company stand is a refusal to negotiate. Union members previously turned down the increase of 7½ per cent, which is about 10 cents an hour.

Before the start of the strike Aug. 21, Noranda workers were reported to receive an average of about $60 for a 48-hour work week.

The union sought a wage increase plus additional statutory holidays with pay, and sickness, hospital and pension benefits.

Looking For Canadians To Join Expedition

By RON EVANS

LONDON (CP) — The British Schools Exploring Society, which last year sent a party of some 70 boys into northern British Columbia, is looking for Canadian youths to join the 1954 expedition to northern Quebec.

"We would like to take along between 20 and 30 Canadian boys," said Mrs. Murray Levick, the Society's vice-president and deputy chairman and wife of the founder.

The society, founded in 1932 to help foster a spirit of adventure among British schoolboys, this year plans to send a party of 70 British boys into the uninhabited region northeast of Dolbeau, some 150 miles northeast of Quebec City. Present plans call for the party to leave Britain July 28 and return around the middle of September.

NO ACCEPTANCES

Mrs. Levick said invitations to join the 1953 expedition were sent to Canadian schools but were not accepted.

"It seems that so many Canadian schoolboys earn their own living during the summer months, they are not interested in paying money to go on such a trip," she said.

The cost of the trip, open to boys between the ages of 16½ and 18½, would be about £25 ($70) for Canadians. In addition there would be the cost of transportation to Dolbeau and other expenses according to personal equipment needed.

RECEIVE TRAINING

During the expedition the boys are trained in survey, meteorological, photographical and radio work. Last year's expedition brought back a collection of 200 plants, a 42-inch garter snake and notes on 104 varieties of bird life found in British Columbia.

The society decided to visit northern Quebec this year in preference to Newfoundland, where they have been five times, and Iceland, site of two earlier expeditions.

Mrs. Levick said one of the reasons they decided against Newfoundland was that the region proposed for their expedition now is undergoing heavy logging operations.

SECOND VISIT

This will be the second visit to northern Quebec. A party of 54 boys with six leaders and a medical officer made an expedition to the region north of Dolbeau in 1948. Mrs. Levick said maps made by the boys during that visit have been of great help in determining possible routes for the 1954 expedition.

Mrs. Levick, who visited Canada in 1947 and 1948, said some details of the visit this year are being handled by the Lake St. John Paper and Power Company of Quebec.

She said any Canadian boys interested in joining the expedition should write to the secretary of the BSES, in care of the Royal Empire Society, Northumberland Ave. London, W. C. 2.

Gets 2 Years

TORONTO (CP)—Frank Morris, 53, convicted a week ago on a charge of attempted rape, Friday was sentenced to two years in penitentiary. Evidence at his trial, his second, was that he answered a newspaper advertisement by a woman seeking a job as a housekeeper, drove her to the Pickering area east of Toronto and then tried to attack her.

St. Paul's Has Annual Meeting

MARMORA (ENS) — The annual vestry meeting of St. Paul's Anglican church was held in the parish hall Wednesday night under chairmanship of the rector, Canon J. M. Brownlie.

Prior to handling the business of the meeting, the formation of a recreation club was discussed. The following were nominated as a committee to proceed with its formation: Donald Donaldson, Gordon Jones, Kenneth Trumble, William Lavender, Mrs. J. Barnum and Mrs. D. Donaldson.

The rector's report opened the meeting proper. Commending the parish as a whole for its support he also mentioned the following statistics for 1953: baptized, 16; confirmed, 13; marriages, four; burials, four. He also expressed the hope that the parish would attain to further success in the current year. He made fitting reference to the loss the parish had sustained in the recent death of a valued member of many years standing in the person of Mrs. H. R. Pearce.

Minutes of last annual meeting and a special vestry held in March was read by C. R. Whittemore were approved.

The auditors' report as read by A. Pordham was accepted. The financial statement was read by George Kerr, parish treasurer. Receipts were shown to be almost $3,400 with a balance of about $20 in the bank at the close of the year.

Mrs. D. Robertson, in presenting the Ladies' Guild report, mentioned receipts to be over $1,900. Of this amount, $443 was paid over to the parish fund, about $284 expended on chairs for the parish hall and $375 transferred to the decorating fund. Next to report was Mr. A. Pordham for the Deloro branch of St. Paul's Guild. Receipts of this arganization were $187.57, the main disbursement being $68 for the Episcopal Maintenance Fund.

A prosperous year for St. Paul's Sunday school was stated by Mrs. W. Lavender. Receipts amounted to $209.85 including $45.54 being contributed to missions through the Lenten mite boxes.

Mrs. R. G. Winters reported for the Women's Auxiliary. Only one meeting was missed in the year just closed. The pledge and all other obligations were met.

Mrs. D. B. Robertson gave the report of the decorating fund in which over $1,850 was handled during the year. Mrs. M. Savage reported a successful year for the mission fund. The amount of $421.24 was sent into the synod, meeting all other obligations.

By motion as asked by the synod, the subsistence and advance apportionments were accepted by the vestry for 1954. The election of officers ensued. The rector reappointed D. Robertson as his warden. T. Pearce was re-elected as people's warden. G. Kerr was re-elected treasurer. R. E. Bonter, retiring lay delegate was re-elected lay delegate for three years.

W. Simmons and M. J. Corrigan were appointed auditors. C. R. Whittemore was returned as vestry clerk as was Miss M. Savage as missions treasurer.

The vestry council will comprise the rector, wardens, lay delegates, C. Heath, G. Jones, W. Lavender, A. Pordham, G. Kerr, G. Brown and Mesdames F. Leal, R. G. Winters, T. Pearce and C. R. Whittemore.

The wardens were asked to assume the duty of drawing up the sidesman's body.

Following adjournment refreshments were served.

Contractor Arrested On $20,500 Fraud

TORONTO (CP) — Norman A. Blower, 31, a Toronto contractor, has been arrested on charges of obtaining $20,500 from the Toronto separate school board by fraud and with making a false declaration.

He is also accused of obtaining $1,868 from John G. Young, president of the Service Glass and Mirror, Ltd., by "deceit and falsehood."

Police, who arrested Blower on Thursday, said the $20,500 was paid to Blower by the school board for payment to sub-contractors.

Magistrate C. A. Thorburn remanded Blower till Feb. 5 on $15,000 bail.

Heart Patients Divided Into 4 Groups

Note: This is the third in a series of four stories about a revolutionary surgical procedure originated and developed by Dr. Arthur Vineberg, Montreal surgeon, for treatment of coronary artery disease and related angina pectoris.

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP) — Some day surgeons may forestall incipient angina pectoris at the first signs of disease in the coronary artery.

Understandably, that day has not arrived. The job now is to do something for the sufferers, not the potential sufferers. Also, it is still less than four years since Dr. Arthur Vineberg and his medico-cardiological team introduced at Royal Victoria Hospital a surgical technique aimed at overcoming Killer Angina.

The results have been satisfactory, even remarkable. There is still hard study for the team, which even now is handling one to three cases a week.

THIRD ARTERY

The operation is called the internal mammary artery implant. This chest artery is placed within the heart muscle, giving it the needed blood supply lost through coronary artery insufficiency.

Sufferers have come to Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal from all parts of North America. Last September at an international college of surgeons in New York Dr. Vineberg presented a technical paper on his surgical procedure and the results.

No sooner had he returned to Montreal than letters and telegrams began pouring into his office in the wake of a newspaper story. They were from sufferers, their relatives and physicians anxious for more information and hopeful of an opportunity to do something for their patients.

Dr. Vineberg dislikes generalized classifications in the selection of patients but he has found it convenient to establish them in four groups.

MUST TAKE IT EASY

In the first group are persons who experience an occasional attack of pain on exercise or during emotional disturbances. They are able to work and are capable of living reasonably normal lives. Operation for them is not advisable. "It is better to stop playing golf," says Dr. Vineberg.

Patients in group two show evidence of coronary artery insufficiency. This is considered an important indication for surgery. These patients may still be working but there is evidence of progression of coronary artery disease. This may be shown in the electrocardiogram or by an increase in the frequency of anginal attacks and, perhaps, progressive difficulty in breathing.

Group three is made up of patients partly or totally disabled but without status anginosus—anginal pains while at complete rest. In this group are hundreds of thousands of persons who are unable to walk more than 50 to 100 feet without pain. Many suffer pain at rest, but in association with emotion, straining at stool or a heavy meal. Some have night pain which awakens them. But when sitting quietly in a chair, without stimuli, they are free from pain.

For these patients it is considered surgery should be encouraged.

It has been shown that fewer than 50 per cent of such patients are alive at the end of five years. Another coronary occlusion — or blockage—may so lower the reserve in the heart pumping muscle as to place these patients in the hopeless, inoperable group of patients with status angina.

INOPERABLE GROUP

Group four is the status angina group. These patients, day and night, literally chew nitro-glycerine tablets—a drug which tries to open the narrowed artery. They have pain at rest without an inciting cause, such as emotion, talking, eating and straining at stool. These patients should not be submitted to cardiac surgery; there is insufficient heart muscle left to revascularize.

For patients in the operable groups the practice is not to proceed with surgery until six months after an attack of coronary thrombosis with infarction. Infarction is a condition of scar-tissue areas in the heart muscle resulting from lack of sufficient blood supply through the coronary arteries.

When a patient puts himself in the hands of the Royal Victoria Hospital team he will undergo thorough preliminary examination. Every effort is made to exclude all other possible causes for the patient's symptoms, despite a well established diagnosis of coronary artery insufficiency.

A search is made for spinal discs and lesions in the region of the diaphragm. Electrocardiograms are made in series and carefully studied. In some cases postponement of the operation may be advisable.

CAREFUL PREPARATION

Because there is always the possibility a patient may suffer an attack, most careful preparation is made in the special "heart section" of the hospital before the patient enters the operating room.

The anaesthetic staff has worked out a technique in handling these particular cases. It differs from that used in any other cases or types of heart disease.

Special nurses have been trained in handling the patients and in post-operative care. Patients are closely watched, almost literally every minute, for more than 70 hours after the operation. Blood pressure is taken at first every five minutes; then every 15 minutes.

Depending upon their condition, patients remain 48 to 72 hours in the special heart section, where there is every conceivable type of equipment needed in heart cases. Then they are taken to their own quarters in the hospital. On an average, they are kept in bed three weeks; then allowed one week up in the hospital. After that they are permitted to go home.

Court Awards $2,724,196 Damages For Ship Fire

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—Awards totalling $2,724,196 were made by a federal court commissioner Friday on 669 damage claims resulting from the burning of the Canadian steamship Noronic four years ago.

The Noronic, a Great Lakes vacation cruiser operated by Canada Steamship Lines, was in dock at Toronto the night of Sept. 17, 1949, when fire destroyed the ship and killed 119 of more than 500 passengers and crew aboard.

Claims exceeding $19,000,000 including some single ones as high as $700,000 were filed soon after the disaster. Most of the claimants were from Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania; others were scattered over 21 other states.

Dr. T. H. Young of Thorold, Ont., was awarded $22,000 in settlement of his claim.

Two years ago Judge Paul Jones approved a plan for settling all claims for $2,150,000 and the steamship company deposited that amount with the court.

The awards made Friday by commissioner Ralph Vince and approved by Judge Jones exceed the $2,150,000 limit by $574,196. That means the awards made by Vince actually will pay about 79 cents on the dollar.

22-MONTH HEARING

Vince, a former municipal judge, spent 22 months hearing claims and listening to testimony. The report he made earmarked $1,114,180 for 111 death claims; $1,508,135 for 253 injury claims; $32,248 for 77 personal property claims and $69,633 to 228 creditors, mainly insurance companies, which had advanced payments to claimants.

One of the largest settlements was $65,000 to the estate of Mrs. Anita I. Mazer of Cleveland Heights, who died two months after the fire.

Judge Jones said that while Vince's report was considered final lawyers of claimants who felt they were underpaid could appeal. Their chances of boosting the awards are not good, however, the judge pointed out, because of the $2,150,000 limit on funds to be disbursed.

The settlement was one of the largest ever made in a maritime disaster and compared with $890,000 paid out when the luxury liner Morro Castle burned in 1934 off the New Jersey coast with loss of 124 lives.

Toronto Surprises Graham

By A. C. FORREST

They have been saying for a long time now that the days of mass evangelism are over. You can find where wise men have been writing in books, that the techniques of John Wesley, Dwight L. Moody, Gipsey Smith and Billy Sunday no longer work. That the emotional methods of the altar call, the sawdust trail and the penitents' bench have been discredited, and that the new ways of Christian Education and nurture, visitation evangelism, and the judicious use of radio, movies and TV are more effective with this modern generation.

Of course the arguments which were advanced with such confidence before the war have been heard less in recent years, but I have grown up in a generation which has been pretty sceptical of revivalism, and gone to churches where the young people scarcely knew what it meant.

So when Billy Graham came to Toronto last weekend I was very interested. Here are some of the things which happened in the two and a half days he was here.

WELL ORGANIZED

Of ourse there was a terrifically well-organized planning committee at work for weeks. And when he arrived with his team, the newspapers were waiting for him, and Billy was prepared for them. Although ministers have been saying it for years and not getting much attention, he was on the front pages of the evening editions with his comment about Canadians spending eight times as much for liquor and tobacco as they gave to their churches. Then he had some nice things to say about Canada and Canadians and Toronto.

Saturday night they packed in almost ten thousand people for the first service in the Coliseum. Two thousand more were turned away. Sunday morning they were linging up at 9 a.m. for a 3 p.m. service, and by 1:30 the doors were closed, for there was no more standing room. Ten thousand were turned away.

Monday morning 300 ministers gathered at 8 a.m. for breakfast in the Royal York, and that is considered a bit of a feat for Monday morning. Dr. Crossley Hunter of Trinity United church, chairman of the affair said it was a miracle for the preacher is supposed to have his day of on Monday morning.

Monday evening they moved to Maple Leaf Gardens and I lined up with the thousands about 6 o'clock, and after standing in a line which didn't move for over an hour I decided to use my preacher's privilege and go in the side door with the ministers' and chorister's of the mass choir. To do that one was supposed to sit on the platform with the clergy which I didn't want to do, but there was standing room and later we got seats with one of the out-of-town delegations.

Inside thousands had been sitting for two to three hours, but some seven thousand seats were reserved for out-of-town delegations. The others waited outside until they discovered whether any of the reserved seats would be left over. At one time there were two thousand people in the Union station from special trains. Nine hundred came from Kitchener and the Hamilton section looked as though there were more than that there.

I would say it was predominantly a church crowd. There were many Salvation Army uniforms; I saw a good number of the simple clothes of the Mennonites and the dark bonnets of the girls from up in the Pennsylvania Dutch settlements of Markham and elsewhere. The folks who go to the Gospel Halls, the Alliance Tabernacles, the Army Citadels, the Pentecostal Assemblies and the Churches of the Nazarene were there, and on the platform were leaders of almost all the major and minor denominations and groups.

MASTERFUL APPEAL

You could tell they were church people by the way they sang without hymn book or sheet, the familiar words of the gospel hymns. The offering was a masterful appeal. The Toronto Mission was planned in part to raise funds for a three month campaign Billy Graham is beginning in March in London, England. London has had no such city-wide mission in fifty years. The committee there could not guarantee to underwrite the expenses, so money is being raised here. It wasn't a silver collection, nor a folding money offering. Envelopes for pledges with blank cheques attached were distributed to the thousands in a few seconds. The income tax angle was announced, and the offerings were gathered. I don't want readers to draw inferences from these comments. The Billy Graham team is a tremendous organization. They are big, American, efficient, and they rent the biggest places they can secure, and they don't risk empty seats if modern advertising can get full seats. They don't do that with offerings of dimes and quarters. At the same time it is a little difficult not to let the very bigness, efficiency, showiness, of it all jar on one's sensitive feelings.

Now Billy Graham is of course a tremendous preacher. He is tall, lithe, and paces and springs about the platform like a caged panther. His pictures do not do him justice. There is warmth and humor in his voice and manner, and he impresses me with a spirit of humility and sincerity.

"The Bible says . . ." are the three words which give him his authority. He must have repeated that phrase more than a score of times. "I take my authority from the Scriptures . . ." and as he paces back and forth he waves the Bible high in the air and quotes and quotes again from its pages.

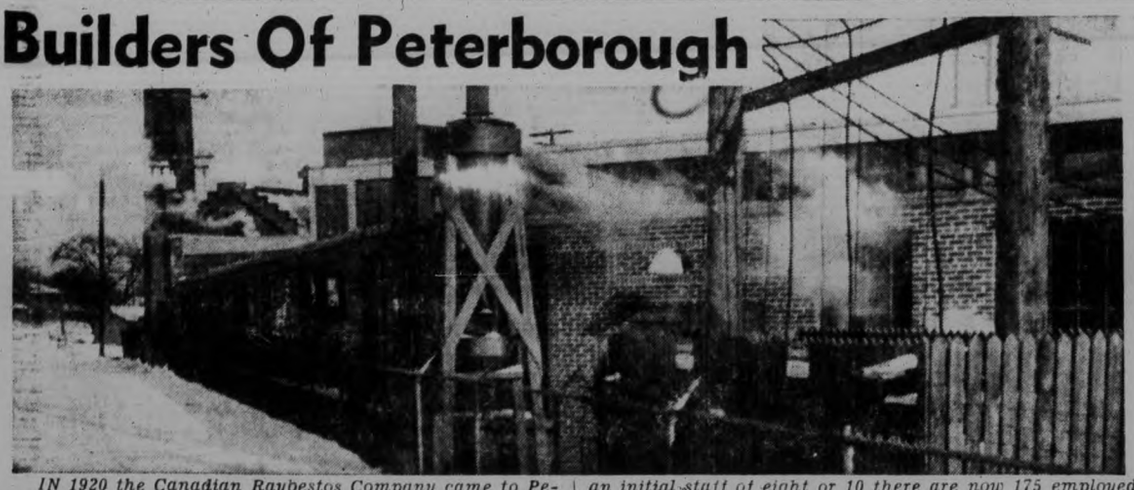
PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CVII(No. 25 SATURDAY, JANUARY 30, 1954 PRICE TEN CENTS

Builders Of Peterborough



IN 1920 the Canadian Raybestos Company came to Peterborough and secured the factory building of the Peterborough Shovel and Tool Company on Perry St. From an initial staff of eight or 10 there are now 175 employed and the original building has been greatly enlarged.

Have Sought To Promote Greater City

Two Executives Have Helped Materially In Promoting Progress

Canadian Raybestos Company, Perry St., and Wonder Bakeries Limited, at Stewart and Sherbrooke streets, introduced to Peterborough industrial management two men who through quite a long period have helped materially in promoting the broad progress of the city.

They extend further the list of executives already mentioned in this series of reviews of manufacturing development whose abilities and years of work are reflected in their contributions to the prosperity of Peterborough.

Prosperity is a general term embracing all the opportunities of employment which are created in the course of expanding industry. They reach out to the individual citizen, especially to youth, with possibilities of beginning here, and usually at home, careers that may conceivably take off in nearly the whole compass of direction. They signify for many men and women a start in life in favoring circumstances.

Robert Abbott of Raybestos and James Dutton, now retired from Wonder Bakeries, are largely to be credited with the expansion of both those plants.

The American Raybestos Company of Bridgeport, Conn., sent Mr. Abbott to Canada in quest of a location for a branch plant of their industry.

34 YEARS AGO

That was in February, 1920, just 34 years ago. The prescription in Mr. Abbott's seeking was a supply of cheap gas and a vacant building of certain details in the height of interior crossbeams.

As Mr. Abbott once told the Examiner, he travelled easterly from Toronto to Montreal and up into Quebec, Drummondville, Sherbrooke, St. John. Turning back into Ontario, he found here not cheap gas but cheap electricity. Apparently Mr. Abbott liked Peterborough from that slight beginning. His company at their big plant at Bridgeport decided upon an experiment with a special heating oven which they built to test heating by electric power in the production of their brake lining.

Raybestos found that electricity was just as cheap an agent as gas, and the heads of their company, Summer Simpson and his brother Howard, came up to Peterborough to look through the old Lundy building, which they approved as meeting the requirements of their immediate use.

The Simpsons will be kindly remembered by the citizens who met them at that time, particularly those of municipal and industrial background, at an informal reception.

Mr. Abbott travelled by train to Kingston after several investigating stops along the way.

At Kingston he met William Burnie, now Peterborough's industrial commissioner, and then with the industrial department of the CPR. Mr. Burnie had previously met Simon R. Armstrong, city clerk, had fostered communication, and knew of the vacant Lundy building on Perry St.

MEMORABLE MEETING

That was a memorable February morning, the weather somewhere in the vicinity of zero, when Abbott and Burnie arrived from Belleville on the morning CNR train. And so, Canadian Raybestos came to Peterborough.

The empty building had been used for some years by Peterborough Shovel and Tool Company about 45 years ago. At their business peak they had employed around 75 men.

Its occupants at one time had been known as the Lundy Shovel and Tool Works. In one particular of structure, its height or clearance of beam conformed with the specification of Raybestos. On that seemingly negligible feature rested the decision of Mr. Abbott to report the building to his Bridgeport management.

Eventually, the shop was put in order, and Mr. Abbott moved in with two skilled aides. One was William Kay to take charge of the weaving of the brake lining, and a general utility man named Kelly.

"We had one order from General Motors for half a million feet of lining, and a smaller lot for a jobber in Montreal," Mr. Abbott recalled, but the company put a plant in London, England, and that outlet of business was closed to us in Peterborough. So, we concentrated on the domestic trade and that has had to be our policy ever since."

Some American firms opening branches in Canada do find export demand as an important part of their output.

Raybestos brought to Peterborough the experience and skill and methods of the largest brake lining manufacturers on the continent.

Most of the walls of the original building are still robustly standing at Raybestos, but enlargements from time to time have filled up all the ground space. The initial staff, eight or ten, set up the first machines, and put the plant into operation.

Canadian Raybestos employees today are a total of around 175.

WONDER BAKERIES

When James Dutton retired in 1947 from the management of Wonder Bakeries Limited, Stewart and Sherbrooke Streets, he had built up a staff of 80 employees, as compared with the 20 when he took charge of the bakery of William Stock & Sons.

With that old Peterborough business established by William Stock, he became superintendent, continuing in that position after its incorporation as a company under the name of Wm. Stock & Sons Ltd. In 1921, Harry Stock, son of the founder, sold his interests, and, in reorganiaztion, the name was changed to Stocks Bread Limited with Mr. Dutton as president and general manager.

Subsequent development acquired the right to use the patents of Wonder Bread and Hostess Cakes. In the days of Stocks Bread, the old firm had acquired a fairly wide distribution of its products by railway express. Curtailment of rail traffic during the first war, and the later extending of truck delivery, increased the business area of Wonder Bakeries. Two of the last of the express depots were Perth and Haliburton.

Thirty-five years spanned the business career of Mr. Dutton, and the staff of 80 is a guage of his successful work. Meanwhile he had earnestly entered into community concerns, notably in civic and church engagements, and to such an extent that now in retrospect his seemingly secondary interests tend to stand out as primary.

It has been told before, but in tribute to his spirit as a citizen, it is well worth recalling that Mr. Dutton's chairmanship of a relief committee appointed by the council during the depression period was a difficult task performed with sympathy and prudence.

He gave a great deal of time and thought to the city planning project in the desire to assist in definitely shaping the pattern of Peterborough's exansion, and achieved by persuasion a substantial measure of success. He was chairman of that committee, now headed by Hubert R. Sills, and it appears to be a promise of the new year that the required instrumuent of a planning bylaw will finally be fashioned.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS spanned the career of James Dutton in the bakery business. In that period the business established by William Stock expanded and became the Wonder Bread Company, one of the largest in Central Ontario.
—(Examiner Staff Photo)

THESE TWO MEN were responsible for the major growth of two of Peterborough's industries. James Dutton (LEFT) who retired in 1947 as manager of the Wonder Bread Company and Robert Abbott who came to Peterborough in 1920 and started the Raybestos Co. and today is the president and general manager.

Full-Time Job Says Mayor May Offer Business For Sale

Mayor Norman Graham has decided that the pressure of his civic duties have made it necessary for him to retire from private business and he is considering selling his paint and flooring business on George St. "Being mayor of Peterborough is a full-time job," His Worship told The Examiner today. "Anybody seeking this office in the future should bear that in mind.

"There's no doubt in my mind," he added, "that after I complete my term as mayor, or before, the city is going to have to consider paying their chief magistrate a full-time salary."

At present, the mayor receives $2,500 a year from the city. From this amount he is expected to pay all his official expenses.

Like his predecessor Hugh Waddell, who gave up his private occupation when he took office just over two years ago, Mayor Graham is finding that the city's highest office takes up more of the holder's time than the normal private business.

FROM EARLY MORNING

"I get to my office every morning between 9:15 and 9:30," Mayor Graham said. "On most days I'm still here at 5:30 and often have to return for evening meetings.

"There's always a pile of mail for me to go over first thing in the morning and before I'm through with that the phone is ringing and there's somebody at the door to see me. Now, with unemployment increasing, person after person comes to see me every day to see if I can help them or their friends or relatives get a job. While I sympathize with them, there isn't very much I can do about it.

"Even when I do get a chance to go to my store, people come to see me there or 'phone me up on city business. The same thing happens at home at meal-times. My meals get cold before I can eat them."

This reporter can attest at least to the fact that the mayor's store has become an unofficial annex to city hall. In the course of this morning's interview, there were so many interruptions that we retired to his city hall office, where His Worship read through his mail and prepared his heavy agenda for the next week, answering questions at the same time.

On many of the evenings when he has no council or committee meetings to attend, the mayor is called on to attend a number of social functions in his official capacity. Two council members were delegated to take his place at such functions Friday night when the mayor was in Montreal. For tonight, he has accepted an invitation to the Union Institute banquet.

"There's literally no time off on this job," His Worship said. "The people have given me a mandate to do a job and if I'm going to carry out my promises to them, I'll have to be on that job all the time."

Mayor Graham has operated his own business since his father's death in 1931.

"I've no complaints to make as to my success in business," he said. "It's a going concern. But I feel now that I've started on a political career and I would like to give it the attention it deserves."

How far that career was likely to take him, His Worship was unwilling to predict.

Utilities Asks City Clear Gas Debts

Would Issue Bonds Worth $52,000 For Gas Department

The Peterborough Utilities Commission will ask the city to authorize sale of debentures amounting to $52,000 for the PUC's gas department. The regular meeting of the PUC Friday voted to ask for this sum to discount the gas department's growing indebtedness.

Operating losses in the gas department from 1947 to 1952 were $28,177. Profits were only $3,151.51, leaving a net deficit of $25,625.49. Sale of debentures will bring this branch of the PUC back into the black, provide for 1954 expenses and allow full exploitation of existing facilities.

For the present, the PUC will attempt to do no more than hold its own in the gas department, said general manager Howard Powell. When the commission has had a chance to consolidate its position, and when pipeline difficulties from the west are ironed out, the PUC may then sponsor a trend for more domestic consumption of gas. At present gas lines are not being laid into new subdivisions.

USE FALLEN OFF

Home use of gas in Peterborough has fallen off steadily in the past 20 years, said Mr. Powell, because it is in a disadvantageous competitive position. Before the war, salaries and prices of goods and services, including electricity and gas, were relatively low, and the two sources of energy were on more or less equal terms. Since then, real earnings have risen and the price of electric power has cheapened or at least remained constant. There has, therefore, been a trend away from gas to electricity.

Expenditures in the gas department in 1954 will "be held to a minimum." The commission is, however, planning to install a second liquid propane pump to handle an increasing demand from the CGE. Pressure in the pipes will be increased to provide the additional gas. Some misgivings on this were expressed by PUC chairman Frederick Hills, who hoped the pipes would be strong enough to withstand additional pressures. He was assured they would be.

At present major Peterborough gas consumption is by industries. There are 2,600 domestic gas users as opposed to over 12,000 domestic electric power customers.

May Increase Water To $15

There is a possibility that water rates may be raised slightly this year. At the Friday meeting of the Peterborough Utilities Commission it was suggested that a small hike from the present $14 to $15 might make this branch of the PUC more self-sufficient.

Expenditures on mains and hydrants were down from $19,000 to $10,000 according to preliminary figures in the water department report. This, however, means less expenditure from current revenues and more from debentures.

"We don't want to have to debenture anything," said general manager Howard Powell. A slight increase in water rates might "equalize things."

STOP OVERDRAFTS

In any case, said PUC chairman Frederick Hills, "let's have no more overdrafts in the waterworks account." There was an overdraft in 1953 and this, he said, was not a desirable situation. The water department for 1954 has been tentatively estimated at $133,000. This includes repair and maintenance, installing new pipes and doing landscape work at the filtration plant.

At least one marked saving has been shown in this department, said Mr. Powell. Since flat-rate water-heaters, formerly owned by the PUC, have been turned over to the consumer, the number of trouble calls has decreased an average of 66 a month. This led him to suspect that many users were formerly trying to get something for nothing.

OTTER INCREASING

Following the flooded areas made by beaver in Hungerford township, Tweed district, otters' tracks have been noted by lands and forests conservation officers. There are few animals currently caught, however, though their take of pelts in the Tweed district has increased from 58 in the 1950-51 period to 88 pelts in 1953.

Garage Robbed In Buckhorn

Thieves broke into Albert Churchill's garage at Buckhorn overnight and stole a 200-pound cash register containing about $50 in cash.

Mr. Churchill who discovered the breakin and theft when he opened up at 8 a.m. today, is more concerned about the year-old cash register, valued at $565, than he is about the loss of the money.

In the till were $20 in bills, another $25 or $30 in small change, and some papers — mainly bills and receipts.

The thieves got into the garage by jimmying the front door. Then they carried the cash register out the back door, leaving it open. A steady fall of snow obliterated any footprints or tracks.

Mr. Churchill worked till 10.30 p.m. Friday night. When he left to go home—his house is beside the garage—everything was in order and the door was locked. He heard nothing suspicious during the night.

Provincial police from Peterborough are investigating.

Help Fire Victims

Boy Scouts in Warkworth did a collective good deed for the day earlier this week. They gathered old newspapers from homeowners in the village and sold them to raise money to help William Newman whose chicken hatchery at Norham was burned down Jan. 21. Fifteen thousand pullets and several thousand eggs were destroyed in the fire.

PUC May Install 2-Way Radios; Save Money

Peterborough Utilities' trucks may soon go modern with the installation of two-way radios. Nothing has been decided yet but the subject was discussed at the PUC meeting Friday, and general manager Howard Powell has been instructed to make further investigations.

Two-way radios in utilities trucks could save as much as 10 per cent in the commission's labor-cost outlay, said Mr. Powell. Last year trouble calls and other truck work added up to 150,000 man hours. Averaging out at roughly $1.60 an hour, this could save the commission as much as $24,000, less the costs of the radios themselves.

GOOD RELATIONS

Two-way radios are good public relations, too, said Mr. Powell. He said that customers would have greater confidence in the PUC if, when they put in a trouble call, they found a repairman on the job in a very few minutes. Trucks equipped with two-way radios do not need to report back to the home office and can save a lot of time cruising about waiting for trouble calls.

Mr. Powell was echoed by PUC member Richard Raine. Mr. Raine felt that any investment in smarter-looking service is money well spent in good customer relations. City organizations, said he, should set an example to private firms in the matter of neatness, efficiency and good-looking trucks.

Television Set Taken From Home

A thief made history Friday night . . . and probably made himself a nice little bundle while he was at it.

Sometime between 8.30 at night and one o'clock in the morning he walked into the home of Clayton Eason, Water St. north, and walked out with a $500 television set and booster. It was the first TV theft ever to occur here.

Mr. and Mrs. Eason were out at the time and the door was securely locked. The thief, broke the lock and went in the front door. Nothing else was touched but when the Easons returned home their 17 inch set was gone.

Know Your Housing Need First Essential In Planning For Houses

Older People Today Are Not Gr
You Can Toss Off Lightly In Planning Houses, Women Told

"Know your need!", the Local Council of Women was told Friday night when William Goulding of Toronto addressed the group on housing for old people. Speaking at the library, he described existing facilities, here and abroad, for old people and suggested first steps toward the institution of a similar project in Peterborough. "There's no one single answer to the question of how to provide housing in a particular community," he said. Conditions vary from place to place and the answer in one city is not necessarily the answer in another.

HOW TO DISCOVER NEED

So, know the need first. The need can be discovered in several ways; through the public health department in a community, the welfare department, from census figures, from nursing and old people's homes through questionaires, through churches.

Through these sources you may find who need help and who are willing to accept help.

Then, once the need is known, then find out how it can be satisfied. As an example, he showed different housing projects in different cities; some merely old homes, some group apartments, some cottages, and others, two-family buildings.

Mr. Goulding showed slides of different types of houses provided in Vancouver, Burlington, Calgary, Sault Ste. Marie, Montreal, Edmonton and Toronto, and compared them with those overseas.

In one instance, older people were housed on the lower floor of three-storey apartments. The older residents actually showed improved health because they were able to maintain their continuity with young people.

MAINTAIN FAMILY UNITS

In another case small cottages built to hold one or two older people were kept close to residential districts in order to maintain the family unit.

"Our older people are not a group you can toss off lightly; the group of over-60 people is increasing in size very rapidly. As the number increases, old people will prove a greater drain on our resources."

The time has arrived, he pointed out, when the problem must be dealt with; "it is a very real social problem."

He divided older people as a class into four groups; those who could normally operate their own home but can't afford to; those who need some help such as is provided in a boarding house; those who are sometimes sick and those who are constantly ill.

In each case a different type of accommodation must be found, Mr. Goulding said. He dealt however, mainly with the accommodation which could be provided those who simply can't maintain a home on a pension.

Low rental housing has been provided in some areas by service clubs, private organizations, municipalities and churches. In Ontario it is subsidized by the provincial government to some extent and largely, by the federal government under the National Housing Act.

Commission Spends $132,666 On Suburb Roads

In 1953 a total of $132,666 was spent on the 72 miles of roads looked after by the suburban area roads commission.

The commission ended up with a surplus of $411, wiping out their 1952 deficit of $786.

Expenditures included $41,792 for maintenance, $80,589 for construction, $4,631 for overhead, $960 for new machinery, $1,919 for garage and warehouse maintenance, and $2,776 on non-subsidizable items such as committee fees and expenses and interest at the bank.

The biggest construction job in 1953 was the mulch paving of the 12½-mile Buckhorn road which cost $69,843. Mulching of about a mile and a quarter of the Warsaw road cost $8,657, and similar paving on the Douro road came to $2,089.

Maintenance items were sanding $1,623, snow clearing $570, snow fence $1,142, brushing and weed cutting $1,025, culverts $1,742, ditching $400, dragging $2,078 dustlaying $5,150, fencing $533, grading $2,126, gravel patching $7,521, guide-railing $130, mulch patching $2,192, prime $5,330, resurfacing $2,685, right-of-way $25, roadside maintenance $1,423, signs $202, surface treatment $4,787, weed spraying $566, and wig-wag on Keene road $342.

Under overhead there were these cost items: superintendent's salary $1,667, superintendent's mileage $360, clerical assistance $200, miscellaneous $2,130, and small tools and equipment $274.

A new centre-line stripe was bought for $960. And under the new machinery account there is an entry of $1,919 for garage and maintenance.

The three-man commision look after certain roads that are main traffic arteries leading to Peterborough. Their budget is made up as follows: the city and county give a like amount of money and the department of highways matches it.

In 1953 the city and county each gave $20,000. Then, to mulch pave the Buckhorn road, a special project, each gave a supplementary $14,000.

This year the county set aside $27,000 for the commission.

Africans Boycott Butchers Barrier Divides Races

By HUGH LATIMER

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia — (OFNS) — Africans in Northern Rhodesia celebrated Oliver Lyttelton's first visit to the territory as colonial secretary in the second week of January by picketing all the butchers' shops in the sprawling capital of Lusaka. Their aim was to attack the legalized racial segregation which exists in this British protectorate, where the law, as in South Africa, says that a shopkeeper can turn anyone out of his premises without giving a reason. In most of the European shops in Northern Rhodesia, Africans are forbidden to use the front doors. They have to queue in muddy lanes at the side to be served—when shop assistants find time—through a wooden hatch. Africans demanded the right to walk through the front door like everyone else. Apart from the principle of the matter, they said, the meat they were given was bad.

Throughout the week the pickets, little groups of behatted and bespectacled young men, organized by the African National Congress, circled round the lanes leading to the hatches, while equal numbers of coalscuttle helmeted African policemen urged them not to obstruct the pavements. Inside the shops, white assistants, mostly from South Africa, simmered with rage and continued to deny the sacred portals to Africans. A couple of pickets were arrested: they were alleged to have stolen meat from servant-boys who had broken the boycott. "We always pay them back the money," one of the picket organizers said.

NOT RECOGNIZED

Meanwhile, Mr. Lyttleton refused to see Harry Nkumbula, London University-educated president of the African National Congress, on the grounds that this body is not officially recognized by the government.

Ostensibly the chief organizer of the boycott was Mr. Peter Kaewela, a jaunty, middle-aged African of lower-lass urban type In the first day of the campaign the pickets gained a victory, he told me: one European butcher in the Indian quarter removed the barrier dividing the races.

It was mere chance that the butchers were chosen first: bakers, greengrocers, chemists, would have their turn. "We shall go on till we have won," he said.

The campaign draws its inspiration from a similar boycott in June at Broken Hill, where the sole butcher eventually had to come to terms with the Congress. "I had to," he confessed to a local newspaperman. "I lost $6,000 in three weeks."

The boycott seemed fairly effective, although Kaewela's greatest problem was to get his pickets to turn up for duty at the specified time. One victory was certainly his, however. The campaign put Nkumbula's Congress back on the political map.

Throughout 1953 the Congress was losing prestige among Africans. The fight against federation with Southern Rhodesia failed. Congress ran out of funds. The treasurer, Mr. Safeli Chileshe, demanded proper accounting methods in future, and, failing to get them, resigned, along with the vice-president, Mr. Dauti Yamba, and the secretary, Mr. Nabulyato. These moderates were replaced by extremists. More and more Africans were looking for real leadership to the Copper Belt in the north, where Mr. Lawrence Katilungu's mineworkers are the only really well-organized African trades union on the continent.

NO CONFEDERATE VOTE

Congress lost control of the African Representative Council, the democratically elected body recognized by the government. The council elected Yamba to an African seat in the Federal Assembly in Salisbury (Southern Rhodesia), and chose Nabulyato and Chileshe to go to the Legislative Council in Lusaka (Northern Rhodesia). These elections of ex-Congress officials are a definite vote of non-confidence in the dictatorial Congress president. Katilungu, too, failed to achieve election. Clearly, responsible Africans are becoming distrustful of strong men.

Congress had to do something to re-establish its lost prestige among Africans. The first attempt, a "pan-African council," in December, failed dismally, because the delegates from other African countries were prevented from coming. The only foreign delegate was a stray Burmese socialist, who stayed at Lusaka's luxury Ridgeway Hotel. But the anti-color bar campaign is a certain winner. No African can fail to wish it success.

The moderates had their chance to steal Nkumbula's thunder. This is not the first attack on the color bar in Lusaka. In June demonstrations were led by Chileshe, then still president of the Lusaka branch of Congress. They were orderly and well planned. On the advice of the liberal-minded municipal chairman, Dr. Alexander Scott, demonstrators were allowed to pass through the forbidden doors now shut to them, and were served without incident. Unquestionably the methods of Chileshe and Scott were more likely to end the color bar in a liberal town like Lusaka than those of half-educated extremists looking for trouble.

Unfortunately Chileshe did not follow up his advantage. And now that he is no longer a leader of a popular organization, he cannot do so.

There is a moral to this story. It is that moderate African leaders are of comparatively little use, either to governments or to their fellow-Africans, unless they can keep their foothold on the swaying leader of popular support. It is pleasant to have sensible men on the Northern Rhodesian Legislative Council. But if governments ever feel the need to win racial peace in Northern Rhodesia they will still have to come to terms with the strong men, Nkumbula and Katilungu.

Only One Newsman Going With Premier

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Drew said Friday he regrets that only one newspaper man will accompany Prime Minister St. Laurent on his coming world tour.

He spoke in the Commons after Mr. St. Laurent, in a general statement on his trip, had said a seat on his plane is being made available to The Canadian Press and that William Stewart has been selected as representative of the national news-gathering agency. Mr. Stewart is CP's Montreal bureau chief.

Mr. Drew, in wishing Mr. St. Laurent success, said he regrets that "the press is not going to be more widely represented."

Man Badly Burned By Flaming Oil

TORONTO (CP) — William Featherstone, 60-year-old engineer, was badly burned today when flaming oil squirted over him from an oil burner he was repairing at the Dominion Tar and Chemical Company plant here.

His clothes were almost burned from his body before fellow workmen could extinguish the flames. Hospital authorities said his condition is critical.

Illegal Benefits

CORNWALL (CP)—Mrs. Marisa Fournier of Cornwall was fined $50 Friday and ordered to make restitution of $837 to the unemployment insurance commission for drawing benefits illegally. She was charged with 53 offences of drawing money by means of a false statement.

Premier Frost Opens Addition To Collegiate

LINDSAY (ENS) — More than 1,000 people were present Friday night when Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, and Premier Lesley Frost, officially opened the new $900,000 addition to Lindsay Collegiate Institute.

The speakers expressed their admiration for the modern building, its equipment and facilities but Dr. Smith pointed out that the building's importance was only second to the need for good teachers to occupy it.

Taking a note from Premier Frost's opening address, Dr. Smith remarked that Lindsay collegiate like a ship was not a "stranger to the seas but she has put into port, has been re-fitted and modernized, and we are watching her set on her course again."

ALL PART OF SYSTEM

As a university president, Dr. Smith emphasized that elementary and secondary schools and the universities are all parts of the educational system. The universities, he said, should not consider themselves the upper crust of that system and should not retreat to some mountain top.

Dr. Smith pointed out that the late Dr. T. A. Kirkconnell, one time principal of LCI was "one of the outstanding classical scholars of his day." Through his efforts and those of others "there has been instilled in Lindsay a resolute respect for education at its best."

ENJOY NORMAL LIVING

In mentioning teachers' salaries, Dr. Smith said, "they do not need salaries that will afford them luxuries," but should have enough to enjoy the normal subsistence privileges. He reminded the crowd to remember "teachers are not employees of the public, they are trustees of the richest assets of Canada — our children."

W. B. Brandon of Fenelon Falls, chairman of the high school board, presided. Members of the board were introduced by Jasper Foreman of Lindsay, chairman of the building committee. He also outlined the history of the high school area and the building campaign.

T. H. Eberlee, principal for 12 years, introduced Premier Frost. He also noted that two Canadians university presidents, Dr. G. E. Hall of the University of Western Ontario, and Dr. Watson Kirkconnell of Acadia University, Nova Scotia, were graduates of the school.

Premier Frost said that in 1954 a total of 80 such as he was opening would have to be built in Ontario to provide for the expected growth of student population, amounting to some 56,000. This annual growth is expected to continue until at least 160.

He called Dr. Smith to his side to declare a half-holiday next Friday for LCI students and others in the county.

The building was dedicated by the Rev. Donald McQueen of Lindsay. Other speakers were: J. B. Parkin, the architect, John Carroll, the contractor, and F. C. Ashby, inspector of schools.

Italian Government Turned Out Of Office

ROME (CP)—Premier Amintore Fanfani's 12-day-old government, which advocated the European army project, today was turned out of office by a vote of confidence in the Italian Chamber of Deputies.

Fanfani's short-lived Christian Democrat regime marked the fourth unsuccessful effort since the general election last June to give Italy a stable government.

Fanfani lashed out bitterly at his Communist and pro-Communist foes today in a last-minute bid to win the vote.

He assailed Palmiro Togliatti, Italian Communist chieftain, and Pietro Nenni, the pro-Communist Socialist leader, as "Volga sturgeons."

Betty Jane Rath Wins Contest

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — Betty Jane Rath captured top honors at the oratorical contest, sponsored by the Lions Club Friday afternoon, speaking on the subject "Bruce Wilder." Closely following for second place was her brother Harry, who spoke on "Vocations." Third place was a tie between Karen Laidholt and Rachel Guthrie. The former spoke on "Gold in I. rcupine," the latter "Is Education Important?"

Out of a possible 450 points, Betty Jane scored 358, Harry 356, and Karin and Rachel 334.

Judges were the Rev. L. J. Delaney, the Rev. G. E. Downing, and the Rev. H. C. Wolfraim.

In presenting the decision, Mr. Downing congratulated all the contestants on their high standards, and said that the most common fault lay in the lack of gestures and posture, and that the speakers did not reveal their feelings in the subjects upon which they spoke.

Each contestant spoke for five minutes on a prepared subject. At the conclusion of this speech a topic for an impromptu speech was drawn from a hat, and the pupils were given five minutes in which to prepare this subject, so that each contestant gave two addresses.

Principal J. E. Stephens was chairman and paid a special tribute to two staff members, Mrs. M. L. Godfrey and Mr. C. G. Hunt who were responsible for overseeing the preparations for the contest.

While the judges were arriving at their decision, singing was enjoyed, with Mrs. T. E. Rath at the piano.

The winners of this contest will compete in Peterborough in the near future, and if successful will go on to Barrie in May. They were all pupils of Grades 10, 11 and 12.

Others taking part in the event were Joyce McIlmoyle, Barbara Barcroft, Patty Jakins, Shirley Redpath, Clare Millage, Michael Pluard, Isobel Fulton, Marie Oliver, Marion Frankish, and Edith Whetung.

Unable To Read and Write Mencken Hates Idleness

By WILLIAM MANCHESTER

BALTIMORE (AP)—In the flickering firelight of retirement, H. L. Mencken at 73 sometimes shows flashes of Mencken the critic, the author, the newspaper reporter, the word collector, when he was robust.

Sometimes he finds inactivity almost unbearable.

Five years ago he was stricken by a cerebral haemorrhage. It partially paralyzed his speech and sight. His recovery was incomplete. He has been unable to read or write since.

Two years later, in the fall of 1950, he had a violent heart attack and was in the hospital for six months.

LIVES WITH BROTHER

For news he depends now upon the radio, friends, and his brother August, 64, an engineer who retired to be with him.

Seated by his Hollins street hearth, wearing a green eyeshade and an old herringbone jacket spectacularly fastened with three Baltimore police department buttons, he explained why he hates idleness.

"Imagine my day," he said hoarsely, gesturing toward a massive wall of books. "I can't read any of them. I wish it were all over."

Yet, after a long cigar and a tall drink, something of his old enthusiasm returned.

"Have another!" he said, offering a fresh stein of the Canadian ale he will receive until the end of his life, in exchange for film rights to his fictitious history of the bathtub. "This is the best bar in Baltimore!" he said.

(Mencken's history of the bathtub (1917), tracing the development of that commodious furnishing and its introduction into the United States, was later described by him as an "idle hoax" and "a buffoonery" having "no truth in it whatsoever." He said "I more than once confessed publicly that it was a jocosity" but the account "went on prospering." It made its way into medical literature and into standard reference books.)

"Smell that cigar!" he aimed a cone of smoke at his guest and then, on inspiration, seized an amputated table leg from the wood basket and thrust it into the fire.

"Isn't that a beauty," he said.

The table leg, he explained, was recovered by his brother from someone's trash. August hunts out discarded wooden pieces. H. L. saws them.

Sunlight days in the walled yard back of the house are the best for Mencken. Warm afternoons he weeds the garden. Occasionally a little boy next door peers over the wall and calls, "come here, Mencken." The author of "The American Language" trots over, chuckling.

In the brick wall, which he built himself in the 1920s, Mencken has placed a new concrete bust of Beethoven, with the opening notes of the Fifth Symphony set in concrete below it.

"Whoever buys this house after we go will probably tear it down," Mencken says. "Well, that's all right. We will be too busy to worry about Beethoven then."

On better days Mencken does his only work—sorting the correspondence of a lifetime. Despite his disability, he can feel identifying differences in the letter paper.

Now and then Mencken reflects on books he would write if he were well—on "new types of quackery," on his German ancestors, on music. He rarely calls on friends.

Periodically he is visited by Alfred Knopf, his publisher. Mencken still is a director of the Knopf firm and the Baltimore Sun papers.

Once a year George Jean Nathan his co-founder of the American Mercury, calls. They devote the time to deploring the present state of the magazine.

Mencken and his brother frequently attend neighborhood films. He liked "Lili" and Walt Disney's "Peter Pan."

"It's not much," he says, reflecting on his routine. "But as long as I have a good cigar . . ."

His voice drifted off. He spied a mangled castoff in the wood basket and tossed it on the fire. The fire sprang around the piece of wood. Then Mencken turned away, finished his drink and said goodnight.

Police Fail Get Salary Increase

KITCHENER (CP)—The Kitchener Police Association's bid for a $200 salary increase was turned down by the police commission today but the door was left open for an adjustment later.

If other city workers receive an increase, policemen will receive an adjustment on the same percentage, it was indicated.

The commission decision came after studying police salary figures in other centres. Kitchener police salaries are above or on a par with comparable cities, commissioners said.

Staff Sgt. Alex McGetrick, a member of the three-man association delegation, said a city foreman's pay figures out at $1.66½ an hour compared with $1.38 an hour for a police sergeant.

Rolling Pins Find Ready Market

KITCHENER (CP) — Perhaps its because Kitchener housewives have gone back to an old-fashioned way of asserting themselves.

Anyway, there's a boom in the sale of rolling pins in Kitchener.

A district man, J. H. Sallans, displayed a number of rolling pins on a market stall today and sold two dozen in short order.

"What kind of year did our Company have? It was excellent, thank you!"

(Your Imperial Life representative reports to you.)

"The feature of the year that will most interest you was that our President was able to announce a higher dividend scale for policyholders for 1954. The increase, combined with the one the Company announced two years ago, has made ownership of Imperial Life policies which share in dividend earnings more attractive than ever.

"You will be pleased to know, too, that the Company in 1953 disbursed a record amount of $12 million in benefit payments. Since the Company started operations it has paid out more than $234 million in benefits. The Company now holds a sum of $198,683,000 to meet future obligations.

"Those are the figures of chief interest to you. Very gratifying to us in the Company is the fact that people like you arranged life insurance and annuities to the tune of $89,825,000—a new high record for the Company for a one-year period. It enabled the Company to pass the three-quarter-billion-dollar-mark in total insurance in force during the year.

"Yes, it was an excellent year . . . By the way, if you'd like a copy of the complete Annual Report of the Company, I'd be glad to give you one, or any of our Branch Offices will furnish copies on request."

U.S. Business Improves During First Month of 1954

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — Business wound up the first month of crucial 1954 this week with assurances from several quarters that things are getting better.

The stock market soared to a 10-month high.

President Eisenhower appraised United States Economic health as "marvelously prosperous" and predicted recovery this year from a "brief and self-correcting" decline.

Chairman Benjamin F. Fairless of United States Steel Corp., reporting a 36-year high in earnings for 1953, said he looked for another "good year" in 1954.

The federal reserve board, listing "favorable factors for business" in 1954, laid heavy stress on inventories which, it said, have finally been chopped down to manageable proportions.

CALL WORKERS BACK

From the great manufacturing centres of the middle west came word that farm-machinery makers, hard hit in 1953, are calling back some of their laid-off workers. Machine tool manufacturers said business is picking up. On the west coast, Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. announced plans to add 4,000 workers to its San Diego, Calif., labor force.

Meanwhile, the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks reported savings deposits in member banks at a new high of nearly $25,000,000,000.

The U.S. census bureau reported January unemployment up 500,000 from the previous month, at 2,360,000.

There were scattered cutbacks in the steel and auto industries. Great Lakes Steel Corp., a major supplier to the auto makers, laid off 1,800 men because of "current slackening in demand."

Prices of key consumer items moved both ways this week, there were reductions on television sets, gasoline, power steering equipment for automobiles, and synthetic textile fibres. Prices of pork on the hoof climbed to a seven-month high.

Briefly over the business scene: Labor Secretary James Mitchell ordered woolen and worsted manufacturers holding government contracts to boost wages to $1.30 an hour by Feb. 28. . . The electric utility industry signed up its 50-millionth customer this week. . . Shell Oil Co., reported a 30 per cent gain in earnings for 1953. . . Vending machines sold $1,500,000 in 1953, with the biggest gain in automatically dispensed hot coffee.

Match Weight In Platinum Moslems' Fabulous Khan

By PETER JACKSON

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters)—More than 50,000 persons will watch the Aga Khan being weighed in platinum here Feb. 3 to celebrate his 70 years as leader of the Ismaili sect of Moslems.

The 78-year-old Aga Khan, one of the world's richest men, will be returning to his birthplace for the ceremony; he was born in a house known as honeymoon lodge, on a small hill outside Karachi.

He will take his seat on specially - constructed ivory scales, which cost 10,000 rupees ($3,000), and the platform on which they are placed will revolve so that all may see the ceremony.

As the platinum is placed on the scales a vertical strip light will record the advancing weight. The Aga Khan is expected to turn the scales at about 202 pounds and the platinum to equal that is worth about 800,000 rupees ($225,000).

INVESTS IN COMMUNITY

In the earlier days of the community, all this might have gone to the leader, but when he had his diamond jubilee, the Aga Khan set the practice of distributing the value by investment in the community.

The Aga Khan's followers are spread throughout the world, in India, Pakistan, Burma, Ceylon, Africa and South America. Most East African Moslems are Ismailis. No one knows just how many there are, but there are about 25,000 in Pakistan.

This year's ceremony marks the longest imamate — imam means spiritual leader—in the history of the Ismailis. The Aga Khan is the 40th direct descendant by male line of the prophet Mohammed's son-in-law, Hazrat Ali, who was the fourth caliph of Islam.

Will Consider Seaway Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman George Dondero (Rep.-Mich.) of the House of Representatives public works committee said his group will consider the Senate-approved St. Lawrence seaway bill next Wednesday.

Dondero said Friday he is optimistic that his committee will approve the bill.

The measure was passed by the Senate Jan. 20. It would authorize the United States to join with Canada in building a 27-foot deep Atlantic-to-Great Lakes waterway.

One pro-seaway member of the committee, Representative Charles Okaman (Rep.-Mich.), said 19 of the 29-member committee will vote for the measure. He said one other affirmative vote is possible, with four others "in doubt."

Committee opponents of the project may attempt to amend the bill by requiring that bonds to be issued by a proposed St. Lawrence Development Corporation to finance the project be guaranteed by the corporation rather than the U. S. treasury as provided in the Senate bill.

The measure—as approved by the Senate—provides for the issuance of $105,000,000 in bonds to finance the U. S. share of construction.

Aldred-Sutton Nuptials

By candlelight in Mark Street United Church on Friday evening, Mr. Norman Prentice Aldred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman P. Aldred of Port Perry, took as his bride Miss Dolores Josephine Sutton of Peterborough, the daughter of Mr. Ormand J. Sutton of Toronto.

The Rev. Dr. N. D. Patterson performed the marriage and wedding music was played by organist Mrs. Cecil Searles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a waltz-length gown of white tulle styled with strapless bodice and matching shoulderette and a full flowing perma pleated skirt. Pastel sequins formed three small butterflies on the bodice and skirt. She wore a matching feather headdress and was carrying her prayer book with a white gardenia corsage.

Mrs. J. Lynn Thain of Peterborough attended her sister as matron of honor and the groom's sister, Miss Catherine Aldred, was the bridesmaid. Their waltz-length gowns, also with strapless bodice and matching shoulderette topping a ballerina skirt were in blue and pink and they wore matching feather headdress and carried nosegays of assorted flowers to match the gowns.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Douglas Forbes and the ushers were Lynn Thain and William Brock.

An informal reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll, 183 Reid Street. Receiving with the couple were Mrs. Welly Sutton, also an aunt of the bride, gowned in blue with corsage of pink Talisman roses, and the pink Tadisman roses, and the groom's mother, who wore a coffee-colored gown and corsage of gold roses.

Mr. Aldred, who has been announcer on radio station CHEX is commencing work with a Toronto station next week, and the couple will be living at 114 Glen Road, Rosedale, Toronto.

To go away the bride chose a Banff blue miron wool sheath dress and matching jacket trimmed with white angora. They will enjoy a brief honeymoon in points west.

All Aboard At Naval Ball Enjoy A Good Evening Ladies' Outfit Is Prize

All the "ship" could hold were "aboard" for the 7th annual Naval Ball at Club Aragon Friday evening. The doorman advised "standing room only" to those who came late, for there wasn't an empty chair.

So, this dance was probably the most successful of the series, and certainly it lived up to the standard of entertainment already set, although there was not the extra hour of dancing that is sometimes added to the program.

This year there was an advance draw prize for ticket holders—drawn in advance so that the winner of the prize, a lady's evening outfit to the value of $100—could wear it at the dance.

Mrs. John Edmison, of R.R. 2, Peterborough, was this lucky lady and she was, of course, the "belle of the ball."

She was allowed to make her own choice of a gown and evidence of her good taste was a most becoming waltz - length model in white, with tightly fitted bodice of folds of nylon tulle and a very full skirt of net over a sheer nylon fabric that was encrusted with iridescent colored dots, worn with a matching tulle stole. The prize included shoes, and she chose black suede with aligator trim. She was given a lovely orchid corsage.

Though Mrs. Edmison won the most-coveted prize, there were three lovely door prizes drawn for at the dance. A chrome smoker went to Mr. Joe Mills, of 285 Townsend Street. A bridge lamp was won by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Oakley, of 759 Romaine Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hatton, of 795 Lock Street, won a table lamp.

President of the Peterborough Naval Association this year is James Hamilton and he was assisted in awarding the prizes and introducing Mrs. Edmison by secretary Bob Graham and the chairman of entertainment, Ray Young. The latter had assistance with the dance arrangements from vice-president Bob MacDonald and treasurer Tom Bradley, and Bob Robertson was convener of the tickets.

Navy signal flags and national pictures added to the spirit of the occasion, which is probably most looked forward to by ex-navy men of the last war, most of them easy to spot on the floor when the orchestra played a number like "Bell Bottom Trousers."

The city was represented at the guests' table by Alderman P. J. Anglesey and Mrs. Anglesey and Alderman A. B. Burrows and Mrs. Burrows, and the Canadian Legion by president Lou Durkin accompanied by Miss Helen Howden, and secretary Hurrell Dodds and Mrs. Dodds.

Guests signing the "ship's" log were:

Chinchilla Breeders Plan Joint Auction In New York

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's 2,000 chinchilla breeders will gamble on the frisky winds of fashion this spring.

They join forces with United States breeders in the first large-scale public auction of the luxury fur in New York in April.

If fashion accepts, it will mean a new industry to Canada. Ross Stonehouse, secretary of the central Ontario branch of the National Chinchilla Breeders of Canada, in an interview predicted there will "definitely be a desire for the little woman to own a chinchilla coat."

But Jean Courtot, well-known Toronto furrier, said she may have to fight it out with the old man's pocket book before she owns one.

"In the early 1900s the fur was the height of extravagance, bought only by royalty and the wealthy."

The czar of Russia liked to bundle up the czarina in chinchilla, and without a raise of the regal eyebrow he'd hand over his furrier up to $60,000 to whip up a coat.

Eight years ago there were only 25 or 30 coats in the world, one of them a 150-year-old model worn by the present Queen Mother. Two Toronto women treasured their furs, one 54 years old worth $12,500 and the other purchased in 1946 for $35,000.

Mr. Stonehouse said the Canadian breeders, who pay a standard $1,650 for one pair, will contribute between 3,000 and 4,000 pelts to the New York show. American breeders will offer approximately 7,000.

The chinchilla, native of Peru, became nearly extinct in the late 1900s when trappers wiped out the herds to meet the European demand. In 1918 the Peruvian government banned its export. However that same year an American named Chapman was given permission to take 20 of the rodents to California for breeding purposes. It took severa months to complete the job as the chinchillas had to be taken in slow stages from the high altitudes of the Andes to sea level. In 1937, S. J. Daly, Toronto fur farmer, brought the first pair to Canada. From this pair has sprung the present 20,000 population.

Basil Hall, president of the central Ontario region, said that 50 per cent of the Canadian breeders raise chinchilla in their own homes. The rodent is odorless and after handling the chinchilla erases the scent of human hands by dusting itself in sand.

Unlike the mink, the chinchilla cannot be mutated; it's fine bluish-grey fur is shaded only in light, medium and dark.

Pale Colors, Short Skirts Waistlines And Fullness Seen At Paris Openings

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP) — Blue and pink multi-color small flower prints and short skirts—there you have a thumbnail sketch of what is promised at the new Paris fashion shows opening today.

Chanel's comeback is the big news of the spring season. At nearly 70 she returns, an undefeated champion, to offer the first serious competition for the world's fashion crown since Dior won it in 1947 by a knockout — the new look.

Although Fath and Heim lead off with the first openings today, fashion fiends are eagerly awaiting next Friday when "Coco" Chanel will show her wares after 15 years in retirement.

Here's what some of the designers may offer:

Dior promises "round the world" fashions, the same just-below-the-knee length he shocked Paris with las tseason; a waist at the waistline but with eye-fooling fullness in everything but suits; shades of blue and pink.

Fath — ample, shortened skirts with illusion effects, a silhouette which moulds the figure from bust to hip and then lets itself go. The designer claims this will do wonders in slimming not-so-wonderful figures. Pale colors, chiefly blue, pink and beige, will be featured.

A "KEYHOLE" LOOK

Heim—has a trumpet line up his sleeve which sounds something like Fath's idea of sudden fullness below the hips; long bodices and jackets; loose, collared necklines widened towards the shoulders; multi-colored pastel flower prints; flowered coat linings matching dresses.

Balmain has dreamed up two lines "keyhole" (tight fitting) for daytime and "double doors" (just the opposite) for evening. It's all in the interest of making women look tall and slim.

Desses has whispered to somebody that some of his hems will measure about 13 yards in circumference. But because they go in for eye-fooling, they'll look slim, while some straight models will look full. "Things are not what they seem" might be the new motto.

In general, nearly everybody is expected to fall in line with Dior's new length. Necklines are expected to be generously low.

How Husband Should Make Wife Happy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—If there is one thing every woman feels she knows for sure, it is how a husband ought to behave to hold his wife's love.

She can rattle off extemporaneously at least 999 easy ways a husband can make himself more of a shining knight in his wife's eyes.

These lists make about as much impression on the average stubborn husband as a headstrong moth trying to butt down the Empire State Building. He notices that no woman ever endorses that famous old masculine prescription for maintaining a wife in health and happiness—"keep her barefoot."

Yet this rule worked pretty well for centuries. It probably could be proved even today that in those areas of the world where wives go barefoot the divorce and ulcer rate is lower, the families are larger, than in lands where they wear shoes. Tight shoes actually may upset more wives than tight husbands.

LECTURER GIVES ADVICE

The latest entrant in the husband-improving derby is Mrs. Veronica Dengel, a lecturer who also tells women how they can be charming and beautiful and how they can hold their husbands.

The virtue of Mrs. Dengel's list of suggestions on how hubby can win his wife's love for ever is that it is surprisingly small. Just these five: Serve his bride breakfast in bed once a week; spend 15 minutes a day courting her; do the heavy housework himself; let her take a vacation by herself each year; surprise her with little attentions, such as phoning her from the office to tell her how much he misses her.

Frankly, I can't think of five surer ways to break up a reasonably happy home than for a husband to carry out these suggestions literally.

For instance, a separate vacation for the wife. Try and make her take one. Most wives I know wouldn't take a vacation alone unless their husband was in a hospital with a broken leg and attended by a nurse sweating out her old-age pension.

WHAT ABOUT THE BOSS?

This business of cooing to your wife over an office phone may win her—but it also is a great way to lose your boss. No boss I know likes to have the switchboard tied up by several hundred employees making love moans.

After brooding over Mrs. Dengel's list, I have decided to forget it. Most wives have rather set opinions of their own on what the man in their life ought to do to make them happy.

What wife can be made happy by a husband who takes advice from another lady?

Largest Crowd Yet Enjoys 6th Annual OES Dance

Golden rays from an easterly-placed star toward the code letters of one of the most closely-knit women's organizations, OES, reflected from the backdrop of the Brock Ballroom on a crowd of 550 happy dancers Friday evening.

Order of the Eastern Star members and their friends have to look forward to this annual event, which is always conducted with thought for the pleasure of the guests. This was the largest crowd to attend any of the six dances held so far. Proceeds are used in the extensive welfare work that is quietly carried on by the Chapter.

A special welcome was extended by Worthy Matron Mrs. Keith Armstrong to the friends of Port Hope, Lakefield, Lindsay and Campbellford chapters who had come.

In the absence from the city of the mayor, Alderman William Beggs and his wife, who is a member of the chapter, represented the city and received with the Worthy Matron and Mr. Armstrong and Associate Matron Mrs. Victor Smith and Mr. Smith.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Reta Keeting, Miss Lottie Leggitt and Mr. R. Hendry, and each lady was given a small souvenir favor by Mrs. Sarah Deyman or Miss Rose Sexsmith.

The door prize was a set of four television trays and dishes and the ticket of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Robertson was drawn by the Worthy Matron.

The emcee perked up the program with novelty dances, choosing new ways to locate the "spot" on the dance floor. On these occasions the winners were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Parsons and Mrs. J. Cooper and Mr. G. Walker. The birthday dance was won by Mrs. Bob Greer and Mr. Russ Scriver and the wedding anniversary dance by Mr. and Mrs. G. Graham. Another was the "combined ages dance" which was won by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Archer.

A small floor show was put on by Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hamilton, a Scottish couple, who demonstrated beautifully a Scottish Waltz.

Conveners of the dance were Mrs. Harry Green and Mrs. Deb Hillier and the decoration of the bandstand was done by Mrs. Robert Hutton.

Those attending were:

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hendren, Miss Florence Lawson, Mr. Ed. Girvn, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. J. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. F. Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. T. Gaskell, Mr. and Mrs. A. BANCROFT

BANCROFT (ENS)—Fifty parents, with fathers well represented, attended the annual Home and School Association Fathers' Night at the school. President Mrs. A. Hewitt was in the chair.

Guest speaker, the Rev. E. Owen Johnston, spoke on "God and Juvenile Delinquency." Basing his talk on experience gained as chaplain of St. Francis Boys' Home, Ellsworth, Kas., the rector told of the necessity of keeping delinquents active members of society, both in the family circle and in community life. Religion must be presented as a natural part of living and an awareness of the "Companionship of Christ" be developed, he said.

The basic cause of delinquency is insecurity, which can be overcome by the establishment of an adequate religious atmosphere. Personal counselling could be of great help in this work. The speaker hoped, with the co-operation of others in the community, to be able to set up such a program.

A report submitted by school nurse, Mrs. J. Hattin, indicated that more than 50 percent of the pupils in the school had enlarged tonsils. Mrs. Hattin thought it unfortunate that the occurrence of dental caries, of which there were 262 cases, was not much improved. Only 167 of a total of 327 children had a regular dentist.

Forty-one cases of eye defects were noted. Two needing immediate attention had been fitted with glasses. Hearing defects numbered five, with all but two receiving medical treatment.

Mrs. A. Hewitt was elected the representative to attend the fourth annual North Hastings Music Festival. Mrs. R. Maxwell was appointed convener for the Founder's Day meeting.

The treasurer's report, submitted by Mrs. F. Deleya, showed a balance of $115.52. The president asked for waltz records for use at the school rink and Mr. E. G. Thomas urged that pupils be reminded of the importance of lights on bicycles after dark.

Room roll call was won by Mrs. D. Creighton's room.

Lunch was served by Mrs. E. Thomas, Mrs. Reg. Wallis, Mrs. G. Fresque, Mrs. A. Hewitt and Mrs. A. Weiss.

COLDSPRINGS SCHOOL

Coldstrings (Otonabee) Home and School Association held the regular meeting Wednesday evening. President Mrs. H. Rye welcomed the large attendance of parents and visitors.

The reply to the petition regarding a 30 mile an hour speed limit and other safety measures for the school children was read, and it advised that there isn't a high enough percentage of residents to allow for this protection at the present time. Meanwhile, principal Mr. Don McKnight has started a safety patrol, to safeguard the children as far as possible.

It was thought advisable to see if some assistance could be obtained from Mr. Don McKay of the Peterborough police force.

Girl Complains Her Sister Interferes With Freedom

DEAR MISS DIX: For the past two years my older sister, 24, has been living with us. She is separated from her husband, and is here with her 4-year-old boy. She tells me constantly what I should or should not do. Whatever she tells my mother to do, Mom agrees. I'm 15, and was always permitted to bring friends home, or to do a reasonable amount of dating, until Marie came back. I'm so discouraged I'm thinking of leaving home. B. J.

✧ ✧ ✧

BOSSES YOUNG SISTER

ANSWER: Your sister, having failed in her own home, is now trying to be a rousing success in yours. Perhaps the attitude of your parents is simply their way of trying to make Marie feel welcome, and of trying to lessen her unhappiness. It isn't pleasant to look back on a broken marriage just when life should be holding rosy promises. However, since Marie's troubles aren't your fault, you shouldn't be penalized for them. Present your side of the story to the folks, and listen to theirs. Do abandon all thoughts of leaving home; no matter how difficult things may be there, they woul dbe lots worse for you somewhere else.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I married Marty eight months before our baby was born. That was three years ago, and my life since has been unbearable. Marty is a heavy drinker and accuses me of tricking him into marriage. I work, but he isn't satisfied with anything I do. When he gets angry with me, he beats me and the child with a strap. H. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Marty's abusive conduct will grow worse if allowed to continue unchec For the sake of your child's as well as your own, you n something to stop him. F Court, a local welfare worke or a representative of Family Service, will tell you what to do. Don't hold back because of his threats.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a divorcee with a child of four. Six months ago I met a serviceman who recently returned from Korea, and I fell very much in love with him. We see each other five nights a week. I'm sure he loves me, but he claims he won't marry for quite a while. Am I wasting my time with him? Do you think he will change his mind in time? Lora

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you love the young man, enjoy his company, and feel that he'd be a good husband to you as well as a father to your baby, why not wait? He's barely had time to get used to being home, he has two years of war to forget and yet you expect a snap decision on marriage! You're a bit too impetuous, Lora. The young man is too cautious, but sometime in the future you'll meet on common ground. I advise you to wait.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I left home, and school, when I was 16, because my stepmother made life unbearable for me. That was a year ago, and I have held two or three jobs since. I've been living alone, but would like to board with an elderly woman, or couple. Do you think this would be a wise move? Jeannie

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The idea is a good one but you must be careful about the people you go to. The best person to help would be your pastor. If you don't belong to any church group, join one. You also might investigate the possibility of a boarding home for young girls. This arrangement would be better for you, since you'd have the companionship of girls your own age, as well as some supervision.

Belmont WI Hears About Cancer

HAVELOCK (ENS)—The Belmont Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. George Smith in Havelock with 20 members and four visitors in attendance. The president Mrs. W. Harris presided.

An invitation was received and accepted from the Havelock branch to attend their February meeting to hear an address on cancer by Mrs. Maurice Holt, president of the Peterborough Cancer Society.

A large representation from Belmont WI planned to go to Peterborough to hear Dr. Clifford Ash of the Ontario Cancer Institute, Toronto, speak Thursday night.

Arrival Of Seed Catalogue Calls For Family Planning

By NANCY CLEAVER

"The seed catalogue came in this morning's mail, Dad! Can we look it over together? There are potatoes just like Sis and I helped you plant last spring. Mother says she never saw such marvellous flower pictures!"

There is no more optimistic book in the world than a seed catalogue! The colored pictures are most attractive. And what book has more charm for a family of enthusiastic gardeners? If you do not belong to the ranks of the green-thumb-artists, do give some thought to the worth of gardening as a leisure time activity!

Gardening has a great value to physical well being, not only because more fruits and vegetables are likely to be eaten if they are "home grown," but the physical exercise necessary for successful gardening is very beneficial. A great many men and women, the majority of town and city dwellers, spend far too little time actively engaged at the useful occupation in the fresh air. Working on a garden has a valuable effect in reducing nervous tension and worry. It is difficult to harbor ill will or worry about small details out of doors in the sunshine where green plants are growing and changing each day.

EXCHANGE FLOWERS

In a community where people are proud of their gardens, it is natural for neighbors to compare the progress of their vegetables and flowers. Often they exchange or give away roots of flowers or seedlings over the back fence. An English war bride in a Canadian town said, "I didn't realize what nice people we had for neighbors until spring came and they helped us with our very first garden."

So much of modern life demands hurry. Men bolt their breakfasts and rush to their jobs. Housewives hasten from one task to another and feel they will never get all their work done. Even school children have most of their days regimented, with one class following another in quick succession. It is of utmost importance that in their spare time, men and women, boys and girls, feel free to proceed at a leisurely pace. Gardeners in their own back yard can dig and hoe and plant at whatever speed they wish. Some of the best gardeners are slow and thorough in their work.

ALL CAN SHARE

But one of the greatest values in gardening for a family is that here is a hobby in which every member of the family can share. Dad will likely be the main "supervisor" but mother wants her own plants, too. Each child of school age should have a piece of land of his or her own. Boys and girls can help plant the family garden, but they should also have the fun of doing what they like with their own land.

In an age when many homes unfortunately are places where the family eat and sleep and then go their separate ways, a garden project is a unifying force. A family who work together on a garden get to know each other—and enjoy each other's company. They all share in the garden produce and in the family pride in vegetables and flowers which they have grown themselves.

Supper Club Tries Hand At Salads

HAVELOCK (ENS).—The Belmont Girls' Supper Club met at the home of Mrs. Ivan Ellis, when the roll call was answered with a prepared supper dish containing vegetables.

The group work for the meeting was making salads, the girls being divided into three groups, each making a different kind under the direction of their leader, Mrs. Donald Elmhirst, and the assistant leader, Mrs. Clarence King.

Plans were discussed for raising funds to meet the expenses of Achievement Day, and it was decided to hold a bingo in the township hall, February 12.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Donald Althouse.

Now on the market are combination shoulder protectors and lingerie-strap retainers that wash and dry like a piece of china. Moulded of pink polythene, they are flexible, comfortable to wear and both warm and soft to the touch.

AND IT'S COLD OUTSIDE — Maybe it's the zoom in coffee prices, but the gals seem to be going for iced tea despite the winter weather. Eight out of every 10 women among the 1500 employees patronizing the office cafeteria operated by Factory Stores at the Bridgeport Brass Company's Indianapolis plant want iced tea with their hot noon meals. Typical is scene above where Mrs. Helen Medlock, left, draws iced tea for Mrs. Own Ping, Mrs. Muriel Youtsey and Marietta Pierson, all secretaries.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column

LETTER: I see someone wants to know what to do with goose fat . . . we always make a spread of it and it is a delicacy to us and our friends . . . we soak the fat overnight in cold water so all blood soaks out, changing water often and keeping cool. Put all fat from one goose through food chopper with 3 onions the size of large eggs, adding 1 heaping teaspoon thyme and salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and bottle and keep in refrigerator . . . we had some friends in for Christmas and they put it on cheese sandwiches, etc. . . . I have some made now and would love to give you a taste. We call it 'Flaum' for it is a German spread. —M. B. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

LETTER: I use goose fat as a chest rub . . . after rendering I add an equal quantity of camphorated oil warming it . . . I think it is too strong to use in cooking or baking . . . I am baking bread today from your quick method . . . I made two loaves plain, and add raisins to another loaf which I will ice when cooled . . . the rest I use for buns to wrap around weiners . . . my boys call these surprise buns. I bake them 35 minutes at 375 deg. I have either scalloped potatoes or chips, and cabbage-carrot salad with these, and fresh fruit in season for dessert . . . perhaps some of your readers would like this idea . . . I send a good many of your recipes that my family likes to Pennsylvania—MRS. C. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Thanks, M.B.P. and Mrs. C. W. for these tips on goose fat, etc. I hope the reader who was asking for them sees these letters. I want to thank Mrs. C. W. for her Surprise Bun idea and for her comments on the medium dark fruit cake.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: We have decided that we should put up a bean supper for our church, but don't know what to serve with beans, could you tell me how many pounds of beans, also salt pork, and price we should charge for the meal . . . can you tell me the recipe for unbaked brownies . . . it is a pleasure to cook from your recipes as they never fail.—MRS. F. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Remember it takes a good cook too, to follow a recipe even it it is good.

BAKED BEANS (serves 70)—Eight pounds dry white navy beans, 6 tablespoons salt, 3 tablespoons soda, 1 cup molasses, ½ cup sugar, 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 2 teaspoons paprika, 1 pound salt pork chopped finely. Soak beans which have been picked over to cover in cold water for 10 hours. Drain. Cover with water, add salt, simmer until almost tender. Drain off liquid and measure it and make it up to 12 cups by adding hot water. Add it and all remaining ingredients to cooked beans. Bake in shallow greased pans at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1½ hours. Serve with tomato catsup.

NOTE: You may make additions of 1 cup ground onion, and 5 cups tomato juice or canned tomatoes instead of part of the water to the above recipe. You may puts strips of side bacon on top of the pans of beans instead of or in addition to the salt pork.

Serve very finely shredded cole slaw with this, and if you want to do what the New Englanders do, serve Boston Brown Bread with it. You did not mention dessert. If you served the baked beans without the bacon, and with the cole slaw and Boston brown bread you should charge 50 cents per person.

✧ ✧ ✧

UNBAKED BROWNIES

(Sometimes called Brownie Balls)

In a heavy saucepan put the following: ½ cup each milk and butter or margarine, 6 tablespoons cocoa, 2 cups white sugar. Bring to a full rolling boil, stirring. Remove from heat and add 3 cups oatmeal (or rolled oats) and 1 cup coarse cocoanut, mixing them in well. Drop by teaspoonfuls on to waxed paper immediately and allow to harden. This amount makes 30 to 40.

✧ ✧ ✧

LETTER: In answer to your question about the stale odor of cake in a cake box, I have found that a kleenex or two placed inside with the lid on tight will accumulate all of the odor of stale cake, etc. Keep closed for a few weeks, then discard the kleenex and wash box thoroughly. This method is very good for canning jars that have held pickles or other foods which leave an odor. Leave the kleenex in until ready to use again—DOREEN Y.

ANSWER: Thank you, Doreen. I hope you will let me help you sometime.

Investigators Start Inquiry Into Destruction Of Red Files

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate internal security sub-committee embarked today on an inquiry of what chairman William E. Jenner (Rep. Ind.) called "the entire question of dispersal or destruction of files on Communist subversive activities."

Jenner, reiterating his charge that in 1944 a White House order directed the United States navy to destroy some of its intelligence files on Communist activities, announced Friday night that the subcommittee would start hearings in the near future.

Another likely subject for the investigation appeared in a statement by Senator Styles Bridges (Rep. N. H.). Bridges said an order was issued for the destruction of "all records of a subversive nature about individuals in the army." This happened, he said, about the same time as the incident Jenner described.

Bridges said the order was rescinded after he and other members of the old Senate military affairs committee made a secret investigation.

Jenner said Admiral Ernest J. King, wartime U.S. chief of naval operations, told Admiral Chester Nimitz, commander of the Second World War U.S. Pacific fleet, that the order to destroy certain naval intelligence files came from the White House.

Both King and Nimitz in separate interviews said they had no recollection of such a conversation.

Jenner suggested the admirals, now retired, might not "remember the details of a conversation in the Pacific, in the midst of a war."

Jonathan Daniels, a White House aide in 1944 and now a newspaper editor in Raleigh, N.C., said such matters as the reported order would have been within the jurisdiction of Admiral William D. Leahy, the late president Roosevelt's personal chief of staff, and Admiral Wilson Brown, Roosevelt's naval aide, "about whose integrity and patriotism no one could ever in good sense raise a question."

"An unspecific slur against naval security at the White House can only be directed at them," Daniels said.

Uranium Source Being Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new "important potential source" of uranium is under investigation in Florida, the United States atomic energy commission said today in its semi-annual report to Congress.

Of the Florida investigation, the commission said that in the past some uranium has been obtained as a by-product of commercial phospate rock, which is produced from the lower layer of the so-called "bone valley formation" in Florida.

The upper layer of the formation has previously been discarded as an "overburden waste," even though scientists have known that it contains uranium in concentrations higher than in the phosphate rock.

The problem has been how to extract the uranium economically.

But the commission said today that certain extracting processes now have been developed and have proved promising enough to be tested on a pilot plant scale.

Examination Of Renda Postponed

DETROIT (AP)—Judge John P. O'Hara Friday postponed the examination of Carl Renda, 35-year-old defendant in the Reuther shooting case, until March 15.

Judge O'Hara granted the adjournment at the request of Wayne County Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brien.

O'Brien presented a brief outline of his case against Renda and four other defendants, Santo (Sam) Peronne, Peter Lombardo, Clarence Jacobs of Tecumseh, Ont., and Donald Ritchie of Windsor.

They are accused of taking part in the 1948 attempt on the life of Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers. Reuther now is president of the CIO and still heads the UAW.

Ritchie, now held in the Essex county jail in Windsor, also is considered a key witness in the prosecution's case against the other defendants.

DUCHESS OF KENT AND PRINCESS — Alexandra (left), 15 when this photo was made, still wore mother's made-over clothes.

Young Cousin of Queen Alexandra Taking Place

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

LONDON (NEA) — England's "Royal Cinderella" has reached her "year of liberation."

The time has come for Princess Alexandra of Kent — who was reared in modest surroundings and wears her mother's hand-me-downs — to leave the shadows of the schoolroom and take her place in the glittering royal galaxy.

Christmas was her 17th birthday. And it is during their 17th years that British princesses begin to assume their duties.

A pretty, vivacious girl with dreamy eyes, nut-brown curls and camellia-like complexion, Alexandra is a cousin to the Queen. Her father was the dashing Duke of Kent, the youngest son of King George V. Her mother is Princess Marina of Greece.

The only thing regal about the "Christmas Princess" is her name —Alexandra Helen Elizabeth Olga Christabel of Kent. If a princess should seem haughty or self-conscious, as the public often thinks, she does not look the part.

CINDERELLA—This is Princess Alexander on her 17th birthday.

A schoolmate once said to her "It is hard for me to remember that you are a princess."

"To tell you the truth," she replied, "I have the very same trouble."

Nevertheless, she is well equipped for her role. The people who have watched her grow up wax enthusiastic about her charm, poise and graciousness — and especially her bright conversation.

As one has noted, "Unlike most English girls, she is never tongue-tied when the three essential topics of British conversation — dancing, the weather and horses — have been exhausted."

Her first official public appearance was at last year's Coronation. She was the youngest princess in Westminister Abbey—and many thought her the prettiest.

They are destined to see more of her soon. Often in the past, "Princess Alex," as she's known in family circles, would laughingly refer to "my year of liberation." Now that year has arrived —and so has the work that goes with it.

While Queen Elizabeth is on her extensive foreign tour, Alexandra will get her first taste of public duties, such as opening bazaars, visiting hospitals, unveiling memorials and patronizing charity balls.

If Princess Margaret's engagement should also be announced this spring, by any chance, then Alex would be even busier.

The difference between them is one of upbringing. Margaret was carefully groomed to be a princess. Alexandra, who is several inches taller, was reared like any other girl of good English family. When her father was killed in a 1942 airplane accident, he left no money. The family moved to the cheaper climate of the country, 30 miles from London, with a modest yearly sum from George V's private income set aside to educate the children.

The Princess lived without frills. First at the village school, and then at boarding school, she was granted no exceptions, in line with her mother's democratic ideas on education.

Along with her two brothers, Alexandra roamed the village at will. There were never any detectives to shield her from public view. When she visited London or the beach, she travelled third class on the train and stayed at modest hotels. Her weekly allowance did not permit best seats at the movies.

Right up until her last birthday, Alex had to be content with her mother's made-over clothes. The only time she wore a special design was at Elizabeth's Coronation, and she described this to her schoolmates as "absolute bliss." As a birthday and Christmas gift combined, she was allowed to choose a dress of her own.

She has definitely inherited her mother's fine clothes sense. Despite her lack of great wealth, Marina is often called her nation's best-dressed woman. And like her, Alex has the knack of seeming chic in whatever she dons.

Financially, the Kents are now better off. The late Queen Mary was especially fond of her and is said to have left her a sizeable sum of money and some handsome jewels. Besides, it is traditional for the royal family to set up apartments for high-ranking members who can't afford to keep a house in London.

People who know her democratic background are wondering if Alex won't chafe at the strict court protocol and etiquette which gradually will hem her in.

The Cinderella of the royal family soon will realize that she no longer can comment out loud on the way Cousin Philip (Duke of Edinburgh) sails his boat, nor say how fond she is of Uncle David (Duke of Windsor).

She will have to get used to being always in the limelight — to watch every expression, every gesture. And that will be a definite change.

Discovered Oil In Alberta Dr. Tyrrell Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. J. B. Tyrrell, 95, Canada's oldest living professional engineer and one of the first men to find oil in Alberta, today was awarded the Engineer's medal at the annual meeting of the 21,000-member Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario.

Dr. Tyrrell was honored for his services in the field of mining engineering and for his contribution to the Canadian economy. Despite his age, he is still actively serving as president of the Kirkland Lake Mining Company.

The Engineer's Medal has been presented only three times since it was struck in 1945. Former recipients have been Hon. C. D. Howe, Dean C. R. Young and General A. G. L. MacNaughton.

Dr. Tyrrell's findings led to the mining of the rich coal fields around Drumheller and to gold mining in northern Saskatchewan. He also took part in the Klondike gold rush.

He is the oldest living graduate of the University of Toronto—class of 1880 and was born in the Toronto suburb of Weston.

Federation Asks Price Protection

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Directors of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture Friday considered the problem of unemployment in the agricultural implement industry.

George Burt, Canadian director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) asked federation support for a request to the federal government asking action to protect farm prices so that farmers may follow an orderly program of buying farm machinery, stricter action against combine monopolies and government action to remove food surpluses by buying them up if necessary.

WOULD END SALES TAX

The proposals included abolition of the federal 10-per-cent sales tax, expansion of co-operative marketing organizations, lower interest rates under the Farm Loans Act, development of world markets and a closer check on financial operations of the farm implements industry by requiring publication of statements on Canadian activities rather than consolidated financial reports.

The brief also suggested that steps be taken immediately to provide work for persons now jobless. It said this might be done through defence contracts or public works. It also urged improvement of unemployment insurance benefits.

Mr. Burt said the federation promised to submit the brief to provincial member bodies for study. The Ontario Federation of Agriculture has approved the proposals.

Directors approved a resolution calling for an investigation into the price of fertilizer. They said it was produced during the war for $54 a ton and now sells for $70 to $80 a ton wholesale.

Re-elect G. McCubbin President Of Fair

WARKWORTH (ENS) — The annual meeting of the Percy Agricultural Society was held in the community hall.

Officers elected were: President, Gordon McCubbin re-elected; first vice-president, Howard Evans; second vice-president, J. M. Greenly; secretary, Ewart Huycke.

Directors and associate directors were chosen. Lady directors are to arrange their committees among themselves.

Repairs have been made to the buildings and the grounds during the past year, including roofing the grand stand, bulldozing and levelling the cattle show ring, new tables for the hall, and a new secretary's desk.

Plans are being made for the 1954 fair for having the black and white show again, the junior farmers' calf club, and many other exhibits.

Mapping Plans Changed

TOKYO (AP) — The United States Army said today it is abandoning plans to use Japanese technicians in mapping operations off New Guinea, presumably because of strong Australian objections. The army said two platoons of American soldiers from the Far East command will do the onshore mapping work. Australian press and political circles protested plans to use Japanese technicians on New Guinea, scene of some of the bitterest battles of the Second World War.

St. Andrew's Church To Be Rededicated

MILLBROOK (ENS)—The Rev. Dr. Harry G. Tuttle, of the United church offices in Toronto, will be the guest preacher for both services on Sunday when St. Andrew's United church will be re-dedicated after its recent renovation.

The congregation has been worshipping elsewhere since the middle of October while the work was in progress. A new oil heating system has been installed; the building has been re-wired; the auditorium decorated and new lights put in; a new floor has been laid in the basement; washrooms put in with hot and cold running water; a new primary room built, and the platform moved to one end of the hall where one of the two old furnaces stood instead of at the middle of one side as it was before.

The walls of the church hall have been re-decorated and new furniture bought for the primary room.

On Sunday morning, several memorial lights will be presented. The junior and senior choirs have both been busy for several weeks preparing special music.

Well-Known Professor Dies At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Professor Ernest A. Dale, 65-year-old classics professor at the University of Toronto, died Friday night.

He suffered a heart attack in Hart House theatre on the university campus just after the curtain went up on an undergraduate performance of Henrik Ibsen's "The Wild Duck." He was helped to the lobby, where he died a few minutes later.

The play continued, with few persons in the audience aware of his death.

The Scottish-born professor of Latin at Trinity and University colleges was associated throughout most of his career with the classical theatre as a director, actor and translator of ancient dramas.

After coming to Canada as a lecturer in Greek at the University of Toronto, he taught Latin for a short time at Queen's University in Kingston but returned to Toronto.

He founded the Toronto Classical Club, was first director of the University Players' Guild, won the Canadian Drama Award in 1946, became chairman of the board of syndics and did translations of several plays including, recently, "Plautus' Rudens."

TIME OUT FOR A LAUGH—Sen. John W. Bricker (R., O., left), author of the controversial amendment which would limit the President's treaty-making powers, enjoys a hearty laugh with Sen. William F. Knowland (R., Calif.) during a committee hearing at Washington. Bricker has said he would accept a reasonable compromise to keep the party from being "torn apart."

Lindsay Fire Leaves Family Of 5 Homeless

LINDSAY (ENS)—A Lindsay couple and their three children are homeless following a fire which destroyed their half of a Pottinger St. apartment house Friday.

Mrs. Charles Perry and her three children, Gail, 5, Wayne, 3, and Roger, 2, were visiting with their neighboring tenant, Mrs. Lenore Cutting, when the fire broke out. Mrs. Perry said she had lit the kitchen stove and then took her children to visit Mrs. Cutting while the house warmed.

A few minutes later she noticed smoke coming from the door of her apartment and, upon opening the door, found the room full of smoke and flame.

CHIMNEY FIRE

Rushing to a neighbor's home, she phoned the Lindsay fire department and reported a "chimney fire." When firemen arrived on the scene flames were spouting from the doors and windows of the building. A call was sent out for volunteer firemen but the Perry apartment was beyond saving.

The fire was out before Mr. Perry arrived on the scene. He had been called from a lumber camp in Sunderland, about 20 miles from Lindsay, where he had been working.

Fire Chief Alex Wylie estimated the damage to the building at $1,000 and a similar amount to the contents of the building. Lost in the fire was a new refrigerator, most of the children's winter clothing, and the kitchen equipment.

Mrs. Perry with her three children, and expecting another soon, will live at the home of her parents temporarily.

School Pupils Threaten Strike

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A threatened "strike" by some pupils at Medway high school failed to come off Friday as the school board revised its rules to allow students with low grades to continue on school hockey and basketball teams.

The strike was threatened by "a few hot-heads" when examination results released Friday showed several key hockey and basketball players had failed to pass. Under school rules they would not be eligible to play.

Students said loss of the players would cripple the school teams and sent a deputation to talk with the east Middlesex district high school board. The board decided to change the rule and allow a student to play until he has failed two sets of examinations.

The new rule may be revised next year.

Toronto Surprises

It wasn't a hell-fire sermon perhaps, but it was a sermon on judgment. He told how the judgment of God had fallen on the angels he had loved when they rebelled. How He spared not the people of Noah's day, how He spared not Israel whom He loved, and how He spared not His own Son when He took our sins upon Himself on the Cross. And then with his long finger jabbing into the crowd he asked over and over, "Do you think He is going to spare you if you continue in sin?" And then simply, warmly, and dramatically he pointed out the Gospel way of Salvation.

During the "Invitation" prayer hundreds of hands went up, and then hundreds jammed down in front of the platform, where phrase by phrase after him they confessed their faith. Maple Leaf Gardens doesn't lend its blaring lights, and steep aisles to such a confession, but Billy Graham made the most of the situation. The group remained behind, and they were instructed in the four steps into a fuller Christian faith. They were told to read at least a chapter of the Bible every day; to pray every day; to witness to their faith especially in the way they lived; and to go and join a church and attend every Sunday.

Before they left an invitation was extended by a group of several hundred Toronto ministers to him to return for a full-length campaign.

Widow Asphyxiated

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Annie Seager, 59, a widow, died from asphyxiation Friday after a domestic gas-main break on the street outside a fashionable north Toronto apartment block. Consumers Gas Company reported a crew had located a six-inch leak in a gas main. Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson recommended evacuation of the building until the break was found.

PREACHING AND SINGING at the Murray St. Baptist Church on Sunday will be these young McMaster Divinity School students. The quartette is composed of Gordon Pousett, of Vancouver, Douglas Coombs, of Hamilton, Charles Hainer, of Winstead, Conn., and Jack Dayton, of Peterborough.

Weather Reduces Attendance At WI

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — The Women's Institute of Coldsprings met Wednesday afternoon, with a small attendance, due to the blustery weather. Mrs. Allan Linton, president, was in the chair.

Mrs. Roy Bray was convener of the program. Mrs. L. McIntosh gave a reading and Mrs. Allan Bowman sang a solo acompanied by Miss E. Hoskin. The guest speaker was Mr. E. Woodcock of Port Hope who with his helpers gave a demonstration on sewing machines.

During the business $15 was donated to the Hospital for Sick Children. Plans were made for a euchre party February 6, and a dance February 19.

Mrs. N. Timlin, sunshine convener, reported five cards sent, nine plants and one gift to shutins at Christmas. Eight thank you notes were read. It was planned to hold family night in February, when a supper and social evening will be enjoyed.

Lunch was served by the group in charge.

New SC Headquarters Opened At Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — A new national headquarters for the Social Credit party was opened Friday.

Rev. E. G. Hansell, the party's national president and member of Parliament for Macleod cut a green-and-white ribbon at the opening ceremony.

The moving of the headquarters from Edmonton to Toronto coincides with a stepped-up effort at organization by the party in Ontario and the Atlantic provinces.

Atomic Secrets To Speed Power Research

CHALK RIVER (CP)—Canadian industry will be given more secrets on the harnessing of atomic energy for production of electric power.

Release of the new information will help to speed research in this country on the design of atomic power plants which will produce electricity economically.

The atomic energy control board announced Friday night that the secrets are being made public jointly by Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom, partners in the atomic energy field. The information issued to Canadian industry also will be available to industry in the other two countries.

The board said the decision to make available the highly-technical data on atomic reactors for production of electric power was made on the recommendation of the sixth international declassification conference which met at Chalk River last April.

REVISED GUIDE

During the conference representatives of the three countries discussed revision of the declassification guide used to decide what atomic energy information may be made public and what must remain secret.

The conference decided that information on the operation of atomic reactors for military purposes will continue to remain secret. However, the board said that "certain information required for the study of the economics of power reactors could be released."

The information made public is technical and the board did not attempt to give any details in its announcement. However, it said the new data will facilitate current studies on the feasibility of power-producing nuclear reactors.

Queen's Birthday May 24

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians will celebrate the Queen's birthday this year on Victoria Day, Monday, May 24, it was announced in a proclamation in the Canada Gazette. The Queen's birthday actually falls April 21, but the date of the celebration in Canada is fixed annually by order-in-council.

Say Hospital Care No Job For City

TORONTO (CP) — A proposed city plan of hospital care suggested by Alderman William Dennison to Toronto city council was labeled by some council members Friday as no job for the civic administration.

The suggestion was for a prepaid hospital plan, contributed to by citizens. A similar proposal was rejected by the council last year.

Alderman Roy Belyea commented on the latest proposal: "This is not a city responsibility—we have enough to do; how paternalistic are we supposed to get?"

Pledges Support For Sarnia

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Mayor Arthur Reaume Friday pledged Windsor's support for an effort by Sarnia to get financial assistance from federal and provincial governments in the matter of sewage disposal.

Mayor W. C. Nelson asked Windsor's support in reference to a pending order which apparently will force the two cities to stop dumping sewage in the Great Lakes system.

Mayor Nelson said the two cities are faced with building multi-million-dollar sewage disposal systems if the federal order goes through.

1954 Scout Jamboree To Be Held At Niagara

QUEBEC (CP) — The Canadian general council of the Boy Scouts announced Friday the 1955 world jamboree will be held at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Aug. 18-28.

Between 10,000 and 15,000, first class scouts from 57 countries including Canada, are expected to attend the world meet. Approximately 3,500 of these will be Canadian.

A world jamboree is held every four years. Canada was chosen for the 1955 jamboree at the 13th international Boy Scout conference in Luxembourg a year ago.

It will be the first jamboree held outside Europe.

Gets $100 Fine For Having Illegal Liquor

SARNIA (CP)—Donald P. Martin Friday was fined $100 for having liquor he bought illegally in the United States and imported legally into Canada.

Magistrate J. C. Dunlap said: "There is no authority for its possession under these circumstances in the province of Ontario."

Martin was charged with being in possession of liquor not acquired on his individual permit. Defence counsel Frank Hogg said the liquor control act relates to transactions in Ontario only and does not presume to invade the Dominion jurisdiction over imports.

Magistrate Dunlap said: "This does not pretend to be a transaction in Ontario but refers to possession in Ontario. No one disputes the liquor was legally bought in the United States and legally brought into the Dominion of Canada."

Mr. Hogg said he will write to the attorney general for a rebate of the fine. If this were not successful he would consider appealing the case, using his own money.

7 Communists Tried, Jailed

VIENNA (AP — Seven associates of Rudolph Slansky, Czechoslovakia's former Communist boss who was hanged in 1952, have been tried in Prague on charges of high treason and sentenced to long prison terms, Prague Radio announced Friday.

The accused received sentences from life to 15 years in prison.

Among those who were tried in Prague in a trial lasting from Jan. 26 to 28 was Marie Svermova, a former deputy of Rudolph Slansky and widow of a Communist hero whom Slansky was alleged to have murdered.

She was the only one of the seven who received life imprisonment. She had been under arrest since Jan. 1951.
